A line of red eyes blinked and watered in the sun, then fell with a glimmer of interest from the scowling horseman to the prisoner accosted. Tom had already piqued such attention as his new companions were in the habit of bestowing upon any fellow creature, for few there were who joined that morose and fierce crew with the stamp of such moroseness and ferocity already on them. Those few were crabbed old hands, but here was raw youth, and yet in three long days they had not heard his voice. Nor did they now. Tom moistened his palms and took a new grip of his pick, but that was not all. He was seen to tremble, and he nearly pinned his own foot to the ground. What was it he had done and been found out in, this cub whose teeth were always showing, but whose voice was never heard?

A perspiring sentry strolled up, his once red swallowtail coat hanging open upon his naked chest and his white trousers sticking to his legs. He was the only one whose curiosity went the length of a word.

"What's he been doing of?" said the sentry, wetting his hand on his chest to cool his musket stock. "We've only 'ad 'im 'ere these three days."

"You won't have him many more," said Sullivan. "The hangman will have him."

"Yes?"

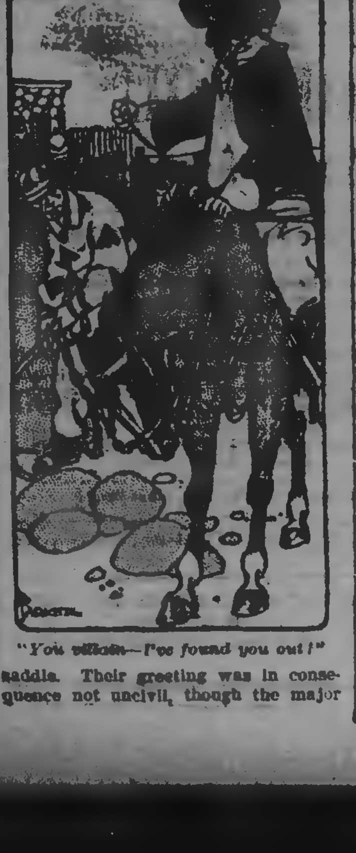
"Yes. Look at him trembling."

"I see."

"He'll tremble in the air before long."

Tom bent over his pick. There was more hooting here, but whether at himself or at his enemy Tom neither knew nor cared. He wished to appear very busy and regardless. He was really intent upon Nat's shadow under his pick, wondering whether he could possibly spring so far forward in his chains and get such a swing as to bury the pick in the substance instead. But this was never known. When the hooting subsided, the noise of light wheels approaching took its place, and Nat Sullivan turned round in his saddle.

The military man who debased himself by the charge of this iron gang was a major of gunners, too fat for service and too gouty to sustain his distended body on his legs. He therefore superintended operations from a bath chair, in which a bluejacketed messman had to trail him about the works. Major Honeybone had recognised Nat and had ordered the messman to hurry to the spot, but not to seem in a hurry. The major was himself a sufficiently hard and cantankerous man, but some sense of justice he had, and he considered Castle Sullivan one of the angriest plague spots in a plague spotted land. The present occasion filled him, therefore, with the greatest glee. He had long desired an opportunity of giving one or other of the Sullivans a piece of his mind, and here was young Sullivan trespassing on the works.



"You villain—I've found you out!"

"Go slower," said the major, making up his mind what to say and not to say it all at once, as Mr. Nat turned in his saddle. Their greeting was in consequence not uncivil, though the major blandly ignored the coarse, ringed hand obtruded by the other.

"You heard of the outrage the other night at Castle Sullivan?" began Mr. Nat.

"By bushrangers?" observed Major Honeybone.

"By bushrangers. Only one of them escaped, and there he is!" roared Nat, pointing savagely at Tom.

"Really?" remarked the major, willfully unmoved. "Dear me! It was from you he came here—like half my gang—for absconding, I understood?"

"We didn't know it then."

"That he was one of the bushrangers?"

"Yes."

"But you know it now?"

"We do so!"

"Dear me!" again remarked the major, whose expression was rendered inscrutable by the rich shade of the gigantic umbrella without which he rarely ventured abroad. His small, shrewd eyes glanced from the visitor to Tom, who was still looking down and fidgeting with his pick, the speaking image of sullen guilt. More repulsive to the major was the gloating ruffian in the saddle, but he signed to the sentry to take away Tom's pick and then favored the other with a slow, contemplative stare.

"A very singular thing, I'm sure," he resumed, with a sarcastic intonation that punctured even Nat's thick skull. "Very singular indeed. Upon my word, Mr. Sullivan," exclaimed the major. "I find it difficult to believe what you say!"

"Sir!"

"Or, if you like, to understand it."

"If you will allow me to say the rest and to say it elsewhere"—

"No, sir! Here!" cried Major Honeybone. "Here or nowhere, which you please. This man absconds one night, so I gather, and the next night you are attacked by bushrangers. This man is found the morning after that, and I understand you suggest he was one of the band that attacked you. Yet you never recognised him at the time. Come, now, did none of you?"

"Not then, but he threatened my sister and a female whom we have since returned, and Miss Sullivan remembers hearing him call the female by her name. Now, this man and that woman kept company," snarled Nat in a perfect flame of rage and spite, "and Miss Sullivan will swear he called the woman by her name. He fell in with the thieves when he absconded, it's perfectly clear. He was the very man to join them in an attack on his own masters even if he didn't instigate it. Join in it he did. I can prove it. Though not one of the original gang is left alive, I can prove"—

"What about that Italian fellow?" interrupted the major, and Tom held his breath.

"He wasn't in it. I believe he's dead, and they put this Erichsen in his clothes. His horse was found a few miles beyond where they found this man, and now his coat has been discovered with Erichsen's knife in the pocket. Yes, you may wince!" cried this good hater. "You shall swing for it yet!"

"Kindly confine your remarks to me," said the major sternly. "You'll have to prove the knife was his, and that won't prove everything. Never heard such a story in my life! You'll have to strengthen it up a bit if you mean to make a case. What do you want me to do?"

"Nothing at all," said Nat ungraciously.

"Then why the deuce do you come to me?"

"I didn't. I was on my way to your superiors."

Major Honeybone turned to the sentry.

"Cock your piece," said he, "and shoot his horse if he attempts to go till I've done with him. Now, you, Sullivan," continued the major, "perhaps you didn't know you were trespassing when you came on these works. But you were, and you'll stop on 'em now till I've done with you. You came to gloat over the man you've hounded here to tell him you'd hound him to the gallows, did you? To laugh at him, eh? Gadzooks, sir, the boot's on the other leg this time! The whole chain gang is laughing at you, and you may frown upon 'em as much as you like, but if you touch one you'll be in irons yourself in two minutes. I know you, sir. We know all about both of you here. Half the men who come here have been driven here by you and your father. Silence in the gang! Go on to Sydney and tell them anything you like about the man you mean to hang. But, gadzooks, you don't get him out of this! No, and the governor himself sha'n't have him out of this until he knows on whose word he's acting! Go to my superiors. They'll never listen to your clumsy yarn. If they do I'll send down to Sydney myself to tell 'em what I know of you and yours. And Castle Sullivan will be swept into the sea, and you—you slave driver—you'll be where these men are now! Be off, sir. I hate the sight of you! Sentry, let him go."

About the middle of this tirade Nat had been ready with a retort as virulent, but the concluding sentences were too much even for his hard nerves and sturdy ruffianism. Muttering something unintelligible about an "outrage" and "reporting" Major Honeybone, he put spurs to his horse and galloped off, leaving nothing worse behind him than a look. It was such a look as might be seen any day, any moment even, in an iron gang, yet Tom never forgot the cruel eyes, the low lips, the murderous scowl nor the peculiarly bestial whole which they made on that occasion. The convicts cursed and cheered him in derision and when he was gone were given to understand by the major that if they ever did it again he should treat the lot of them as they would be treated at Castle Sullivan—to fifty lashes all round.

"Only I give you fair warning," said he, "and you don't catch me break my word either way."

The major was a man who liked a little opposition for the sake of putting it down, which he never failed to do with the highest hand, but he had his chain gang in such an exemplary state of broken spirited subjection that the iron will within that flabby body was growing rusty from disuse. The impudence of young Sullivan was consequently a godsend to this born martinet. It gave him an appetite, and it made him sleep. Furthermore, it fixed his eye on Erichsen and to some extent his thoughts also. The major was harsh by habit, but impartial to the core. He did not believe a syllable of Nat Sullivan's story. But why had Erichsen so taken it to heart? He alone had neither cursed nor cheered. The major was puzzled, but kept watch.

"Fancy he's a gentleman," said Honeybone in a day or two, and he made inquiries.

The result of the inquiries was the information that Erichsen usually sulked, but when he was in a bad temper he was more blasphemous than any man in the gang; when in a good one he was more foul.

"He is a gentleman—hem—was," said the cocksure major. "Only it's the old story—the farther they have to fall, the lower they sink. Poor devil, poor devil!" And old Honeybone sighed, for he had sunk a little, too, and if his conscience was clear of crime it was more or less saturated with sin, of which the perfume was not a little stale and sickly. Whether from that cause or another, the fat major found himself taking a more human interest in this prisoner than in most. "So that's the most profane tongue in the stockade!" he would think whenever he looked at Tom. "So that's the foulest mouth!"

It was not, but Tom was educated and had an educated man's sense of emphasis and of selection. His bad things stuck—that was all.

But if those superlatives were not literally justified others were, and before Tom had been six weeks in chains he had shown a temper as insubordinate, an audacity as brazen and a callousness as shocking as anything of the sort which the major had yet encountered in his present capacity. It was the reaction from the sulky spirit in which the convict had begun his term. For two whole weeks he broke no rules, but in the next four he was three times flogged.

On the first occasion he knocked down the scourger when it was all over and so brought it all over again. On the last the major addressed him from his chair as the convict positively swaggered from the triangles, with his fetters clanking and his shoes squelching at every step.

"You want to try Norfolk island," said the major, "but you shan't."

Tom shook his head, with an ugly sneer.

"The gallows, then," said the major, "is your game. But you're not going to get there either. I can show you as good sport as you'll show me, and we'll see who wins the game."

It was nothing else to the combatative major. He was growing younger for the exercise. He began to get about again on his legs. His only regret was for a palpably fine young fellow gone so utterly to the bad. For the rest, he found poor Tom as stimulating for some weeks as Nat Sullivan had proved on the occasion described. Nat, by the way, had returned to Castle Sullivan, ignobly crestfallen, but not so intoxicated as to ride by the stockade again in daylight. The major's superiors had confirmed that officer's opinion, and Peggy O'Brien, examined on her oath in Parramatta factory, had perjured herself for Tom in the most illusive and convincing manner. The principal superintendent had made a note of the affair, but there was no case, as Nat was pretty plainly told, and Major Honeybone heard no more of him for some time.

As a matter of fact, the bones of the Italian had also been discovered, but as there were no clothes upon them and the native dogs had left little else they were never identified. So Tom was safer for the moment than he supposed. Meanwhile he had become a sort of hero among his degraded fellows. Not the most popular sort, however, for enthusiasm is difficult in heavy fetters. Besides, he never tried to be popular.

He might have been after knocking down the scourger. The man was a convict himself, who received 1 shilling 9 pence a day for his unnatural services. It was the butcher over again, only this caitiff had eighty others always there to loathe him, and every hand could have shaken Tom's for that well aimed blow, but the very next day they discovered he would as soon turn on them as on their common enemy.

The incident brought to light an interesting fact, and it happened on Tom's third Sunday in the stockade. About half the gang were incarcerated in the common mess shed, idling, yarning, cursing and proceeding as fast as possible with that mutual corruption which was the chief fruit of this particular branch of secondary punishment. Tom was of the number, a conspicuous unit. It was the dawn of his prominence. He was in one of those good tempers alluded to already. Everybody was listening. Those who could laugh still laughed now, and if he had a guardian angel, surely, surely she must have been weeping then more bitterly than when he fought for the bushrangers at Castle Sullivan and put a bullet through a trooper's arm.

Suddenly something, an association, a reminiscence, a forgotten picture, made him want to weep himself. He was past that, however, and went back into the sulks instead. A new diversion being required, one was provided by the discovery of a young convict, a mere lad, writing a letter in a dark corner on the floor. On being detected the lad first blushed and then offered to read them what he had written, whereupon he opened his lips and a ribald stream poured forth, but meandered, slackened, faltered and was soon cut short.

"He's making it up as he goes along," cried several. "He never wrote that at all."

"We'll see what he did write," said one who was at hand, cuffing the lad and snatching the unfinished letter.

With a cry and an uncouth chime from his irons, the young convict attempted to retain his property. It tore in his hand, and a dozen more held him down while the possessor dragged his chains on to one of the long, rude tables and stood up to read the letter in a silence broken only by the protests of the wretched writer.

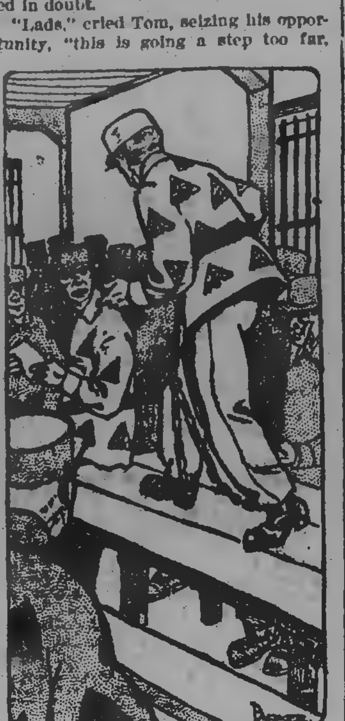
"'My ever dear mother and father,'" the brute brawled out. "'I received your kind and welcome letter on the 31st of January, and happy was I to read the delightful letter which I received from you that day.' Ahem! Can't he pitch it in? 'Oh, how 'appy I am to 'ear that you are so comfortable and well. Oh, my dear mother and father, I 'ope my brothers and sisters will mind what you say to them better than ever I done, for you see what it is to be 'eadstrong.' 'Ead strong, eh? Stop a bit; now we're coming to it! 'Oh, my dears, I 'ope you will make yourselves as comfortable as you can, for perhaps I never may see you again in this world, but I 'ope I shall in the next, where I 'ope to be a comfort to you all, so God bless you all, my dears, forever'"—

He got no further, nor had many attended to the last sentences. The lad's unavailing protests had ended in veritable wailing and gnashing of teeth. It was this that had aroused Tom from his lethargy, and he also was now upon the table, clanking down the length of it to where the reader stood.

One or two mistook his intentions. "That's it—you read it," said they, but the most of them read Tom's face.

"Give me that letter," he said sternly, halting before the man.

"Give who it?" roared the other. "Oh, it's you, eh?" he added and seemed in doubt.



"Give me that letter," he said sternly.

"Lads," cried Tom, seizing his opportunity, "this is going a step too far, don't you think? We all of us had friends once—in another world as it seems to me—but if any of us like to remember we had them surely it's that man's business and not ours. He's a better man than most of us, and his letter's the last thing that we should meddle with. We wouldn't have done it once, and we won't now." His temperate tone surprised himself, but it merely showed how every sensibility had lost its edge. Two months ago he would have argued such a point with his ready hands.

Meanwhile the reader had decided not to fight, being an insufficient number of inches bigger and broader than Tom and having still in his ears the thud with which the scourger fell. But neither was he going to give in like a man, because men were scarce in those heavy irons. Accordingly he retained the letter a little longer before handing it to Tom, with a mocking bow.

"We won't, won't we?" he sneered. "Well, as it 'appens, we won't, for more of that rot I couldn't read if I was paid. But you look out, my special! If you've come 'ere to give yourself airs, we'll soon learn ye. It's lucky for you I'm in such a good temper or you'd have gone off this table a bit different, you blighted young upstart!"

Tom had in fact taken his chains in his hands and jumped off. It was when he was on the ground, with his back turned, that the direct abuse was hurled. Others sided with the speaker and added their maledictions to his, yet the group about Butter (for so the poor lad was called) dispersed at Tom's approach, and he returned the letter to its writer with a look that might have made his guardian angel dry her tears, for after many days there was kindness in his eyes once more.

"Here, Butter," he said; "take it, and for God's sake not a word! You're a better man than I am or you wouldn't have written at all. There, shut up! Gratitude, forsooth! If you must show some, don't set me thinking."

But the lad's emotions were aroused too thoroughly to be soon allayed. They had the corner now to themselves, and he was crying like a girl. Tom envied him his tears.

"Read it through," sobbed the young fellow, forcing the torn letter upon his champion, and to please him Tom perused it from beginning to end.

Awhile ago it would have made him laugh and cry; now he read it unmoved save by his own indifference. It contained a touching lie, describing the writer as being still very happy with the master who months since had sent him to the iron gang. The rest was a wondrous jumble—"and I inform you that snaiks is very bad in this country. We ofttimes see them fourteen to fifteen feet long. Parrots is as thick as crows in your country, kangaroos, too, and it is night here when it is day there, but Arthur Smith, I do not know where he is. Mutton is 4d. lb., beef"— But he had written no farther, and Tom said: "Thank you, Butter. It should make them happy," as he returned the letter. He felt that he ought to be touched, and he was not. His heart seemed turned to stone when suddenly he felt it quicken.

The lad had simply said, "My name isn't Butter; it's Butterfield."

"A Yorkshireman? You talk like one!" cried Tom, with a most painful flash of memory. Once more he was a lucky, hopeful, penitent sinner in a sweet smelling wagon on a night in spring, with Blaydes' watch ticking no warning in his pocket and with a vivid mental picture of Blaydes himself smiling wistfully across the stile, beside which he was even then lying dead.

"Aye," said young Butterfield, "poor old Yorkshire! I doubt I'll ever see it again. My folks have left there an' all."

Tom had more flashes. He was getting used to them now.

"Where did they move to?"

"A little place they call Hendon, an' it was me that drove 'em there by getting into trouble! Oh, it was me disgraced them all and drove them away!"

To be continued.

SUBSCRIBERS PLEASE NOTICE

Readers, whose street number has been lately changed, will confer a favor if they will notify this office so that the correction can also be made on our list.

ABSOLUTE SECURITY.

Genuine

Carter's Little Liver Pills.

Must Bear Signature of

Brent Good

See Fac-Simile Wrapper Below.

Very small and as easy to take as sugar.

CARTER'S ITTLE IVER PILLS.
FOR HEADACHE.
FOR DIZZINESS.
FOR BILIOUSNESS.
FOR TORPID LIVER.
FOR CONSTIPATION.
FOR SALLOW SKIN.
FOR THE COMPLEXION

Purely Vegetable.

CURE SICK HEADACHE.

"The Maple Leaf forever"

We have taken the Maple Leaf for our trade mark, because it is Canadian.

COWAN'S PERFECTION COCOA (Maple Leaf Label)

IS MADE IN CANADA, AND IS THE PUREST AND BEST.

THE COWAN CO., Ltd., TORONTO

FOR THE LADY WHO CALLS

Visiting List and Social Engagement Book —A Dainty and Useful Gift.

Those ladies who find it difficult to keep track of their social debts in the way of calls which have to be returned, invitations to various society functions which have been received will be pleased to learn that a dainty little book has been issued from the presses of the Review which will fill their need. The city has grown so rapidly of late years that it has become almost necessary for each lady to have a special reception day each month when her friends will be sure to find her at home. To keep a record of these will be an easy matter with one of these little books. They are prettily bound in blue linen, lettered in gold and printed on good paper. There are two pages for every day in the month, arranged, according as the day is, first Monday, second Tuesday, etc. At the back of the book are pages for invitations received, out-of-town addresses, special reception dates, and memoranda. One of the books would make a dainty and acceptable Xmas gift. The books are on sale at the bookstores at the price of 50c

ALL THINGS ARE NOW READY

GEORGE R. RECORD

PRACTICAL

FRENCH DRY CLEANER AND PRESSER

Ladies' and Gentlemen's Garments and Household Articles cleaned and guaranteed not to fade color or shrink any material. Charges moderate. Goods called for and delivered. Telephone 668.

NEW BRICK BLOCK, 173 SIMCOE ST.

Only Complete Dry Cleaning Plant in City

Money is Not Tight

On some of the property propositions we can offer you. We have some pretty locations where situation, price and terms are all to suit. Low priced houses, some of them brick and on good lots, $850 up

$1,000—Village store near the city, no competition. A good thing.
$1,600—Large modern, good looking brick house, south city.
$2,300—Very profitable apartment house renting to small families.
$1,800 and $2,350—Nice brick house, modern conveniences, well situated.
$3,000—Brick dwelling, stable, etc.; also some building lots. Just suit a retired farmer
$2,350 to $4,800—Beautiful residences on Gilmour, Homewood Ave., Weller, King, Water Sts, etc.

If you are thinking of going West we can show you something good in lands in British Columbia, Alberta and Saskatchewan, with return ticket for selection trip. Farms for sale. Houses to rent.

BELL & TAYLOR

Real Estate. Fire Insuranc

Office—376 Water Street.

Office Phone—498B House Phone 547B

YOUR OWN HAIR MADE UP AS DESIRED . .

By home talent, where y are ure of satisfaction, or matche correctly in shade and quality.

Switches, Natural Wavy Pomp Latest Coiffures

Let us show you what we can do before you patronize some outside party. We guarantee to please you at lowest prices in the city.

Back Hair Dressing, Shampooing, etc.

MRS. BYRNE'S

George Street Second Door North of Dutton's

HOCKEY SKATES

From 75c to $5.00

Skates repaired and sharpened
General machine work.

METHEREL'S CYCLE WORKS

225 Hunter Street

Letterheads

¶What you think about your Business Stationery isn't quite so important as what your correspondent thinks.

¶Don't have inferior paper and work in your Business Stationery. Don't try good work and paper because you like it, altogether, but because it influences the man you write in your favor.

¶The Review Job Department will give you the best work obtainable and superior paper and envelopes. Your order set, printed and cared for for you, particularly you

¶A Call or Phone will bring to you samples

THE REVIEW
PETERBOROUGH

W. H. HILL, Esq.,
Manager of Central Ontario.

Dear Sir—After congratulating myself being a Sun Life Policy Holder, I am very much pleased with the handsome amount added to my Policy, and am surprised and gratified with the profits. I appreciate the good financial position which your Company holds to-day.

THOS. EDGAR,
Peterborough, Ont

November 29th, 1907.

N.B.—Policy Straight Life $2,000
Bonus for 5 Years $160.
Policy No. 17,706

SNAPS FOR XMAS

Ebony Mirrors
Ebony Hair Brushes
Ebony Clothes Brushes
Ebony Manicure Sets
Ebony Military Brushes
Real Seal Skin Purses
Hand Satchels
Ladies' Companions
Gentlemen's Companions
Perfumes, etc.

at lowest prices

WARNE BROS.

345 GEORGE ST. PHONE 327

Xmas Photos

Send a family group or the children's photos to your friends at Christmas. Nothing is appreciated more than such remembrances, from

MENDEL'S STUDIO

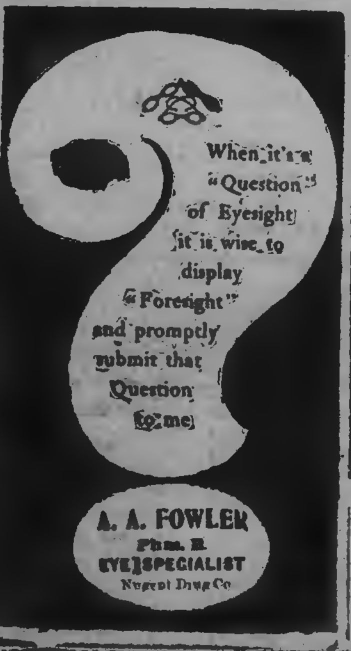
374 1-2 George St Entrance next Oke's

WILL PURCHASE NEW BOOKCASE

George Street Sunday School Will Spend $100 on New One

At a meeting of the teachers and officers of the George Street Sunday School last night, it was decided to expend $100 in the purchase of a new book case for the Sunday School library. This will be placed in the new library room. The large increase in the number of books has made it necessary to secure the new case.

Bert Smith, of London, and formerly of the Dutton Advance, has taken a position as linotype operator on the Brandon Sun.



When it's a "Question" of Eyesight it is wise to display "Foresight" and promptly submit that Question to me

A. A. FOWLER
Phm. B.
EYE SPECIALIST
Nugent Drug Co

INTEREST PAID
QUARTERLY
—ON—
SAVINGS DEPOSITS of $1 and upwards
—THE—
BANK OF OTTAWA

Interest paid
February 28
May 31
August 31
November 30

PETERBOROUGH BRANCHES:
George Street, also Corner Rubidge and Townsend Streets

A. A. HOLLINGSHEAD, Mgr

CLUB SMOKER THIS EVENING

There Should be Large Attendance at Conservative Rooms

The first of the season's series of club smokers—which were so successful last year—will be given this (Thursday) evening, at eight o'clock, in the Young Conservative club rooms.

The late president, Mr. J. Hampden Burnham has kindly consented to give a reading from Dickens, "A Christmas Carol," and from Thompson-Seton's "Lives of the Hunted." There will be a good programme of songs. A large attendance is expected this evening.

"THAT'S GRATITUDE"

Reporters have hard times of their own sometimes. Yesterday one of the news gatherers on the Review staff went to a local man who is connected with a certain charitable organization in the city and asked him for particulars about a meeting held on the previous evening. The information was refused by the gentleman in question, on the grounds that "the papers had not used the organization right on a recent occasion."

Perhaps the papers hadn't used them right, but if any wrong was done it was unintentional, and apparently no great harm was caused at any rate. Time and again the local papers have pleaded the cause of the society in question, and urged that it be strongly supported, and the hard working scribes even went so far as to hand over to it the proceeds of a hockey match in which they competed, and then for one slight fault one of the officers refuses a little information because "the papers haven't used them right."

The information desired was secured from another source, after some trouble. Perhaps it was not correct, but then it would almost be a good thing if it were not.

It may be that newspapers would be more appreciated if they did a little more "knocking," and told about things as they really were instead of trying to cover up people's sins and mistakes. The new rule may be tried some day.

ADAMS' XMAS SILK WAISTS

Adams' Great Snap
- - IN - -
NEW XMAS SILK WAISTS
FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

A timely purchase from a large manufacturer of high-class Silk Waists—all their broken lines of new Christmas Waists at about the cost of making, enables us to give to the ladies of Peterboro' and vicinity the greatest Silk Waist Bargain ever offered them. Coming at the Gift Giving Season gives you a rare chance of a nice useful gift for little money,

$5.00, $6.00 and $7.00 for $3.98

48 only, beautiful Silk Waists, made for the Xmas trade, Black and White, many styles to choose from, trimmed with allover embroidery fronts and lace, 3-4 sleeve, open back. Regular retail prices $5.00, $6.00 and $7.00.

FRIDAY and SATURDAY
(Not Before)
Your Choice For $3.98

SALE WAISTS ON EXHIBITION IN OUR SHOW WINDOW

Harry Adams

Jas. Murray Sentenced to One Year in Central Prison

On Charge of Attempting to Shoot P. C. Newhall on October 22nd at C.P.R. Station—Jury Returned a Verdict of Guilty After Being Out Only a Short While—Case Heard at County Sessions Yesterday

Jas. Murray charged with attempting to shoot P.C. Newhall at the C.P.R. station on the night of October 22, was given one year in Central Prison at the County Court sessions yesterday.

They were only out a short time when they returned the above verdict. His Honor Judge Weller in passing sentence on the prisoner reviewed the facts of the case, referring to the seriousness of the offence. He also gave out some timely advice to the prisoner. Mr. R. E. Wood conducted the prosecution and Mr. E. L. Goodwill defended the prisoner.

P.C. Newhall was the principal witness. At midnight on October 22nd, P.C. Newhall attired in civilian clothes went down to the station. He had heard that Murray, with two other colleagues, had been trying to sell cheap jewellery in the city during afternoon. On arrival at the station the officer was at once accosted by one of the "Slick" gents, who he afterwards turned out to be Murray.

"Good night, Jack, do you want to buy a ring," said the prisoner, to the policeman. "Give me $1.50 for it. I want the money to go away." Witness then arrested Murray, but his two chums interferred. He pulled a revolver, but P.C. Newhall quickly knocked it out of his hand, and struck the third man with a club. He held the prisoner but the other two got away.

Murray attempted to shoot the witness and said that if he had known he was Newhall he would have killed him before. Murray admitted to the officer having ben arrested in Toronto and having served a term some time ago. He further admitted having been associated with the bunch of pickpockets arrested here last circus day.

Murray gave vidence on his own behalf of an entirely contradictory nature to that of the policeman, but that of the officer remained unwavered. He claimed that he was trying to get rid of the firearm so it would not be seen on him.

After the Crown prosecutor and defendant's counsel had addressed the jury they retired. Having been out about half an hour they returned with the above verdict and His Honor passed sentence.

Some Suitable Place Should Be Provided for City Poor

Grand Jury Strongly Denounce the Keeping of Indigents in the County Jail—18 Inmates at Present in the Local Prison.

The Grand Jury of the County Court Sessions made their presentment to His Honor Judge Weller this morning, and in it they strongly advocated the building of a suitable place for the care of elderly men and women who were too poor to provide for themselves. It is to be regretted that men whose only offence is poverty should have to go to jail for a home.

Court House, Peterborough, Dec. 12.
To His Honor Judge Weller;

We, the Grand Jury at the County Court of the County of Peterborough beg leave to report as follows:

We have visited the county jail and find everything connected with it in a very satisfactory condition, which shows well for the officials in charge. We found 18 inmates—males, no females—in the jail; 10 vagrants and 8 for various offences. The former were mostly elderly men, whose only offence was poverty, and we would strongly recommend that some provision be made at an early date to provide a more suitable place for to keep them.

We also visited the County House of Refuge, near Lakefield, and we found it a beautiful substantial structure eminently suited for the purpose for which it was built, everything connected with it was scrupulously clean and comfortable. We found 23 inmates, 13 males and 10 females, all of whom, when spoken with, expressed themselves as quite satisfied with their treatment and home-like surroundings. This place appears to be an almost ideal home for those poor old people, and we again express a hope that at no distant date some provision will be made whereby the city's poor may receive the same kind of care and treatment in a suitable building as is provided for those of the county.

We would recommend the planting of shade trees on the grounds around the House of Refuge, This will add greatly to the appearance of the propearance of the property.

Wishing you a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year, and that you may be spared to hold for many years this exalted position you now occupy.

Yours respectfully,
W. E. CONWAY,
Foreman.

Peterborough May Ask for Grant From Andrew Carnegie

To Build an Up-to-date Public Library in City

CITY COUNCIL TO CONSIDER MATTER

Building on Simcoe Street Will Not be Used as Library Purposes

There is a possibility that Peterborough may ask Andrew Carnegie for a grant to be used in connection with the erection of a modern public library in the city. The suggestion is under consideration, and is looked upon with favor in some quarters.

The city council has been given a clear deed of the building on Simcoe street, formerly occupied by Richard Hall & Son, but it has been practically decided that these premises will not be used for a public library. In the first place, the location is not the most desirable, and, furthermore, it would take about $10,000 to fit the place up for library purposes. It has been suggested that the city council sell the building, and use the money for purchasing a more desirable location. It is estimated that the place would bring about $20,000, which would purchase some other modest building that would serve as a home for the library. In this connection the old Bank of Montreal building on the southeast corner of Water and Simcoe streets, has been spoken of. It has also been proposed that the council go to the people and ask them for $20,000, to be added to the money that would be received from the sale of the building on Simcoe street, and a new library built, but in view of the fact that about $3,000 per year would have to be spent to maintain the library, it is hardly probable that the ratepayers would favor a $20,000 appropriation.

Another proposition is to use the money that would be derived from the sale of the building, of which the council has been given the deed, to purchase a site for a library and to apply to Andrew Carnegie for a grant to erect a sitable building. The city would then bear the maintenance of the library. Brantford, Ottawa, and several other Canadian and American cities have secured librares in this way.

The library question will come up at the council meeting on Monday night, when the suggestions outlined above will be considered.

George Williamson Runs Amuck in the Opera House

Was Disturbing Performance and When Ordered to Leave Assaulted House Constable—Seat Was Smashed During the Row.

At the production of "The Fatal Flower," at the Grand last night, George Williamson, who follows the life of a gypsy, and his wife kept up a hum of conversation in their seats near the front of the orchestra row that the people sitting near them, and in fact, some distance away, were annoyed beyond endurance. At length one of those in attendance complained to the management, and Messrs. J. J. Turner, sr., and A. W. Truner took two seats immediately in the rear of the objectionable couple. They repeatedly cautioned them to keep quiet, and at length instructed them to leave, telling them their money would be refunded if they did so. The woman argued that they had a right to engage in a conversation, and protested against going out. The Opera House constable was called, and Mrs. Williamson arose from her seat to leave the place. Her husband, who had enough liquor in him to arouse his pugilistic proclivities, also seemed about to give his desirable room for his undesirable presence, but suddenly changed his mind. The constable ordered him out, but he struck that official and a general mixup ensued, in which five or six participated in the task of forcibly removing him. Williamson, who is a man of nearly six feet in height, and appears to weigh about 220 pounds, put up a strenuous resistance, and in the melee one of the seats was smashed. He was finally ejected, however, and held by Mr. Archie Moore and the house constable until P. C. McGinty arrived. He went quietly with the policeman at first, but going to the market offered resistance, and the officer found it necessary to give him a couple of love taps with his baton before he was subdued.

ASSESSED ON TWO COUNTS.

He was locked up all last night, and this morning, when he came up before Magistrate Dumble pleaded guilty to being drunk and disorderly in a public place, and also that he did "unlawfully and wilfully commit damage to property of the informant." On the first charge he was fined two dollars, and given five days in which to pay it, and was also instructed to pay the management of the opera house five dollars for the broken seat.

MR. TURNER'S WARNING.

Mr. Turner, the manager of the Grand, who is doing everything in his power to conduct the Opera House along the proper lines, says he will not for an instant tolerate disturbances of any character in the Opera House. He will have all offenders in that line promptly ejected, and will lay complaints against them at the police station.

There is every reason to believe that in the future Police Magistrate Dumble will deal even more rigidly with cases of disorderly or objectionable conduct in the Opera House than he did with the one this morning.

To Give Help Where Help is Most Needed

Scheme Suggested by Which the Deserving Poor Will Receive Consideration at Christmas

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—With the approach of the Christmas season, when everyone who is able to do so, delights in distributing Christmas cheer, some arrangements should be made by the different organizations in connection with the churches, which would prevent overlapping in the disbursement of gifts. It has come to my notice recently, as well as in former years, that there are some people who at this time of the year are sending their children to different Sunday schools each Sunday, in order to obtain, as they say, from each one, Christmas gifts. The result of this is, besides encouraging such a contemptible practice, that some people have plenty of help, while the deserving ones are overlooked. Would it not be well to have a meeting of each clergyman and a member of each congregation to make a list of the names of the people to be remembered, and, while distributing the gifts, each one for himself, yet prevent any organized attempt to make a mere tool of the charitably disposed citizens. While I am writing, I may mention that I will be glad to distribute, as I have done the last year, clothing among the deserving poor, if the public will entrust me with it, and send old clothing to me.

Faithfully yours,
E. A. LANGFELDT,
St. Luke's Rectory.

Debating Club on Ideal Characters

Interesting Meeting Held at Y.M.C.A. Last Night

The regular meeting of the Y.M.C.A. Debating Club was held in the Y.M.C.A last night, the president, Mr Wilfrid Shiner, in the chair.

After the roll call Mr. F. Ray gave an interesting and exhaustive review of current events, dealing very effectively, not only with local matters, but also with European and Asiatic questions.

The subject for the evening's discussion was "Ideal Characters," and was led by Mr. E. Bruce, who took as his ideal character the late Professor Grant, of Queen's College, Kingston. In his opening words Mr. Bruce pointed out that he had chosen a Canadian as his ideal character, and, after giving a brief sketch of his youth and early manhood, dealt at length with his influence on Canadian life and education.

This was followed by a review of one of Thomas Carlyle's books, "Heroes and Hero Worship," by Mr. Common, who gave to that writer the position of an ideal character.

Both orations were listened to with great interest by the large number present, and at the close, a discussion, in which several took part, followed.

The next meeting of the class will be held on December 18th, the programme to be announced later.

Col. J. Twining, of Halifax, a veteran of the Northwest Rebellion, is dead.

ESTABLISHED 1873

UNDERWEAR BARGAINS
- - - - AT - - - -
LeBRUN'S

The cold weather did not catch us napping. We have laid in the largest stock of Underwear we ever had and are reducing the prices in every line to make quick selling.

SCOTCH WOOL, NATURAL WOOL, SILK and WOOL, WOLSELY HYGIENE FLEECE LINED

All sizes for men and boys, as high as 50 inches, and at prices, ranging from 25c to $3.50 per garment

Also FLANNELL SHIRTS, all colors, Blue, Black and Gray, with or without collars, are reduced in price.

Cardigan Jackets and Heavy Sweaters at close prices.

H. LeBrun & Co.

Two Entrances George and Hunter Sts

Ladies' Hand Bags and Purses

Just the thing for Useful and Beautiful Gift now on display at the store that gives the largest choice, the best leathers and closest prices.

Ladies' and Gentlemen's TRAVELLING SATCHELS and TRUNKS of all kinds, in the largest selection in the city.

B. SHORTLY SIGN OF THE BIG HORSE AT THE DOOR
TELEPHONE No. 319

Captain Bernier Will Lecture Here

Rev. Dr. Marsh, of Springville, has received word from Captain Bernier of Ottawa, the noted explorer, saying that he will come to Peterborough, and give a lecture on his recent expedition to the polar seas, just as soon as he can get free from his engagement at the Capital.

Navel Oranges 25, 30, & 40c. Holly (English) for decorating. On and after Friday night 12 inst. store will be open late. R. A. DUTTON.

A steam locomotive in a test in Clayton, New Jersey, made a fraction more than 99 miles an hour. A test of electric locomotives is soon to be made.

Week of Prayer In January

Meetings Will be Held in Various City Churches

The Week of Prayer will be observed in Peterborough during the first week in January. On Monday night the meeting will be held in St. Andrew's church; on Tuesday night in the Murray and Park street Baptist churches; on Wednesday at George street church; on Thursday at Knox and Mark street churches, and on Friday night at St. Paul's church.

All the patrons of the different churches mentioned will take part, but no pastor will have charge of the service in his own church.

Dr. Porter, market inspector of Brantford, has withdrawn his resignation.

COMMON SENSE GIFTS

If you want to make two families genuinely happy this holiday season, try giving the old cook stove that has given you years of service, to some needy household, and present the good wife with a

PANDORA RANGE

You will thus make two homes happy, especially your own where the great comfort of using the Pandora Range will be greatly appreciated.

ADAMSON & DOBBIN
NEW BRICK BLOCK—SIMCOE STREET

THE DAYLIGHT STORE

DOLLARS FOR YOU
At Our Own Money-Saving Sale

There are dollars waiting for you here. Come in and get them. We'll cut them off the prices of our Clothing and Furnishings.

The wise man who has his eye on his pocket book will now get busy and buy all the wearables he can use. Don't wait too long. This Sale will soon end.

MEN'S SUITS of fine English and Scotch Tweed, beautifully lined in both single and double-breasted style, were up to $14 and $15, for 11.90

MEN'S OVERCOATS—Heavy English Overcoatings in Kersey and Tweed, with wool and Italian linings; worth $12 and $13, for 9.90

MEN'S UNDERWEAR in heavy all wool, double-breasted, worth regular $1.00, for........ 69c

Braces, Gloves, Hosiery, Ties, Handkerchiefs, etc., all at bargain prices.

There's a constant flow of bargains from our great sale. Now is the time to clothe up every member of the family, large or small. Remember it is always "Money back if you want it" when you buy here.

LANG & MAHER, CLOTHIERS AND FURNISHERS TO MEN WHO KNOW
409-411 George St., Peterborough

An Exceptional Offering of

BEAUTIFUL NEW WAISTS

Beautiful in every sense of the word, charming, exquisite waists of Silk, Net and Lace—authoritatively representing the latest fashion ideas of the most famous metropolitan designers. They are splendid examples of delicate workmanship. They will excite the admiration of every woman who loves a beautiful waist. The fabrics, laces and trimmings, which enter into the making of these waists, are of the most excellent quality—They assure a long and durable period of wear. Yet, aside from their perfect style, fabric and workmanship, they are also unusually low in price. We call attention to these interesting and beautiful IMPORTED MODELS for evening wear:

NEW WAISTS AT $10.00

These dainty and effective waists are made of white mull, round yoke of embroidered lace, trimmed down the front with open work embroidery, outlined with faggoting and cluster pin tucks, full length sleeves and cuffs to match Special 10.00

NEW WAISTS AT $8.00

Very dainty effects of Ecru Filet lace with Oriental insertion outlined with hand made faggoting and Val lace, new kimona sleeves, interlined with heavy Japanese silk Special at 8.00

NEW WAISTS AT $12.50

Charming waists of white Brussels net, small round yoke of Carrick-ma-Cross lace finished with thread lace and insertion, extra full sleeve with bell shaped cuff to match yoke, interlined with silk, Special at 12.50

NEW LACE WAISTS $15.00

Stunning models of white allover lace, beautifully trimmed with baby Irish lace and insertion, front inlaid with Irish crochet medallion, new kimona sleeve, interlined with silk Special 15.00

NEW NET WAISTS $15.00

Very attractive and charming models, Brussels net waists, large embroidered spot, baby Irish lace, yoke finished with medallions to match and sprays of guipure lace down the front, new fancy sleeve, interlined with silk Special at 15.00

NEW SILK WAISTS $20.00

Extremely elaborate models n shell pink taffeta silk, floral design, trimmed with baby Irish lace and insertion, shirred yoke, with lace medallion, new sleeves, a beautiful waist for any occasion Special 20.00

RICHARD HALL & SON, LIMITED

353 AND 355 GEORGE STREET, PETERBOROUGH

STORE OPENS AT 8 A.M. CLOSES AT 6 P. M., EXCEPT SATURDAY

FOR FINE

Lemons, Oranges

Malaga Grapes

Bananas

and all kinds of fruit and vegetables try

MINOCOLO BROS.

Wholesale and Retail.

Both Phones 337.

Last Chance

FOR XMAS PHOTOGRAPHS

All sittings made before SATURDAY DEC. 14 willl be finished for Xmas

THE ROY STUDIO

BROCK ST.

RINK

SEASON 1907-8

Tickets for the season entitling the holder to all skating privileges, now on sale at the Examiner Office, Peterborough Bookstore, Sanderson & Co., F. A. Clarke's, Best Hardware Co., the Secretary, C. G. Graham, at the Oriental Hotel.

Gentlemen . .	3.00
Ladies	2.00
Youths, 16 to 18	2.00
Boys under 16 .	1.50
Girls	1.50

Nothing makes a better Christmas gift for your boy or girl than a Season Ticket for the Brock Street Rink.

: : CHRISTMAS : :

is coming soon and you will be face to face with that perplexing question

WHAT SHALL I BUY FOR A PRESENT?

We are ready and willing to solve it for you easily and at a small expenditure of time and money. Here you will find the most beautiful 1907 designs in gold and silver goods. Designs and prices that cannot be found elsewhere.

SCHNEIDER'S

RELIABLE JEWELLERS, 391 GEORGE STREET

THE CITY AND VICINITY

EVENTS TO-NIGHT

"Crystal"—Passion Play.

Curling rink.—Meeting of skips.

Young Conservative Club rooms.—Smoker.

S.O.E. Hall.—Court Chemong I.O.F. elects officers.

FUR LINED COATS

We clean and press them and guarantee no injury to the fur. My Valet, 204 Charlotte street. All goods called for and delivered. dtf

CHRISTMAS CAKE.

Best of fruit, choicest of flavorings and perfection of baking, makes Elliott's Christmas cake the finest to be had. Leave orders now. Iced as desired. dtf

ANNUAL TEA.

The annual tea and entertainment of the Central Smith Dairy Co. will be held to-morrow (Friday) night in the fourth line Temperance Hall, Smith.

MAKE CALENDARS.

Why not make calendars? They are pretty cheap and always acceptable. We have pictures in sepia and colors, fancy embossed cards and dainty calendar pads in many designs. See them at the Review office. 3d

CHOSEN FRIENDS.

Peterborough Council, No. 423, Canadian Order Chosen Friends, will meet on Friday evening, in the S.O.E. hall, Hunter street. The most important business will be the selection and election of officers for the coming year.

FINE PICTURE FRAMING.

New mouldings, good work, reasonable prices. J. M. GREENE Music Co., George street. dtf

COURT CHEMONG

Election of officers will take place at Court Chemong, I.O.F., tonight. All members should be in attendance.

JUNIOR CHAPTER

The junior Chapter of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew will meet at St. Luke's church this evening at 8 o'clock.

100 HIGH GRADE VIOLINS.

We are overstocked in violins and are offering bargains for the next two weeks to reduce our stock. 404 George street, Peterborough Music Co. 3d

MEET TO-NIGHT.

The committees in connection with the benefit concert to be tendered David Hartley, the long distance walker, will meet this evening at 7.30 o'clock at the Examiner office,

ST. ANDREW'S CHOIR

The members of St. Andrew's choir are earnestly requested to attend the special practice tonight at 8 o'clok sharp for special rehearsal of the Christmas music. The children of the chorus are requested to be at the school room at 7.30 sharp.

TAKE NOTE

Of our fine line of Violins, Mandolins, Guitars, etc. Some excellent values, and within easy range for the Xmas trade. Special prices to Old Santa Claus. J. M. GREENE Music Co., Grand opera house building, George street. dtf

SANTA CLAUS

ON HIS WAY TO ROUTLEY'S

STORE OPEN EVERY EVENING

Goods are Pouring in--Our customers are Now Buying for Xmas

300 Dressed Dolls, reg. 25c, choice	.14
375 China Tea Sets, regular 50c	.25
25 Crokinole Boards, regular 1.25	.59
60 Leather Case Silk Lined Ebony Manicure Case, regular 2.50 for	1 50
20 only Military Brush Sets, Stirling Silver Mounted, regular 1.25 pair for	.74
1 cases Children's Plated Knife, Fork and Spoon, with pearl handles, reg. 2.00	1 24

You will find that our clerks are attentive and that prices are reliable. We watch closely our buying as we know goods well bought are half sold already

TORONTO 262-4 QUEEN W ROUTLEY'S PETERBORO' 379 GEORGE ST

ROYAL TEMPLARS.

A meeting of the Royal Templars of Temperance will be held to-night at 8 o'clock in the Y.M.C.A. hall, and not to-morrow night, as was previously announced.

AT PARK STREET CHURCH.

The annual tea and concert of the Mission Band of Park Street Baptist church will be held. A good programme has been prepared for the event tomorrow night.

SALE AND SOCIAL

St. John's Y.W.A. will hold a social and sale of dolls' clothes, lemonade, cakes, candies, &c., in the school room on Saturday from 3.30 to 6.00 p.m. Silver collection. 2d

A GOOD SERVANT.

The Review Want Ad. column solves the problem of how to recover lost articles, get a tenant for a house, secure a servant or help of any kind, obtain roomers or boarders, sell surplus articles around the home, or find something you want to buy. Try it, the cost is low.

PERSONAL

Mr. Bert Gillespie of Brickville, was in the city yesterday.

Miss Marguerite Sarginson, Campbellford, is visiting friends in the city.

Reeve R. N. Scott, of Smith township, was in Lindsay yesterday on business.

Miss Kate Graham of Peterborough, is the guest of her uncle, Mr. Jas. Graham, this week.—Hastings Star.

Mr. J. H. Burnham of Toronto, is in the city, and will take part in the programme at the Young Conservative Club smoker this evening.

Mrs. McCollum, Miss Gertrude and Mr. Arthur McCollum leave today for Orillia, where they will reside in the future. During their three years' residence in Peterborough they made many warm friends.

Sergt. G. W. Hall, of the 60th Rifles, Jubbelpore, Central India, who has been away from Peterborough ten years, is in the city on a visit to Mr and Mrs. W. H. Isaac, Dufferin street. The sergeant's many old friends are pleased to meet him. He is on his way to Vancouver.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Green leave on the 11.16 C.P.R. train for Woodstock, N.B., to-morrow, where Mr. Green re-enters the photograph business. During his ten years residence in Peterborough he has made many warm friends. He is an excellent and thoroughly experienced photographer and will doubtless meet with success in this new field of labor. The best wishes of a host of citizens will follow Mr. and Mrs. Green to their new home.

Mr. Frank Sawers, a popular young clerk at the Bank of Montreal, staff, leaves for Chatham on Monday to join the staff of that branch of the bank. Mr. Sawers has been connected with the local office of the Bank of Montreal for the past two years and a half. The vacancy made on the staff by his transfer will be filled by Mr. Walter Burritt, a son of Mr D. H. Burritt, of this city, and who is now with the Bank of Montreal in Trenton.

THE TRAIN DE LUXE OF CANADA

The "International Limited," the premier train of Canada, is endorsed by everybody who has ever had the experience of riding on it. It leaves Montreal at 9 a.m. every day in the year, arriving Toronto at 4.30 p.m., Hamilton 5.30 p.m., London 7.48 p.m., Detroit 10.00 a.m., and Chicago 7.42 a.m. following morning. It is a solid vestibule train—modern equipment throughout—with Pullman sleeping cars through to to Chicago; also Cafe Parlor and Library car service. Have the experience on your next trip west.

Lady Foresterso f Lift Lock Circle

Elected Officers Last Evening in Their, Hall Simcoe St.

The regular meeting of Lift Lock Circle, No. 142, Companions of the Forest, A.O.F., was held last night in the L.O.L. hall, Simcoe street. A large number of members were present. Two propositions for membership were received. Miss E. Smith presided. After business of very important interest had been dealt with, the Past High Sentry, Miss Lizzie Smith, then took the chair, and the election of officers proceeded with, resulting as follows;—

P C C—Miss Lizzie Smith.

C C—Miss Elgin Smith, re-elected

S C C—Mrs. White, re-elected.

Secy.—Mrs. R. Goodenough, re-elected.

Treas—Miss Clara Dodds.

R Guide—Mrs. Wm. Peacock.

L Guide—Miss L Nelson.

I Guard—Miss M. Main.

O Guide—Miss S. Doughty, re-elected.

Trustees—Mrs. Peacock, Miss Smith, Mrs. Wheeler.

Auditors—S Doughby, M Main, L. Nelson.

Chaplain—Mrs. Dodds.

Physician—Dr. G. L. Leach.

The newly elected officers will be installed the first meeting night in January by one of the High Circle officers.

Tigers are Champions of League

By their victory over the Arrows last night the Tigers won the basketball championship of the city, and the silver cup emblematic thereof. The jungle dwellers have gone through the season without a defeat, and deserve great credit for the way they have played. The league has been most successful, although the dropping out of the Alerts has hindered it somewhat. Th eretirement of the Alerts gives the Arrows and Harriers each a game by default, making the standing of the teams at the close of the season as follows;—Tigers won 3, lost 0; Arrows won 2; lost 1; Harriers won 1, lost 2; Alerts won 0; lost 3.

Another league will likely be formed after the holidays, as was done last year.

He is in Close Quarters Again

Geo. Williamson is Locked up on Charge of Assaulting His Wife

Three times this week. That's how often Geo. Williamson has found himself behind the bars at the police station, and all due, more or less directly, to being too frequently in front of bars of a more festive and seductive character. Only released this morning, on condition that he settle for the opera house fracas, in which he was the storm centre last night, by P'c McGinty and Meharry this afternoon arrested him for assaulting his wife, Margaret Williamson, who is also inclined to sup in abnormal quantities the bewildering nectar.

"I'm not to blame, you know," he said. "She came home drunk and broke the windows, and threw lamps and stove lids, you know."

PARIS IN 1869.

Never Had the Empire Seemed More Assured, the Court More Brilliant.

The last flicker of the candle, the last flame of the dying fire, is ever the brightest, and so it was with Paris in 1869.

Never had the empire seemed more assured, the court more brilliant, the fetes more gorgeous. The light hearted Parisians reveled in the daily sights of royal processions and cavalcades. The Bois de Boulogne and the Champs Elysees, where we were living at that time, were crowded with splendid equipages. I remember often seeing the Empress Eugenie, then the handsomest woman in Europe, driving in her daumont, the green and gold liveries of the postilions and outriders making a brave show. Nor were four horses and postilions the privilege of royalty alone. Princess Metternich, the wife of the Austrian ambassador, often went out in similar style. The beautiful Mme. de Canisy and the Duchesse de Mouchy, the empress' greatest and perhaps only intimate friend, and a host of court ladies habitually drove out in great state and helped by the magnificence of their appearance to give to Paris that air of elegance and distinction which could neither be surpassed nor emulated by any other capital in Europe. Even among those who had forebodings of the gathering storm no one had descried the black shadow cast on the blue sky by the approaching figure of Bellona, her fierce eyes fixed on happy, smiling, tranquil France.—Lady Randolph Churchill in Century.

Brockville is drafting an independent municipal ticket.

Mayor Cameron has been re-elected chief magistrate of Calgary.

The Railway Commission is at Montreal investigating express rates.

Mrs. Alma Harrison, wife of Enos Harrison, of Brantford, is dead,

No Offers for Mining Property

The property of the Star of the East Mining Company situated in Barrie township, Frontenac county, including machinery, chattels, stamp mills, boilers, engines, blacksmiths' tools, hoisting apparatus and other personal property, used in connection with the mines, was put up for sale at the Munro House this afternoon. There were no bidders and the sale was adjourned. Mr. C. Stapleton was auctioneer.

NOTHING YET HEARD OF HIM

River Being Dragged in Hopes of Finding Body of Edward Beaman

No trace has yet been found of Mr. Edward Beaman, the C. P. R. pumpman who disappeared on Monday evening. The river is being dragged again to-day with the hopes of locating his body.

Another Runaway on Charlotte St.

Team of Mr. Ed. Jones Became Frightened at G.T.R. Station

A runaway accident occurred this morning at the G.T.R. station, when one of Ed. Jones' team, attached to a cab, broke away, making a wild dash for liberty. The spirited animals were standing at the depot, when they became frightened at something. At the corner of Charlotte and Aylmer streets the cab collided with a telegraph pole, slightly damaging the vehicle. The horses were stopped at this point, and driven to their stables.

NO TENDERS FOR BANKING OF THE CITY

And Committee Appointed a Subcommittee to Interview the Bank Managers

The joint committee composed of cil, Board of Education, Water Com- representatives from the City Commissioners and City Trust Commission met yesterday afternoon to consider tenders for the city's banking 1908, but found that there were no tenders to consider. None of the banks in the city had submitted a rate for carrying the accounts of the different civic bodies and so it was a case of the mountain refusing to come to Mohammed and Mohammed having to go to the mountain. A committee of three was appointed to wait upon the different banks managers and endeavor to come to an agreement. They will report later.

Horse Was Struck in Attempting to Cross Before Car

One of Parker's Dye Works delivery horses had a narrow escape from being killed this morning shortly before noon. The young man handling the reins was driving on Brock street and attempted to cross George street in front of an approaching street car. It was a Jackson Park car, No. 12, in charge of Motorman Jas. Gordon. Mr. Gordon deserves great praise for the quickness with which he brought his car to a standstill. The frightened animal jumped on to the tender and thus escaped serious injury. No damage whatever was done.

Hon. A. B. Aylesworth has returned to this place in the House of Commons.

LOST

PURSE containing Note and Door Key. Finder please leave at Review Office.

LOST

WILD THE PERSON who was seen carrying away the Sable Throw-over from the table in the Secretayr's office in the Y.W.C.A., please return it atonce and avoid further trouble.

CHRISTMAS IS COMING!

A nice pair of Snowshoes or a good Toboggan would make a most acceptable present to lady, gentleman, girl or boy. We carry a very large assortment. Call and see them.

J. J. TURNER & SONS

TENT MANUFACTURERS

George Street, Peterborough

"It's Confidence That Does It"

WHITE & GILLESPIE

TO HOUSEKEEPERS:

Another Christmas will soon be here We can assure Housekeepers of both city and country that we are now ready to provide them with an abundance of the good things necessary for Christmas baking and cooking at enticing prices.

NEW FRUITS

Raisins, Currants, Figs, Prunes, Dates, Candied Peel, Extracts, Syrups, Molasses, Shelled Walnuts and Almonds, Sauces, Pickles, Spices, Sugars, Teas, Coffees, Flour, Biscuits, Cheese, Prime Butter, Fresh Eggs, Breakfast Cereals, etc.

336 GEORGE ST. Phone 208

"DON'T BURN THEM"

We will buy all kinds of Second-hand boots and shoes

JAY'S SECOND-HAND STORE

390 Aylmer Street

SAVE YOUR FURS

AND

FUR-LINED COATS

by having them cleaned by the

FRENCH DRY CLEANING

process, which kills all moths and does not injure in the slightest, the finest furs. This is very important at this season, and may mean the saving of the expense of buying new furs. None too fine for the process.

Dyeing, Cleaning, Pressing, and Reparing promptly and thoroughly done at

PARKER'S DYE WORKS

R. M. BEACH

PROPRIETOR.

Phone 250 177 Charlotte St

LADIES, CUT THIS OUT

Dr. Cristion's

FRENCH TOILET ARTICLES

Have been placed on sale with

Miss E. Smith

567 GEORGE STREET

MANICURING, SHAMPOOING

SCALP TREATMENT and FACIAL

MASSAGE SKILFULLY DONE

Appointments made. Mach. Phone 13

Second Hand Stove Bargains

—AT—

BARRETT'S

Why pay $30 for a Heater or $40 for a Range when you can buy either for $5 to $15 at Barrett's Second Hand Store.

187 Simcoe St. next Cavanagh's

ESTABLISHED 1870

J. R. HEINTZ & CO.

STOCKS, GRAIN,

COTTON, COFFEE

J. N. BARBER, Manager

Phone 520

THE

DOMINION BANK

PAYS SPECIAL ATTENTION TO

SAVINGS ACCOUNTS

INTEREST PAID QUARTERLY

JOHN CRANE Manager

Corner George and Simcoe Sts.

SODEN'S BOOKSTORE 369 GEORGE-ST.

THE BEST CHRISTMAS STORE

Christmas is almost here. Have you bought your Christmas Presents? If not begin at once by going to Soden's. The Stock at this Store is the newest and best selected in its line in Peterborough, comprising

Books, Stationery, Pictures, Fancy Goods Leather Goods, China, Toys and Games

BOOKS

All the latest and best fiction, beautifully bound, cloth bound and padded poets, children's picture and story books. All the newest and most up-to-date gift books, ranging in prices from 10c to $3.00 each.

STATIONERY

All the best makes and designs from leading American and Canadian manufacturers--See our special Papeteries, Calendars, Christmas Cards.

PICTURES

Don't fail to inspect this stock. We are the largest importers of High Class Pictures between Toronto and Montreal. We frame on the ground and on short notice Our prices in this, as in all other lines, are RIGHT.

LEATHER GOODS

Fancy goods and China--We import direct from the factories. Our designs are the newest, our qualities the best to be had in the world's markets.

OUR PRICES are as low as you can buy inferior Goods for elsewhere, and quality considered are LOWER than any others in Peterborough. Come, see for yourself, and be satisfied.

SPECIAL PRICES ON BOOKS FOR SUNDAY SCHOOLS

SODEN'S BOOKSTORE 369 GEORGE-ST.

Special Inducements TO BUY HEATERS

You gain nothing by delay. See our

Standard Oak
Quebec Ideal
Art Laurel

They are great fuel savers. Easily operated and splendid heat distributors.

F.R.J. MACPHERSON & CO.

341 George St. Phone 118

F.R.J. MACPHERSON ANGUS MACPHERSON

Their Work is Much Appreciated

Messrs. Ward, Cameron and Somerville at Annual Meetings of Cheese Factories

The series of meetings in connection with the annual meetings of the different factories just closed, have been a great success. The attendance was good, and the interest taken in the addresses given by Messrs. Ward, Cameron and Somerville showed that the dairy farmers are alive to the advantage of better care of milk, and the general improvement of the dairy business. The Ontario and Dominion Departments of Agriculture are to be congratulated upon the able speakers sent out to address the meetings. The instructors, Messrs. Ward and Cameron, knowing the local conditions were able to deal intelligently with the weak points of the individual factories. Their addresses dealt with the importance of cooling of milk, better sanitary conditions, and included the fact that if all milk was cooled down to a temperature of 60 degrees, and delivered to the factories as good as the best, a saving of 1-2 lb. of milk on every pound of cheese could be realized, which would amount to many thousands of dollars in Peterborough section alone.

Mr. Somerville took up the cow testing work and cool curing of cheese. Last year a number of cow testing associations were formed in the Peterborough section, and with exception of a few members, have been entirely satisfactory. The work on the whole has been well done, and Mr. Somerville is well pleased with the reports of members at the close of the first year. If this work is carried out until all patrons of cheese and butter factories have an average production of 6,000 lbs. per cow, the great problem of our national industry will be solved. The cool curing rooms installed have given entire satisfaction, and the benefits derived from this system of curing cheese have been appreciated by the patrons of the different factories. Mr. Somerville's work in the Peterborough section has been appreciated by the patrons and makers, and at every meeting a hearty vote of thanks was tendered the speakers. If the advice given is carried out as far as is possible, next season should see our Peterborough cheese board leading as a dairy section.

LIMERICK PRIZE WINNER

Miss N. Pearl Emerson, 356 Stewart street, is to be congratulated upon securing a five dollar prize in last weeks' daily Mail and Empire Limerick contest. The Limerick was:

Said a housewife of fair Napanee,
"The 'help' problem can't bother me,
I'll tell you this way,
To make servant girls stay, and Miss Emerson's winning line was, "Keep mum, when Jane asks him to tea."

HOW'S THIS

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligations made by his firm.

WALDING, KINNAN & MARVIN,
Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Testimonials sent free. Price 75 cents per bottle. Sold by all druggists.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

NOMINATION OF OFFICERS

One of the the Features of Knights of Pythias Meeting Last Night—Grand Prelate Here

Marathon Lodge, No. 30, Knights of Pythias, held an important meeting last night, the principal business being the election of officers for the coming year. Election will take place at a special meeting to be held before the end of the year.

Mr. P. Dough, Grand Prelate of the Grand Lodge, Knights of Pythias, was in attendance and gave a short address, that was listened to with much interest.

One candidate was duly initiated, and one took the third degree.

Big Sum Required to Run The Business of Dominion

To Run the Nation $120,000,000 Called For.

Main Estimates Exceed Figures of Last Year by Fourteen Millions—Provincial Subsidies Larger—Railways and Canals Get More — Increase of $150,000 For Annual Drill in Militia Department.

Ottawa, Dec. 12.—Finance Minister Fielding last night brought down the estimates for the fiscal year 1908-9. The total amount called for is $119,237,091. This is 14 millions more than the main estimates of last year, which amounted to $105,680,519.

When the supplementaries are brought down the estimates for the year, beginning April 1 next, may total $126,000,000, if opinion may be formed from experience of the present fiscal period, when the total was $136,000,000, including $6,678,000 pledged on the Quebec bridge, and $3,000,000 pledged on Montreal harbor. Of the 119 millions, 24 millions are authorized by statute.

On account of the consolidation fund the estimates are $70,871,471, and on capital account $42,365,620, the totals under the latter heading being: Militia $1,300,000, railways and canals, $36,987,620, public works $3,278,000, Dominion lands $800,000.

Under consolidated revenue the items are: Public debt, $12,363,247; charges of management $319,450, civil government $2,262,747, administration of justice $1,288,895, police $42,700, penitentiaries $559,050, legislation $1,430,283, arts, agriculture and statistics $1,258,500, quarantine $116,000, immigration $920,000, pensions $193,013, superannuation $352,000, militia $5,202,630, railways and canals $1,017,652, public works $9,119,050, mail subsidies and steamship subventions $1,497,383, ocean and river service $914,800, lighthouse and ocean service $2,717,650; scientific institutions and hydrographic surveys $543,692, marine hospitals $53,000, steamboat inspection $47,500, fisheries $1,242,300, superintendence of insurance $27,450, subsidies to provinces $9,035,472, mines and geological surveys $230,250, Indians $1,273,000, mounted police $750,000, Government of Northwest Territories $9,800, Government of Yukon $365,000, Dominion lands $317,214, miscellaneous $660,500, customs $2,074,500, excise $667,322, weights and measures $173,100, adulteration of food $30,000, minor revenues $2,540, railways and canals collection of revenue $10,451,498, public works $543,900, post-office $6,261,839, trade and commerce $91,000, inspection of staples $130,000, culling timber $14,200.

The increases over last year include $2,309,100 increase in provincial subsidies and $1,470,765 on railways and canals. In the Militia Department the amount asked for the annual drill is $1,000,000, an increase of $150,000.

Trades and Labor Council Criticizes the Aldermen

Passes Vote of Censure in Connection With Romaine Street Sewer—Arrangements Made for Labor Mass Meeting—Important Matters Discussed.

The regular monthly meeting of the Trades and Labor Council was held last evening in the Labor Hall, George street, with President Alexander in the chair.

The session proved to be the most successful one of the year, the attendance being unusually large, and the discussion on the different questions considered being of a decidedly animated nature.

Messrs. Louderville and W. Mowry were duly accepted as delegates from the Iron Moulders' Union, as were also Bro. Wm. Taylor and Geo. Scott, representing the Stone Cutters' Union and Pattern Makers' League respectively.

LABOR MASS MEETING.

Definite action was taken last evening regarding the labor mass meeting to be held in the city under the auspices of the Trades and Labor Council. It was decided to hold the meeting the beginning of the New Year, and the committee was instructed to make all arrangements. Mr. James Simpson, of Toronto, the eloquent exponent of labor principles, who is vice-president of the Trades and Labor Council of Canada, will be the speaker.

A TAILOR'S TROUBLE.

During the evening the secretary referred to a local tailoring establishment which was on the unfair list, and suggested that an effort be made to settle the misunderstanding between the Tailors' Union and the shop in question. The delegate from the Tailors' Union went fully into the matter, but no action was taken.

ROMAINE STREET SEWER.

The Romaine street sewer also engaged the attention of the delegates present and the aldermen were roundly scored by the speakers. The discussion was decidedly warm, and the result was that a vote of censure was passed on the city council for still retaining the services of the city engineer and foreman, after the gross negligence and incapacity exhibited in the construction of the sewer.

GARBAGE BY-LAW.

The garbage bylaw, to be submitted to the people, also received attention, and it seemed to be the concensus of opinion that if the sanitary regulations were more strictly adhered to in the centre of the city, there would be little use of additional legislation. It was contended that the legislation at present enacted by the corporation, if rigidly enforced, would cover the ground thoroughly. As a result of the discussion a motion was passed requesting the city to more clearly define and publish the duties of the sanitary inspector.

Reference was also made to the fact that the city had failed to provide lavatories at the market building.

The Trades and Labor Council will meet twice a month during the winter season, and another meeting will be held before the close of the present month, the date to be announced by the president.

CHRISTMAS NUMBER

On Saturday, December 14, the Review will issue its annual Christmas number. This year it will be larger and better than ever before, and will contain much matter of especially appropriate nature for the glad Yuletide season.

A large section of the paper will be printed on extra heavy paper, and will be done in colors.

The Christmas number is being issued several days before Christmas, in order to benefit the merchants, who have advertised most extensively.

As a limited number of copies will be printed, subscribers desiring extra copies should leave their orders early.

The Review would again urge the people of Peterborough to patronize home merchants for the Christmas buying. Help them and they will help you.

G. A. Brodie, Bethesda, is the new president of the Agricultural Experimental Union.

Money for School Trustees When Law Is Complied With County Treasurer Cannot Forward Grants Until Provisions of the School Act Are Met.

During the year 1907 there was sent from the Government $6,299.80 to be distributed among the rural schools based upon certificates of teachers and amount of salary paid.

There was also sent $1103.86, to be distributed, based upon accommodation and equipment, and the county levied $1103.86, to be divided on the same basis, making in all $8507.52, to be distributed upon certificate of the public school inspectors, who, if certain provisions were complied with, are authorized by the Government to give said certificate.

The following sections, it appears, have not complied with the specified provisions, consequently the inspectors have withheld their certificate, and the money still remains in the hands of the county treasurer:

Township of Belmont and Methuen—S. S. No. 2—Grant upon salary and certificate, $100; grant upon accommodation and equipment, $10.92 1-2; county equipment, $10.92 1-2; total, $121.85.

Township of Chandos, S. S. No. 7—$24.00; 6.67 1-2; $6.67 1-2; $37.95, S. S No 8 — $25; $6.53 1-2; $6.53 1-2 total $38.07.

Douro, S. S. No. 1—$20; $6.77 1-2; $6.77 1-2; total, $33.55. S.S. No. 5—$20; $5.77 1-2; $5.77 1-2; total $31.55. S. S. No. 12—$20; $11.67 1-2; $11.67 1-2; total, $43.35.

Township Dummer, S. S. No. 2—$20; $7.45; $7.45; total, $34.90. S S No 5—$10; $7.72 1-2; $7.72 1-2; total $25.45. S. S. No. 6—$40; $10.05; $10.05; total $60.10 S. S. No 11—$10; $7.97 1-2; $7.97 1-2; total, $25.95.

Galway and Cavendish S. S. No. 4—$120; $5.82 1-2; $5.82 1-2; total, $131.65

Harvey, S.S. No. 5—$90; $10.90; $10.90; total, $111.80. S.S. No. 6, $82; $9.20; $9.20; total, $100.40.

Otonabee, S.S. No. 17—$20; $10.80; $10.80; total, $41.60.

Smith—S.S. No. 7—$40; $12.87 1-2; $12.87 1-2; total, $65.75. S.S. No. 9 — $40; $11.47 1-2; $11.47 1-2; total, $62.95.

You have heard the Sailor Boys' plea, buy to-day for dinner to-morrow "Sailor Boy" Canned Goods, Tomatoes Corn, Peas and Salmon. Your money does not buy better Goods. Do you get "Sailor Boy" or substitute?

THE SENDING OF GIFTS

Little Touches That Will Add to the Pleasure of Recipient.

A good deal of the pleasures of Christmas lies in the opening of the mysterious packages that find their way to your door. If these are daintily wrapped, the present is perhaps the more appreciated. The proper way to send a pretty gift is to secure some white wrapping paper, enclose your card, one of those Christmas greetings and a spray of holly embossed on it; seal the first wrapper with one of the holly seals — there are four patterns — and then wrap in a stronger paper. On this use one of the gummed Christmas labels, or a shipping tag with an embossed holly design on it. If one is sending a number of parcels to one address for different members of a family, there are miniature shipping tags, prettily decorated with holly, only costing 5 cents a dozen, which will be nice to use. There are more elaborate tags, ground in shape with a wreath of holly, and enough bright red ribbon attached to tie a bow on the parcel.

The use of all these gives a distinctive touch to the gift, and will be sure to repay the extra trouble taken. The holly seals, labels, cards, and tags are all on sale at the Review office. Call and get a variety of them before you send out your gifts.—tf.

Invitation Cards for AT Homes, Receptions and Evening Parties, partly printed for 1c each. Envelopes to match 10c package. On sale at the Review Office

OLD PEOPLE AT PROTESTANT HOME

Were Pleasantly Entertained Last Evening

The Visiting and Relief Committees of the George street Methodist church Epworth League gave the inmates of the Protestant Home a pleasant time last evening. About eight of the members of the League called at the Home, and songs and recitations made up an interesting programme. Readings were given by Misses Edna Armstrong and Amy Crafts, while others gave vocal and instrumental selections. Refreshments were served at the conclusion and a social time enjoyed.

The several old persons in the Home greatly appreciated the kindness of the young people and look forward with pleasure to another visit from them.

TRIED TO KISS HER.

Taunton, Mass.—The unwritten law of Ireland is cited as a defence for a policeman accused of attempting to kiss a pretty girl. In certain parts of Ireland, it is the custom of a constable, after escorting a pretty girl to the end of his duty, to say, "Now, isn't that worth a kiss?" Nine-tenths of the Taunton women are in sympathy with the policeman.

A pretty woman is irresistible. It is easy to be beautiful—with well rounded figures, clear skins and sparkling eyes. Mrs. Jackson, of Toronto, writes: "I have finished my second box of Fruit-a-tives," "and can say they were just what I needed. I never thought my health could be improved so much in so short a time. I feel better than I have for years." As a blood purifier—and general tonic to build up the whole system — Fruit-a-tives are wonder workers. They are made of fruit juices and tonics. 50c a box. At all dealers.

The Daily Review

THURSDAY, DEC. 12, 1907

THE KIND THAT PAYS

It is acknowledged by the leading merchants that the best kind of advertising—the kind that brings the most remunerative returns for the money invested, is in a good live daily or weekly paper, or monthly periodical. In fact, many merchants will countenance no other sort of publicity. The business men of this and other cities are constantly worried by programme and book canvassers looking for advertisements. And often the merchants bite at these schemes. It is safe to say, that many merchants spend an amount in this way of advertising that would give them a year's contract for real advertising in a good daily paper where the actual returns are sure to be profitable.

Some of our contemporaries between here and Toronto report fake advertising operations in their towns. One in particular seems to have been successful. It is in the shape of a booklet, called "Hints on Banking," with a local bank advertisement displayed in bold type on both corners of the book.

There was space for several other advertisements, and the merchants of the town responded to the request of the canvasser. The job of printing 500 of the books was given in one case to a local printer, and they were prepared with speed. The gentleman carrying on the business called at the printing office a few days later, and received forty of the books, promising to return shortly for the balance and settle for the job. He distributed the forty books to his customers, received his pay for the advertisements, and nothing more has been heard of him. The books which were to be left at a local bank for distribution to bank customers, are in the printing office, and the proprietor there is awaiting the collateral due him.

In many cities the leading business men have banded together, and made an agreement to withhold their patronage from the varied advertising schemes to which they are called upon to contribute.

SUNDAY FUNERALS

The members of the Peterborough Ministerial Association are face to face with the question of Sunday funerals and want the growing practice stopped. They are willing to conduct funerals on any day of the week except Sunday, but there they draw the line.

The average clergyman has enough to do on the Lord's day without officiating at the last sad rites of some departed citizen, especially when obsequies can be avoided. Sunday is an exceptionally busy day for the average divine. He not only has to preach two or three sermons and teach a bible class, but he is frequently called upon to perform many other duties as well, so that when night comes he is completely exhausted in body and spirit. The only effective argument offered by the advocates of Sunday funerals is that many workingmen, who would like to attend can pay their last tribute of respect to the departed without losing half a day's pay. On the other hand the opponents of Sunday funerals contend that the clergy, the undertakers and the cemetery officials should not be made to do a great deal of work which can as well, and often just as conveniently, be performed on some other day of the week.

There is no doubt but that Sunday funerals are getting to be too numerous. In some instances they possibly cannot be avoided but, generally speaking, there is no pressing necessity for them and public opinion will uphold the clergy in their stand to do away with a practice that in all cities is growing to be too common.

PETERBOROUGH RAG AND METAL COMPANY

Prepared to pay the highest market price and will give a square deal for Scrap Iron, Rags, Rubbers, Wool Pickings, etc. Don't sell before you see them. Call up Phone 694

YARD AND OFFICE:
COR. SIMCOE and BETHUNE, West

D. FLORENCE & SON

PEN POINTS

Only ten more purchasing days until Christmas.

NOW! NOW!! NOW!!! is the time to buy your Christmas presents.

Two weeks from Monday next will be nomination day. Trot out your candidates.

It is very unkind of the city council to "slap the Mayor in the face." The odds of 12 to 1 are too great.

Be in attendance at the Young Conservative Club smoker this evening. A good programme will be provided, and a pleasant evening is assured all.

You can make your Christmas shopping a much easier problem by reading the advertising columns of the Review, which are brimful of timely helpful holiday suggestions.

Belleville has a fine new poor house, and a Kingston paper is unkind enough to remark that the declining days of many citizens of the Bay City may now be spent in comfort.

A Belleville pastor has resigned in order to go into the life insurance business. He will find it more difficult to secure good risks than he has converts, for the field is more crowded.

The proposed lengthening of the aldermanic term to two years has much to commend it. If it works well in the case of the Board of Education should it not have equally as good results when applied to the city council.

These are the days when a mere man had better not go poking his nose around too much in drawers and out of the way places. If he does he may unearth the goods which are in cold storage waiting for Santa Claus.

The bylaw for a scavenging system for the city, on which it is proposed to take a plebiscite at the January election, should be published, in order that all interested—and who is not—may learn its details. By all means let the proposed measure be printed.

The Toronto News is unkind enough enough to remark; Hon. Mr. Hanna is full of guile. As it approached Christmas time the Minister was careful to inform his relatives that he had been compelled to go to the poor house at Belleville.

The problem of feeding and lodging the unemployed has become an acute one in Canadian cities. The present winter will be hard on many poor people—especially the newly arrived immigrants who have been lured to this country by fatuous advertisements and unscrupulous agents. The punishment meted out to such parties cannot be too severe if the offence is brought home.

Canadian money is now being found circulating at par and accepted with avidity, in far interior states of the neighboring Union. It would not be a bit surprising if the people who have been asking us to debar American money because America refused ours should now turn round and demand an export duty on Canadian coinage on the ground that we need it all at home.

If Hon. Dr. Pugsley has so many cards up his sleeve relative to a Conservative corruption fund, why does he not make his charges in the House of Commons. If he has cards the exposure cannot come too quickly. The Minister of Public Works says that he will "bide his time!" This is a neat form of subterfuge, but it will scarcely answer. Pugsley is quibbling and he knows it.

The Examiner states that "the only live representative, the only live working representative Peterborough—West Peterborough especially—has had in the past twenty years, have come from the Liberal party." Yes! Mr. Stratton, for instance! He represented this constituency at Toronto for sixteen years, and during that long period he made many plausible promises. Behold the splendid monuments on all sides secured for Peterborough when Mr. Stratton was Provincial Secretary! You could not discover them, dear reader, with Rev. Dr. Marsh's five inch Brashear telescope, with which he photographed the moon the other day.

Sleighing for Xmas, Says Rev. I. Hicks

Rev. Irl Hicks, the weather prophet, predicts stormy weather most of the remainder of this month, especially up to the 20th. Plenty of snow for Christmas, he says, and a plethora of the "beautiful" by the end of the year, with cold weather galore.

Popular Banker Honored in West

Mr. A. E. Jackson, Formerly of Peterborough, Congratulated by Princeton, B. C. Board of Trade

The Princeton Similkameen, of Princeton, B.C., in a recent issue contains the following item in reference to Mr. A. E. Jackson, who some years ago was the popular teller of the local branch of the Bank of Commerce;

Members of the Princeton Board of Trade entertaining an active interest in the future of their esteemed comember and fellow citizen, A. E. Jackson, late manager of the local branch of the Bank of Commerce, will have the following resolution resolution spread upon the minutes of the board at its next regular meeting, a copy of which was sent to-day to Mr. Jackson at Toronto;

"That this board regrets removal of A. A. Jackson, manager of Princeton branch of the Bank of commerce, inasmuch as he has always been a painstaking official of this board and an active member since coming to this town. His courteous manner and language won many friends among citizens generally and we feel it a pleasureable duty to express our high appreciation of him as a member of board and manager of a branch of a great financial institution. May his advancement and success continue. Our best wishes accompany him in his new sphere and may he and Mrs. Jackson have unbroken prosperity and happiness through life."

(Signed), C. Wilkerson, J. M. Wright, W. J. Kirkpatrick, B. S. Kennedy, president; C. E. Thomas, H. P. Cook, H. Cowan and J. R. Campbell, Curling.

ACQUITTED ON THE CHARGE OF HOUSEBREAKING

Wm. Hawes of Cavendish Allowed to Go—Evidence Was Weak and Judge Instructed to Jury to Dismiss the Case

Wm. Haines was acquitted yesterday afternoon, at the County Court sessions on the charge of housebreaking in the Township of Cavendish, on October 12th. The case took up the whole of the morning and a greater part of the afternoon. Much evidence was taken, but was of little avail in proving against the prisoner. Mr. Haines was the only witness in his own defence; but His Honor considered that no case had been made, and instructed the jury to acquit him.

Mr. R. E. Wood conducted the prosecution, and Messrs. F. D. Kerr and E. L. Goodwill appeared for the defendant.

He Will Speak on Planet Mars

Rev. Dr. Marsh to Give Address Before Astronomical Society To-morrow Night

The next meeting of the Peterborough branch of the Royal Astronomical Society will be held in the Y.W.C.A. tomorrow (Friday) night, at 8 o'clock, when several prominent citizens will be proposed for membership, and it is expected that there will be a large attendance.

Rev. Dr. Marsh, of Springville, will give a plain, popular talk on the planet Mars, discussing all the facts relating to it, the vegetation, waterways, the possibility of its being inhabited, etc. The public are cordially invited to be present at the Y.W.C.A. tomorrow night.

JUDGMENT WAS RESERVED A WEEK

In the Non Support Case Agains Wm. McCrea

Judgment was reserved for one week in the case of Wm. McCrea, charged with the non-support of his wife, in the police court, yesterday afternoon. He pleaded not guilty, and each one told the same story as was heard in the hearing of the case a few weeks ago. His Worship will carefully consider the troubles on both sides, and on Wednesday next will give his judgment.

An amicable settlement between the two seems an utter impossibility.

WEDDING BELLS

ROSE—COONE

The marriage took place at the George Street parsonage yesterday afternoon, of Miss Annie Coone, daughter of Mr. Allan Coone, to Mr. Wesley Rose, son Mr. James Rose, Harvey Street, Peterborough. The bridal couple were unattended and the ceremony was of a very quiet nature. Rev. Mr. Pearson was the officiating clergyman.

Mr. and Mrs. Rose left on the evening C.P.R. train for Toronto, and on their return will reside on Harvey street.

MARRIED

KELLEY—CATHRO.—At the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Cathro, Lindsay, on Tuesday, Dec. 10th, by the Rev. Jas. Wallace, Mr. J. K. Kelley, of Rochester, N.Y., to Miss Jeanette Cathro.

BATESON—CATHRO.—At the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Cathro, Lindsay, on Tuesday, Dec. 10th, by the Rev. Jas. Wallace, Mr. B. Bateson, of Lindsay, to Miss Margaret Niven Cathro.

David Hill, whose home is unknown, was killed on the G.T.R. near Kenora yesterday.

KING OSCAR LIES IN STATE.

Condition of Dowager Queen Sophia Causes Much Anxiety.

Stockholm, Dec. 12.—The body of the late King Oscar was removed from the palace and taken to the chapel yesterday morning, where it will lie in state until Friday next, the day set for the funeral.

The condition of Dowager Queen Sophia, is occasioning anxiety. The strain upon the Queen incident to the illness and death of King Oscar, was very severe and since his death she has been almost constantly confined to her bed.

Roosevelt's Last Term.

Washington, Dec. 12.—President Roosevelt will not be a candidate for a third terms. All doubt on this point was last night dispelled by the authoritative statement of the White House that Mr. Roosevelt still adhers to the declaration of renunciation made on the night of the election three years ago. In the statement issued last night President Roosevelt says he has not changed and will not change the decision communicated to the American people in 1904.

It appears that the President had been awaiting the call for the Republican national convention to afford the proper opportunity for making his position clear and unmistakable, thus leaving the field clear for Fairbanks, Taft, Cannon, Knox, Foraker and other declared or prospective candidates for the Republican nomination.

New Governor After Night Riders.

Lexington, Ky., Dec. 12.—Governor A. E. Willson, who was inaugurated at Frankfort yesterday, took immediate steps towards suppressing the mob spirit among the tobacco planters in the state. Trouble is threatneed at Carlisle and at Mount Sterling, and the proper officials were ordered to have the state militia in readiness for the first signs of trouble.

A company of militia will be sent into Trigg County, where the mob was raised that burned the warehouses at Hopkinsville, and every man will be arrested against whom evidence can be procured.

Pastor's Wife Hangs Herself.

Calgary, Dec. 12.—Mrs. E. W. Jahn aged 55 years, wife of Rev. F. H. Jahn, German Lutheran minister here, committed suicide yesterday morning by hanging himself.

She had been melancholy for some two years past.

Jury Disagreed.

Rochester, N.Y., Dec. 12.—After being out more than 25 hours in the trial of Mrs. Nellie Osborn, charged with the murder of street car Conductor Fred Kistenmaker, reported a disagreement.

300 Made Widows.

Monongah, W. Va., Dec. 12.—The relief committee estimates that there are 300 widows and 1,000 orphans as a result of the disaster and destitution among them will be very great.

Unemployed at Vancouver.

Vancouver, Dec. 11.—At a street meeting of unemployed yesterday, the declaration was made that between 200 and 300 were sleeping outside every night and a warning was given that Seattle unemployed must not come to Vancouver.

Two hundred then paraded to the City Hall, where a special meeting of the council decided to appropriate $3,000 for relief work in opening new streets, at the rate of 20 cents per hour.

The old police station building is being arranged as a sleeping place and aldermen will ask the Government to start the large clearing work of the provincial lands at Point Grey this winter, to provide work. The question will now solve itself, it is hoped.

Army Officer Killed.

Montreal, Dec. 11.—The mangled remains of Capt. H. F. Lester Pocock, of the British army, London, Eng., were found beside the C. P. R. track. A diary found in his pocket showed at Montreal West yesterday morning, that he had left London on Nov. 10, and was bound for British Columbia. He had a letter of introduction from Roger Pocock of the League of Frontiersmen to the organization in British Columbia.

The sum of $43 and some trinkets were found in his pockets. It is thought he fell from a train.

A Thrilling Runaway.

Stratford, Dec. 11.—Mrs. Dean, who arrived here from Galt at noon on a visit to her mother, Mrs. Borland, Daly avenue, had a thrilling experience. Seated in a cab while the driver was checking baggage, the horses started off and dashed through the main streets with the vehicle swinging from side to side. The horses were caught in time to prevent a possible fatality after running many blocks.

Boy Killed at Strathroy.

Strathroy, Dec. 11.—While crossing the Caradoc street crossing yesterday on his way home from school, Elean, the ten-year-old son of James Collins, was struck by the Lehigh Express and almost instantly killed.

Peace Prize Divided.

Christiania, Dec. 11.—At a meeting yesterday of the Nobel Institute, J. C. Loevland, the Norwegian Premier, announced that the Nobel peace prize would this year be equally divided between Teodoro Moneta of Italy, and Louis Renault of France.

Water Famine Ended.

St. John, Dec. 11.—One of the broken water mains was repaired Monday about midnight, and the other was fixed yesterday. All industrial concerns except a few on the higher levels were able to resume business yesterday morning.

Treasurer Arrested.

Sherbrooke, Dec. 11.—A. H. Anderson, treasurer of the Quebec Central Railway Co., has been arrested. He is charged with a shortage in his accounts.

He has been in the railway's employ for 25 years.

TO RESPECT CANADA'S WISHES.

Stricter Control of Japanese Emigration Is Assured.

Tokio, Dec. 12.—Rodolphe Lemieux, the Canadian Postmaster-General and Minister of Labor, who has been in Japan since the middle of November for the purpose of negotiating, if possible, a modus vivendi between Japan and Canada in regard to immigration, will return to Canada shortly. The negotiations have been conducted without a formal agreement or exchange of memoranda, but with an understanding similar to that between Japan and the United States.

The newspapers are full of rumors about the latter. Some of the papers state that regulations will be enforced restricting the emigration from Japan to so-called student-laborers. The more reliable journals are of the opinion that the announcement of stricter control of emigration on the part of Japan is assured.

As an offset to the reluctance of the United States and Canada to receive Japanese immigrants comes the news of successful negotiations with Brazil, which welcomes the Japanese.

Reductions have been made in the budget resolutions as affecting the navy to the amount of $15,000,000, and as regards other departments to the amount of $5,000,000. In connection with this it is learned that construction at the Kure and Yokosuka dockyards is at an absolute standstill. It is stated that the outlay in the repairing of thirteen warships taken from the Russians was equivalent to the cost of three first-class battleships, while the result is a preponderance of ineffective ships in the navy.

BRITISH WARSHIPS IN CHINA.

Unusual Measures Taken to Suppress Piracy and Protect Shipping.

Pekin, Dec. 12.—Great Britain, on the third of this month, assigned four more warships to police the West River, and yesterday ten vessels under the command of Vice-Admiral Sir Arthur Moore, are patrolling 150 miles of the river, to the limit of the Wuchou concession.

Great Britain is prepared to take whatever steps may be necessary if China does not suppress the piracy, to protect shipping on the river, and she has notified the Chinese Foreign Board that she will patrol the river until the Chinese police boats are under the administration of the Imperial customs department.

This is the first time since 1900 that Great Britain has undertaken such military measures in China.

"HOLD COURT" IN COLONIES.

Lord Curzon Says Royalty Could Receive In Calcutta or Quebec.

London, Dec. 12.—(C. A. P.)—Lord Curzon, speaking on true Imperialism at Birmingham, said he looked forward to the time when the sovereign would visit the dominions and personally hold court at Calcutta or Quebec. The capital would never leave London, but there was no stationary obligation on the crown.

The Daily Graphic, apropos of the Irish deputation to Sir Wilfrid Laurier, opposes the all-red route on the ground that once the policy of using the taxpayers' money to subsidize private interests is sanctioned, there is no limit to the extensions which may be demanded. No more can be said against the Irishmen's scheme than against the whole idea.

Etiquette of Divorce.

London, Dec. 12.—The breach of promise suit brought by Mrs. Mabel Louise Atherton against Capt. John Yarde-Buller came to a rapid conclusion yesterday. The plaintiff is the divorced wife of Col. Thomas Atherton. When Col. Atherton began divorce proceedings the co-respondent named was Capt. John Yarde-Buller, son and heir of Lord Churston and the defendant in yesterday's action.

Mrs. Atherton's counsel explained that his client only wished to establish the fact of Capt. Yarde-Buller's promise to marry her after the decree of divorce should be made absolute.

Mr. Justice Darling pointed out that it had been admitted the promise had been made while Mrs. Atherton was a married woman. There were cases now before the courts raising the point as to whether such a promise was good. He would express his own opinion on this point, he said, and would enter judgment for Mrs. Atherton with costs, but without damages.

Freight Train Broke Down.

Kingston, Dec. 12.—A G. T. R. freight train broke down one mile west of Collins Bay about 3 o'clock yesterday morning and blocked traffic both east and west. It is stated that an axle broke, and cars were scattered across the track.

Ten cars blocked the line from fence to fence. There were four cars of wheat, four of pork, one of package freight and one of lumber. Their contents were badly scattered. At 10 o'clock one track was shifted sufficiently to allow passenger trains to pass. No one was injured.

Retired Farmer's Fatal Fall.

Brockville, Ont., Dec. 12.—From injuries received by falling into a cellar at his home in Prescott, George Davison, a retired farmer, died yesterday in the Brockville Hospital. He was hurt internally and there was no hope from the beginning. He was 83 years of age and leaves one son. The body was taken to Prescott for burial.

Emperor Leaves England.

London, Dec. 12.—Emperor William of Germany, after a month's sojourn in England, left last evening on his return trip home. He will stop on his way back to Berlin, to visit Queen Wilhelmina of Holland. A distinguished party gathered at the railroad station here to bid His Majesty farewell.

Brandon-Regina Line Opened.

Brandon, Man., Dec. 12.—Yesterday the first passenger special made the full trip over the new short Brandon-Regina line of the C. N. R.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY
Take LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine Tablets. Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c

ONTARIO COAL CO. LIMITED PETERBORO

COAL - CARTAGE
Best Hard COAL $7.50 per ton
No. 2 Nut COAL $6.50 per ton
Butts or English Cannel COAL $7.50 per ton

HEAD OFFICE AND YARDS: 160 Aylmer Street Phone 116
CITY OFFICE: 387 Water St PHONES: Bell 325. Machine 325

ONTARIO COAL CO., Limited
A. J. McCLELLAN C. CURRIER G. K. RACKHAM

Dragged Across 20-Acre Field.

Peterboro, Dec. 11.—Dragged across a 20-acre field in double-quick time by a young colt was the exciting experience of Neil Driscoll, a well-known Otonabee farmer.

The boy wanted to train the little colt, which has not yet reached the anniversary of its first birthday, by fastening a halter and shank to its head. The boy's foot caught in the loop and away the two went cross a 20-acre field. One foot was caught in the loop, but the other he held up in the air to prevent it from getting beneath him. Arriving among other horses the exciting race terminated, and the youth released himself to find that his legs and sides were badly skinned.

John Burns on Preference.

London, Dec. 11.—(C. A. P.)—John Burns, M. P., addressing a meeting at Leeds, having enumerated the various advantages which the colonies already enjoyed, said we could not, without a mandate from the country—and that would never be given—we could not risk a world trade of thousands of millions and the goodwill of fifteen hundred millions of people, by doing more than we had done for the colonies. That, said Mr. Burns, is also the opinion of sensible, disinterested colonies.

Boy Killed by Horse.

Belleville, Dec. 11.—In an accident which occurred here yesterday morning, Charles D. Leavens, son of D. R. Leavens, postmaster of this city, was killed. He fell beneath the feet of horses his father was driving, and one of the calks on one of the horse's shoe penetrated his brain. He was eight years old.

Deadly Black Hand.

Pittsburg, Pa., Dec. 11.—M. Reis, a produce dealer, is dead; Sunseri, a produce dealer, is probably fatally wounded, and Joe Ginite severely injured as the result of a supposed Black Hand outrage in the Pennsylvania Railroad produce yards.

News of Wheat City.

Winnipeg, Man. Dec. 11.—The three big railways report huge works being completed on account of the mild fall.

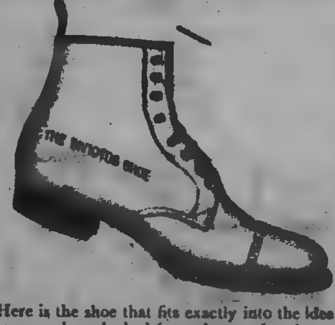
Firebugs set fire to the St. James' Methodist Church. Albert Billinghan was rescued, but nearly perished.

Napoleon Comeault, a prominent merchant of St. Jean suburb, is mysteriously missing.

Expert Dillinger of the Railway Commission, has completed his investigation of car shortage and is en route to Montreal.

FOR PASSEPARTOUT WORK

The fad for passepartout pictures is again growing a favorite for pretty pictures and are always appreciated. One can always find room for a couple more on the walls and every one has their favorite subject, some like scenery, others historical subjects, many like kittens and one boy in the city has the walls of his bedroom fairly covered with pictures of dogs—small and large. When mounted on a suitable background and passepartouted they are very pretty and inexpensive to make up. The Review has a large stock of pictures in sepia and colors, mounting papers and passepartout to match. Call and see them at the REVIEW Office, Hunter street. 3d



Here is the shoe that fits exactly into the ideal so many have looked for and never found.

INVICTUS SHOES
AT $4.50 & $5.00

Shoes that combine with a moderate price the perfection of style, fit and durability. "Invictusized" Patent Leather Shoes are revelation. This secret process does something never before accomplished. Renders the leather soft and pliable, increases the life of the shoes at least one third and reduces checking or breaking to a minimum.

ASK THE MAN WHO WEARS THEM

J. T. STENSON
364 George St.

EGGS
FOR SALE
by the case

Fresh and Pickled Choice Stock at our warehouse, Robinson Street, East City

Scott&Hogg
PHONE 264, BOTH PHONES

PRICE OF Coal
FOR OCTOBER IS $7.50
Ton, cash with order

THE PETERBORO FUEL & CARTAGE CO
LIMITED.
162 Charlotte-st. Telephones—(Bell) 261, 270. (Machine)—270.
134 Aylmer-st. Tel. (Bell) 362.

D.L. & W'S SCRANTON COAL

SOLD BY R. HICKS & CO. AT
$7.50 Per Ton
for Month of October, in lots of not less than half ton.
This is the Standard Anthracite. 60 % of Coal sold in Ontario is SCRANTON.
Terms Positively Cash.

R. HICKS & CO.
Coal Builders' Supplies, Etc.

COAL AND WOOD
Best of Coal—Best of Wood
COAL FOR OCTOBER
$7.50 PER TON
J. E. A. FITZGERALD
Cor. Brock and Bethune Sts
BOTH PHONES 111

Palace Livery Barn

For the smartest and most up-to-date LIVERY OUTFITS, at reasonable rates, go to

TOM FOSTER & CO.
Successors to Bruce Lee & Co
Rear of Snowden House.

AUCTION SALE OF HORSES BUGGIES, HARNESS, ETC., EVERY SATURDAY

Phones - Bell 286 - Machine 289

Steer Straight
for the best Beer ever brewed, and you are sure to come to us! Our Bottled Beer is "bottled health." It means vigor and strength, a good appetite and high spirits. It is the best medicine for the weak and the best food for the strong. Keep our excellent in Beer your home as a beverage and you will have no need of a doctor. Nothing but the purest ingredients used in the brewing.

—THE—
CALCUTT BREWING AND MALTING CO
of Ashburnham Limited

At F. C. Cubitt's

Book, Stationery and Fancy Goods Store, 370 George St.

You will find the best and largest assortment of Fancy Papeteries, suitable for Christmas Presents at prices to suit all. Also the NEWEST and best selected line of Christmas Goods ever offered in Peterborongh.

AGENTS FOR "HOME JOURNAL"

A New Ladies' Journal Only 50c a Year

'CUBITT SELLS CHEAP"

SPORTING NEWS

Prospects for City League Are of Brightest Nature

Strathconas Will be Represented by Fast Team

SIX CLUBS IN LEAGUE

Bridgenorth Admitted at Meeting Last Night

A meeting of the City Hockey League was held last night, when several important matters in connection with the coming season were disposed of, Bridgenorth was admitted to the league, making six teams at the present time.

Those present were President Clarke, Secretary Huston, Messrs. Hurl and Quinn, representing Lakefield; Mr. Kelly, representing Bridgenorth; Mr. Doherty, Norwood, and Mr. Metheral, of the Strathconas.

Bridgenorth was unanimously admitted to the league, and Mr. Kelly gave assurance that a fast septette will be put on the ice.

Although the Strathconas are to play intermediate O.H.A., the club will have a team in the City League, having plenty of material to draw from for a second aggregation. To date the following teams have been entered;—

Strathconas,
High Lifes,
Lakefield,
Bridgenorth,
Norwood,
Keene.

Clubs desirious of entering the league must make application no later than Saturday of this week.

It was decided to have season tickets, good for admission to all league games issued at once. They will be on sale in a few days and the price will be the same as last year, 75 cents.

The secretary was instructed to have the constitution of the league printed in book form, and it was decided to have a meeting on Dec. 20th for the purpose of drawing up the schedule for the season. All the games will be played at Brock street rink, and, in all probability, on Wednesday night of each week. Last year the games were played on Thursday night, but it is felt that Wednesday night will be more feasible. The teams must deposit their guarantee money before December 20th.

The president and secretary were appointed a committee to interview the rink management regarding dates for the games.

The prospects for the league are of the brightest, and clean, fast hockey is assured. The first games will be played early in January.

Queen's Team To Play Here

Will Visit Peterborough Between Christmas and New Year's

Queen's University hockey team will pay their annual visit to Peterborough during the week between Christmas and New Year's. The students, as usual, will have a strong team, and hope to repeat their victories of former years. This match will give the hockey enthusiasts of Peterborough, an opportunity to get a line on the local intermediates. The Strathconas will be hard at practice in a few days, and should be in good shape for their first games.

TIGERS WERE VICTORIOUS

Defeated Arrows in Exciting Basketball Match at Y.M.C.A.

At the Y.M.C.A. last night the Tigers defeated the Arrows, 33—17, in a league basketball match. The Alerts were billed to play the Harriers, but the former team did not show up and the Harriers will likely get the game by default.

The Arrows started out strong and led at half time by 14—8, but the Tigers ran up a big score on the home stretch, and won by a close margin. The teams were as follows;—

Arrows.		Tigers.
	Back
Darling		Loomis
Dobson		Weatherstone
	Centre
Gillespie		Staunton
	Forward
R. Cressman		Sutherland
Miller		Wallace

Messrs. Hall and James handled the game satisfactorily.

CURLING

SKIPS MEET TO-NIGHT.

There will be a meeting of the various skips of Peterborough Curling Club at the rink this evening at 7.30 o'clock. A full attendance is requested.

The Republican National Convention of 1908 will be held in Chicago, June 16th.

Emma Jackson, keeper of a disorderly house at Hamilton, was fined $100.

HOCKEY SCHEDULE IS NOW ARRANGED

Peterborough's Opening Game Will be on January 1st

The representatives of the different clubs in group No. 2, intermediate series of the Ontario Hockey Association, met at the American Hotel in Port Hope, last night, when the schedule was drawn up.

The opening game of the Strathconas of Peterborough will be at Port Hope on January 1st—New Year's Day. The first home game will be here on January 10th with Lindsay. On the 14th the locals will play at Cobourg, and on the 17th Port Hope will do battle in Peterborough. On the 20th the Strathconas will go to Whitby, and on the 24th to Lindsay.

The following representatives were present; Fred. Curtis, of Port Hope; F. N. Burns, of Whitby; Leslie Wilson, of Cobourg; Blake Crawford, of Hope, representing Lindsay, and Fred. Craig, of Peterborough. The referees suggested for the different games were Dr. Walters and F. Taylor, of Lindsay; George Brown and A. Hemmick, of Port Hope; K. Payne and H. Bentley, of Cobourg; W. E. Wasson and E. A. Ford of Peterborough.

Mr. O. McMillan, of Port Hope, was the chairman of the committee, and presided at the meeting.

THE SCHEDULE

Following is the schedule;

Jan. 1—Whitby at Cobourg.
Jan. 1—PETERBOROUGH at Port Hope.
Jan 3—Cobourg at Whitby.
Jan. 6—Port Hope at Whitby.
Jan. 6—Cobourg at Lindsay.
Jan. 6—Lindsay at Cobourg.
Jan. 10—Whitby at Port Hope.
Jan .10—Lindsay at PETERBOROUGH.
Jan. 13—Lindsay at Whitby.
Jan. 14—PETERBOROUGH at Cobourg.
Jan. 17—Whitby at Lindsay.
Jan 17—Port Hope at PETERBOROUGH.
Jan. 20—Cobourg at Port Hope.
Jan 20—PETERBOROUGH at Whitby.
Jan. 24—Port Hope at Cobourg.
Jan. 24 — PETERBOROUGH at Lindsay.
Jan. 27—Cobourg at PETERBOROUGH.
Jan. 27—Lindsay at Port Hope.
Jan. 30—Whitby at PETERBOROUGH.
Jan. 30—Port Hope at Lindsay.

Stratford building permits for the year total $652,938.

RAISED HIS WAGES.

The Way an Employer Got Square With a Faithless Assistant.

A story is told in Milwaukee concerning an elderly German who conducted a good sized manufacturing plant on the south side. He had an engineer at his factory who had been with him for fifteen years and the old gentleman had implicit confidence in him. It was with a profound shock that he discovered finally that the trusted engineer was "grafting" most shamefully.

The proprietor thought it all over for a long while and then sent for the engineer. When that functionary arrived the following dialogue took place:

"Ah, John! Good morning, John. How long haf you been vorking by this place?"

"Fifteen years."

"Ach, so. And vot are your wages?"

"Twenty-five dollars a week."

"M-m-m. Vell, after today it vill be $5 a veek more."

The engineer thanked his employer profusely and withdrew. A week later the old gentleman sent for him again, and the same conversation ensued, ending with another $5 a week raise. The third Saturday he sent for the engineer again, and after the same questions and answers he raised his salary another $5 a week.

On the fourth Saturday the engineer was again summoned before the boss.

"How long have you been vorking here, John?" asked the proprietor.

"Fifteen years," replied the engineer, who by this time had grown to expect the weekly question and salary raise as a regular thing.

"And how much vages are you getting?"

"Forty dollars a week."

"Ach, so? Vell, you are fired."

"Fired!" exclaimed the engineer, almost fainting. "Why, you have been raising my salary $5 at a clip for the last three weeks."

"Sure I have," roared the Teutonic boss, all his indignation flaring out at once. "And the reason that I did it vas that it shall make it harder for you for vhen I fire you, you loafer!"

SILVER KING OF THE SEA.

The Feats That a Tarpon Will Perform When Hooked.

If you have never seen a tarpon imagine the Mediterranean sardine that you take from the box for lunch lengthened out to six or seven feet. Give it two enormous staring black eyes, a supercilious lip of the most grotesque shape coming down and twisting up again, a mouth that can be thrown so wide open that thirty feet distant when the fish is in the air you can see blue sky down its throat and out through the arched gills. Give the fish a greenish back and a long spine at the dorsal, a powerful sardinelike tail and equip its belly and sides with scales which look more like newly minted trade dollars than anything else, dollars often twice their natural size, into which the purest molten silver has been dropped, scales that flash thousands of rays in every direction, scales that gleam, corruscate and in the full glare of the sun form so many sunbursts to dazzle the eye and confuse the excited angler.

I have taken the "sabalo" under various circumstances and have seen it leap along the outer Florida reef and down by the Rio Grande, where it forms in gigantic schools and moves south in winter, and everywhere it is the same sensational equilibrist, the same air climber and sky scraper when hooked or snared. What the sensations of the tarpon are when hooked it would be difficult to say, but I fancy it is frightened and leaps in the direction away from the pain center, and no two leaps are alike.

It may go directly up into the air, carrying a big wave with it, and lash the air, or it may go out of the water head first, rising like a ray of light ten or fifteen or more feet, then fall gracefully. Every possible position I have seen the frightened tarpon take, from standing on its tail as upright as a soldier to exactly the opposite direction, and an old angler informed me that he had seen a tarpon make a lateral leap of thirty feet.—Charles F. Holden in Recreation.

A Little Too Original.

"You New Yorkers are wonders," said the man from the west here for a brief stay and seeing everything from the Bronx to the Bowery. "Nothing is impossible here—at least I saw vines twined across the sky last night. It was in a restaurant in Forty-second street," he continued. "The ceiling is painted sky blue, and there are little electric lights set to look like stars. Also there are the clouds floating about, but then there are the vines that kill the otherwise very neat illusion. Originality is all right, but vines hitched to a sky is too much for a man from the west."

The Main Point.

Mrs. Scrapleigh—They say, my dear, that the new rubber plant, the Ficus pandurata, is extremely beautiful. It has a glossy veined leaf— Mr. Scrapleigh (who has strained his back lugging the house plants around)—I don't care anything about its glossy veined leaves. What does the dum thing weigh?

A Great Financier.

Cholly—Harry is a great financier. Chappie—Yas! Cholly—He borrowed sixpence from me yesterday to take him to the city to see a man that he knew he could borrow a pound from, and with that pound he flew off to stand a dinner to another man whom he borrowed a hundred from.—London Telegraph.

New fittings and boxes are to be installed in the St. Catharines post office.

Annual Meeting of Shareholders Of Canadin Cordage Company

Directors' Report and Financial Statement Read—Election of Officers—No Dividend Was Declared.

The annual general meeting of the shareholders of Canadian Cordage & Manufacturing Company, Limited, was held at the head office of the company of Wednesday, the eleventh instant, at three o'clock in the afternoon, at which were present a large number of shareholders from the different parts of the Province of Ontario.

The report of the directors to the shareholders was submitted together with the financial statement of the company, and both were duly adopted.

The following gentlemen were elected directors for the ensuing year, namely;—Messrs. R. R. Hall, J. C. Groendyke, W. H. Meldrum, J. A. Bennett and J. S. Latimer, and at a subsequent meeting of the directors the following officers were elected, namely;—R. R. Hall, President; J. C. Groendyke, Vice-President; and Manager, and Mr. W. H. Meldrum, Vice-President, Mr. E. B. Fowler, Secretary.

The directors recommended to the shareholders that in view of the financial statement they did not see their way clear to declare a dividend and their recommendation to the shareholders was adopted by them.

Peterborough is to Assume a Fine Appearance This Winter

Polished Pavements the Order of the Day—Notifications Being Made—Some Merchants Don't Approve of the By-law.

George from King to Murray.
Hunter, from Aylmer to Queen.
Simcoe from Aylmer to Water.
Water from Charlotte to Brock.
Charlotte from Aylmer to Water.

The above are the city streets that must be kept free from now this winter. A half hearted sweeping or shovelling won't do, for the chief magistrate has given instructions to have them cleaned right to the pavement. Whether a chamois polish is added or not, lies within the discretion of those interested. The districts covered by the streets mentioned take in the main business section of the city. Notifications are being made by policemen, and instructions given that the snow removal bylaw must be observed, and the chief informed a Review reporter this morning that only one notification would be made. In case the bylaw is not observed, summonses to appear in court will be promptly served and the merchants and others concerned had better take notice of this civic mandate.

Many of the local business men do not think very well of the polished pavement idea. They claim it will cause them a lot of trouble to have all snow removed and they further assert that their pains in this respect will be taken to no good advantage, and, in fact, to a disadvantge.

A couple of representative George street merchants formed a deputation to the chief this morning, and sang a duet of objection to the proposed idea of cleaning the pavements as thoroughly as they were instructed to do.

One Million For Trent Canal in the Estimates

Work of Construction Will be Proceeded With Rapidly—Smaller Sums for Other Works in Connection With the Trent.

The estimates for the next fiscal year were laid on the table at Ottawa yesterday by Finance Minister Fielding. One of the largest items on the list is $1,000,000 for the Trent Canal. This is to provide for the work between Rice Lake and Lake Ontario, where contracts have recently been let. This million will be expended during the next year.

The complete list for work in the vicinity of Peterborough is as follows;

Peterborough armory, $20,000, revote.
Gannon's Narrows bridge, $1,200.
Peterborough steamboat landing, $1,300.
River Otonabee, dredging, $5000.
Gore's Landing, wharf, $1000.

With the exception of the $1,000,000 for the Trent Canal, and the $20,000 for the armory, the other work for which estimates are made has all been completed, namely, the Gore's Landing wharf, wharf at end of the street car line, and Gannon's Narrows bridge.

The million dollars for the Trent Canal means that the work of construction is to go ahead with all rapidity next summer. This will, indeed, be gratifying news to those interested in this great inland waterway.

MUSIC AND THE DRAMA

THE FATAL FLOWER

A play that in dramatic construction has never been excelled by any presented in Peterborough was seen by an audience at the Grand last night, that closely followed its intensely interesting and cleverly woven plot, and greeted its interpretation by an able cast with frequent and well merited rounds of applause. The situations in the play were very strong, and the climaxes at the conclusion of each act were unusually effective and appealing.

The story told in the play is well suggested by the title, "The Fatal Flower." Gordon Hale, a young artist, smells a flower which a celebrated toxicologist says will prove fatal. The flower is of a rare and beautiful species, but despite this the scientist proclaims that a single breath of its fatal odor means death in twenty-four hours to the one who inhales it. Dr. Potter, superintendent of the National School of Suggestive Therapeutics comes to the rescue with a successful antidote and Gordon Hale, who is the hero of the production, is saved from death, and restored to his true love, Marion De Vonde, a pretty and pure minded French girl.

Miss Florence Rossland, in the role of Marion De Vonde, was sweetly appealing and her natural and sympathetic work won her the richly deserved plaudits of her auditors. Charles H. Booth as Count Gaston De Beaurevat, had the disagreeable part of the villian to play but in the matter of his histronic qualities it was most agreeable to him. William Walcott was dignified, and resourceful as Gordon Hale, Ella Cameron as Countess D'Arno, aided the Count in his treacherous schemes on account of her antipathy towards Marion De Vonde, her cousin, and gave a well studied and intelligent portrayal of the character. While the entire cast was good, among the more conspicuous members were Charles Carver, as Bobbie Grey, an art student; Ella Cameron, as Flora, Gordon Hale's sister; Bertha Reed, as Katie Sloan, Meta Elyforth as Marchioness De Vonde, and Frederick Harper as Senator Sloan from Alabama.

The location of the play was Washington, the American capital, and the different scenes were elaborate and at the same time artistic both in the matter of painting and arrangement. This matter would be well advised in securing a return engagement.

HOOLIGAN IN NEW YORK

dramatic comedy drama, will be seen at the Grand next Saturday matinee and night. It is said to tell a consistent story, and is as full of laughs and tears as any ever staged. The author, Sam Morris, has taken for his theme the incidents made famous in cartoons of "Hooligan," and has woven around the character a story of metropolitan life that is unique in the matter of handling and presentation. The locale is laid among the Tenderloin places of Gotham, and some of the equally notorious landmarks of the seamy lower east side, which includes the once dreaded Five Points, a Chinese opium den, Cherry street at midnight, showing a view of the Brooklyn bridge illuminated; and a thieves' den; exterior of the Tombs Prison and the historic Bridge of Sighs. Of course, "Hooligan" is the central figure of it all, and his thwarting of the villians in their efforts to injure and obtain the fortune of Nellie, a blind girl, is laughable at times, and at others equally sensational and exciting. A stirring climax is the rescue of "Hooligan," who has been tied to a rail on the New York Central R. R. track, in the nick of time, by his dog, Flip, just as a train is approaching.

The character of "Hooligan" is a creation of the newspaper supplements, and his transition to the stage has scored a big hit everywhere. The supporting company is a large and capable one, and numerous specialties are introduced throughout the various acts.

RINK TO OPEN TO-MORROW OR ON SATURDAY

There will likely be skating at the Brock street rink to-morrow night, and it is assured that the rink will be open on Saturday night. Jack Thimbeck is working hard, and promises to have a fine sheet of ice for the opening. Season tickets are now on sale, and are being disposed of rapidly.

THERE'S EVERYTHING IN BEING FIRST

The first train in Canada was operated on what is now a part of the Grand Trunk Railway, and this great system has ever been on the alert to stay in the first rank. In keeping with this general policy the "International Limited," the premier train of the Grand Trunk System, is also the finest and fastest train in Canada, and one of the fastest long distance trains in the world. Leaves Montreal every day at 9.00 a.m., Toronto 4.40 p.m., arriving at Detroit at 10.00 p.m. and Chicago at 7.40 a.m.

FACTS—JUST PLAIN, POINTED FACTS

BOYS' SUITS

Good words our Good Boy's Clothing are coming back to us in good business, what better proof could you ask of our value-giving than these.

BUSTER BROWN STYLE

Gray mixed Tweeds, plain, well made and trimmed, sizes 22 to 25 .... 3 25
Gray stripe Tweed, well made and trimmed, 22 to 25 3.50
Blue and black Serge, well made and trimmed sizes 22 to 26 .... 4.00

2-PIECE NORFOLK STYLE

Dark gray stripe Tweed, sizes from 25 to 30, special 2.00
Gray mixed Tweed, pepper and salt effects, all sizes, 24 to 30, Special 2.50
Brown Scotch Tweed effect, double breasted Norfolk, sizes 26 to 29, prices 4.00, 4.50, 5.00
3 piece Double Breasted Styles—dark gray check and stripe Tweed, Lion Brand, with double elbows and double seats and knees, well padded and well made, sizes 28 to 33 .... 4.50 and 5.00
Dark gray over plaids and dark stripes, the newest designs for boys' suits, double breasted, sizes 28 to 33 .... 6.00, 6.50, 7.00
Boys' and Youth's Reefers—Dark gray and black Frieze, Tweed lined, all sizes up to 28 .... 2.00, 2.25
Dark gray and black Frieze, Tweed lined, 2 75

MERRELL & MEREDITH

CLOTHIERS, FURNISHERS and HATTERS

375-377 GEORGE ST. PHONE 35

Porter's Delicatessen

CUT RATE GROCERY STORE

Shelled Almonds per lb	35
" Walnuts	35
Choice Black & Green Tea 3 lbs	50
Choice Coffee 17c 3 lbs	50
Select Raisins 3 lbs	.20
Dates, 3 lbs	.25
Mince Meat, 3 lbs......	.20
Washing Soda, 3 lbs....	.05
Cooking Figs, 4 lbs	.25
3 bottles Ketchup......	.25
3 bottles Pickles......	.25
Potatoes, per pk......	.15
Apples, per pk	.10

410 George Street

THE BANK'S SKATE STORE

Stock The FINN'S
AUTOMOBILE
CYCLE
ENGEL'S
STARR
REGAL
MIC MAC
SKATES

Come to us for your Skates and Skate Supplies

Banks Bicycle and Sporting Goods Co.

Under the Market Clock

FOR XMAS GREETING

Order your cards now and secure the best as the prettiest are always sold out first. Many different styles printed with your own greeting and name, at all prices. Call and make your selection at the Review Office.

There are very few aldermanic candidates in sight in Sarnia.

A PLEASANT EVENING AT CHINA HALL

A pleasant evening may be spent by paying a visit to the show rooms of China Hall. Our present stock (got together after 10 months of careful buying, backed by over 30 years' experience) would do credit to the largest city in the Dominion. The assortment is so varied that it cannot be seen in a few minutes and an hour or two may be pleasantly spent in looking through the two show rooms. You will see the following celebrated makes as well as the very cheapest goods. Royal Crown Derby, Royal Doulton, Old Greek "Prince Albert," Royal Worcester, Knoi, Royal Vienna, Royal Bavarian, Coalport, Royal Saxony, Maioka, etc., etc.

CHINA HALL CO. New Premises 394 GEORGE STREET

(NEXT TO H. LeBRUN & CO.)

GET THE LATEST

The Review Supplies the Correct Things in Wedding Invitations Programmes, Personal Stationery, Etc . . . . . .

THE DAILY REVIEW

VOL LV., NO. 136 PETERBOROUGH, ONT., CANADA, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 13, 1907 TEN CENTS PER WEEK

LUMBER

and BUILDING MATERIAL of all kinds. Shingles, Scantling, Joists and Bill Stuff. Mouldings, Casings and Base, and all kinds of finish. Boxes and Box Shooks.

ALF. McDONALD ESTATE

Point St. Charles Mill, Peterborough.

PROBABILITIES

(Fair and cold today. Saturday, strong breezes or gales, mostly east and northwest; snow or rain.

THE GOLDEN LION STORE

THE GIFT-GIVERS' FRIDAY AND SATURDAY BARGAINS

Many gift problems may be solved here on these two days and you will appreciate the saving they will brng you.

CHIFFON AND CREPE DE CHEURE SCARFS

A nobby lot of high-class Scarfs, purchased by our own Mr. Fair while in London, Eng., at a fraction of regular value. A gift that will be appreciated, at little cost to you. We have divided them into 4 lots for Friday and Saturday selling.

At 59c

Scarfs that were regularly worth up to $1.50

At $1.00

Scarfs that were regularly worth up to $2.00

At $1.75

Scarfs that were regularly worth up to $3.25

At $2.00

Scarfs that were regularly worth up to $3.50

75c XMAS GIFT GLOVE SALE 75c

Saturday Morning at 9.30

Of Perrin's very best quality Suede and Glace Kid Gloves, 2 button length, in White, Champagne, Tans, Gray and Black. The lot includes such noted brands as BELFORT, ROYAL SCOTS and LEONORE, known wherever Perrin's Gloves are worn as the best Glove obtainable; pique sewn seams, blown fingers with self and colored stitchings. Now worth $1.75 and $2 per Pair

On Sale Saturday Morning at 9.30

Per Pair, 75c

ELASTIC BELTS HALF PRICE

A manufacturer's sample lot, high-class Silk Elastic Belts in colors and black with cut steel. The colors include Old Rose, Green, Red Wine, Red, Fawn, Purple and Heliotrope and all Black, as well as the black with cut steel mountings and buckles. Regular values were 50c to $3.50 Each.

On Sale Saturday Morning at 9.30 at Half Price

25c to $1.75

LACE ARTICLES FOR XMAS GIFTS

Embracing Collars, Berthas, Jabots, Boleros, Jackets, blouses, at a small fraction of regular price for Friday and Saturday.

At 25c

Battenburg and Planen Lace Collars, regular values 50c to $1.00

At 75c

Lace Jabots, Berthas and Collars, regular values up to $2.25

At $1.25

Very handsome Planen Lace Boleros, regular values $4.00 to $5.00

At $2.00

Beautiful Lace Jackets and Waists, regular value $5.00 TO $7.50

VISIT THE GOLDEN LION STORE, PETERBORO'S GREATEST GIFT STORE

Robert Fair & Co.

383 GEORGE STREET Limited

Phone—Dry Goods 145 Phone—Dressmaking 145B

Wanted

WANTED

ELECTRICIAN, used to conduit work. Apply at Normal School.

WANTED

FIRST CLASS WAITRESS. Apply at once at Oriental. td.

For Sale or To Rent

TO RENT

BRICK HOUSE AT 11 WATER ST., bath and electric light. Immediate possession. Apply to J. J. TURNER & SONS, Tent Manufacturers, George Street. 3d

TO RENT

A FEW FINE, WELL LIGHTED AND HEATED ROOMS at the Y. M. C. A. for rent from $1.00 to $2.00 a week. 6td

FOR SALE

PIANO CASE ORGAN, double the usual volume, (8 sets reeds) good as new, less than half price on easy weekly or monthly payments. A nice Christmas present easy to buy. 11 Park St., corner Park and Parnell. tf

FOR SALE

TYPEWRITER, latest model American Oliver, brand new. Good discount off lowest selling price for a quick sale. Apply Review Office. tdf

A. BROWN & CO.,

The Real Estate Agents, 396 Water Street

$100 will secure good Cottage with large lot 50x200

$500 will secure an up-to-date House with all modern improvements.

$1,000 will purchase good Cottage and large lot

$500 will secure Cottage, Stable and 4 acres good land near city.

We have some great snaps in Houses, Farms and City lots for sale and to rent.

Fire, Life and Accident Insurance.

Bell Phone 128 and 474 B. Machine 117

Lost and Found

LOST

PURSE containing Note and Door Key. Finder please leave at Review Office.

LOST

WILL THE PERSON who was seen carrying away the Sable Throw-over from the table in the Secretayr's office in the Y.W.C.A., please return it at once and avoid further trouble.

LOST

ON FRIDAY EVENING on street corner between Dalhousie St. and Y.M.C.A., a teacher's Bible with name written inside cover. Finder will please return to the Review Office or H. P. Kennedy's store George Street. 1d

Photography

Amateur Supplies, Cameras, Souvenir Books, Post Cards and all kinds of high-grade Photography at W. G. LENDRUM'S, 170 Charlotte St. Agent for the celebrated Heintzman & Co's Pianos.

SPECIAL RATES FOR FAMILY WASHING

Prices were never lower than now at

Parkers' Steam Laundry

Goods called for and delivered free to any part of the city.

W. P. HETHERINGTON

CHARLOTTE ST, PHONE 65

For Sale or To Rent

AT REASONABLE PRICES

Three small farms, good soil, suitable for gardening purposes, close to city. Also a few small, comfortable, dwelling houses, and choice building lots, well situated in good localities.

Properties sold, purchased or exchanged.

Private Funds to Loan on Real Estate.

INSURANCE

Agents for reliable Fire, Life, Accident, Plate Glass and Liability Insurance Companies. For particulars as to rates, etc., apply to

J. J. McBAIN & SON

Real Estate and Insurance Agents.

Office Cor. Simcoe and George-sts.

Office 'Phone 454 Residence Phone 109A

FOR XMAS

Furditure fixed up like new. Upholstering and all kinds of similar work done. Mattresses made over.

A. R. JACKSON

320 Aylmer. Corner of Charlotte. Bell Phone 494B

FANCY POTTERY

All kinds of Urns, Vases, Jugs, Plates, Jardinieres, etc., Moulded to Order for hand painting for Christmas gifts.

GEO. E. RAWLINGS, Crescent Street

GEORGE RUTH

Properties for Sale:

Come and inspect our list of HOUSES We have a number of first-class residences; all modern; locality and prices are right; also a number of cheaper houses. Terms to suit the purchasers.

8 fine building lots, near the C. G. E. works, are offered for $1500.

A few first-class homes to rent with modern improvements.

395 Water Street, open evenings

CHRISTMAS GIFTS

What more appropriate gift could you make than by purchasing a home for your family?

Come and see J. T. O'Connell & Co's bargains.

$2,350—New red brick house, central, cement floor in cellar; hall, parlor, dining room, kitchen, large pantry, front and back stairs, 4 bedrooms, bathroom fitted, 3 clothes closets, attic finished, electric lights, large verandah and balcony, woodshed and summer kitchen. Can be bought on monthly payments. Possession at once.

$900 buys red brick cottage East City, 6 rooms, hard and soft water, large lot.

To Rent—New house with all conveniences. Possession at once.

For further particulars apply to

J. T. O'CONNELL & CO.

Phone 376. 136 Hunter St.

MEALS—LUNCHES

AT ALL HOURS

For quick service, well-cooked meals and popular prices—go to

FOWLER'S RESTAURANT

McCallum's Old Stand - 330 George St

R. A. ELLIOTT

& CO.

Real Estate Agents

Head Office of the Sandstone Brick Co.

STOVES, RANGES

—AND—

HEATERS

Enamel and Tinware

Plumbing and Eavetroughing

HUTCHINSON-STURGEON CO

Bell and Machine 'Phones 225 342 George Street

International Correspondence Schools

Of Scranton, Penn.

Industrial Science Taught by Mail.

LOCAL OFFICE - - 420 George Stree

R. C. BALFOUR, Representa tve

The Talk of the Town—OUR COOKING

TOOTHSOME

WHOLESOME

PALATABLE

Try a loaf of our Brown and Currant Bread

FRY'S MILK CHOCOLATE DROPS

BURNT ALMONDS

COLEMAN BROS.

Phone 335. 426 Georg St.

THE STORE THAT NEVER DISAPPOINTS

The Question

What Will I Give for Christmas?

Rather a serious, or, it might be said, a discomforting question, when you find your finances running low just at this season of the year. You have a few remembrances to buy, and a limited purse with which to purchase them. The question arises—How can I buy what I want with the amount of cash? Here is a solution to it. Try:

SATURDAY SNAPS

The Green Ticketed Money Savers

The following are a score and a half of suitable Xmas Remembrances—all within reach of the most scanty purse. Yet they are good seasonable articles—fresh new Goods which arrived for the season's selling

The Question is Settled

. . IN THE . .

Saturday Snaps

READY-TO-WEAR SECTION

Second Floor

SILK BLOUSES—Three lines of new Silk Blouses, beautifully trimmed with Valenciennes lace insertion and fine tucks. Regular $3.00. Saturday Snap 1.95

CHILDREN'S BEAR COATS—White Bearskin Coats, trimmed with plaits and belt; a nice fall coat. Special. Saturday Snap 1.79

PETTICOATS—Moirette and Sateen Underskirts, made up in good full styles; neatly trimmed; worth $2.95 Saturday Snap 1.75

LINEN SECTION

Main Floor, Right

NAPKINS—50 dozen Table Napkins, 5 lots; sizes 18 in. x 18 in. o 24 in. x 24 in.

$1.35	Line for	$1.05
1.75	"	1.29
2.00	"	1.59
2.75	"	1.99
3.25	"	2.59

at Saturday Snaps

TABLE CLOTHS—100 Linen Damask Cloths in floral and conventional designs; bordered all round; size 3 yds x 2 yds; regular $2.75 Saturday Snap 1.39

TABLE LINEN—300 yards all pure Linen Sateen Damask in floral and conventional designs; 72 in. wide; worth $1.10 Saturday Snap .79

TOWELS—50 dozen plain Huck, with wide red border and Damask patterned Huck; sizes 18 x 34 in. and 20 x 28 in.; regular 40c pair. Saturday Snap .28

HOUSEFURNISHING SECTION

Third Floor

RUGS—27 x 54 in. Smyrna Hearth Rugs, made of heavy pile, all colors, in conventional and Oriental patterns; regular $3.00 Saturpay Snap 1.19

CARPET SWEEPERS—Handsomely japanned with nickle trimmings; has roller bearings; regular $3.00 Saturday Snap 2.49

Other prices $3.50, 4.00, 4.50

. . GLOVE SECTION . .

Main Floor, Centre

GLOVES and MITTS—Long Wool Gloves and Mitts in the season's popular shades; neatly finished; regular 50c Saturday Snap, Pair .39

GAUNTLET GLOVES—The popular street or driving Gloves, made of heavy dog skin. Regular price $1.90. Saturday Snap 1.69

CHILDREN'S GLOVES—A nice line of children's red, brown and Navy Cashmere Gloves, regularly sold for 25c Saturday Snap, Pair .15

FRILLING—Fine Chiffon Frilling in white, pale blue and pink; regular 20c Saturday Snap, Yard .10

. . HOSIERY SECTION . .

Main Floor, Left

WOMEN'S HOSE—Llama Cashmere Hose, each pair with the stamp; reg 50c Saturday Snap, 3 Pairs 1.25

CASHMERE HOSE—Hand embroidered Cashmere Hose, colors, blue, white, yellow and red on black, in fancy boxes; reg65c Saturday Snap .43

HOSE SUPPORTERS—[to sew on] C.M.C. clasp; assorted colors; regular 50c Saturday Snap .34

. . STATIONERY DEPARTMENT . .

Main Floor, Centre

You will find our Stationery Section crowded with big specials in every line.

BOXED PAPERS—Regular 45c, for 28c a Box; regular 35c. for 23c a Box; reg 30c, for 19c a Box; regular 22c, for 14c a Box

WRITING TABLETS—in both social and business form. Regular 35c tablets for .22; reg 20c tablets for .14; reg 18c tablets for .11; reg 12 1-2c tablets, .8; reg 7c and 8c tablets, .5

Also Wallet shaped PROVINCIAL BOND ENVELOPES, reg 10c for 8c pkg. Select your Xmas gifts from our Stationery stock.

FOUNTAIN PENS—It takes nerve to sell Fountain Pens at these prices, but it is in accordance with our general policy "To get our prices so low as to defy competition."

No. 1—The "Lift Lock," made especially for us and cannot be had elsewhere in the city, positively guaranted and worth $1.50. Our Leader for .95

No. 2—The Globe Fountain Pens, made of best Vulcanite and worth 75c to be had on Saturday Section at the low price of Complete With Filler .25

WICKER WORK—choice selction of Japanese Wicker Work and Trinket Baskets in all shapes and sizes, also Leather Boxes suitably lettered for Handkerchiefs, Gloves, Ties, Pins, etc.

. . DRESS GOODS SECTION . .

Main Floor, Rear

SCOTCH TARTANS—5 pieces of the leading clan Tartan plaids, 44 inches wide in all wool fabric. Regular 75c, Saturday Snap .49

DARK TWEEDS—6 pieces of fine imported Tweeds, stylish combinations, checks and plaids Regular 75 and 85c, Saturday Snap .63

FANCY DRESS SILK—5 pieces of new Dress Silks including fancy checks and plaids, etc. Regular 1.25. Saturday Snap .95

Also 10 pieces of FANCY SILK in stripes, checks and shot effects. Regular 75c, 85c and $1.00. Saturday Snap 49c

STORE HOURS

8.10 - - 5.45

Cressman's

385, 387, 389

GEORGE STREET

RICHMOND STUDIO

SPECIALS for XMAS PHOTOS

Newest Mountings	Newest Styles
Pictures	Plain Cards
Folders	Calendars

First-class work at night by electric light Sittings by appointment.

147 HUNTER STREET

XMAS CHEER

CENTRAL LIQUOR STORE

141 HUNTER STREET

Brandies, Port and Sherry Wines, St. Augustine, Native Port, also the highest grade Scotch Whiskies to be found in Peterborough.

Something good in Rye, namely:—

MITCHELL'S SPECIAL RYE WHISKY

Quality the best in Peterborough and a little better.

Remember the place

The Old Reliable Liquor Store

F. J. R. MITCHELL

General

CHRISTMAS IS COMING!

A nice pair of Snowshoes or a good Toboggan would make a most acceptable present to lady, gentleman, girl or boy. We carry a very large assortment. Call and see them.

J. J. TURNER & SONS

TENT MANUFACTURERS

George Street. Peterborough

ALL THINGS ARE NOW READY

GEORGE R. RECORD

PRACTICAL

FRENCH DRY CLEANER AND PRESSER

Ladies' and Gentlemen's Garments and Household Articles cleaned and guaranteed not to fade color or shrink any material. Charges moderate. Goods called for and delivered. Telephone 669.

NEW BRICK BLOCK, 173 SIMCOE ST.

Only Complete Dry Cleaning Plant in City

CHEAP HOUSES

If money is low and rent high, call at our office and see if you can't buy.

A good lot and comfortable house, $60 down and easy payments.

A lot and 6 roomed house, $100 and Six Dollars a month

A new 2 story, nice modern red brick house, $2250

A 1½ story red brick with half acre garden, on easy terms, $900

A half acre garden on easy terms. Others at good value up to $5,000

Companies Good as the Best in all lines of Insurance but Life. Rates moderate.

R. G. Ivey, Special Agent, 256 George St. Phone 2 Bell W. MIGHT

PALMISTRY

Professor C. Shepherd

Upstairs Palace Restaurant. Machine Tel. 7

GRAND OPERA HOUSE | Saturday, December 14

MATINEE AND NIGHT

Only Novelty in Sight—The Original Production

"HOOLIGAN IN NEW YORK"

With an All-Star Cast of Metropolitan Favorites—Carload Special Scenery—Trick Properties, and Novelties. Seats now on Sale

EVENING PRICES—50c, 35c, 25c, 15c

MATINEE—25c and 15c

THE CRYSTAL

OPEN EVERY AFTERNOON AND EVENING

Passion Play "Life of Christ"

ALL THIS WEEK.

Beautifully illustrated song "ROCK OF AGES"

ADMISSION—10 CENTS

Medical

E. V. FREDERICK, M.B., Tor.

M.R.C.S., Eng.; L.R.C.P., Lond. Lic. Univ. o New York.
Removed to No. 492 George St., formerly office of Dr. McFaul
Private nursing home for surgical es.

DR. G. STEWART CAMERON
Office and Residence
No. 273 Charlotte St. 'Phone 128

DR. G. C. LEACH

Late House Surgeon of Lakeside Hospital, Cleveland, Ohio; also of Cook County Hospital, Chicago
OFFICE—224 Hunter St., formerly occupied by Dr. Coughlin Phone Bell 219.
Special Attention to Diseases of Women

DR. JAS. V. GALLIVAN

Office 215 Simcoe St. Late of St. John's Hospital New York. Lic. University of New York.
Telephone 668.

Osteopathy

DR. ASA G. WALMSLEY
Osteopathic Physician

Office over Canadian Bank of Commerce, Water Street entrance.
Office Hours—9 to 12 a.m. 2 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Consultation free.

Legal

R. E. WOOD

BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, Etc. Office removed from Bank of Commerce Building to 435 George street, recently occupied by E. B. Edwards. MONEY TO LOAN

W. H. MOORE

BARRISTER SOLICITOR, in the Supreme Court etc. Office—Hunter street, first stairs west of Post Office.

HALL & HAYES

BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS and NOTARIES PUBLIC, Hunter Street, Peterborough, next to English Church. MONEY TO LOAN at the lowest rates of interest.
E. E. D. HALL. LOUIS M. HAYES

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON

(Successors to Stratton & Hall)
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, Etc., Peterborough Ont. Office—Corner of Hunter and Water Sts. over Bank of Commerce.
R. M. HALL, M.P. S. T. MEDD. W. S. DAVIDSON

EDMISON & DIXON.

BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, Etc. Office in Clarkson's Block, corner of Hunter and George streets, over Dickson's store.

DENNISTOUN, PECK & KERR

BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, NOTARIES, Etc 415 Water Street, Peterborough.
E. A. PECK F. D. KERR. R. M. DENNISTOUN

Money

MONEY TO LOAN
ON EASY TERMS
O'CONNELL & GORDON
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS NOTARIES, Etc
Canadian and United States Patent Attorneys
134 Hunter Street, two doors west of Post Office.
SAMUEL O'CONNELL. GEORGE N. GORDON

ROGER, BENNET & GOODWILL
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, Etc., 37 Water St. Peterborough. Telephone No. 191.
Money at Current Rates
Upon Easy Terms.
G. M. ROGER. J. W. BENNET. S. L. GOODWILL

TORONTO SAVINGS AND LOAN CO.

PAID UP CAPITAL $1,000,000.00
RESERVE FUND 580,000.00

SAVINGS
An Account may be opened at any time with a Deposit of One Dollar.
3½% Interest allowed on daily balances.
DEBENTURE DEPT.
Four Per Cent. paid half yearly on sums of $100.00 and upwards.
MONEY TO LOAN
at current rates of interest.
V. G. MORROW,
Manager

Children's Aid Society
FOR THE CARE OF NEGLECTED AND ILL-TREATED CHILDREN.
Incorporated by Act of Legislature, 1898
Information required. Informants name kept strictly private.
CHILDREN FOR ADOPTION
Office Hours—11.00 to 12.00 a.m.
OFFICE—DIVISION COURT BLDG
GEO. COCHRANE,
Agent and Ass't Sec

CENTRAL LIVERY STABLES
AND
VETERINARY INFIRMARY
133 Hunter Street west of Oriental Hotel.
If you wish a rig of any kind for any occasion ring us up and you will find everything up-to-date in the livery line. Both Phones 376. Night Phone Bell 435 B.
D. McKERCHER, V.S.

BARGAINS
. . . AT . . .
CUBITT'S BOOKSTORE SATURDAY
. . . IN . . .
LADIES' LEATHER HAND BAGS
Largest assortment in the city.
SEE WINDOW DISPLAY
"CUBITT SELLS CHEAP"

Bill to Protect Crossings Again Goes to Upper House

Mr. Lancaster's Railway Bill Again Goes to the Senate.

Early Closing Resolution In the House of Commons — Canada Has No Diplomatic Status In Japan, Says Laurier—British Columbia and the Natal Act—Rifle Sights Purchased by Militia Department.

Ottawa, Dec. 13.—Mr. Lancaster's Railway Act amendment, limiting the speed of trains to 10 miles an hour over any highway in any thickly populated portion of any city, town or village, unless such highway is properly protected, passed all stages in the House yesterday and was sent on to the Senate, where a year ago it received its quietus. The new Minister of Railways, Mr. Graham, expressed concurrence with the principle of the bill, and the only other Ministerial pronouncement was Mr. Fielding's suggestion of a doubt as to what would be considered a thickly populated portion of a city.

The House adjourned at 6 o'clock. Sir Wilfrid will move to-day that the House rise on the 19th inst., for the holidays, and reassemble on Jan. 8.

A matter of interest was Sir Wilfrid's declaration that Canada has no diplomatic status in Japan, and that the negotiations with the country regarding immigration are being conducted through the British ambassador.

In moving the second reading of his railway bill, Mr. Lancaster said it had been dealt with every session since the last general election. He showed that he had endeavored to meet the views of all parties, and that the bill now before the House was drafted by the member for Westmoreland, the then Minister of Railways and Canals. The law as it stands to-day was absolutely of no effect and the House of Commons a year ago had unanimously adopted his amendment. The Senate, however, had thrown it out. Mr. Lancaster advised sending the bill back till the gentlemen of the Senate either adopted it or suggested something in its place.

Hon. Mr. Graham expressed amusement that some of those who, while in the House, wanted the speed of trains limited, were the men who, when on the road, always wanted to take the fastest train. He was not one of those who avowed hostility to railway corporations, but he agreed with the principle of the bill and would consent to the second reading without sending it to the railway committee. As the Railway Commission was to be enlarged, the safeguards placed in the bill would be looked after.

The bill then passed through the committee stage and was given a third reading. It is the first piece of legislation of the session for the Senate to deal with.

Early Closing Resolution.

Mr. Wright (Renfrew) spoke to his early closing resolution. He wants to fix the House adjournment, except on extraordinary occasions, at 10.30 p. m.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier thought the present rule was one to which reasonable exception could be taken, but he pointed out that the House, as in England, might have a tacit understanding that the sittings should not be prolonged beyond 11 or 12 o'clock. Here, however, late in the session, when under pressure, they could sit later. It would be well, he thought, to allow the present rule to stand and have a mutual understanding. He had no doubt that the health of the members was interfered with, but under the circumstances he would ask Mr. Wright to withdraw.

Mr. Wright was agreeable, remarking that he had failed in a good cause.

R. L. Bordon did not despair of seeing the reform brought about, and was glad that the matter had been brought up.

Mr. Foster pointed out that Sir John Macdonald was opposed to arbitrary rules in this respect, still he (Mr. Foster) thought the early closing movement might eventually prevail, and when the time arrived it might be well to go further and limit speeches to half or three-quarters of an hour. At present a good deal of the work came in the last few weeks, and if the Government could be brought to a reasonable attitude and bring down the supplementary estimates and important measures at the earliest moment, he thought the Opposition would also be reasonable and facilitate the business of the House.

Messrs. Monk and Taylor also favored the early closing movement.

Ask For Japanese Correspondence.

Mr. Monk moved for the correspondence between the Government and the Imperial authorities in respect to the Anglo-Japanese convention regarding Canada. We should never deprive ourselves of all control over immigration, he said. The Japs were a people who were not easily assimilated, therefore, he considered the Government acted incautiously and imprudently in adhering to the treaty with Japan.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, agreeing to the motion, said it would not be advisable to bring down the papers while Mr. Lemieux was in Japan. He found no fault with the spirit which prompted Mr. Monk's resolution.

Our civilization and that of the Orientals was so different that it was impossible to bring about a fusion of the two races, but at the same time these objections were in the minds of the Government when they decided to adhere to the treaty.

No Diplomatic Status.

"On what ground does Mr. Lemieux stand in Japan?" asked Mr. Foster.

"It is difficult to say," replied Sir Wilfrid. "We have no diplomatic status in Japan. Mr. Lemieux was introduced to the Japanese Government by the British ambassador in Tokio, and it is under the British ambassador that the negotiations are carried on." The motion was agreed to.

Claude Macdonell wanted to know if the Government would continue its previous policy of disallowance in the event of the Legislature of British Columbia re-enacting the Natal Act. To this Sir Wilfrid replied that the question will be considered when it arises.

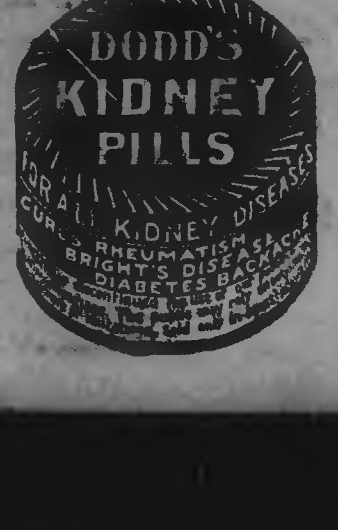
Mr. Monk was informed by Hon. Mr. Templeman that the matter of introducing a measure to amend the Inland Revenue Act in regard to tobacco was under consideration.

Sir Frederick Borden said, in reply to Mr. Worthington, that 36,000 Sutherland rifle sights had been purchased by the Militia Department. They were to be adjusted to the Lee-Enfield rifle, and the Government was considering whether they were to be used with the Ross rifle.

Ministers' Traveling Expenses.

Hon. W. S. Fielding gave Mr. Foster and the House the amount of traveling and other expenses paid since March 31, 1907, to date to the following Ministers: Sir Wilfrid, $63.75; Sir Fred. Borden, $729.65; Hon. W. S. Fielding, $1,142.75; Hon. L. P. Brodeur, $507.69; Hon. Sydney Fisher, $939.14.

Hon. Frank Oliver told Mr. McCarthy (Calgary) that a bill was in course of preparation to set apart Dominion lands for residents of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, who took part in the South African war of 1899-1902.



ARREST CHURCH MEMBER.

Charles Campbell Accused of Theft From St. Philip's, Hamilton.

Hamilton, Dec. 13.—From a trusted member of St. Philip's Anglican Church in the east end of the city to a cell in No. 3 police station is the descent made in a few hours by Charles Campbell, 29 years of age. He was arrested stepping into a G. T. R. train to make a journey to his old home in Scotland. The charge is that he stole $28 he collected for the church. Although pressed to turn the amount over he kept putting it off until the church officials became suspicious. He had a railway ticket to Montreal, and a third-class steamer ticket. He was setting out on the journey with just 32 cents.

Joe Myers, the race track follower, who was arrested at the Jockey Club here last year on the charge of stealing a ticket from Harry Daniels, and who was allowed out on $200 after being committed for trial, did not turn up yesterday afternoon at the general sessions, and his bail was declared forfeited.

KING APPROVES CELEBRATION.

Will Give 100 Guineas to Champlain Tercentenary Fund.

Montreal, Dec. 13.—In an address before the newly-organized Women's Canadian Club yesterday, Earl Grey made a strong appeal for the preservation of the Canadian battlefields.

The Governor-General declared the Canadian winter was the best asset of the country, and thought the people of Montreal did not act chivalrously in refusing to hold winter carnivals.

After an appeal to ladies not to rest until "that polluting gaol" had been removed from the Plains of Abraham, Earl Grey suggested raising a fund of a million dollars for the reclamation of the historic spot, and the erection of a collosal statue of the Angel of Peace, with arms outstretched, on the front of Quebec first visible to a passenger on a steamer coming up the St. Lawrence.

Continuing, he said: "The privilege of contributing to a fund in honor of the 300th birthday of Canada, and of sacred ground where the foundation of Greater Britain was laid, will, I am confident, appeal to thousands in all parts of the world."

Earl Grey concluded by reading the following cable from Sir Dighton Probyn: "The King commands me to telegraph his approval of the scheme for the celebration of the Champlain tercentenary, and to say that His Majesty will gladly subscribe 100 guineas towards the fund you are raising for this good object."

SOAP NOT AN EXPLOSIVE.

Queer Case at Welland Is Dismissed by Judge Wells.

Welland, Dec. 13.—At the County Court and General Sessions yesterday, Robert Pasquel was acquitted of the charge of carrying explosive substances. The substance was a cake of soap.

The case has excited considerable interest, and the charge was laid on the authority of the Attorney-General. Chief Mains of the frontier police and two other officers on Sept. 18 attempted to arrest three men at the Michigan Central station, Niagara Falls. One drew a gun and backing off got away. Pasquel and one Harding were arrested. They were found to have the necessary articles for the blowing up of a safe. Harding had the nitroglycerine, and Pasquel had the soap. Harding was sent down for a year on the charge of carrying explosives, and Pasquel got three months for carrying concealed weapons.

The police, it would appear, were not satisfied with Pasquel's sentence, and on the advice of the Attorney-General endeavored to convict him of the more serious offence of carrying explosive substances. When the evidence had been heard, however, Judge Wells took the case from the jury and dismissed the charge on the ground that there was no evidence to show that Harding and Pasquel were acting in concert.

Pasquel has held various responsible positions at Niagara Falls, N. Y.

POPE WON'T INTERFERE.

Declines to Aid the Pretender to the Spanish Throne.

Rome, Dec. 13.—The Pope yesterday received in private audience Don Carlos of Bourbon, the pretender to the Spanish throne.

Don Carlos expressed the hope that the Pontiff would assist him in an attempt to regain the throne of Spain, but the Pope indicated that for political reasons it would be impossible for him to change his present attitude towards King Alfonso.

Funeral of the Late B. B. Gunn.

Seaforth, Dec. 13.—The funeral of the late B. B. Gunn, M. P., yesterday afternoon was one of the largest ever seen in this part of the country. The public services in the Methodist Church were very largely attended, hundreds being turned away. The church was draped. The services were conducted by Rev. D. Rogers, pastor, assisted by Revs. Messrs. Walwin and Birks of London, former pastors of the deceased, and by the other clergymen of the town.

The procession from the church to the cemetery was headed by the Seaforth band, the fire brigade, the Canadian Foresters, the members of the Town Council and others. The stores and other places in town were closed.

Death Ends His Struggle.

Ottawa, Dec. 13.—Yesterday at noon a tragic suicide marked the close of a life that had for two weeks been a struggle to get work to support a wife and one child.

An Englishman named John F. Booth, who has been in this country but two years, and in Ottawa, it is understood, not very long, took cyanide of potash. Booth was a chemist when in England.

Troops Necessary.

Goldfield, Nevada, Dec. 13.—Crowds gathered at the station to witness the arrival yesterday afternoon of Gen. Funston and Major George Thethel and Lieut. Hernsley Evans, the officers who accompanied him from San Francisco.

Governor Sparks told Gen. Funston that in his opinion the presence of troops here had prevented serious trouble.

President's Daughter Sick.

Washington, Dec. 13.—Mrs. Longworth, daughter of President Roosevelt, was successfully operated upon for appendicitis at the White House yesterday morning, by Dr. Finney of Baltimore. The President was at the scene until the operation was over.

Killed on the Track.

Carleton Place, Dec. 13.—The remains of a man named Henry Tennant, about 50 years of age, of Lanark Township, were found on the C. P. R. track near the freight shed yesterday.

Lord Kelvin Ill.

London, Dec. 13.—Grave anxiety is felt here regarding the condition of Lord Kelvin, the famous scientist. He has been ill for some time, and yesterday he was reported to be worse.

Dr. W. J. Stevenson has been elected president of the London Medical Association.

BANDIT'S TRAGIC END

Boris Sarafoff, Famous Bulgarian Revolutionist, Assassinated.

Shot Dead at His Home In Sofia—Man Who Instigated the Abduction of Miss Stone—Was Bidding Farewell to Another Chief Who Was Also Killed — Made Many Raids Into Turkish Territory.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Dec. 13.—Boris Sarafoff, the most famous of all the leaders of the Bulgarian bands in Macedonia, was shot dead at the threshold of his home yesterday, by a Macedonian, who at the same time shot and killed another revolutionary chief named Garvaloff.

Sarafoff's hatred of the Turks was imbued at an early age through seeing his father and grandfather tortured, dragged off in chains to a dungeon and then exiled for 15 years.

At the age of 14 he attacked, single-handed, the prison in which his father and grandfather were confined, but he was flogged for his pains. The boy swore to revenge himself on the Turks and studied to this end, becoming an official in the Burgarian army.

In 1895 Sarafoff formed a band of desperadoes to raid Turkish territory. Since then he has headed no less than 380 daring raids into Turkey. Once he captured the Turkish town of Melnik with 40 men, putting the garrison to flight.

Sarafoff was familiar with hundreds of lines of tracks through the forests and mountains of Turkey. His aim was to organize a vast rebellion with the object of seizing Constantinople and overthrowing the dynasty and Turkish rule. The Turkish Government set a price of $20,000 on his head. He was about 37 years old.

Sarafoff was the organizer of the Macedonial committee. His prominence in Macedonial agitation and his dictatorial methods made him many enemies among his own followers.

GEN. KUROPATKIN TESTIFIES.

Gives Evidence Favorable to Stoessel at Court-Martial.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 13.—Gen. Kuropatkin testified yesterday at the trial by court-martial of Lieut.-Gen. Stoessel and other army officers, charged with needlessly surrendering Port Arthur to the Japanese, that the Japanese could have taken Port Arthur by assault in the early days of the war.

The defences were then so incomplete, Gen Kuropatkin went on, that the fortress must have fallen at the first vigorous attack. But the slowness of the Japanese and the resistance made by the army in the field gave the Russians time to improvise defence works, which had withstood the Japanese for six months. Gen. Kuropatkin's evidence was favorable to Gen. Stoessel.

CANADA CANCELS SUBSIDY.

Amount Dropped From Estimates Because of Australia's Policy.

Ottawa, Dec. 13.—Canada's answer to the exclusionist trade policy of the Australian Commonwealth is announced in the dropping from the Parliamentary estimates for next year of the subsidy vote of $180,000 towards the Canadian-Australian steamship service.

If the Commonwealth is determined to exclude Canadian products from its markets, there is no further reason for keeping up the expensive steamship service, which has for many years operated between the Australian ports and the city of Vancouver. Moreover, the bulk of the trade which Canada is now doing with Australia finds its way to the latter by way of New York.

Railway Men's Kick.

Ottawa, Dec. 13.—Railway employes are arranging to send a big deputation to Ottawa after the Christmas holidays, to ask the Government for a change in the criminal code. The object is to free engine drivers, conductors, etc., from bearing the burden of criminal prosecution whenever there is a railway accident.

The men will represent to the Minister of Justice that they are the chief persons concerned in avoiding accidents, that responsibility for the traffic arrangements which results in wrecks is higher up, and that they should not be punished for the faults of a system.

Five Hundred Dead.

Monongah, W. Va., Dec. 13.—A number of the bodies brought out yesterday did not bear the brass checks used in the company's system of records and accounts for a large number of men and boys in the mines that were not included in the checking rolls upon which estimates of the dead were largely based. There is reason to believe that the number will not fall far short of 500.

Orchard Testifying Again.

Boise, Idaho, Dec. 13.—For four hours yesterday in the trial of Geo. A. Pettibone for the murder of former Governor Steunenberg, Harry Orchard was on the witness stand. A new feature of the evidence was that Pettibone had told Orchard in 1904 that he had purchased 100 rifles from a hardware company in Denver and shipped them to the Coeur d'Alenes for use in the riots of 1905.

Three Wild Dogs Shot.

Woodstock, Dec. 13.—Three dogs, which have been killing sheep in the vicinity of Golspie, about four miles from here, for the past year, were shot by Thomas Redhead, who had been trailing them for days. The animals' lair was in a hollow log in a bush. They fought like wolves.

Marine Engineer Drowns.

Sault Ste. Marie, Dec. 13.—The tug Ottawa, which arrived yesterday from Lake Superior, brought the body of Second Engineer Seagel, who dropped dead Wednesday night. His home is in Sarnia.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS
PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days or money refunded. 50c.

THE MARKETS.

Liverpool and Chicago Wheat Futures Close Lower—Live Stock — Latest Quotations.

Thursday Evening, Dec. 12.

Liverpool wheat futures closed to-day ¼d to ⅝d lower; corn ⅝d higher.

At Chicago December wheat closed ¼c lower; corn ¼c higher; December oats ¼c higher.

Winnipeg Options.

Following are the closing quotations on Winnipeg grain futures to-day:

Wheat—Dec. $1.00¼ bid. Ma. $1.09 bid.
Oats—Dec. 43c, May 50c.

Toronto Grain Market.

Grain—
Wheat, spring, bush	$0 95	to $....
Wheat, fall, bush	0 97	....
Wheat, goose, bush	0 87	....
Wheat, red, bush	0 98	....
Rye, bush.	0 83	....
Peas, bush.	0 89	....
Buckwheat, bush.	0 64	0 65
Barley, bush.	0 70	....
Oats, bush.	0 52	....

Toronto Dairy Market.

Butter, dairy, lb. rolls	0 27	0 28
Butter, tubs	0 26	0 27
Butter, creamery, lb. rolls	0 30	0 31
Butter, creamery, boxes	0 29	0 30
Eggs, new-laid, dozen	0 36	....
Eggs, cold-storage, dozen	0 22	....
Cheese, large, lb.	0 13½	....
Cheese, twin, lb.	0 13¾	....
Honey, extracted, lb.	0 13	0 13½

Liverpool Grain and Produce.

LIVERPOOL, Dec. 12.—Wheat—Spot No. 2 red western, easy, 7s 8½d; futures, dull; Dec., nominal; March, 7s 8⅝d; May, 7s 7¾d.

Corn—Spot, prime mixed American, 5s 6½d; futures steady; Dec., nominal; Jan., 5s 2¾d.

Lard—American refined, in pails, dull, 3s 6d.

Turpentine—Spirits, dull, 28s.

Resin—Common, dull, 9s 10½d.

New York Dairy Market.

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—Butter—Steady, unchanged; receipts, 6711.

Cheese — Steady, unchanged; receipts, 3216.

Eggs—Firm; receipts, 5947; state, Pennsylvania and nearby fancy selected white, 50c; good to choice, 43c to 48c; brown and mixed fancy, 40c; average best, 36c to 38c; first to extra first, 32c to 35c; western first, 31c to 33c; seconds, 28c to 30c.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Cables Steady—Hogs Firmer at Buffalo and Chicago.

LONDON, Dec. 12.—London cables are firmer, at 11c to 12½c per lb., dressed weight; refrigerator beef is quoted at 10c to 10½c per pound.

Toronto Live Stock.

TORONTO, Dec. 12.—Receipts of live stock at the City Market, as reported by the railways, were 161 carloads, composed of 2592 cattle, 1134 hogs, 1653 sheep and 100 calves.

Exporters.

A couple of carloads of export bulls sold at $3.25 to $4.25 per cwt.

Butchers.

There was a better trade in butchers' cattle—that is, there was a firmer feeling, especially for anything approaching good quality. There was little change in the prices of common and inferior cattle, but the best lots were sold at better prices. The best Christmas cattle sold from $4.80 to $5.60 per cwt.; loads of good at $4.50 to $4.75; medium, $4 to $4.30; good cows and medium steers, $3.50 to $4.30; common cows at $2.25 to $3; canners and canner bulls at 75c to $2 per cwt.

Feeders and Stockers.

H. & W. Murby report a good demand for the heavier class of steers, 900 to 1100 lbs. each, which are not plentiful. The Messrs. Murby handled 200 cattle during the week at the following prices: Best feeders, 1000 to 1100 lbs., at $3.50 to $3.90 per cwt.; best feeders, 900 to 1000 lbs., at $2.90 to $3.60; best stockers, 800 to 900 lbs., at $2.85 to $3.15; best stockers, 600 to 800 lbs., at $2.40 to $2.75; common stockers, unchanged, at $1.50 to $1.75.

Milkers and Springers.

There has been a fair trade for milkers and springers during the week, but prices were, generally speaking, lower—that is, there were few of the high-priced kind. Several dealers stated that there was a difference of from $5 to $10 per cow less than ruled two weeks ago. Prices ranged from $30 to $55 each, and one extra fine animal, large in size and possessing all the good milking qualities, sold for $70. The bulk of the best sold around $40 to $45 each. Common light cows were slow sale at $20 to $30 each.

Veal Calves.

The run was not large and prices ruled steady at $3 to $6 per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs.

The run not being too large, trade held steady at unchanged quotations. Export ewes, $3.75 to $4 per cwt.; rams, $3 to $3.50; lambs, $4 to $5.25 per cwt.

Hogs.

Prices for hogs were higher. Mr. Harris quoted selects at $6.40, fed and watered; lights, $5.15 per cwt.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, N. Y., Dec. 12.—Cattle—Receipts, 100 head; slow; unchanged.

Veals—Receipts, 250 head; active and 25c higher; $5 to $9.25.

Hogs—Receipts, 5600 head; active and 10c to 25c higher; heavy and mixed, $5.25 to $5.30; Yorkers, $5.10 to $5.25; pigs, $4.50 to $4.90; roughs, $4.50 to $4.75; dairies, $5 to $5.20.

Sheep and lambs—Receipts, 4000 head; active and higher; lambs, $3 to $6.85; yearlings, $5.25 to $5.50; wethers, $4.75 to $5; ewes, $4.25 to $4.50; sheep, mixed, $2 to $4.65; Canada lambs, $6.00 to $6.60.

New York Live Stock.

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—Beeves—Receipts, 522; none on sale; feeling steady; exports, 2750 quarters of beef.

Calves—Receipts, 200; veals steady; barnyard calves and westerns in poor demand and weak; common to prime veals sold at $5 to $9.25 per 100 pounds; culls at $4; common barnyard calves at $2.50; Indiana calves at $3.75 to $5.50; good westerns at $4.25.

Sheep and lambs—Receipts, 8735; the market was fairly active and 10c to 15c higher; common to choice sheep sold at $3 to $5.15 per 100 pounds; fair to prime lambs at $6.25 to $6.75; culls at $4.

Hogs—Receipts, 3546; no sales reported.

Chicago Live Stock.

CHICAGO, Dec. 12.—Cattle—Receipts, estimated at about 13,000; market slow and dull; steers, $4 to $4.90; cows, $1.30 to $4.70; heifers, $2.50 to $5.25; bulls, $2.00 to $4.90; calves, $3 to $3.75; stockers and feeders, $2.40 to $4.50.

Hogs—Receipts, estimated at about 28,000; market steady; choice heavy shipping, $5.20 to $5.40; light butchers', $5.20 to $5.25; light mixed, $5.10 to $5.15; choice light, $5.15 to $5.20; packing, $4.50 to $5.10; pigs, $4 to $4.75; bulk of sales, $5.10 to $5.25.

Sheep—Receipts, estimated at about 20,000; market steady; sheep, $3.50 to $5.75; lambs, $5.40 to $6.25; yearlings, $4.20 to $4.90.

Corporations Accused.

New York, Dec. 13.—Attorney-General Jackson yesterday called the attention of District Attorney Jerome to the affairs of the Hamilton Bank, International Trust Co. and Excelsior Fire Insurance Co., and declared that acts of a criminal nature appeared to have been committed therein.

Bank Manager's Confession.

San Francisco, Dec. 13.—J. Dalzell Brown, the imprisoned manager of the California Safe Deposit and Trust Co., Wednesday made a confession to the bank commission, that fictitious entries were made in the books of the bank.

The Northern Navigation Company will build a sister ship to the Huronic.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM
RAILWAY TIME TABLE

	Arriw	Depat
Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, Gravenhurst, North Bay, Stouffville and Toronto	11.40 a.m. 9.00 p.m.	8.25 a.m 5.38 p.m
Port Hope and points east to Montreal and Boston		8.30 a.m
Port Hope, Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago & West, Niagara Falls, Buffalo, Cobourg, Montreal and East	8.20 a.m. 5.33 p.m.	11.45 a.m 9.05 p.m
From Buffalo, Hamilton, Toronto, Bowmanville and Port Hope	11.45 a.m.
Toronto, Lindsay, Stoufville, Uxbridge and Markham	10.05 p.m.	7.20 a.m
Lindsay Local	8.15 a.m.	9.10 p.m
Hastings, Campbellford, Madoc, Belleville, Kingston, Montreal and East	8.10 a.m. 8.40 p.m	8.30 a.m 1.50 p.m
Lakefield and Stony Lake	9.50 a.m. 5.15 p.m.	8.30 a.m 12.20 p.m

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY

To Peterboro' Going East,
11.16 a. m., Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal
7.51 p. m., Indian River, Norwood, Havelock, Tweed.
12.31 a. m. midnight, Havelock, Tweed, Smith's Falls, Montreal, Quebec Portland, Boston and New England points.
1.10 a. m., Ottawa express, Norwood, Havelock, Ivanhoe, Tweed, Smith's Falls, Carleton Jct, Ottawa.
To Peterboro' Going West,
4.48 a. m. for Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, New York, Woodstock, St. Thomas, Chicago, etc.
5.26 a. m. Do. Do.
7.56 a. m. for Cavanville, Manvers, Pontypool, Burkton, etc., Fort William, Winnipeg and all western points in North West Canada.
4.48 p. m. Pontypool, Lindsay, Toronto, Hamilton, Galt, Woodstock, London, Detriot Chicago, etc.

A steam locomotive in a test in Clayton, New Jersey, made a fraction more than 99 miles an hour. A test of electric locomotives is soon to be made.

CANADIAN NORTHERN ONTARIO

SHORT LINE TO MUSKOKA AND PARRY SOUND

WINTER TIME TABLE
In effect December 9th, 1907

NORTHBOUND

	No. 1	No. 3
TORONTO	† 9.00 am	† 5.30 pm
WASHAGO	12.45 pm	9.00 pm
PARRY SOUND	3.10 pm	....

SOUTHBOUND

	No. 2	No. 4
PARRY SOUND	† 9.00 am	†..........
WASHAGO	11.25 am	6.45 am
TORONTO	3.00 pm	10.10 am

Observation-Dining Parlor Cars between Toronto and Parry Sound serving meals a la carte.
† Daily except Sunday.
OFFICES: All Stations, also Cor. King and Toronto and Union Station. Phone, Main 5179.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM
$3.75
TO GUELPH AND RETURN on account of
PROVINCIAL WINTER FAIR
Tickets good going until December 13th. Valid for return until Monday, Dec. 16th
When you travel by the
GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM
You are assured of the best of everything that modern railway travel can offer
SMOOTH ROADBED FAST TRA IN COMFORTABLE COACHES
Full information may be obtained from
W. BUNTON
City Passenger Agent
F. SANDY.
Depot Ticket Agent
Or write Mr J. D. McDonald, D.P.A., Union Depot, Toronto

CANADIAN PACIFIC
CHRISTMAS and NEW YEAR RATES
RETURN TICKETS between all stations in Canada, east of Port Arthur and to Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Detroit, Mich., and Niagara Falls and Buffalo, N.Y., on sale at
SINGLE FARE
good going Dec. 24 and 25, returning until Dec. 26, also Dec. 31 and January 1, returning until Jan. 2, 1908.
FARE AND A THIRD
good going Dec. 21, 22, 23, 24 and 25, also Dec. 28, 29, 30 and 31 and Jan. 1, all good returning until Jan. 3, 1908.
Tickets and all information from
W. McILROY,
Canadian Pacific Agent
349 George St. Peterboro'
or write C. B. Foster, D.P.A., Toronto

Letterheads

¶What you think ab out you Business Stationery isn't quite so important as what your correspondent thinks.

¶Don't have inferior paper and work in your Business Stationery. Don't try good work and paper because you like it, altogether, but because it influences the man you write in your favor

¶The Review Job Department will give you the best work obtainable and superior paper and envelopes. Your order set, printed and cared for for you, particularly y u

¶A Call or Phone will bring to you samples

THE REVIEW
PETERBOROUGH

Why Peterborough Citizens Now Come to Dr. Browett for Glasses

FIRST REASON. The Eye glasses supplied by Dr. Browett are ground in one of the largest and best optical factories in America. Skilled workmanship and quality have placed the lenses produced by this firm far in advance of those ground in the ordinary factory. Dr. Browett devotes his exclusive attention to Optical Work—examining eyes, and teaching Opticians the use of the modern eye instruments. The number of Optical colleges this gentleman has attended, his experiences throughout the United States and Canada as a teacher of opticians, the thousands of satisfied patrons in various parts of America, wherever he has visited in his teaching capacity, his equipment of instruments and knowledge of their use are sufficient reasons for Dr. Browett's success since making Peterborough his permanent home, and our store his head office.

McDERMID & JURY'S, Drug Store,
390 George Street, Peterborough, Ont.

A Story of Absorbing Interest

The Rogue's March

By E. W. HORNUNG, author of "Raffles, the Amateur Cracksman," "Stingaree," etc.

Tom let him talk, but said little more in return. It was Jonathan Butterfield's son. How it brought all that back to him! True, it was not a year ago, but it seemed a lifetime. It was terrible to think of the little time and the stupendous change. Tom Erichsen saw himself as he had been and as he was, and the mental vision hurt him more than the material one which the stockade barber had shown him in a glass. He could not tell Butterfield that he had known his father. Nothing was to be gained by telling him. It would lead to his telling more, and how could he speak of things of which the mere thought was become torture so refined and so exquisite?

His eighteen inches were a very rack that night. He was thinking of Claire for the first time in many weeks. She would hold him guilty still. How could she do otherwise? His sweet friend held him guilty when he was innocent, and his enemy, the major, held him innocent when guilty. Oh, the irony, the bitter irony, that had made a worse man of him when he was bad enough already! All the foul night he lay tossing in his noisy chains. His wild eyes were never closed. Yet once the thought stole over him, had he been worthy of Claire when she loved him would all this ever have been? And after that he lay quieter—his heart knew why.

CHAPTER XXIII.

THE redhot summer cooled gradually into lukewarm winter, with chilly nights, but the same fierce glare all day, and several men had had their chains struck off, and four had died in them since Tom first felt the weight of his, but the vacant spaces on the shelves were never vacant very long. Those eighty suits of fetters were in continual use. And still the dual work went on of chiseling the great road to a given level and of degrading each newcomer to that of the worst man there before him, for there was no leveling up in these iron gangs, wherein mutual converse bred mutual debasement until best and worst found common ground on the very bedrock of human infamy.

Tom for one, however, still stood out among the worst, and there was another newcomer whom the gang had nothing to teach either of misery or of wickedness. Indeed, he laughed at the one and greatly increased the other.

This was an ancient felon known only as the First Fleeter—a wizened page of dreadful history, with not a tooth in his head and but the one redeeming trait of incessant cheerfulness. He had arrived with the first fleet in 1788. He had sinned and suffered through those unspeakable early years until the sense of suffering became as dead as the moral sense, and not a vestige of either remained to him now. But he would recount his crimes with grinning gums and gloat over unforgotten agonies until there was a writhing man on every ledge but his own. He lay above Tom, who would listen to him by the hour.

According to his own account, there was literally nothing this old man had not done or been done to in the early days. He was cannibal, murderer and worse, and his only regrets were for neglected chances of additional crimes. But his spirits never deserted him, and for a cruel man he was singularly good natured. He had weak and cunning eyes, a perfectly bald head, displaying every criminal cavity and protuberance, and a million wrinkles which, like his mumbling gums, were never still. Yet it was better to hear his wicked laughter than the clanking irons of men who neither slept nor spoke, and the evils endured by the major's iron gang, which the First Fleeter poohpoohed with a quaint superiority, did seem less intolerable after one of his yarns.

"Bad rations?" he would croak when the salt meat was rancid or the fresh meat strong. "Tell 'ee, there's none on you knows what bad rations is. You should ha' been at Toongabbie forty year ago. We never had no rations at all except when a ship come into harbor. Toongabbie would ha' learned ye! Many's the time I've dragged timber all day, twenty or thirty on us yoked to the one tree like bullocks, and dined off of pounded grass and soup from a native dog. And glad to get it, tell 'ee. We wasn't pampered and spoilt like you blokes—not at Toongabbie!"

Or perhaps some wretch was groaning from the scourger's lash. The First Fleeter waxed especially eloquent on all such occasions.

"Call that a flogging?" he would quaver from his ledge. "One little fifty? If we'd had you at Toongabbie you'd know what flogging was. Five, six an' even eight bloomin' hundred I've given an' took. What do you think of that? There was no flies about them floggings, I tell 'ee; no, an' there was no flies about the hangings either. I've seen a man took an' strung up on the spot for prigging a handful of weevilly biscuits, I have. An' all the time we was dyin' by dozens of the bad food an' the 'ard graft in the 'ot sun. Lord, how we did die! There was a big hole dug; we collected 'em every day an' pitched 'em in. I mind seeing one man pitched in before the breath was out of 'im. 'I ain't dead,' he says. 'You will be by sundown,' says the overseer, 'an' do yon think we want you about the place till tomorrow, you selfish man?' There wasn't no flies about that overseer, either; it was him as killed three men in a fortnight by overwork at the saw. They just dropped dead at their work. 'Take it away,' is all he says, 'put it in the ground,' an' yon never heard nothing more. No, no," the old monster would conclude, with his senile chuckle, "there wasn't no flies about them old days in Toongabbie, I can tell 'ee. I'd give a bit to have 'ad some o' this feather bed gang there, them as thinks they know what 'ardship is!"

The First Fleeter became less loquacious after a time, however, and much less severe upon the luxury of the major's iron gang. Honeybone's shrewd eye was on him, and that of the First Fleeter began to droop and ruminate with a cunning preoccupation that made him quite silent on his ledge. At length, however, he took to leaning over and mumbling to Tom in the stillest hours. And when Tom listened the old wretch mumbled to others, including Macbeth, who had soon followed his enemy from Castle Sullivan and been well nigh as refractory in the stockade. The Scot was in another den at nights, but the First Fleeter made and used his opportunities with characteristic craft. So now there was a new poison in the air, and the virus had come all the way from Toongabbie in the early days.

One of the last to be inoculated and yet the one who perhaps took most kindly to the process was a certain sleek, bullet headed youth who came to the stockade on a day in midwinter. In the evening as Tom was sitting at the mess table, with bloodshot eyes downcast as usual, he heard his name in a voice he seemed to know.

"Well, Erichsen," it said, "it's a small world, ain't it?"

Tom looked up and saw the bullet head nodding at him across the table, but so bloated and debauched was the low face that he was some moments in recognizing his old companion of the condemned cell in Newgate.

"Don't look at a pal like that," continued Creasey, with a smirk. "You've altered worse nor me. No ill feeling, I say? I was that glad"—

"Silence!" cried the noncommissioned officer on duty. "No talking at your meals, young man, unless you want what-for!"

As for Tom, he had nothing for the newcomer but a surly contempt, which he took no trouble to conceal. Creasey, on the other hand, was studiously civil to him on grasping Tom's reputation in the stockade, and secret circumstances threw them not a little together.

"That's a biter," young Butterfield contrived to say to Tom in a day or two. "Where did he know you before?"

"Newgate."

"He hates you."

"Let him."

"I'm jealous he'll squeak!"

"He might if he dare."

"How do you know he dursn't?"

"Too many in it. He'd be torn to little bits. See here, Butter!"

"Yes, Erichsen."

"You're to keep out of it."

"Not unless you do," said the lad firmly.

"Me! I'm in it up to the neck, and all the better, but you're different. You're younger, your time's all but up, you've never had the lash, there's a chance for you, so give me your word."

The lad hesitated.

"For my sake!"

The lad gave in, but consoled himself by making up to Creasey, who slept in his hut and was already deeply implicated in that which the other thus forswore.

All was in readiness. The excitement throughout the gang was intense, though invisible, and Erichsen, Macbeth and Creasey were even readier than their fellows, as behooved good ringleaders, when the unforeseen happened at the critical moment. The general failed them on the field of battle. The First Fleeter fell ill and was removed.

It had been coming on for weeks. The old man, who had made light of the iron gang, was the first to succumb to its hourly hardships. He was older than he had thought. He had it still in him to blacken and corrode every heart in the gang with his own abundant poison, and that he did, but that was all. His irons became very silent all night long. One morning he tumbled at his work. The next he was sent over to Maitland unfettered and in a cart. The gang were at work at the time, and the last Tom saw of the First Fleeter as he waved his cap in the cart was his bald head and his unconquerable smile. Tom wondered whether the last had not in some degree balanced the first and been doing a little good for a long time in a land that needed light hearts almost as much as pure ones. Still more he wondered how they would manage without him now.

Before nightfall, however, this departure was succeeded by an arrival as unforeseen. It was that of a curricle containing a solitary individual, who drove both up and down the line of ironed men, with the sunset light first on one side of his swarthy, black whiskered face and then on the other. He was obviously and openly searching for some one among the eighty prisoners, and his failure to find his man was announced by a frown that had in it more of pain and apprehension than of mere annoyance. Meanwhile the major, who was still a comparatively active man, was bearing down upon the intruder with the help of his furled umbrella, and the gentleman in the curricle was very soon asked what the mischief he wanted there.

"Mischief, my good man?" replied a rich deep voice, a little overladen with superior scorn. "Nothing more mischievous, I take it, than a few words with the superintendent of this gang. Perhaps you will be so extremely condescending as to give him my card."

"I am he," said the major. "What can I do for you?"

"The honor of glancing at my card," said the stranger, with a bow as elaborate as his scorn.

"Well, sir?"

"My name may be familiar to you."

"Never heard it in my life," replied the major bluntly. "However," he added as the other colored terribly, "I live out of the world, Mr. Daintree, as you perceive."

Tom was at work quite near, and he heard the name distinctly. He, too, had never heard it before, and yet he had some dim recollection of the face, so that he was watching it intently and saw the flush with which Daintree very fussily produced a letter.

"That is your misfortune, sir," Tom heard him retort, and the rap put the major in a good temper on the spot. He sang out for a wardsman to come and take charge of the gentleman's horses.

"Nevertheless," continued Daintree, "I take it that even you, sir, are acquainted with the name of the writer of the missive in my hand. I am the bearer, Major Honeybone," with immense pomposity, "of a letter from my friend, his excellency Sir George Gipps, the governor of this colony."

"Never met him," returned the major, with a twinkling eye. "It is my first acquaintance even with his handwriting." Indeed, his excellency had been not many weeks installed, but it was years since the major had heard tones so rich and periods so round as those of his excellency's friend, whom he thereupon escorted with hospitality to his house.

Now in this poor hut, opposite that stockade full of felons and in that desert place, the major kept a few dozens of admirable wine and some boxes of excellent cigars. Two of these were alight, and the gentlemen had clinked glasses and taken a sip before Major Honeybone would permit himself to open his excellency's letter. Hardly had he done so when he regretted both wine and cigars. He looked up suddenly and in wrath, which, however, was somewhat disarmed by the eager light he thus surprised in the visitor's strong and dusky face.

"What on earth do you want him for? I call this a most monstrous request," said Major Honeybone, and the last sentence was meant to have come first until Daintree's look inverted them.

"Request?" said Daintree, raising his eyebrows slightly.

To be continued.

There are very few aldermanic candidates in sight in Sarnia.

Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID is a tablet taken internally for the cure of PILES

Guaranteed, or money refunded. Correspondence confidential. Booklet on Piles, with copy of Guarantee and Testimonials mailed Free on application. $1 a bottle at all dealers, or prepaid from THE WILSON-FYLE CO., Ltd., Niagara Falls, Ont.

Sold by James Lynch, Druggist. Peterborough.

GETS HEAVY SENTENCE

Jackson Goes to Kingston For Nine Years.

Judge Finkle Added Two Years For a Remark in Court—Held Up Night Operator at Woodstock — Prisoner Threatened to Say Something to Whole Community When He Got Out.

Woodstock, Dec. 13.—The trial of Arthur Jackson, a quadroon, took place here yesterday and lasted from 1 a. m. until 6.30 p. m. Jackson was defended by John S. McKay, and R. N. Ball, K. C., prosecuted.

The jury were out twenty minutes when a verdict of guilty was brought in.

"Have you anything to say why I should not pass sentence?" asked Judge Finkle.

"As God sits upon his throne in heaven, as I firmly believe he does, I did not commit the crime I am accused of," was the prisoner's reply in dramatic tones.

"Then I sentence you to seven years at hard labor in Kingston Penitentiary."

"May I now say a few words, your honor?"

"You may not."

Jackson gritted his white teeth and with a smile he remarked:

"When I get out I will say something to the entire community."

"Ha, ha, my lad, then I will tack two more years on your term, and you will serve nine years with hard labor in Kingston Penitentiary," replied his honor hotly. A pin could be heard drop in the court room. The handcuffs clinked as they were placed on the prisoner's wrists and he was led back to his cell.

Alex. Green, who was arrested on the same charge as Jackson, of holding up C. P. R. Operator Walcott on the 9th of October last, was allowed out on bail, and will appear next week.

M'FARLANE ACQUITTED.

Judge Criticizes Jury For Verdict—Prisoner Tells Story of Shooting.

Sault Ste. Marie, Dec. 13.—Thomas McFarlane, on trial for the murder of William Dixon at Iron Bridge, was last night acquitted.

He appeared in his own defence and told an entirely new story. He had been feeding a dog. Dixon was intoxicated and took down a gun from the wall and shot the dog. The two men had grappled and in the mix-up the gun went off and Dixon fell.

The prisoner then attempted to commit suicide under the stress of excitement, but the gun missed fire. He then left the house, returning in the morning, when he knelt down beside the body of Dixon and made a vow to his Maker that he would give himself up.

The judge's charge was against the prisoner, who was greatly affected in court.

During the argument of counsel the prisoner was dejected and kept his face concealed below the dock.

The judge said he could not conceive of a jury arriving at such a verdict on the evidence given. As the verdict was announced a fervent "Thank God" escaped the prisoner, who immediately left the building.

3,750 Miles by Wireless.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 13.—The Kiev station of the wireless telegraphy line which the Russian Government is constructing to connect Sebastopol with St. Petersburg, has succeeded in picking up Marconi transatlantic messages, including a number of press despatches, sent from the American side. Messages transmitted from Paris and Casablanca also have been picked up.

The distance from Glace Bay, Cape Breton, the point at which the Marconi wireless messages are started for Ireland, to Kiev, is approximately 3,750 miles. Stray wireless messages have previously been picked up at a distance of 2,500 miles from their point of origin.

Took Carbolic by Mistake.

Petrolea, Dec. 13.—The death occurred yesterday morning as a result of taking carbolic acid by mistake of Miss Maud Durham, daughter of the late E. J. Durham. The young lady had been doctoring for years, and apparently got hold of the wrong bottle when taking her medicine Wednesday night.

She was alone in the house at the time, and when discovered was in an unconscious condition, and despite the efforts of a couple of doctors, passed away without regaining consciousness.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

CURE

Sick Headache and relieve all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing

SICK

Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

HEAD

Ache they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head

ACHE

Is the bane of so many lives that here is where we make our great boast. Our pills cure it while others do not.

Carter's Little Liver Pills are very small and very easy to take. One or two pills make a dose. They are strictly vegetable and do not gripe or purge, but by their gentle action please all who use them.

CARTER MEDICINE CO., NEW YORK.

Small Pill. Small Dose. Small Price.

Engineer Acquitted.

Barrie, Dec. 13.—As a result of a collision in the Allandale yards on Sept. 29, in which Fireman Blackburn was killed, his engineer, Henry Morris of Hamilton, was charged at the County Court here yesterday with manslaughter. Crown Attorney Cotter conducted the prosecution, and T. C. Robinette, K. C., defended Morris.

The trial lasted all day and resulted in a verdict of acquittal.

Farmer Killed by Train.

Palmerston, Dec. 13.—James Woolner, a farmer living near Moorefield, was driving across the G. T. R. track, about a mile east of Moorefield, at noon yesterday, when he was struck and thrown some 70 or 80 feet up the track, and when picked up he was dead. The horse escaped.

The train was in charge of William Frost, conductor, and George Hamilton, engineer.

Will Return to Texas.

Dallas, Texas, Dec. 13.—An Austin despatch says it is reported there on good authority that the big life insurance companies, all of which retired from Texas on July 1 because of the enactment of the law requiring them to invest 75 per cent. of their Texas reserve in certain Texas securities, are to return to Texas on Jan. 1.

A Trick With Numbers.

Choose any four consecutive numbers, as 50, 51, 52 and 53. Multiply them together, and the product may be divided by 24. This will be found to hold true for any four consecutive numbers we may choose unless one of the numbers is 24 or a multiple of 24, such as 48, 72, 96, etc. In the same way any five consecutive numbers multiplied together may be divided by 120 unless one of the numbers is 120 or a multiple of 120.

KNOCKING THE ALL-RED.

Lloyd-George Commended For Not Participating In Proposal.

London, Dec. 13.—(C. A. P.)—The Aberdeen Advertiser says the caution showed by Lloyd-George at the Colonial Conference in declining to commit this country to any heavy liability in money with respect to the projected all-red route, must be held to be fully justified by the facts and considerations bearing on the proposal.

The Nova Scotia Government has been awarded the large silver gilt medal of the Royal Botanical Society's show for apples.

A new navy league, to be called the Imperial Maritime League, is in process of projection. It threatens to deprive the older organization of much of its authority.

A 12 penny block of Canada 1851 stamps sold for £50. It was the finest used specimen existing.

Black Peril In Colonies.

Philadelphia, Dec. 13.—"The gravity of the negro problem is not confined to the United States; England faces it in her colinies. The whole world faces it. The problem of the future of that race is one of the greatest and gravest confronting civilization."

Sir John Roger, governor of the English Gold Coast Colony, Southwestern Africa, expressed these views in an address at the Berean Presbyterian Church.

"In Africa," he said, "negroes outnumber the whites in the proportion of 5,000,000 to 1,000. How to educate them is as grave a question there as in America. Our greatest trouble is to induce them to work with their hands in the trades. The hope of the negro race lies in manual labor."

Two Children Perish.

Cobalt, Dec. 13.—A fire Wednesday night which destroyed the house of William Hewit resulted in the death of his two little girls, aged 5 and 3, by suffocation. The parents were away.

The Hunter-Graham block, the opera house and Bank of Ottawa building are largely occupied by roomers. Both buildings are deficient in fire escapes, and the sanitary condition of each building is in some respects a disgrace. The rents at both are considerable.

Fell Fifty Feet.

Stratford, Dec. 13.—John Tisdale fell 50 feet from the top of a superstructure of the new Grand Trunk works and sustained compound fracture of arm and concussion of the brain. His home is in Windsor.

Three more boys—Routier, Smith and Brisson—were arrested yesterday in connection with recent robberies. They are believed to be part of a gang which successfully operated for the past year. Six are now in jail and there are others to follow.

Stoned to Death.

Denver, Col., Dec. 13.—A letter has reached here stating that William Robertson Boggs, one of the foremost metallurgists of the country, was waylaid and stoned to death near Topia, Mexico, by a gang of Mexican miners. Because of the financial stringency Boggs was unable to pay his men their wages.

Another Line Completed.

Winnipeg, Dec. 13.—What has been known as the Kirkella branch of the C. P. R., between Kirkella and Saskatoon, will be completed by Saturday night, when a special train will run over the line.

Indian Escapes Gallows.

Winnipeg, Dec. 13.—Joseph Fiddler, the Indian at Norway House who was sentenced to death for the inhuman sacrificial murder of an Indian girl, has been reprieved.

SUBSCRIBERS PLEASE NOTICE

Readers, whose street number has been lately changed, will confer a favor if they will notify this office so that the correction can also be made on our list.

tf

IF YOUR PIANO BEARS THE NAME

"GERHARD HEINTZMAN"

It has the excellence that comes of years of experience and study, carefully and intelligently applied.

A SINGING EVEN TONE PERFECT ACTION DELICACY OF TOUCH

combined with durability and beauty of design are the distinguishable characteristics of the "Gerhard Heintzman."

In buying a piano it is the truest form of economy to get the best, the few dollars additional in the price being returned tenfold in wear, pleasure and pride of ownership. Write for catalogue.

Gerhard Heintzman, Limited
97 Yonge Street, Toronto.
W. H. ISAAC, 228 Dublin Street, Peterborough.
Local Salaried Representative.
Machine 'Phone 22

FOR THE LADY WHO CALLS

Visiting List and Social Engagement Book—A Dainty and Useful Gift.

Those ladies who find it difficult to keep track of their social debts in the way of calls which have to be returned, invitations to various society functions which have been received will be pleased to learn that a dainty little book has been issued from the presses of the Review which will fill their need. The city has grown so rapidly of late years that it has become almost necessary for each lady to have a special reception day each month when her friends will be sure to find her at home. To keep a record of these will be an easy matter with one of these little books. They are prettily bound in blue linen, lettered in gold and printed on good paper. There are two pages for every day in the month, arranged, according as the day is, first Monday, second Tuesday, etc. At the back of the book are pages for invitations received, out-of-town addresses, special reception dates, and memoranda. One of the books would make a dainty and acceptable Xmas gift. The books are on sale at the bookstores at the price of 50c

CENTRAL LIVERY STABLES
AND
VETERINARY INFIRMARY
193 Hunter Street, west of Oriental

If you wish a rig of any kind for any occasion ring us up and you will find everything up-to-date in the livery line. Both Phones 278. Night Phone Bell 425 B

D. McKERCHER, V.S.

YOUR OWN HAIR MADE UP AS DESIRED . .

By home talent, where y[illegible] are ure of satisfaction, or matche correctly in shade and quality.

Switches, Natural Wavy Pomp Latest Coiffures

Let us show you what we can do before you patronize some outside party. We guarantee to please you at lowest prices in the city.

Back Hair Dressing, Shampooing, etc.

MRS. BYRNE'S
George Street Second Door North of Dutton's

Money is Not Tight

On some of the property propositions we can offer you. We have some pretty locations where situation, price and terms are all to suit. Low priced houses, some of them brick and on good lots, $850 up
$1,000—Village store near the city, no competition. A good thing.
$1,600—Large modern, good looking brick house, south city.
$2,300—Very profitable apartment house renting to small families.
$1,800 and $2,350—Nice brick house, modern conveniences, well situated.
$3,000—Brick dwelling, stable, etc.; also some building lots. Just suit a retired farmer
$2,350 to $4,800—Beautiful residences on Gilmour, Homewood Ave., Weller, King, Water Sts, etc.

If you are thinking of going West, we can show you something good in lands in British Columbia, Alberta and Saskatchewan, with return ticket for selection trip. Farms for sale. Houses to rent.

BELL & TAYLOR
Real Estate. Fire Insuranc
Office—376 Water Street.
Office Phone—498B House Phone 547B

HOCKEY SKATES

From 75c to $5.00

Skates repaired and sharpened
General machine work.

METHEREL'S CYCLE WORKS
228 Hunter Street

Private Greeting Cards

THE highly colored and lithographed Christmas Card in vogue a few years ago has passed away entirely.

IN place has come the much more appropriate Personal Greeting Card.

OF these the Review Office is showing a great many original designs.

YOUR order should be given immediately, while the selection is so complete.

SHOULD you desire a Card specially designed to your order, promptness is absolutely necessary.

The Review
HUNTER STREET
PETERBOROUGH

W. H. HILL, Esq.,
Manager of Central Ontario.

Dear Sir—After congratulating myself being a Sun Life Policy Holder, I am very much pleased with the handsome amount added to my Policy, and am surprised and gratified with the profits. I appreciate the good financial position which your Company holds to-day.

THOS. EDGAR,
Peterborough, Ont
November 29th, 1907.

N.B.—Policy Straight Life $2,000
Bonus for 5 Years $160
Policy No. 17,706

SNAPS FOR XMAS

Ebony Mirrors
Ebony Hair Brushes
Ebony Clothes Brushes
Ebony Manicure Sets
Ebony Military Brushes
Real Seal Skin Purses
Hand Satchels
Ladies' Companions
Gentlemen's Companions
Perfumes, etc.

at lowest prices

WARNE BROS.

345 GEORGE ST. PHONE 527

Xmas Photos

Send a family group or the children's photos to your friends at Christmas. Nothing is appreciated more than such remembrances, rom

MENDEL'S STUDIO

374 1-2 George St Entrance next Oke's

INTEREST PAID
QUARTERLY
—ON—
SAVINGS DEPOSITS of $1 and upwards
—THE—
BANK OF OTTAWA

Interest paid
February 28
May 31
August 31
November 30

PETERBOROUGH BRANCHES:
George Street, also
Corner Rubidge and Townsend Streets

A. A. HOLLINGSHEAD, Mgr

WE DON T GUESS

When we fit glasses. We have the scientific instruments for determ'n'ng and correcting any and all defects of vision, no matter the nature of your case.

We fit any eye that responds to light. You are invited to call. We delight in showing our methods and equipment. The testing of eyes is not a matter of guess work, nor is it a matter of trying on pairs of ready-made glasses. It is science, governed by principles which none but a person who has studied the anatomy of the eye can understand. No guess work in our method of testing the eye.

OUR WORK IS GUARANTEED

A. A. FOWLER, O.D.
Eyesight Specialist
With NUGENT DRUG CO., 386 George St

No Traces Yet of Edward Beeman

No traces have been found of Edward Beeman, the C.P.R. pump man, who is supposed to have been drowned in the Otonabee on Monday evening. The grappling men are still at work.

ADAMS' XMAS SILK WAISTS

Adams' Great Snap
- - IN - -
NEW XMAS SILK WAISTS
FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

A timely purchase from a large manufacturer of high-class Silk Waists—all their broken lines of new Christmas Waists at about the cost of making, enables us to give to the ladies of Peterboro' and vicinity the greatest Silk Waist Bargain ever offered them. Coming at the Gift Giving Season gives you a rare chance of a nice useful gift for little money,

$5.00, $6.00 and $7.00 for $3.98

48 only, beautiful Silk Waists, made for the Xmas trade, Black and White, many styles to choose from, trimmed with allover embroidery fronts and lace, 3-4 sleeve, open back. Regular retail prices $5.00, $6.00 and $7.00.

FRIDAY and SATURDAY
(Not Before)
Your Choice For $3.98

SALE WAISTS ON EXHIBITION IN OUR SHOW WINDOW

Harry Adams

Murderous Assault Committed by Tramp On Farmer Residing Near Millbrook

Unknown Tramp Demanded Money Which He Got, and Later Fired Four Shots Wounding Charles Porteous About the Head.

Shots Were Evidently Intended to Kill—Villain Made Good His Escape—Two Ball Wounds in the Face and Two Scalp Injuries—No Reason Known for the Assault—Police on the Lookout for the Desperado.

A desperate attempt was made by a tramp last evening about 6 o'clock to murder Mr. Charles Porteous, a well known farmer who lives on the boundary between Manvers and Cavan townships, about five or six miles north-west of Millbrook.

The tramp, who is unknown, fired four shots at Mr. Porterous, while the latter was in a stable, all of which took effect.

There are two face wounds and two scalp wounds, but it is not thought that the injuries will prove fatal.

It appears that yesterday morning the tramp called at the house of Mr. Porteous and asked him for work. Mr. Porteous told him that he had none and referred the visitor to some of the neighbors. The generous yeoman gave him something to eat and the fellow departed.

About six o'clock in the evening the hobo returned and again demanded work,

DEMANDED MONEY.

Mr. Porteous told him he had no employment for him at present. He then remarked "Your money or your life," at the same time producing a revolver. The farmer gave him about $7.00—all the money that he had—but still the desperado was not satisfied.

Mr. Porteous went to the cow stable to milk a cow and while thus engaged the desperate fellow entered the stable and pulling a revolver fired four shots at the farmer, all of which took more or less effect.

The first was fired in a downward direction, Mr. Porteous being seated on a milk stool and not observing the intruder. The ball grazed the eye brow and cheek and came out through a part of the nose. The eye brow was singed by the powder, the tramp standing at such short range.

Mr. Porteous looked up and at first thought he had been struck a blow.

Another shot was fired just as Mr. Porteous was getting up from his stool. This took effect just below the temple and ploughed through a portion of the cheek coming out on the lower side of the face after glancing off the cheek bone. Mr. Porteous then got up and started to run out of the door of the stable. The vicious tramp fired two more shots after the retreating form, both of which grazed the scalp. It is a miracle that Mr. Porteous was not killed as the shots were aimed with deadly effect and the assailant evidently had murder in his heart,

HE ESCAPED.

The villian made good his escape going in the direction of Manvers station.

Dr. Turner, of Millbrook, was called and dressed the wounds of Mr. Porteous.

The would-be murderer is described as a man about 25 or 30 years old, clean shaven. He wore a long black overcoat. He had a red sweater on and two front teeth are missing.

POLICE NOTIFIED.

The Peterborough police were notified of the assault last night and P. C's Newhall and Adams were down to meet the midnight express trains in the hope that they might catch sight of the outlaw. No trace of him could be found.

Later in the night an engineer on a east bound freight train told the C.P.R. night operator and Baggageman Buyers that an unknown man had been seen riding on a train going west, and that he had evidently been put off near Myrtle. He was seen coming this direction. P.C. Newhall was at the station again this morning looking for the fellow, but so far no trace has been discovered of him.

Millbrook and the surrounding country are greatly excited over the incident and every effort is being made to apprehend the villain,

LATER DETAILS

Special to the Review.

Millbrook, Dec. 13.—Charles Porteous, who was shot in the head by a tramp last night came to the village this morning, his injuries being dressed in the office of Drs. Turner and Montgomery. Porteous is getting on well, but will carry the scars to the grave.

The two first shots from the revolver were on the left side of the face and glanced downwards. One entered near the eye, took a slanting direction clean through the cavity of the mouth and came out on the right side of the face. The other was also on the left side, a little below the ear, glancing along the top of the nose and coming out in the middle of the right cheek.

ROBBERY THE MOTIVE.

It appears after the first two shots Porteous grabbed his assailant and had a lively tussel with him. The tramp then robbed the farmer of what of what money he had on him.

Porteous did not give his caller any cash before he was shot as stated in the earlier reports of the affair.

Robbery was evidently the object of the outlaw who was determined to obtain money at any cost. As Porteous after grappling with him, ran away from his antagonist, the latter fired two more shots. One glanced along the skull just at the back of the head, making a scalp wound of about two inches, the other went between the ear and the head, but this injury is not serious. It required several stitches to close the openings made by the balls.

Porteous is a man about 40 years of age. His wife died last spring.

IS HE THE MAN ?

Later this afternoon it was reported that a man answering the description of Porterous' assailant, had been arrested at Burketon. It is reported that two outside constables have gone after him. Porteous says he would be able to identify his assailant.

OBITUARY

INFANT EXPIRES.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Beaugard, North Monaghan, will sympathize with them in the loss they have sustained by the death of their four months' old child, which occurred last evening.

The funeral took place this afternoon at 2.30 o'clock.

Degrees Conferred on Several Visitors

Peterborough Lodge of Oddfellows Had a Field Night

There were big doings at the regular meeting of Peterborough Lodge No. 111, I.O.O.F. last evening, when a joint degree team from Peterborough and Otonabee lodges conferred the first, second and third degrees on seven candidates from Marmora, four from Norwood and three from Peterborough lodge. There were visitors in attendance from Lakefield and Havelock. After the work of the evening the gathering adjourned to the dining room, where a social time was spent around the festive board.

David Hill, whose home is unknown, was killed on the G.T.R. near Kenora yesterday.

More Pay for Members of The Court of Revision

The members of the Court of Revision are to receive more pay this year on account of the great increase in their work caused by the large number of appeals against the assessment. The chairman, Mr. Wm. Langford, sr., will receive a bonus of $100, and the other two members, Messrs. A. E. Dixon and B. Morrow, $75 each. This was decided on at a meeting of the Finance committee last night when the request of the members of the Court of Revision for more pay was dealt with.

It was felt that on account of the extra work this year they should receive more money and it was moved by Ald. Bradburn, seconded by Ald. Morrow,—That owing to the extra work of the Court of Revision has had this year the chairman of the Court be paid a bonus of $100 and the other members $75 each.—Carried.

Anchor ice Delayed Work Last Night

In the Quaker Oats and Central Mills—No Power for Several Hours

From one o'clock until four this morning the Quaker Oats Co., and the Central Milling Co., had to cease operations, there being no power. On account of anchor ice, the Peterborough Light and Power Co. was closed down, but fortunately there were not many requiring electric light at that hour of the night. About five o'clock the ice had been removed and everything was in working order again,

Don't forget the splendid matinee at the Grand to-morrow—"Hooligan in New York." Doors open at 2 o'clock, performance at 2.30.

GYPSIES AT THE POLICE COURT

Geo. Williamson Remanded on Charge of Assaulting His Wife —Cousin Fined

Today was gypsy day at the police court. Jas. Williamson, the man who mixed it up so lively in the opera house the other night, appeared on the charge of assaulting his wife. He pleaded not guilty and was remanded for a week.

Williamson blames it all on the woman, who, he says, came home drunk an damashed the windows and hurled several things of one kind and another at him, probably including some expressive epithets. George wouldn't stand for it, and as a result a contest ensued, in which his wife fared very badly. He asked to be allowed to go, and offered to pay all costs in the case and sign a pledge to leave liquor alone.

"You are remanded for a week," said His Worship, in reply to his appeal for liberty, and the prisoner resignedly said, "All right."

COUSIN UP, TOO.

James Williamson, a cousin of George's, and who also follows a gypseyesque existence, made himself objectionable at the Cavanagh House yesterday, while under the influence of liquor, and when Mr. T. Cavanagh, the proprietor, went to remonstrate with him, struck the latter. The police were notified, and P. C. Meharry "ran him in." He was assessed $2 and costs, amounting to $5.75.

Don't miss the bona fide reductions in Underwear at H. LeBrun & Co's. 50 dozen Boys' Shirts and Drawers, fleece-lined, at 25c and 30c each. See our north window for what you can buy for 25c.—H. LeBRUN & CO.

CURLING

A meeting of the curlers for the purpose of choosing the various rinks was held last night, but all the rinks were not selected. They will be, however, in the early part of next week.

1,000 GIVEN AWAY 1,000

Every purchaser of $1.00 or over will receive a beautiful Wall Packet and Calendar combined; a very useful article for the home. Special prices on all Xmas goods at

JAMES R. BELL'S

Both Phones. 161 Hunter St

TREATY WITH FRANCE.

Many Canadian Industries Are Likely to Benefit.

As the provisions of the new Franco Canadian treaty are more closely examined by the members of Parliament the greater is the satisfaction expressed with the very advantageous terms secured by the Canadian Ministers. The French Chambers will shortly revise the whole tariff of France with a view to making a considerable increase in the protective duties all along the line. The result will be to give Canada an even greater preference in the French markets than the new treaty affords. It is expected that as soon as the treaty is ratified, which will probably be two or three months hence, a great impetus will be given to Canadian exports of dairy products, agricultural implements, fish, meats, woodpulp and cardboard to France, these being the principal Canadian items affected by the lower rates now secured. In the case of agricultural implements, especially, Canadian manufacturers will have a great advantage over the American manufacturers, and it is not at all unlikely that companies like the International Harvester Co., which has a Canadian plant at Hamilton, will hereafter manufacture in Canada all the agricultural implements intended for export to France.

In respect to the clause providing that the lower rates of duty shall apply only to goods shipped direct between the two countries or else through countries having a preferential tariff arrangement with either France or Canada, it may be pointed out that the effect will be to practically stop the shipments now being made via American ports, with consequent advantage to the development of Canadian ports. Much of Canada's trade with France is now carried on via New York. Hereafter goods will either be carried on steamship lines between Canadian and French ports direct or else via British or German ports. France has a preferential trade treaty with both Germany and Great Britain, but goods sent on the British or Hamburg lines to France will also be liable to the additional French "surtax d' entrepot," which amounts to 3 francs 50 centimes per 200 pounds.

One result of this is already evident in the formation of a new company which will establish a steamship line between Canada and France. The new company is known as the Compagnie Francais Trans-Atlantique.

Tara has laid a 176x46 open air rink on the Dr. Thomas property, on Brook street.

Col. J. Twining, of Halifax, a veteran of the Northwest Rebellion, is dead.

VANISHED GOLD.

Two Thousand Half-Sovereigns Disappear In Transit.

Particulars of a very mysterious disappearance of a box of gold coin on its way from London to Brazil have just become known, leading to the conclusion that a clever and daring theft took place at some point of the journey between Eastcheap and Liverpool.

On the afternoon of Thursday, Nov. 7, four small iron-bound boxes, weighing about 20 pounds each, were delivered by a firm of shipping agents acting, it is understood, on behalf of a bank at the Eastcheap offices of the London and Northwestern Railway, consigned to Para, Brazil, by way of Liverpool. Each of these boxes, it has since become known, contained $5,000 in half-sovereigns. Their contents, however, it is stated, were not specially described, and the boxes were booked as ordinary parcels at company's risk.

They were accordingly dealt with in the usual way and packed into a collecting van, which went to Euston station, picking up parcels from several city houses en route.

The four boxes having been booked at Eastcheap, there was no necessity to rebook them through the Euston parcels office, consequently there is no official record of how many of the number actually reached the London and Northwestern terminus, whence they were sent on to Liverpool by the 9.20 train for shipment to South America.

When the money reached Liverpool it was found that one of the four boxes was missing, and information was immediately wired to the consignors and to the railway company.

Up to the present it is an absolute mystery where the box has disappeared. Euston station, Liverpool, and the intermediate stations at which the train stopped have been searched without any result, but even before this was done the suspicion that the loss may have occurred between the Eastcheap offices of the company and Euston led the company to call in the services of the Metropolitan and City police.

Of course, there is the very slight possibility that the missing $5,000 may turn up amongst some overlooked luggage, but fears are entertained that the valuable consignment was watched from Eastcheap by expert thieves, and that they managed to remove the box while the van attendants were engaged in picking up miscellaneous parcels on the way to Euston station.

New fittings and boxes are to be installed in the St. Catharines post office.

FACTS—JUST PLAIN, POINTED FACTS

BOYS' SUITS

Good words our Good Boy's Clothing are coming back to us in good business, what better proof could you ask of our value-giving than these.

BUSTER BROWN STYLE

Gray mixed Tweeds, plain, well made and trimmed, sizes 22 to 25........ 3 25
Gray stripe Tweed, well made and trimmed, 22 to 25 3.50
Blue and black Serge, well made and trimmed sizes 22 to 26........ 4.00

2-PIECE NORFOLK STYLE

Dark gray stripe Tweed, sizes from 25 to 30, special 2.00
Gray mixed Tweed, pepper and salt effects, all sizes, 24 to 30, Special........ 2.50
Brown Scotch Tweed effect, double breasted Norfolk, sizes 26 to 29, prices........4.00, 4.50, 5.00
3 piece Double Breasted Styles-dark gray check and stripe Tweed, Lion Brand, with double elbows and double seats and knees, well padded and well made, sizes 28 to 33........4.50 and 5.00
Dark gray over plaids and dark stripes, the newest designs for boys' suits, double breasted, sizes 28 to 33........6.00, 6.50, 7.00
Boys' and Youth's Reefers—Dark gray and black Frieze, Tweed lined, all sizes up to 28........2.00, 2.25
Dark gray and black Frieze, Tweed lined, 2 75

MERRELL & MEREDITH
CLOTHIERS, FURNISHERS and HATTERS
375-377 GEORGE ST. PHONE 35

Ladies' Hand Bags and Purses

Just the thing for Useful and Beautiful Gift now on display at the store that gives the largest choice, the best leathers and closest prices.

Ladies' and Gentlemen's TRAVELLING SATCHELS and TRUNKS of all kinds, in the largest selection in the city.

B. SHORTLY SIGN OF THE BIG HORSE AT THE DOOR
TELEPHONE No. 319

COMPLETED HIS ROUNDS TO-DAY

P. C. Meharry Finished His Snow By-law Notification This Afternoon

P. C. Meharry, who has been notifying those in the districts where the snow bylaw applies, that the side walks must be kept clean this winter, will have his work in the above respect completed this afternoon. He has been engaged in his task for part of the past two days. He has done the work thoroughly, and anyone who fails to comply with the provisions of the bylaw will have to suffer the consequences. He says that while some persons object to clean the sidewalks as thoroughly as they will have to the majority of them do not seem to be antagonistic to the measure.

The chief, when asked if he thought the bylaw was too extreme, would not express an opinion one way or the other. He says the bylaw is made, and his duty is simply to see it is enforced.

GOING HOME ?

Are you going home for Christmas? Take advantage of the cheap rates offered by the Grand Trunk Railway system. Single fare between all stations in Canada, good going Dec. 24, 1907, and Dec. 25, 1907, valid for return until Dec. 26th, 1907. Single fare and one-third, good going Dec. 21st to 25th, 1907, valid for return until Jan. 3rd, 1908. For further information and tickets, apply to any Grand Trunk ticket agent.

G. A. Brodie, Bethesda, is the new president of the Agricultural Experimental Union.

COMMON SENSE GIFTS

If you want to make two families genuinely happy this holiday season, try giving the old cook stove that has given you years of service, to some needy household, and present the good wife with a

PANDORA RANGE

You will thus make two homes happy, especially your own where the great comfort of using the Pandora Range will be greatly appreciated.

ADAMSON & DOBBIN
NEW BRICK BLOCK—SIMCOE STREET

THE DAYLIGHT STORE

Last Call . . .
To Our Money-Saving Sale

We're now making the last call to our great Money-Saving Sale.

There are still a few days left in which Clothing and Furnishings can be bought at bargain prices.

OUR SALE WILL POSITIVELY END SATURDAY, 14th

A whole army of buyers have already been benefited by our cut prices. Many a patron will have reason to remember this sale with deep gratitude, while the man who does not come in will miss a great opportunity. We've still many choice garments left. We're giving full measure at half measure prices.

Men's Suits Reduced Men's Overcoats Reduced Boys' Suits Reduced
Boys' Overcoats Reduced Men's Pants Reduced Men's Fancy Vests Reduced
Furnishings Reduced Underwear Gloves Hosiery Mitts Hdkfs Sweaters, etc

THE BUYER WHO NEVER MISSES A GOOD THING IS HEADED . . . FOR THIS SALE . . . .

LANG & MAHER, CLOTHIERS AND FURNISHERS TO MEN WHO KNOW
409-411 George St., Peterborough

AFTER SUPPER SALE

Good for Heavy Hearts and Light Purses. Don't Fail to attend Tomorrow Night. The Sale Starts at 7:30 and continues until Closing Time. COME.

Carpet Sweepers
Fifteen only carpet sweepers, guaranteed for service and perfection in work, special each
After Supper Sale $2.29

Gloves
Women's long cashmere gloves, 12 button length, mousquetaire style, colors navy, brown, tan, gray, black and white, special per pair
After Supper Sale 50c

Cushions
All ready for use, pretty effects and coloring, silk centre and satin border with wide frill to match,
Special After Supper Sale 98c

Suspenders
Men's fine suspenders, first quality elastic web in pink, gray and blue, guaranteed, regular 50c pair
After Supper Sale 39c

Piano Drops
Handsome effect of fine velour shaped and trimmed with Arabian lace of extra heavy quality, the newest style, special After Supper Sale $10.00

Room Rugs
Two only Axminster room rugs, suitable for double rooms, one in pretty soft shades of green and floral effects, rose and mauve, the other dark rose shades, regular $45.00 After Supper Sale $36.50

Neck Frilling
Dainty neck frilling, assorted, three in a pretty box
After Supper Sale 25c

Neck Frilling
Latest and newest effect in neck frilling, assorted, four patterns in fancy box, regular 50c and 60c
After Supper Sale 40c

Ribbons
Every imaginable shade and color in baby ribbon. You women will appreciate this after supper offer,
After Supper Sale per yard 1c

Antique Rugs
Three only fine antique silk rugs, beautiful soft eastern coloring, size 3 ft. 8 by 7 ft. An ideal Xmas gift for those who appreciate art in rugs, special fter Supper Sale $21.50

Net Curtains
Fine net curtains, 54 inches wide and 3½ yards long, beautiful lacy net with handsome square border effect, special per pair, After Supper Sale $4.37

Xmas Handkerchiefs
1000 handkerchiefs, fine Irish lawn, hemstitched border After Supper Sale 2c

Fancy Handkerchiefs
Women's fancy handkerchiefs, fine lawn trimmed with fine val lace and insertion, reg. 15, 18 and 20c
After Supper Sale 12½c

Fancy Handkerchiefs
Women's fancy surcella handkerchiefs, imitation of silk, plain centre and fancy borders, special
After Supper Sale 10c

Linen Handkerchiefs
Women's pure linen handkerchiefs, hemstitched ¼ inch border, regular price 25c
After Supper Sale 20c

Linen Handkerchiefs
Women's fine pure linen handkerchiefs, hemstitched border 1-8 and 1-4 inch hem, 1 doz. in a fancy box, reg. 35c each After Supper Sale 25c

Children's Handkerchiefs
Children's Buster Brown handkerchiefs, pleasing pictures on good quality lawn, regular 5c each
After Supper Sale 3c

Men's Handkerchiefs
Men's handkerchiefs, extra large size and fine quality white lawn and taped border, reg. 8c each
After Supper Sale 5c

RICHARD HALL & SON, LIMITED
353 AND 355 GEORGE STREET, PETERBOROUGH
STORE OPENS AT 8 A.M. CLOSES AT 6 P.M., EXCEPT SATURDAY

FOR FINE
Lemons, Oranges
Malaga Grapes
Bananas
and all kinds of fruit and vegetables try
MINOCOLO BROS.
Wholesale and Retail.
Both Phones 327.

Last Chance
FOR XMAS PHOTOGRAPHS

All sittings made before
SATURDAY DEC. 14
willl be finished for Xmas

THE ROY STUDIO

BROCK ST.
RINK
SEASON 1907-8

Tickets for the season entitling the holder to all skating privileges, now on sale at the Examiner Office, Peterborough Bookstore, Sanderson & Co., F. A. Clarke's, Best Hardware Co., the Secretary, C. G. Graham, at the Oriental Hotel.

Gentlemen . .	3.00
Ladies	2.00
Youths, 16 to 18	2.00
Boys under 16 .	1.50
Girls	1.50

Nothing makes a better Christmas gift for your boy or girl than a Season Ticket for the Brock Street Rink.

CHRISTMAS
is coming soon and you will be face to face with that perplexing question
WHAT SHALL I BUY FOR A PRESENT?

We are ready and willing to solve it for you easily and at a small expenditure of time and money. Here you will find the most beautiful 1907 designs in gold and silver goods. Designs and prices that cannot be found elsewhere.

SCHNEIDER'S
RELIABLE JEWELLERS, 391 GEORGE STREET

THE CITY AND VICINITY

EVENTS TO-NIGHT

National hotel.—Canadian Club meeting.

Y.W.C.A. green room.—Astronomical Society meeting.

S.O.E. Hall.—Chosen Friends elect officers.

St. Andrew's church.—Boys' Guild.

Knox church.—Boys' club.

Park street church.—Mission Band's annual tea and concert.

"Crystal"—Passion Play.

Y.M.C.A.—Weekly meeting of Sunday School Association.

FUR LINED COATS

We clean and press them and guarantee no injury to the fur. My Valet, 204 Charlotte street. All goods called for and delivered. dtf

CHRISTMAS CAKE.

Best of fruit, choicest of flavorings and perfection of baking, makes Elliott's Christmas cake the finest to be had. Leave orders now. Iced as desired. dtf

MAKE CALENDARS.

Why not make calendars? They are pretty cheap and always acceptable. We have pictures in sepia and colors, fancy embossed cards and dainty calendar pads in many designs. See them at the Review office. 3d

DEEP SEA MISSION.

The third annual "at home," in aid of the above, will be held at the Conservatory of Music Hall, on January 1st next, at 9 o'clock. Tickets can be obtained from the secretary, R. H. Marlow, Bank of Commerce. Price, one dollar.

FINE PICTURE FRAMING.

New mouldings, good work, reasonable prices. J. M. GREENE Music Co., George street. dtf

100 HIGH GRADE VIOLINS.

We are overstocked in violins and are offering bargains for the next two weeks to reduce our stock. 404 George street, Peterborough Music Co. 3d

TAKE NOTE

Of our fine line of Violins, Mandolins, Guitars, etc. Some excellent values, and within easy range for the Xmas trade. Special prices to Old Santa Claus. J. M. GREENE Music Co., Grand opera house building, George street. dtf

SALE AND SOCIAL

St. John's Y.W.A. will hold a social and sale of dolls' clothes, lemonade, cakes, candies, &c., in the school room on Saturday from 3.30 to 6.00 p.m. Silver collection. 2d

HIGH QUALITY

Is the chief characteristic of John's Tea. Under no circumstances will this be altered. There is no such tea value in the whole world, and we will willingly return the purchase price to anyone finding cause for complaint. T. JOHN, Opera House Block, Peterborough. dtf

MARK ST. METHODIST CHURCH.

St. John's Sunday School children are practising for their annual Christmas tree and entertainment, consisting of recitations, drills, and singing. The programme will be given in the town hall, East City, on Christmas night.

WILL HOLD DANCE.

The "Boys of Bethany" are giving an "at home" in the town hall there on December 8th.

MEETS TO-NIGHT.

The regular weekly meeting of the Sunday School Association will be held this evening at the Y.M.C.A. Principal Dunlop of the King Edward school, will take the topic which is "The Boy Samuel." A large attendance is requested.

CONFIRMATION CLASS.

The last Confirmation class at St. Luke's, previous to Confirmation, on Sunday, will meet this evening. The ladies will meet at 8 o'clock, and the men and boys at 9 o'clock. The rector, Rev. Dr. Langfeldt, requests a full attendance.

A WONDRFUL FAMILY

The greatest instrumental combination in the world, viz., the wonderful "Eckhart Family," will give their famous variety entertainment in the Conservatory Music Hall next Tuesday, 17th, at 8 p.m. Crowded houses are greeting these great artists everywhere and a great treat is in store for those who take in next Tuesday's show. Admission 50c and 25c

PERSONAL

Mrs. W. H. Meldrum, 52 McDonnel street, will not receive again until the third and fourth Fridays of January.

Mr. George Brand, 22 Cedar street, received a telegram yesterday from Goderich, that his son, Malcolm Brand formerly of this city, had been attacked with smallpox.

OBITUARY

CECILIA ANDREWS.

The death occurred early this morning at the residence of Mr. Robt. Wright, 11 Albert street, of Mrs. Cecilia Andrews, after a lengthy illness. The deceased was 24 years of age and was born in Bobcaygeon. She had only been in the city a few months, having come here from North Dakota.

The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at 2.30 o'clock, from No. 11 Albert street, to the Little Lake cemetery.

TO PROVIDE WORK FOR UNEMPLOYED

City Council Will Have 100 Cords Stone Broken by Hand

The city council is taking steps to provide work for the unemployed in the city. There is little doubt but that the city will have to support a number of unemployed men and their families during the winter, and it is felt that they might as well be given work. At the meeting of the Board of Works last night it was decided to purchase 100 cords of stone, and have it broken by hand. This will provide employment for a good number of those in need of work and save suffering. The stone will be purchased as soon as possible.

Hon. A. B. Aylesworth has returned to his place in the House of Commons.

SANTA CLAUS
ON HIS WAY TO ROUTLEY'S
STORE OPEN EVERY EVENING

Goods are Pouring in--Our customers are Now Buying for Xmas

300 Dressed Dolls, reg. 25c, choice	.14
375 China Tea Sets, regular 50c	.25
25 Crokinole Boards, regular 1.25	.59
66 Leather Case Silk Lined Ebony Manicure Case, regular 2.50 for	1.50
20 only Military Brush Sets, Stirling Silver Mounted, regular 1.25 pair for	.74
1 cases Children's Plated Knife, Fork and Spoon, with pearl handles, reg. 2.00	1.24

You will find that our clerks are attentive and that prices are reliable. We watch closely our buying as we know goods well bought are half sold already

TORONTO
262-4 QUEEN W
ROUTLEY'S
PETERBORO'
379 GEORGE ST

THE FEATHER BED.

It Is a Poor Thing to Use Either in Summer or Winter.

"Few people, even physicians themselves, seem to know the principal reason why medical science condemns the use of feather beds in winter as well as in summer," said a New York physician recently.

"It is because feather beds are highly hygroscopic—a rather formidable word, but one meaning simply that feathers readily absorb and condense moisture. The body is constantly throwing off waste matter through the skin and the lungs. The feathers in the bed will absorb this waste matter as readily as it will simple atmospheric moisture. The feathers retain the waste matter during the day, when the bed is cold, even when it is aired, unless also warmed by sunshine during the time it is exposed to the air.

"At night, when the body of the sleeper warms the bed, the feathers renew their hygroscopic action and throw off the waste matter absorbed the night before. The susceptible body of the sleeper is soon surrounded by a dense and highly poisonous atmosphere, the accumulative effect of which cannot help but be very injurious.

"The skin, like the lungs, is continually breathing and is very sensitive to external influences; hence arises the need for air baths as well as for water baths. The entire body should be exposed to fresh air every day for as long a time as you can make possible, and all beds should be thoroughly ventilated."

COTTON IN INDIA.

The Way It Was Discovered by a Man Who Was an Observer.

A remarkable story is told about the discovery of the cotton plant in India some years ago. Two gentlemen were driving out to dinner near Bombay, one the host and the other his guest. On both sides of the road were hedges.

It was getting dark, but the guest noticed some white stuff on the top of the hedges all the way along and at length told his friend that he thought it looked like cotton. His friend ordered the native driver to stop, and the two Englishmen got down and examined. The guest was right. It was cotton of an extraordinary strong staple.

Both men were cotton experts, and yet the host, who had driven along the same road for years, had passed the cotton without recognizing it. The guest immediately proceeded to buy up these hedges, for except them there were none that he had seen during a twelve years' residence in India.

During his investigations he discovered that natives often had one or two cotton trees in their gardens, and the English club compounds possessed three or four in different parts of India, but nowhere except in this Bombay district did he see cotton growing in such luxuriant abundance.

He bought up every tree and plant he could, for not a single native European imagined that it was a cotton tree that he possessed in his garden.—Cotton Age.

Lighted Streets in Europe.

The best lighted street in Europe, declares a weekly paper, is Unter den Linden, in Berlin. Perhaps it is, but we would not be sure. In the torrent seamed hills of the Jura, where water power is as cheap as anywhere in the world, there are little French villages in which every tiny cottage has its electric light installation, and the central street, that one could almost jump across, is flooded by the beams of arc lamps that would do credit to the Strand. However, the Berlin boulevard, otherwise a disappointing thoroughfare, is certainly well illuminated. Plate glass, Pilsener and policemen are the three most striking features of that capital, but the lighting of the streets is a good fourth.—London News.

Moments That Counted.

Bacon's fame is mainly due to books written in his spare hours while he was England's chancellor. Humboldt's days were so occupied with his business that he had to pursue his scientific labors in the night or early morning. Burns wrote his most beautiful poems in his spare moments while working on a farm. Grote wrote his "History of Greece" during the odds and ends of time snatched from his duty as a banker. "Moments are the golden sands of time" if rightly used.

Grass Eggs.

When a hen is made sick eating too freely of grass she lays what are known as "grass eggs." Grass eggs are poor stuff. They have an unpleasant flavor, and the yolk wabbles around in a weak and watery white and is green and dull in color. The term is one applied by candlers, who discover while testing that there is a pale greenish hue to the eggs and that they are not at all of the bright, fresh color that we find in healthy eggs.

What He Wanted.

A very baldheaded man went into the barber shop in the American House in our town and, plumping himself down in the chair, said:

"Hair cut."

Ed, the barber, looked at him a moment and replied:

"Why, man, you don't need no hair cut. What you want is a shine."—Life.

A New One.

Mrs. Wigwag—How is your husband, Aunt Mandy? Aunt Mandy—Porely, ma'am. He was gittin' along all right, but now de doctah done say he got de convalescence.

An orthodox Jewish hospital is to be established in Chicago at a cost of $125,000.

THE
BEEHIVE
The Ladies' Big
Ready-to-wear Store

CHRISTMAS BOXES
—FOR—
Grown Ups, Youth, Childhood and the dear little Hope of the family

- Christmas Waists
- Christmas Skirts
- Christmas Neckwear
- Christmas Belts
- Christmas Table Linen
- Christmas Cashmere and Silk Hosiery
- Silk Socks for him
- Christmas Robes for baby
- Christmas Dresses for the girls
- Christmas Whitewear
- Christmas Fancy Goods
- Knitted Slippers
- Christmas Handkerchiefs
- Initialed Handkerchiefs
- Christmas Furs
- Christmas Headwear
- Christmas Scarfs
- Christmas Fascinators
- Christmas Gloves
- Perrin's Kid Gloves

And a thousand things not mentioned at

THE
BEEHIVE
The Ladies' Big
Ready-to Wear Store

"It's Confidence That Does It"
WHITE & GILLESPIE

TO HOUSEKEEPERS:
Another Christmas will soon be here We can assure Housekeepers of both city and country that we are now ready to provide them with an abundance of the good things necessary for Christmas baking and cooking at enticing prices.

NEW FRUITS
Raisins, Currants, Figs, Prunes, Dates, Candied Peel, Extracts, Syrups, Molasses, Shelled Walnuts and Almonds, Sauces, Pickles, Spices, Sugars, Teas, Coffees, Flour, Biscuits, Cheese, Prime Butter, Fresh Eggs, Breakfast Cereals, etc.

336 GEORGE ST. Phone 208

"DON'T BURN THEM"
We will buy all kinds of Second-hand boots and shoes
JAY'S SECOND-HAND STORE
390 Aylmer Street

SAVE YOUR FURS
AND
FUR-LINED COATS
by having them cleaned by the
FRENCH DRY CLEANING
process, which kills all moths and does not injure in the slightest, the finest furs. This is very important at this season, and may mean the saving of the expense of buying new furs. None too fine for the process.

Dyeing, Cleaning, Pressing, and Reparing promptly and thoroughly done at
PARKER'S DYE WORKS

R. M. BEACH
PROPRIETOR.
Phone 250 177 Charlotte St

LADIES, CUT THIS OUT
Dr. Cristion's
FRENCH TOILET ARTICLES
Have been placed on sale with
Miss E. Smith
367 GEORGE STREET
MANICURING, SHAMPOOING
SCALP TREATMENT and FACIAL
MASSAGE SKILFULLY DONE
Appointments made. Mach. Phone 13

Second Hand Stove Bargains
—AT—
BARRETT'S
Why pay $30 for a Heater or $40 for a Range when you can buy either for $5 to $15 at Barrett's Second Hand Store. 187 Simcoe St. next Cavanagh's

ESTABLISHED 1879
J. R. HEINTZ & CO.
STOCKS, GRAIN,
COTTON, COFFEE
J. N. BARBER, Manager
Phone [illegible]

THE
DOMINION BANK
PAYS SPECIAL ATTENTION TO
SAVINGS ACCOUNTS
INTEREST PAID QUARTERLY
JOHN CRANE Manager
Corner George and Simcoe Sts.

SODEN'S BOOKSTORE 369 GEORGE-ST.

THE BEST CHRISTMAS STORE

Christmas is almost here. Have you bought your Christmas Presents? If not begin at once by going to Soden's. The Stock at this Store is the newest and best selected in its line in Peterborough, comprising

Books, Stationery, Pictures, Fancy Goods Leather Goods, China, Toys and Games

BOOKS

All the latest and best fiction, beautifully bound, cloth bound and padded poets, children's picture and story books. All the newest and most up-to-date gift books, ranging in prices from 10c to $3.00 each.

STATIONERY

All the best makes and designs from leading American and Canadian manufacturers—See our special Papeteries, Calendars, Christmas Cards.

PICTURES

Don't fail to inspect this stock. We are the largest importers of High Class Pictures between Toronto and Montreal. We frame on the ground and on short notice Our prices in this, as in all other lines, are RIGHT.

LEATHER GOODS

Fancy goods and China—We import direct from the factories. Our designs are the newest, our qualities the best to be had in the world's markets.

OUR PRICES are as low as you can buy inferior Goods for elsewhere, and quality considered are LOWER than any others in Peterborough. Come, see for yourself, and be satisfied.

SPECIAL PRICES ON BOOKS FOR SUNDAY SCHOOLS

SODEN'S BOOKSTORE 369 GEORGE-ST.

THE BANK'S SKATE STORE

Stock The
LUNN'S
AUTOMOBILE
CYCLE
ENGEL'S
STARR
REGAL
MIC MAC
SKATES

Come to us for your Skates and Skate Supplies

Banks Bicycle and Sporting Goods Co.

Under the Market Clock

To Receive Estimates for Alleys

Y. M. C. A. Board of Directors Meet—New Year's Day Reception

The Board of Directors of the Y.M.C.A. met last night, and received an estimate for altering the rooms downstairs to make space for the bowling alleys. Estimates will be presented at the next board meeting for the cost of the alleys, and if satisfactory, the work will be pushed rapidly forward. The association year closes December 31, and the directors find that a great many of the pledges made in the recent campaign are yet unpaid. It will greatly assist them in closing the books for this year if these are paid in soon. The committee appointed to look after the refreshments on New Year's Day for the reception meet tonight. The committee is composed of Messrs. P. Ridgrave, A. E. Walker, J. H. Connal, H. Cressman and Ray F. Best.

Brockville is drafting an independent municipal ticket.

Benefit Concert for David Hartley

Will be Held in Market Hall in January

The committee in charge of the David Hartley benefit concert met last evening, and decided to hold the entertainment in the Market Hall, some date between the 13th and 18th of January. It was thought advisable to not have it before Christmas, owing to the fact that at this season of the year everyone is busy and would not be able to give the support they otherwise would to the enterprise. The general charge of admission will be twenty-five cents, with a few seats at 50 cents. Mr. R. Gliddon will have full charge of the music.

Doing Good Work for City's Poor

Why is House of Providence Ignored by Grand Juries

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—Is it plain sarcasm or common ignorance that prompts every Grand Jury, when making its report to the judge, to suggest the advisability of erecting a house for the care of the city's poor?

Let any of the members of these juries take the trouble to go over to the fifth ward and he will find a splendidly erected modern house, with beautiful grounds, known as the House of Providence, containing more than seventy persons of the city's and county's poor and needy.

Possibly it is because the city as a corporation does not contribute anything towards the maintenance of this charity that it is so continually and consistently ignored by the juries; or again, it may be overlooked because its charitable deeds are done quietly and are not published in the daily press. It seems to me that published "charity," of which we have such an overdose in this city, smacks of cunning pride and of a desire for cheap popularity.

Yours,

CITIZEN.

You have heard the Sailor Boys' plea, buy to-day for your dinner to-morrow "Sailor Boy" Canned Goods, Tomatoes Corn, Peas and Salmon. Your money does not buy better Goods. Do you get "Sailor Boy" or substitute?

SPORTING NEWS

Big Basketball League Certain

Kingston, Port Hope and Peterborough Will Likely be Grouped

Toronto, Dec. 11—Well, the big basketball league "looks good," said Mr. Norton H. Crowe, secretary of the C.A.A.U., last evening. Secretary Wilkins has received word from Peterborough to the effect that they are ready to line up, and this makes a third section, with Kingston, Peterborough and perhaps Port Hope grouped together. There is no doubt but that the league will be started about the second week in January, as the Montreal and Ottawa clubs have practically completed arrangements for the Eastern group, while London, Stratford, Brantford, Hamilton, and the two city teams, West End and Central, are all ready to draw up the Western group schedule.

Secretary Bruce Wilkins of the Canadian Amateur Athletic League, the Y.M.C.A. controlling body, has charge of the arrangements, and the three group schedules will be drawn up immediately. It is altogether likely that the winners of the Western and Midland groups will meet in the semi-finals, and the winners meet the survivors of the Eastern group for the inter-provincial championship.

Kingston raised a big noise at being left out of the early arrangements, but are satisfied with the new grouping.

HOCKEY

D. Bruce Ridpath, the hockeyist and canoeist, who has been in Europe for the past three months, returned home yesterday. He played in the stationary circuses at Berlin, and Hamburg, and his engagement lasted from September 16 to Nov. 23. He never missed a performance, playing once a day. He was billed as "D. Bruce Ridpath, of Chicago, the aquatic wonder." The Germans thought Chicago was better known than Toronto, and billed the young Canadian as coming from that place.

Ridpath will likely stay in Toronto this winter and play hockey with the professional team. He has an offer from Manager Sixsmith of the P. A. C. hockey team of Pittsburg.

Next season, after a tour of the States in summer months, Ridpath has engagements at the New York Hippodrome, and the four old country Hippodromes at London, Manchester, Liverpool and Glasgow. He sold his canoes in Berlin, but has new ones which were built at Peterborough and Toronto.—Toronto News.

A GOOD SPORTSMAN.

Chris Graham, one of the most reliable sportsmen in the Province, has been appointed president of the Peterborough hockey team. Chris is an old player himself and should round his team into winning form.—Stratford Herald.

Stratford Beacon: Peterborough is back in the O.H.A. with an intermediate team. We can see breakers ahead with Lindsay, Peterborough and Port Hope in the same group.

HOW'S THIS

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligations made by his firm.

WALDING, KINNAN & MARVIN,
Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Testimonials sent free. Price 75 cents per bottle. Sold by all druggists.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

INITIALLED WRITING PAPER

One of the most acceptable of gifts that you can send is a dainty box of note paper and envelopes with one or more initials printed in gold on the top of the first sheet of paper or on the back of the envelopes. Good writing paper is always appreciated and you can make no mistake in including it in your list. Leave your order early at the REVIEW Office and you will be well satisfied. 3d

The Republican National Convention of 1908 will be held in Chicago, June 16th.

FORTY MEN LEAVE THE LUMBER CAMPS

In Anstruther Township—A Large Number Were in the City Last Night

During the past few days forty men have left the lumber camps of the Cavendish Lumber Company in Anstruther township. About twenty shantymen were in the city last evening on their way to their homes in Tweed. One of them said that a similar number would follow in a day or so. It appears that the reason for their quitting is that their wages have been considerably decreased, and they have refused to chop wood any longer. The large number of unemployed men in the city no doubt would be pleased to have work at almost any wages.

BE LOYAL TO PETERBOROUGH

Peterborough People Should do Their Christmas Shopping at Home

Peterborough people should, and with the possible exception of a few, do stand loyal to the Peterborough stores. People who travel tell us time and again that the Peterborough stores are very attractive and certainly present as broad assortments and as good if not better values than any other city in the country. Very few cities, if any, in America, the size of Peterborough, have stores carrying such large, complete and comprehensive stocks of merchandise. Local people will do well to realize the goodness and high excellence of Peterborough stores, and buy everything at home. The Christmas stocks are now at their best, and the wide and vast selection possible at Peterborough stores will provide satisfaction for every person no matter what they want.

Be loyal to Peterborough. Make all your Christmas purchases at home.

A GOOD SERVANT.

The Review Want Ad. column solves the problem of how to recover lost articles, get a tenant for a house, secure a servant or help of any kind, obtain roomers or boarders, sell surplus articles around the home, or find something you want to buy. Try it, the cost is low.

Captain Bernier Will Lecture Here

Rev. Dr. Marsh, of Springville, has received word from Captain Bernier of Ottawa, the noted explorer, saying that he will come to Peterborough, and give a lecture on his recent expedition to the polar seas, just as soon as he can get free from his engagement at the Capital.

FIRE ALARM BOXES

The following are the numbers and locations of the city of Peterborough Fire Alarm Boxes.

WARD No. ONE

BOX LOCATION
12—Lock and McGill
14—Westcott and Aylmer
15—Perry and George
16—Perry and Bethune
17—Park and Townsend
18—George, at C. P. R.

WARD No. TWO

21—George and King
22—Simcoe and Queen
23—George and Hunter
24—Hunter and Quaker
27—Water and McDonel

WARD No. THREE

31—Park and Sherbrooke
33—Charlotte and Stewart
35—Park and Hunter
38—McDonel and Reid

WARD No. FOUR

41—Park and London
42—George and Dublin
43—Edinburgh and Stewart
45—George and Smith
48—Water and Hilliard

WARD No. FIVE

52—Burnham and James
53—Rogers and Sophia
54—Hunter and Mark
57—Concession and Hazlitt
59—Auburn

DIRECTIONS FOR SENDING IN ALARMS

A Key for the Alarm Box will be found hanging in a small box, with glass front, adjoining the Alarm Box. Break the glass, remove the Key, and open the Box; pull the lever down, when the Alarm is at once transmitted to the Fire Hall, Pumping Station and residences of the Firemen. Do not attempt to remove the Key from Box, as this can only be done by the use of a small Relieving Key.

HOW ALARMS ARE SOUNDED

The number of the Ward from which the Alarm is sent in is always sounded on the bell, which also constitutes the first number of the Box nearest to the fire, and when an Alarm is sounded, the Ward number is given first, then a pause, and then the remaining numbers of the Box.

FOR XMAS WORK OR BAZAARS

Pictures in Sepia or Colors, from 5c to 12c

Mounting Papers and Card, in White, Browns and Gray.

Leather in all shades—Brown, Tan, Green and Red.

Calendar Pads, all sizes, from 5c to 10c each.

Passepartout in all shades.

AT REVIEW STATIONERY DEPT.

THE SENDING OF GIFTS

Little Touches That Will Add to the Pleasure of Recipient.

A good deal of the pleasures of Christmas lies in the opening of the mysterious packages that find their way to your door. If these are daintily wrapped, the present is perhaps the more appreciated. The proper way to send a pretty gift is to secure some white wrapping paper, enclose your card, one of those Christmas greetings and a spray of holly embossed on it; seal the first wrapper with one of the holly seals — there are four patterns — and then wrap in a stronger paper. On this use one of the gummed Christmas labels, or a shipping tag with an embossed holly design on it. If one is sending a number of parcels to one address for different members of a family, there are miniature shipping tags, prettily decorated with holly, only costing 5 cents a dozen, which will be nice to use. There are more elaborate tags, ground in shape with a wreath of holly, and enough bright red ribbon attached to tie a bow on the parcel.

The use of all these gives a distinctive touch to the gift, and will be sure to repay the extra trouble taken. The holly seals, labels, cards, and tags are all on sale at the Review office. Call and get a variety of them before you send out your gifts.—dtf.

Invitation Cards for AT Homes, Receptions and Evening Parties, partly printed for 1c each. Envelopes to match 10c package. On sale at the Review Office

Special Inducements TO BUY HEATERS

You gain nothing by delay. See our
Standard Oak
Quebec Ideal
Art Laurel

They are great fuel savers. Easily operated and splendid heat distributors.

F.R.J. MACPHERSON & CO.

341 George St. Phone 116

F.R.J. MACPHERSON ANGUS MACPHERSON

LEARN DRESS-MAKING BY MAIL
in your spare time at home, or
Take a Personal Course at School.

To enable all to learn we teach on cash or instalment plan. We also teach a personal class at school once a month. Class commencing last Tuesday of each month. These lessons teaches how to cut, fit and put together any garment from the plainest shirt waist suit, to the most elaborate dress. The whole family can learn from one course. We have taught over seven thousand dress-making, and guarantee to give five hundred dollars to any one that cannot learn between the age of 14 and 40. You cannot learn dress-making as thorough as this course teaches if you work in shops for years. Beware of imitations as we employ no one outside the school. This is the only experienced Dress Cutting School in Canada and excelled by none in any other country. Write at once for particulars, as we have cut our rate one-third for a short time. Address :—

SANDERS' DRESS-CUTTING SCHOOL,
31 Erie St., Stratford, Ont., Canada.

The Daily Review

FRIDAY, DEC. 13, 1907

PEN POINTS

At the next session of the legislature a measure will be introduced making it harder for bribers and corruptionists to pursue their nefarious schemes. Premier Whitney must have an awful grudge against the Grits. Not content with putting them out of power ,he means to do his best to keep them out.

The monthly financial statement issued on Saturday shows receipts for the eight months ending November to be $66,602,427, as against $57,153,552 for the same period last year. For November the receipts were $8,404,647 as compared with $7,639,650 in November, 1906. The expenditure was Eight months, 1907, $41,544,456; eight months 1906, $33,086,766. During November the debt was increased by $2,590,141.

In the year 1893 the Liberal party of Canada assembled in convention at Ottawa, and made a strong and important declaration on the question of taxation and expenditure. The party leaders said;

"We cannot but view with alarm the large increase in the public debt and of the controllable annual expenditure of the Dominion, and the consequent undue taxation of the people under the Governments that have been continuously in power since 1878, and we demand the strictest economy in the administration of the government and of the country."

In the light of this deliverance, what is to be said of the party's history since they came into power in 1896? In 1896 the expenditure was $33,277,642.

HAPPENINGS AT HAVELOCK

Some Late News From the Hustling Railway Town

Special to the Review.

Havelock, Dec. 12.—Mrs. Ed. Chapman returned home on Wednesday after a week's visit with friends in Toronto.

The Misses Scott entertained a few of their friends to a card party on Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Gibent were in Norwood last week.

Messrs. A. Weldno, F. Macleary and C. Pearce, of Norwood, took in the Guy Bros. minstrel show in the opera house here on Wednesday evening.

A number from Marmora took in the minstrel show on Wednesday evening.

Miss Louise Smith, of Norwood, visited Miss Lancaster on Wednesday of this week.

Miss Lena Trevelan, of the Public school staff, received word last Friday of the death of her father, who resides at Lucknow. Miss Trevelan left for her home on Saturday.

Miss Jennie Barlow has been engaged by the School Board to teach in the absence of Miss Trevelan, who was called home last week.

The trainmen intend holding an "at home" in the town hall on New Year's eve. The committee in charge are busy making all necessary arrangements to make this the best ever held under the auspices of the B. of R.T.

The young people of St. John's church intend putting on a drama at the opera house sometime in January.

NEARLY $2,000,000 IN LOCOMOTIVES

The Grand Trunk Places Orders for 100 Engines.

The Grand Trunk management has just placed orders for one hundred new locomotives, which represent an expenditure of nearly $2,000,000.

These locomotives will be built during the winter, spring and summer—the last delivered by August next—in time to take their place in this road's equipment for the movement of next season's crop. The fact that no less than seventy out of the one hundred engines are to be built in Canada is likely to give satisfaction to all who are interested in the development of local industries.

PETERBOROUGH RAG AND METAL COMPANY

Prepared to pay the highest market price an will give a square deal for Scrap Iron, Rags, Rubbers, Wool Pickings, etc. Don't sell before you see them. Call up Phone 694

YARD AND OFFICE:
COR. SIMCOE and BETHUNE, West

D. FLORENCE & SON

ARE REMOVING FROM LONDON

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Mowat to Change Place of Residence Shortly

Mr. T. J. Mowat who was formerly connected with Neill's shoe store in this city and is now in charge of the London branch of Mr. Neill's business, will shortly be transferred from that city to one of the other branches, just where has not yet been decided.

At the annual meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of St. John's church London, on Thursday, Mrs. Mowat was presented with a little token of rememberance from her fellow workers on account of her contemplated removal from the city.

Great Profit in Sheep Raising

But Farmers are Afraid to Raise Them Owing to Dogs

At the meeting of the Farmers' Institute at Lakefield the other day it was found that on the whole very few farmers were engaged in raising sheep. The cause was found to be in most cases that of dogs worrying the animals, a nuisance that had become so bad that many were driven out of this branch of stock raising.

The guilt was largely laid at the door of the hounds that are kept in the towns for hunting purposes, and which were said to come out at night in droves, causing immense loss and damage. One man said he thought the hounds were fed nothing from the close of one hunting season to the beginning of the next, and they were obliged to hunt for a living. The generally expressed idea was along the line of the uselessness of dogs to the genuine sport in deer stalking, and the determination to make short work work of all dogs caught red-handed worrying sheep.

A resolution to the Government looking for some protection for sheep raisers, that would make it possible to again engage in sheep raising in this country, was talked of, but no definite action was taken.

GIVES THIS VERY SIMPLE TEST

To Find Out if the Kidneys are Affected and How to Cure Them

A well-known authority states that there are more cases of kidney trouble here now than ever before, while recent reports show that more people succumb each year to some form of kidney disease than any other cause.

When there is sickness examine the urine. Rheumatism is only a symptom of kidney trouble. It is nothing more or less than excessive uric acid in the blood, which the sluggish inactive kidneys have failed to sift out, leaving it to decompose and settle about the joints and muscles, causing intense suffering; frequently resulting in deformity; often reaching the heart when death ensues.

Pains across the back, frequent, painful and suppressed urination and other symptoms of weak bladder are not the only signs of kidney trouble; many cases of stomach disease, headache, pain in the heart, inactive liver, etc., are but symptoms; the cause of which can be traced to feeble, clogged kidneys.

The physicians for the insurance companies always carefully examine and report on the condition of the urine. It is a certain sign of sickness or health of the human body.

A test of the urine should be made by every man and woman at least once each year. A simple test is to void a small quantity of urine in a bottle or glass and let it stand over night; next morning, if there is a reddish brick-dust sediment, or white, fleecy substance present, either consult some reputable physician or take a good vegetable treatment. The following prescription is recommended highly in these cases, and if desirable the sufferer can mix it at home. Any good prescription pharmacy has the ingredients, which are harmless and inexpensive; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Shake well and use in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime. Where any of the symptoms enumerated above are present, good results are sure to follow immediately the use of this simple prescription.

High Praise for Peterboro' Lady

Mrs. E. D. Story Gave Enjoyable Recital in the Capital

The Ottawa Citizen of a recent date contains the following report of a recital given by Mrs. E. D. Story, of that city, who is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Tivey, Peterborough;—

St. George's parish hall was filled last evening, when Mrs. E. D. Story gave a most enjoyable recital. Every number was an artistic treat and the audience gave the talented singer a most flattering reception.

Mrs Story is the possessor of a rich contralto voice, magnificent in quality and of great range. She can sing contralto or soprano with equal ease, due doubtless in a large measure to her robust constitution. Her voice is highly cultivated and her various interpretations last evening were most artistic. Mrs. Story studied abroad for two years, but last year, on her return was prevented through illness from giving a recital. She, however, gave a recital three weeks ago which proved so enjoyable that a number of musical people asked her to repeat it. This she consented to do and the recital last evening was an even greater success than was the first. The hall was packed, and the programme was a most pleasing one. Mrs. Story was presented with several beautiful bouquets during the evening. The Indian Love Songs, the Three Wishes, by Pinsuti, the Ave Maria from Cavalliera Rusticana, with violin obligato, and the Swiss Song, by De Koven, were the most pleasing numbers, and to these she had to respond with hearty encores .All the numbers, however, were exceedingly well received. Mrs. Story was assisted by Mr. Donald Heins, violinist, who was also well received, and had to respond to encores. Mr. Arthur Dory played the accompaniments most acceptably.

Peterboro' Wants No Carnegie Grant

Good Public Library Needed But Should Not Come From Yankee Sources

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—A writer who signs himself "Citizen" in the Examiner, advocates a "Carnegie Library." Now, I am not a Laborite, nor am I a Yankee, nor am I a Scotchman, but a good true Canadian. I do not agree with Citizen about building a library of the Yankee type he suggests. His ideas are large as well. A library properly conducted, could be built for $30,000, and allow $2,500 to $3,000 for maintenance, which would be provision enough to maintain a public library. I don't mean a private hole-in-the-corner concern, where you can go, and if you have the necessary fee to become a member and tip the librarian, you can get just what book you want, that is if your ideas are narrow and you never have had anything to do with a three or four hundred thousand volume library), supported by the public tax of one-half mill, where the change of books are absolutely free, except for the card, which is your own property.

Now, Mr. Editor, I consider it would be a grievous insult to the memory of our late citizen, Mrs. Nicholls if the "Citizen" idea were carried out. Does Peterborough intend to allow the large grants to be made by a local, benevolent fellow citizen for the maintenance of a library, then go across to Yankeedom and ask Mr. Carnegie to give us $50,000 to put up a building and then call it by his name. I am thinking he would laugh at us. The law allows a council to build and maintain a library ,but it must be a "Public" Library, and I don't see why the Council to not do it. I agree with "Citizen" that it is a very useful institution, and I will go further, I will say it is an actual necessity in a city of the size and standing of Peterborough, saying nothing of what it will be, and I do not think the residents of this city have the least cause to be proud of their native place. In fact, it is a disgrace to think that our thriving suburb to the west of us (Lindsay), has a beautiful library, and we have not. Yes, I said a year ago, and I say now, let everybody agitate until we have a library which will be a credit to the most progressive village in the country.

Before I lay down my pen I should like to ask the candidates for municipal honors what they think of the manner in which they have treated the memory of one who has donated her hundreds of thousands of dollars for the public and charitable institutions of our city. Why not have a ten cent (i.e. if you cannot get a better one) subscription list opened in the papers or by the Mayor "Remember the Mansion House)" to erect a suitable memorial to Mrs. Nicholls in Central Park. What is the use of calling the hospital, Oval and Library by her name? Nobody ever sees these names ,but in Central Park, where thousands go every day almost, a memorial would be seen, and the strangers coming to the city would see that we appreciate such a large, benevolent spirit as was shown by the late Mrs. Nicholls, both while living and after she had gone to her well deserved rest. I only hope that ere long the city of Peterborough will arise and do her duty.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, I am only

"AN OBSERVER."

Peterborough, Dec. 12, 1907.

Twelve Candidates Were Initiated

Dan Spence Council, Royal Templars of Temperance, held a meeting last night at the Y.M.C.A. at which there was a large attendance. 12 candidates were initiated. Mr. Allan, the organizer from Toronto, who has been here for several days in the interest of the order returned to Toronto to-day.

Was Formerly in Business Here

Death of Mr. Hugh McPhail in Buffalo—Well Known Druggist

A Buffalo despatch says;—The funeral of Hugh McPhail, formerly of Toronto, was held from his home in this city yesterday morning. Death was due to old age, Mr. McPhail being in his 82nd year. He had been in poor health for the past seven years, partly as a result of a bicycle accident. Mr. McPhail was born in Scotland, and at the age of nineteen years came to Canada and with his brother William entered business in Peterborough. A few years later he went to Toronto where he completed his education, entering Knox College and the Ontario College of Pharmacy. For several years afterwards he conducted pharmacies in Hamilton, Paris and elsewhere, finally retiring thirty years ago.

Stratford building permits for the year total $652,938.

Emma Jackson, keeper of a disorderly house at Hamilton, was fined $100.

Jolly Smoker at Club Rooms

Splendid Programme Rendered —A Large Attendance

The smoker in the Young Conservative Club rooms last night was well attended and a fine programme was presented.

President Wm. Buller presided and Messrs. W. A. Greenslade, J. W. Chambers and Frank Pratt rendered excellent songs, being enthusiastically encored. Mr. George Lynch gave one of his splendid recitations in inimitable style. Mr. Herbert Nicoll contributed a well executed piano solo. Mr. J. E. Nicholson ably presided at the piano. Mr. J. H. Burnham, of Toronto, former president of the club, gave two capital readings, Dickens' "A Christmas Carol," and E. Thompson-Seaton's "Lives of the Hunted." Mr. Burnham's admirable contributions to the programme added materially to the pleasure of the evening.

At the close a hearty vote of thanks was tendered those who participated in the attractive entertainment, being moved by Mr. T. E. Bradburn, M. P.P., and seconded by Mr. J. W. Garvin.

Short addresses were also made by Ald. Phelan, W. S. Dodds, R. E. Layfield, J. G. M. Wilson, W. Harold Cluxton, Thomas Wilson, H. LeBrun, J. H. Burnham and others.

On Thursday night of next week there will be a progressive euchre contest. This will be the last entertainment until after the Christmas holidays.

Court Chemong Elects Officers

Lively Contests Held Last Night —Good Attendance

At the regular meeting of Court Chemong, No. 630, I.O.F., held last evening there was a large attendance. Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows, there being a lively contest for nearly every office. The following were elected.;

W. G. McKee.—C.R.
F. C. Rooke.—V.C.R.
Wm. Miles.—P.C.R.
A. Allison.—S.P.C.R.
J. W. Buyers.—Rec. Sec.
G. W. Powell.—Fin. Sec.
Wm. Madill.—Treasurer.
T. J. Hutchins.—Orator.
Companion, Mrs. McGannan.—Org.
Geo. H. Robertson.—S.J.C.
Geo. Metcalfe.—S.W.
W. R. Gross.—J.W.
Jno. Jinks.—S.B.
Jas. Mougraw, jr.—J.B.
D. Wallace.—C. Deputy.
Dr. N. C. McKinnon.—Court Phy.
Dr. T. N. Greer, Examiner.
Dr. D. N. Carmichael.—Examiner.
D. Wallace.—Trustee.
G. Robertson.—Trustee.
N. A. H. Moore and Thos. Dale.—Finance Committee.

The officers will be installed at the semi-monthly meeting of Thursday, Jan. 9th, to which all the members are specially invited to be present.

Asks Government to Find His Child

J. B. Marion of Lindsay Can't Get no Trace of Kidnapped Child

A Toronto despatch says;—Among Attorney-General Foy's callers this morning was Mr. J. B. Marion, of Lindsay, whose adopted daughter, Dorothy, disappeared from school at Lindsay, on Nov. 21st.

According to Marion, the kidnapper was Mrs. Marios, of Montreal, the child's mother, and Marion's object in calling on Mr. Foy today was to have the department take up the search for Mrs. Marios and the 8 year old girl.

"I am a poor man," Marion said to The Star, "and already I have spent $850. We lost trace of the woman at Montreal Junction. From there she could go to Montreal by a street car, evading the police at the Windsor street station, or, else, to the States.

"Mrs. Marios gave us the child three years ago, and we adopted the child legally. My wife is almost prostrate. Both of us became attached to the child, and, not having children of our own we lavished parental care and affection on the little one. She was a wild tot when she came to us, but when taken from us she had become as sweet a child as you could wish to see.

"Dorothy was received into our church," went on Marion, "and we loved her as our own. So devoted was my wife that she insisted on making the little girl's clothes."

City Council on Home Stretch

Monday Night's Meeting Will be Last of the Year

Monday night's meeting of the city council will likely be the last of the year. At least the Mayor and aldermen are working in that direction and unless something unforseen turns up there should be no necessity for further meetings. The finance committee will meet to-night to finish up for the year, and the Legal committee, Fire, Water and Light, and Board of Works will meet during the week to clear up the slate. The Legal committee has a few matters to deal with in connection with the legislation required by the city and the Fire, Water and Light have one or two minor matters to dispose of. The Board of Works also has one or two small questions to settle.

The Council will first meet in committee of the whole on Monday night and take up two important questions, that of the public library and fixed assessment for several local industries that have made application for it. The latter question must be dealt with at once as special legislation will be necessary to confirm it if it is granted and application for such legislation must be made before the close of the year.

Reception Will be Tendered Men

The members of the Mark Street church Ladies' Aid Society are requested to meet at the home of the president, Miss Smiley, Hunter St., to-morrow afternoon at three o'clock, for the purpose of co-operating with the committee appointed to arrange for the reception to the men of the congregation, in their church, on Monday evening next, Dec. 16th.

BASKET SOCIAL HELD AT BETHEL

Queen's Own, L. O. L. No. 294 Have a Most Enjoyable Event —Officers Elected

Special to The Review.

Bethel, Dec. 11.—The basket social held on Friday evening, Nov. 22nd, under the auspices of Queen's Own, L.O.L. 294, was largely attended. The weather was everything to be desired, and not a few failed to enjoy it. A good programme was rendered by local and foreign talent. Past County Master, Bro. Wm. Cottingham, made a most able chairman, and among the selections, the excellent address delivered by Bro Col. Sam Hughes, M.P., was highly appreciated. A debate was among the principal features. The subject was "Resolved, That Education is More Practical Than Money." Miss Olive Switzer and Mr. F. Reed were for the affirmative, while Mr. William Howden took the negative, and while both sides of the question were forcibly debated, still the arguments of the former were such as to admit of no doubt, and after a mild criticism of the arguments put forth by both both sides, Mr. J. R. Boate, on behalf of the judges, gave the decision that education is most practical.

After the programme, consisting of twenty selections, was brought to a close by singing "God Save the King," the baskets were sold to the highest bidders, by Bro. J. R. Boate, the proceeds amounting to forty-four dollars.

At the last regular meeting of L. O.L. 294, on Friday evening, the following officers were elected for the coming year; Master—Bro. Ira Switzer.

Deputy Master—Charlie Mills.
Chaplain—Eugene Switzer.
Recording Secretary—Geo. Mills.
Financial Secretary—William J. Irwin.
Treasurer—Sayward Switzer.
Director of Ceremonies — Thomas Atwell.
Lecturer—J. R. Boate.
1st Com.—John Curew.
2nd Com.—John J. Doube.
3rd Com.—William Casey.
4th Com.—Fred. McBain.
5th Com.—Roy Howden.

The installation of officers was conducted by Bro. J. C. Switzer. The year which is coming to a close has been a most successful one. Considerable repairing has been done on the hall, which adds much to the comfort and appearance of the building, and the Past Master, Bro. Geo. Mills, has proved himself capable of ably fulfilling his duty.

Wants to Raise Rate of Interest

Peterboro Wants Rate Changed From 4½ to 5 per cent.

The Toronto Star says; Approving municipal debentures generally at an increased rate of interest is keeping the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board busy these days.

Barkin has a waterworks extension bylaw for $6,000 and Gravenhurst one for $11,000. Gravenhurst further wants to pay 5 per cent, instead of 4 1-2 on $45,000. Peterborough, has two bylaws, one for $40,000 and the other for $21,000. Peterborough wants the rate changed from 4 3-4 per cent to 5.

TOOK A TUMBLE AT THE ACADEMY

Young Man From Emily Painfully Injured at the Play

Some young fellow, reported to be from Downeyville, took a bad tumble at the Academy last night. The gallery was crowded and the young man was forced to stand. He got tired after a while, and leaned against one of the stair doors. The door gave way before his weight, and he plunged backward down the stairway. He alighted on the back of his head, stunning himself, and then turned a complete somersault and slid down the rest of the way, on his face. His nose and face were badly used up from contact with rough steps.

Constable John Short took the young man to his hotel as soon as he was able to walk.—Lindsay Post.

Suit Against Manvers Council

The council of Manvers and Ex-Councillors B. Staples and H. Hooper, jr., have been served with a notice by J. H. Chambers, of Pontypool, for damages for non-fulfillment of an agreement made June the 4th, 1906, for the removal and building of a fence on concession 2, lots 6, 7, which put Mr. Chambers to some $30 expense, and when the job was almost completed, the council cancelled their agreement on the 1st of November, hence the suit.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY
Take LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine Tablets Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c

COAL - CARTAGE
Best Hard COAL $7.50 per ton
No. 2 Nut COAL $6.50 per ton
Butts or English Cannel COAL $7.50 per ton

HEAD OFFICE AND YARDS: 160 Aylmer Street - Phone 116
CITY OFFICE: 387 Water St PHONES: Bell 325. Machine 325

ONTARIO COAL CO., Limited
A. J. McCLELLAN C. CURRIER G. K. RACKHAM

SANTAL-MIDY
Standard remedy for Gleet, Gonorrhoea and Runnings IN 48 HOURS. Cures Kidney and Bladder Troubles.
MIDY

BOYS ENTERED VACANT HOUSE

Vandals Did Considerable Damage to Water St. Property

Some boys, about a week ago, broke into a vacant house on Water street, and turned the water on, which entered the furnace pipes. The result was that the pipes were frozen and broken in many places. The vandals also attached the hose to a water pipe, and evidently intended to sprinkle the floors, but were apparently frightened off before they succeeded in their prank.

The owner has reported the matter to the police, who are on the lookout for the perpetrators.

CHRISTMAS NUMBER

On Saturday, December 14, the Review will issue its annual Christmas number. This year it will be larger and better than ever before, and will contain much matter of especially appropriate nature for the glad Yuletide season.

A large section of the paper will be printed on extra heavy paper, and will be done in colors.

The Christmas number is being issued several days before Christmas, in order to benefit the merchants who have advertised most extensively.

As a limited number of copies will be printed, subscribers desiring extra copies should leave their orders early.

The Review would again urge the people of Peterborough to patronize home merchants for the Christmas buying. Help them and they will help you.

Newsy Jot ings From Ennismore

The weather is disagreeable.

The farmers greatly appreciate the sleighing.

The Misses Lottie and Lizzie Scollard went to Lindsay for a week, visiting friends.

Mr. John Flood has moved into his new house, and is now enjoying its up-to-date conveniences.

Mr. Thomas Calvert held a turkey shoot on Tuesday. A goodly number of crack shots were present. Messrs. E. Telford, M. Hennessy and C. Telford took a prominent part.

Christmas Slippers.

There's nothing that will make a more sensible Christmas Gift than Footwear. Our slipper show, at this season is a big thing—worth coming to see.

MEN'S SLIPPERS
Operas, Everett and Romeo styles, black kid, tan kid, patent leathers,
$1.00, 1.25, 1.50, 2.00

WOMEN'S SLIPPERS
House Slippers, Turkish Slippers and Juliets, Slippers for Dress Functions, all the new Ties and Pump effects, choice, handsome and exclusive creations,
50c to $3.00

J. T. STENSON
364 George St.

EGGS
FOR SALE by the case

Fresh and Pickled Choice Stock at our warehouse, Robinson Street, East City

Scott&Hogg
PHONE 264, BOTH PHONES

PRICE OF Coal FOR OCTOBER IS $7.50 Ton, cash with order

THE PETERBORO FUEL & CARTAGE CO
LIMITED.
162 Charlotte-st. Telephones—(Bell) 261, 270. (Machine)—270.
134 Aylmer-st. Tel. (Bell) 362.

D.L. & W's SCRANTON COAL

SOLD BY R. HICKS & CO. AT
$7.50 Per Ton
for Month of October, in lots of not less than half ton.
This is the Standard Anthracite. 60 % of Coal sold in Ontario is SCRANTON.
Terms Positively Cash.

R. HICKS & CO.
Coal Builders' Supplies, Etc.

COAL AND WOOD
Best of Coal—Best of Wood
COAL FOR OCTOBER
$7.50 PER TON
J. E. A. FITZGERALD
Cor. Brock and Bethune Sts
BOTH PHONES 111

Palace Livery Barn

For the smartest and most up-to-date LIVERY OUTFITS, at reasonable rates, go to

TOM FOSTER & CO.
Successors to Bruce Lee & Co
Rear of Snowden House.

AUCTION SALE OF HORSES BUGGIES, HARNESS, ETC., EVERY SATURDAY
Phones - Bell 286 - Machine 289

Steer Straight
for the best Beer ever brewed, and you are sure to come to us. Our Bottled Beer is "bottled health." It means vigor and strength, a good appetite and high spirits. It is the best medicine for the weak and the best food for the strong. Keep our excellent in Beer your home as a beverage and you will have no need of a doctor. Nothing but the purest ingredients used in the brewing.

—THE—
CALCUTT BREWING AND MALTING CO
of Ashburnham Limited

"NEVER PUT OFF TILL TO-MORROW WHAT YOU CAN DO TO-DAY"

MAKE HIM HAPPY

ON CHRISTMAS MORNING

LeBrun & Co. Can Help You

What will Santa Claus bring? That's the all-absorbing topic, and it's NOW that the thing should be settled ,if you really want to do your best. For Christmas is just round the corner.

THIS is our 35th Christmas Anniversary and the Big Clothing Store is still prospering and growing---thanks to the continued confidence of the public.

Every year more and more people do their Christmas shopping at LeBrun's for two reasons. 1st:--Because they are sure of something out of the ordinary and 2nd, because they are sure of being charged an honest price.

We want to make this Anniversary a record-breaker. We have done our part by providing the right goods at the right prices. We leave the rett to you with the request to do it NOW.

CHRISTMAS
SUGGESTIONS
SUIT
OVERCOAT
HAT
UNDERWEAR
NECKWEAR
GLOVES
HOSIERY SHIRTS
HOUSE COAT NIGHT ROBE
SUSPENDERS
MUFFLER UMBRELLA
BATH ROBE
COLLARS & CUFFS
RAIN COAT

We want the Ladies to feel at home at LeBrun's, for this is a Lady's Store at Xmas as well as a Man's. A lady's present to her husband, and a young woman's present to her brother, or some other girl's brother, will have all the good sensible points about it that LeBrun's High-Class Furnishings and Fine Clothing presents. Christmas Handkerchiefs are a leading line at LeBrun's. We show very fine samples for gentlemen in Silk, Linen, Lawn, etc., initialled and plain, and put up in Fancy Boxes.

The City Clothing Store

Has made extensive purchases in SENSIBLE GIFTS for men, youg men and boys. Let it be distinctly understood, too, that we are CUTTING PRICES so that even our large stock may be too small for wise, moneysaving fathers mothers, husbands, wives, lovers, brothers and sisters. Look over this list and you'll be sure to find something that he would like to find in his "stocking."

ENGLISH FANCY KNITTED WOOL VESTS
FANCY SILK AND WOOL VESTS
MEN'S PYJAMAS AND GOWNS

Handsome Silk Umbrellas, with ornamental handles,	$1.50 to 5.00
Good Tweed Working Overcoats	$5.00 to 6.00
Fine Winter Overcoats	$7.00 to 8.50
Stylish Melton and Beaver Overcoats ....Special at	$10.00 to 15.00
Heavy Tweed Suits	$4.50 to 7.00
Scotch Tweed and Worsted Suits	$8.00 to 12.00
Fine Black Worsted Suits	$10.00 to 15.00
Fine Worsted or Tweed Pants	$2.50, 3.00, 4.00
Good Heavy Wool Working Pants	$1.00, 1 50, 2.00
Boys' Cosy Winter Overcoats	$3.00 to 4.50
Boys' Storm Proof Overcoats	$4.00 to 6.50
Boys' 3-piece Suits	$2 50 to 4.50
Boys' 2-piece Suits	$1.50 to 2.50

Ordered Work—If you need an Overcoat, or Suit, made to order before New Year's, you can't find a choicer selection of cloth to pick from. Best of work and satisfaction.

Every Kind of Underwear for Every Taste

We make a feature of fineness, delicacy of texture, softness—and the stock shows how we succeed.

We always have a grand assortment, comprising the largest stock in the city, which is all reduced in price before New Year's. Men's sizes up to 50 ins., all sizes for Boys.

All the underwear we sell stands for quality. That means comfort. Come and see what we call value:

SCOTCH SHETLAND WOOL UNDERWEAR regular 75c, reduced to 50c
HEAVY ELASTIC RIBBED UNDERWEAR Utica Brand, fleece lined, regular 90c, reduced to 65c
or for the Suit $1.25
HEAVY WOOL RIBBED SHIRTS AND DRAWERS, regular 60c for 45c
Fleece lined............ 45c, 50c
Very fine qualities of SCOTCH WOLSEY and NATIONAL WOOL UNDERWEAR up to $2.50

H. LeBRUN & CO., Sign of the Golden Horse Shoe Next Toronto Bank 2 Entrances, George and Hunter Sts.

Omemee is Visited By Disastrous Fire

$10,000 Damage Is Done

Flames First Noticed at 4.30 O'clock and Spread Rapidly

PETERBOROUGH ASKED TO HELP

Mrs. (Dr.) Norris, and Mr D. W. Stinson the Heaviest Losers—Village Brigade's Great Work.

Special to the Review.

Omemee, Dec. 13.—This village was visited by a disastrous fire this morning, $10,000 damage being done before the flames were got under control. Had it not been for the splendid work of the village fire brigade a large portion of the business section would have been wiped out.

The principal loser is Mrs. (Dr.) Norris, whose fine brick block was destroyed. In it were located her dwelling house, W. D. Stinson's hardwar eand stove business, and the Masonic hall. A frame dwelling owned and occupied by G. Griffin, merchant tailor, was also destroyed. The Norris block was a substantial brick structure, and the loss will be heavy.

ON KING STREET.

The buildings destroyed are on King street, the leading business thoroughfare in the village. The fire broke out about 4.30 a.m. and apparently started in Stinson's hardwar establishment. What caused it is somewhat of a mystery, and occurring at such an unusual hour, the flames had made considerable headway before the fire was discovered. When the alarm had been given great excitement reigned and the whole population of the village was at the scene of the fire in a few moments. As the conflagration spread, the fatmes shot up and illuminated the sky, and people came in from the country round to see where the fire was.

BRIGADE'S GOOD WORK.

The village fire brigade, the equipment of which consists of a hook and ladde rand small engine ,did splendid work. The engine worked well and a good stream was kept constantly on the flames. Fearing that the entire village was in danger, word was sent to Peterborough for help to fight the fire, but later the order was cancelled when it was seen that outside assistance was not necessary. As th efire progressed it became evident that the Norris block and the Griffin building could not be saved, and the fire fighters turned their attention to saving the surrounding buildings. The public library, a frame building, is located right beside the Norris block, the walls being only 18 inches apart, yet the library was saved after a gallant fight. Part of the roof of the Norris building fell over on the library and for a time it seemed impossible to save the latter, but the fire fighters stuck to their task and accomplished their purpose.

W. D. Stinson ,hardware merchant, is one of the heaviest losers. The value of his stock is estimated at $5,000, and there is no insurance. The Masonic hall was located over Mr. Stinson's store, and all the equipment and paraphernalia of Omemee Lodge, A.F. and A.M., were destroyed. Mr. Griffin's building was a frame structure and his loss is not as great as the others, as his stock was not very heavy just at the present time.

The coldness of the night handicapped the the fire brigade in their work, but though cold and wet they never let up until the flames were under control.

The scene of the fire presents a desolate scene today. Smouldering walls and blackened timber covered with ice are the principal objects that greet the eye.

Engine and Hose Waggon Were Loaded at Station

There was an exciting time around the fire station early this morning. About five o'clock a message was received from Omemee asking for assistance to fight the big fire raging there and Chief Rutherford ordered that the engine and one of the hose waggons be sent out. An engine and flat car were provided as quickly as possible by the Grand Trunk, and before six o'clock the engine and waggon were loaded on the car ready to proceed to Omemee. Just before the start was to be made another message was received from the village to the effect that the fire was under control and that the Peterborough brigade would not be required. The engine and waggon were the nuloaded and taken back to the station. A good number of th firemen had mustered and, as their fire fighting blood was up, they were almost disappointed when the message was received that their services would not be required.

Five Persons Severely Burned at Omemee Fire

Explosion Occured When They Were Attempting to Save Furniture in Mrs. Norris' House---A Mysterious Occurrence.

Omemee, Dec. 13.—Five persons were injured in the big fire here this morning. A young man named Bogue, who is attending high school here, was the most severely burned, and he is confined to his bed. The others who were injured were: T. A. McPherson, local manager of the Bell Telephone Company; his son, Mr. Wm McPherson; Charles McCaffrey, a clerk, and E. C. Williamson, another young man.

The five gentlemen indicated above were in Mrs. Norris' house endeavoring to save the furniture, when an explosion shook the house and those who were in the parlor were severely burned. Messrs. Bogue, McPherson, McCaffrey and Williamson were in the parlor and received their injuries in the explosion. What caused it no one knows as nobody was aware of there being any explosives in the house. Those who were inside state that the explosion seemed to be in the parlor, but those who were on the street say that the whole house lighted up when the explosion occurred.

With the exception of Bogue, none of the gentlemen injuted are confined to the house.

ST. JOHN'S CHOIR

St. John's Sunday School children will meet for practice on Saturday, in the schoolroom, at 10 a.m., immediately after the boys' choir practice. The first rehearsal will be held on Monday next at 4.15 p.m., of the Christmas cantata, "Story of a Star," which will be performed in St. John's school on Thursday in Christmas week, Dec. 26th.

MARRIED

GRAHAM—POLLOCK.—At Peterborough on Thursday, December 12, by Rev. Jas G. Potter, Christina, daughter of Robert Pollock, 107 McDonnel street, to Harold A. Graham, son of Jas. Graham also of this city.

FOR PASSEPARTOUT WORK

The fad for passepartout pictures is again growing a favorite for pretty pictures and are always appreciated. One can always find room for a couple more on the walls and every one has their favorite subject, some like scenery, others historical subjects, many like kittens and one boy in the city has the walls of his bedroom fairly covered with pictures of dogs—small and large. When mounted on a suitable background and passepartouted they are very pretty and inexpensive to make up. The Review has a large stock of pictures in sepia and colors, mounting papers and passepartout to match. Call and see them at the REVIEW Office, Hunter street. 2d

Navel Oranges 25, 30, & 40c. Holly (English) for decorating. On and after Friday night 13 inst. store will be open late. R. A. DUTTON.

Mayor Cameron has been re-elected chief magistrate of Calgary.

Young Man Instantly Killed By Big Tree Falling on Him

Wm. Belleghem of Bridgenorth Meets Tragic Death

WORKING IN LUMBER CAMP

Accident Took Place Yesterday Afternoon Near Lakehurst.

While engaged in sawing a tree in the lumber camps of Wm. Kelly, of Bridgenorth, in the township of Harvey, Wm. Belleghem, of Bridgenorth, was instantly killed yesterday afternoon. He met his death as a result of a tree falling on him. Unexpectedly it wavered and fell quickly, jamming the young man to the ground. The camp is situated two miles north of Lakehurst, and in it are employed between twenty-five and thirty men. Assistance was at once given, but death was instantaneous, and it was of little avail.

The late Mr. Belleghem was twenty years of age, and was the son of Mr. John Belleghem, who moved from this city to Bridgenorth about six months ago. The deceased had been working in the shanties since the first of November. The news of the sad affair was received in the city this morning, and came as a great shock to a wide circle of friends. He was an honest, upright young man, highly esteemed by all who knew him, and his untimely end has cast a gloom over the vicinity in which he lived. Before going to Bridgenorth, he was employed in the C.G.E. works.

Besides his parents, five brothers and one sister are left to mourn his loss. The brothers are Messrs. James, Herbert, John and Charles, of this city, and Earnest, who is employed in the same camp as his late brother was. The sister is Mrs. Rosboro, residing in the Northwest. He was also a nephew of Messrs. William and Daniel Belleghem, of this city.

No arrangements have yet been made for the funeral. The remains were brought from Buckhorn last night, and this morning conveyed to his late home at Bridgenorth.

Much sympathy is felt for the bereaved family.

BETTER THAN SPANKING

Spanking does not cure children of bed wetting. There is a constitutional cause for this trouble. Mrs. M. Summers, Box W., 82, Windsor, Ont., will send free to any mother, her home treatment, with full instructions. Send no money, but write her today if your children trouble you in this way. Don't blame the child, the chances are it can't help it. This treatment also cures adults and aged people troubled with urine difficulties by day or night.

Porter's Delicatessen

CUT RATE GROCERY STORE

Shelled Almonds per lb	35
" Walnuts	35
Choice Black & Green Tea 3 lbs	50
Choice Coffee 17c 3 lbs	50
Select Raisins 3 lbs	.20
Dates, 3 lbs..........	.25
Mince Meat, 3 lbs.......	.20
Washing Soda, 3 lbs....	.05
Cooking Figs, 4 lbs	.25
3 bottles Ketchup......	.25
3 bottles Pickles.........	.25
Potatoes, per pk.........	.15
Apples, per pk	.10

410 George Street

FOR XMAS GREETING

Order your cards now and secure the best as the prettiest are always sold out first. Many different styles printed with your own greeting and name, at all prices. Call and make your selection at the Review Office.

The Railway Commission is at Montreal investigating express rates.

Mrs. Alma Harrison, wife of Enos Harrison, of Brantford, is dead.

CHRISTMAS BARGAINS AT CHINA HALL

No store in Peterboro' can offer Christmas buyers the variety or value to be found at China Hall. The goods are all new and bought direct. The variety covers ever class of goods from the cheapest to the most celebrated makes. DINNER and TEA SETS—China Hall has one entire flat devoted to Tea and Dinner Sets from $3.00 to $125.00 each. Ask to be shown the upstair show room—it is said to be the finest of its kind in Canada.

CHINA HALL CO. New Premises 394 GEORGE STREET
(NEXT TO H. LeBRUN & CO.)

GET THE LATEST

The Review Supplies the Correct Things in Wedding Invitations, Programmes, Personal Stationery, Etc. . . . .

THE DAILY REVIEW

LUMBER

and BUILDING MATERIAL of all kinds. Shingles, Scantling, Joists and Bill Stuff. Mouldings, Casings and Base, and all kinds of finish.
Boxes and Box Shooks.

ALF. McDONALD ESTATE
Point St. Charles Mill, Peterborough.

VOL LV., NO. 136 | PETERBOROUGH, ONT., CANADA, SATURDAY, DECEMBER 14, 1907 | TEN CENTS PER WEEK

PROBABILITIES

Gales, easterly to northerly and snow. Sunday, light local snow falls stationary or lower temperature.

At The Golden Lion Store

AN ABSOLUTELY WONDERFUL ASSORTMENT OF

HANDKERCHIEFS

From the Linen Mills of Ireland and the Embroidery Factories of Switzerland, the great majority of which were personally selected by our Mr. Fair while in Europe the past summer, insuring to you the latest novelties, best values and prettiest designs which have been produced. All prices are represented here, ranging in price from 3c to $3 each. We enumerate today a few of the many styles—very specially priced

Boxed Handkerchiefs

With views of beauty spots and places of interest in Ireland on the lids—3, 4 and 6 Handkerchiefs in the boxes, plain hemstitched and the new hemstitched dimity checked linen for ladies 50c and 75c the box

For Gentlemen, Pure Linen Initial Handkerchiefs 3 in box $1.00, 6 in box $2.25

A FEW OF THE MANY VIEWS WE MENTION HERE—The Giants' Causeway; Port Rush; Main St. Larne; Glenarm Castle; Sugar Loaf Mountain, Wicklow; The River Augrien; Eagle's Nest, Killarney; Kate Kearney's Cottage; Ross Castle; Muckross Abbey; Wishing Chair, Giants' Causeway; Donegal Square, Belfast; City Hall, Belfast; Belfast Castle; Glenarriff; Meeting of the Waters, Killarney; Blarney Castle; The Esplanade, Bray, Enniskerry Bridge; Pass of Glencoe; The Tunnel, Kenmare Road; and a great many others.

Kindergarden Handkerchiefs
For the little folks—good quality Irish lawn with nursery rhymes printed in assorted colors
3c each, 2 for 5c

Excelda Handkerchiefs
A fine soft mercerized mull handkerchief, good size, hemstitched
8c each, 4 for 25c

Linen Cambric Handkerchiefs
For boys and men, taped border, hemmed handkerchiefs, all pure linen 12½c to 25c each

White Lawn Handkerchiefs
Fine quality white lawn, hemstitched all around, good size, looks like linen
4c each, 3 for 10c

Initialed Handkerchiefs
Pure Irish checked Linen, unlaundried, hemstitched,
10c and 12½c each

Linen Centres
In two sizes, plain hemstitched and with drawn work corners
12½c, 15c, 25c each

Fancy Baskets of Handkerchiefs

An acceptable gift, and the baskets alone in many cases are worth the price of both basket and handkerchiefs—this season's novelty, shown in Peterborough only by us, 3, 4 and 6 handkerchiefs in basket, per basket
25c, 35c, 40c, 50c, 75c and $1.50

Real Lace Handkerchiefs
A choice assortment of high class lace trimmed handkerchiefs with silk and linen centres 75c to $3.00 each

Mourning Handkerchiefs
Hemstitched, pure linen and swiss embroidered handkerchiefs
5c to 75c each

Embroidered Handkerchiefs
You will admit you have never before seen such beauty of design and good values in fancy handkerchiefs, everything new will be found in our assortment. Prices are 5c, 10, 12½, 15, 20, 25, 35, 40, 50, 75, $1.00, 1.25, 1.50

Robert Fair & Co.

383 GEORGE STREET Limited
Phone—Dry Goods 145 Phone—Dressmaking 145B

WANTED

AT THE CANADIAN GENERAL ELECTRIC CO. Ltd., Girls. Apply at once. 3d

WANTED

ELECTRICIAN, used to conduit work. Apply at Normal School.

WANTED

TEACHER for School Section No. 7, Harvey. Duties to commence after New Year. State salary. T. A Gordon, Sec. Treasurer, Hall's Bridge, Ont. 1d2w

WANTED

ORGANIST for Knox church. Duties to commence first of January. Apply by letter only to undersigned stating salary expected. J. W. Bennett. Clerk of Session, Drawer 1136, Peterborough 3d

For Sale or To Rent

FOR SALE

TYPEWRITER, latest model American Oliver, brand new. Good discount off lowest selling price for a quick sale. Apply Review Office. tdf

TO RENT

NO. 535 Downie Street. Recently occupied by Lambert Lynn, Esq., C. E. Pretty little house, Hardwood floors, all modern improvements. D. W. Dumble or Wm. Hught. 5d

TO RENT

BRICK HOUSE AT 77 WATER ST., bath and electric light. Immediate possession. Apply to J. J. TURNER & SONS, Tent Manufacturers, George Street. 3d

TO RENT

A FEW FINE, WELL LIGHTED AND HEATED ROOMS at the Y. M. C. A. for rent from $1.50 to $2.00 a week. 6td

FOR SALE

PIANO CASE ORGAN, double the usual volume, (8 sets reeds) good as new, less than half price on easy weekly or monthly payments. A nice Christmas present easy to buy. 27 Park St., corner Park and Parnell. tf

Lost and Found

LOST

PURSE containing Note and Door Key. Finder please leave at Review Office.

LOST

WILL THE PERSON who was seen carrying away the Sable Throw-over from the table in the Secretary's office in the Y.W.C.A., please return it at once and avoid further trouble.

General

CHEAP HOUSES

If money is low and rent high, call at our office and see if you can't buy.

A good lot and comfortable house, $50 down and easy payments.

A lot and 6 roomed house, $100 and Six Dollars a month

A new 2 story, nice modern red brick house, $250

A 1½ story red brick with half acre garden, on easy terms, $500

A half acre garden on easy terms. Others at good value up to $5,000

Companies Good as the Best in all lines of Insurance but Life. Rates moderate.

R. G. Ivey, Special Agent.
336 George St. Phone 2 Bell W. MIGHT

SPECIAL RATES FOR FAMILY WASHING

Prices were never lower than now at

Parkers' Steam Laundry

Goods called for and delivered free to any part of the city.

W. P. HETHERINGTON
CHARLOTTE ST, PHONE 65

For Sale or To Rent
AT REASONABLE PRICES

Three small farms, good soil, suitable for gardening purposes, close to city. Also a few small, comfortable, dwelling houses, and choice building lots, well situated in good localities.

Properties sold, purchased or exchanged.

Private Funds to Loan on Real Estate.

INSURANCE

Agents for reliable Fire, Life, Accident, Plate Glass and Liability Insurance Companies. For particulars as to rates, etc., apply to

J. J. McBAIN & SON
Real Estate and Insurance Agents.
Office Cor. Simcoe and George-sts.
Office Phone 454 Residence Phone 109A

FOR XMAS

Furniture fixed up like new. Upholstering and all kinds of similar work done. Mattresses made over.

A. R. JACKSON
320 Aylmer. Corner of Charlotte. Bell Phone 494B

FANCY POTTERY

All kinds of Urns, Vases, Jugs, Plates, Jardinieres, etc., Moulded to Order for hand painting for Christmas gifts.

GEO. E. RAWLINGS, Crescent Street

GEORGE RUTH
Properties for Sale:

Come and inspect our list of HOUSES. We have a number of first-class residences; all modern; locality and prices are right; also a number of cheaper houses. Terms to suit the purchasers.

8 fine building lots, near the C. G. E. works, are offered for $1500.

A few first-class homes to rent with modern improvements.

395 Water Street, open evenings

CHRISTMAS GIFTS

What more appropriate gift could you make than by purchasing a home for your family?

Come and see J. T. O'Connell & Co's bargains.

$2,350—New red brick house, central, cement floor in cellar; hall, parlor, dining room, kitchen, large pantry, front and back stairs, 4 bedrooms, bathroom fitted, 3 clothes closets, attic finished, electric lights, large verandah and balcony, woodshed and summer kitchen. Can be bought on monthly payments. Possession at once.

$900 buys red brick cottage East City, 6 rooms, hard and soft water, large lot.

To Rent—New house with all conveniences. Possession at once.

For further particulars apply to

J. T. O'CONNELL & CO.
Phone 376. 136 Hunter St.

MEALS—LUNCHES
AT ALL HOURS

For quick service, well-cooked meals and popular prices—go to

FOWLER'S RESTAURANT
McCallum's Old Stand - 330 George St

R. A. ELLIOTT
& CO.
Real Estate Agents

Head Office of the Sandstone Brick Co.

STOVES, RANGES
—AND—
HEATERS
Enamel and Tinware
Plumbing and Eavetroughing

HUTCHINSON-STURGEON CO
Bell and Machine 'Phones 238 342 George Street

International Correspondence Schools
Of Scranton, Penn.

Industrial Science Taught by Mail.

LOCAL OFFICE - - 410 George Street
R. C. BALFOUR, Representative

The Talk of the Town—OUR COOKING

TOOTHSOME
WHOLESOME
PALATABLE

Try a loaf of our Brown and Currant Bread
FRY'S MILK CHOCOLATE DROPS
BURNT ALMONDS

COLEMAN BROS.
Phone 335. 426 George St.

THE
BEEHIVE
The Ladies' Big Ready-to-wear Store

CHRISTMAS BOXES
—FOR—

Grown Ups, Youth, Childhood and the dear little Hope of the family

Christmas Waists
Christmas Skirts
Christmas Neckwear
Christmas Belts
Christmas Table Linen
Christmas Cashmere and Silk Hosiery
Silk Socks for him
Christmas Robes for baby
Christmas Dresses for the girls
Christmas Whitewear
Christmas Fancy Goods
Knitted Slippers
Christmas Handkerchiefs
Initialed Handkerchiefs
Christmas Furs
Christmas Headwear
Christmas Scarfs
Christmas Fascinators
Christmas Gloves
Perrin's Kid Gloves

And a thousand things not mentioned at

THE
BEEHIVE
The Ladies' Big Ready-to Wear Store

A. BROWN & CO.,
The Real Estate Agents, 306 Water Street

$100 will secure good Cottage with large lot 50x200
$500 will secure an up-to-date House with all modern improvements.
$1,000 will purchase good Cottage and large lot
$600 will secure Cottage, Stable and 4 acres good land near city.

We have some great snaps in Houses, Farms and City lots for sale and to rent.

Fire, Life and Accident Insurance.

Bell Phone 136 and 474B. Machine 117.

THE STORE THAT NEVER DISAPPOINTS

CAST ASIDE ALL MISGIVINGS

No more misgivings about what to buy your lady friends—your mother, sister, your sweetheart—all are alike in this respect—they want something

Useful Pretty Something New

Below are a few suggestions that are all three:

Women's Fancy Handkerchiefs . . .

Everything that the heart could desire in the way of Fancy Handkerchiefs, from the plain lace edged to the dainty bit of hand-made lace—from the plain hemstitched to the most exquisite hand embroidered. Included in our stock are the Plain Hemstitched, Hand Embroidered, Hemstitched Embroidered and Embroidered with Lace Edge, Hand Tatted Edge, Fancy Silk with lace Insertion and Edgings. Plain Silk and Silk Initialled; also Plain Linen Initialled. You can buy a Fancy Handkerchief here from 4c to $3.00 Each

FANCY BOXES with dainty Handkerchiefs, from 25c to $2.50 a Box

Cushion Tops

Fancy Silk Tops in the most elegant effects, very pretty gifts for the housewife of refined tastes. Special 78c, 98c, $1.00, $1.50

Winter Millinery

34 Trimmed Hats, the season's newest Millinery styles, prettily trimmed in all the finest shade effects. These natty creations make most suitable Xmas presents, and at prices within the medium mark. Two lots to be cleared for $2.50 and $4.00

Kid Gloves

All the noted French Maker's goods are represented here in a fine assortment; all guaranteed Gloves. The most important among them are Perrin, Trefousse, Rouillon and Valliers. Prices from $1.00 to $3.75

Fancy Collars

New Chiffon, plain white and colored appliqué, lace, steel and pearl beads effects. Very popular for this season are the French Knots and Medallions. Prices range from 50c to $3.00

Fancy Ribbons . . .

See the new Dresden and Persian stripe effects, suitable for sashes and all kinds of fancy work, such as Fluffy Ruffy Cushions, Fancy Work, Bags, etc. Prices range for the wide widths, 19c to 95c Yard

Fancy Combs . . .

A special line with steel mountings on sale at the Notion Counter for to-night at 19c

Dressings Gowns and Sacques

For women in the newest and most popular styles, made of fine eiderdown in shades of Gray, Light Blue, Light and Dark Reds, beautifully trimmed with satin facings and cord piping. They are fastened with braid bar and loop fasteners. Special prices—Gowns, $4.40, $5.40 and $7.00; Sacques, $125, $225, $3.00

STORE HOURS:
8.10 - - 5.45
Closes Saturday at 10 p.m.

Cressman's 385, 387, 389 George Street

RICHMOND STUDIO

SPECIALS for XMAS PHOTOS

Newest Mountings	Newest Styles
Pictures	Plain Cards
Folders	Calendars

First-class work at night by electric light. Sittings by appointment.

147 HUNTER STREET

"DON'T BURN THEM"

We will buy all kinds of Second-hand boots and shoes

JAY'S SECOND-HAND STORE
390 Aylmer Street

Photography

Amateur Supplies, Cameras, Souvenir Books, Post Cards and all kinds of high-grade Photography at W. G. LENDRUM'S, 170 Charlotte St. Agent for the celebrated Heintzman & Co's Pianos.

CHRISTMAS IS COMING!

A nice pair of Snowshoes or a good Toboggan would make a most acceptable present to lady, gentleman, girl or boy. We carry a very large assortment. Call and see them.

J. J. TURNER & SONS
TENT MANUFACTURERS
George Street, Peterborough

ALL THINGS ARE NOW READY

GEORGE R. RECORD
PRACTICAL
FRENCH DRY CLEANER AND PRESSER

Ladies' and Gentlemen's Garments and Household Articles cleaned and guaranteed not to fade color or shrink any material. Charges moderate. Goods called for and delivered. Telephone 689.

NEW BRICK BLOCK, 173 SIMCOE ST.
Only Complete Dry Cleaning Plant in City

PALMISTRY Professor C. Shepherd
344 AYLMER STREET—Opposite Fire Hall

GRAND OPERA HOUSE | Saturday, December 14
MATINEE AND NIGHT

Only Novelty in Sight—The Original Production

"HOOLIGAN IN NEW YORK"

With an All-Star Cast of Metropolitan Favorites—Carload Special Scenery—Trick Properties, and Novelties. Seats now on Sale

EVENING PRICES—50c, 35c, 25c, 15c
MATINEE—25c and 15c

THE CRYSTAL
OPEN EVERY AFTERNOON AND EVENING

Passion Play "Life of Christ"
ALL THIS WEEK.

Beautifully illustrated song "ROCK OF AGES"
ADMISSION—10 CENTS

What better Christmas Present could be given to a young man or woman than a course at the

Business College

Nothing could be given that would be of greater or more lasting value.

THINK ABOUT IT CAREFULLY

DAY AND EVENING CLASSES

Medical

E. V. FREDERICK, M.B., Tor.

M.R.C.S., Eng.; L.R.C.P., Lond. Lic. Univ. of New York.

Removed to No. 492 George St., formerly office of Dr. McFaul

Private nursing home for surgical cases.

DR. G. STEWART CAMERON
Office and Residence
No. 273 Charlotte St. 'Phone 128

DR. G. C. LEACH

Late House Surgeon of Lakeside Hospital, Cleveland, Ohio; also of Cook County Hospital, Chicago. OFFICE—384 Hunter St., formerly occupied by Dr. Coughlin. Phone Bell 219. Special Attention to Diseases of Women

DR. JAS. V. GALLIVAN

Office 215 Simcoe St. Late of St. John's Hospital New York. Lic. University of New York. Telephone 668.

Osteopathy

DR. ASA G. WALMSLEY
Osteopathic Physician

Office over Canadian Bank of Commerce, Water Street entrance. Office Hours—9 to 12 a.m. 2 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Consultation free.

Legal

R. E. WOOD

BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, Etc. Office removed from Bank of Commerce Building to 435 George street, recently occupied by E. B. Edwards. Money to Loan

W. H. MOORE

BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, in the Supreme Court etc. Office—Hunter street, first stairs west of Post Office.

HALL & HAYES

BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS and NOTARIES PUBLIC, Hunter Street, Peterborough, next to English Church. Money to Loan at the lowest rates of interest.

E. H. D. HALL. LOUIS M. HAYES

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON

(Successors to Stratton & Hall)

BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, Etc., Peterborough Ont. Office—Corner of Hunter and Water Sts. over Bank of Commerce.

E. H. D. HALL, M.P. S. T. MEDD. W. E. DAVIDSON

EDMISON & DIXON

BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, Etc. Office in Cluxton's Block, corner of Hunter and George streets, over Dickson's store.

DENNISTOUN, PECK & KERR

BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, NOTARIES, Etc 415 Water Street, Peterborough

G. A. PECK F. D. KERR R. M. DENNISTOUN

Money

MONEY TO LOAN
ON EASY TERMS

O'CONNELL & GORDON

BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS NOTARIES, Etc
Canadian and United States Patent Attorneys
134 Hunter Street, two doors west of Post Office.

DANIEL O'CONNELL. GEORGE N. GORDON

ROGER, BENNET & GOODWILL

BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, Etc., 37 Water St. Peterborough. Telephone No. 191.

Money at Current Rates
Upon Easy Terms.

G. M. ROGER. J. W. BENNET. E. L. GOODWILL

TORONTO SAVINGS AND LOAN CO.

PAID UP CAPITAL $1,000,000.00
RESERVE FUND 580,000.00

SAVINGS

An Account may be opened at any time with a Deposit of One Dollar.

3½% Interest allowed on daily balances.

DEBENTURE DEPT.

Four Per Cent. paid half yearly on sums of $100.00 and upwards.

MONEY TO LOAN
at current rates of interest.

V. G. MORROW,
Manager

Children's Aid Society
FOR THE CARE OF NEGLECTED AND ILL-TREATED CHILDREN.

Incorporated by Act of Legislature, 1898 Information required. Informants name kept strictly private.

CHILDREN FOR ADOPTION

Office Hours—11.30 to 12.30 a.m.
OFFICE—DIVISION COURT BLDG

GEO. COCHRANE,
Agent and Asst Sec

CENTRAL LIVERY STABLES
AND
VETERINARY INFIRMARY

193 Hunter Street west of Oriental Hotel.

If you wish a rig of any kind for any occasion ring us up and you will find everything up-to-date in the livery line. Both Phones 318. Night Phone Bell 68 R.

D. McKERCHER, V.S.

Nature's Remedy
REG. U.S. PAT. OFFICE
NR-TABLETS-NR

Better Than Pills For Liver Ills.

Nature's Remedy is better than pills, because it acts in the right way.
It strengthens the Stomach, aids Digestion, cures Dyspepsia, cleanses the Liver and Bowels, curing Constipation.
Usually one NR Tablet is all that is necessary to correct the average trouble. It starts in the Stomach and searches through the Liver, Kidneys and Intestines, dissolving and soothing as it goes.
NR Tablets are always just right and neither sicken, gripe, nor have any harmful after effects. GET A 25c. BOX.

McDERMID & JURY, Druggists, Peterborough, Ont.

BARGAINS
. . . AT . . .
CUBITT'S BOOKSTORE SATURDAY
. . . IN . . .
LADIES' LEATHER HAND BAGS
Largest assortment in the city.

SEE WINDOW DISPLAY

"CUBITT SELLS CHEAP"

Pugsley Again Has Warm Time in the Commons

Mr. Bennett Charges Minister With Cowardly Silence.

Issues Challenge to Repeat Campaign Fund Slanders in the House—Cartoon Used as Jibe—Mr. Borden Calls Attention to Undesirable Immigration Circular—Condition of Indian Schools.

Ottawa, Dec. 14.—A cartoon in a Montreal paper picturing the new Minister of Public Works in the act of executing a swift movement under the barn, was seized upon by Bennett of East Simcoe last night as a proper medium through which to jibe the author of the allegations of a Conservative campaign fund.

Bennett described Pugsley as a man of "brag, bluff and bluster," who sat silent in his seat afraid to substantiate the charges he made on the public platform.

Pugsley again "refused to be drawn out." He did, however, sit up and take notice and, wounded by the taunts of the Opposition, he at length got upon his feet to say that he would choose his own time and place to further enlighten the country.

Bennett was criticizing in case of restitution of money by an officer of the Department, when Mr. Pugsley, resenting the charge made, observed that Mr. Bennett's reputation in the country was that of a man not over careful of his statements. "I am surprised," Bennett retorted, "that this Minister who was so judicious the other day, who was so thoughtful to keep out of the storm, should have rushed in to-night. It is true there is a reward offered for his discovery. The hon. gentleman has gone from one end of the country to the other challenging any man in this House to make a certain statement about the expenditure in a New Brunswick election, but when the hon. gentleman is challenged he sits there as dumb as the oldest Egyptian mummy that was ever embalmed. You cannot drag a word out of him. Thursday he was word out of him. Yesterday he was slapped in the face in his own caucus for making charges and not being able to substantiate them."

Officials In Elections.

The first hour at the evening session was given up to private bills. Among those given a second reading was the bill declaring the Hamilton Radial Electric Railway to be a work for the general advantage of Canada.

When the estimates of the Department of Trade and Commerce were reached Uriah Wilson attacked the Government for allowing its employes to take part in election contests. In his riding J. L. Haycock had taken the platform against him at the last election, and he asked for a Ministerial declaration as to how far public officials could go. Mr. Fielding thought that in the case of an officer not drawing a living salary it would be hard to say, but otherwise he "ought" to abstain from participation in elections.

Mr. Wilson said: "Haycock received a salary of $1,600 a year."

Bennett of East Simcoe described a number of officials of the Government as thieves and embezzlers, giving in many instances the place and individual. He said the second most important official in the Department of Public Works was "a confessed thief." Mr. Pugsley asked for the name and Bennett declining to give it, but the Minister, pressing, he was told it was Gelinas of the Department of the Interior, who made restitution.

Before the orders of the day were called Mr. Borden called the attention of the Premier to a circular, signed by a reputable person, who guarantees to issue marriage licenses, procure citizens' papers, permits to old or crippled persons to land in Canada, and issues passports. The circular states that it is due to the efforts of the gentleman that persons of the character named were permitted to land in Canada. Sir Wilfrid Laurier said he would look into the matter.

The Crop Financing.

Mr. Foster referred to Hon. R. W. Scott's statement in the Senate a few days ago regarding the arrangements with banks to advance money to move crops. The Finance Minister had declined to give the information in the Lower House, pleading that this was not the time.

Mr. Foster sympathized with the Finance Minister in having the information divulged "in another place."

The Finance Minister smiled. "I'm unable to say anything."

Mr. Bergeron desired to know if the Government will bring down the suggested bill in regard to patent medicines. Hon. Mr. Templeman promised a definite answer in a few days.

Mr. Foster referred to a C. A. P. despatch that Hon. Mr. Sifton has with him in London, the Dominion geographer. It seemed that Sifton was showing off his appendage and giving the impression that he is acting for the Government. Sir Wilfrid replied that Mr. White, the geographer, was in England at his request to get information concerning the trade and traffic and conditions of all lines plying on the Atlantic.

To Mr. Staples (Portage la Prairie) the Premier said the report of the Royal Grain Commission would be brought down early.

House In Committee.

The House went into committee on estimates.

Mr. Crockett asked if any arrangements had been made between the Dominion Government and the Government of New Brunswick, looking to joint action for the promotion of immigration.

Mr. Oliver replied that negotiations were in progress with the Governments of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, but no actual arrangements had been made. To Mr. Taylor the Minister said the withdrawal of the Ontario Government from the work of distributing immigrants from Toronto was altogether voluntary on the part of that Government. No suggestion to that effect had been made from Ottawa.

On the item of $67,100 for salaries, and $15,375 for contingencies, Mr. Foster brought up the matter of Dr. Bryce's report of the lamentable task of sanitary administration in the Indian schools as a result of which the death rate was abnormally high as against the public rate. Mr. Oliver admitted that the report showed an appalling mortality, but it was a fact that these schools were not directly under the control of the Government, and those in charge of them had informed the Department the conditions which were reported on by Dr. Bryce were no worse in the schools than among the Indians outside of them.

"They ought to be better," urged Mr. Foster, who added that it seemed to him it would be better for the Government if it could not get better results for the large amount of money expended to go out of the business. He was aware the question of Indian education was a difficult one, but the results, as far as the number of Indians permanently benefited by education was concerned were meagre indeed.

Mr. MacPherson suggested that the Government of the Dominion and Province of British Columbia should get together and settle the question of ownership of Indian lands.

ABSOLUTE SECURITY.

Genuine

Carter's Little Liver Pills.

Must Bear Signature of

Brent Good

See Fac-Simile Wrapper Below.

Very small and as easy to take as sugar.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS

FOR HEADACHE.
FOR DIZZINESS.
FOR BILIOUSNESS.
FOR TORPID LIVER.
FOR CONSTIPATION
FOR SALLOW SKIN.
FOR THE COMPLEXION

CURE SICK HEADACHE.

FRENCH NAVY OPIUM CRAZY.

Startling Condition of Affairs to Account For Disaster.

Marseilles, Dec. 14.—The judicial authorities here have recently received a large number of confidential letters from the wives of naval officers stationed at Mediterranean ports, complaining that their husbands were obtaining supplies of opium somewhere in this city. The authorities searched the stores of several Oriental curiosity dealers, and several thousand dollars' worth of the drug was seized. The dealers will be prosecuted.

According to the statements made by those who have investigated the matter, the opium habit recently has increased to an alarming extent in the navy, and it is even said that to this account may be laid the responsibility for many of the accidents that have occurred. The naval authorities have been endeavoring to eradicate this evil, but up to the present with little success.

GOES TO GALLOWS SMILING.

Youth Who Murdered Young Woman Pays Death Penalty.

Morden, Man., Dec. 14.—Laughing and joking, Lawrence Gowland, the young murderer of Miss Georgina Brown of Killarney, walked to the scaffold at 8 o'clock yesterday morning. He had displayed an animated demeanor since the crime in July. He cut the girl's throat and his own because she rejected his advances while they were alone in her brother's farmhouse. He recovered.

He was 23 years of age, and came from England two years ago.

800 AMENDMENTS.

Australian Tariff Bill Passed After Five Months Debate.

Melbourne, Australia, Dec. 14.—The House of Representatives, after a five months' debate, in which eight hundred amendments were disposed of and three hundred divisions taken, has just completed the tariff bill. The strongly protective character of this bill has been somewhat modified.

Banjo Plays His Requiem.

Lincoln, Dec. 14.—With the gallows ready for his execution, which took place yesterday, and his attorneys arguing in the court for his life, Harrison Clarke, colored, sat in his cell at the State Penitentiary strumming a banjo.

Clarke's attorneys asserted in court that the prisoner was insane when he murdered Edward Flury, a street car conductor.

Judge Cornish, before whom the plea was made, overruled the motion to stay sentence, and Clarke was hanged.

Farmers Win.

Woodstock, Dec. 14.—In the famous note case, begun by Albert Wilson against ten well-known farmers of this district, the Supreme Court of Canada has handed out judgment allowing the appeal of the farmers against the decision of a lower court. The farmers thus finally win out, as the amount in question is not sufficiently large to allow of the cases being carried to the Privy Council.

Guilty of Manslaughter.

Sault Ste. Marie, Dec. 14.—Thomas Ryan was found guilty last night of manslaughter in connection with the death of Edward Hines at the Windsor Hotel last summer.

The men were engaged in a fight, and Hines died as the result of blows inflicted. George T. Blackstock conducted the prosecution and W. H. Hearst the defence.

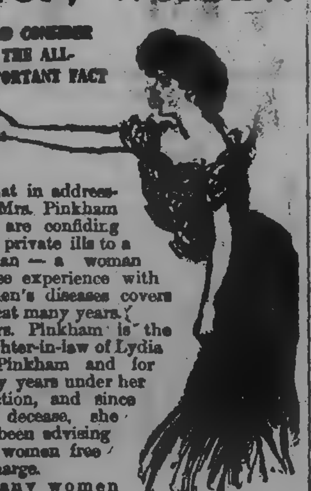
May Incite to Strike.

Buffalo, Dec. 14.—Judge Hazel, in the United States Court yesterday afternoon, denied the motion of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad Co. to continue the injunction obtained by the company restraining the Switchmen's Union from inciting a strike among the men in its employ.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS
PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days or money refunded. 50c.

STOP, WOMAN!

AND CONSIDER THE ALL-IMPORTANT FACT



That in addressing Mrs. Pinkham you are confiding your private ills to a woman — a woman whose experience with women's diseases covers a great many years.

Mrs. Pinkham is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for many years under her direction, and since her decease, she has been advising sick women free of charge.

Many women suffer in silence and drift along from bad to worse, knowing full well that they ought to have immediate assistance, but a natural modesty impels them to shrink from exposing themselves to the questions and probable examinations of even their family physician. It is unnecessary. Without money or price you can consult a woman whose knowledge from actual experience is great.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation.

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and answered by women only. A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman; thus has been established the eternal confidence between Mrs. Pinkham and the women of America which has never been broken. Out of the vast volume of experience which she has to draw from, it is more than possible that she has gained the very knowledge that will help your case. She asks nothing in return except your good-will, and her advice has relieved thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, is very foolish if she does not take advantage of this generous offer of assistance.

If you are ill, don't hesitate to get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once, and write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for special advice.

When a medicine has been successful in restoring to health so many women, you cannot well say, without trying it "I do not believe it will help me."

To Prevent Mine Disasters.

Belle Vernon, Pa., Dec. 14.—The coroner's jury which has been investigating the explosion at the Naomi Mine of the United Coal Co., at Fayette City, Pa., which resulted in the death of 34 miners, yesterday reported that the men came to their death as a result of an explosion of gas and dust, which, in the jury's opinion, seems to have accumulated from insufficient ventilation, and was ignited from sparks of the electric wires or an open light. The jury condemns the use of electric wires on return air currents, and open lights in all gaseous mines.

"We would recommend," concludes the report, "that hereafter an air shaft be opened up where the workings reach a point 4,000 feet from the main opening. Further, that the mining commission appointed by the state governor recommend such amendments to the mining laws, that human life will be better protected, and that the present laws be more rigidly enforced."

Robbed Farmers' Rigs.

Orangeville, Dec. 14.—Farmers coming into town recently have suffered rather severely by the theft of valuable robes from their rigs while left in the hotel sheds. On Saturday night two young Englishmen — Hutchings and Lewis — were arrested for attempted assault and later released on cash bail. They were arrested again when Hutchings had a fine robe in his possession, and Lewis a big fish, which they could not account for. By Police Magistrate Pattullo yesterday in the assault case a nominal fine was imposed and Hutchings and Lewis were convicted of theft of the robe and the fish respectively. The sentences were 30 days for Hutchings and 14 for Lewis.

London Approval.

London, Dec. 14.—(C. A. P.)—Lord Strathcona states he is sanguine that the patriotism of the Canadian people of both races will see that Earl Grey's proposal for the celebration of the tercentenary will see it through. Canadians in London would be proud to have their offers accepted.

The press editorially express the warmest approval of the project. The Standard points out that it will also mark Canada's entry amongst the nations of the world.

The Telegraph says the scheme is as ambitious as it is brilliant.

Marrid Once Too Often.

Ottawa, Dec. 14.—Ewart Tressider, a young Ottawa electrician, pleaded guilty in the Police Court yesterday morning to a charge of bigamy and was remanded until Monday next for sentence. Last week Tressider under an assumed named married Miss Sinclair, a young Rideauville girl of 17. Last April he married the daughter of Charles Turcotte of Ottawa.

Derrick Cable Broke.

Ottawa, Dec. 14.—W. J. Lucy, aged 47, of Ottawa, died in the hospital here yesterday morning, the result of being injured through the snapping of the cable of a derrick with which he was working on the Rideau River. His skull was fractured by the blow. He leaves a widow and several children.

Fifteen Lost at Sea.

Mexico City, Dec. 14.—No news has been received of the steamer Ibero of the Yucatan Colonization Co., which sailed from Vera Cruz Dec. 2 for Frontera, and it is feared the crew of fifteen men are lost.

Babe Saves Eight Lives.

Allentown, Pa., Dec. 14.—The cries of an infant saved the lives of eight persons here early yesterday, but not before the baby's father and brother had been asphyxiated by coal gas.

THE MARKETS.

Liverpool Wheat Futures Close Higher, Chicago Unchanged—Live Stock—Latest Quotations.

Friday Evening, Dec. 13.

Liverpool wheat futures closed to-day ⅛d to ⅝d up, corn ⅛d up.

At Chicago, December wheat closed unchanged, December corn ⅛c higher, and December oats ¼c lower.

Winnipeg Options.

Following are the closing quotations on Winnipeg grain futures to-day:

Wheat—Dec. $1 bid, May $1.06¼ bid.
Oats—Dec. 43c bid, May 50c bid.

Toronto Grain Market.

Grain—

Wheat, spring, bush	$0 95	to $....
Wheat, fall, bush	0 96	0 97
Wheat, goose, bush	0 87	....
Wheat, red, bush	0 98	....
Rye, bush	0 83	....
Peas, bush	0 85	....
Buckwheat, bush	0 64	0 65
Barley, bush	0 70	....
Oats, bush	0 52	....

Toronto Dairy Market.

Butter, dairy, lb. rolls	0 27	0 29
Butter, tubs	0 26	0 27
Butter, creamery, lb. rolls	0 30	0 31
Butter, creamery, boxes	0 29	0 30
Eggs, new-laid, dozen	0 30	....
Eggs, cold-storage, dozen	0 23	....
Cheese, large, lb	0 13½	....
Cheese, twin, lb	0 13¾	....
Honey, extracted, lb	0 13	0 13½

Liverpool Grain and Produce

LIVERPOOL, Dec. 13.—Closing—Wheat—Spot, No. 2 red western winter, weak, 7s 6d. Futures strong; Dec. nominal, March 7s 9d, May 7s 8⅛d.

Corn—Spot, prime mixed, American, quiet, 5s 5d. Futures firm; Dec. nominal, Jan. 5s 3d.

Lard—American refined, in pails, dull, 43s 9d.

Flour—Winter patents quiet, 30s 3d.

Hops—In London (Pacific Coast) quiet, £2 to £3. Rosin—Common quiet, 9s 9d. Peas—Canadian, 7s 9d.

New York Dairy Market

NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—Butter—Easy; receipts, 3196; creamery, extras, 28½c to 29c; process, common to special, 15c to 23c.

Cheese—Firm, unchanged; receipts, 1274.

Eggs—Firm, unchanged; receipts, 4737.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Cables Easier—Hogs tand Cattle Lower at Chicago.

LONDON, Dec. 13.—London cables are firmer, at 11c to 12½c per lb., dressed weight; refrigerator beef is quoted at 9¾c to 10c per pound.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, Dec. 13.—Cattle—Receipts, 200 head; fair demand and steady; prime steers, $5.50 to $5.75.

Veals—Receipts, 500 head; active and 25c higher, $5 to $9.50.

Hogs—Receipts, 10,200 head; slow and 10c to 15c lower; heavy, mixed and yorkers, $5.10 to $5.15; pigs, $4.75 to $4.85; roughs, $4.40 to $4.60; dairies, $5.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 8000 head; active and higher; lambs, $5 to $7.25; yearlings, $5.50 to $6; ewes, $4.50 to $4.75; sheep, mixed, $2 to $4.75; Canada lambs, $7.

New York Live Stock.

NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—Beeves—Receipts, 1634; steers firm to 10c higher on light receipts; bulls steady; cows 10c higher; steers, $4.75 to $5.55; bulls, $2.50 to $3.50; cows, $1.25 to $3.35; few extra, $4 to $4.25; oxen, $3 to $4.20. Exports to-day, 30 sheep; to-morrow, 144 cattle and 3800 quarters of beef.

Calves—Receipts, 316; veals steady; barnyard calves almost nominal; westerns dull and unchanged; veals, $5 to $9.50; westerns, $3.50 to $3.87½; barnyard calves, $2.50 to $2.75.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 4541; sheep steady; lambs 25c higher; sheep, $3 to $4.50; lambs, $6.50 to $7.12½ for fair choice.

Hogs—Receipts, 3600, all for slaughterers; nominally steady; none on sale.

Chicago Live Stock.

CHICAGO, Dec. 13.—Cattle—Receipts estimated at about 4000; market dull and slow; steers, $4 to $6.00; cows, $2.75 to $4.50; heifers, $2.50 to $5.25; bulls, $2.60 to $4.90; calves, $3 to $7.50; stockers and feeders, $2.40 to $4.50.

Hogs—Receipts estimated at about 30,000; market weak and lower; choice heavy shippers, $4.50 to $6; light butchers', $4.90 to $5; light mixed, $4.80 to $4.85; choice light, $4.85 to $4.90; packing, $4.30 to $4.85; pigs, $4 to $4.50; bulk of sales, $4.75 to $4.85.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts estimated at about 10,000; market slow and dull; sheep, $3.50 to $4.75; lambs, $5.60 to $6.20; yearlings, $4.30 to $4.90.

KAISER WILLIAM IN HOLLAND.

Emperor Drives to Palace With Queen Wilhelmina—Cordial Greetings.

Amsterdam, Dec. 14.—Emperor William of Germany arrived here yesterday on the Imperial yacht Hohenzollern from Port Victoria, England, and was greeted by members of the royal family of the Netherlands. Prince Henry boarded the Hohenzollern and escorted the Emperor to a pavilion on shore, where Queen Wilhelmina awaited him. The greetings were most cordial, and the Emperor kissed the Queen's hand. Their Majesties drove through the crowded streets to the palace, where they subsequently appeared at a balcony and were given an ovation by the assembled throng.

Magazines From Britain.

London, Dec. 14.—(C. A. P.)—Hon. Sydney Buxton, speaking in Boston, estimated that as a result of the intellectual preference, over 500,000 magazines, mostly high-class, were being sent to Canada.

T. McPherson and J. L. Todd were made fellow members respectively of the Royal College of Surgeons.

Lord Strathcona sails to-day by the Mauretania.

Will Burn Villages.

Oudja, Algeria, Dec. 14—The French troops, under the command of Gen. Liautey, have received orders to begin a forward concentric movement toward the mountain retreats of the tribesmen, with the object of forcing the native leaders to yield. All villages submitting to the French will not be harmed, but those resisting will be burned.

Nationality of the Dead.

Monongah, W. Va., Dec. 14.—Three hundred and twenty bodies have been removed from the mine. Of these 71 were Americans, 11 negroes, 146 Italians, 14 Slavaks, 31 Poles, 5 Greeks and 3 Hungarians.

Favor For Newfoundland.

London, Dec. 14.—(C. A. P.)—Postmaster-General Buxton states that he is considering a suggestion to extend the Canadian postal privileges to Newfoundland.

Killed by a Falling Tree.

Peterboro, Dec. 14.—William Belleghem, son of John Belleghem of Havelock, was instantly killed by a falling tree in Kelly's lumber camp at Lakehurst.

The Northern Navigation Company will build a sister ship to the Huronic.

Special Inducements TO BUY HEATERS

You gain nothing by delay. See our
Standard Oak
Quebec Ideal
Art Laurel

They are great fuel savers. Easily operated and splendid heat distributors.

F.R.J. MACPHERSON & CO.

341 George St. Phone 118

F.R.J. MACPHERSON ANGUS MACPHERSON

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM
RAILWAY TIME TABLE

	Arrive	Depart
Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, Gravenhurst, North Bay, Stouffville and Toronto	11.40 a.m. 9.00 p.m.	8.25 a.m 5.38 p.m
Port Hope and points east to Montreal and Boston		8.30 a.m
Port Hope, Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago & West, Niagara Falls, Buffalo, Cobourg, Montreal and East	8.30 a.m. 5.33 p.m.	11.45 a.m 9.05 p.m
From Buffalo, Hamilton, Toronto, Bowmanville and Port Hope	11.45 a.m.
Toronto, Lindsay, Stoufville, Uxbridge and Markham	10.05 p.m.	7.20 a.m
Lindsay Local	8.15 a.m.	9.10 p.m
Hastings, Campbellford, Madoc, Belleville, Kingston, Montreal and East	6.10 a.m. 6.40 p.m.	8.30 a.m 1.50 p.m
Lakefield and Stony Lake	9.50 a.m. 5.15 p.m.	8.30 a.m 12.20 p.m

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY

To Peterboro' Going East.
11.16 a. m., Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal
7.51 p. m., Indian River, Norwood, Havelock, Tweed.
12.31 a. m. midnight, Havelock, Tweed, Smith's Falls, Montreal, Quebec, Portland, Boston and New England points.
1.10 a. m., Ottawa express, Norwood, Havelock, Ivanhoe, Tweed, Smith's Falls, Carleton Jct., Ottawa.
To Peterboro' Going West.
4.48 a. m. for Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, New York, Woodstock, St. Thomas, Chicago, etc.
5.36 a. m. Do. Do.
7.56 a. m. for Cavanville, Manvers, Pontypool, Burkton, etc., Fort William, Winnipeg and all western points in North West Canada.
4.48 p. m. Pontypool, Lindsay, Toronto, Hamilton, Galt, Woodstock, London, Detroit Chicago, etc.

A steam locomotive in a test in Clayton, New Jersey, made a fraction more than 99 miles an hour. A test of electric locomotives is soon to be made.

CANADIAN NORTHERN ONTARIO

SHORT LINE TO MUSKOKA AND PARRY SOUND

WINTER TIME TABLE
In effect December 9th, 1907

NORTHBOUND

	No. 1	No. 3
TORONTO	† 9.00 am	† 5.30 pm
WASHAGO	12.45 pm	9.00 pm
PARRY SOUND	3.10 pm	....

SOUTHBOUND

	No. 2	No. 4
PARRY SOUND	† 9.00 am	†........
WASHAGO	11.35 am	6.45 am
TORONTO	3.00 pm	10.10 am

Observation-Dining Parlor Cars between Toronto and Parry Sound serving meals a la carte.

† Daily except Sunday.

OFFICES: All Stations, also Cor. King and Toronto and Union Station. Phone, Main 5179.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

CHRISTMAS and NEW YEAR RATES

RETURN TICKETS between all stations in Canada, east of Port Arthur and to Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Detroit, Mich., and Niagara Falls and Buffalo, N.Y., on sale at

SINGLE FARE
good going Dec. 24 and 25, returning until Dec. 26, also Dec. 31 and January 1, returning until Jan. 2, 1908.

FARE AND A THIRD
good going Dec. 21, 22, 23, 24 and 25, also Dec. 28, 29, 30 and 31 and Jan. 1, all good returning until Jan. 3, 1908.

Tickets and all information from

W. McILROY,
Canadian Pacific Agent
349 George St. Peterboro'
or write C. B. Foster, D.P.A., Toronto

Letterheads

¶What you think about you Business Stationery isn't quite so important as what your correspondent thinks.

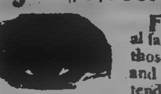
¶Don't have inferior paper and work in your Business Stationery. Don't try good work and paper because you like it, altogether, but because it influences the man you write in your favor

¶The Review Job Department will give you the best work obtainable and superior paper and envelopes. Your order set, printed and cared for for you, particularly you

¶A Call or Phone will bring to you samples.

THE REVIEW
PETERBOROUGH

Why Peterborough Citizens Now Come to Dr. Browett for Glasses



FIRST REASON. The Eye glasses supplied by Dr. Browett are ground in one of the largest and best optical factories in America. Skilled workmanship and quality have placed the lenses produced by this firm far in advance o. those ground in the ordinary factory. Dr. Browett devotes his exclusive attention to Optical Work—examining eyes, and teaching Opticians the use of the modern eye instruments. The number of Optical colleges this gentleman has attended, his experiences throughout the United States and Canada as a teacher of opticians, the thousands of satisfied patrons in various parts of America, wherever ne has visited in his teaching capacity, his equipment of instruments and knowledge of their use are sufficient reasons for Dr. Browett's success since making Peterborough his permanent home, and our store his head office.

McDERMID & JURY'S, Drug Store,
300 George Street, Peterborough, Ont.

A Story of Absorbing Interest

The Rogue's March

By E. W. HORNUNG, author of "Raffles, the Amateur Cracksman," "Stingaree," etc.

"Yes, sir, request!" cried the major. "Command, sir, is a thing I don't take from a gentleman I've never had the honor of setting eyes on, and this is one that Sir Richard Bourke, sir, would sooner have died than give!"

Daintree pursed up his eyes. As it was only by patient exercise of two characteristic qualities that he had got the letter at all, so he now saw that he must trust to those two qualities to overcome this other masterful man. He must be diplomatic, he must have patience, he must pick his way where he could not force it, and it was very clear that there would be no forcing this Major Honeybone.

The letter authorized and begged the major to deliver and hand over Thomas Erichsen, Seahorse, then undergoing sentence in the major's iron gang, to the bearer, who particularly wished to have him for his assigned bodyservant and undertook to make himself thenceforward responsible for the said convict's good behavior. It was an irregular letter. No reason was given for granting such a favor at all. It did say, however, that Mr. Daintree would give his reasons, and with the letter in both hands, as though on the point of tearing it up, the major leaned back in his chair and regarded the other with a prolonged and curious stare.

"What are your reasons?" he asked at length.

"He is an innocent man," replied Daintree impressively.

"A convicted murderer, I understand."

"Wrongly convicted. I followed his case. Did you?"

"No, sir," said the major. "They give me quite enough work out here."

"Well, I did follow it," the visitor went on. "Between ourselves, Major Honeybone, I did a great deal more than that. The case interested me from the first. I knew something about this poor lad. That knowledge, together with the circumstances of the case, convinced me at the time that he was an innocent man."

"He isn't one now," remarked Major Honeybone.

"I—I am not a pauper, sir," proceeded Daintree, with embarrassment. "I don't want this to go any farther; but, you see, I knew something about the boy, and, in short, I found the money for his defense."

"The dickens you did!" exclaimed the major. "Then you were a friend of his?"

"I am his friend, sir, though he has never seen me."

"It was a noble thing to do—'pon my soul it was!" observed the major, very much impressed. "Quite quixotic, 'pon my soul!"

This open admiration bit Daintree in his weakest spot. He leaned forward and quoted the irresistible figures in a sudden blaze of self satisfaction.

"Lor'!" said the major. "You don't say so? Gadzooks!"

"When I do a thing at all," remarked Daintree, with perfect truth, "I do it with all my heart. Either that or I leave it alone. So I need hardly tell you I didn't stop short at Sergeant Culliford. No, sir, I went to Lord John Russell himself. It would be an affectation were I to conceal my impression that his lordship's final decision was not uninfluenced by what I said."

Major Honeybone was too used to lies not to know the truth when he chanced to hear it. He filled up both glasses and sucked thoughtfully at his cigar. Daintree watched him with an eager eye.

"So he owes his life to you?" said the major at last. "Well, sir, then it is my duty to tell you that he owes you the greatest conceivable grudge."

Daintree sighed.

"I know what you mean," said he. "I have heard much from the principal superintendent of convicts. I am only afraid I have more to hear from you."

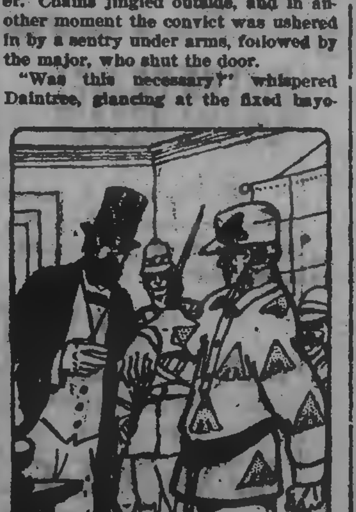
"Not a great deal," said the major, shrugging his shoulders. "He has had four floggings here and one before he came here, but that's always the way. I have known convicts who have never had the lash, but very few who've only had it once. It has a bad effect. But what can you do? I may tell you, sir, now that I think we understand each other, you are not the only man interested in Erichsen. I take an interest in him myself, but there's no doing anything with him, and there would be no doing anything with any of 'em if I didn't come down on him as he will insist on deserving. I am sorry for him. I am sorry for you as his friend, but he's the most dangerous man in my gang, and it would be a piece of madness to set him free. It would amount to that, you know, but Gipps can't possibly push the matter any further after what I shall tell him. and no more must you, Mr. Daintree—you mustn't, indeed. Come, sir, I can't say more. I am almost as sorry as you are. He's a good sportsman!" cried old Honeybone, who was one himself. "I only wish he was hunting with the hounds instead of running with these confounded foxes of convicts!"

Daintree took all this meekly. The major was not a little softened; that was something, but he might be made softer yet. It seemed to Daintree that a sufficiently affecting interview between himself and Erichsen, with Major Honeybone looking on, might have that effect. He pictured the convict in tears upon his knees, he heard his grateful broken utterances. He foresaw moisture even in the major's orbs, and he was prepared if necessary to go upon his own knees to crave the interview.

It was not necessary. Honeybone shrugged his shoulders and left the room, with Daintree sitting very still in his chair. He was not so still when the door shut, however. He sprang up and looked in a glass. He sat down again, wiping his forehead and his lips and shrinking from what he courted like a swain. He had taken deep note of Erichsen at his trial. That honest, fearless, guiltless gaze, he could see it still, yet he had sought it in vain half an hour since in the iron gang.

A soldier entered with a lighted lamp. Daintree pushed back his chair a little and was kept waiting no longer. Chains jingled outside, and in another moment the convict was ushered in by a sentry under arms, followed by the major, who shut the door.

"Was this necessary?" whispered Daintree, glancing at the fixed bayonet, with a shudder.



"Take it away," growled Tom.

"Quite," replied the major aloud. "You don't know your man."

He did not indeed. The fearlessness remained, and that was all.

Daintree was speaking nervously, forcibly, with none of his habitual affectations, with little of his customary flow. He was saying he had taken an interest in the case at home in England and had all along believed in the prisoner's innocence. The prisoner stopped him at that word.

"There's only one man living who thinks so," said he. "I know now where I've seen you before. It was at my trial. You are the man."

"What man?"

"The one that saved my life. My worst friend!"

The hoarse and surly voice stabbed Daintree to the heart. He saw Honeybone look at him and recalled the major's very similar words. He started up and offered Erichsen his hand.

"Take it away," growled Tom. "Say what you want with me, for God's sake!"

No; it was not Daintree's ideal interview. As little did it resemble the meeting with his benefactor which Tom had once pictured and even vainly solicited, but all so long ago—in that other life—that upon him the contrast was lost. All he still remembered was that he had once imagined himself indebted to this person for the blessed gift of life. All he now perceived was his mistake and what a malignant curse that blessed gift had proved. Not that he resented it any more. He no longer resented anything in the world. Even this person's kind, well meant, emotional remarks moved him to no stronger feeling than one of slight impatience, nor was he listening when a look, an intonation, a pause, informed him that he had been asked a question.

"Say it again," said Tom.

"I want you for my assigned servant," repeated Daintree, disregarding both the decision and the presence of Major Honeybone, who sat there quite enjoying the prospect of further opposition. "I want to be your friend—to take you away from this ghastly place—to sponge the very memory of it out of your mind. The governor agrees to it. I have his written leave. Will you come with me, Erichsen? Will you come? Will you come?"

"You're very good," said Tom. "I prefer to stop where I am."

"What?" cried both gentlemen at once. The major looked personally aggrieved.

"I prefer the iron gang."

"To my house—my protection—my friendship?"

Horror and mortification were in the rich, strong tones and in the flushed and swarthy face.

"I prefer the iron gang," repeated Tom, but his voice was weaker—he noticed it himself—and with the next breath was crying savagely that he would not go, that he would stop where he was, and who was Daintree to come interfering there? A lot he minded what the governor or what fifty governors said. There he was, and there he meant to stick. No power on earth should shift him out of that.

"Oh!" said the major. "No power, eh?"

"Short of a file of red coats, which you can't spare."

"Sentry, remove that man!"

The rest of the gang were at supper. Tom clanked in and sat down with a rattle. He nodded to one or two desperate kindred spirits, half proudly, as much as to say: "All right, my lads. I'm not the man to desert his pals. I'm true game to those that are true game to me. I'm that if I'm nothing else." These indeed were the words in his heart, but nobody answered his nod; only some irons jingled where Creasey had reached out under the table and given Macbeth a kick.

As they were all shuffling out of the mess shed Butter took a pill of paper from his mouth and pressed it into Tom's hand. Tom unrolled it on his ledge and furtively read it while the sentry still stood with his lantern on the threshold.

These eleven words:

All up since Sealer went. Mac and Cresy mean to squeak.

Hardly had he deciphered them when a wardsman thrust in his head and summoned Erichsen to the major's quarters.

"They've been quick about it," thought Tom as another wardsman joined them on the way.

The major looked very stern and strong. Daintree was drawing on his gloves. Tom thought he recognized the little heap of clothes upon the floor. The trousers were blood stained still.

"Now, sir!" cried the major, with a glittering eye. "I think you said that no power on earth would shift you out of this? Off with those irons, men, and he shall see!"

Through the black window glowed the curricle lamps.

CHAPTER XXIV.

Tom crawled into the vehicle as though those heavy chains still dangled about his legs. Nothing was so strange as the sudden cessation of the horrid jingle which had marked and mocked every movement of his body for four whole months. He felt quite lost without it, and he clambered into the curricle without a word. Daintree cracked his whip, and that was the sole sound from either of them in the first half hour of keen and starlit freedom.

"Feel cold, Erichsen?"

"No."

"Because you can have my coat if you do. My things are thicker. Only say the word."

He said nothing. Such gratitude as he felt in his degraded heart was not yet so poignant as to need expression. It was a very vague, dull sense at present. But Daintree understood. He had simply to sit next that silent, aged, callous figure to understand all.

They drove on to Maitland, where they supped handsomely and lay all night. In the morning Tom was well and warmly clothed at the best store in the township. And that day the difference was that he kept turning to look over his shoulder and this at shorter intervals as the day wore on.

"Is anything following us?" said Daintree once.

"Not yet," said Tom.

"Not yet! Why, what do you expect?"

"What I deserve," said Tom. And Daintree had the wisdom not to press him upon this or any other point. He knew what was alleged against Erichsen at Castle Sullivan. He had heard the story from the principal superintendent. He began to think there might be some truth in it, after all.

Next morning he was sure. They had put up at an unusually comfortable roadside inn, where Tom had a very excellent room, yet he came down with wild, unrested eyes and twitching fingers.

"It's no use!" he bitterly exclaimed.

"Haven't you slept?"

"Not a wink. I heard them coming all night long—heard them coming with the chains. Oh, take me back! They have made me the guilty man they said I was when I wasn't. I deserve everything now."

And a second day of terror he spent in the curricle, looking backward hour after hour, but when that also passed over and still nothing happened he began to think that either Butter was mistaken or the major incredulous or his enemies of another mind now that he was gone. At all events he took heart of grace and at last thanked Daintree for what he was doing, without asking, however, why he was doing it.

On the third forenoon the spires and windmills of Sydney fringed the sky. Then they mounted a hill, and there was the harbor sparkling above the roofs of the convict city.

"We had better drop the 'Erichsen' now," said Daintree as they drove up to the turnpike gate. "I suggest that 'Thomas' will suffice both Christian name and surname. I think it would be preferable for the present. What say you?" Tom consented with perfect readiness and indifference, and he looked behind him for the last time as much as to say what was the only thing on earth about which he was not as indifferent as the dead.

They drove down Brickfield hill over the spot where Nat Sullivan had tumbled off his horse and past the notorious inn where he had lain. It flourished still. And still the doleful felon music filled the air, striking more staccato in this crisp weather than six months since in the heavy heat, but it struck to Tom's heart no more. On the quay there was a crowd and a fresh shipload of convicts disembarking, but Tom felt no pity for them either. And now, when his indignation was aroused, it was by the lounging laziness of a road gang, whose overseers were smoking and chatting with the convicts, while the latter moved neither hand nor foot, and the sentries yawned at their posts.

"They want the major there," said Tom grimly. "He'd have that peck of stones about their ears if they stood looking at it much longer!"

Daintree turned and regarded him with a particularly pleased and kindly smile; then Tom knew that he had just volunteered his first remark since leaving the stockade, and he thought he knew with what sympathetic patience his first voluntary remark had been waited for, though he only now suspected this from Daintree's smile. His heart swelled a little. They put up at an inn, and he made himself more useful to his new master than he had been yet.

The bungalow was some few miles out upon the delightful woody shore of Rose bay. They drove on there in the afternoon, and the greenwood dipping beyond the post and rails of the Old Point Piper road, the lush meadows dipping beyond that and the azure arm of the harbor seen through the one and above the other were all a very wonderful change after that terrible plateau of the past four months. Nor had they any feature in common with the detested region of Castle Sullivan. Tom had seen nothing like this up country. To crown all, the bungalow lay bathed in the richest sunset when they reached it and Rose bay deserved that name indeed, for its sunlit waters appeared to be dimpled with wet rose leaves from strand to strand. It was as though nature herself were trying to soften that frozen heart and to welcome Tom Erichsen to this haven of peace.

An old man came out to see to the horses. A somewhat younger woman stood in the mellow light upon a wide veranda. Daintree greeted them with an air—almost the first he had permitted himself in Tom's company. With another, however, he took Tom's hand and expressed characteristically the hope that the threshold of his house would prove to be also that of a new life for Tom.

"You have left the past behind you, Thomas," said he, "and all your enemies with it. Rest assured of that. If they follow you here, they'll have me to deal with. I can promise them they have laid their last finger on you. No; there's a brighter future ahead of you, I trust, and always recollect—I am your friend."

"I suppose you are," said poor Tom in reply. He could believe and feel but little even yet.

"You suppose I am?" cried Daintree, looking rather queerly at Tom. "You shall dine at my table!" he then exclaimed. "You shall have all your meals with me! Mrs. Fawcett, lay a place for Thomas and show him his room."

It was a little room certainly, but an incredibly pleasant one. The window almost overhung the bay, and the bed was a white feast for bloodshot eyes.

"Dinner's ready. Don't you spoil it, young man, by keeping master waiting," said Mrs. Fawcett, and then over her shoulder as she went, "My word, but you're a lucky one!"

Perhaps he required telling so. It was all so difficult to believe, so impossible to understand. But bewilderment had not yet given place to curiosity.

He was, however, beginning to realize that he had fallen from the cruelest into the kindest hands on earth when, returning to the veranda, he encountered the kind man, with a gleaming eye and a set face quite inconsistent with that impression. A fox terrier, indifferently bred, with one ear up and one down, but the most eager eyes, had wildly welcomed Daintree while Daintree was welcoming Tom. This little dog he was now dragging savagely along by its collar.

"Won't come into my study!" explained Daintree in a voice of amazing fury. "Once I thrashed him in there, so now he thinks he won't come in. But he shall—he shall—he shall!" Dr. Sullivan himself in dealing with a recalcitrant convict could have employed no more ferocious tone.

To be continued.

SUBSCRIBERS PLEASE NOTICE

Readers, whose street number has been lately changed, will confer a favor if they will notify this office so that the correction can also be made on our list. tf

FOR XMAS GREETING

Order your cards now and secure the best as the neatest are always sold out first. Many different styles printed with your own greeting and name, at all prices. Call and make your selection at the Review Office.

Hotelman Responsible.

Calgary, Alta., Dec. 14.—A decision by Justice Harvey yesterday laid down the principle that innkeepers are responsible for goods left in hotels by guests, he awarding W. N. Tompkins of Okotoks $100 in his suit against the Royal Hotel for compensation for a fur coat which was taken from a cloakroom.

$85,000 Short.

Sherbrooke, Que., Dec. 14.—A petition is in circulation by the friends of A. H. Anderson, late treasurer of the Quebec Central Railway, to be presented to the court asking for clemency. Anderson pleaded guilty to appropriating upwards of $85,000. He was remanded until Monday for sentence.

They Get Work.

London, Dec. 14.—(C. A. P.)—The report of the Privy Council committee respecting Scotch emigrants who alleged they were refused work promised by the G. T. R. at Portage la Prairie in May, has been received, and shows the company immediately employed them elsewhere.

Strike Darkens Bordeaux.

Bordeaux, Dec. 14.—The city was in darkness last night, as the result of a strike of gas men and employes of the electric light company, who are demanding an increase in pay.

All business houses were compelled to close at nightfall.

Two Years For Forgery.

Port Arthur, Dec. 14.—John Griffin and Harry Simpson have been sentenced to two years in the penitentiary for forging and passing checks.

Dye

With Maypole Soap

Maypole! a cake of soap that dyes and washes at the same time. A household world in England. No mess, no trouble, no uncertain results, no streaks. The tired women's best friend—an Economical Home Dye.

MAYPOLE SOAP 65

10c. for Colors—15c. for Black.
Frank L. Benedict & Co., Montreal.

DODD'S
KIDNEY PILLS
CURES ALL KIDNEY DISEASES
RHEUMATISM
BRIGHT'S DISEASE
BACKACHE

Starr Skates

For Ladies

"Ladies' Flanged Beaver" is only one of a dozen styles, we make especially for Ladies' use.

You will find just the Skates you want—for fancy skating, rink use, hockey and racing—in Starr Skates.

Write for the 1908 Skate Book, if your dealer does not handle Starr Skates and "Rex" and "Micmac" Hockey Sticks.

The Starr Manufacturing Co., Limited

DARTMOUTH, N. S. CANADA. 16

BRANCH OFFICE . . . . . TORONTO, Ont.

Something Unique is Cowan's

Coconut Cream
Icing For Cake

THE LADIES ARE CHARMED WITH IT. MADE ONLY BY

THE COWAN CO., Ltd., TORONTO

FOR THE LADY WHO CALLS

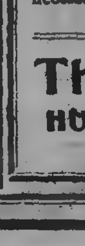
Visiting List and Social Engagement Book—A Dainty and Useful Gift.

Those ladies who find it difficult to keep track of their social debts in the way of calls which have to be returned, invitations to various society functions which have been received will be pleased to learn that a dainty little book has been issued from the presses of the Review which will fill their need. The city has grown so rapidly of late years that it has become almost necessary for each lady to have a special reception day each month when her friends will be sure to find her at home. To keep a record of these will be an easy matter with one of these little books. They are prettily bound in blue linen, lettered in gold and printed on good paper. There are two pages for every day in the month, arranged, according as the day is, first Monday, second Tuesday, etc. At the back of the book are pages for invitations received, out-of-town addresses, special reception dates, and memoranda. One of the books would make a dainty and acceptable Xmas gift. The books are on sale at the bookstores at the price of 50c

CENTRAL LIVERY STABLES
AND
VETERINARY INFIRMARY
193 Hunter Street, west of Oriental

If you wish a rig of any kind for any occasion ring us up and you will find everything up-to-date in the livery line. Both Phones 278. Night Phone Bell 425 B

D. McKERCHER, V.S.



YOUR OWN HAIR MADE UP AS DESIRED . .

By home talent, where you are sure of satisfaction, or matched correctly in shade and quality.

Switches, Natural Wavy Pomp Latest Coiffures

Let us show you what we can do before you patronize some outside party. We guarantee to please you at lowest prices in the city.

Back Hair Dressing, Shampooing, etc.

MRS. BYRNE'S
George Street Second Door North of Dutton's

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

Xmas and New Year's Excursions

Between all stations in Canada, also to Detroit and Port Huron, Mich., Buffalo, Black Rock, Niagara Falls and Suspension Bridge, N.Y.

AT SINGLE FARE
Good going December 24th and 25th, 1907
RETURNING UNTIL DEC. 26, 1907
Also good going December 31st, 1907, and January 1st, 1908, returning until January 2nd, 1908.

AT FARE AND ONE-THIRD
Good going Dec. 21st to Dec. 25th, 1907.
Returning until January 3rd, 1908.
Also good going Dec. 28th, 1907, to Jan. 1st, 1908.
Returning Until January 3rd, 1908

For further information and tickets call on
W. BUNTON
City Passenger Agent
F. SANDY,
Depot Ticket Agent
Or write Mr J. D. McDonald, D.P.A., Union Depot, Toronto

HOCKEY SKATES

From 75c to $5.00

Skates repaired and sharpened
General machine work.

METHEREL'S CYCLE WORKS
225 Hunter Street

Private Greeting Cards

THE highly colored and lithographed Christmas Card in vogue a few years ago has passed away entirely.

IN place has come the much more appropriate Personal Greeting Card.

OF these the Review Office is showing a great many original designs.

YOUR order should be given immediately, while the selection is so complete.

SHOULD you desire a Card specially designed to your order, promptness is absolutely necessary.

The Review
HUNTER STREET
PETERBOROUGH

ESTIMATES AND RESULTS

The evidence before the Royal Commission showed that over 700 SUN LIFE policies had already matured and that in thirty-four per cent. of the cases the amounts originally estimated as likely to be received at the end of the terms, had been realized or exceeded. On all the cases combined the average amount paid had been about ninety-seven per cent. of the estimate. The management may be pardoned for being proud of this record. The estimates now in use since 1900 are lower than former ones, and premiums are higher, so that present estimates should certainly be realized. Statements were also filed showing that $108 is on hand for every $100 required to pay the amounts called for by the present estimates for every deferred profit policy on the books. and this without taking into account the Company's great and increasingly valuable contingent fund. Our policyholders are therefore justified in being particularly optimistic in regard to the Company's probable future profits.

Some one has said, "the true value of a life assurance policy must be gauged by the security of the protection given; if it proves to be a good investment, all the better; when both are shown, there is nothing on earth to equal it."

The security of the protection afforded by the Sun Life of Canada needs no comment, and the profits paid—let our results tell their own forceful story.

W. H. HILL,
Mgr. Central Ont.

SNAPS FOR XMAS

Ebony Mirrors
Ebony Hair Brushes
Ebony Clothes Brushes
Ebony Manicure Sets
Ebony Military Brushes
Real Seal Skin Purses
Hand Satchels
Ladies' Companions
Gentlemen's Companions
Perfumes, etc.

at lowest prices

WARNE BROS.

345 GEORGE ST. PHONE 527

Xmas Photos

Send a family group or the children's photos to your friends at Christmas. Nothing is appreciated more than such remembrances, from

MENDEL'S STUDIO

374 1-2 George St Entrance next Oke's

Got Fox in Very Pecular Manner

And Then Disposed of it for Measly Figure of $1.50

A hunting party consisting of Messrs. Ben Dusty, J. Pilling and J. Miller wounded a fox in Wallace's Grove the other day and followed it for about five miles. when it was running out of the bush across the road a peddler, who espied it threw a piece of iron at it and killed it. He brought it to the city and disposed of it for the paltry sum of $1.50. It is a pretty hard matter to get the better of a peddler in a deal but when he disposed of the fox he certainly did get all that was coming to him.

The Window Decorations Much Admired

Messrs. R. Hall and Sons Have Show Windows Beautifully Adorned

This window

In view of the festive character of this season, and the prevalent spirit of decoration and adornment, the decorations in this windows of Messrs. Richard Hall and Son are most timely. And they are not only timely but very attractive and in fine taste as well. On account of the splendid windows in hich they are shown, as well as the masterly this splendid windows in which they are arranged, the decorations are the source of much admiration from the citizens and visitors to the city.

THE WINDOWS.

In the south window a night scene in a forest is represented, after a storm of sleet and rain. A deer is seen standing under a tree, and in the background is the moon and the diamond studded night sky.

In the centre window is an innumerable array of Christmas novelties while the setting in the next window, is of a Louis XVI drawing room drape with pedestal lamps and cushions of that period.

The north window is a charming one, and the decorations are of the colonial period. Two massive square pillars with bracket lights are here displayed. Across the back is a panel with evergreen edges. In the interior of the window, is a showing of many beautiful fancy Christmas articles.

The store proper of Messrs. R. Hall and Sons has assumed a garb of gladness, and in all departments the bright Yuletide season is cheerfully suggested by the appropriate decoration supplied with a lavish and artistic hand.

WE DON'T GUESS

When we fit glasses. We have the scientific instruments for determining and correcting any and all defects of vision, no matter the nature of your case.

We fit any eye that responds to light. You are invited to call. We delight in showing our methods and equipment. The testing of eyes is not a matter of guess work, nor is it a matter of trying on pairs of ready-made glasses. It is science, governed by principles which none but a person who has studied the anatomy of the eye can understand. No guess work in our method of testing the eye.

OUR WORK IS GUARANTEED

A. A. FOWLER, O.D.
Eyesight Specialist
With NUGENT DRUG CO., 386 George St

INTEREST PAID
QUARTERLY
—ON—
SAVINGS DEPOSITS of $1 and upwards
—THE—
BANK OF OTTAWA

Interest paid
February 28
May 31
August 31
November 30

PETERBOROUGH BRANCHES:
George Street, also Corner Rubidge and Townsend Streets

A. HOLLINGSHEAD, Mgr

They Have Passed Their Examinations

Results of Tests for Non Commissioned Officers

The results of the examinations for non-commissioned officers of the 57th regiment have must been issued. The examiners were Major Clegg, Capt. Bennett and Lieut. Hodgson. To qualify for sergeant 75 per cent. of the total was required and to qualify for coporal 50 per cent. of total was required.

The results are as follows;—

Sergt. H. Barrett, No. 8, total 410, sergt
Corp. A. Morrison, No. 5, total 300, Corp.
Corp. E. Braudt, No. 8, total 395,
Corp. J. Brightman, No. 4, total 380, Sergt.
Pte. C. Rodman, No. 1, total 410, Sergt.
Pte. Elcombe, No. 4, total 390, Sergt.
Pte. G. Foster, No. 5, total 400, Sgt.,
Pte. H. Hall, No. 6, total 410, Sgt,
Pte. R. Pickard, No. 6, total 390, Sgt,
Pte. A. Primeau, No. 6, total 375, Sergt.
Pte. J. Elliott, No. 2, total 345, Corp.
Pte. C. Henry, No. 7, total 375, Sgt,
Pte. J. Logan, No. 7, total 375, Sgt,
Pte. P. Wallace, No. 8, total 320, Corporal's.
Pte. G. Cameron, No. 8, total 285, Corporal's.
Pte. J. Hanstone, No. 4, total 275, Corporal's.
Pte. S. Anderson, No. 4, total 340, Corporal's.
Sergt. W. Duffis, 3rd Dragoons, total 310, comp.

The following orders have been issued by Lt.-Col. A. Stevenson:

Headquarters,
Peterborough, Dec. 10.

Orders by Lieut.-Col. Stevenson, commanding 57th Regt. Infantry, P.R.

No. 1.—The above mentioned members of the N.C.O.'s class having qualified for the rank set opposite their names, will be granted regimental certificates in accordance therewith.

No. 2.—The certificates may be obtained by those entitled to them, from Major E. B. Clegg, 427 George street, any time after the 16th inst.

By order,
E. B. CLEGG,
Act. Adjt.

ADAMS

ADAMS

Christmas Neckwear

Neckwear is under the Christmas spell, This store is considered headquarters for Ladies' Stylish Neckwear, especially at Christmas. Scores of pretty designs and styles, priced as follows:

COLLARS—25c, 50c, 75c and $1.00

FRILLS—15c and 20c, in pretty boxes of four and five frills each.

SCARFS—Beautiful Chiffon and Lace Scarfs at $1.25 up to $3.00, boxed in fancy boxes.

Boxed Handkerchiefs

Lovely range of Linen Handkerchiefs, hemstitched, scalloped and lace edged, boxed in dainty boxes, decorated with neat views and containing four and six handkerchiefs each.

Harry Adams

Express Companies Are Preparing for Christmas

Many Gifts Are Now Sent by Express and the Companies Are Getting in Shape to Handle a Rush of Business.

Probably no one is more busy at the Christmas season than the Express Companies. They are kept going from early morning until late at night, delivering Christmas gifts, entrusted to them. A great many people send their presents by express. Large parcels on which the postage charge would be heavy are sent in this way, and then a quicker delivery is assured than through the post office. All goods marked for Christmas are taken to their respective owners before that day. Valuables such as jewellery are best remitted by express, as it is practically the only safe way.

The two local express offices have prpared for the great Christmas rush. During the past week the Dominion Company have sent to over five hundred persons in the city, circulars setting forth the advantages of shipping through them and assuring its patrons of a prompt delivery of all packages given into their hands. What no doubt is greatly appreciated by citizens intending to send parcels by express is the labels sent with the circulars, some being for articles of glass, others being marked "Do not open until Christmas."

Three delivery sleighs will give the people an excellent service. During the past year the business of the Dominion Express Company increased to such a large extent that it was found necessary to have three men delivering all the time. No extra help will be added, as it is thought three experienced men can do much better work than engaging new ones.

Next week will se a great rush at the local offices, but being well prepared for it, everything will be carried out most satisfactorily.

The Canadian Express Company have all three sleighs on the road in anticipation of the big rush. Mr. Fred Skitch, the local manager, says all their parcels will be delivered promptly.

The express drivers state that the increase in business is already noticeable, but the big rush is yet to come.

Preparations for Holiday Rush Being Made at Post Office

Extra Clerk and Carrier to Handle and Distribute Mail Matter—A Great Deal of Mail Expected—Convenience of Free Delivery.

The holiday rush of mail is already being felt, although the local post office department is making preparations for handling more mail matter this year than any in the history of the post office in Peterborough. The mail carrying system is in its infancy in Peterborough and the carriers will have their work cut out for them when Santa Claus gets busy sending out his multitudinous gifts.

Although the postmen have had a great deal of work to do in delivering the mails, it will be necessary to have another carrier added to the staff and it is needless to say he will have plenty to do. An extra man will also be placed on the office staff. The delivery service of the Yuletide mail will be much appreciated by the citizens, as it will relieve the rushing and crowding at the mail wickets, the rush for the boxes and the general confusion that has prevailed in the post office in past years.

To be able to adequately look after the heavy holiday work an additional member of the office staff, Mr. T. W. Robinson, will be taken on, while Mr. Jack O'Brien, of Wolfe street, will be the extra carrier. These new additions to the local service will be made on Dec. 16th. It may be necessary to have another carrier placed permanently on the staff of mail deliverers, owing to the large amount of matter that reaches the city for distribution. However, this matter has not been definitely decided upon.

Peterborough Man Appears to Have Great Invention

Power Generator That Will Revolutionize Manufacturing Conditions

Has Worked on it For 25 Years

John McGill, who resides at 333 Sherbrooke street, has invented a power generator which, if it fulfills the claims of the inventor, will revolutionize the present day methods of generating power. In fact, Mr. McGill's invention comes pretty nearly solving the great question of perpetual motion which has racked the brains of inventors for generations. Mr. McGill, however, makes no claim in this direction and his object in working on the invention was not to solve the problem of perpetual motion, but to secure a cheaper, better and simpler way of generating power than the methods used at the present time.

A Review representative recently called at Mr. McGill's home and was shown a model of the machine or engine upon which he has been working for years and which he has now perfected, or at least perfected in the inventor's use of the word. Mr. McGill has constructed a small engine in which the power is generated by water passing through an arrangement of valves. The water is placed in a tank situated just above the machine and feeds into the cylinder from a tube. The marvellous part of the mechanism is that the water, after passing through valves and generating power is carried back to the tank again through a pipe, being forced back by the power produced in passing through. The engine consists of two parts, connected of course, and of much the same mechanism. The water passes through the first part and sets it in motion and then passes through the second generating power in it also. This latter power would be utilized when the engine would be used for driving machinery, etc., while the power generated in the first section of the engine is used for returning the water to the tank. If the engine works successfully, and Mr. McGill is ready to prove that it will, all that will be necessary to run an engine and generate power is to fill a large tank with water and let it feed into the cylinder of the engine. There is no waste as the water is returned to the tank by the engine's own power, and the only diminishing in the supply of water would be caused by evaporation.

Mr. McGill's engine can can also be run by steam as was proved by a recent trial made at Parker's Dye Works, when it attained great speed. Mr. McGill has been working on his models for over twenty-five years and is an inventor of considerable genius. He has also been working on models for several other mechanical inventions, but has spent the most time and thought on the engine.

He claims that he now has a perfect power generator which will generate power at a very small cost and in any city, town or village regardless of the absence of river, water falls, etc. He claims that it will generate power as high as 100,000 horse power, or even higher if required.

Mr. McGill will be pleased to show and explain his invention to anyone interested who calls at his home at 333 Sherbrooke street. His invention appears to be a wonderful one and is worth investigation by those interested.

"The Peterborough Light and Power Company wishes to remind its customers that Monday December 16th. is the last day discount will be allowed on November accounts. The office will be open during the evenings of the 14th., and 16th., from 8 P. M. until 11 P. M.

Christmas War Cry is Fine Edition

Best Number of Publication Ever Issued—Overflowing With Reading Matter of High Quality

One of the most attractive and readable publications that has been received by the Review this year is the Christmas number of the War Cry. From one cover to another it contain intelligence of a very interesting, and in most instances of a decidedly helpful character, it is beyond a doubt the most comprehensive and complete number of the Christmas War Cry that has yet been published. It contains a great many commendable features noticeable among which are several artistic and striking illustrations. Last year 1,300 copies of the War Cry were disposed of locally and this year over 1500 have been issued for Peterborough and they should find a ready sale. Two handsome pictorial supplements are embodied in the issue and one of them is the latest and best portraits of General Booth, taken during his recent tour through the States. On the cover design, which is a most elaborate and tasteful one is captivating picture of Master Bond, the son of Editor Bond of the War Cry. Of much local interest is a contribution to "Our Shack Stove Story," competition by Staff Captain Goodwin of the Peterborough barracks. "Christmas in Denmark," by Col. Lowton, the chief secetary, is a story of absorbing interest. Col. Lowton is coming to Peterborough next Sunday and will speak at all three meetings at the Barracks. There are other articles and stories too numerous to recognize individually and all of distinct merit and worth.

The Christmas War Cry should enjoy a particularly large sale all over the Province.

Christmas Turkeys in Much Demand

At To-day's Market — Large Attendance — Prices Reasonable

The lordly Christmas turkey was in much demand at the market this morning, but the supply was equal to the requirements. They were picked up quickly, and the prices asked were very reasonable. They ranged anywhere from one to two dollars. Geese were not sought so eagerly. There was a large number of them offered at 90 cents and $1.00 apiece. Chickens sold at from 45 to 60 cents per pair. Butter is still selling at 29 and 30 cents per pound, and eggs, of which there is a great scarcity, realized thirty cents per dozen.

On the outside market beef sold at 4 and 5 cents, while fresh pork brought 9 and 10 cents. Potatoes were 85 cents per bag, and apples varied in price according to the kind.

"The Peterborough Light and Power Company wishes to remind its customers that Monday December 16th. is the last day discount will be allowed on November accounts. The office will be open during the evenings of the 14th., and 16th. from 8 P. M. until 11 P. M.

BILL CROWLEY GIVEN $80 AND ADDRESS

Remembered by Associates at C.G.E. at Noon To-day

Another proof of "Bill" Crowley's popularity, and the high regard in which he is universally held, was shown today, when he was presented with a complimentary address and purse of $80 from the Canadian General Electric Works today. A large crowd assembled at the gatehouse for the occasion. Mr. Crowley replied in suitable terms, and thanked his donors for their kindness and expressions of good will. He referred feelingly to his connection with the C.G.E.

Mr. W. A. Brundrette read the address, and Mr. Chas. McIntyre made the presentation.

The address is as follows;

Mr. William F. Crowley;

After sixteen years' comradeship, it is not easy to pick up, and break away from the many friendships that "good fellows" make in long period. However, you have decided to join the Westward, Ho! call, and establish yourself in that great and glorious west that has been given us to open up and build up for the glory of one united Canada.

We assure you that though you have made this decision, fully believing that you are bettering yourself, we regret that you are leaving us, as, though the old saying is, "there are just as good fish in the sea as ever were caught," we or you cannot well afford to break lasting friendships. You have the proud distinction of departing from among us without leaving a single enemy behind you.

We have only one kick to make—you are perpetuating a grave error which you have always made—that is, you have become such a confirmed old bach. that you have joined the Girl-less Telephone Company, and are going to a practically girlless country. We draw your attention to this before you actually leave Peterborough, because there are some mighty nice girls at home.

XMAS CHEER

CENTRAL LIQUOR STORE

141 HUNTER STREET

Brandies, Port and Sherry Wines, St. Augustine, Native Port, also the highest grade Scotch Whiskies to be found in Peterborough.

Something good in Rye, namely:—

MITCHELL'S SPECIAL RYE WHISKY

Quality the best in Peterborough and a little better.

Remember the place
The Old Reliable Liquor Store

F. J. R. MITCHELL

ESTABLISHED 1873

WE WANT TO MAKE THIS A RECORD DECEMBER

This is the 35th Anniversary of the City Clothing Store and we want our customers and we want the public to join us in making this December the "best ever." To accomplish this we have Reduced everything in the store in price until New Year's. Every Customer gets a benefit :—

Good Tweed Working Overcoats	5.00 to 6.00
Fine Winter Overcoats	7.00 to 8.50
Melton and Beaver Overcoats	Special at 10 00 to 15.00
Heavy Tweed Suits	4.50 to 7.00
Scotch Tweed and Worsted Suits	8.00 to 12.00
Fine Black Worsted Suits	10.00 to 15.00
Fine Worsted or Tweed Pants	2.50, 3.00, 4.00
Good Heavy Wool Working Pants	1.00, 1.50, 2.00
Boys' Cosy Winter Overcoats	3.00 to 4.50
Boys' Storm Proof Overcoats	4.00 to 6.50
Boys' 3-piece Suits	2.50 to 4.50
Boys' 2-piece Suits	1.50 to 2.50
Scotch Shetland Wool Underwear, reg. 75c	50
Elastic Ribbed Underwear, Utica Brand, fleecelined, reg. 90c for 65 or for the Suit	1.25
Heavy Wool Ribbed Shirt and drawers, regular 60c for	45
Fleece lined	45, 50
Very fine qualities of Scotch Wolsley and Natural Wool Underwear, up to	2.50

ORDERED WORK—If you need an Overcoat or Suit made to order before New Year's, you can't find a choicer selection of cloth to pick from. Best of work and satisfaction.

H. LeBrun & Co.

Two Entrances George and Hunter Sts.

Ladies' Hand Bags and Purses

Just the thing for Useful and Beautiful Gift now on display at the store that gives the largest choice, the best leathers and closest prices.

Ladies' and Gentlemen's TRAVELLING SATCHELS and TRUNKS of all kinds, in the largest selection in the city.

B. SHORTLY SIGN OF THE BIG HORSE AT THE DOOR

TELEPHONE No. 319

Entertained by the Mayor

Prof. Shortt, of Queen's University who was the speaker at the meeting of the Canada Club last night, was entertained by Mayor McWilliams during his stay in the city. A number of the officers of the club were the guests of the Mayor after the banquet, and had an opportunity of coming more closely acquainted with becoming more closely acquainted Prof. Shortt.

BIBLE CLASS DISCUSSIONS

The men's social adult Bible class will meet at 2.30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, in the George street Methodist church, with Rev. E. A. Pearson as leader. Some of the questions which may arise are these;—

"How did God reveal Himself in the past ages?"

"What has been the divine record of God revealing Himself to mankind in the past, compared with the present age?"

"Are we responsible for the sins of omission as we are for the sins of commission?"

"What is the cause of the laxity of family government today?"

COMMON SENSE GIFTS

If you want to make two families genuinely happy this holiday season, try giving the old cook stove that has given you years of service, to some needy household, and present the good wife with a

PANDORA RANGE

You will thus make two homes happy, especially your own where the great comfort of using the Pandora Range will be greatly appreciated.

ADAMSON & DOBBIN

NEW BRICK BLOCK—SIMCOE STREET

THE DAYLIGHT STORE

Last Call . . .

To Our Money-Saving Sale

We're now making the last call to our great Money-Saving Sale.

There are still a few days left in which Clothing and Furnishings can be bought at bargain prices.

OUR SALE WILL POSITIVELY END SATURDAY, 14th

A whole army of buyers have already been benefited by our cut prices. Many a patron will have reason to remember this sale with deep gratitude, while the man who does not come in will miss a great opportunity. We've still many choice garments left. We're giving full measure at half measure prices.

Men's Suits Reduced Men's Overcoats Reduced Boys' Suits Reduced
Boys' Overcoats Reduced Men's Pants Reduced Men's Fancy Vests Reduced
Furnishings Reduced Underwear Gloves Hosiery Mitts Hdkfs Sweaters, etc

THE BUYER WHO NEVER MISSES A GOOD THING IS HEADED . . . . FOR THIS SALE . . . .

LANG & MAHER, CLOTHIERS AND FURNISHERS TO MEN WHO KNOW
409-411 George St., Peterborough

CHRISTMAS SHOPPING--DO IT NOW

This year we have the Largest Assortment, Best Choice, and without doubt, Lowest Prices. It will be worth your while to do all your shopping with u s.

PEELS (English)—Lemon and Orange	15c lb.
Citron	25c lb.
SPICES—The first thought in our Spices is excellence—then price. You will appreciate a Spice if you get it from us.
FIGS—Large table variety	15c lb.
Choice Five Crown	12 1-2c lb.
Loose Cooking Box Figs	3 lbs. for 25c
ORANGES—Sweet Mexicans	15c, 20c, 25c, 30c dozen
Navels	40c, 50c, 60c dozen
MALAGA GRAPES—Choice fruit	20c lb.
SEEDED RAISINS—16 oz. boxes	15c
12 oz. boxes	12 1-2c
MINCE MEAT—A very clean home-made article, with the best of fruit and spices	3 pounds for 25c
PLUM PUDDINGS—Weston's home-made, ready to use. Put up in 1, 2 and 3 pound cloth	25c per pound

Crescent Brand Raisins—The highest grade of Valencia Raisins procurable, and are thoroughly cleaned by our new process. The price is the same as charged for ordinary fruit uncleaned.

Crescent Brand Currants — A fine, large, selected fruit, thoroughly cleaned by our brush machinery process, which takes out all dirt and sand, leaving Currants ready for use. 3lb for 25c.

MOLASSES—Finest quality, put up in tins.
Large tin	15c
Small tin	10c
DATES—Extra Golden	3 pounds for 25c
Black Ford	12 1-2c lb.
NUTS—Shelled Walnuts	40c lb.
Shelled Almonds	40c and 50c lb.
SULTANA RAISINS—Choice large fruit	15c lb.
TABLE RAISINS—The fruit is extra fine this year and reasonable—Good quality	20c lb.
Choice quality	25c lb.
Extra quality	30c lb.
Highest grade	35c lb.
CIDER—You require Cider for your Christmas cooking—	10c quart—40c gallon
BAKING POWDER—For a high-grade pure Cream of Tartar Powder, use the English Sterling. In pound tins, 20c
Bulk Baking Powder	10c lb.

E. F. MASON CO., Limited -- 3 Stores -

South, 351 GEORGE
Centre, 429 GEORGE
North, 682-4 GEORGE

FOR FINE
Lemons, Oranges
Malaga Grapes
Bananas
and all kinds of fruit and vegetables try
MINOCOLO BROS.
Wholesale and Retail.
Both Phones 337.

Last Chance
FOR XMAS PHOTOGRAPHS

All sittings made before
SATURDAY DEC. 14
will be finished for Xmas

THE ROY STUDIO

BROCK ST.
RINK
SEASON 1907-8

Tickets for the season entitling the holder to all skating privileges, now on sale at the Examiner Office, Peterborough Bookstore, Sanderson & Co., F. A. Clarke's, Best Hardware Co., the Secretary, C. G. Graham, at the Oriental Hotel.

Gentlemen	3.00
Ladies	2.00
Youths, 16 to 18	2.00
Boys under 16	1.50
Girls	1.50

Nothing makes a better Christmas gift for your boy or girl than a Season Ticket for the Brock Street Rink.

STEAMSHIP MOVEMENTS

Special to the Review.

Montreal, Dec. 14th.—The Empress of Britain sailed from St. John for Liverpool at 6.30 o'clock this morning.

Montreal, Dec. 13.—The R.M.S. Empress of Ireland, sailed from Liverpool for St. John at 5.15 today.

CHRISTMAS

is coming soon and you will be face to face with that perplexing question
WHAT SHALL I BUY FOR A PRESENT?

We are ready and willing to solve it for you easily and at a small expenditure of time and money. Here you will find the most beautiful 1907 designs in gold and silver goods. Designs and prices that cannot be found elsewhere.

SCHNEIDER'S
RELIABLE JEWELLERS, 391 GEORGE STREET

THE CITY AND VICINITY

FINE PICTURE FRAMING.

New mouldings, good work, reasonable prices. J. M. GREENE Music Co., George street. dtf

KNOX BOYS' CLUB

The Boys' Club of Knox church met last night and had a profitable meeting. There was a good turnout of the boys.

FUR LINED COATS

We clean and press them and guarantee no injury to the fur. My Valet, 204 Charlotte street. All goods called for and delivered. dtf

CHRISTMAS CAKE.

Best of fruit, choicest of flavorings and perfection of baking, makes Elliott's Christmas cake the finest to be had. Leave orders now, Iced as desired. dtf

MAKE CALENDARS.

Why not make calendars? They are pretty cheap and always acceptable. We have pictures in sepia and colors, fancy embossed cards and dainty calendar pads in many designs. See them at the Review office. 3d

DEEP SEA MISSION.

The third annual "at home" in aid of the above will be held at the Conservatory of Music Hall, on January 1st next, at 9 o'clock. Tickets can be obtained from the secretary, R. H. Marlow, Bank of Commerce. Price one dollar.

AT ST. PAUL'S.

In St. Paul's church tomorrow, the Rev. Robert Pogue, pastor, will preach in the morning on "The Doctrines of the Second Mile." In the evening he will preach on "Who is on the Lord's Side?" At the Bible Class in the afternoon his topic will be "How to Read the Bible."

A GOOD SERVANT.

The Review Want Ad. column solves the problem of how to recover lost articles, get a tenant for a house, secure a servant or help of any kind, obtain roomers or boarders, sell surplus articles around the home, or find something you want to buy. Try it, the cost is low.

CONCERT AT ALL SAINTS.

The Men's Association of All Saints' church is holding a concert on Teusday evening. A good programme is being prepared.

GIFTS TO CHILDREN'S AID

The Children's Aid Society desire to acknowledge the recent donations —Mr. J. E. A. Fitzgerald, $5; Mr. George Webber, $5; Mrs. Bowman, $2.

100 HIGH GRADE VIOLINS.

We are overstocked in violins and are offering bargains for the next two weeks to reduce our stock. 404 George street, Peterborough Music Co. 3d

TAKE NOTE

Of our fine line of Violins, Mandolins, Guitars, etc. Some excellent values, and within easy range for the Xmas trade. Special prices to Old Santa Claus. J. M. GREENE Music Co., Grand opera house building, George street. dtf

SALE AND SOCIAL

St. John's Y.W.A. will hold a social and sale of dolls' clothes, lemonade, cakes, candies, &c., in the school room on Saturday from 3.30 to 6.00 p.m. Silver collection. 2d

HIGH QUALITY

Is the chief characteristic of John's Tea. Under no circumstances will this be altered. There is no such tea value in the whole world, and we will willingly return the purchase price to anyone finding cause for complaint. T. JOHN, Opera House Block, Peterborough. dtf

A CAPITAL CHRISTMAS GIFT.

The head of the family could not do better in the way of Christmas gifts than to present to his excellent wife one of the "Automatic Electric Irons," made by the Collier-Cunningham Company of this city. These irons are a great boon to the housewife. For a good practical Christmas gift, buy one of them.

G. A. Brodie, Bethseda, is the new president of the Agricultural Experimental Union.

SANTA CLAUS at ROUTLEY'S

Santa has paid many visits to his old established Headquarters. Our 2nd floor is heavier stocked with every imaginable Toy or Gift for the little tots than ever was known in the city.

Dolls, Cradles, Hose Carts, Toy Beds, Games all kinds, Toy Carriages, Sleighs, Toy Tea Sets, Whips, Toy Wash Sets, Toy Books; Sleeping, Walking, Kid and Jointed Dolls; Building Blocks, Noah's Arks, Bugles, Drums, Reins, Mechanical Toys, Magic Lanterns, Steam Engines, Banks, Trains.

CHINA SECTION

Bread and Butter Plates, China Cups and Saucers, Jardinieres, Vases, Salad Bowls, Brush Trays, Biscuit Jars' Jelly Pots, China Tea Sets, Fancy Jugs in Sets, Dinner Sets, Chamber Sets, all the newest in natty pieces suitable for presents.

MAIN FLOOR

Manicure Sets, Brush and Comb Sets, Military Sets, Padded Posts, Catholic Prayer Books, English Church Prayer Books, Hymn Books, Bibles, Work Boxes, Collar Boxes, Glove and Handkerchief Sets, Leather Writing Cases and Desks, Music Rolls, Pocket Books, Hand Bags.

As usual we will not allow those not strictly in the fancy goods or stationery lines to compete in any way. Stick to the place that has served you well, there are none who can head us off at our own old game

TORONTO
262-4 QUEEN W

ROUTLEY'S

PETERBORO'
379 GEORGE ST

Smallpox in Parts of Ontario

J. J. Turner & Sons Ship Contagious Disease Tents to Five Municipalities

J. J. Turner and Sons have shipped from their factory this week five smallpox tents to a similar number of municipalities in Ontario that have smallpox cases on their hands. With the tents went the complete equipment of stoves, beds, blankets, etc. The orders were rush ones, being received by telegraph, and they were filled with dispatch.

There is a big demand for these tents for contagious disease patients and Messrs Turner are receiving orders from the United States as well as Canaa.

"The Peterborough Light and Power Company wishes to remind its customers that Monday December 16th. is the last day discount will be allowed on November accounts. The office will be open during the evenings of the 14th., and 16th. from 8 P. M. until 11 P. M.

Knox Church Entertainment

Sunday School Tea and Concert on December 27th

The officers, teachers and members of Knox church Sunday school are making extensive preparations for their Christmas entertainment, which will be held on Friday, December 27tn. Tea will be served in the afternoon and a concert will be given at night. The programme will be furnished by the children and will consist of drills, choruses, etc. The entertainment promises to be most successful.

Conservatory Hall, Tuesday next Dec. 17th, Grand Variety entertainment by the famous "Eckardt" Concert and Bellringer entertainers. Male quartette and wonderful instrumental numbers. 1d

PERSONAL

Mr. Henry Johnston, of Hastings, is in the city.

Mr. James Kendry has returned from a business trip to New York city.

Mr. George L. Blatch, of Ottawa, auditor for the George Matthews Co., is in the city.

Mr. R. Adams Davey, of the Trent Canal staff, was in Lindsay yesterday on business.

Captain Frower of the Steamer Water Lily, has gone on a two months' visit to England.

Sanitary Inspector Ball and wife leave on Monday to spend a few days in New York city.

Mrs. Gilbert Scott and daughter, Jean, of Didsbury, Alberta, are visiting Mrs. Scott's mother, Mrs. A. Woods, Park street.

Miss Helen Davies left today for Toronto, where she will take the soprano solo work in the National Chorus at Massey Hall on Monday, and Tuesday nights.

Mr. Oscar Bumpel, of Berlin, who is associated in theatorium enterprises with Mr. Edwards, manager of the Crystal, is in the city on a short business visit.

Don't miss the bona fide reductions in Underwear at H. LeBrun & Co's. 50 dozen Boys' Shirts and Drawers, fleece-lined, at 25c and 30c each. See our north window for what you can buy for 25c.— H. LeBRUN & CO.

Last Night of Passion Play

Tonight is the last night of the presentation of the Passion Play at the Crystal. Large crowds have showed their appreciation of this beautiful and solemn series of pictures.

1000 GIVEN AWAY 1,000
Every purchaser of $1 00 or over will receive a beautiful Wall Packet and Calendar combined; a very useful article for the home. Special prices on all Xmas goods at
JAMES R. BELL'S
Both Phones. 161 Hunter St

YOUNG MAN ARRESTED ON SERIOUS CHARGE

Clinton Rightmyer faced a serious charge before Magistrate Dumble this morning, that of seduction of a young girl residing on Concession street, east city. It is alleged that the offence took place some time in September last. It appears that the young man wanted to marry the girl, and with that end in view consulted a minister. The divine refused to marry them owing to the fact that the couple were under age, the young lady being only 16 years of age. The prisoner does not seem so willing to marry her now, and thus the charge was laid against him. He didn't plead or elect how he would be tried this morning. Chief Rossel was not ready to go on with the case, and Rightmyer was remanded until Friday next. He was advised to consult some counsel on the matter.

RIGHT REV. BISHOP REEVE.

Who Will Administer the Apostolic Rite of Confirmation in St. John's Church To-morrow Morning and St. Luke's in the Evening

Injured Man is Able to Walk Out

Charles Porteous is Recovering His Assailant Still at Large

Special to the Review.

Millbrook, Dec. 14.—Mr. Charles Porteous, of Cavan Township, who was assaulted and fired upon four times by an unknown tramp, on Thursday evening, is in the village, staying at the residence of Mr. Tucker. His injuries are being dressed daily by Drs. Turner and Montgomery, and Mr. Porteous is able to walk from the house to their office. He is getting along favorably, and is not suffering much pain.

No trace has yet been obtained of Mr. Porteous' assailant. Many reports have been received of men answering his description being seen in various localities, but so far no arrests have been made.

Will Finish up Monday Night

City Council Will Conclude Business for the Year

The City Council will meet on Monday night, and it is expected, will conclude the business for the year. The aldermen who will seek re-election will have a clear three weeks to hustle for votes and make preparations for the elections

The Legal Committee will meet tonight to finish its report for Monday night's meeting. The Fire, Water and Light Committee will meet on Monday night before the council meeting.

ST. JOHN'S MUSIC

The following will be the music at St. John's tomorrow;

Matins and Confirmation service, 10.30 a.m.

The Apostolic Rite of Confirmation will be administered by the Right Reverend Bishop Reeve, assistant to His Grace, the Archbishop of Toronto.

Hymns—391, 348, 209, 205, 280.
Offertory—"Be Thou Faithful Unto Death," from Mendelssohn's "St. Paul."
Evensong—7.00 p.m.
Glorias 23; Magnificat and Nunc Dimittis to C. P. chants, 174; 76.
Hymns—403, 50, 52, 49.
Anthem — "Conquering Kings," Hopkins.

Navel Oranges 25, 30, & 40c. Holly (English) for decorating. On and after Friday night 13 inst. store will be open late. R. A. DUTTON.

An orthodox Jewish hospital is to be established in Chicago at a cost of $125,000.

WANTED

A WOMAN who will take care of an infant child. Will be paid liberally for its board. Apply at Review Office. 3d

"It's Confidence That Does It"

WHITE & GILLESPIE

TO HOUSEKEEPERS:

Another Christmas will soon be here. We can assure Housekeepers of both city and country that we are now ready to provide them with an abundance of the good things necessary for Christmas baking and cooking at enticing prices.

NEW FRUITS

Raisins, Currants, Figs, Prunes, Dates, Candied Peel, Extracts, Syrups, Molasses, Shelled Walnuts and Almonds, Sauces, Pickles, Spices, Sugars, Teas, Coffees, Flour, Biscuits, Cheese, Prime Butter, Fresh Eggs, Breakfast Cereals, etc.

336 GEORGE ST. Phone 208

SAVE YOUR FURS
AND
FUR-LINED COATS

by having them cleaned by the

FRENCH DRY CLEANING

process, which kills all moths and does not injure in the slightest, the finest furs. This is very important at this season, and may mean the saving of the expense of buying new furs. None too fine for the process.

Dyeing, Cleaning, Pressing, and Repairing promptly and thoroughly done at

PARKER'S DYE WORKS

R. M. BEACH
PROPRIETOR.
Phone 250 177 Charlotte St

LADIES, CUT THIS OUT
Dr. Cristion's
FRENCH TOILET ARTICLES
Have been placed on sale with
Miss E. Smith
567 GEORGE STREET
MANICURING, SHAMPOOING
SCALP TREATMENT and FACIAL
MASSAGE SKILFULLY DONE
Appointments made. Mach. Phone 13

Second Hand Stove Bargains
—AT—
BARRETT'S

Why pay $30 for a Heater or $40 for a Range when you can buy either for $5 to $15 at Barrett's Second Hand Store. 187 Simcoe St. next Cavanagh's

ESTABLISHED 1879

J. R. HEINTZ & CO.

STOCKS, GRAIN,
COTTON, COFFEE

J. N. BARBER, Manager
Phone 520

THE
DOMINION BANK
PAYS SPECIAL ATTENTION TO
SAVINGS ACCOUNTS
INTEREST PAID QUARTERLY
JOHN CRANE Manager
Corner George and Simcoe Sts.

THREW AWAY $175.

Ottawa, Ont.—Some hoary-headed philosopher once remarked that there was no such thing as luck. Another misguided thinker stated that money could not buy health. Both of these fallacies have been exploded here in Ottawa. Certainly, when a man loses $175, and then finds something worth many times that amount—he is lucky. And when a man is suffering from disease, and can get relief by buying a certain medicine, then money buys happiness as well as health. At least, that is the way Mr. M. Dery looks at it. "Having suffered for over a year with dyspepsia and indigestion, I spent over $175 for doctors without relief. Hearing of "Fruit-a-tives," he continues in his letter, "I decided to try them. The result is, that I am completely cured after using only two boxes. I cannot praise Fruit-a-tives enough, and I would not be without them in the house."

Good digestion requires strong stomach muscles and plenty of gastric juice. This dissolving fluid is taken from the blood. If blood is poisoned by constipation—sick kidneys—or weak skin action—then gastric juice will be weak.

"Fruit-a-tives" act on the three great blood purifying organs—kidneys, bowels and skin—keep these organs healthy—rid the system of impurities—and thus insure sound digestion.

Take "Fruit-a-tives" and you can eat, and digest, anything your appetite craves. Made of fruit juices and tonics. 50c a box; 6 for $2.50. At druggists or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

THE BANK'S SKATE STORE

Stock The
LUNN'S
AUTOMOBILE
CYCLE
ENGEL'S
STARR
REGAL
MIC MAC
SKATES

Come to us for your Skates and Skate Supplies

Banks Bicycle and Sporting Goods Co.
Under the Market Clock

Peterboro' Boy Home From West

Mr. Richard Smith Now Conducting Big Poultry Ranch Near Spokane

Mr. Richard Smith, an old Peterborough boy, is here on a visit, and will spend a few days at his home here.

In company with his brother, Mr. Elmer N. Smith, he conducts the Peyton Poultry poultry ranch at Cheney, near Spokane, W.T. At present they have about 3,000 birds. They breed single comb white leghorns exclusively, and have made a grand success of the business.

Mr. Smith says when he left Spokane,—a city of about 90,000 people—some two weeks ago, times were pretty dull there, and the city was feeding some 3,000 persons daily. The city presents a peculiar combination of great riches on one side, and extreme poverty on the other. There are no less than 27 millionaires living in Spokane.

Mr. Smith was for some years head clerk for Minicola Bros., and his many friends are pleased to meet him. The Peyton poultry ranch run by Smith Bros. is the largest and best equipped in the Western States. Last spring they raised 50000 young fry, and the ranch covers about fifty acres.

HOW'S THIS

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligations made by his firm.

WALDING, KINNAN & MARVIN,
Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Testimonials sent free. Price 75 cents per bottle. Sold by all Druggists.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

INITIALLED WRITING PAPER

One of the most acceptable of gifts that you can send is a dainty box of note paper and envelopes with one or more initials printed in gold on the top of the first sheet of paper or on the back of the envelope. Good writing paper is always appreciated and you can make no mistake in including it in your list. Leave your order early at the REVIEW Office and you will be well satisfied. 3d

Tate has laid a 176x46 open air rink on the Dr. Thomas property, on

Asiatics Should Stay at Home; So Should We, Says Prof. Shortt

Solution of the Oriental Immigration Question is to Let Each Race Stay on Their Own Side of the Ocean.

Riff-raff of Europe Not Wanted in Canada

FIRST MEETING CANADIAN CLUB

Attended With Great Success—Nearly 100 in Attendance

The success of the Peterborough Canadian Club is assured. About ninety members were present at the inaugural dinner at the National Hotel last evening, and the address given by Prof. Adam Shortt, of Queen's University, Kingston, confirmed the wisdom of those who had invited him to open the club. His subject was "Immigration," and he dealt with with it in a manner that brought forth tokens of warmest appreciation from his auditors. Prof. Shortt is Professor of Political Economy in Queen's University, and is recognized as one of the leading Canadian authorities on economic questions. In fact his reputation extends beyond Canada his opinions carrying weight in the United States and in the old land. His address last night showed that he has made a careful study of the immigration question, and is able to deal with it as few other men in Canada are. He came out strongly against filling up Canada with the riff-raff of the British Isles and Europe, and also opposed Asiatic immigration. The yellow men should stay on their own side of the ocean and we on ours. The commercial agents and missionaries from one country to another were all right, but there should be no intermingling of the two races for the purpose of permanent residence. Prof. Shortt did not believe in allowing the Orientals to come in to supply the labor market. He was not in favor of jeopardizing the whole future of the nation to meet a mere matter of economy.

The attendance at the dinner was even larger than was expected—an evidence that the men of Peterborough believe that the Canadian Club will fill a long felt want and has their hearty support. The menu, while not elaborate, could not have been better, and great credit is due the hotel management for the way the catering was done.

The speaker of the evening was introduced by the president of the club, Mr. F. D. Kerr, who presided most acceptably. In his introductory remarks he referred to the organization of the Canadian Club in Peterborough. It was not necessary to refer to its objects. The name Canadian Club conveyed the whole idea. It stood for the promotion of matters Canadian. Canada, Canadian institutions and Canadian problems shall be studied and dealt with after careful consideration. It was well that these problems should be considered at a time when there was no political controversy over them, and when there was no creed or sectarian influence. Mr. Kerr briefly traced the growth of Canadian Clubs mentioning in this connection the name of Mr. C. R. McCullough, of Hamilton, who was one of the leaders in the movement. Mr. Kerr alluded to the prominent position held by the speaker of the evening. Prof. Short was a student of many years standing of political economy, and his remarks on this subject were sure to be listened to with deep interest.

PROF. SHORTT.

Prof. Shortt expressed his deep appreciation of the honor bestowed upon him in asking him to address the inaugural meeting of the Peterborough Canadian Club. In addressing a Canadian Club one was always sure of a picked audience, a body of men who were willing to consider questions from a broad and generous view point. This being so, it was a pleasure to speak to them on the problems of the day. The chairman had referred to him as being one of the younger Canadians. He did not know if this were so now, although it was once. Age was simply a matter of intellectual ossification. Some men grew old when young, and others had the spirit of children all their lives.

Coming to his subject, "Immigration," Prof. Shortt said he had decided to treat the question with a historic consideration. He proposed to deal with the subject under two heads: eastern immigration and western immigration. The latter was more in the public eye at the present time. There were two view points from which immigration might be considered. First, there was the economic point of view, what the laboring men of the country thought about it. Most important of all, however, was the national view point. This was the one that should be given consideration. "From the national point of view," said Prof. Shortt, "We have this great consideration, that Canada is a democracy, that we have here self-government, and that the people are expected to take a part in the government. The people are given the franchise and are expected to use it in an intelligent way. It was thought when the people were given responsible government that nothing more was needed. But when this was realized it was found that we were far from the goal. Leaders were still necessary and it was a difficult matter to make the people use the instruments that had been given them to be used in public control. The idea that we were to change the ideas that had made for leadership in the older world, and have individual government was not realized. Leaders there must be, and they must be elected by those to whom the franchise has been given. Man is absolutely a social being, and that is the foundation that all rule, government, despotism, etc., have to be worked out on.

In giving the people the franchise and freedom we were only giving them the right to select leaders. Our duty is to fit ourselves to follow them intelligently. Our national life is a great complexity. The problems that we have to deal with in our legislatures are problems that require experts in many different lines, so great is the complexity of the conditions of the nation. The government of the country depends on the people. They elect the leaders who constitute the ruling power. If the people are of a right class, the leaders will be right; if the people are undesirable, to a great extent the national life will suffer correspondingly. Are we to open our doors to any creature that comes along bearing some semblance to humanity? Are we to take them in to share in the government of our country? The question of immigration in a country like Canada is vastly different from that in many other nations. In a country where the government was despotic it makes little difference what class of people are brought in. The government rules them. In Canada, which is a self-governing nation, it was an entirely different matter. The fact that we are a democracy must not be lost sight of."

In teaching political and economic questions at Queen's University, the speaker found that there were no text books dealing with these subjects as regards Canadian conditions. There were plenty of them based upon conditions in the old lands and in the United States, but none from a Canadian view point, because Canada was a young nation and the people had had little time to give consideration to political and economic questions. Prof. Shortt said he had made a careful study of the history of Canada and had made some observations that might be interesting. In this connection he would confine his remarks largely to the Province of Ontario, in which his auditors were most interested.

The characters of the early settlers in the different parts of Ontario determined the character of these settlements to this very day. There were few exceptions to this rule. In dealing with this question it was found that the best settlers in the olden days were those who came to this country of their own accord, or by companies, such as the Canada Company, and other companies of a similar character, that brought out settlers to fill their land. These settlements produced the best men and were the most progressive at the present day. They furnished the men who went to the universities and were leaders in industry and education. The atmosphere of these remained where they were first settled. On the other hand, it was the same where a poor class of immigrants had settled. The settlement was still backward and the people hadn't struggled much in the passing of generations. Heredity played an important part.

Speaking of heredity, Prof. Shortt said it had much to do with the making of criminals. Fifty per cent. of the criminals were not responsible for their crimes. Their evil conduct was the result of the sins of their ancestors, which follow the children to the third and fourth and even to the twenty and thirtieth generations. The inmates of the insane asylum and penetentiary were alike in one respect; they were not responsible for their actions, but the insane were pitied, while we had contempt for the inmate of the penetentiary cell. Those who were in the penetentiary, many of them at least, had inherited criminal tendencies and when temptation came they fell. All with criminal natures were not behind the bars in the penetentiary or asylum. There were many of a similar nature outside the institutions and these were the ones that were contaminating the community and preparing others for the penetentiaries and asylums, for that characteristic which may be only slightly developed in the father may be emphasized in the child. This was something to be borne in mind in connection with the peopling of our land with strangers.

IN THE WEST.

In connection with immigration into the Canadian west, Prof. Shortt said that it was sometimes said that although those who were coming in were poor, dirty or inclined to crime, they would be alright in the next generation. This might be so as regards to mere poverty, but it was not true when it came to original quality. In the west it would be found that the result would be like in the east, good settlers would produce good citizens, while poor ones would beget an undesirable class. Once practically all our immigrants came from the British Isles. We have now passed beyond the British Isles and we now have to deal with riff-raff from many other parts of the old world. The riff raff are lured here largely by the steamship agent. This operation of the steamship agent is a new feature in the movement. In the old days the government looked after the steamships, but now they were largely in the hands of the steamship agent. The foreigners are dumped on our shores and we have to accept them. We are getting the loose element. We don't get the mayors of cities, the captains of industry or professors from the universities of the old land. We get the class that are loose, the riff-raff. They are ready to make any kind of a move as they can't be much worse off than where they were. It is common knowledge that the real staple class in the Canadian west are those who have come from the eastern provinces and the United States. These people have changed their residence as profitable investment and not because they were lying around with nowhere in particular to go.

"Everyone who has been out West knows that the difficult matter has been to get labor," said Prof. Shortt. In his opinion this need for labor was the only reason worth ten cents why the Asiatics should be let in. Why, however, let the whole future of the nation be jeopardized by catering to a merely economic condition. The Asiatics, although alright in their own countries, were not desirable here. When they come into Canada they must either be raised to our level or we must descend to theirs. Either of these is impossible. The only solution of the question is for them to stay on their own side of the ocean and we stay on ours. Trade and commercial agents could be sent from one country to the other, but one race should not go to reside permanently with the other. Missionaries could also be sent, although the speaker did not believe they would accomplish much good.

Speaking of the Doukobors, Prof. Shortt said it was a rather hopeful sign that so many of them clung firmly to [illegible] of their native land. He had not much use for a man who jumped away from his [illegible] neighbour. Their transformation was only skin deep and they would be just as likely to change again on short notice. There was some hopes of making a good citizen oft he man who clung to his past traditions and customs.

The speaker touched on many other points of equal interest and was given the closest attention.

Prolonged applause followed close of the address.

VOTE OF THANKS.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered Prof. Shortt, moved by Dr. Halliday and seconded by Mr. H. LeBrun. Prof. Shortt replied suitably.

The singing of the National Anthem brought the meeting to a close.

THOSE PRESENT.

Following is a list of those present; Dr. Greer, F. H. Dobbin, R. J. Winch, Dr. Morgan, W. B. Trew, R. H. Marlow, Dr. Morrison, T. D. MacGregor, G. L. Blatch, W. R. Morris, A. E. Cuthbard, S. T. Medd, Rev. Dr. Langfeldt, H. LeBrun, H. C. Winch, Gus Hay, E. A. Peck, G. H. Giroux, M. M. Mowry, R. A. Anson, J. F. Harvey, J. W. Kelly, Dr. Frederick, McFarlane Wilson, R. M. Waddell, E. L. Goodwill, John Green, D. B. MacRae, B. T. Huston, C. E. Sisson, Fred Ray, Marcus Bennett, Donald Downie, Dr. Eastwood, A. P. Poussette, A. Montizambert, L. M. Hayes, W. Harold Cluxton, W. S. Davidson, R. E. Wood, E. G. Patterson, T. F. Matthews, T. E. Bradburn, R. F. McWilliams, F. D. Kerr, Dr. Halliday, C. Fessenden, R. F. Morrow, W. J. Stacey, F. E. Kerr, W. J. Henry, W. H. Moore, Dr. McCulloch, Rev. H. J. Keith, Robert Harrison, R. Harstone, W. Halton, R. M. Glover, Wm. Pringle, W. C. Gowan, Richard Lees, Dr. Carmichael, C. E. Coleman, W. H. Hill, A. Mowat, J. E. Hodgson, J. G. M. Wilson, R. J. Munro, L. E. Anderson, W. R. G. Higgins, B. A. Lillie, E. M. Best, R. N. Merritt, S. J. Stubbs, John Crane, R. B. Morley, G. B. Van Blaricom, W. F. Nelson, C. R. Cameron, F. W. Doan, H. Wightman, A. P. McLean, W. E. Hillhouse, E. S. Clarry, J. D. Clarke, Dr. Cameron, Dr. Scott, Col. H. C. Rogers and H. R. H. Kenner, secretary.

"Thought we heard reindeer!"

PHOTO COPYRIGHT STEREOGRAPH BY AMERICAN STEREOSCOPIC CO.

BRUTAL DOUBLE CRIME

Two Chinese Laundry Men Done to Death in Winnipeg.

Their Heads Were Smashed In—Killed With an Axe as They Lay in Bed—House Afterwards Set on Fire to Cover Trace of Murder—Robbery Probable Motive—Difficult Crime to Fathom.

Winnipeg Dec. 14.—Two Chinamen, Lee Chow and Look Wing, laundrymen at 66 Stella avenue, were brutally murdered in their beds Thursday night and the building was set fire to by the criminals in the hope of effectually destroying all clue to the crime. The fire, however, was soon discovered and extinguished, and a medical examination showed that both the men had had their heads smashed with an axe.

It is evident they had been killed and placed in their beds. This at first misled the police and led to the supposition of suffocation. It will be a very perplexing crime to fathom owing to the difficulty of working among the Chinese colony. Robbery was probably the motive.

The First Golf Links.

The orthodox number of eighteen holes, it seems, was fixed by pure chance. There were originally twenty-two holes on St. Andrews links, and so it continued till 1764, when the first four holes were converted into two. Thenceforward every full course has been laid out to correspond with alma mater.—London Saturday Review.

Our strength grows out of our weakness. Not until we are pricked and stung and sorely shot at awakens the indignation which arms itself with secret forces.—Emerson.

Absconder Caught.

San Diego, Calif., Dec. 14.—Word received by a detective agent now here is to the effect that Wm. F. Walker, the absconding bank treasurer of New Britain, Conn., was arrested at Ensenada, on Wednesday and will start for New Britain. The arrest was made by a Pinkerton detective.

A Queen Dying.

Dresden, Dec. 14.—The condition of Queen Carola, widow of King Albert of Saxony, who is suffering from nephritis, is hopeless.

The last sacraments were administered yesterday and the Queen is not expected to live throughout the night.

Cost of Thaw Trial.

New York, Dec. 14.—An extra appropriation of $15,000 for conducting the trial of Harry K. Thaw was allowed yesterday by the board of estimate. Comptroller Metz and District Attorney Jerome were going to confer with his experts with a view of keeping down the expenses for their testimony at the second trial. Already $24,000 has been spent for experts.

"It is an outrage, but it can't be helped," added the comptroller. "The experts were paid at the rate of $100 a day, approximately $15 an hour in some cases."

It was stated that the cost of the Thaw trial so far had been upwards of $100,000.

Lost $6,250,000 at Euchre.

London, Dec. 14.—George McCulloch, who for many years was associated with the development of mining industries in Australia, died here yesterday. He was the possessor of one of the finest art collections in the world.

On one occasion he lost at euchre his share of a mine which six years later was worth $6,250,000.

Police Blamed by Firemen.

New York, Dec. 14.—While the firemen labored to extinguish a fire in a stable in East Ninth street, one man was burned to death and another man and a woman narrowly escaped death in a house in the rear of the stable. Denouncing the police for failing to notify him earlier, Chief Croker sent his men into the blazing house.

THE BANK OF OTTAWA.

Thirty-third Annual Report.

The Thirty-third Annual Meeting of the Shareholders of The Bank of Ottawa was held on Wednesday, the 11th day of December, 1907, in the Bank. Among those present were:—Messrs. H. N. Bate, Newell Bate, Hon. Geo. Bryson, J. C. Edwards, J. M. Courtney, C.M.G., A. H. Edwards, H. K. Egan, A. L. Forbes, J. B. Fraser, W. H. A. Fraser, J. D. Fraser, Rev. T. Garrett, Geo. Hay, Geo. S May, M.L.A., John J. MacCracken, David Maclaren, D. T. Masson, R. A. Mather, W. D. Morris, John L. Murphy, Denis Murphy, Geo. H. Perley, M.P., Colin Rankin, Mattawa; Jos. Riopelle, C. E. Russell, F. J. Wilson, J. G. Whyte.

Moved by Rev. T. Garrett, seconded by Mr. Joseph Riopelle, "That the President take the chair and the General Manager be requested to act as Secretary."—Carried.

The Chairman then asked the secretary to read the REPORT OF THE DIRECTORS.

The Directors have pleasure in submitting to the Shareholders the Thirty-third Annual Report, showing the result of the Bank's business for the year ended 30th November, 1907, together with the Balance Sheet of the Bank on that date.

Balance at credit of Profit and Loss Account on 30th November, 1906, was		$236,512 95
Net Profits for the year ended 30th November, 1907, after deducting expenses of management, and making necessary provision for interest due to depositors, unearned interest on current loans, and for all bad and doubtful debts, and contingencies		443,288 01
		$679,801 96
Appropriated As follows:—
Dividend No. 62, 2½%, paid 1st March, 1907	$75,000 00
Dividend No. 63, 2½%, paid 1st June, 1907	75,000 00
Dividend No. 64, 2½%, paid 2nd September, 1907	75,000 00
Dividend No. 65, payable 2nd December, 1907	75,000 00
Applied in reduction of Bank Premises and furniture	46,968 56
Transferred to Officers' Pension Fund	5,000 00	251,968 56
Balance carried forward at credit of Profit and Loss Account		$327,833 48

Your Directors desire to express their deep regret at the loss sustained by the Bank since the last annual general meeting of the shareholders, through the death of Mr. John Mather, who had been a member of the Board since 1880. The vacancy thus created on the Directorate was filled by the unanimous election of Mr. E. C. Whitney to the position.

Branches of the Bank have been opened during the year at Cobalt, Ont., and on Bridge Street, in Hull, and sub-offices at Moose Creek, Ont., St. Andrews, Que., and in the southern part of the city of Peterborough.

The buildings alluded to in the last report as being in the course of erection have been almost entirely completed. Your Directors found it necessary during the year to acquire premises for the occupation of the Branch opened at Cobalt, and it was also considered desirable to acquire a site on the corner of Gladstone Ave. and Bank Street in this City, where a building is now being erected.

The Directors have decided to submit for the approval of the Shareholders a By-Law authorizing an increase in the Capital by $2,000,000, to be availed of, as usual, in such amounts, and at such times as the Directors may determine, the intention being to allot the new shares from time to time, as required, but no allotment is contemplated for the near future.

The usual inspections of the offices of the Bank have been made during the year. The officers of the Bank continue to perform their respective duties to the satisfaction of the Directors.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

GEORGE HAY, President.

GENERAL STATEMENT OF LIABILITIES AND ASSETS.

As on 30th November.

LIABILITIES.

	1906.		1907.
Notes in circulation		$2,825,400 00		$2,842,485 00
Deposits bearing interest	$19,489,739 00		$19,404,822 57
Deposits not bearing interest	2,624,960 76		2,493,946 43
		22,114,699 76		[illegible]
Deposits made by, and balances due to other Banks in Canada		13,920 05
		$25,954,009 81		$25,831,254 98
Capital (paid-up)	3,000,000 00		3,000,000 00
Rest	3,000,000 00		3,000,000 00
Dividends unpaid	149,031 73		75,147 00
Reserved for interest and exchange	41,822 00		35,345 00
Rebate on current discounts	72,552 00		84,255 00
Balance of Profit and Loss Account carried forward	236,512 95	6,499,928 68	327,833 48	6,522,679 96
		$32,453,938 49		$32,353,934 97

ASSETS.

	1906.		1907.
Specie	$ 736,454 56		$ 755,814 16
Dominion Notes	1,921,822 25		1,798,696 75
Deposit with Dominion Government for Security of Note Circulation	150,000 00		150,000 00
Notes of, and Cheques on, other Banks	1,084,192 24		851,714 49
Deposits made with and Balances due from other Banks in Canada	1,138,968 51		1,160,581 96
Balances due from Agencies of the Bank, or from other Banks or Agencies, elsewhere than in Canada and the United Kingdom	392,078 51		280,277 68
Balances due from Agencies of the Bank, or by other Banks or Agencies, in the United Kingdom	498,876 82		62,718 99
Dominion and Provincial Government Securities	886,424 11		911,780 27
Canadian Municipal Securities and British or Foreign or Colonial Public Securities other than Canadian (including £122,000 Stg., British Consols at 80)	1,085,178 04		1,046,065 76
Railway and other Bonds, Debentures and Stocks	748,635 67		733,580 67
Call and Short Loans on Stocks and Bonds in Canada	2,006,962 30		798,230 30
Call Loans on Stocks and Bonds elsewhere than in Canada	650,000 00
		11,951,662 33		[illegible]
Current Loans		19,815,032 79		[illegible]
Overdue debts (estimated loss provided for)		100,880 08		36,512 79
Real Estate, other than Bank premises		37,141 49		39,050 48
Mortgages on Real Estate sold by the Bank		21,890 00		26,225 20
Bank Premises		525,000 00		629,000 00
Other Assets not included under foregoing heads		2,398 83		2,008 71
		$32,453,938 49		$32,353,934 97

GEORGE BURN, General Manager.

A By-Law to increase the Capital Stock of the Bank from three to five millions of dollars by the issue of 20,000 new shares of $100 each was carried, and By-Law No. 6 was altered to read so that the necessity for closing the books for fifteen days on the declaration of each quarterly dividend might be obviated.

The usual votes of thanks to the president and directors, and to the general manager and staff were unanimously passed.

The Scrutineers reported the following gentlemen re-elected directors:—

BATE, HENRY N.	MACLAREN, DAVID.
BRYSON, HON. GEORGE.	MURPHY, DENIS.
EGAN, HENRY K.	PERLEY, M.P., GEORGE H.
FRASER, JOHN B.	WHITNEY, EDWIN C.
HAY, GEORGE.

At the meeting of the Board held subsequently, Mr. George Hay was re-elected president, and Mr. David Maclaren vice-president, for the ensuing year.

FOR PASSEPARTOUT WORK

The fad for passepartout pictures is again growing a favorite for pretty pictures and are always appreciated. One can always find room for a couple more on the walls and every one has their favorite subject, some like scenery, others historical subjects, many like kittens and one boy in the city has the walls of his bedroom fairly covered with pictures of dogs—small and large. When mounted on a suitable background and passepartouted they are very pretty and inexpensive to make up. The Review has a large stock of pictures in sepia and colors, mounting papers and passepartout to match. Call and see them at the REVIEW Office, Hunter street. 3d

FOR XMAS WORK OR BAZAARS

Pictures in Sepia or Colors, from 3c to 10c

Mounting Papers and Card, in White, Browns and Gray.

Leather in all shades—Brown, Tan, Green and Red.

Calendar Pads, all sizes, from 5c to 10c each.

Passepartout in all shades.

AT REVIEW STATIONERY DEPT.

Local Option Is Hypocrisy

Local Option is the hysteria of the folk who would govern communities by the emotions instead of by the reason. These pretend that the by-law will check the abuse of alcohol.

It IS a pretence; for statistics show beyond challenge that there is more liquor sold, and more than TWICE AS MUCH DRUNKENNESS, in the prohibition states of America, as in the states under license.

Local Option in your town will substitute make-believe morality for the honest decency of a free and self-respecting community.

The Daily Review

SATURDAY, DEC. 14, 1907

THE BANK OF OTTAWA

In another column of today's Review appears a report of the thirty-third annual meeting of the shareholders of the Bank of Ottawa, which was held in the head office, at the Capital, on December 11th last. The report is well worth a careful perusal, and the figures tell a tale of continued expansion and progressive management.

Speaking of the present financial situation General Manager Burn said: "Having regard to the future, while there will be no doubt that the country will have to go more slowly than of late, until more capital is available, either in payment for what Canada has to sell, or for investment in her enterprises, I can see no serious cloud looming up, if only the business community will exercise ordinary prudence, and refrain from seeking to expand more rapidly than circumstances warrant."

These are encouraging and helpful words coming from such a recognized authority as Mr. Burn.

The vice-president, Mr. David MacLaren, in his remarks spoke of how the bankers in Canada stood in this growing community, as compared with the bankers in other countries in relation to their communities, and added that, after much research, he made the confident claim that, in no country, has there ever been a body of men who have more carefully, more justly or more conscientiously, administered the great trust reposed in them than prevails with the bankers of Canada.

In contributing to the general satisfactory results of the past year year, the local branches of the Bank of Ottawa have played no unimportant part. Under the able direction of Mr. A. A. Hollingshead, the energetic manager, and his courteous staff, the Peterborough agencies have worked up a splendid business.

Not only in the city, but in the country particularly, the clientele has increased rapidly that within two and a half years the business has so developed that the office premises on George street are being doubled in capacity, while the South End agency has also established a splendid connection in that growing section of the city. The staff has increased to twelve members—a record which speaks for itself. The improvements to the main office on George street will soon be completed, and a more attractive or commodious banking home would be difficult to find in any of the smaller Canadian cities.

Third of Series at Park Street

The third subject of the December series will be given to-morrow night by Rev. A. H. Brace, at the Park-st. Baptist church. This topic is "The Cherubim at the Gate." The sermon will be preceded by a song service of fifteen minutes.

The congregational singing is a feature of these services, which have proved a great uplift.

PETERBOROUGH RAG AND METAL COMPANY

Prepared to pay the highest market price and will give a square deal for Scrap Iron, Rags, Rubbers, Wool Pickings, etc. Don't sell before you see them. Call up Phone 694

YARD AND OFFICE:
COR. SIMCOE and BETHUNE, West

D. FLORENCE & SON

BODY LIES IN STATE.

Police Restrain Crowd Who Desire to See Late King Oscar.

Stockholm, Dec. 14.—The body of King Oscar of Sweden, who died Dec. 8, laid in state yesterday in the chapel of the royal palace, but only persons especially invited, were being admitted to view it. The public will be given access to the chapel to-day.

The body is clothed in an admiral's uniform. The expression on the face is peaceful.

The catafalque has been made into a bower of beautiful flowers.

From early morning until late last night a great crowd waited outside the palace chapel in the hope that they would be allowed to see the face of the dead king for the last time, and when the hour came for closing the chapel, a rush was made for the doors and the police had to be called out to check the rush.

The crowd was made up of the poorer people of Stockholm, among whom King Oscar was a great favorite, none of whom received the invitation necessary for to permit them to view the body.

Although King Oscar's last wish was that there should be no display of mourning, everybody is appearing dressed in black and not a particle of colors is to be seen in the streets.

SAYS HE WAS CHAINED.

Young Englishman Alleges Slavery Treatment In North Bush.

Montreal, Dec. 14.—John Kay, a young Englishman, who has been in Canada only about 12 months, has instituted an action in the Superior Court for $10,000 against McRae, Chandler & McNeil, railway contractors, alleging unlawful arrest and cruelty.

Kay alleges that he was employed to work for the firm in Northern Ontario at $35 a month and board, but on getting to work was informed that he would get $1.75 a day and must provide for himself. He was glad to be discharged and went to a neighboring camp.

Eight days afterwards he was seized by agents of his former employers and chained in a boarding-house at Englehart for three days and four nights, during which he suffered greatly from the brutal treatment.

He was then, he says, removed to a log shanty where he was further imprisoned for eight days, half starved and nearly driven insane by the flies. He was then taken to North Bay, and without being given any opportunity for defence was sentenced to jail for a month on a charge of desertion, but was only detained 12 days.

Fire Chief Convicted.

Sault Ste. Marie, Dec. 14.—George Raymond, the Blind River fire chief, was yesterday morning found guilty of forgery.

The case centered on a letter received by Raymond some time ago, purporting to be signed by Oulette Brothers, Blind River, and offering Raymond $500 to fire houses in Blind River.

Witnesses swore Raymond had mentioned the details of the letter before it had gone through the postoffice, and William H. Shaw, writing expert, Toronto, identified the writing as that of Raymond. Oulette brothers testified that they could neither read nor write.

Three Men Killed.

Haverstraw, N.Y., Dec. 14.—Three men were instantly killed and one seriously injured by the premature explosion of a blast at the Trap Rock quarry yesterday. About 125 pounds of dynamite was used in the blast. The dead men were Italians known at the quarry only by numbers. The injured man, who also is known only by a number, is in the Nyack Hospital.

Two Accidents In Moncton.

Moncton, N. B., Dec. 14.—Caught beneath an immense branch from a tree which he was felling, Rafael Boudreau was crushed to death in the Buctouche woods.

John Thatcher, 10 years old, had his right foot so badly crushed under a train yesterday that amputation will be necessary. The little lad made no complaint.

Two Children Burned.

Watertown, N. Y., Dec. 14.—In a fire that destroyed the residence of Charles Gilbo, in this city yesterday, his two children, Harold and Flossie aged 4 and 2 years, respectively, were burned to death. The children had been locked in the house by the mother just a few minutes previous to the discovery of the fire.

Asylum Storekeeper Dismissed.

London, Dec. 14.—Norman Wanless, who has been storekeeper at the asylum for the insane for some years, was given notice that after the first of the year his services would no longer be required.

Two additional cases of smallpox have broken out at West London.

Morris Injuries Were Fatal.

Regina, Dec. 14.—A. Morris, the C. N. R. fireman of Winnipeg, who was badly injured here Thursday night, died yesterday morning. His parents reside in Toronto. The unfortunate man had one leg completely severed and the other was terribly mangled.

Adrift In River.

Walkerville, Dec. 14.—Late Thursday night people in Wolfs Road House, three miles above here, heard cries for help from the river. Two men were found helpless in a boat which was drifting down the ice.

Government Should Pay.

London, Dec. 14.—Hon. Dr. Pyne yesterday stated that the Dominion Government should pay for the establishment of technical schools in the provinces.

Sifton to Retire.

Ottawa, Dec. 14.—It is stated here that Hon. Clifford Sifton is to retire from politics altogether, and will refuse renomination in Brandon.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY
Take LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine Tablets. Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c

There is Animal Life on the Planet "Mars", Says Dr. Marsh

Interesting Lecture Given Before Royal Astronomical Society Last Evening—"Mars" is Smaller Than the Earth and is Practically all Desert.

A meeting of the Royal Astronomical Society was held last evening, at the Y.W.C.A., when an exceedingly interesting address was given by Rev. Dr. Mash, on the subject of "Mars." A large number of members were present, and apparently were deeply engrossed in the planet under discussion. The several strange features of "Mars" were referred to in a graphic manner, and proved to be very instructive to the students of astronomy.

Preceding the address of the evening, Dr. Marsh made a few remarks regarding Jupiter. He stated that these nights it could be seen to excellent advantage. Mr. H. B. Collier also referred to the planet. He stated that he seen it last evening, and it appeared very large.

Several new members were admitted last evening. Messrs. J. C. Shook, P. Connal, F. Schneider, Mr. and Mrs Rich Hall, and Mrs. A. R, Campbell joined the society.

Dr. Marsh said that a communication had been received by the secretary, stating that with a large telescope the comet of 1907a could be eaily seen. He also intimated that Captain Bernier would be here early in the new year.

It was moved by Mr. H. B. Collier, seconded by Mr. G. M. Rogers that a vote of thanks be passed to the ladies of the Y.W.C.A. for their kindness in allowing them the use of the hall.

Sheriff Hall then took the chair. He said that he would not take up this time by making any lengthy remarks, but would call upon Dr. Marsh to give his address.

In beginning, Dr. Marsh jocularly remarked that he should have chosen "Venus," the goddess of love, for his subject instead of "Mars" as it would have been more favorable to the ladies. The sun has a large family, said Dr. Marsh. Looking into the skies, one sees a great many stars. The sun is nothing more than a star, but it is so bright that the others cannot be seen. The sun is a star of the second order, which relates to age. Nearest to the sun is Mercury, than Venus, the Earth, then a great space, and then Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus, Neptune. A star is that which gives light. The Earth, Mars, Mercury and Venus depend upon the sun for light, and therefore are planets. Mars is much smaller than the earth, being approximately about 4,200 miles in diameter, Mars is about 7-10 of the earth. While the earth rotates in 24 hours, Mars goes round in its orbit in 24 hours 37 mins. 22 3-4 seconds. It takes 687 days for Mars to go round the sun. Dr. Marsh said that when the earth and Mars are nearest, the observation of Mars is best.

Five-eighths of Mars is desert, there being very little moisture on it. There are no clouds on this planet, and, incidentally Dr. Marsh remarked, what a glorious place it would be to live. Vegetation exists on Mars, and, therefore, there must be animal life. As to Mars being inhabited, Dr. Marsh could not say.

There were two moons on Mars, while the earth only had one.

After the address, Dr. Marsh answered questions anyone might care to ask. The meeting then adjourned. It was followed by a committee meeting.

The Services In The Churches On Sunday

St. Peter's Cathedral

At St. Peter's Cathedral there will be three masses celebrated—at 8.00. a.m., low mass; children's mass at 9.15 a.m. high mass at 10.30; Vespers at 7 p.m., with sermon.

St. John's (Anglican)

Rev. Canon Davidson, M.A., rector 3rd Sunday in Advent. 8.30 a.m., Holy Communion. 10.30 a.m., Morning Prayer and confirmation service. The Apostolic rite will be administered by the Rt. Rev. Bishop Reeve, assistant to His Grace, the Archbishop of Toronto. 3 p.m., Sunday school and Bible class. 7 p.m., Evensong and sermon.

All Saint's Church

(Anglican) Cor. Rubidge and Sherbrooke streets. Rev. W. Major, rector, 3rd Sunday in Advent. 8.30 a.m., Holy Communion. 11 a.m., Morning Prayer and Sermon. 3 p.m., Sunday School and Bible Class. 7 p.m., Evensong and sermon.

In the evening Rev Wm. Major will preach on "The Signs of the Times." He will also preach at the morning service.

St. Luke's (Anglican)

(Anglican) East side.—Rev. Dr aLngfeldt, M.A., rector. 3rd Sunday in Advent. 11 a.m., Morning Prayer Holy Communion, 3 p.m., S. School and Bible Class. 7 p.m., Evensong and Confirmation. Rt. Rev. Bishop Reeve, assistant to His Grace the Archbishop of Toronto, will administer the Apostolic rite of confirmation to a large number of candidates. The candidates will meet in the Sunday School room at 6.30 p.m.

St. Paul's Presbyterian

Rev. Robert Pogue, pastor of St. Paul's church, will preach at both services tomorrow. In the afternoon at three o'clock he will conduct the Bible Class.

Knox Presbyterian

Rev. Henry J. Keith will preach at both services at Knox church on Sunday.

St. Andrew's Presbyterian

Rev. J. G. Potter, the pastor, will preach at both services in St. Andrew's church to-morrow.

The following music will be rendered: Morning service, anthem, "The King of Love, My Shepherd Is," Shelley; solo parts by Mrs. Greenslade and Mr. Freeland. Solo, "Just for Today," Mrs Thompson. Evening service, anthem, "The Radiant Morn" Woodward; Duet, "Love Divine, All Love Excelling," from "Daughter of Jairus," Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Firth.

Charlotte Street Methodist

Rev. H. M. Manning will preach at both services at Charlotte Street Methodist church on Sunday.

Mark Street Methodist

Rev. C. H. Coon will preach at both services at Mark St. Methodist church tomorrow. His morning subject will be to men on "The Man and Himself." In the evening he will preach on "Intemperance."

George Street Methodist

Rev. E. A. Pearson will preach missionary sermons in Trenton tomorrow and in his absence Rev. Elwood Bowerman, of Victoria College, Toronto, will occupy the pulpit at both services at George Street Methodist church.

The Men's Social Bible Class will be conducted by Mr. G. A. Armstrong, superintendent of the Sunday School.

Murray Street Baptist

Rev. J. B. Webb will preach at both services at Murray Street Baptist chruch tomorrow.

Park Street Baptist

Rev. A. H. Brace, pastor. Special sermons tomorrow. 11 a.m., subject, "The Sanctification of The Redeemer." 7 p.m., subject, "The Cherubim at the Gate." Communion at close of evening sermon. Prayer meeting at 10.45. Song service, 6.45. Sunday school 3.00, subject "The Boy Samuel." Monday, B.Y.P.U. at 8, young people in charge. Wednesday, public service at 8, pastor in chair. All seats free. The strangers' church home.

Bethany Tabernacle

Pastor and Mrs. Stubernagal will have charge of the services both morning and evening. Fellowship meeting at 10.30 in the morning. The public generally is cordially invited.

Gospel Hall

Mr. G. W. Mulligan will preach at the evangelistic meeting at seven o'clock. Subject, "Did Christ Come to Judge the World?" All are invited. Sunday School and Bible Class at three o'clock. Send your children. All welcome.

Salvation Army Barracks

Simcoe street.—Staff Captain Goodwin in charge; Captain Maisey, assistant. Sunday meetings 7 a.m. prayer meeting; 11 a.m. holiness meeting; 3 p.m. free and easy; 7 p.m. salvation meeting. All are welcome.

GET PERMISSION BEFORE TEARING UP A STREET

The Board of Works has decided that in future any citizen who digs up a street without first obtaining permission from the city engineer, will have to pay a fine of ten dollars. A by-law to this effect will be prepared. It appears that Wm. Davidson, whose request for the return of his $20 deposit caused considerable discussion at the last meeting of the Council, had started to make his sewer connection without obtaining permission from the city enigneer. This was the reason the Mayor had objected to the return of the cheque for $20.

A meeting of the Board of Works was held last night when those present were Ald. Duncan, chairman, Wilson and McIntyre and the Mayor.

It was moved by Ald. Wilson, and seconded by the Mayor,—That $6.28 be paid on Mr. H. C. Stabler's account provided he accepts this amount in settlement.

It was moved by Ald. Wilson, seconded by the Mayor,—That Wm. Davidson be refunded the sum of $20 deposited for sewer connection, but that in future the engineer be instructed to impose a fine of $10 on any person opening a street without permission before accepting a deposit for a sewer connection, and that a by-law be passed to authorize the same.—Carried.

Moved by Ald. Wilson, seconded by Ald. McIntyre,—That $100 worth of stone be purchased and broken by hand and that the city engineer call for tenders for the stone.

And the Dog Came Back Home Again

Mr. Norman Dusty, of this city, while hunting near Millbrook last Saturday, with a party of friends, lost a valuable hound, who was too much taken with the scent of a rabbit or fox to stay with the hunters, and as a result when the latter were about to return home the dog was nowhere to be seen. It came home yesterday, however, very thin and ravenously hungry from its long chase in the woods.

Men's Meeting at Y.M.C.A. To-morrow

Mr. J. H. Scriver of Toronto Will Sing—Rev. Mr. Manning to Speak

Mr. J. Harry Scriver, of Toonto, formerly connected with the Railroad Y.M.C.A. of Montreal, will sing at the Sunday afternoon meeting at the Y.M.C.A. at 4 p.m. Rev. H. M. Manning, pastor of the Charlotte street Methodist church, will speak and Mr. D. Campbell, leader of the Knox Presbyterian church choir, will sing. Every man or older boy is invited both to this service and to the song service in the association parlor from 8.30 to 10 p.m.

An urgent appeal has been received by the secretary for the pledge of the Y.M.C.A. towards the support of Mr. Farquhar in Calcutta. A large amount is still due and a prompt response from the members who have pledged any amount for this fund will be greatly appreciated.

BETTER THAN SPANKING

Spanking does not cure children of bed wetting. There is a constitutional cause for this trouble. Mrs. M. Summers, Box W., 82, Windsor, Ont., will send free to any mother, her home treatment, with full instructions. Send no money, but write her today if your children trouble you in this way. Don't blame the child, the chances are it can't help it. This treatment also cures adults and aged people troubled with urine difficulties by day or night.

Coming Concert for Relief Work

Will be Held in Opera House on January 24th.

The entertainment in aid of St. Andrew's Relief Society will be held in the Grand Opera House on January 24, "Burns' Night." The prices will be 15c., 25c., 35c., and 50c. The programme of ye olde folks concerts will be partly recast, giving new features. Auld Scotch songs, appropriate for the evening, will be introduced.

A general meeting of the whole congregation and particularly all the societies of St. Andrew's church is to be called for Wednesday evening next, to thoroughly organize the plans of the relief society.

You have heard the Sailor Boys' plea, buy to-day for your dinner to-morrow "Sailor Boy" Canned Goods, Tomatoes Corn, Peas and Salmon. Your money does not buy better Goods. Do you get "Sailor Boy" or substitute?

to all who are interested in the development of local industries.

ONLY TWO WEEKS

In fourteen days the REVIEW NEWS BOYS' COMPETITION will close, and the awards will be made. Following the plan on which the competition was instituted no information has been given of the standing of the several competitors. The decision will rest on the results, each boy getting credit to the last paper for his efforts. ¶ Fourteen days yet to work. A good deal can be accomplished in that time. The hustling boy can add to his list of customers and pull up to a first place easily. Christmas week will be a good time in which to hustle, and all through the holidays. The boy showing the largest number of papers sold to customers and those who did not buy before will get the biggest prize.

HUSTLE! HUSTLE! HUSTLE!

ONTARIO COAL CO. LIMITED PETERBORO

We have just received a few cars of specially prepared Coal for ranges and small stoves, a little smaller than Nut and larger than No 2 Nut

Price, Per ton $6.50

If your stove has a good draught, give it a trial.

CITY OFFICE: 387 Water St. Bell Phone 325
HEAD OFFICE AND YARDS: Cor Aylmer and Wolfe Sts, Phones, Bell 116, Mac. [illegible]

ONTARIO COAL CO., Limited

A. J. McCLELLAN C. CURRIER G. K. RACKHAM

ODOR WAS TOO MUCH FOR HIM

A local man tells of a cheap intoxication he received. He was unfilling seveal casks of strong French brandy and at length was placed under the influence of the liquor.

"It didn't affect me long, however," he said, "and as soon as I went out in the fresh air I became quite sober again."

Invitation Cards for AT Homes, Receptions and Evening Parties, partly printed for 1c each. Envelopes to match 10c package. On sale at the Review Office

Christmas Slippers.

There's nothing that will make a more sensible Christmas Gift than Footwear. Our slipper show, at this season is a big thing—worth coming to see.

MEN'S SLIPPERS

Operas, Everett and Romeo styles, black kid, tan kid, patent leathers,

$1.00, 1.25, 1.50, 2.00

WOMEN'S SLIPPERS

House Slippers, Turkish Slippers and Juliets, Slippers for Dress Functions, all the new Ties and Pump effects, choice, handsome and exclusive creations,

50c to $3.00

J T. STENSON
364 George St.

EGGS

FOR SALE by the case

Fresh and Pickled Choice Stock at our warehouse, Robinson Street, East City

Scott&Hogg
PHONE 264, BOTH PHONES

PRICE OF

Coal

FOR OCTOBER IS

$7.50

Ton, cash with order

THE PETERBORO FUEL & CARTAGE CO
LIMITED.

162 Charlotte-st. Telephones—(Bell) 391, 278. (Machine)—278.
184 Aylmer-st. Tel. (Bell) [illegible]

D.L. & W's SCRANTON COAL

SOLD BY R. HICKS & CO. AT

$7.50 Per Ton

for Month of October, in lots of not less than half ton.

This is the Standard Anthracite. 60 °/. of Coal sold in Ontario is SCRANTON.
Terms Positively Cash.

R. HICKS & CO.
Coal Builders' Supplies, Etc.

COAL AND WOOD

Best of Coal—Best of Wood

COAL FOR OCTOBER

$7.50 PER TON

J. E. A. FITZGERALD
Cor. Brock and Bethune Sts
BOTH PHONES 111

Palace Livery Barn

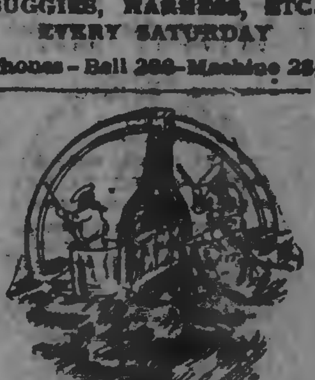
For the smartest and most up-to-date LIVERY OUTFITS, at reasonable rates, go to

TOM FOSTER & CO.

Successors to Bruce Lee & Co
Rear of Snowden House.

AUCTION SALE OF HORSES BUGGIES, HARNESS, ETC., EVERY SATURDAY

Phones—Bell 289—Machine 289

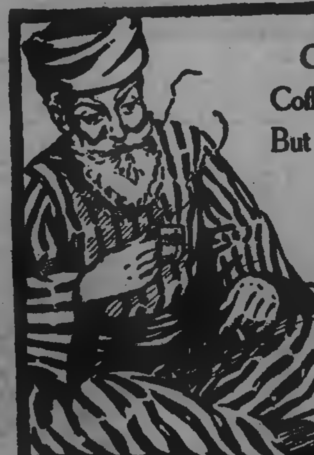


Steer Straight

for the best Beer ever brewed, and you are sure to [illegible] Our Bottled Beer is "bottled health." It means vigor and strength, a good appetite and high spirits. It is the best medicine for the weak and the best food for the strong. Keep our [illegible] in your home as a beverage and you will have no need of a doctor. Nothing but the purest ingredients used in the brewing.

—Try—

CALCUTT BREWING AND MALTING CO
of Ashburnham Limited



Globe-trotters may talk of the Coffee served by the Turks. But they can get coffee at home just as rich, delicious and fragrant—by ordering Chase & Sanborn's SEAL BRAND COFFEE from their grocers.

FACTS—JUST PLAIN, POINTED FACTS

BOYS' SUITS

Good words our Good Boy's Clothing are coming back to us in good business, what better proof could you ask of our value-giving than these.

BUSTER BROWN STYLE

Gray mixed Tweeds, plain, well made and trimmed, sizes 22 to 25	3 25
Gray stripe Tweed, well made and trimmed, 22 to 25	3.50
Blue and black Serge, well made and trimmed sizes 22 to 26	4.00

2-PIECE NORFOLK STYLE

Dark gray stripe Tweed, sizes from 25 to 30, special	2.00
Gray mixed Tweed, pepper and salt effects, all sizes, 24 to 30, Special	2.50
Brown Scotch Tweed effect, double breasted Norfolk, sizes 26 to 29, prices	4.00, 4.50, 5.00
3 piece Double Breasted Styles-dark gray check and stripe Tweed, Lion Brand, with double elbows and double seats and knees, well padded and well made, sizes 28 to 33	4.50 and 5.00
Dark gray over plaids and dark stripes, the newest designs for boys' suits, double breasted, sizes 28 to 33	6.00, 6.50, 7.00
Boys' and Youth's Reefers—Dark gray and black Frieze, Tweed lined, all sizes up to 28	2.00, 2.25
Dark gray and black Frieze, Tweed lined,	2 75

MERRELL & MEREDITH

CLOTHIERS, FURNISHERS and HATTERS

375-377 GEORGE ST. PHONE 35

SPORTING NEWS

A SPORT THAT PROMISES TO BE POPULAR

Snowshoeing Will be Much Indulged in Here This Winter

Snowshoeing promises to be exceedingly popular in Peterborough this winter. A club has already been formed in the city, and starts off with a good membership. The stores that handle snowshoes report that they are selling well, although there is yet hardly enough snow to make tramping good.

Peterborough should be able to have a good snowshoe club, as the pastime is one of the best that can be indulged in. In addition to providing excellent exercise, it takes its devotees into the open air and this is one of the advantages over many other winter sports.

Banquet Tendered to Mr. Crowley

At Hooper's Grill Room last night, in the neighborhood of forty of Mr. W. F. Crowley's friends attended a banquet given in his honor and bade him good-bye before his departure for Edmonton. He was given a purse of $100 in gold, and a fine pair of gold cuff links. A splendid toast list was run off and many remarks of a highly complimentary character to the lion of the occasion were made. Great regret was expressed at losing him, and he was accorded the heartiest wishes for a successful career in the west.

Among those who spoke were Messrs. E. S. Clarry, R. M. Glover, C. G. Graham, Jas. D. Clarke, Harry Morgan, T. W. McDonough and H. R. H. Kenner. Mr. Crowley also spoke in acknowledgement of the many honors bestowed on him.

POOL AND BILLIARDS

A CIRCUS SHOT.

Mr. Fred Davidson, a local commercial man, made a peculiar shot on the Oriental pool table yesterday. He hit the cue ball hard and it jumped up on the rail and running along it dropped into the side pocket. It was certainly a sensational play and one that could not be learned with any amount of practice.

HOCKEY

Harold Armstrong, the ex-Peterboro wonder, will play with the Ottawa Vies this winter.

KEENE WITHDRAWS.

Today Mr. Dean of Keene, telephoned President F. A. Clarke, of the city league, that Keene would be unable to enter a team in the league this year. This leaves five teams in the city league, Strathconas, High Lifes, Lakefield, Norwood and Bridgenorth.

HE CALLED ON TOM LONGBOAT

Dan Whetung, jr., of Chemong, was in Toronto on Thursday, and called on Tom Longboat at the latter's cigar store. Tom told Dan that he had enjoyed his visit to Peterborough, and hoped to pay another visit some time. The great runner was pleased to meet his Chemong brother.

RUNNING

Fred Simpson will not enter in the Christmas Hamilton Herald road race this winter. He and his trainer, Dick Baker, when seen by the Review today said while there was some thought of entering him in the event the idea had been abandoned. The running togs of the fast Indian will be laid aside until next season.

BIG LYNX IS SHOT NEAR HIAWATHA

The latest sensation at Hiawatha is the shooting of a lynx by a Muskrat with the aid of a Paudash. This may may seem strange until it is explained that the slayers of the big cat were Dan Muskrat and Geo. Paudash, two members of the Hiawatha band of Indians. The lynx was shot yesterday near Hiawatha and is an unusually large one, being 56 inches from tip to tip. It was brought to the city this morning and will be mounted by Mr. Bloome, taxidermist. The lynx was in a tree when discovered and it took two shots to bring it to earth.

OBITUARY

WM. BELLEGHEM.

The funeral of the late Wm. Belleghem will take place at 1.30 o'clock on Monday afternoon, from the family residence, Bridgenorth, to the Little Lake cemetery.

ALL HALLOW EVE.

A Tradition Handed Down From the Ancient Druids.

The observance of Halloween, or All Hallow eve, is a tradition handed down from the ancient Druids, who celebrated their harvest festival on the last day of October. The next day was All Hallows' or All Saints' day, and so they called the festival All Halloween.

The gay games of modern times are not much like the solemn rites of the Druids, but a connection may be traced between the supernatural beliefs of the ancients and the burlesque attempts to pry into the mysteries of the future which our own Halloween fun represents.

Long after the time of the Druids simple minded country people continued to believe in charms and witchcraft and especially claimed that on the night of Oct. 31 witches and goblins held revel and fairies danced about in the woods. From these spirits or their manifestations it was believed that the future could be foretold and human destinies discovered. As our celebration of the occasion is merely a whimsical adaptation of all this, there is one thing clear at the outset—to a successful Halloween party the young guests must bring a large stock of imagination, a zest for merriment and an unfailing fund of good humor, for many Halloween tricks result in turning the laugh on one or another, and this must be accepted in a gay, good natured spirit. Old fashioned Halloween parties were held in the kitchen, and where this is practicable it is a good place for many of the games. But all of the rooms used should be decorated with trophies of the harvest. Pumpkins, apples, grain stalks and autumn leaves offer materials for beautiful and effective trimming, and if desired draperies of red and yellow cheesecloth and ornamentations of red and yellow crape paper may be added. Jack-o'-lanterns are of course a necessity.

THE SCULPTOR TURNED.

His Answer to the Art Critics In Rural France.

At Chalon-on-the-Saone stands the monument executed by Morceau-Vauthier and Berard to commemorate the national defense—a superb cuirassier who carries across his saddle the body of a color bearer who yet clasps in his arms his broken standard.

On the eve of the unveiling the municipal council, presided over by the mayor, repaired to the foot of the statue to examine and see if it should be accepted.

"Are you not going to clean off this green mold?" asked the mayor of the sculptor.

"But, monsieur," replied the sculptor, "that is verdigris."

"Verdigris! Verdigris!" said the mayor. "I understand that very well. Parbleu! I know that this is verdigris, but it is dirty. If I had a kitchen outfit of that color I would have it scoured. That must be cleaned up. You'll have to make that shine."

"But, monsieur"—

At that moment, a member of the council having struck the body of the bronze horse with his cane, they all cried out, "This sounds hollow!"

"Your bronze is hollow, monsieur," said the mayor.

The unhappy sculptor then took great pains to explain that all bronze statues were hollow. The mayor maintained an air of defiant incredulity and as he passed around the monument said, "It appears to me you have hardly detailed the hair in the tail."

This was too much for the sculptor. "I wished," he said, "to screw natural hair into his tail like the hair used in children's hobbyhorses. It would have taken six months to have done so, and I reflected that it would have cost you too much."

And the municipal council of Chalon agreed with the justness of this observation.—Paris Cri.

A Helping Hand.

When the foreign missionary had concluded his talk he made the usual appeal for contributions, however small. Coming up to the platform with several others, a small boy mounted to the level of the lecturer and, hastening toward him, said:

"Please, sir, I was very much interested in your lecture, and—and"—

"Go on, my little man," said the missionary encouragingly. "You want to help in the good work?"

"Not exactly, sir," said the boy. "What I want to know is, have you any foreign stamps you don't want?"

An Easy Mark.

Theodore—It's all right, darling; I have met your father and we took to one another at once. He even went so far as to borrow £10 of me. Surely he can't refuse me your hand after that. Edith—Dory, I'm afraid you've made a mess of it. Pa told me about the £10 and said I'd better give you up; that you were too easy going.—London Scraps.

Her Opportunity.

"I've come to give notice, ma'am."

"Indeed?"

"And would youse give me a good reference, ma'am? I'm going to Mrs. Jones, across the way."

"The best in the world, Maggie. I hate that woman."—Life.

Courage, like cowardice, is undoubtedly contagious, but some persons are not liable to catch it.—George D. Prentice.

About the only thing a man can do without trying is to fail.—Chicago Record-Herald.

New fittings and boxes are to be installed in the St. Catharines post office. [illegible]

Anniversary Concert at T.A.S Rooms on Jan. 8

A concert to celebrate the 8th anniversary of the St. Peter's Total Abstinence Society will be held in the Society's rooms on January 8th. A splendid musical programme is being arranged for by a large and and able committee. Full particulars of the announcement will be announced at a later date.

Impressive Rite of Confirmation

Will be Held at St. John's and St. Luke's Churches To-morrow

The Right Reverend Dr. Reeve, assistant to the Archbishop of Toronto, will visit Peterboro on Sunday, and will administer the apostolic rite of Confirmation at St. John's Church and St. Luke's. At 10.30 in the morning the service will be held at St. John's, and he will address the candidates, and administer the rite at St. Luke's in the evening. Confirmation is a most impressive ceremony, and no doubt many will attend.

"The Peterborough Light and Power Company wishes to remind its customers that Monday December 16th. is the last day discount will be allowed on November accounts. The office will be open during the evenings of the 14th., and 16th., from 8 P. M. until 11 P. M.

Sunday Funerals Will be Fewer

By-law No. 31 of Little Lake Cemetery Board Will be Observed

At a meeting of the Little Lake Cemetery Board held yesterday afternoon, President Webb and Secretary Keith, of the Ministerial Association, were present.

The matter of Sunday funerals was discussed and, after some consideration, it was decided to enforce strictly bylaw No. 31 of the cemetery bylaws.

Bylaw No. 31 reads: "The grounds shall be closed against Sunday interment, except in cases of extreme necessity, such as where there is danger of contagion or because of the condition of the body, and then only upon a certificate from the attending physician or some other responsible party that there is such danger or that it is absolutely necessary that the interment should take place and that the cause of such necessity shall be clearly stated in the certificate."

Was Assailant of Porteous in Peterboro'?

Was the highway robber and would-be murderer, who awakened the peaceful village of Millbrook on Thursday, in the city last night? It is the opinion of Mr. Jas. Reid, mail carrier and others who are employed around the C.P.R. depot, that he got off a freight train that came in from the west shortly before the midnight express. Mr. Reid told a reporter this morning that he saw a man answering the description of the thug who made the dastardly assault on Charles Porteous, of Cavan. He wore the red sweater and the long black overcoat as stated in the detailed description. He was clean shaven and his whole appearance was that of a desperado. Mr. Reid said that the suspicious looking character on arriving at the station made his way up the spur line. Mr. Reid endeavored to secure a police officer, they were all out on their "beat," and before one could be reached, the robber had made good his escape. It is thought that he departed on some of the freight train going east.

Mayor Cameron has been re-elected chief magistrate of Calgary.

Brockville is drafting an independent municipal ticket.

Presentation to Mrs. M. A. Anderson

The annual meeting of Chosen Friends took place last evening. An interesting feature was the presentation of a Past Chief Councillor's badge to Mrs. M. A. Anderson, Mrs. A. Gibbs presented the badge.

The election of officers resulted as follows:—

P.C.—W. J Copp.
Chief C.—Dr. Marshall.
V.C.—Mrs. Anderson.
Rec.—A. Gibbs.
Treas.—E. Hubel.
Prelate—Ethel Marshall.
Marshal—A. Hanna.
Warden—S. Roe.
Guard—Wm. Payton.
Sentry—A. Knapp.
Pianiste—Geo. Thomas.
Trustees.—W. H. Hubel, John Roe and Jas. Thomas.
Representatives to Grand Council.—Mrs. A. Gibbs and Mrs M A Anderson.

PERSONAL

Rev. E. A. Pearson will preach missionary sermons in Trenton tomorrow.

Mr. O. V. Bartels, city treasurer of Kingston, has been in the city during the past few days, the guest of the Messrs. Collier.

Mr. J. H. Burnham gave a lec. at the Grove school, Lakefield, last night on "A Christmas With Dickens."

Miss Daisy Sawers, nurse in training at the Western Hospital, Toronto, is the guest of her parents, Mr. Mrs. A. Sawers, for a couple of weeks.

TRADE OF THE DOMINION.

Total Imports and Exports For Year Show Big Increase.

The annual report of the Trade and Commerce Department for 1907 has just been issued. While, owing to the change in the termination of the fiscal year, from June 30 to March 31, the report in detail covers only the nine months ended March 31, 1907, the trade figures have been recompiled for the purposes of comparison, and the result is summarized thus in the report of the Deputy Minister:

"The total imports and exports during the nine months covered by this report was $465,063,204, as compared with $550,872,645 during the previous year of twelve months, or $399,797,020 during the corresponding nine months of the previous year; or, again, the total trade during the twelve months to June 30, 1907, (unrevised figures), was $617,964,952, as compared with $550,872,645 as above."

A summary of the trade of Canada for the twelve months ended Sept. 30 shows total imports of $362,459,907, as against $296,359,543 during the corresponding period of 1906, an increase of $66,100,364.

Exports of Canadian produce amounted to $244,180,922, as against $244,796,381, a decrease of $615,459.

The duty collected on imports for the twelve months ended Sept. 30 was $58,661,696, an increase of $10,619,943.

Exports to Great Britain amounted to $126,805,985, a decrease of $7,403,372.

Exports to the United States totalled $89,981,440, an increase of $4,788,110.

It is to be noted, however, that an increase in exports for October will more than make up the comparative deficiency in the figures for the period taken.

Imports from Great Britain for the twelve months ended Sept. 30 totalled $96,078,752, an increase of $23,231,842, while imports from the United States amounted to $223,040,016, an increase of $38,598,040.

Plenty of Deer Yet.

In spite of the horde of hunters, the deer of Ontario are not yet in danger of extermination. Mr. E. Tinsley, Superintendent of the Game and Fisheries Department of the Province, has not the slightest regard for statements to the effect that the slaughter in the woods has proceeded to such an extent that further restrictive measures are necessary to preserve the deer. The statement was also made to the effect that of the animals slaughtered 90 per cent. were does. Thirty to thirty-five per cent. Mr. Tinsley considers would be an outside limit. Under the present regulations it is permissable for hunters to shoot only one doe in the course of the season, while two bucks may be taken, and naturally hunters prefer to obtain as a trophy the antlered head of a buck. Deer are perhaps moving away from the more closely settled and hunted districts, and they are found two or three hundred miles north of points where they were in former years, but there are no signs of their number diminishing.

The Republican National Convention of 1908 will be held in Chicago, June 16th.

BISHOP HOLSEY SAYS: "PE-RU-NA IS A BLESSING."

He Declares Pe-ru-na to Be a Triumph of Medical Science,

A Magnificent and Sovereign Remedy.

Having Tried Many Remedies and Failed to Find a Cure,

Tried Pe-ru-na and Was Promptly Relieved.

After Twenty Years Bondage to Catarrh

He Is Relieved By Pe-ru-na.

BISHOP L. H. HOLSEY

The Bishop's Strong Tribute to Pe-ru-na.

A public speaker cannot afford to have catarrh. Even a slight catarrhal hoarseness of the throat becomes intolerable.

This is especially true of the minister who is called upon to preside at religious functions of all sorts.

L. H. Holsey, Bishop C. M. E. Church, Atlanta, Ga., writes:

"I have found Peruna to be a great remedy for catarrh. I have suffered with this terrible disease for more than twenty years, until since I have been using Peruna, which has relieved me of the trouble.

"I have tried many remedies and spent a great deal of hard-earned money for them, but I found nothing so effectual in the cure of catarrh as the great remedy Peruna.

"I feel sure that Peruna is not only a triumph of medical science, but it is also a blessing to suffering humanity.

"Every individual who suffers with respiratory diseases will find Peruna a magnificent and sovereign remedy."—L. H. Holsey, Bp. C. M. E. Church.

Ask Your Druggist for Free Peruna Almanac for 1908

MONEY IN YOUR POCKET

Give your family a Xmas Present a snug little home for your own. We have some at valuation that would agreeably surprise you and be money in your pocket.

$900 and $1300—Brick house, six or eight roomed; two story

$1500—Nice brick, well finished inside, near Can. Gen. Electric Co.

$1600—Fine new brick, two storys, large lot, south city

$2250—Brick, central location, modern, electric light, city water, bath, sewer connection, nice large house.

$2800 Artistic brick house, large garden, well planted with fruit; house has all modern conveniences and a nice sunny location.

$6250—Beautiful residential location; large lot with stable. House solid brick and warm; furnace and all conveniences.

Some good houses to rent cheap.

Same good farms throughout the district for sale. Farm lands in the Great West and on the Pacific Coast. City lots in Vancouver. Double your money in a year. See us for particulars.

BELL & TAYLOR

Real Estate. Fire Insurance

Office—376 Water Street.

Office Phone—498B House Phone 547B

GET YOUR HOLIDAY PHOTOS

—AT—

LENDRUM'S

They are the best and most up-to-date

170 Charlotte Street

New Organist At All Saints'

Miss Mable McCaw of Conservatory Staff Appointed to the Position

Miss Mabel McCaw, of the Conservatory of Music staff, has been appointed organist at All Saints' church. The appointment was made at a meeting a few days ago, and will no doubt meet with the approval of the congregation. Miss McCaw is one of the pianoforte teachers at the Conservatory of Music, and is a talented musician.

Porter's Delicatessen

CUT RATE GROCERY STORE

Shelled Almonds per lb	35
" Walnuts	35
Choice Black & Green Tea 3 lbs	50
Choice Coffee 17c 3 lbs	50
Select Raisins 3 lbs	.20
Dates, 3 lbs.	.25
Mince Meat, 3 lbs.	.20
Washing Soda, 3 lbs.	.05
Cooking Figs, 4 lbs	.25
3 bottles Ketchup	.25
3 bottles Pickles	.25
Potatoes, per pk	.15
Apples, per pk	.10

410 George Street

Children's Aid Entertainment

The committee appointed on Tuesday evening, at the meeting of the Children's Aid Society to look after an entertainment for the deserving poor children of the city, met last evening, and decided to hold the concert on Friday, December 27th, in the Market Hall. The Sunday schools of the city have been asked to donate toys and candies. The Children's Aid will be pleased to have the names of poor families that they might not miss any when distributing their baskets of Christmas cheer.

Mrs. Alma Harrison, wife of Enos Harrison, of Brantford, is dead. the Bank of Ottawa

CHRISTMAS BARGAINS AT CHINA HALL

No store in Peterboro' can offer Christmas buyers the variety or value to be found at China Hall. The goods are all new and bought direct. The variety covers ever class of goods from the cheapest to the most celebrated makes. DINNER and TEA SETS—China Hall has one entire flat devoted to Tea and Dinner Sets from $3.00 to $125.00 each. Ask to be shown the upstair show room—it is said to be the finest of its kind in Canada.

CHINA HALL CO. New Premises 394 GEORGE STREET

(NEXT TO H. LeBRUN & CO.)

PAGES
9 TO 14.

THE DAILY REVIEW

SECOND PART.

PETERBOROUGH, ONT., CANADA, SATURDAY, DECEMBER 14, 1907

You Should Take

Zutoo

When you think a headache is coming on.
When you have eaten too heartily.
When you have drank more than is good for your digestion.
When you feel you have a coming on cold—feel feverish or chilly.
These are times Zutoo tablets will ward off the coming disorder—nip it in the bud, and insure you against pain and suffering.

"THE LAST ROBIN"

Lyrics and Sonnets by Ethelwyn Wetherald.

Wm. Briggs, Toronto.

Ethelwyn Wetherald, probably the greatest literary woman of Canada, has just issued her fourth volume of lyrics and sonnets, entitled "The Last Robin." This volume is particularly notable, as it is the first book of verse published by the author in her native country, and as it contains 161 of her best poems.

For lovers of good poetry, who have not yet become acquainted with Miss Wetherald's verse, there is in store a rare treat, and for those already familiar therewith, a fresh delight.

Miss Wetherald has lived most of her life on a fruit farm in Pelham township, near Chantler, in the County of Welland, Ont., and Nature in many phases and moods, and the tender joys and sorrows of home are delicately and exquisitely expressed in her beautiful poems.

IF ONE MIGHT LIVE.

If one might live ten years among the leaves,
Ten—only ten—of all a life's long day,
Who would not choose a childhood 'neath the eaves,
Low-sloping to some slender footpath way?

With the young grass about his childish feet,
And the young lambs within his ungrown arms,
And every streamlet side a pleasure meet
Within the wide day's treasure-house of charms,

To learn to speak while young birds learned to sing,
To learn to run e'en as they learned to fly;
With unworn heart against the breast of spring,
To watch the moments smile as they went by.

Enroofed with apple buds afar to roam,
Or clover-cradled on the murmurous sod,
To drowse within the blessed fields of home,
So near to earth—so very near to God.

How could it matter—all the after strife,
The heat, the haste, the inward hurt the strain,
When the young loveliness and sweet of life
Came flood-like back again and yet again!

When first begins it liveth through the worst;
O happy soul, beloved of Memory,
Whose youth was joined to beauty as at first
The morning stars were wed to harmony.

While her communings with nature particularly give character and charm to her poetry, the author sings of other themes with rare grace and power. How the following lines appeal to the fighting spirit of the Anglo-Saxon;

PLUCK.

Thank God for pluck—unknown to slaves—
The self no'er of its Self bereft,
Who, when the right arm's shattered, waves
The good flag with the left.

MY ORDERS.

My orders are to fight,
Then if I bleed, or fail.
Or strongly win, what matters it?
God only doth prevail.

The servant craveth naught
Except to serve with might.
I was not told to win or lose,—
My orders are to fight.

These lines are rich in humor;

SELF-RIGHTEOUSNESS

Unto the diamond with a flaw
The perfect pebble spake:
"Alas, poor sister, some great law
Of heaven you did break.

"Since imperfection's curse I see
Whene'er your form I view;
But cheer up! some day you may be
A perfect pebble, too."

HIS TURN.

A good soul once, not without qualms,
Knocked at the gates eternal,
And begged of Lazarus an alms
For use in realms infernal.

"The rich man of whose crumbs you ate
Needs water. O surprise him
With just one drop." He smiled sedate;
"I fear 'twould pauperise him.

"And, then, you know, I can't revoke
My rule, which is unswerving:
I never give to wealthy folk
Unless they are deserving."

How heart-reaching is the tenderness expressed in

LEGACIES.

Unto my friends I give my thoughts,
Unto my God my soul,
Unto my foe I leave my love—
These are of life the whole.

Nay, there is something—a trifle—left;
Who shall receive this dower?
See, Earth Mother, a handful of dust—
Turn it into a flower.

The volume contains twenty-nine sonnets of such sweetness and strength that the author will at once take high rank as a sonnet writer. My allotted space forbids quotation.

Not only the poet, but the publishing firm, is to be warmly congratulated. The book is a beautiful example of the printer's art. The last robin in colors adorns the front cover, and in fancy one can hear him singing in clear, full tones of the well-merited fame of this gifted literary artist.

J. W. GARVIN.

Week of Prayer In January

Meetings Will be Held in Various City Churches

The Week of Prayer will be observed in Peterborough during the first week in January. On Monday night the meeting will be held in St. Andrew's church; on Tuesday night in the Murray and Park street Baptist churches; on Wednesday at George street church; on Thursday at Knox and Mark street churches, and on Friday night at St. Paul's church.

All the patrons of the different churches mentioned will take part, but no pastor will have charge of the service in his own church.

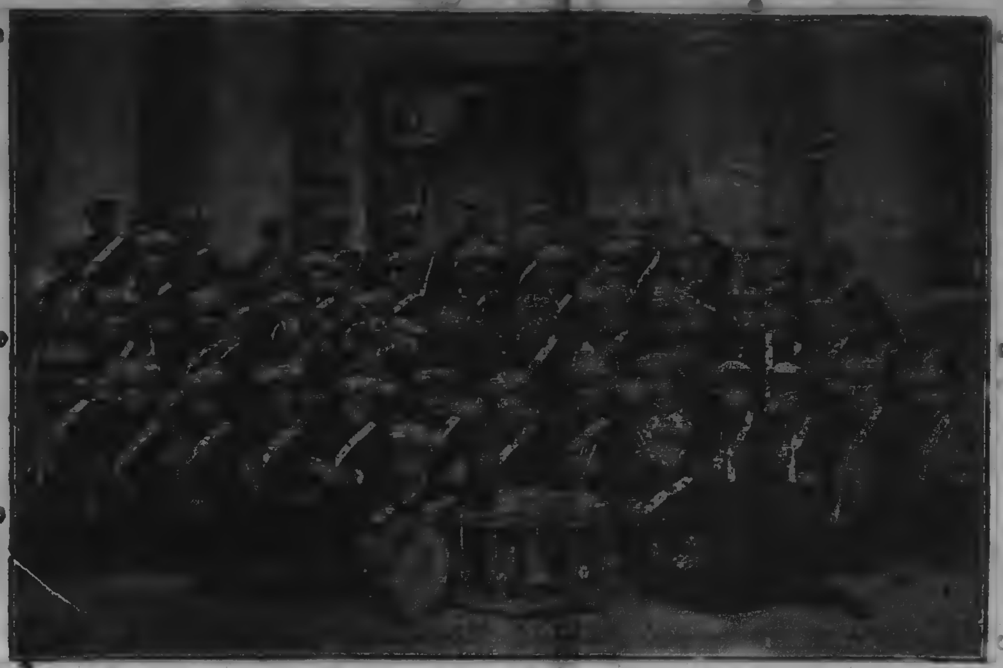
BE LOYAL TO PETERBOROUGH

Peterborough People Should do Their Christmas Shopping at Home

Peterborough people should, and with the possible exception of a few, do stand loyal to the Peterborough stores. People who travel tell us time and again that the Peterborough stores are very attractive and certainly present as broad assortments and as good if not better values than any other city in the country. Very few cities, if any, in America, the size of Peterborough, have stores carrying such large, complete and comprehensive stocks of merchandise. Local people will do well to realise the goodness and high excellence of Peterborough stores, and buy everything at home. The Christmas stocks are now at their best, and the wide and vast selection possible at Peterborough stores will provide satisfaction for every person no matter what they want.

Be loyal to Peterborough. Make all your Christmas purchases at home.

PETERBOROUGH SALVATION ARMY BAND



The last issue of the War Cry contains a large cut of the Peterborough Salvation Army band, along with an interesting "write-up" of splendid musical organization. The reading matter is as follows:

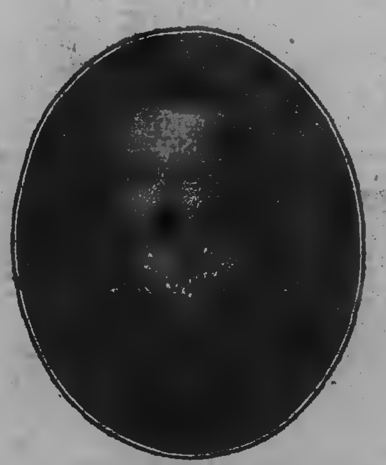
There are forty-six players in this splendid band, and so to give particulars of each one would take up far too much space.

Among some of the most prominent members is Brother Payton, our oldest bandsman. He has been in the band ever since it was organed over twenty years ago. He has fought through thick and thin and has held positions of bandmaster and band sergeant. He is now tenor horn player, and always willing to do anything to further the interests of the band, and help win souls for the kingdom. Brother Northcote is a first-class solo cornetist. He served as deputy bandmaster for five years. Brother Outram is the secretary, and is quite a hardworking official. He does valuable work as regards the finances of the band, and keeps the music and instruments up to date. Brother Gandy is the Band League secretary. The league is a great help to the band. The librarian is Brother Dafoe. He looks after the music and property of the band. Brother McDonald is the band sergeant, and many a down hearted comrade gets a word of cheer from him.

HARD WORK REWARDED.

Many of our bandsmen have to make sacrifices in order to get to the practices, but they attend them regularly, and thus have a chance of attaining to greater efficiency.

This band has silver plated instruments, and the citizens of Peterborough gave their money freely to pay for them, while the City Council has voted the band a grant of $150 per year. During the Christmas serenading last year, the sum of $250 was collected, while in the summer of this year over $80 was raised at six church concerts they attended. We were the first band in Canada to purchase a set of our own make Class A instruments. All the old instruments have been replaced with new ones now, and during the last four years over $2,000 has been expended.



BANDMASTER J. M. GREENE

Though the majority of the bandsmen are young men, yet they can look back over many years of Army service, a great many having been converted as juniors. The total number of years put in by the entire band totals up to 700, and no less than 39 bandsmen are entitled to the long service badge.

THE BANDMASTER

Much can be said for Bandmaster Greene, who has held the position for fifteen years. It is chiefly through his efforts that we stand where we do today.

At the early age of nine the bandmaster first played an instrument—a valve trombone. He then tackled an E-flat bass, which he played in the Canadian staff band on their visit to the International Congress.

Some five years ago the bandmaster advertised in the Local Officer for bandsmen emigrating to Canada to write to him. In less than three months he had sixty replies, the first to arrive on the scene being Bandsmen Northcote and Naish from Reading. Since then no less than nine have come from the same town. Seven have also come from Tunbridge Wells, four from Leeds.

HELPING OTHERS.

The majority of our bandsmen are married and have comfortable homes in the Electric City.

Our ten days tour through the East Ontario Province helped the band wonderfully both spiritually and financially. It will long be remembered by all, and a long tour is looked forward to next year.

The band is always willing to give a helping hand to surrounding corps, and on many occasions have cheerfully given their time and energies to this work, finding that in helping others they got greatly blessed themselves.

HOW'S THIS

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligations made by his firm.

WALDING, KINNAN & MARVIN,
Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Testimonials sent free. Price 75 cents per bottle. Sold by all druggists.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

THE SENDING OF GIFTS

Little Touches That Will Add to the Pleasure of Recipient.

A good deal of the pleasures of Christmas lies in the opening of the mysterious packages that find their way to your door. If these are daintily wrapped, the present is perhaps the more appreciated. The proper way to send a pretty gift is to secure some white wrapping paper, enclose your card, one of those Christmas greetings and a spray of holly embossed on it; seal the first wrapper with one of the holly seals — there are four patterns — and then wrap in a stronger paper. On this use one of the gummed Christmas labels, or a shipping tag with an embossed holly design on it. If one is sending a number of parcels to one address for different members of a family, there are miniature shipping tags, prettily decorated with holly, only costing 5 cents a dozen, which will be nice to use. There are more elaborate tags, ground in shape with a wreath of holly, and enough bright red ribbon attached to tie a bow on the parcel.

The use of all these gives a distinctive touch to the gift, and will be sure to repay the extra trouble taken. The holly seals, labels, cards, and tags are all on sale at the Review office. Call and get a variety of them before you send out your gifts.—tf.

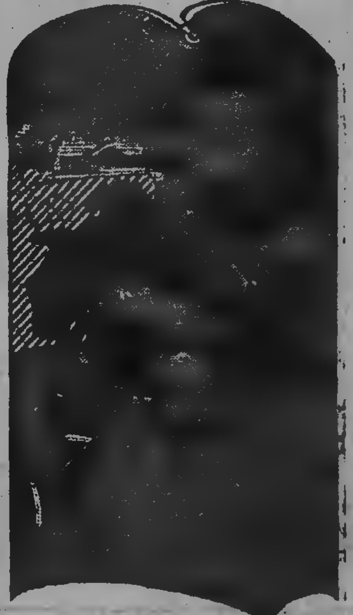
The Republican National Convention of 1908 will be held in Chicago, June 16th.

An Xmas Mistake

By FRANK H. SWEET.

[Copyright, 1907, by Frank H. Sweet.]

ST. NICHOLAS was resting
From his Christmas work at last,
The gifts had all been given,
The holidays were past,
And, dozing in his armchair,
With his cat upon his knees,
The good saint smoked his honest pipe
And took his honest ease.
But something roused him quickly.
He started from his seat.
A soldier bold, a maiden fair,
Were kneeling at his feet.
"St. Nicholas," the maiden cried,
"Behold my fearful plight!
These wounds have been inflicted
Since that dreadful, dreadful night
When you left me in the stocking
Of a being I dare not name."
She paused. The soldier raised his voice
And said: "I blush with shame
To stand before your saintship
In the dress you now behold,
But the way I have been treated
Makes my very blood run cold.
I've been nursed and kissed and coddled;
I've been rocked and sung to sleep.



A SOLDIER BOLD, A MAIDEN FAIR, WERE KNEELING AT HIS FEET.

Oh, were I not a soldier still I'd almost like to weep."
"Ah," mused the good St. Nicholas,
"I think I understand,"
And he smiled a merry little smile
And coughed behind his hand.
"'Twas on that busy Christmas eve,
When all was in a whirl,
This doll was given to a boy,
This soldier to a girl."
And then aloud he gravely said:
"I grieve to see your pain,
But if you'll stay with me a year
All shall be well again.
Next Christmas eve, my children,
When you are well and strong,
I will put you in the stockings
Where you really do belong."

"I wonder where my soldier is!"
Cried gentle little Nell,
And Baby, gazing round him, sobbed,
"Where is my baby doll?"

But, though they hunted high and low
And searched both far and near,
The maiden and the soldier bold
Were seen no more that year.

Captain Bernier Will Lecture Here

Rev. Dr. Marsh, of Springville, has received word from Captain Bernier of Ottawa, the noted explorer, saying that he will come to Peterborough, and give a lecture on his recent expedition to the polar seas, just as soon as he can get free from his engagement at the Capital.

Brockville is drafting an independent municipal ticket.

Get Well

There is Hope —Munyon

MUNYON'S 3X RHEUMATISM CURE

seldom fails to relieve in one to three hours, and cures in a few days; price, $1.

Munyon's Dyspepsia Cure is guaranteed to cure all forms of indigestion and stomach troubles. Price, 25c.

Munyon's IX Kidney Cure speedily cures pains in the back, loins or groins and all forms of kidney disease. Price, 25c.

Munyon's Headache Cure stops headache in three minutes. Price, 25c.

Munyon's Blood Cure eradicates all impurities of the blood. Price, 25c.

Munyon's Cold Cure prevents pneumonia and breaks up a cold in a few hours. Price, 25c.

Munyon's Pile Ointment positively cures all forms of piles. Price, 25c.

Munyon's Vitalizer restores lost powers to weak men. Price, $1.

Munyon's Remedies at all druggists, mostly a 25 cents a vial.

AN EXCELLENT VIEW OF STREET RAILWAY TOBOGGAN SLIDE AT JACKSON PARK

Where the People of Peterborough Will Soon be Indulging in One of the Most Fascinating Winter Pastimes.

In a few days the big toboggan slide and skating rink at Jackson Park will be in full swing, and crowds of people will flock there to enjoy the invigorating and exhilarating exercises of tobogganing and skating. The Street Railway Company have a staff of men at work putting the rink and slide in shape, and if the weather man behaves as he should, they will be ready for use in a few days.

"I wish the slide was ready," is the cry of many youths and maidens at the present time. The sport, when once indulged in, seems to have a fascination of the kind that makes you "once a tobogganist, always a tobogganist."

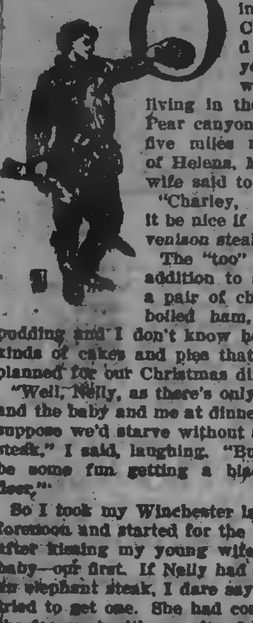
The slide promises to be more popular than ever this year, and the open air rink with its brilliant lights will no doubt also have charms for a large number. Tobogganing has become a popular winter pastime in Peterborough since it was introduced a few years ago, and of course, skating has, is and promises to be for many years to come, one of the most enjoyable outdoor exercises.

The Street Railway Company states that the rink and slide will be better than ever this year, and will soon give the public an opportunity to find out that what is said is true.

A CHRISTMAS TREK

BY FRANK H. SWEET

COPYRIGHT, 1907, BY FRANK H. SWEET.



ON the morning before Christmas day ten years ago, when I was living in the Prickly Pear canyon, twenty-five miles northwest of Helena, Mont., my wife said to me:

"Charley, wouldn't it be nice if we had a venison steak too?"

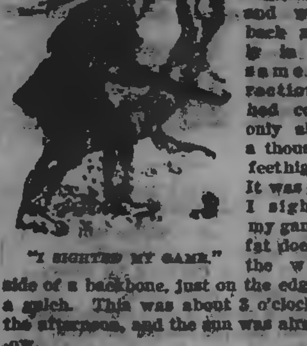
The "too" meant in addition to a turkey, a pair of chickens, a boiled ham, a plum pudding and I don't know how many kinds of cakes and pies that she had planned for our Christmas dinner.

"Well, Nelly, as there's only yourself and the baby and me at dinner, I don't suppose we'd starve without a venison steak," I said, laughing. "But there'll be some fun getting a black tailed deer."

So I took my Winchester late in the forenoon and started for the mountain after kissing my young wife and the baby—our first. If Nelly had asked for an elephant steak, I dare say I'd have tried to get one. She had come out to the far west with me after I had visited home in Michigan, only two years before, and my pride was that she should want for nothing. We had done well from the start, and so we do yet, thanks be to God and steady work in season.

The night before I started up the canyon with my rifle and hunting knife there had been a fall of about six inches of snow. This would make it easy to track game. So I went along in good spirits, struck the foot of the mountain two miles from home and decided to go up an immense gulch straight in front of me.

I soon reached the head of the gulch and the top of the mountain. Then I turned around on the backbone of the mountain and went back nearly in the same direction I had come, only about a thousand feet higher. It was here I sighted my game, a fat doe, on the west side of a backbone, just on the edge of a gulch. This was about 3 o'clock in the afternoon, and the sun was already low.



"I SIGHTED MY GAME."

The doe had not seen me, and I did not mean she should till I could get close enough to make sure of that steak. So I worked over on the east side of the backbone and went along till I got right on top of a slope directly above a great wall of mountain that I had admired on the way up. I was then watching for the doe more than for my steps, and that carelessness nearly finished me. Suddenly my feet slipped, and I went sliding down the sloping mountain side.

I was not more than fairly on my back when I understood what had happened. I had trod on the old drifts of snow which had been melted on the surface by the Chinook winds a few days previously and had then frozen again a hard slope of ice. This was covered by the fresh snow of the night, and so I had not noticed the danger. The fresh snow went with me. I could not hold on by it at all, and I was making a quick trip down. The slope was about 250 feet long. Where it stopped the straight wall began. It was about 400 feet high. I slewed round somehow and went heels first, then head first, flat on my back.

You may suppose I had not time to think much on my way down, but I saw a great deal. I saw Nelly and the baby all alone in the house waiting for me. I saw what I should look like after falling 400 feet on bowlders. I saw Nelly's people a thousand miles away, and more, and she with the baby in her arms and without $10 in the bureau drawer, hoping many a day and night for the bundle at the cliff's foot to walk in alive. It was hard to see all that and feel myself sliding to destruction.

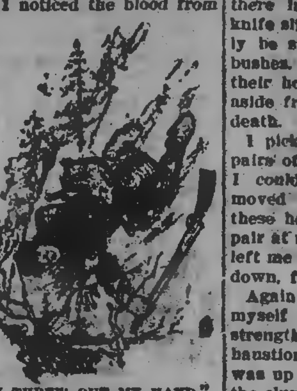
As I slewed around a second time and found myself going on my stomach, head first, I saw a stunted pine close ahead. My Winchester was still in my right hand. Somehow I had clutched it by the muzzle. In a flash I threw out my hand, hoping to fling the gun round the little pine and stop myself, but the hammer of the gun struck the pine, and the charge was fired into me. The bullet plowed through the muscles of my forearm, made a flesh wound in my right side and cut away my cartridge belt.

I had slid about 150 feet when this happened. The shock of the noise and the bullet stunned me, I suppose, for the next thing I knew was that I lay in a clump of small bushes.

The sun had gone down, but there was still a clear afterglow when I came to my full wits, in surprise to find myself alive. For an instant I wondered if I had dropped over the cliff. I tried to rise, but in doing so looked through the bushes.

There was nothing just in front of them. They grew on the cliff's top for about twelve feet wide along its very edge. I had nothing but those frail bushes between me and the bowlders far below.

Seeing this, I trembled and crouched down. Then I noticed the blood from my wounded arm. It was dripping to the snow at roots of the bushes, and my movements had already sprinkled many red spots around.



"I THREW OUT MY HAND."

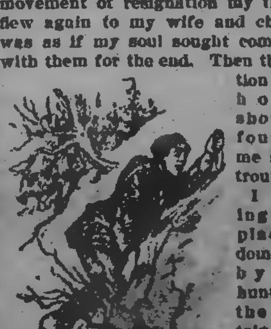
I lay a long time in the snow, keeping my right side to the bushes, for I feared that I should go through if I lay uphill and pressed against them with only the breadth of my feet. Then I lifted up my wounded arm, hoping to stop the flow of red. Perhaps the loss of blood had helped to break down my nerves. At any rate, I shuddered and shook and thought I was about to faint. It seemed a great time before I could control myself sufficiently to seek for some means of escape. But I did not look down over the cliff. It seemed that one more sight of that abyss would lure me to jump over in despair. I looked up the slope.

The track I had made was as if a very wide broom had swept snow off hard white ice. But I reflected that this was only a thin sheet of ice covering deep snow. I could not break through the slippery crust with hand or foot, but I might cut holes in it with my pocketknife and climb by these.

So I put my hand in my pocket to search for the knife. It was not there. It was not in any of my pockets. I suppose it had slipped out during my head first sliding. For a moment hope went out of me. Then it sprang up fresh. My hunting knife! How could I have forgotten it? I put my hand to the sheath. The sheath was empty!

Now it seemed certain that I must die—so certain that the raving spirit of protest was stilled in my heart. I resigned myself to God. There was nothing to do except go mad or accept my fate, and to accept is to be calm. I think I then had the very feeling with which so many of the dying turn their faces silently to the wall when told that death is near. Evening had now come on.

To the bushes I turned my face, letting my wounded arm, which pained me little, come to the snow. With that movement of resignation my thoughts flew again to my wife and child. It was as if my soul sought communion with them for the end. Then the question as to how I should be found set me again to trouble.



"I BEGAN HACKING OUT HOLES."

I was lying on a place seldom seen by any hunter on the mountain. If I should remain there my bones would bleach perhaps for years around. Only the foxes and the carrion birds would visit them. They might in a season be overgrown by the bushes and hidden forever from mortal eye.

I pictured the agony of my wife waiting in uncertainty. The shocking thought that some wicked person might persuade her that I had deserted her came into my brain. Would it not be merciful to her to push through or to one side of the bushes and fall over the precipice? Below there on the bowlders my body might soon be seen by some hunter, and certainly my clothing and bones would be found in the spring or sooner. But what of God? In his sight I should be guilty of suicide if I anticipated by but a little what seemed my doom!

I half rose in this new agony and put my right hand among the bushes, meaning to lean and peer over the cliff. Now the moon was clear. My hand hit something hard. With a loud cry of joy, I was grasping my hunting knife! This had slipped out of its sheath during my sliding and lodged among the bushes.

"Praise God, from whom all blessings flow! My heart was mightily cheered with the sense that he had not forsaken me. As I turned to the steep slide and began hacking out holes for climbing I had little thought of how small was still my chance of escape.

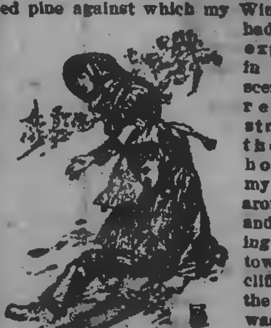
But I was very careful, working there in the moonlight. Should my knife slip from my hand it would hardly be stopped again by the fringe of bushes. Should hands and feet fail of their hold on the slope I might slide aside from that fringe and go over to death.

I picked and dug until I had three pairs of holes extending as far up as I could reach. Then when I had moved my feet into the lowest of these holes and was cutting a fourth pair at my full reach my new strength left me suddenly. There I rested, face down, for many moments.

Again I set to work; again I drew myself up; on I went as far as my strength would allow, and again exhaustion forced me to rest. But now I was up twenty-five or thirty feet from the clump of bushes, and the fear that I might slip, slide down and miss them in sliding became extreme horror. I could not endure this. Very cautiously I let myself down again till I lay once more among the friendly bushes.

The tale would be long to tell how I went up again and again, each time gaining a short distance and each time compelled to descend by the fear of losing my grip or fainting and sliding aside from the bushes. My weakness, probably from loss of blood, was such as I cannot describe to the understanding of one who has never felt the like. My limbs trembled as with an ague. And all this time I had to work with and place my main dependence on my awkward, unwounded left hand and arm.

After a long time I reached the stunted pine against which my Winchester had been exploded in my descent and rested, straddling the tree, holding my arms around it and looking down toward the cliff. Now the moon was often obscured by clouds, a strong wind had risen, and I expected a regular Montana blizzard. But it proved to be only a squall, and again I turned to my work.



THEN NELLY CAME.

To let go of the tree and turn round safely put me to an agony of doubt, but I did it and lay trembling, face down, with my feet against the tree, till I found strength to hack and dig again. I can remember little of what I did after that till at last I drew myself up and lay on top of the mountain.

For some time I could not move, and when I did stand up I doubted whether I had strength to escape, after all. My steps were feeble, and my brain reeled, but still I staggered on toward Nelly and the baby. It was not till I had passed almost to the foot of the mountain, keeping always in my morning tracks, that I sank down and found myself unable to rise.

Then Nelly came. That brave little wife of mine had actually left the baby sleeping and set out all alone across the snow in the moonlight to track me. She had come two miles. She had begun to climb the mountain when I saw her suddenly but a few yards away.

The bottle of tea she carried wrapped in a cloth was still warm when she knelt beside me, and it roused me quickly to some strength. Certainly she saved my life, for I could not have risen again and should have been frozen to death but for her bravery. How we got home to the baby is a story I need not dwell on.

What Nelly did with all that Christmas dinner I do not know, for I was sick and senseless for more than two weeks. But in the end I was as well as before except that I had paid a good Winchester and a belt of cartridges for a venison steak that the fat black tailed doe continued to carry where it grew.

DO YOUR CHRISTMAS SHOPPING AT HOME

The Christmas Chef

By DAVIS TRACY.

[Copyright, 1907, by C. N. Lurie.]

"DID you get one, John?"

Mrs. Botsford spoke eagerly, almost hysterically.

"Yes; I sent her round to the kitchen entrance."

"Can she cook?"

"She is neat and very nice looking," Mr. Botsford temporized defensively. "She says she can do every kind of housework from up garret to down cellar."

"But can she cook—fancy dishes, I mean?"

"She says that she had quite a reputation at home for plain, wholesome cooking, and she is willing to learn. I told her what you wanted."

Mrs. Botsford dropped upon a stool, her eyes filling.

"Oh, John," she ejaculated, "it's 11 o'clock now, and Cousin Edward's fiancee is coming at 3 o'clock to stay until Saturday, and she and Edward and some of her people will be here for Christmas dinner tomorrow, and you know I have never seen the girl or any of them. We must have things nice. The girl's worth a clear million in her own right. Oh, John, why need our cook get sick at such a time and"—Mrs. Botsford was becoming incoherent, but John nodded comprehendingly.

"But what else could I do? There's a corner on servants, especially cooks, at this season. The only suggestion of one besides Sarah was a ten dollar a day chef who commences on a regular job Monday. Of course you don't want a chef for two days."

Mrs. Botsford sprang to her feet, her face suddenly radiant.

"The very thing!" she cried. "He can do the art work and your cook the plain dishes. A chef will be so—so chic, and you know Miss Lenox has been used to everything. He—a chef is he, isn't he, John?"

"THE GIRL'S WORTH A CLEAR MILLION."

"Why, yes, I suppose so. That has always been my impression, though I don't suppose there is any law about a girl filling the position. The manager in this case only stated that a chef could be had for two days."

"Well, it's a man, of course. Now, hurry to the telephone, please, before some one else gets him."

She waited until her husband returned from the telephone, nodding.

"Says the chef will be up at 1 o'clock sharp, Julia. Now I'll go downtown and order the Christmas trimmings and things."

At 1 o'clock sharp a cab rolled up to the door, and a girl alighted. Mrs. Botsford's countenance fell a little, but rose as the girl opened the gate and went toward the side entrance. It was the chef, though but a girl, and the fact of her coming in a cab and being well dressed was significant of $10 a day.

"NOW YOU [illegible] ME IN CHARGE."

Mrs. Botsford did not wait for the second girl to answer the bell, but hurried to the side entrance. The occasion was too momentous for ceremony. As she threw open the door the girl was bending over a fine clump of late chrysanthemums that were smiling daringly into the very teeth of winter. Mrs. Botsford's heart warmed toward her instantly. A girl who could bend over flowers with that look was not an ordinary workman, but an artist. As the girl smiled, nodded and came forward Mrs. Botsford almost caught her in her arms.

"Oh, my dear," she cried, without giving the chef an opportunity to speak, "you don't know how glad I am to see you! I will take you right into the kitchen, and Sarah will show you where everything is. I shall not make a suggestion, for I see you are perfectly capable. Only do make it just as—as comprehensive as you can. Miss Lenox is accustomed to everything, and—and I want to make her like me so much and to please Edward."

She had been hurrying the chef through the hall to the kitchen. At the door, to her surprise, the chef pressed a light kiss upon her forehead.

"If you are as nice to Miss Lenox as you are to me," she smiled, "I think she will like you. Now you may leave me in charge. I will do the best I can."

Mrs. Botsford returned to the drawing room, rubbing her forehead thoughtfully.

"What's the matter, Julia," her husband asked—"another headache?"

"N-no," doubtfully; "that's where the chef kissed me. I never had a girl kiss me as soon before. But I don't care if only she diffuses her artist soul through the cooking. She has an artist soul, John. I saw it in her eyes."

At 3 o'clock she was again at the window, but there was no carriage in sight. Two minutes later the telephone rang. She went to the telephone herself.

"What's that you say? Can't come? Why, that's too bad. But you will be here tomorrow, of course? What? Will send note? Yes. Well, come as early as you can."

An hour later the note came. Mrs. Botsford read it with a perplexed face, then passed it to her husband.

"I didn't know she spelled her name that way, John," she said, "though of course we never saw it spelled out. I'm afraid she's not so well educated as we thought. And of course a lover's opinion isn't always reliable. Poor Edward!"

Mr. Botsford nodded vaguely and opened the note, which read:

> Dear Mr. and Mrs. Botsford—Sorry I cannot come according to agreement. Imperative summons elsewhere. Will see you tomorrow. Faithfully, etc.,
>
> M. LEHKNOCKER.

"Rather abrupt for good form, isn't it?" queried Mr. Botsford. "The name might masquerade almost any nationality that's foreign, but never mind, Julia. We must be as nice to her as we can for Edward's sake."

At 9 o'clock that night after the palms and mistletoe and holly had been arranged Sarah suddenly burst upon them with face full of consternation.

"The chef!" she gasped. "She's gone—left entirely! I was at the range, watchin' the turkey, an' she come in with her hat on an' said that everything was ready, so I could attend to it now, an' she left this note for ye."

"But why did she go?" gasped Mrs. Botsford. "I thought"—

"She said everything was all ready," Sarah repeated stolidly, "an' that I could attend to it now. There," as a clear car tinkle sounded outside; "that's her car startin' now. She said she wanted to catch the 9 o'clock."

Mrs. Botsford opened the note with trembling fingers. As she read she frowned, looked mortified, laughed and finally passed the note to her husband with shining eyes. "She's all right," was her only comment. The note read:

> Dear Mrs. Botsford—You really must forgive me. I had an errand downtown and so called at your house an hour earlier than I intended, thinking that I would stop there awhile, and then perhaps you and I would do the errand together. A sight of your lovely chrysanthemums drew me straight through the gate to the side entrance. Then you opened the door, and some way we drifted into the kitchen before I quite realized what I was doing. Then your straits and a remembrance of former triumphs conspired to do the rest. I really do love cooking and have taken a lot of courses in special things. I think I have excelled myself this time and believe you will be satisfied with the result. Sarah and the second girl can manage the rest very nicely. I shall do my errand now and will stay with my aunt at the Marlborough tonight. It will be more convenient. You may expect us quite early tomorrow morning. Lovingly,
>
> MARGUERITE LENOX.

Santa didn't bring me nofin!

FROM COPYRIGHT STEREOGRAPH BY AMERICAN STEREOSCOPIC CO.

"Fashion-Craft"

The Test of Good Tailoring:

¶ There is no test of fit so searching—and no proof of quality so strong as actually putting the garments on and examining them.

¶ Hundreds of men have applied this test to "Fashion-Craft" Clothes—and now they are among our most satisfied clients.

¶ We emphasize this fact—because, there is not one man in a thousand, who, after a month's trial, will not say the same thing.

¶ A trial will not cost you a cent. If for any reason within one year you are dissatisfied with your purchase you can get your money back for the mere asking.

Fashion-Craft Overcoats Special Prices

Cheviots—winter weights in black, grey and Fancy Weaves...... $18

Fancy Tweeds—double breasted, serge lined with Prussian Collars...... $20

"Chamberlain"—Paletots—the acme of style, and comfort...... $25

The Chester—our special creation—very distinguished looking—with velvet collar and heavy serge lining for winter $30

English Nap—in any style, lined with Skinner's best satin—the most luxurious overcoat of the season....... $40

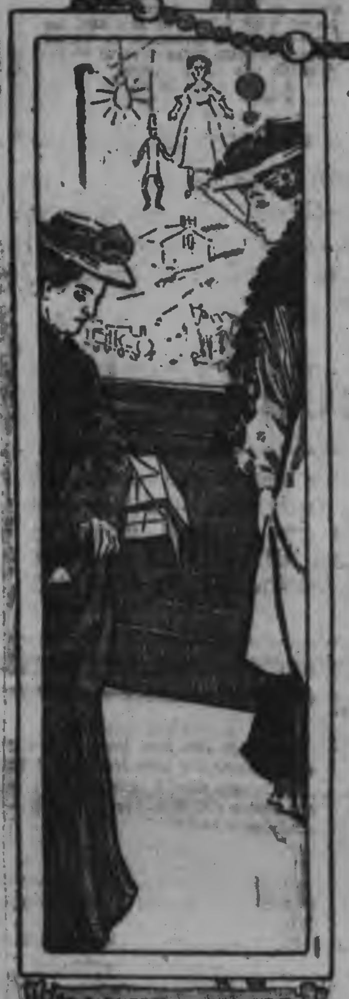
¶ Not only is the style good for three years, but "Fashion Craft" quality is such that they will keep their good looks and shape for 3 years or more.

Winter Overcoats

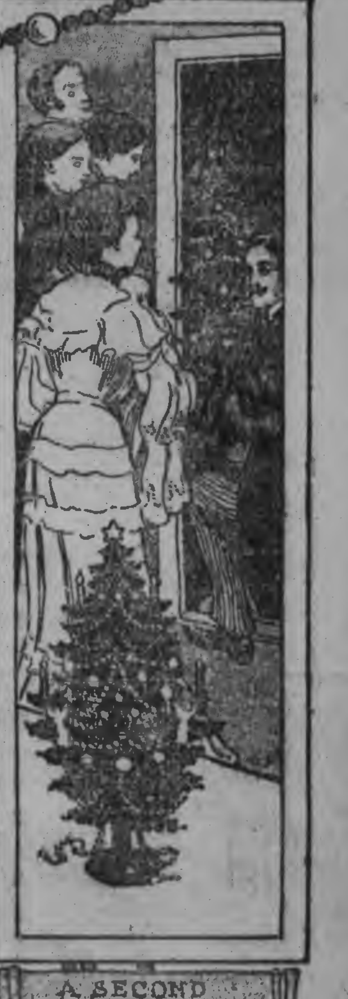
Laidlaw & Oles Proprietors PETERBOROUGH

THE CHRISTMAS OF BABY ANN

By ALICE ELIZABETH NORTHRUP



I WANT A LITTLE STAR



A SECOND CHRISTMAS TREE

By Alice Elizabeth Northrup.

The visitor jumped the baby up and down, to the consternation of Mr. and Mrs. Merion. When parents are trying to bring up a child scientifically it is disconcerting, to say the least, to have friends interfere. Mrs. Merion knew the rule by heart: "Never jostle or jump babies. It is bad for their nervous systems."

"You are tired," she finally remarked to Mrs. Wemple—mother of five. "Let me take her."

"Oh, she's all right," complacently answered Mrs. Wemple, ignoring the mother's outstretched arms, as the baby gave a crow of delight.

But Mrs. Merion persisted and took her baby. Whereupon, the motion ceasing, Baby Ann set up a prolonged howl, which caused Marie, fresh from the best training school for nurses, to rush in and carry Baby Ann from the room.

"To think that it is almost Christmas time," said Mrs. Wemple. "I suppose you dear children will have fun now getting baby's Christmas tree ready."

Mrs. Merion looked at her husband and he looked at her.

"Of course," continued Mrs. Wemple, "you'll have a tree?"

"But she's only five months old," protested Grant Merion. "She wouldn't notice it."

"Bless your hearts," said Mrs. Wemple, who had known these two when they were making mud pies, "that's not the point. It's the fun you two will have—the joy of getting ready. I had a Christmas tree for my first when he was only three months old. The lights made him blink, and we said that he was a remarkably smart child. He noticed everything and cried for the Star of Bethlehem—wanted to grab it, you know. His father and I both thought he would surely be a minister.

"Christmas isn't Christmas until the children come. If you think it is for the babies that parents do all the fussing, you're mistaken. They're only the excuse. If you like, I'll send you my trimmings for a tree."

Mrs. Merion again stole a glance at her husband. He shook his head.

"No, thank you, Mrs. Wemple," he said, as he bent down to put a fresh log on the fire. "Elita and I don't approve of such nonsense. It would be a waste of money, which had better be put by for Ann's education."

"What's the use," interposed Mrs. Wemple, as she rose to go, "to bother about the education of a five-month-old? Perhaps, when you've had a few more, some of your scientific ideas will vanish. Give the little ones pleasure and the morrow will take care of itself. That's my motto. Children should look back on happiness. It's other folks' business to give it to them. Later, God knows, they make or mar their own lives."

Grant returned from escorting Mrs. Wemple to the door.

"Do you think, Elita," he asked, "we had better have one?"

"What?"

"A tree."

"It's utter nonsense—utter nonsense," said the college-bred mother. "A baby five months old should have no nervous excitement."

Baby Ann had been born to parents who had definite plans for her bringing up. She was to have no frills. Even her name must be sensible. But Baby Ann early developed a will of her own. In spite of all theories, she would not wait the prescribed time between meals. A series of wailings would rend the air. The next-door neighbor would kindly inquire whether she could do anything. Baby Ann had won the day.

"The rights of our neighbors," Mrs. Merion had meekly said, "must be respected."

Short days and long evenings now betokened the approach of the glorious Christmas tide. The streets, in the gathering dusk, were filled with happy bundle-laden people. Mrs. Merion was among the late shoppers. Theoretically, she disapproved of Christmas gifts. The custom had degenerated into give-and-take, unglorified by the original spirit of goodwill to all. Still, she was not strong enough to live quite up to her theories. That would require a person very strong-minded or very eccentric.

"It was mortifying," she confessed, "to have Sallie give you a gift and you not have one for Sallie." So she did a little sensible shopping, for this wife erred on the common-sense side. Baby would have many toys from aunts and uncles, not to mention the always over-indulgent grandparents. To Elita's practical mind, even a ten cent toy was a waste. Ann needed a new cap and it might just as well go into the category of gifts.

Nevertheless her eyes turned wistfully to the window of the toy shop. The twilight had fallen. The window was bright with myriads of little lights, which, reflecting on the snow, made fields of diamonds. And such a collection of toys! Dolls, jumping-jacks, balls, tea sets and all the wonderful things that help to make up a child's world. In the middle of the window, its green color dark and cool under its gaudy trimmings, was a small Christmas tree.

As Mrs. Merion stood before the window in hesitation, she turned to face a plainly dressed young German woman. The woman was just opening her purse. With a look of despair she closed it; then, heedless of Mrs. Merion, pulled up her dress skirt and searched a petticoat pocket. Evidently she found nothing, for, with a sigh, she turned to go.

"Can I—have you lost something?" sympathetically asked Mrs. Merion.

"Nein," said the woman. "I want a little star—no money."

"Have you lost it?"

"Nein. I spent the money, see?" opening a parcel full of glittering tinsel. "I buy much; no money for star and little Christ Child for baby's tree."

The woman looked surprised at the deprecatory tone. "Yaas. All German kinder have it. My man, he cut it for me. To-morrow I trim. I sew hard and get the money."

It struck Elita Merion as incongruous that she should hesitate over a simple pleasure, while this woman of poverty sould accept a tree as a necessity. Before the simple motherhood of the young German, even highly educated Mrs. Merion softened.

"Come inside," she said, "and let me send your baby a star."

After the woman, profuse in her thanks and trophies in hand had departed, Elita lingered. And, hesitating, she was lost.

"Be sure to come in the morning, and to the front door," she smilingly admonished the polite salesman, as he bowed her out.

The next morning Mrs. Merion hovered around the front hall.

"You may give Ann her bath," she finally instructed Marie, who looked up in surprise. Had not Mrs. Merion always attended to baby's bath? Did not the rule say, "Every mother should bathe her own child; the task should never be left to nurses?"

Soon Mrs. Merion was rewarded by seeing a huge delivery cart labelled "Miller—Toys," stop in front of the house. Despite the zero weather, she rushed out on the porch.

"This way," she called. "Bring the things in here."

She led the way to an empty room on the second floor, which, when prosperity arrived, was to be furnished as a sewing-room. "Are you sure that it fits the standerd all right?"

"Yes'm, snug as a bug. I'll set it up for ye. Thank ye, ma'am. A merry Christmas to ye."

That morning she worked, or more properly speaking, she fussed. The only thing to mar her pleasure was the thought, "Will Grant be displeased? Will he think me very foolish and extravagant?" And yet the money was her own, and he never questioned what she did with it. At eleven, she was surprised by a telephone message from her husband asking her to come downtown to take luncheon with him.

"You haven't been down in a long time, Elita, and I thought you might enjoy seeing the crowds and helping me select mother's present."

She could not refuse, although it was with some reluctance she left her unfinished task.

"You're looking so pretty and happy," observed Grant, as they sat at a table beneath the palms, listening to the music in one of those delightful bits of summerland, found in large cities in the depths of winter. Only the fur-trimmed garments of the women suggested that snow-covered streets lay without.

"I am happy," replied Elita. "I really believe I'm beginning to feel Christmasy.'"

It was late when they reached home, so it was not until after dinner that Elita found time to go to the sewing-room.

"I have a few belated gifts to wrap up," she remarked to Grant, "so excuse me, dear."

To her surpise he made no remonstrance, though he had always claimed her evenings.

"All right," he replied. "I have an important letter to write. So take your time."

"A business letter," said Elita, "and on Christmas eve! We certainly are a sensible couple."

Was that a guilty flush on Grant's face when, from economical habit, he turned to extinguish one of the dining-room lights?

Later, when Elita, went to his den, she found the door locked.

"All right, Elita, in a minute," Grant cried in answer to her summons. There was a sound of scurrying; the closet door banged, and Grant let her in.

"I thought," observed Elita drily, as she gazed around at the excelsior which littered the otherwise neat den, "you had an important business letter to write."

* * * * *

Christmas, queen of festivals, dawned bright, clear and cold. Its religious significance Elita had always been taught to observe. That their thoughts might not be distracted through the beautiful service, the distribution of gifts was postponed until their return from church.

Elita's father and mother and sister came to dine with them. Before dinner was quite over, Elita, ostensibly to get Baby Ann, slipped away.

"I should say," remarked the impatient grandmother, "that she was a long time getting that child."

"Come into the den!" called Elita's cheery voice, with an air of mystery.

There, on the table, brilliantly illuminated with tiny candles, strings of gold and silver tinsel, snowy white popcorn, waxen angels and over all the Star of Bethlehem, stood a Christmas tree. All but Grant uttered exclamations of delight.

"What's the matter dear?" anxiously asked Elita, as she held Ann toward him. "Don't you like it? I simply couldn't resist!"

"But how did you find out?" disappointment manifest in his voice. "I—I meant it as a asurprise. I was going to get it myself in a moment."

It was Elita's turn to look puzzled. "Why, how did you know anything about it? I trimmed it myself, last evening in the sewing-room."

Grant made a dive for the closet door. From its black depths he pulled forth a second Christmas tree. From it, too, hung tinsel, Cupids and the Star of Bethlehem.

In the midst of exclamations and explanations no one heard the door bell ring.

"Carefully," a voice was saying. "Be carfeul, don't break it. Where are you all? Come here."

Recognizing Mrs. Wemple's voice Mrs. Merion hurried to greet her. There, on the parlor floor, was a third Christmas tree.

"I thought," began Mrs. Wemple "that it was a shame Ann shouldn't have a tree. So in spite of her education—"

Mrs. Merion cut her short. Choking with laghter she took her guest to the "den."

Baby Ann crowed and laghed and cried for all the Stars of Bethlehem.

"She will be a saint," said her father.

"She shall begin now," said her mother. "She shall send her superfluous trees to the children's ward."

"Next year," observed Mrs. Wemple, "you two had better plan on one tree together."

CHRISTMAS PANTOMIMES

If there is anything that may be considered exclusive in old England, and particularly in London, it is the Christmas Pantomime. This special form of entertainment is not only produced annually in nearly all the theatres in the largest city in the world on Boxing night, next after Christmas, but in all the large cities of the "Tight Little Island," such as Liverpool, Manchester, Bristol, Hull, Leeds, etc.

A pantomime consists of two parts: a fairy extravaganza and the pantomime proper. The first part is a dramatization of some fairy tale, such as "Beauty and the Beast," "Sinbad the Sailor," etc. In fact, the "Arabian Nights" have furnished more material for this class of work than any other book in existence. The extravaganza ends with a grand transformation scene, and then the fun begins. The lover has been turned into Harlequin and presnted with a magic wand by the fairy queen. His lady love accompanies him in all his antics and frustrations of mischief as Columbine. The villain is made a trouble-making clown, and the girl's father is Pantaloon. Everything is in dumb show, unless the clown can sing a song, and than he does.

The scenery of the story proper is of the most gorgeous description, representing gold and silver palaces, crystal caves, magnificent flowers turning into living fairies, etc. The theatres try to outvie each other in this direction, and the Londoner will go round to each home of the drama and make comparisons. The first nighter selects Drury Lane Theatre, and the man who has been there never forgets it. The building is packed to its utmost capacity with human freight, like sardines in a box, and everyone is good-natured and determined on enjoying himself to the top of his bent. Few ladies are present.

Joe Grimaldi was the most famous clown that England ever produced, and it was his art, both as an actor and a singer, that made this class of entertainment popular. He was in his zenith about a hundred years ago, and during the festive season performed in two theatres in one night — Drury Lane and Sadler's Wells — when he was little more than a boy. Two of his most celebrated songs were: "Hot Codlins," and "Tippitywichet," and they were popular until quite recently. The most renowned pantomime was "Harlequin Mother Goose." It was produced for several successive seasons, a success without precedent.

Grimaldi has had many successors but no equal. Among the most noted were Tom Matthews, Harry Boleno, and last, but not least, Tom Payne. He was a prime favorite with his children audiences up to the time of his death, which occurred only a few years ago.

Large sums of money were invested in the production of a single pantomime, ranging from thirty to fifty thousand dollars. Hence its success is of the utmost interest to the proprietor. If the public is satisfied, it will run right up to Easter, and occasionally for some time after. This is a matter of great importance when it is borne in mind that there are about thirty new pantomimes produced in London alone on the opening of the Christmas holidays.

Burning the Yule-Log.

Bringing home the Yule-log the day before Christmas was a custom in the old days of "Merrie England" that had come down from the days of the Druids. It was a gay party that sallied forth from the castle to seek some monarch of the forest. When it was hewn down, ropes were passed around the branches, and every one had a pull at dragging it home through the snow. Then, after the games, it was set on fire in the cavernous hearth of the great hall, and baron and knight gathered around its leaping flames, with servant and jester, to sing and make merry, and perhaps listen to the tales of the Holy Land from some wandering palmer, who had sought shelter at the castle gates that night.

Filling Santa's Pack

A Christmas variation to the donkey sheet game is on sale this year. It is a life-size picture of Santa Claus printed on a sheet of muslin. He carries a pack on his back, but it is empty. There is a collection of a dozen or so cloth toys made to pin on the sheet, and the game is to fill Santa's pack for him blindfolded. It is a happy idea for a children's party, and creates lots of pleasure among the little folks, for even the baby will think it is fun to try and land a rag doll baby safely in the bag.

THE MICE'S CHRISTMAS PARTY

The candles on the Christmas tree had all burned down to a splutter and gone out, and everyone had gone to bed, when Ted went back to find a half-finished bag of pop-corn. But just as his little bare feet stepped on the parlor rug there was a scamper of other feet, and all the mouse party scattered. They had eaten the gingerbread Santa Claus, and chewed on the pop-corn strings. Even the candles that were left over in the box had been nibbled at, and there were crumbs of candy all over the floor to the hole down by the hearth.

Ted cuddled up on a corner of the lounge, and never made a sound. He had never thought that mice liked Christmas trees, too. And pretty soon they all came stealing back, four or five of them, running back and forth from the tree to the hearth, and always with a bit of nut or candy. Then Ted understood what thew were doing. It was so simple. They were getting things to fix up trees for the baby mice down in the hole. So he slipped off the lounge without making any noise at all, and tiptoed back to bed, and wondered whether baby mice liked pink pop-corn and caramels as well as he did, and what kind of stockings they hung up.

A Dainty Christmas Gift.

A dainty Christmas gift is a chintz or cretonne-covered picture frame. These are sold in some of the shops to hold from one to five photographs or other pictures, and, of course, are prettier if they match the other furnishings of the room they are made for. Any pretty, small figured cretonne, however, will look well. To make one, pad a pasteboard picture frame, with wadding, cover it with the cretonne and paste the edges down securely on the wrong side. Cover the back with paper.

In Lithuania.

In Lithuania when the first star appears Christmas Eve, the master and mistress of a house take long, oblong vari-colored wafers, and break one with each person in the house, the oldest with the youngest, the poorest with the richest. In memory of the Babe of Bethlehem, straw is placed under the table cloth, and huge sheaves of wheat stand in the corners of the room.

GRANDMOTHER'S CHRISTMAS

"The same old story every year?" Grandmother laughed softly as the children left their games and stood coaxingly around her chair. "Well, then, let's see; it was long long ago, sixty-seven years, and I was only as tall as Dorothy here — about six, I think. There were five of us in the family—father and mother, and your great-uncle, Luther, and Bennie and me, the little ones — and we all lived in a little log house that father and Luther built in the summer right over there where the High School stands now. But, or, dear, it was wild then."

Grandmother looked over Dorothy's curls out of the window at the trim, pretty town, with its snowy streets, edged with the deep green of pine and evergreen.

"The clearing was only as far as from here to the post office, and there were seven families all told, and seven little houses all huddled together for company, the only white settlement in this corner of Wisconsin.

"There had been a long, hard blizzard just before Christmas, and the boys had not been able to set any traps or hunt even a prairie chicken. But mother said not to mind. She would make us a big Indian meal pudding and a batch of ginger cookies, and there were plenty of hazel nuts and walnuts. Perhaps by Christmas morning there might be something in Luther's traps if the weather cleared so he could get to them.

"So Christmas Eve we were having a good time anyway, singing and listening while father told stories of the way they spent Christmas way back home in New England, when all at once there was a rap on the door. Father asked who was there, but no one answered, and he lifted the big wooden log from its place across the door and opened it. And there, lying in the snow was an Indian, half starved and nearly frozen. There were not many Indians around us, only the Chippewas further south, and we wondered where on earth he had come from, but the boys lifted him in and laid him down in front of the blazing pine wood fire, while mother bustled about and fixed him a hot drink of ginger tea.

"We children forgot all about Christmas as we stood back in the shadows, holding hands and staring at the Indian and his strange dress of furs and buckskin. And at last he was able to sit up and look around at us. Mother and father both talked to him, and cheered him and made him eat a little cornmeal bread. But he shook his head and took something from his belt and gave it to father. And, dear hearts, it was a piece of homespun New England linen, torn from a bed sheet and written on with a charred stick. And when father had read what it said he put his arms around mother and kissed her, and his face looked so queer—all joy and sadness mingled.

"And he dressed himself in his warmest clothes, and late that night he and four other men from the settlement went out into the forest wilderness led by the Indian. We did not know what it was about, but mother and the other women cried and laughed together, and made up extra beds on the floors, and cooked up warm pots of cornmeal gruel, and hung the warmest blankets around the fires to keep warm.

"No one went to bed that night, although Bennie and I fell asleep down in the corner by the big dresser, and Christmas morning, just as the sunshine came streaming down through the great pines, we heard shouts on the edge of the clearing, and everybody ran out in the snow. And coming through the woods was father and the other men and the Indian, and after them three big, heavy waggons drawn by oxen, and in the waggons"—the tears filled grandmother's eyes as she stopped for a moment—"in the waggons there was your great-great-aunt, Patience Saunders, and great-great-uncle Samuel Saunders, and little Patience and Susan and Faith and Dan. And in another there was neighbor Philander Peabody's family all the way from Connecticut, and Philander leading the oxen. And the other waggon was just crammed full of the dearest, best things you ever saw; things that had crossed the wilderness all the way from Connecticut to Wisconsin.

"They had started in August and had come by easy stages on account of the children, stopping at each of the settlements they came to to rest. After they left the trading post down near Eau Claire, they had lost their way and wandered, and if it hadn't have been for the Chippewa Indian they had met, they would all have perished in the wilderness. So may be we didn't have a merry Christmas that year, and Luther even found some rabbits in his traps to help out, with great-great-aunt Patience's home-cured hams she had brought up from the Ohio settlement."

A POEM WITH MORAL FOR MAIDS

Ye BALLAD of PATIENCE POTTER and PERSEVERANCE PELL

ROBERTUS LOVE

COPYRIGHT, 1907, BY ROBERTUS LOVE

NOW, lean and list or ye'll have missed,
Without ye heed my rhymes,
A tale that stirs, of hims and hers,
In old New England times.

When Plymouth Rock was still the dock
Whereon did land our sires,
Near by did dwell one Goodman Pell,
But late from Albion's shires.

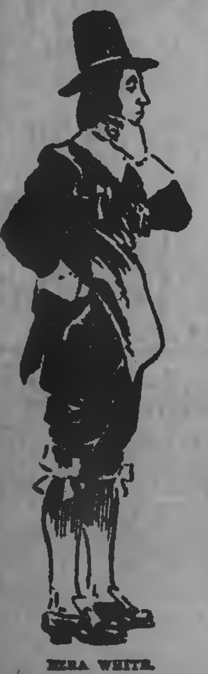
An eke anear, for neighbor's cheer,
Did Goodman Potter bide,
Whose pilgrim soul was sound and whole—
Forsooth, it had been tried.

A maid as sweet as man may meet
Was Perseverance Pell,
And there were swains of mickle brains
Loved Patience Potter well.

But these two fairs with proudsome airs
Ye common flock disdain
And set them both to plight their troth
To but a single swain.

This favored wight is Ezra White.
A fairsome youth is he.
But 'twixt ye twain this fuddled swain
Cannot himself agree.

Ye maid of Pell he loves full well,
Ye Potter lass ye same,
But for his life which one to wife
Poor Ezra cannot name.



EZRA WHITE.

"My only loves," quoth
Ezra, "doves
Fit each to share my cote,
Upon my mettle ye'll have to settle
This matter by a vote."

So on ye street, with gong to beat,
Ye Crier of ye town
To warn and call ye good men all
Went loudly up and down.

"Come one, come all, to Publick Hall!"
Ye lusty Crier cried.
"That maid ye name is fairest, same
Is Ezra White his bride."

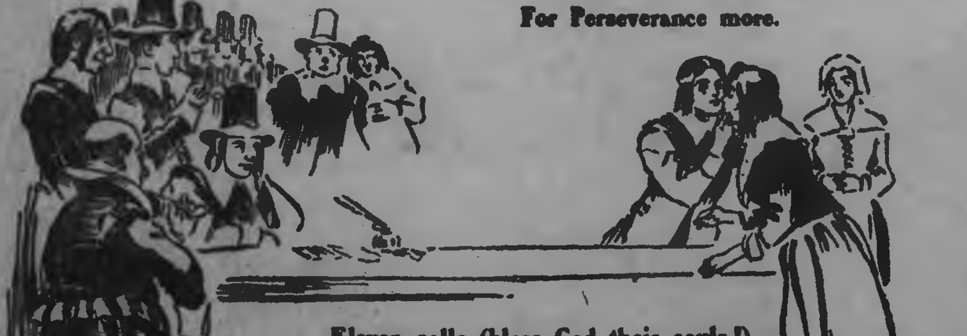
So gathered they to have his say,
Each man, and claim a kiss
From her who might be Mistress White—
Elected to the bliss.

Sweet Patience there upon her chair
In wistful patience sate,
While Perseverance by prompt appearance
Was ready for her fate.

Ye votes are cast; all in at last,
Ye tellers make ye score.
For Patience ten are told—but, then,
For Perseverance more.



Eleven polls (bless God their souls!)
Made Maiden Pell the winner.
So they begun, those twenty-one,
And kissed her—every sinner!

While Patience sate, demure, sedate,
And Ezra, much amazed,
Upon that kissing himself was missing,
Quite starkly, darkly gazed.

Then up rushed Ez. "See here!" he says,
"My choice in truth ye make.
One kissed by twenty is kissed a-plenty,
And her I will not take!

"Fresh lips for me, say I!" says he.
So Ezra White did grab
Sweet Patience Potter ('twas thus he got her)
And kissed her right smack-dab!

So they were wed and lived, 'tis said,
In lifelong wedlock well,
While lived and died as no man's bride
Poor Perseverance Pell.

The Mistletoe

By ROBERTUS LOVE.

[Copyright, 1907, by Robertus Love.]

WHEN you step under the sprig of mistletoe hanging from the chandelier to get your Christmas kiss you may not be particularly interested in the genesis of the peculiar little vegetable growth which Cupid seems to have appropriated for his own. Nevertheless the process of mistletoe production and reproduction is highly interesting.

In some parts of England, where most of the mistletoe of Christmas time comes from, the gardeners propagate the parasite artificially. Mistletoe, as is well known, is of the parasitic kind, taking its sustenance not from the ground, but from a tree. The apple tree seems to be its favorite, though the hawthorn, the lime and the poplar frequently carry the parasite.

BERRIES CRUSHED ON A BRANCH.

The scientific inoculation of trees with the mistletoe growth is practiced with excellent results in the north of England. The gardener takes between his thumb and forefinger one of the little berries of the mistletoe, crushes it so that its sticky juice oozes out and sticks it upon the surface of a branch of the tree. Usually he selects a young branch, on which the bark is soft and easily penetrable. If an older branch be chosen, the bark is slightly scraped on the surface. The berry is mashed flat against the bark. The seed which it contains is thus held in place by its own gum.

Late April or May is the proper season for inoculating. The seed soon sends through the bark a little "feeler" or root, and a small twig, bending in toward the branch of the tree, appears. After a considerable period this twig, which looks like a small fishhook sticking in the tree from the top of the hook, falls off. The uninitiated thinks it is all over, but the experienced gardener knows better. He knows that after a time the branch will begin to swell at the point of inoculation, gradually rising to a little peak at the place where the hook has been. This tip gets green and shiny, a bud pushes up, and in a few weeks an unmistakable twig of mistletoe is visible, with a stem and a long leaf or two.

SWELLED BRANCH AND TWIG.

After this the mistletoe comes rapidly into its kingdom and takes possession. The close observer will see other little swellings and peaks along the branch, the thin roots of the mistletoe having traveled under the bark to sprout up in fresh places. Thus it travels along until sometimes the whole tree is in its possession, fine bunches of the Christmas hanger growing abundantly.

When once the mistletoe takes possession of a fruit tree the effect upon the fruit is quite noticeable. The mistletoe takes its nourishment from the tree to which it clings. That is the soil in which its roots live and thrive. Naturally this reduces the amount of substance which formerly went into the fruit. If the captive be an apple tree, the apples become small and scraggly. The mistletoe has stolen away their sweetness and plumpness. Man grows by what he feeds on. So does mistletoe. And as the pork eating man visits the penalty of death upon the pig so does the penalty of withering and souring fall upon the apple whose progenitor feeds the spreading parasite. Nature is full of wonders, and the growth of mistletoe is one of the most wonderful when adequately studied.

TWIG AND FIRST BUD BURSTING.

Mistletoe grows naturally in parts of England and Scotland, being propagated by birds. In some of the northern counties of Scotland no mistletoe is found. This is believed to be due to the absence of the mistle thrush from those counties. The thrush of this name is exceedingly fond of the mistletoe berry. After eating its fill the bird flies to another tree. Being cleanly, it uses the branch of the tree upon which it alights for a napkin, wiping its sticky bill thereon. Frequently a mistletoe seed is thus deposited and glued to the bark. Then the reproductive process follows naturally.

An official inquiry as to whether mistletoe is still to be found on oak trees, as in Druidical days, resulted in the discovery of several oaks in one county of England bearing the parasite. But modern mistletoe has come to be Cupidical rather than Druidical. When the mistletoe and the miss, plus the mister, get in the proper positions the result [illegible] with kiss.

'TOO TIRED TO STIR!

ARE YOU ONE OF THE WEAK WOMEN
To Become Bright, Happy and Healthy?—Use Ferrozone.

Modern life makes demands on every woman's strength that seem impossible to meet. Only the robust and strong can stand the strain. The weak, with their delicately balanced organisms, must fail. Blood gets thin, it's innutritious. Nerves go to smash, vitality declines, and then follows misery and suffering caused by interference with certain functions upon which the very existence of every female depends.

Don't let your condition grow worse. Check the decline of vital force before it is too late! The one sure remedy is Ferrozone—not a temporary stimulant—but an uplifting nutritive tonic that contains the kind of building material a weak body requires.

• FERROZONE revitalizes the system by putting new life into the blood. Not only does it nourish the ordinary blood supply—it does more, it makes new blood, the rich, red kind that denotes health.

Energy is reinforced, strength is steadily and surely rebuilt. Keen appetite, strong nerves, more restful sleep, buoyant feelings, all tell of the enormous good Ferrozone invariably accomplishes. For restoring the weak, the pale, the despondent, there is no treatment so instant and permanent in effect as Ferrozone. A trial proves this. Won't you use Ferrozone yourself? It will surely make you well—its effect is instant.

BUILT UP HER STRENGTH

Mrs. M. E. Etherington, a well known merchant's wife, of Troy, writes: "I am quite willing to give a public testimonial for Ferrozone, believing it to be a tonic of superior excellence, and one that will rapidly build up strength and supply new energy to anyone not feeling well. Last Spring I was in a very poor condition of health. I was nervous, felt tired and completely worn out. No doubt it is quite a common complaint with ladies of my age, but I placed great reliance in Ferrozone, and took it for several weeks. It made me quite strong, and, in fact, I have been in better health ever since. I can heartily recommend Ferrozone."

Ferrozone Assures Good Health!

WARNING! Beware of the substitutor who urges you to accept something "just as good." Only FERROZONE can cure satisfactorily—see you get it, and nothing else. Price 50c per box or six boxes for $2.50 at all reliable dealers, or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., or Kingston, Ontario.

"Has Santa Claus come yet?"

A Natural Mistake.

Crawford—Do you know what your wife bought for herself for Christmas?

Crabshaw—No; I saw it, but I could not make out whether it was a lamp shade or a picture hat.—Judge.

Xmas Xplained.

"Papa, why do some of the newspapers always spell it Xmas?" inquired Wistful Willie.

"Because, my son, it is so Xpensive."

Willy's Hot Christmas.

"Well, Willy," said Uncle Ned, who sometimes talked slangy, "I suppose you had a hot time on Christmas."

"I sh'd say I did," replied Willy. "Santy Claus filled my socks so full that they fell down into th' fireplace an' ketched on fire, an' I got up t' gether up the scraps that wuz left an' found paw there tryin' t' do th' same thing, an' I got m' hands an' arms burned so I had t' stay in bed all day, an' then paw licked me fer gittin' up so early on Chris'mus mornin'."

In the Kitchen.

Miss Ella (the cook)—Go 'long, now, Mistah Johnsing! How dare yo' kiss mah ruby lips?

Mr. Johnson—Fo' de Lawd, Miss Jacksing, Ah jes couldn' ersist claimin' de privilege when Ah seen dat mistletoe.

Miss Ella—What mistletoe yo' all talkin' 'bout?

Mr. Johnson—W'y, dat hangin' f'om de shelf right 'bove yo' beautiful haid.

Miss Ella—Huh! Dat's nothin' but a bunch o' spinach!

For the Present.

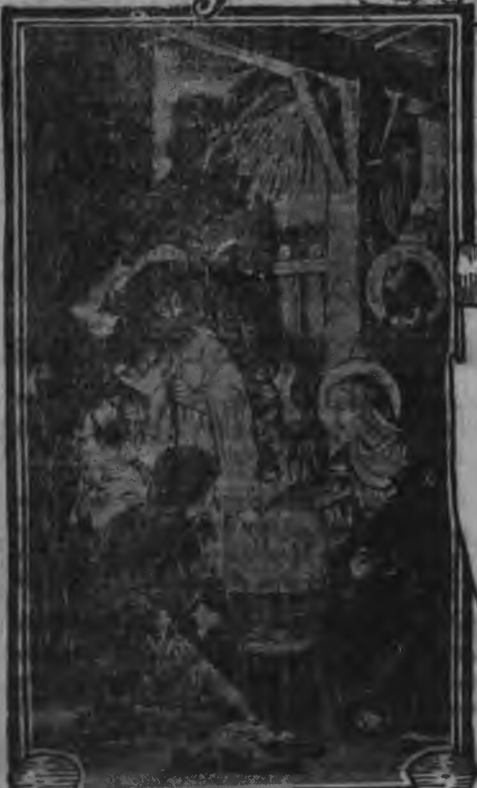
"I am very glad to learn," said the girl friend who had come to spend the Christmas holidays with her, "that you are on good terms with Mr. Smiley for the present."

"Yes," replied Miss Smirkey, "just for the present, you know."

Local and District
Agents For
DEERING Harvesting Machinery
MACLACHLIN Buggies and Carriages
Canadian Cordage Co. TWINE
STOREY & LEARY
SUPPLY HOUSE
381 Water Street 'Phone 456

Peace on Earth, Good Will to Men

The Christmas Story in Art and Song



IN BETHLEHEM BY BOUGUEREAU

OH COME, all ye faithful, joyful and triumphant;
Oh come ye, oh come ye to Bethlehem,
Come and behold Him, born the King of angels;
Oh come, let us adore Him,
Oh come, let us adore Him,
Oh come, let us adore Him, Christ the Lord.

God of God, Light of Light,
Lo! He abhors not the Virgin's womb;
Very God, begotten, not created;
Oh come, let us adore Him, etc.

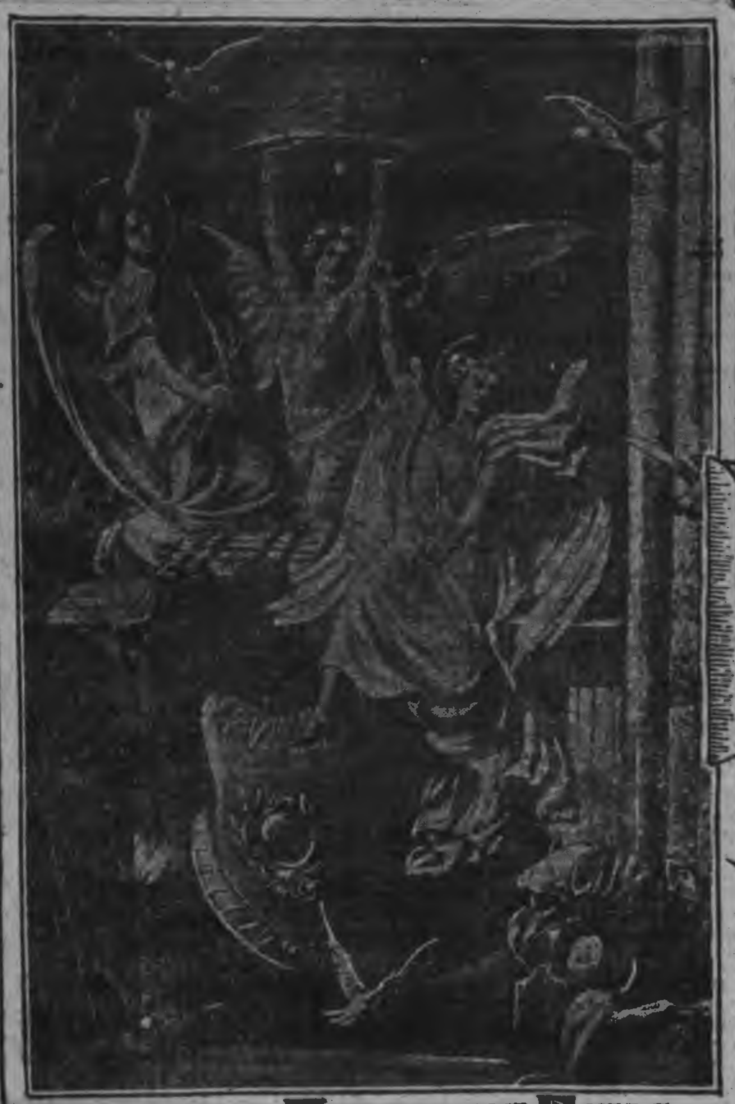
Sing, choirs of angels, sing in exultation,
Sing, all ye citizens of heaven above,
Glory to God in the highest;
Oh come, let us adore Him, etc.

Yea, Lord, we greet Thee, born this happy morning;
Jesus, to Thee be glory given;
Word of the Father, now in flesh appearing;
Oh come, let us adore Him,
Oh come, let us adore Him,
Oh come, let us adore Him, Christ the Lord.

POETS, artists and composers have found inspiration in the story of Christmas since that wonderful night when the Star of Bethlehem cast the first sparkling rays of a new era over the earth.

While such famous hymn-writers as John Chandler, William Chatterton Dix, Edmund Hamilton Sears, Nahum Tate, Charles Wesley and Christopher Wordsworth wrote the words for some of our best-known Christmas hymns, such composers as Mendelssohn, J. Barnaby, H. S. Irons, F. Westlake, Conrad Kocher and J. Reading set them to music, and such master artists as Piglheim, Von Bodenhausen, Blashfield, Bouguereau, La Rolle and Tissot transferred the story to canvas.

Lives of the famous composers and great artists are fairly familiar to the world at large, yet little, comparatively, is known about the men who wrote some of the best-known Christmas hymns, or that these hymns inspired some of the most famous works of art.

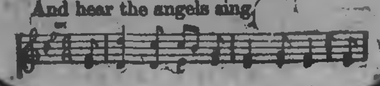


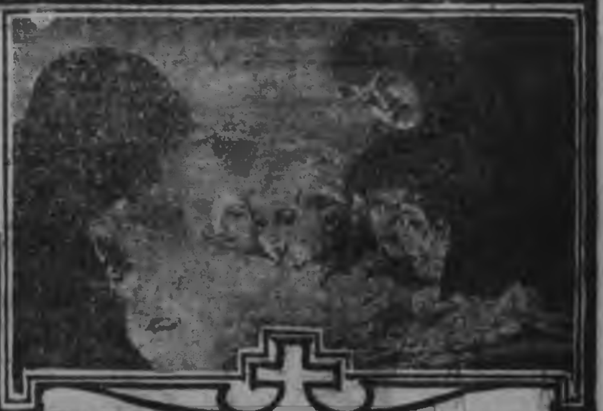
CHRISTMAS ANGELS AND BELLS BY BLASHFIELD

IT came upon the midnight clear,
That glorious song of old,
From angels bending near the earth,
To touch their harps of gold;
Peace on the earth, good-will to men,
From heaven's all-gracious King;
The world in solemn stillness lay,
To hear the angels sing.

Still through the cloven skies they come,
With peaceful wings unfurled;
And still their heavenly music floats
O'er all the weary world:
Above its sad and lonely plains
They bend on hovering wing,
And ever o'er its Babel sounds
The blessed angels sing.

O ye, beneath life's crushing load,
Whose forms are bending low,
Who toil along the climbing way
With painful steps and slow!
Look now, for glad and golden hours
Come swiftly on the wing:
Oh, rest beside the weary road,
And hear the angels sing.





THE BABE IN THE MANGER BY HAVENITH

HARK! the herald angels sing
Glory to the new-born King:
Peace on earth, and mercy mild,
God and sinners reconciled!

Joyful, all ye nations, rise,
Join the triumph of the skies;
With the angelic host proclaim,
Christ is born in Bethlehem!

Christ, by highest heaven adored;
Christ, the everlasting Lord;
Late in time behold Him come,
Offspring of the Virgin's womb.

Veiled in flesh the Godhead see;
Hail the Incarnate Deity,
Pleased as Man with man to dwell,
Jesus, our Emmanuel!

Mild He lays His glory by,
Born that man no more may die,
Born to raise the sons of earth,
Born to give them second birth.

Risen with healing in His wings,
Light and life to all He brings,
Hail, the Sun of Righteousness!
Hail, the heaven-born Prince of Peace!

SING, oh, sing, this blessed morn;
Unto us a Child is born,
Unto us a Son is given,
God Himself comes down from heaven:
Sing, oh, sing, this blessed morn,
Jesus Christ to-day is born.

God of God, and Light of Light,
Comes with mercies infinite,
Joining in a wondrous plan
Heaven to earth, and God to man
Sing, oh, sing, etc.

God comes down that man may rise,
Lifted by Him to the skies;
Christ is Son of Man that we Sons of God in Him may be.
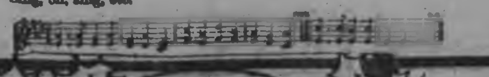
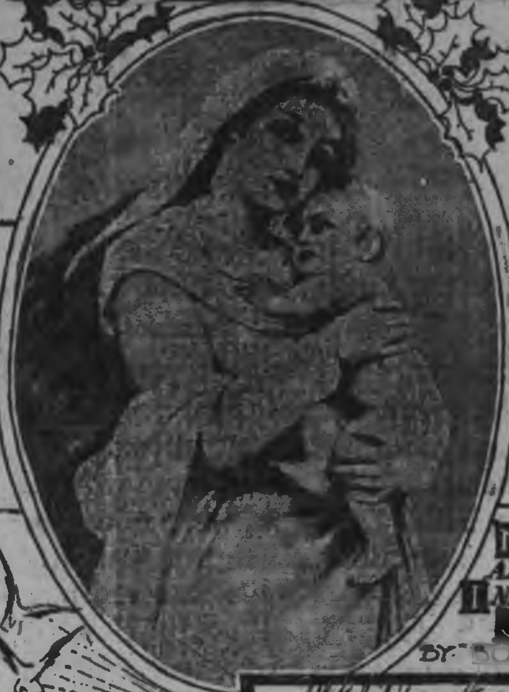
Sing, oh, sing, etc.

Oh, renew us, Lord, we pray,
With Thy Spirit day by day,
That we ever one may be
With the Father and with Thee.
Sing, oh, sing, etc.





MARY AND THE INFANT JESUS BY BODENHAUSEN

WHILE shepherds watched their flocks by night,
All seated on the ground,
The angel of the Lord came down,
And glory shone around.

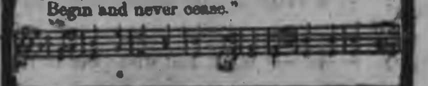
"Fear not," said he, for mighty dread
Had seized their troubled mind:
"Glad tidings of great joy I bring
To you and all mankind.

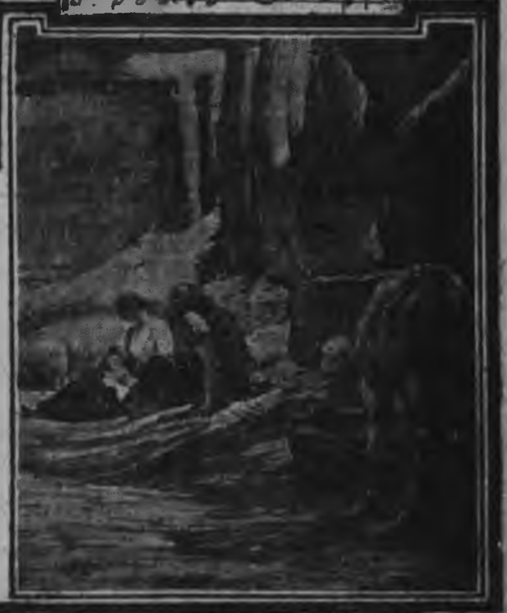
"To you, in David's town, this day
Is born of David's line,
The Saviour, Who is Christ the Lord;
And this shall be the sign:

"The heavenly Babe you there shall find
To human view displayed,
All meanly wrapt in swathing bands,
And in a manger laid."

Thus spake the seraph; and forthwith,
Appeared a shining throng
Of angels praising God, who thus,
Addressed their joyful song:

"All glory be to God on high,
And to the earth be peace;
Good-will henceforth from heaven to men
Begin and never cease."





NATIVITY BY LA ROLLE

CHARLES WESLEY has long been called the "Father of Sacred Song," and his verses form an important part of every hymnbook.

It was the completeness and beauty of the Christmas symbol in "Hark! the Herald Angels Sing," written away back in 1739, and set to music by F. B. Mendelssohn, that inspired two notable canvases—"Mary and the Infant Jesus," from the brush of Von Bodenhausen, and "Wise Men Journeying to Jerusalem," by Tissot.

This hymn has been translated into many tongues, and is used at Christmas by missionaries in many lands; its words ring out in frozen Greenland, as well as upon the burning plains of Africa, or the sun-kissed islands of the sea.

Charles Wesley was particularly fortunate in the matter of parents and ancestors. He was the son of a clergyman, a man of high literary ability, and a poet of worth. His older brother was a poet, and there had been writers in the Wesley family for several generations.

He inherited his rugged character from both his mother and father, and from the former he received the training which enabled him to clothe facts in poetic imagination, without losing the truth of his subject.

His hymns were often suggested by incidents in his personal history. "See How Great a Flame Aspires" was written after preaching to the Newcastle colliers, and the imagery of the first verse was suggested by the furnace blasts and burning pit heaps which were scattered over the district for some miles around Newcastle-on-Tyne, and which illuminated the whole neighborhood.

It came upon the midnight clear,
That glorious song of old.

This hymn, which has been made the subject of Blashfield's beautiful canvas, "Christmas Angels and Bells," is the inspired song of Edmund Hamilton Sears, an American hymn-writer of 1854-76. Oliver Wendell Holmes considered Sears one of the sweetest singers of sacred songs known to hymnology.

Dr. Sears was the son of Joseph Sears, of Sandisfield, Berkshire county, Mass., being born in that town April 6, 1810. He studied for the ministry at the theological school, Cambridge, Mass., 1834-37.

In 1838 he became master of the First Congregational Church (Unitarian), of Wayland, Mass., in 1854 he became known as an author, and in 1859 was appointed associate editor of a religious magazine published in Boston. He held this position for twelve years, and contributed largely to the magazine.

His hymn, "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear," was inspired in 1850 by hearing, one Christmas Eve, some Christmas music played upon chimes, which, he says, "rang out true and sweet on the crisp air and inspired me to worshipful verse."

The tune to which the hymn is generally sung was written by F. Westlake in 1870, although the old tune by R. Storrs Willis, composed in 1860, is frequently used.

The origin of that peculiar but beautiful hymn, "Oh Come, All Ye Faithful," is lost in antiquity. It is, perhaps, from the pen of some German hymn writer of the seventeenth century, but the most generally used translation is the one by William Mercer.

There is also another translation, by F. Oakley, which is well known, the music for both translations being by J. Reading, who composed the tune in 1680.

Rev. William Mercer was an Englishman through and through. His hymnal, issued in 1860, containing the Canticles, the Psalms and 511 hymns with tunes, found its way into 1000 churches during its first year, and there was a sale of 100,000 copies in 1861 and 1862.

A poet himself of no mean ability, he had a sympathetic appreciation of the works of early writers of poetry. Among his best works were his translations of early German hymns.

"Oh Come, All Ye Faithful" is one of the best known and most widely sung at Christmas time. Bouguereau's famous canvas "In Bethlehem" beautifully illustrates this hymn.

In 1866 H. S. Irons visited Trinity College, England, about one week preceding Christmas and found some of the students trying a Christmas carol written by Bishop Christopher Wordsworth. The lines were beautiful, but the tune to which they were set displeased the composer. He offered to set the hymn to music, and, retiring to the library, he immediately wrote the score for

Sing, oh, sing, this blessed morn,
Unto us a child is born.

Mr. Irons' tune was used until 1868, when J. Barnaby altered it somewhat, with Mr. Irons' permission. The hymn has inspired a number of artists to their best efforts, and many beautiful pictures have been produced in illustrating the theme. One of the most notable of these is "The Babe in the Manger," by H. Havenith.

Bishop Wordsworth's works bear the stamp of the scholar. He was of a literary family, and highly favored in his early surroundings. His father was master of Trinity College from 1820 to 1841, and was an author of note. William Wordsworth, the poet laureate, was his uncle, being his father's oldest brother. His grandfather, John Wordsworth, was a prominent lawyer, and his eldest brother, Charles, was Bishop of St. Andrews, Dunkeld and Dunblane.

The hymn writer completed a brilliant university career and won many medals. He was chosen a fellow of his college. He wrote a number of well-known historical and religious works and was a popular lecturer, being a great traveler and a fluent and graphic talker.

La Rolle's famous painting, "The Nativity," is in illustration of Nahum Tate's familiar hymn, "While Shepherds Watched Their Flocks by Night." Tate wrote the verses twelve years before his death in 1703.

Mr. Tate was born in 1652 and was poet laureate to King Charles II and King James II. He is best known for the "New Version of the Psalms of David, fitted to the Tunes Used in Churches," which was compiled "in collaboration with N. Brady, D. D., chaplain in ordinary," and was published in 1695 by royal permission of James II.

This sanctioned new version soon supplanted the old version, and is still regarded as the authorised Psalmody of the Church of England service, having been printed for nearly two centuries with the Book of Common Prayer. Several volumes of poems, secular and religious, have come from the pen of this early hymn writer.

William Chatterton Dix, who wrote in 1860 the famous hymn, "As With Gladness Men of Old," for which music written by Conrad Kocher in 1838 is generally used, and which Piglheim's "Star of Bethlehem" so beautifully illustrates, was among the first hymn writers to produce the mediaeval style of hymnology demanded by the Church of England about 1860.

Mr. Dix, born June 14, 1837, was the son of John R. Dix, of Bristol, England, who was a surgeon and a man of letters. William C. Dix was a practical man of business as well as a poet. While composing one of his sweetest hymns, "The Manger-Throne," he was in Glasgow, Scotland, working in a marine insurance office.

The guiding star seems to be the theme of both of his well-known Christmas hymns. One begins:

As with gladness men of old
Did the guiding star behold, while the first two lines of "The Manger-Throne" are:

Like silver lamps in a distant shrine,
The stars are sparkling clear and bright.

Mr. Dix contributed important hymns to several generally used collections. He wrote about twenty-five in all, including several translations from the Greek.

King Edward's Christmas Giving

YOU have often wondered, perhaps, how a king remembers his relatives and friends at Christmas—for a mighty ruler has his circle of personal and intimate friends just as any one else has.

Naturally, however, gifts made by royalty are more expensive as a rule than those exchanged in humbler circles. It is said that King Edward and Queen Alexandra, of England, spend between $20,000 and $25,000 each year upon their Christmas purchases.

In order to remember their personal friends with a suitable souvenir of the season, each requires between eighty and 100 gifts. As these usually take the form of jewelry the cost is heavy.

It is nothing unusual, several days or a week before Christmas, to see the King and Queen paying quiet visits to the stores in Bond and Regent streets, London. They like to mingle with the holiday shoppers and to select their presents just as other persons do.

When time and pressing engagements do not permit this, the West End shopkeepers send samples of their goods to the royal palace, and from these the King and Queen make their selections.

In choosing Christmas gifts, their Majesties are always careful to make each one appropriate to its intended recipient. Jewelry is the King's most frequent choice, but he also gives away snuff-boxes, smokers' requisites and walking-sticks.

With each gift it is the King's usual custom to send a little note of greeting instead of a private Christmas card, and, needless to say, the former is more valued by the recipient than the latter would be.

This practice is also followed by Queen Alexandra.

In addition to jeweled trinkets, however, a common gift from the Queen to personal friends is a photograph of some favorite scene or pet, taken by the Queen herself, daintily mounted and framed, with the royal monogram "A," surmounted by a crown, on the frame.

Not only do the royal pair send tokens of remembrance to relatives and favorite friends at home and abroad, but they present a Yuletide gift to every member of their household, which is an extensive one.

Of course the gifts made to dependents are not as costly nor as handsome as those purchased for relatives and friends, but they are carefully chosen.

Queen Alexandra often follows the custom of Queen Victoria, whose habit it was to present dress goods, shawls, etc., to female members of the royal household. King Edward, too, sometimes includes pairs of good slippers among his Christmas gifts for male servants, but cigarette and cigar cases and pipes are his usual presents to these people.

And in addition to the members of the royal household, each employe on the Sandringham estate also receives a Christmas gift from the King. This consists of a large joint of beef cut from one of his Majesty's own cattle.

Tables heavily laden with the meat are placed in the stables on Christmas eve, and after the meat has been personally inspected by the King, large joints are handed to each man in the several departments, from the highest to the lowest in rotation. Only the primest joints are given to the employes, the other parts—good meat for all that—being distributed among the cottagers on the estate who are not employed by his Majesty or who are past work.

Then gifts of game are also made to a large number of persons who in any way may have rendered some service to his Majesty. Railway employes, postoffice officials, police and tradesmen are often favored by the receipt of pheasants, partridges, hares or rabbits, bearing a big label, "From His Majesty the King," printed in bold red letters.

Across the Chimney Tops

I LOOK across the chimney-tops—
The city's turmoil lies below;
Upon how many hearths tonight
The cheery fire is all aglow,
And thoughts that come at Christmas-tide
Float in, with me to abide
So near the chimney-tops!

And quick as fades the sunset-sheen
The light leaps out to meet the stars,
As if, perchance, their slender bars
Might bridge the space between!
For me, I need no candle's ray
To point a way
Across the chimney-tops.

I know the myriad signs of life—
The shops' display, the hovels, homes,
The struggles and the wearying strife;
There's food enough for thought, where I
Look out so near the sky,
Across the chimney-tops.

The world seems far, the silence drear,
This holy night, when friends draw near,
When hands are clasped and homes most dear—
I know it all; it once was mine;
My thoughts go far, as to a shrine,
Across the chimney-tops.

And here and there, like mindful saints,
The steadfast church spires point above;
I cannot hear, though loud the bells
Chime out their tale of peace and love;
Still far away sad memories fly
To churchyard fields that lie
Beyond the chimney-tops.

The city gleams fade one by one,
Though Christmas cheer be all below;
Some thankfulness is due, I know,
Since through my window smiles the sun.
What though its joys I must forego,
Sweet peace that comes at Christmas-tide
With me may bide
Beneath the chimney-tops.

—FRANK H. SWEET.

Yuletide Suggestions

When the Little Empty Stocking Hangs

Once in each year, very near the end of the twelfth month, there comes a certain night

¶ It is a night of happy thoughts—of dear, pleasant memories. Little children go all-too-soon to bed, and the kindly old Santa Claus delays his coming—for a time at least—reluctant to interrupt their childish hopes and fears. ¶ Grown-up folks, (for the grown-up folks have a strange habit of sitting-up on such important nights), tip-toe stealthily and creakily about the house. ¶ The little empty stocking hangs at the chimney piece—a dear little, quaint little stocking that is all too small to hold the precious things that the loving Santa will bring before the dawn breaks on Christmas morning. ¶ Perhaps the little stocking will be larger at each recurring Christmastide and hang alone; or, in years to come, other and still tiner stockings may bear it company. Perhaps even there will come a dreary time when the fire place is bare; when longing eyes turn away, and the flickering light of the fire is hard and cold. But no matter what the years bring or take away, the spirit of friendship and kindliness remain. At the end of the busy year—full of effort and struggle—comes the season when we forget the trials and welcome the opportunity—when we count our friends and find them many—when we choose for them remembrances (not hastily and because of their cost, but because of the pleasure they will bring)—when we realize to the full that life is worth living, because for once it is unselfish. ¶ "THE WORRIES OF THE SEASON!" If this store may play its part during the trying days that lie between now and Christmas Eve—if it may lighten the strain on your purse, (for everyone's purse is too small at such times)—if by perfect, unassuming service and superb assortment for your choosing, it may help to keep the puzzle-wrinkles from your forehead—it will have done all we have hoped and planned to have it do. ¶ Gifts from the best markets of the world are here—delightful, unexpensive ones for those who must closely reckon the incomings and outgoings—superbly rich ones for those who need not count the cost. ¶ We have arranged these conveniently for your inspection. Our sales force will find no effort too great—if it helps you in your selection. FOR CHRISTMAS—IN ALL THE WORD MEANS—THIS STORE IS READY.

Rugs for Christmas—Where is there a woman who would complain of a New Rug for the dining-room or parlor—our stock of Christmas Rugs is complete.

Silk Rugs—Beautiful Silk Antique Rugs for the hall or drawing-room, very finest quality, artistic designs and beautifully blended colorings—special at........ ....21.50

Room Rugs—Axminister Room Rugs in a splendid assortment of new designs and colorings, size 11ft. 6" x 8ft. 3", made in one piece without any seams—special 18.00

Why Not Gloves?—They form almost an ideal rememberance. They carry comfort, daintiness and modishness combined.

Reynier's—Finest quality Genuine French Kid Gloves. Every pair guaranteed. New shades of Grays and Tans, two dome fasteners, per pair....1.75

Long Gloves—12 button length, mousquitaire style, best quality French Kid, colors—tan, brown, navy, green, red, black, and white, per pair.............3.00

The Fancy Belts—Here are bits of personal adornments that will please her better than anything you can think of—choose these.

Kid Belts—Crushed Kid Belts with large burnished gilt buckles in tan, brown, sky pink, champagne, blue and white—special, each..................................1.50

Elastic Belts—Silk Elastic Belts, nicely embroidered affects, in colors—mauve, navy, sky brown and black, dainty buckles, each 2.00

Curtains and Draperies—For a small sum you will find it quite possible to select a gift that will be in all ways, charming and satisfactory.

Net Curtains—These pretty effective Lace Curtains would be acceptable. They have every appearance of curtains at twice the price. They will give every satisfaction—special, per pair............. 3.39

Rich Draperies—Made up in the latest style, silk moire face with galoon trimmings, edged with silk cord, lined with brocad velour. These charming hangings, ready to be put up, per pair........ 50.00

FOR XMAS GIFTS

Doylies—In plain hemstitched drawn work and embroidered.
9 x 9 at............. ...20 and 25

Tray Cloths—Plain hemstitched all pure Irish Linen, and very fine quality. 20 x 20 at...............50
20 x 30 at 1.00

Tea Cloths—Plain hemstitched Tea Cloths, pure linen and very fine quality. 30 x 30........1.25
36 x 36—1.50....45 x 45—2.25

Runners—Plain hemstitched Sideboard Scarfs and Runners.
18 x 45—1.25... 18 x 54—1.50
18 x 72—1.75

Battenburg Runners and Sideboard Scarfs, Linen centres, very pretty patterns and effects.
20 x 54 at.............................1.75

Select One of These Waist Lengths—They will excite the admiration of every woman who loves a beautiful Waist. The fabrics are of the most excellent quality. They assure a long and durable period of wear.

Waist Length—Finest quality Silk in Shadow Dresden effects. Beautiful combinations of color harmony. Our own importation from best manufacturers. 5 yards in each length. For......15.00

Waist Length—Pretty stripe effects, white ground, with brown, pale blue, black and green stripes; also plain cream. The fabric is all pure silk. The color combinations are perfect. 5 yards in each length. For 7.50

Waist Length—In fancy Plaid stripes and checks and Dresden effects. A beautiful assortment of rich, dainty effects to select from. All pure silk, durable and pretty. 5 yards in each length. For......5.00

Handkerchiefs—What kind of a store would this be if it didn't hold hundreds and thousands of Christmas Handkerchiefs. Here are the gift things that will enthuse the most critical of women. Here are the kinds the men like. Here, after all, and first of all, are the ones for the children's holiday. A few lenders:—

Fancy Handkerchiefs—Dainty Lawn Handkerchiefs, hemstiched and pretty drawn work centres, fine qnality a leader at, each..................... .08

Fancy Handkerchiefs—Very finest quality pure Irish Linen Lawn, beautifully embroideried edges, a variety of dainty patterns, each................1.25

Men's Handkerchiefs—Enitialed Handkerchiefs, all linen, hemstiched, narrow hem, all letters, special each .25

Men's Handkerchiefs—Extra fine pure linen handkerchiefs, hemstiched ¼ inch hems, good large sizes, each .50

FANCY LINENS

Tray Cloths—Hand embroidered and pretty drawn work patterns.
18 x 18 in. at......... .....75
18 x 27 in. at 1.00

Battenburg Tea Cloths—Handsome all-over designs. Others with Linen Centres.
30 x 30 at.........1.75 and 2.00
36 x 36 at.........2.00 and 3.00

Tea Cloths—Embroidered and drawn work designs. Pure Irish Linen. 30 x 30 in. at.......1.75
36 x 36 at 2.00—45 x 45 at 3.00

Runners—New and pretty designs in drawn work and embroidery Side-board Scarfs and Runners.
18 x 45 at 1.75—18 x 54 at 2.00

Battenburg Centre Pieces—All-over and Linen Centres. Dainty patterns and designs
18 x 18 at...............50 and 75

Choose a Beautiful Waist—"Beautiful in every sense of the word." Charming, exquisite Waists of Silk, Net and Lace, representing the latest fashion ideas, and splendid examples of delicate workmanship. Moderately priced, too.

Silk Waist—Charming effects in Cream Chiffon Taffeta, dainty pin-tucked front, with val lace and insertion. They are splendid examples of delicate workmanship. Each.................................7.50

Lace Waist—Beautiful All-over Lace Waist, direct from Paris. Our own importation for Xmas trade. They represent the latest fashion idea of the foremost designers. Each.....................................10.00

Net Waist—Exquisite Marie Antoinette Net Waist, beautifully embroidered sprays and spots, and trimmed with baby Irish lace and insertion and medallions. Each.. 15.00

Hosiery Suggestions—Women's Silk Lace Hose, beautiful quality of spun silk, pretty patterns, in black, sky, pink and cream, all sizes, each pair in fancy box, special...............1.25

Women's black Cashmere Hose, embroidered with silk in white, pale blue, gold, red, and black and white, shaped and all sizes, each pair in fancy box, special.......................... .75

Silk Belts—Shadow Silk Belts, one of the new novelties of the season, pretty shades of mauve and green, blue and green, wide effects with self covered buckles, at.......................3.00

Umbrellas—Matter-of-fact sort of thing, ain't they? Certainly they are at times. An ideal gift for those rare men, who scorn all that is not absolutely useful. That will bring a pleasant and grateful thought of the giver into the gloomiest day.

Umbrellas—Mens' Pure Silk Umbrellas, guaranteed not to cut or split, with case to match, 28 inch best steel paragon frame and rod, large assortment, Broadway, wood handles, special, each at.......................... ....5.00

Umbrellas—Mens' Silk and Linen Taffeta Umbrellas, guaranteed for wear case to match, 28 inch steel paragon frame and rod, splendid assortment of handles, plain woods, gold and silver mountings, special, each at.......2.50

Parasols—We've gathered here an exclusive assortment of Parasols that have far more character and beauty than is usual, we've chosen for you to select from, the most carefully finished handles, the most worthy carvings, the strongest frames.

Parasols—Pure Silk Parasols, guaranteed not to cut or split, case to match, in black, navy and brown, 26 inch best steel frame and rod, Broadway handles, special, each at....5.00

Parasols—Silk and Linen Taffeta Parasols, guaranteed for wear, case to match, black, navy, green, brown and dark red, 26 inch steel paragon frame, large assortment of pretty handles, Broadway and gold mounted, pearl and gun metal, extra special value at........................ ....3.00

Dainty Neckwear—Women's Fancy Long Scarfs, plain colors, Dresden effects, fancy borders and floral designs, all the latest novelties, a splendid assortment to choose from, at from ....2.00 to 4.00

Women's Fancy Collars, all the newest and latest creations in fancy chiffon collars, trimmed with lace, silk, pearls and applique, each in fancy xmas box................................1.50

Novelty Belts—Rich handsome effects in shadow embroidered tinsel, pretty color combinations, very wide and large silver buckle, at 4.00

MODERN WINDOW DRAPERY

To-day, and here, thanks to our skilled buyers, you may select from dozens of good subjects. The highest work of art may be transferred, to remain on the windows of your friend's room, a constant reminder of your thoughtfulness and affection. We mention our Louis XVI. design, a most beautiful production, made of plain, green silk and trimmed with shadow border, edged with silk cord; box-pleated Valenci; lined throughout with Crepe Gloria, in combination with handsome Macco Florentine Brussels Net Curtains; rich, superb patterns. Complete, ready for hanging, at.. 80.00

FRENCH DRESS COSTUMES

Can you, or any one else, imagine a more suitable or useful gift than a nice Dress, and the one to whom you give something that you may choose at this counter wont care the less for the remembrance, because it's as useful and durable as its pretty. A beautiful costume of French Ninon of Chiffon Voile, a most desirable and stylish fabric; fine as silk, soft and drapy. Colors—black, ivory, biscuit, ceil blue, light blue, navy blue, grey, mauve and pink. In dress costume length only, of 8 yards each. Specially priced, at each 6.80

ONE LAST WORD

As we have said, the store is ready. We hope, by nearly perfect service, to make it a helpful service—to make it a helpful and enjoyable place in which you may solve your problems. We have planned thoughtfully and worked steadily to surpass all our previous accomplishments.

Richard Hall & Son
LIMITED
353-355 GEORGE STREET, PETERBOROUGH

ONE LAST WORD

Will you use this store as an actual convenience. Our sales force will be busy—busier than ever before—but not at all too hurried to extend every courtesy. We are glad to extend a Christmas welcome.

Christmas Number THE DAILY REVIEW Christmas Number

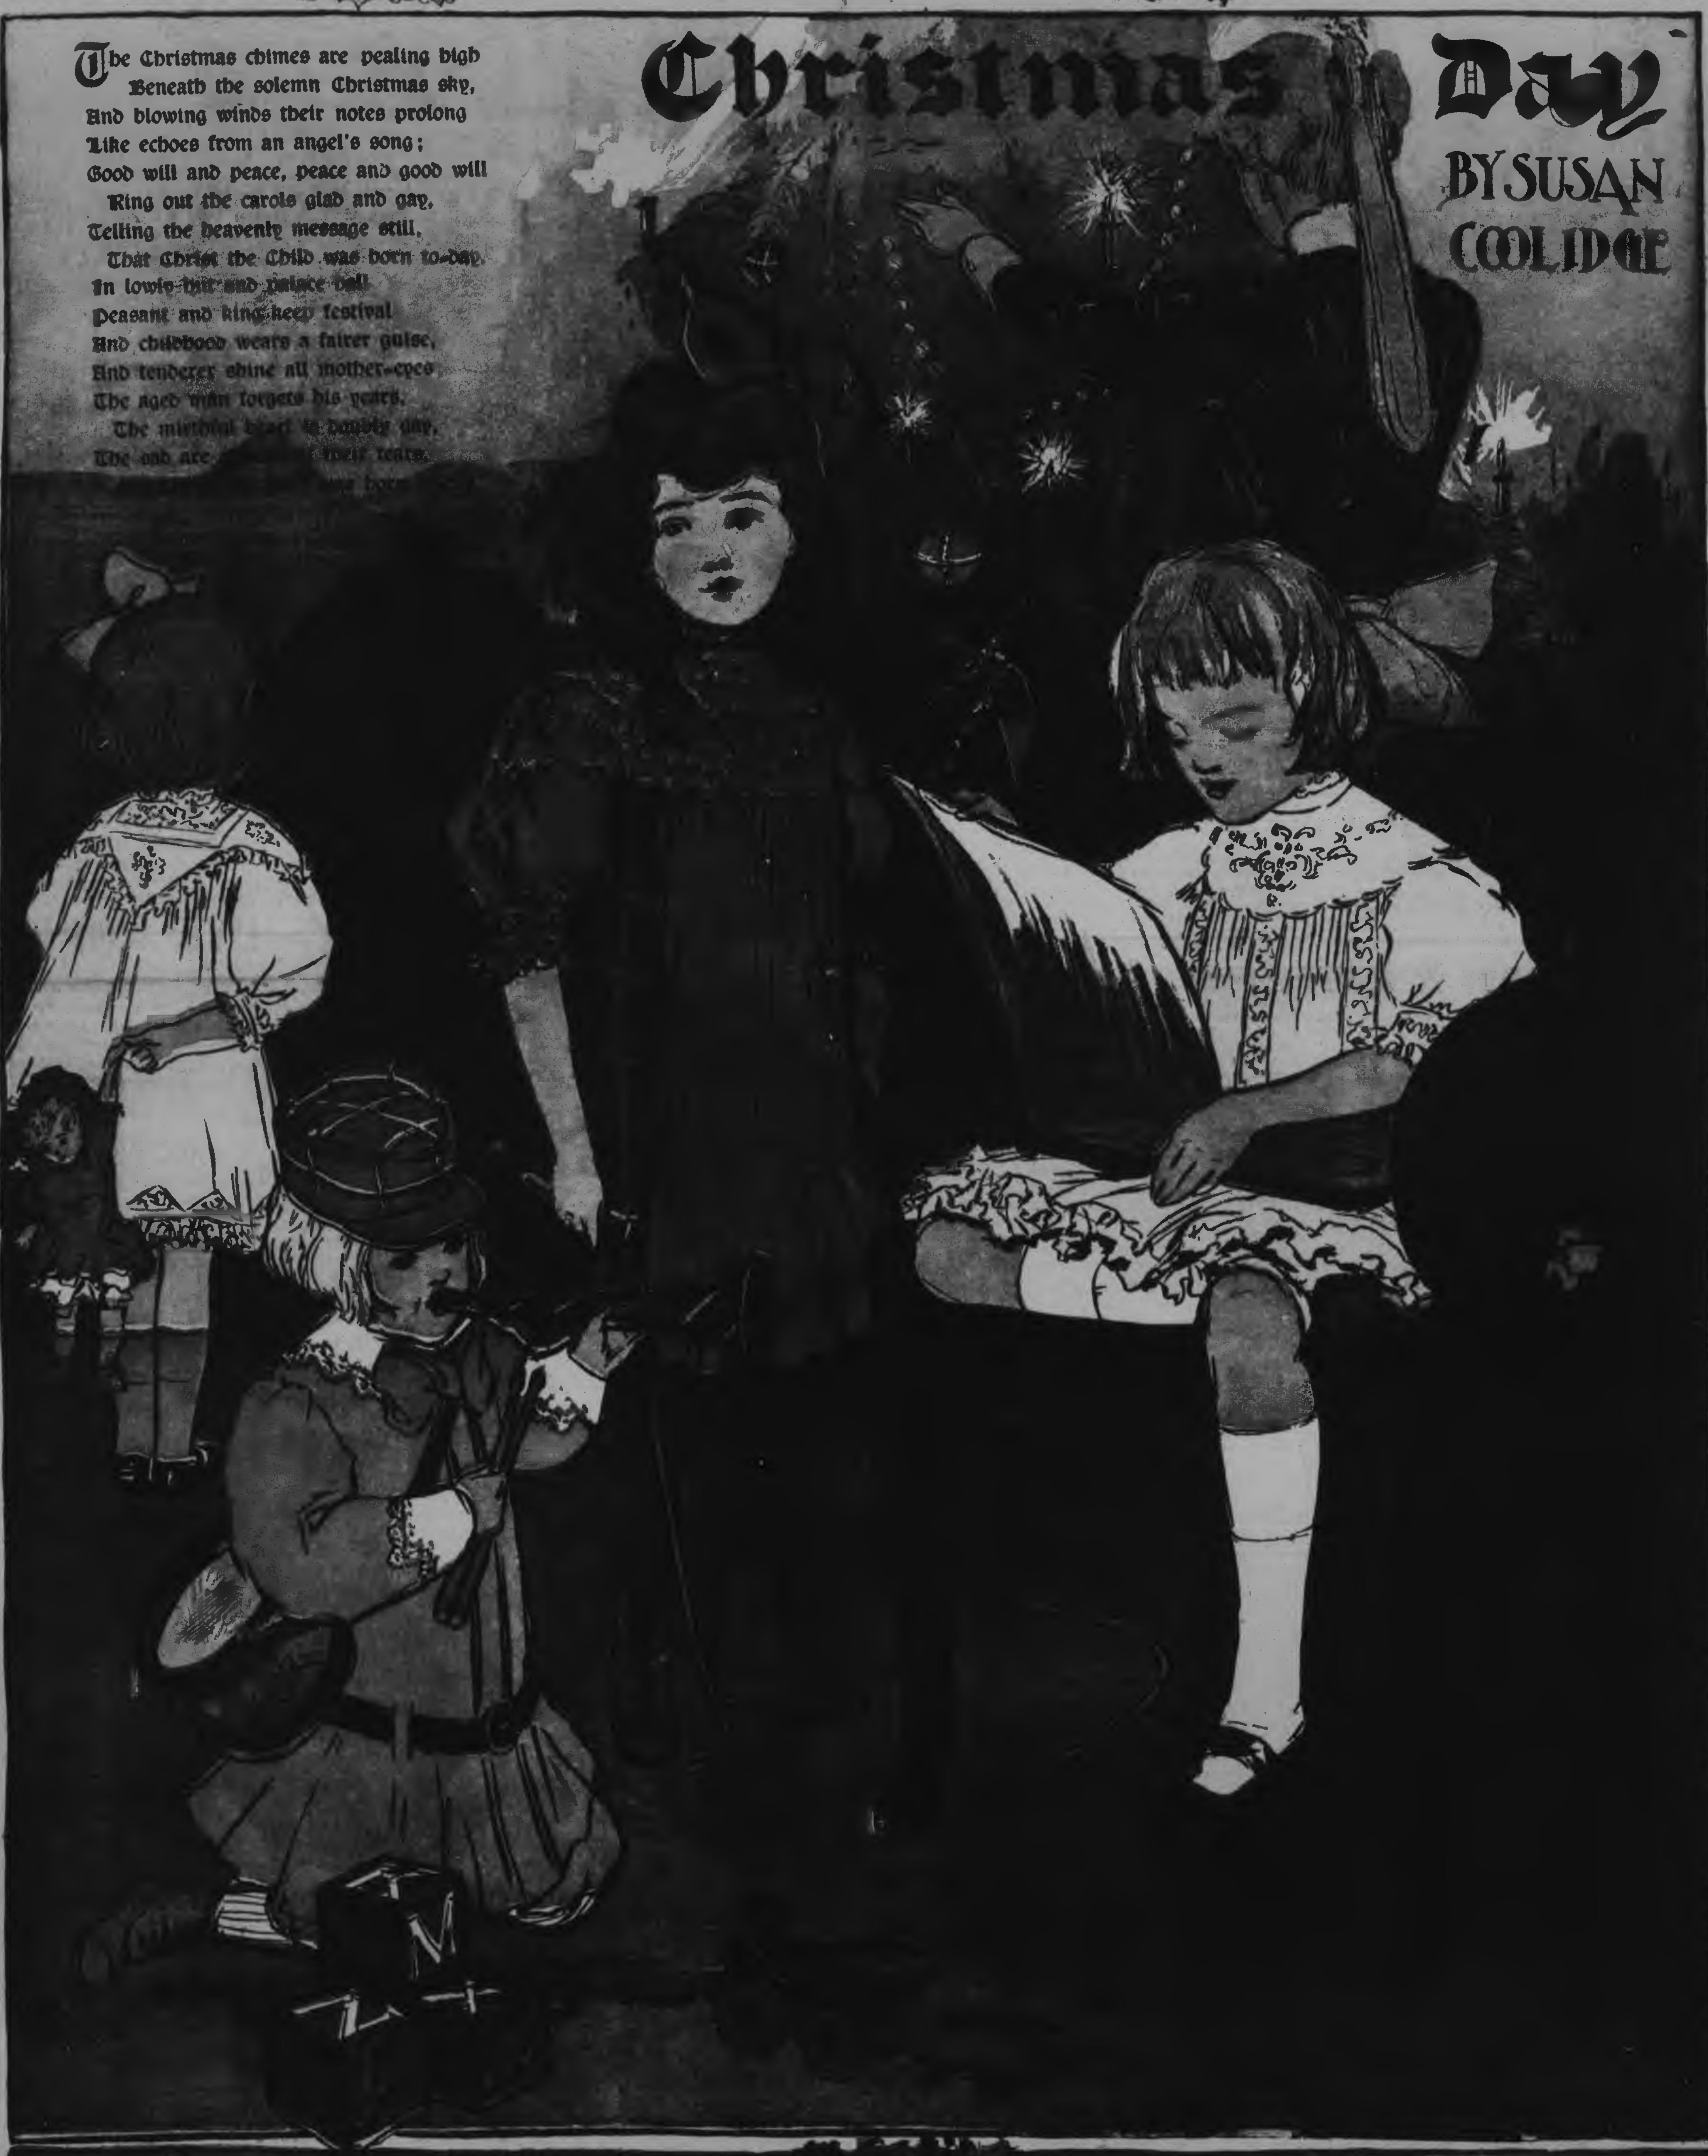
Christmas Day

BY SUSAN COOLIDGE

The Christmas chimes are pealing high
  Beneath the solemn Christmas sky,
And blowing winds their notes prolong
Like echoes from an angel's song;
Good will and peace, peace and good will
  Ring out the carols glad and gay,
Telling the heavenly message still,
  That Christ the Child was born to-day.
In lowly hut and palace hall
Peasant and king keep festival
And childhood wears a fairer guise,
And tenderer shine all mother-eyes,
The aged man forgets his years,
  The mirthful heart is doubly gay,
The sad are [illegible] their tears,
[illegible]



We invite the attention of the purchasing public to the fact that all of our

Rose Brand

Meats, Lard, Sausage, etc.

ARE PREPARED FROM HOGS WHICH ARE INSPECTED AND PASSED
BY A COMPETENT GOVERNMENT INSPECTOR

Canada Approved

For sale by all first-class dealers and at our Retail Stores

THE GEO. MATTHEWS CO'Y
LIMITED
Peterborough - Hull - Brantford

Peterborough
Canoe Co'y
LIMITED

THE LEADING MAKERS OF CANOES, SKIFFS, DINGHYS
GASOLINE LAUNCHES
AND CAMP GOODS

Alex. Elliott & Co.
WINES, ALES AND LIQUORS

ALL GOODS IMPORTED DIRECT FROM MANUFACTURERS

Large Stock
Best Brands
Lowest Prices

FINE CANADIAN PORT WINE
$1.00 PER GAL.

We import a GRAPE WINE from Palestine
Excellent for medicinal purposes

182 Simcoe Street - - Phone 197
PETERBOROUGH

AT THE Peterboro' Business College

Young men and women are trained so that they are able to do office work immediately on leaving the College.

OFFICE MEN KNOW THIS

And graduates of the School have been signally successful in obtaining, and satisfactorily filling, positions.

THE ATTENDANCE has increased every year under the present management, which is ample proof that

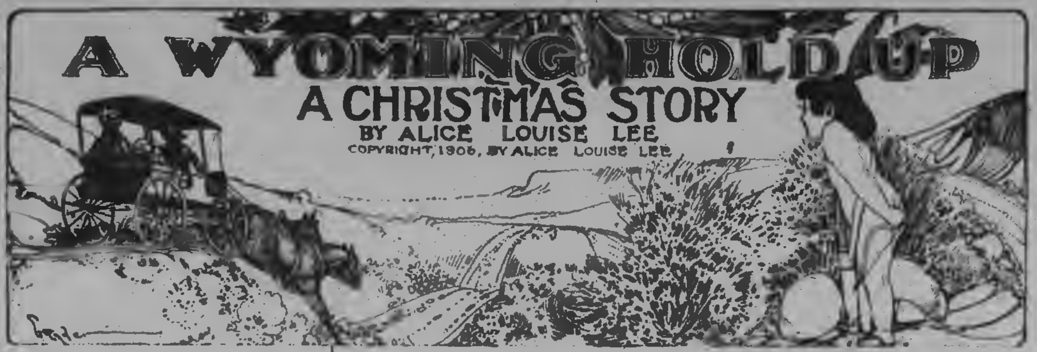
SATISFACTORY WORK IS BEING DONE

If you desire a Business Education you cannot do better than attend the

Peterboro' Business College

THE WINTER TERM BEGINS
THURSDAY, JAN'Y 2nd, 1908

For particulars, circulars, etc., address
WM. PRINGLE,
Principal
Peterborough, Ontario



A WYOMING HOLD-UP

A CHRISTMAS STORY

BY ALICE LOUISE LEE

COPYRIGHT, 1906, BY ALICE LOUISE LEE

EVERYTHING had gone wrong with Kathryn Shelbourne since she started from Philadelphia on a wild goose chase after a Christmas dinner and a ranch dance at the Y-open-A, and when she arrived at Cody Christmas eve common sense had almost abdicated in favor of a disordered imagination.

The trains had belated her two days; a blue goggled easterner who occupied the section opposite hers across the plains filled her ears with the dangers of cross country travel in Wyoming on account of the strife between the cattle and sheep men; then unfortunately she found the little town of Cody excited over a holdup in the bank that morning.

Therefore it was a fear smitten young woman who tremblingly signed the register at the Irma and asked for a room.

"Do you want it for the night or until the Meeteetse stage goes out?" inquired the clerk, surveying with satisfaction the tall, graceful figure clad in dark blue, fur trimmed broadcloth.

Kathryn's eyes traveled slowly around the office from group to group of men excitedly discussing the affair of the morning. She had thought her cup of trouble quite full, but there was in view a possible calamity which would run it over.

To the clerk she replied vaguely. "Why—yes."

"Well, which?" the clerk demanded.

Kathryn flushed. "Excuse me, yes. I'll take it for the night and then—if"— Again her blue eyes made a circuit of the room.

They were searching for a man large of limb and tall of stature, with scant hair and full beard, who was furthermore distinguished by a triangular scar above his left eye. She had never seen him, but she had studied a photograph in her possession until she could not mistake the original, and the original was not there.

Her lips trembled as she followed the porter to her room. At the door she turned and pressed a bill into the man's hand. "Porter, is there a man in the hotel that has a scar over his left eye and not much hair?"

The porter, ignoring the ambiguity of the speech, opened his hand and looked earnestly at its contents. Don't know, miss, but I'll find out." Then he hesitated, "Want me to give him this?" indicating the bill.

"Why, no!" ejaculated the girl in amazement, and the bill again changed hands.

The next instant she dropped into the only chair in the room and gazed at her ill given tip, halfway between laughter and tears. "Now, by this sign I know I'm outside the pale of civilization," she said aloud, "where porters won't take tips!"

Resolutely winking back a tear, she took from her suit case a letter and reread parts of it. Mrs. Stetson, mistress of the Y-open-A, had written:

> There's nothing out here to fear, dear—nothing at all. Of course the sheep and cattle men are having a little fling, but that means no danger to you. Royal will meet you at the Irma with a carriage—I'll just slip his photo in so you'll recognize him. You know how wild I have been to have you meet him. He's a dear boy, Kate, but as sensitive and quick as a girl, and I think that already—well, of course, I've raved about you so much he's prepared to like you just a little.
>
> P. S.—If Royal shouldn't be there, take the stage to Meeteetse. It's perfectly safe, only a bit tiresome for a thirty mile ride, as it makes the trip at night. And at Meeteetse take the Kirwin stage, which will set you down at our door. But—

She was interrupted by a tap on the door. It was the porter. "Say, miss, there's a man with a scar over his left eye and bald, but"—the messenger looked uneasy—"he's on the barroom floor all in"—

"Oh," ejaculated Kathryn, "I know that can't be the one I'm looking for. He probably has not come."

"But," began the porter hopefully, "there's a man in the parlor wantin' to see Miss Shelbourne. That's you, ain't it?"

Kathryn gasped. "Yes, but—porter—has he a scar"—

"Smooth mug and no scar," anticipated the porter, "and a heap of hair. Says tell you Mrs. Stetson's brother-in-law would like to see you."

The porter departed, leaving Kathryn quaking. "Says he's Mrs. Stetson's brother-in-law—with no scar!" Her head swam. She scented danger and abduction in the region of the parlor, to which, inwardly confused, but outwardly composed, she descended.

Under the hanging lamp stood a man who bore no resemblance to the photograph. He was tall and muscular, but not stout. His face was smooth, dark and scarless, his eyes black and steady.

He came forward with his hand half outstretched, but it dropped heavily before the girl's manner—Kathryn had decided on her course. This was no ordinary villain. He must be dealt with warily! She would be brief and decided.

Therefore when the man stammered, "I am Royal Stetson," she inclined her head coldly and did not contradict.

But when he added in scarcely distinguishable words, "Do you wish to start for the ranch tonight?" she announced with an air which cut like a whiplash, "I have decided to go tonight and by stage."

The blood flooded the man's face. He drew some six feet of brawn and bone up haughtily, while his eyes blazed in a way not good to see, but their fire was lost on Kathryn.

She had turned without another word and walked swiftly out of the parlor to the office. As she stopped in front of the desk there was a bright spot on either cheek. "I want to take the Meeteetse stage," she said to the clerk in a voice which suddenly shook.

He surveyed her from under locked brows. Truly, the ways of easterners were past finding out. "You'll have to get busy, ma'am, for it's out here now ready to start. Jim," he vouchsafed to a fur coated individual who at that moment swung the door at the end of the counter, "here's a lady to go in the stage."

Jim drew near, his breath revealing the kind of refreshment served beyond the swing door. He informed her with every evidence of confidence and good will that the Meeteetse stage was due to strike the trail in just ten minutes.

Followed by the porter, Kathryn again climbed the stairs. Her knees failed her, and a feeling of faintness assailed her. "It's the effect of the altitude," she told herself bravely, although a better explanation was found in the presence of the man leaning against the office door and following her with a pair of angry and perplexed eyes. "The villain!" she breathed and then stole another glance. He was certainly a handsome one.

She had resolved on a desperate move. Shutting her teeth firmly and resisting a desire to shut her eyes, she removed a small revolver from her suit case and slipped it tremblingly into the bosom of her dress. "If he follows us"— she whispered and shivered. At intervals for a month she had practiced with that revolver, and, barring a constant fear of it, she felt proficient in its use since she had mastered the art of pulling the trigger.

"Fair night, ma'am, but cold," volunteered the stage driver as he tucked her unsteadily away in the back seat of the stage and surrounded her with boxes and bags galore.

Kathryn's hand flew to her hat as the stage was jerked violently forward. A fleeting backward glance revealed a tall figure in a fur coat and hat standing beside one of the porch pillars, and the light streaming out of the office door fell on a smooth, dark face. The stranger was evidently equipped for traveling.

"Git out of here! Hi, there, Rambler, this ain't no time to rest! Fool, you keep yer heels in place or you'll lose 'em some of these days. Git out of here!"

The horses "got out" on a run. Just as they passed the last shack and turned into the Meeteetse road Kathryn heard sounds of drunken shouts and cries, hoarse laughter and the notes of a song. Then she was whirled out on the wind swept and dust blown prairie.

"You will fall in love with the west," Belle had written in a burst of enthusiasm, but Kathryn, bouncing with the rest of the freight in the end of the long, uncovered wagon, was far from realizing her friend's predictions. The driver, who was accompanied by a bottle, alarmed her. The belief that she was being followed terrified her, while the limitless wastes through which they were moving made her heart ache with loneliness.

A sharp wind carried the dust in eddies around the wagon, leaving a long dirt air trail behind them. The moon, bright and full, arose out of a dreary distance in the east and moved toward a dreary distance in the west. It shone on a wilderness of sagebrush, which Kathryn's vivid imagination peopled with belligerent sheep herders and bank robbers. On and on and on for hours Fool and Rambler carried the stage, disputing the right of way with each other at intervals unheeded by the nodding driver. Hour after hour the only sound of life was the monotonous clank of the trace chains and the dull thud of hoofs on the hard ground.

"I shall die," thought Kathryn, setting her teeth to prevent them from chattering. It seemed ages since she had left home and safety behind and projected herself into this land of terror and danger. Back in God's country it was Christmas eve, with cheer and comfort. The family were collected now in the library around the Christmas tree singing Christmas carols and distributing gifts. And here was she beset with evils on all sides. The threatened tears were checked by a sound on the back trail. She thought she saw a shapeless, shadowy thing moving in the moonlight.

They had been traveling through the bad lands of the basin, the sandy mesas and coulees, through which the wagon creaked and groaned like a thing of life. The driver was awake and making wavering attempts to guide the horses, which strenuously objected to making the almost perpendicular descents. They likewise objected to the equally perpendicular ascents.

Continued on Page 7.

John's Tea

HIGH AS THE ROCKIES
IN QUALITY . . . .

HUNDREDS of Peterborough's discriminating tea drinkers show, by continued use, their unanimous verdict in favor of the rich quality and satisfying flavor of John's Tea. Always uniform, blended by a tea specialist of long experience.

A post card request will bring a sample to your door.

J. JOHN

PARKER'S DYE WORKS

Experience counts when you entrust valuable clothing to be cleaned. For reliable work in Dyeing, Repairing, Pressing and French Dry Cleaning, patronize the old established business. Finest furs, such as Persian Lamb, etc., thoroughly cleaned without injury. Fur-lined coats renovated and cleaned like new. Complete outfit and skilled help. . . . .

R. M. BEAGH = PROPRIETOR

NEILL'S SHOES

CHRISTMAS SHOPPERS

In search of the practical and acceptable in Gifts

Will find ample scope for really suitable selection in our choice stock of solid comfort Slippers, handsome House Shoes, and unlimited variety in Ladies', Gent's and Childrens' Footwear, Suit Cases, etc. The NEILL Standard in High-grade Shoes is a safe one to rely on, when its quality you are after.

350 George Street

NEILL'S SHOES

NEILL'S SHOES

NEILL'S SHOES

Builders' Supplies

Doors, Sash, and House Furnishings of all kinds. Cheese Box and Veneer Mill in connection. Custom work in Shingle and Lumber Cutting done promptly. . . .

The Mann Lumber
and Cheese Box Co'y
DUBLIN STREET Limited

LYNCH'S SHORT STOP is guaranteed to cure Coughs and Colds

SODEN'S BOOKSTORE

369 GEORGE STREET

The Best Christmas Store

We're Laps Ahead of Our Competitors

We're making it worth your while to do your Christmas shopping at home this year instead of sending away for goods. This store is making a big specialty of strictly holiday stocks, such as—

—CHINA NOVELTIES
—LEATHER NOVELTIES
—DOLLS AND TOYS
—BOOKS AND GAMES
—FINE CUT GLASSWARE
—JAPANESE CHINAWARE

and we allow no one to give you a greater equivalent for your money. Our Christmas plans are on a larger, better scale than ever before, with goods and prices that show at a glance that we mean business. Keep your trade at home and do your shopping early. Anything wanted we can get. No occasion to send away for a single thing.

We Buy and Sell more Dolls than anyone in the City and this year the stock is bigger and better than anything in the past.

Dolls share Christmas interest and enthusiasm with

—TOYS AND GAMES
—TREE ORNAMENTS
—PICTURE BOOKS

We always maintain a lively activity in strictly holiday things, and no store in Canada is better able to serve you acceptably. The best hint we can give is to do your buying early, before the best things are gone.

Merry
Christmas

The store is all enthusiasm these days with

Christmas Goods

and Christmas Cheer.

Children's things set a lively pace with new and attractive novelties in

—IRON TOYS
—CHILDREN'S GAMES
—MECHANICAL TOYS
—PICTURE BOOKS
—DOLL FURNITURE
—CHRISTMAS DECORATIONS

It dosen't need advertising to sell such things, but people need reminding that it pays to do their Christmas shopping early. More to choose from now, and always an advantage in first choice. The stocks we're showing are easily the best in the city.

We have made the most ample preparations for the Holiday Trade in our Christmas Card, Gift Books, Presentation Copies of Choice Books, Annuals, Standard Author's Departments——————come straight to

SODEN'S BOOKSTORE

PHONES: BELL 588, MACHINE 394

369 GEORGE STREET

CHRISTMAS ❧ ❧ 1907

GRAFTON & CO., Limited, wish to extend to all its patrons Greetings, and wish for all a Merry, Merry Christmas, and a Bright and Prosperous New Year. Thanking you for your liberal patronage in the past and hoping for the continuance of the same in the future. For we feel that the success of our large and ever increasing business is due to you. ¶READY—We are ready for the Christmas Business. The Big Store is filled in every department with the season's correct styles in Men's and Boys' Suits and Overcoats. ¶MEN'S FURNISHINGS—Before you select his Christmas Box come in and see our useful Christmas Gifts for men and boys. ¶Space will not permit us here to go into detail, but in order to give you some idea of our Christmas Offerings we will mention a few special lines and prices:

One thing in connection with Grafton & Co.'s Famous High Grade Clothing should be borne in mind. You cannot possibly tell it from the clothes produced by the best custom tailors in the land. Every garment is perfectly tailored, and you can at all times fully rely on the very best linings. These are very important points. We want the trade of discriminating buyers, and as the largest manufacturing retailers in Canada, we CAN and DO produce High Grade Clothing, in our own factory, for our own exclusive sale, cheaper than any other house in this Dominion, and when you buy Grafton & Co.'s Peerless High Grade you obtain the very best Clothing direct from the maker, with only one profit—from producer to you—and the garment you receive is backed by a guarantee and a reputation of over half a century. We ask you to visit this store and compare the Overcoats we will show you with the claims we make for them in this paper. The more critical your comparison the better we will be pleased.

ISSUED BY AUTHORITY OF UNITED GARMENT WORKERS OF AMERICA
704I144
UNION MADE REGISTERED

Men's Overcoat Department

In this Department our stock is replete with every kind and description of Overcoats of this season's styles and fabrics. Made in Beavers, Meltons, Cheviots, Frieze and Tweeds. Some in the full back, some semi-form fitting, some the three-quarter length, and some made in the full length for the tall man. We have also a big range in Fur Coats—in Fur Lined, Coon, Astracan, Bear Skin, Bulgarian Dog, Wallaby, etc.

At $10.00 we can give you a good Beaver, Melton or Frieze Coat, well made and well trimmed; in every respect a good serviceable coat. This is a very special line at a popular price. .... Our Christmas Price $10.00

At $12.00 we offer a finer make of Beaver or Melton, with trimmings in keeping with the price. A full range of sizes, from 34 to 44. These Coats are money savers, and without a doubt the best Coat on the market to-day for $12.00

At $16.00 and $18.00 we can show you Coats that will compare with what your tailor would charge $22.00 to $25.00 for. Made in this season's prevailing styles. Three-quarter and full length, with concave shoulders and that close, neat fitting collar; hair cloth and French canvas in the front. This Coat will retain its shape, as it is made by skilled tailors, in our own work shops, and has to pass a rigid inspection by men who have spent a life time in the clothing trade.

Of course we have for the very exclusive dresser Coats at $20.00 and $25.00—but we would say come in and have a friendly chat with our man in charge of the Overcoat Department, and be convinced of the truth in our advertised statements.

Men's Suit Department

The man who takes charge of this important department asks that you come in and see for yourself the beautiful display of correct, up-to-date Suits of every kind and description, made specially for this season's trade. Five minutes spent with him will convince you of the truth that—What we advertise we can show.

Our Trouser Department

Just a line about Trousers. We have in stock at the present time in Men's Trousers fully 1500 pairs to choose from, ranging from 98c to $5.50. These are made right and shaped and shrunk. The latest patterns in checks, stripes and plain materials. Also fine blacks and blues in Worsteds and Vicunas. U need a pair. See them.

Boys' Suit and Overcoat Department

The name "Grafton" is so well known to every boy in Peterborough that it is almost needless to mention in particular any line in this department, for we have every kind of Boys' Clothing. But we might just say we have some very special lines in Boys' Suits and Overcoats, suitable for a Xmas gift for him, and would ask you to come in and see them. Don't wait for the Christmas rush—but do it now.

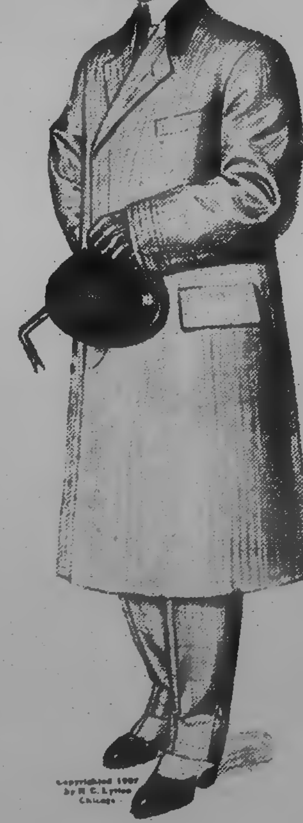
Our Men's Furnishing Department

LISTEN—GIFTS FOR MEN

Neckwear Mufflers
Handkerchiefs Silk Braces
Underwear Umbrellas
Collars Cuffs
Fur Caps Fur Gauntlets Gloves
Soft Front Shirts
Soft Bosom Shirts
Men's Fancy Hose

We claim the Finest Display of Neckwear in the City

A HINT TO THE LADIES—Every man likes a new Tie for Christmas. Try the experiment. Give him one and see.



Copyrighted 1907 by H. C. Lytton Chicago

GRAFTON & CO., Limited

Manufacturers and Retailers of High Grade Union Made Clothing
W. E. CONWAY, Manager

381 George Street

Factories at Hamilton and Dundas. Stores at London, Woodstock, Brantford, Owen Sound, PETERBOROUGH, Dundas and Hamilton

The Christmas Party

CHOICE CHRISTMAS FURS

First and foremost of all Christmas Gifts for genuine suitability to everyone's needs—is a Choice Fur Article. Lady or gentleman, old or young, needy or affluant, "none so pampered but will do them reverence." Our large and well selected stock of Home Manufactured Furs is replete with suggestions for Christmas giving. • • •

FOR THE LADIES

Genuine Alaska Seal Jackets, plain and trimmed.................. 175.00 to 400.00

Choice Norway Seal Jackets, plain and trimmed .... 65.00 to 150.00

Electric and Near Seal Jackets........................... 27.50 to 50.00

Persian Lamb Jackets, plain and trimmed .... 65.00 to 225.00

Fine Natural Mink Jackets........................... 350.00 to 800.00

Astrachan and Bocharen Lamb Jackets .... 25.00 to 75.00

Muskrat and German Mink Jackets........................... 40.00 to 75.00

Black and Brown Poney Jackets .... 50.00 to 100.00

Fur Lined Coats in choicest qualities and styles; linings of Hampster, Squirrel and Muskrat; trimmings of Black Martin, Sable, Mink, Fox and Mink Marmot; coverings of light weight Beaver and Broadcloth in all colorings .... 35.00 to 125.00

FOR THE LADIES

Extra large assortment of choice Canadian and Western Mink Stoles, Ties, Scarfs and Collarettes, with Muffs to match. From.. .... 15.00 up to 125.00 each

Large and fine assortment of Mink Marmot, Sable, Persian Lamb, Lynx, Thibet, Fox, Ermine, Badger, Seal, Oppossum, Bear, Wolf and Mole Stoles, Ties, Scarfs, Collarettes and Muffs, in very latest styles and finest qualities. Prices range for single pieces from......... 2.50 up to 50.00

Fur Gauntlets in all the leading, fashionable and suitable Furs.............. 3.00 up

Imitation Gauntlets.................. 1.00 up

Fur Caps in choice assortments of suitable Furs...................... 2.00 to 20.00 each

FOR THE MEN

Coon Coats......................35.00 to 100.00

Black Cattle......................25.00 to 35.00

Buffalo Calf......................35.00 to 50.00

Black China Dog......................15.00 to .25.00

Corsican Lamb......................20.00 to 35.00

Wallaby......................25.00 to 35.00

Australian Coon......................30.00 to 45.00

Dyed Wombat...................... 25.00 to 35.00

Imitation Curl, rubber lined.....10.00 to 15.00

FOR THE MEN

Fur Lined Coats, covers of fine Imported Beaver and Melton Cloths; linings of Muskrat, Mink, Marmot and Seal; trimmings of Otter, Persian Lamb, German Otter, etc....29.00 to 250.00

Detachable Fur Collars, Fur Gauntlets and Fur Caps in all the suitable and popular Furs.

Fur Lined Gloves and Mitts, with fine Mocha outside, and beautifully lined with different Furs.............................. 1.75 to 6.00

Carriage and Sleigh Robes of all kinds, from the cheapest to the best.

Travelling and Carriage Scotch Plaid Rugs... .... 4.00 to 12.00 each

FOR THE CHILDREN

White Rabbit Caps..............................1.50

White Fur Sets......................2.50 to 6.50

Grey Lamb Caps ....2.00 to 4.00

Grey Lamb Collarettes ....3.50 to 15.00

Grey Lamb Gauntlets and Muffs.....3.00 to 8.00

Iceland Lamb Capes..................2.00 to 2.50

FOR THE CHILDREN

Iceland Lamb Muffs ....2.50 to 3.50

Baby Carriage Robes..................1.75 to 5.00

Thibet Lamb Sets ....7.50 to 10.00

Grey Lamb Coats ....25.00 to 40.00

Iceland Lamb Coats..................12.50 to 18.00

White Coney Coats..................10.00 to 12.50

Oppossum Coats..................25.00 to 30.00

TIMELY TIPS

from the finest selected CHRISTMAS STOCK of MEN'S FURNISHINGS and HATS ever shown in Peterborough • • • • • • •

Gloves, Ties, Hosiery, Handkerchiefs, Suspenders, Mufflers, Umbrellas, Fancy Vests Shirts, House Coats, Bath Robes, Dressing Jackets, Underwear, Stiff Hats, Soft Hats Fine Cloth Caps, in fact everything a man needs in Toggery can be had from us, nicely boxed for Christmas giving

THOS. BARRIE & CO.

Manufacturing Furriers and Men's Furnishers

Holiday Preparations

HAVE BEEN MORE EXTENSIVE THAN USUAL AT WARNE'S, AND THE GREAT VARIETY IN STOCK, COMPRISING SUCH

Lasting, Acceptable Gifts

AS WE SHOW IN OUR STOCK OF WATCHES, DIAMONDS, JEWELRY, SILVERWARE, FANCY CHINA, CLOCKS, ETC., IN EVERY IMAGINABLE DESIGN AND LATEST MODELS, MAKES WARNE'S THE IDEAL STORE FOR SELECTING FOR THE 1907 HOLIDAY SEASON THE BEAUTIFUL REMEMBRANCES THAT GOOD TASTE DICTATES. WITHOUT FAIL, VISIT

WARNE'S Jewelry STORE

BEFORE MAKING YOUR GIFT SELECTIONS. YOU WILL HAVE AN OPPORTUNITY TO INSPECT OUR STORE IN ITS HOLIDAY GARB AND THE FINEST LINE OF GENUINE VALUES FOR CHRISTMAS REMEMBRANCES TO BE FOUND ANYWHERE.

A FEW TIMELY SUGGESTIONS

For gifts for Father, Mother, Sister, Sweetheart or Brother, Old or Young, we mention such beautiful articles as WATCHES, LOCKETS, LADIES' CHAINS, GENT'S FOBS, RINGS, BROOCHES, PINS, BRACELETS, BLOUSE SETS, SILVER PIECES, TRAYS, CRUETS, FISH FORKS, FRUIT and SUGAR SHELLS, NAPKIN RINGS, SALT and PEPPER SHAKERS, BUTTER KNIVES, MANICURE SETS, CUT GLASS, SALT CELLARS, BOWLS, WATER BOTTLES and SETS, FANCY CHINA PLATES, SETS, BON-BON DIHSES, VASES and ORNAMENTAL PIECES of first quality and unique design. FOUNTAIN PENS, SILVER and EBONY MOUNTED MIRRORS, WHISKS, Ladies' and Gent's UMBRELLAS, CANES, etc., etc. Make the occasion memorable. Please the recipient and you will be happy, and glad you accepted our invitation to visit

WARNE'S JEWELRY STORE, 345 GEORGE STREET PETERBOROUGH

THE SPOT for GOOD VALUES

CLARKE & CO., FURRIERS

E. N. McWILLIAMS
PROPRIETOR

The place where the finest FURS and HATS — at best values — are found in wonderful variety and richness of quality. Choose Furs for your Christmas Gifts and make your friends lastingly happy.

This Store is Truly the Gift-Seekers' Paradise

FURS, deep-toned, luxuriously rich and soft, will add to the charm of the happy faces of hundreds of fortunate folk after Santa Claus has come and gone. And, best of all, the comfort and becomingness of a Scarf, or Coat, or Muff doesn't depend solely on the price that has been paid. There's no more greatly appreciated gift, few that are half as practical, and you'll find much of pleasure in CHOOSING FROM OUR SPLENDID STOCK.

DON'T HESITATE

Come in, young man, and we will show you something that will exactly please her, and be the best and most lasting value your money can buy. Happiness comes from making others happy. We supply pure joy in big chunks with our gilt Furs.

BEAUTIFUL MUFFS

IN ALL THE POPULAR FURS:

Natural Mink, from	35.00 to 75.00
Persian Lamb, from	15 00 to 35.00
Ermine, from	50.00 to 90.00
Blue Lynx, from	20.00 to 30.00
Alaska Sable, from	12.50 to 18.00

All these can he had in the round or flat styles—newest designs.

DRESSY NECKWEAR

In rich, lustrous furs, in such real values as:

Natural Mink Throw Scarfs, from	20.00 to 55.00
Mink Stoles, 4 natural stripes, 80 inches	75.00 to 125.00
Blue Lynx Stoles	25.00 to 45.00
Alaska Sable Stoles	20.00 to 45.00
Alaska Sable Throws	16.50 to 20.00
Alaska Sable Scarfs, 2 skins	12.00
Alaska Sable Scarfs, 4 skins	16.50 to 25 00
China Mink Throws, from	9.00 to 13.50

We can make or match any fur article wanted, and execute orders promptly, by expert workingmen. Let us know your wants.

The workmanship and quality of our Furs is far superior to anything that is shown in Peterborough, a fact that is borne out by the number of fine garments that have been placed this season, and which have been the means of bringing other buyers.

No need to decide on anything until you have visited our show room and seen the magnificent lines on display. There is sure to be something suggest itself to you after an inspection, that will suit both your taste and purse. REMEMBER THE PLACE—

CLARKE & CO., 374 George St.

E. N. McWILLIAMS
PROPRIETOR

"THE DAYLIGHT STORE"
MERRY XMAS

Christmas Bells will soon be ringing, and the old problem of "WHAT SHALL I GIVE HIM FOR CHRISTMAS" will once more confront you.

What a man wants for Christmas is something he can wear. The place to get it is where he himself would go to make a selection. Our Clothing is from the Country's best and most noted makers. Our Furnishings Stock is a choice selection of all the newest and best ideas in the market.

Perhaps a few suggestions would help you decide just what would be best to give.

Men's Suits Overcoats
Fancy Vest
Raincoat Dress Suit

Ties Gloves Hosiery
Underwear
Collars Shirts

House Coat Umbrella
Scarf
Bath Robe Night Robe

Souvenir Handkerchiefs
Suspenders
Muffler Sweater

COME AND SEE HOW MANY THINGS WE CAN SHOW YOU THAT WOULD BE JUST RIGHT FOR HIS CHRISTMAS. EVERY ARTICLE FAIRLY AND RIGHTLY PRICED. NO FANCY FIGURES.

LANG & MAHER

CLOTHIERS AND FURNISHERS TO MEN WHO KNOW

409-411 GEORGE STREET • • • • PETERBOROUGH

Canada Life Assurance Company

ESTABLISHED 1847

Head Office - - - Toronto, Canada

HON. GEO. A. COX, President

1847-1907 • 60 Years • OUR DIAMOND JUBILEE • 60 Years • 1847-1907

"Insurance is the mathematical value of time, if you get it—and a measure of your loss, if you lose it."

AMONG THE GREAT COMPANIES

¶ For sixty years The Canada Life has been known to our people as a pioneer and exemplar in the field of life insurance. • • It is among the great companies of this or any other country.

Monetary Times, Toronto

CANADA LIFE OFFICE, PETERBOROUGH, ONT.

THE RECORD OF SIXTY YEARS

TO THE END OF 1906

Received in Premiums from Policyholders . . $56,120,891.90

Paid Policyholders & Beneficiaries . $33,311,238.93

Credited to Policyholders . 31,280,542.59

$64,591,781.52

$8,470,889.62 paid or credited Policyholders over and above their Premium payments by the

CANADA LIFE ASSURANCE CO.

H. C. COX, Manager Eastern Ontario
TORONTO, ONT.

S. E. SALLS, Agent and District Manager
PETERBOROUGH, ONT.

1907-1908

The Bank of Toronto

WISH THEIR MANY CUSTOMERS AND FRIENDS A VERY MERRY CHRISTMAS AND PROSPEROUS NEW YEAR

P. CAMPBELL, Manager PETERBOROUGH BRANCH

A Wyoming Hold Up

Continued from Page 2.

"I shall certainly be killed," shivered Kathryn aloud as the stage trembled on the edge of a high mesa and then plunged down a sliding, dust deep decline into the Oregon coulee. Fool sat on her haunches and, nipping at Rambler's neck, slid down. Rambler, pawing, scrambling and kicking, followed half a length behind in a cloud of dust, while the brake, gripping iron on iron, screamed an ear racking accompaniment. At the bottom of the gulch the horses stopped with such accord as to dislodge Kathryn from her barricade of boxes and drop her against the front seat.

The next moment she stood on the ground, shaking with cold and terror.

"Hic—balking a bit," explained the driver affably. He pinned the reins between his knees and leisurely lit a cigar. "Better get in, ma'am," he politely suggested, "or you'll get left. These animals are good—hic—travelers, but a bit unsartain. They're here now, but the Lord only knows where they'll be in a minute. I don't."

"What—what will they do?" faltered Kathryn.

The driver threw the brake back. "Don't know, ma'am; can't say. That white un may—hic—kick over the traces, while roan lays down and rests awhile. Better git in while they're peaceful and you—hic—have the chance."

"Oh, what a shame to drive such horses!" cried Kathryn in despair. "I'm afraid to get in and I'm afraid not to. Oh, dear, what shall I do?"

"Well, in this country we do what—hic—we have to," was the consoling assurance. "And I'll warn you, ma'am, that if them beasts take it into their heads to hit the trail on the run—hic—I can't get 'em back after you until tomorrow. They've got the western spirit, ma'am," proudly, "the independence and go ahead."

The half tipsy jehu grinned and rested one foot on top of the dashboard. Kathryn glanced at the elevation down which they had come and saw something which at once decided her. There defined against the sky on top of the mesa appeared two horses, a carriage with the top laid back and the erect figure of a man fur coated and capped.

"I'll get in!" she cried hastily, stepping forward. The roan saw the movement and chose to be afraid. The next instant there was a mad plunge through the coulee and a scramble up the other side.

The driver's voice floated back, loudly cheerful, "Wish you'd taken my advice sooner, ma'am." His words were lost in a cloud of dust, and Kathryn stood alone in the midst of Big Horn basin listening to the rapid thud of the runaway horses' feet.

"Slowly, boys," she heard a deep voice say, and two Indian ponies slid down the incline and stopped before her.

Their driver sprang from the carriage and lifted his cap courteously, although his voice was decided. "It's fortunate I followed the stage directly, because behind us"—

"I shall not ride with you!" gasped Kathryn.

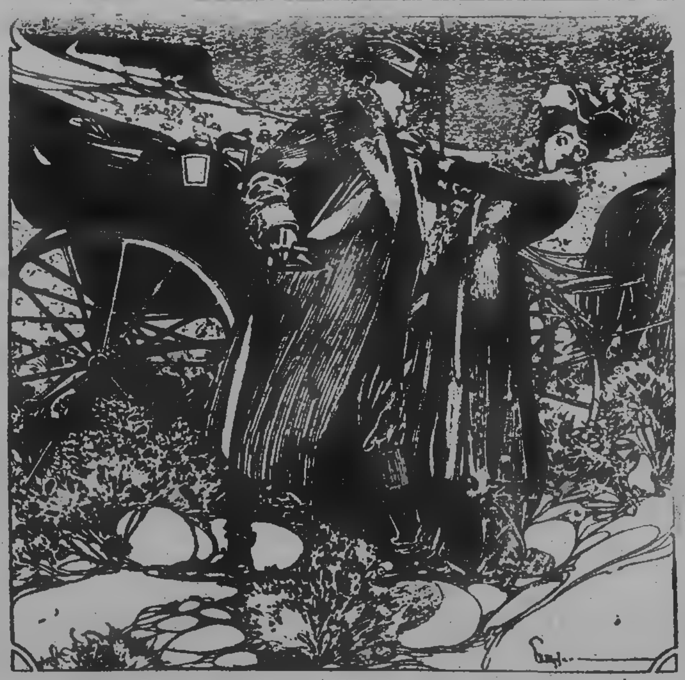
Far behind them arose a confusion of sounds, which caused the man to listen intently a moment. Then—

"You will kindly get into the buggy at once."

There was a note of brusque masterfulness in the tone, which caused Kathryn's anger to mount above her fear. With numb fingers she drew out her little gun and gripped it desperately in both hands.

"I can shoot you," she declared indignantly, fumbling for the trigger.

The next instant she stood empty handed, while her revolver disappeared somewhere inside the big fur coat. "You are probably unaware you were holding the butt end of that gun toward me!" its possessor remarked in a voice unmistakably choked with amusement. Then the amusement faded. "Pardon me, but this is no time for child's play," he added as the sounds back of them became louder.



THE NEXT INSTANT SHE STOOD EMPTY HANDED.

Dexterously and unexpectedly he picked Kathryn up, set her in the carriage and was beside her before she could utter a protest.

"I'm sorry, but there's no time to lose," he said, looking into her eyes with such apologetic brown ones that the girl's fear of him turned into an angry bewilderment.

As the ponies rose to the next mesa the sounds on the back trail resolved themselves into the shouts and laughter of many men. Never were the sounds of human voices more welcome to Kathryn. "I am going to appeal to those men for aid," she declared in a spirited voice. "They may be western gentlemen!"

Her abductor's face went red, and he made no reply for a moment. Then he said quietly: "That is according to what your ideas of gentlemanliness may be. They are drunken sheep herders on their way to Meeteetse, and it's my intention to give [illegible] a wide berth."

"Oh!" The spirit oozed out of Kathryn's voice. She glanced at the profile beside her, the strong mouth and firm chin. He certainly looked like a gentleman himself, she thought, but how could she explain his actions. Everything was unreal and contradictory in this awful western land, from porters that refused tips to attractive men who abducted defenseless women without appearing to enjoy the operation in the least.

In the silence which followed she began to realize how cold she was. The wind sucked through the gulches and drove over the hills, chilling her through and through. Her shivers aroused her companion, who gently drew the fur robe up, tucking it securely around her. Then, without apology or ceremony, he gathered her numb fingers into his left hand and warmed them.

His gentleness contrasted strangely with his late peremptory actions and added to the unreality of the situation. "It's all a dream," thought Kathryn, her head dropping drowsily. "Perhaps I'll wake and find he isn't a villain but a very"—

When she awoke she gazed about in bewilderment. The sun was painting the east in gorgeous colors, and at the right in a misty distance arose the peaks of the Shoshone mountains. Meeteetse lay behind them, and down at the left, near the road, Wood river chattered among its stones. Suddenly a dawning recollection brought the blood surging into her cheeks. She raised her hands to adjust her velvet toque, at the same time meeting a pair of dark eyes containing an expression which filled her with confusion as she glanced involuntarily at the fur clad shoulder against which she had been sleeping.

"I wish you a most delightful Christmas," her companion said quietly, his eyes on the ponies.

Her heart leaped in sudden hope. She tried to speak, but her lips were parched and stiff, and it was an instant before she could whisper, "Where—where am I going to spend it?"

Her abductor turned quickly and looked at her. There was a touch of anger and wonder in his voice. "I suppose here at the Y-open-A ranch."

She strained her eyes in silence down Wood river valley, where a collection of buildings appeared in the midst of a group of trees. The ponies turned sharply from the highway and stopped before a large gate. Their driver laid the reins in Kathryn's hands and sprang to the ground. Swinging back the gate, he said briefly, "This is the Y-open-A."

Down the field a pony galloped bearing a well known figure, and Kathryn sat stupid, scarcely believing the evidence of her own senses. Behind her sounded a short whistle, and at the signal the horses started, and she found herself driving alone to meet the mistress of the ranch.

"I couldn't wait, Kathryn," called Belle. "A merry Christmas to you dear, and a happy time among us." Mrs. Stetson wheeled her horse, and the two clasped hands.

The ponies stopped in the midst of a collection of low buildings, and Belle, dismounting, threw her pony's reins over his head and carried her friend into the house.

"Oh, you dear, you are nearly dead!" she cried, bustling about. "Come right out in the kitchen, and we'll put your feet into the oven and get you a hot drink. And, dear, I can't wait to ask — how did you like Royal?"

"Where was he?" asked Kathryn, finding her voice for the first time. "Oh I have had such a dreadful time!"

The outer door opened and a voice preceded the speaker, an anxious voice. "I say, Belle, what the devil ails Royal? He"—

The speaker came into sight, a corpulent man with a scar over his left eye.

"Dear, this is my husband" began Belle, but she got no further.

"Your husband!" Kathryn gasped. "That photograph, then, is of him."

Belle began to laugh, but her husband's face wore a troubled look, and he glanced uneasily out of the window.

"Oh, Kathryn," Belle exclaimed, "wasn't that a funny mistake? I never discovered it until this morning."

Kathryn arose tragically. "Funny!" she breathed. "Oh, Belle, how could you? It has made such a mess of things and frightened me nearly to death!"

A look of enlightenment passed over Mr. Stetson's face. "I wonder," he said hesitatingly, "if this has anything to do with Royal's actions. At present he's making the trail hot up Kirwin way."

"What?" cried Belle.

"Fact," admitted Stetson. "He strode down to the stable looking like a thunder cloud, flung a saddle on Get-up and, remarking incidentally that he was going to look at gold mines until Miss Shelbourne returned east, was off."

"Oh, dear; oh, dear!" cried Belle. She dropped into a chair and looked resentfully at Kathryn. "What have you done to Royal?"

"What haven't I done?" moaned Kathryn. "And all the while he was saving me from"— She clasped her hands together and turned imploringly to Stetson. "Please bring him back."

Stetson scratched his head doubtfully. "You don't know Royal. He'd not come for anything I could say!"

Kathryn glanced out of the window at Belle's saddled pony, and a mad impulse occurred to her. A bright red spot burned on each cheek. "Which way is Kirwin?" she asked abruptly.

Stetson pointed. Kathryn pulled on her gloves as she crossed the room.

"Are you"— cried Belle breathlessly.

"I am," returned Kathryn quietly. "You recollect that I am a good horsewoman."

Five minutes later she was flying along a broken track on the road to the mountains, while Stetson scratched his head again and laughed. "That's western grit," he declared approvingly.

To Kathryn it was not a question of grit, but of justice. The man who had protected her against her will and in the face of her insults should spend Christmas with her at the Y-open-A ranch if she had power to bring him back. On and on flew her pony until she sighted a horseman ahead, riding at the easy gait which betokened a long distance to travel.

"Royal!" she cried, unconsciously using the name by which she had heard him called. "Royal, please wait."

He turned in the saddle, stopped his horse and slowly squared the animal across the road. His face was pale under its tan, and his eyes contained an expression of uncertainty as he watched the approaching girl.

"I came after you," she said abruptly, reining in her horse. "I"—

"Well?" His voice was still relentless, but not his eyes.

"It's all a miserable mistake," she began. "Belle sent the wrong photograph. I acted badly, I know; but, oh, I was so frightened! I believed"—a flush swept over her face—"that you were running away with me."

Suddenly the ludicrous side appeared, and the sunshine broke out in every curve and dimple of her face. Her laugh rang infectiously, and Royal joined in it as he replied, "No, but I wanted to badly in spite of the fact that I might have been shot!"

Kathryn's eyes fell, but the dimples did not retreat. "Then will you come back now and not wait until Miss Shelbourne returns east?"

There was a pause. Royal passed his hand over his eyes and spoke in a low voice, "Yes, I'll go back if you wish it," and there was an emphasis on the "you" which increased the color in Kathryn's face. He ungloved his hand and held it out.

Quietly the girl laid hers within it and repeated steadily, "Yes, I wish it."

At the Museum.

The Buxom Belle—The elastic skin man is getting up an orchestra.

The Tiny Tot—Sort of a rubber band, eh?—Bohemian.

The Dominion Bank

PETERBOROUGH

HEAD OFFICE TORONTO

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT INTEREST PAID QUARTERLY

—ASSETS— FIFTY MILLIONS

JOHN CRANE MANAGER

Corner George and Simcoe Streets

C. N. BROWN

DEALER IN

FLOUR, FEED
BINDER TWINE PRESSED HAY
ETC., ETC.

FIVE ROSES FLOUR OUR SPECIALTY

SEEDS BOUGHT AND SOLD

139 Simcoe Street Peterborough

Roy

HIGH CLASS PICTURES ONLY

140½ HUNTER ST. PETERBOROUGH, ONT.

THE ROY STUDIO ONE OF THE LARGEST AND BEST APPOINTED STUDIOS IN CANADA

Estate, A. McDonald

MANUFACTURERS OF

Lumber, Lath and Shingles,
Sash, Doors and Blinds, and all kinds of House Finish

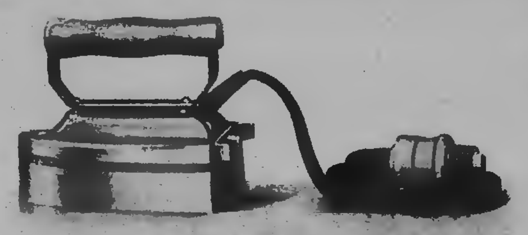
Point St. Charles Mill



Automatic Electric Smoothing Iron

For Mother!

How appropriate a present!

Is it worth while?

The trifle of $6.00—
Let's see.

1. It will save her half the steps in ironing—no running to and from the stove
2. Mother can sit all the time, in fact—the iron is always hot.
3. The ironing is done in half the time—no waiting for old irons to heat up
4. What a comfort to her—especially in the hot summer.

"Yes, I will. That is an excellent suggestion."

Collier-Cunningham-Co.

214 HUNTER STREET PHONE 666

Christmas Cards.

The first Christmas card ever published was issued in 1846 by a Londoner named Joseph Crandall. Crandall was indebted for his idea to Sir Henry Cole and employed the famous artist J. C. Horsley to make the design. It was lithographed by Jobbins of Warwick court and colored by hand. About 1,000 cards were sold. Such was the small beginning of what has grown to be a gigantic industry. Every Christmas after 1846 cards of some sort were put upon the market, but it was not until 1862 that they came into general favor. Then Goodall & Son of London began to publish cards inscribed simply with the words "A Merry Christmas" and "A Happy New Year" and in illuminated form, and the following year robins, holly branches, embossed figures and landscapes were added. With the succeeding years the popularity of the holiday cards increased, and the cards grow more elaborate until they have attained their present gorgeousness.

Individuality In Gifts.

The personality of the giver expressed in the wrappings about the Christmas gift adds value to the simplest offering. After all, it is the spirit of the giver rather than the gift itself which gives the greatest pleasure. The favorite ribbon, the slip of mistletoe, the color of the tissue paper covering, the card which bears the Christmas greeting, all express love and well-wishing.

GO TO B. Shortly's

HARNESS STORE FOR

LEATHER GOODS,
TRUNKS,
SUIT CASES,
BAGS AND PURSES
HOBBY HORSES AND SLEIGHS
SUITABLE FOR CHRISTMAS GIFTS

We earnestly invite inspection of goods and prices.

SIGN OF THE HORSE AT DOOR

373 GEORGE STREET

BANK OF MONTREAL

ESTABLISHED 1817

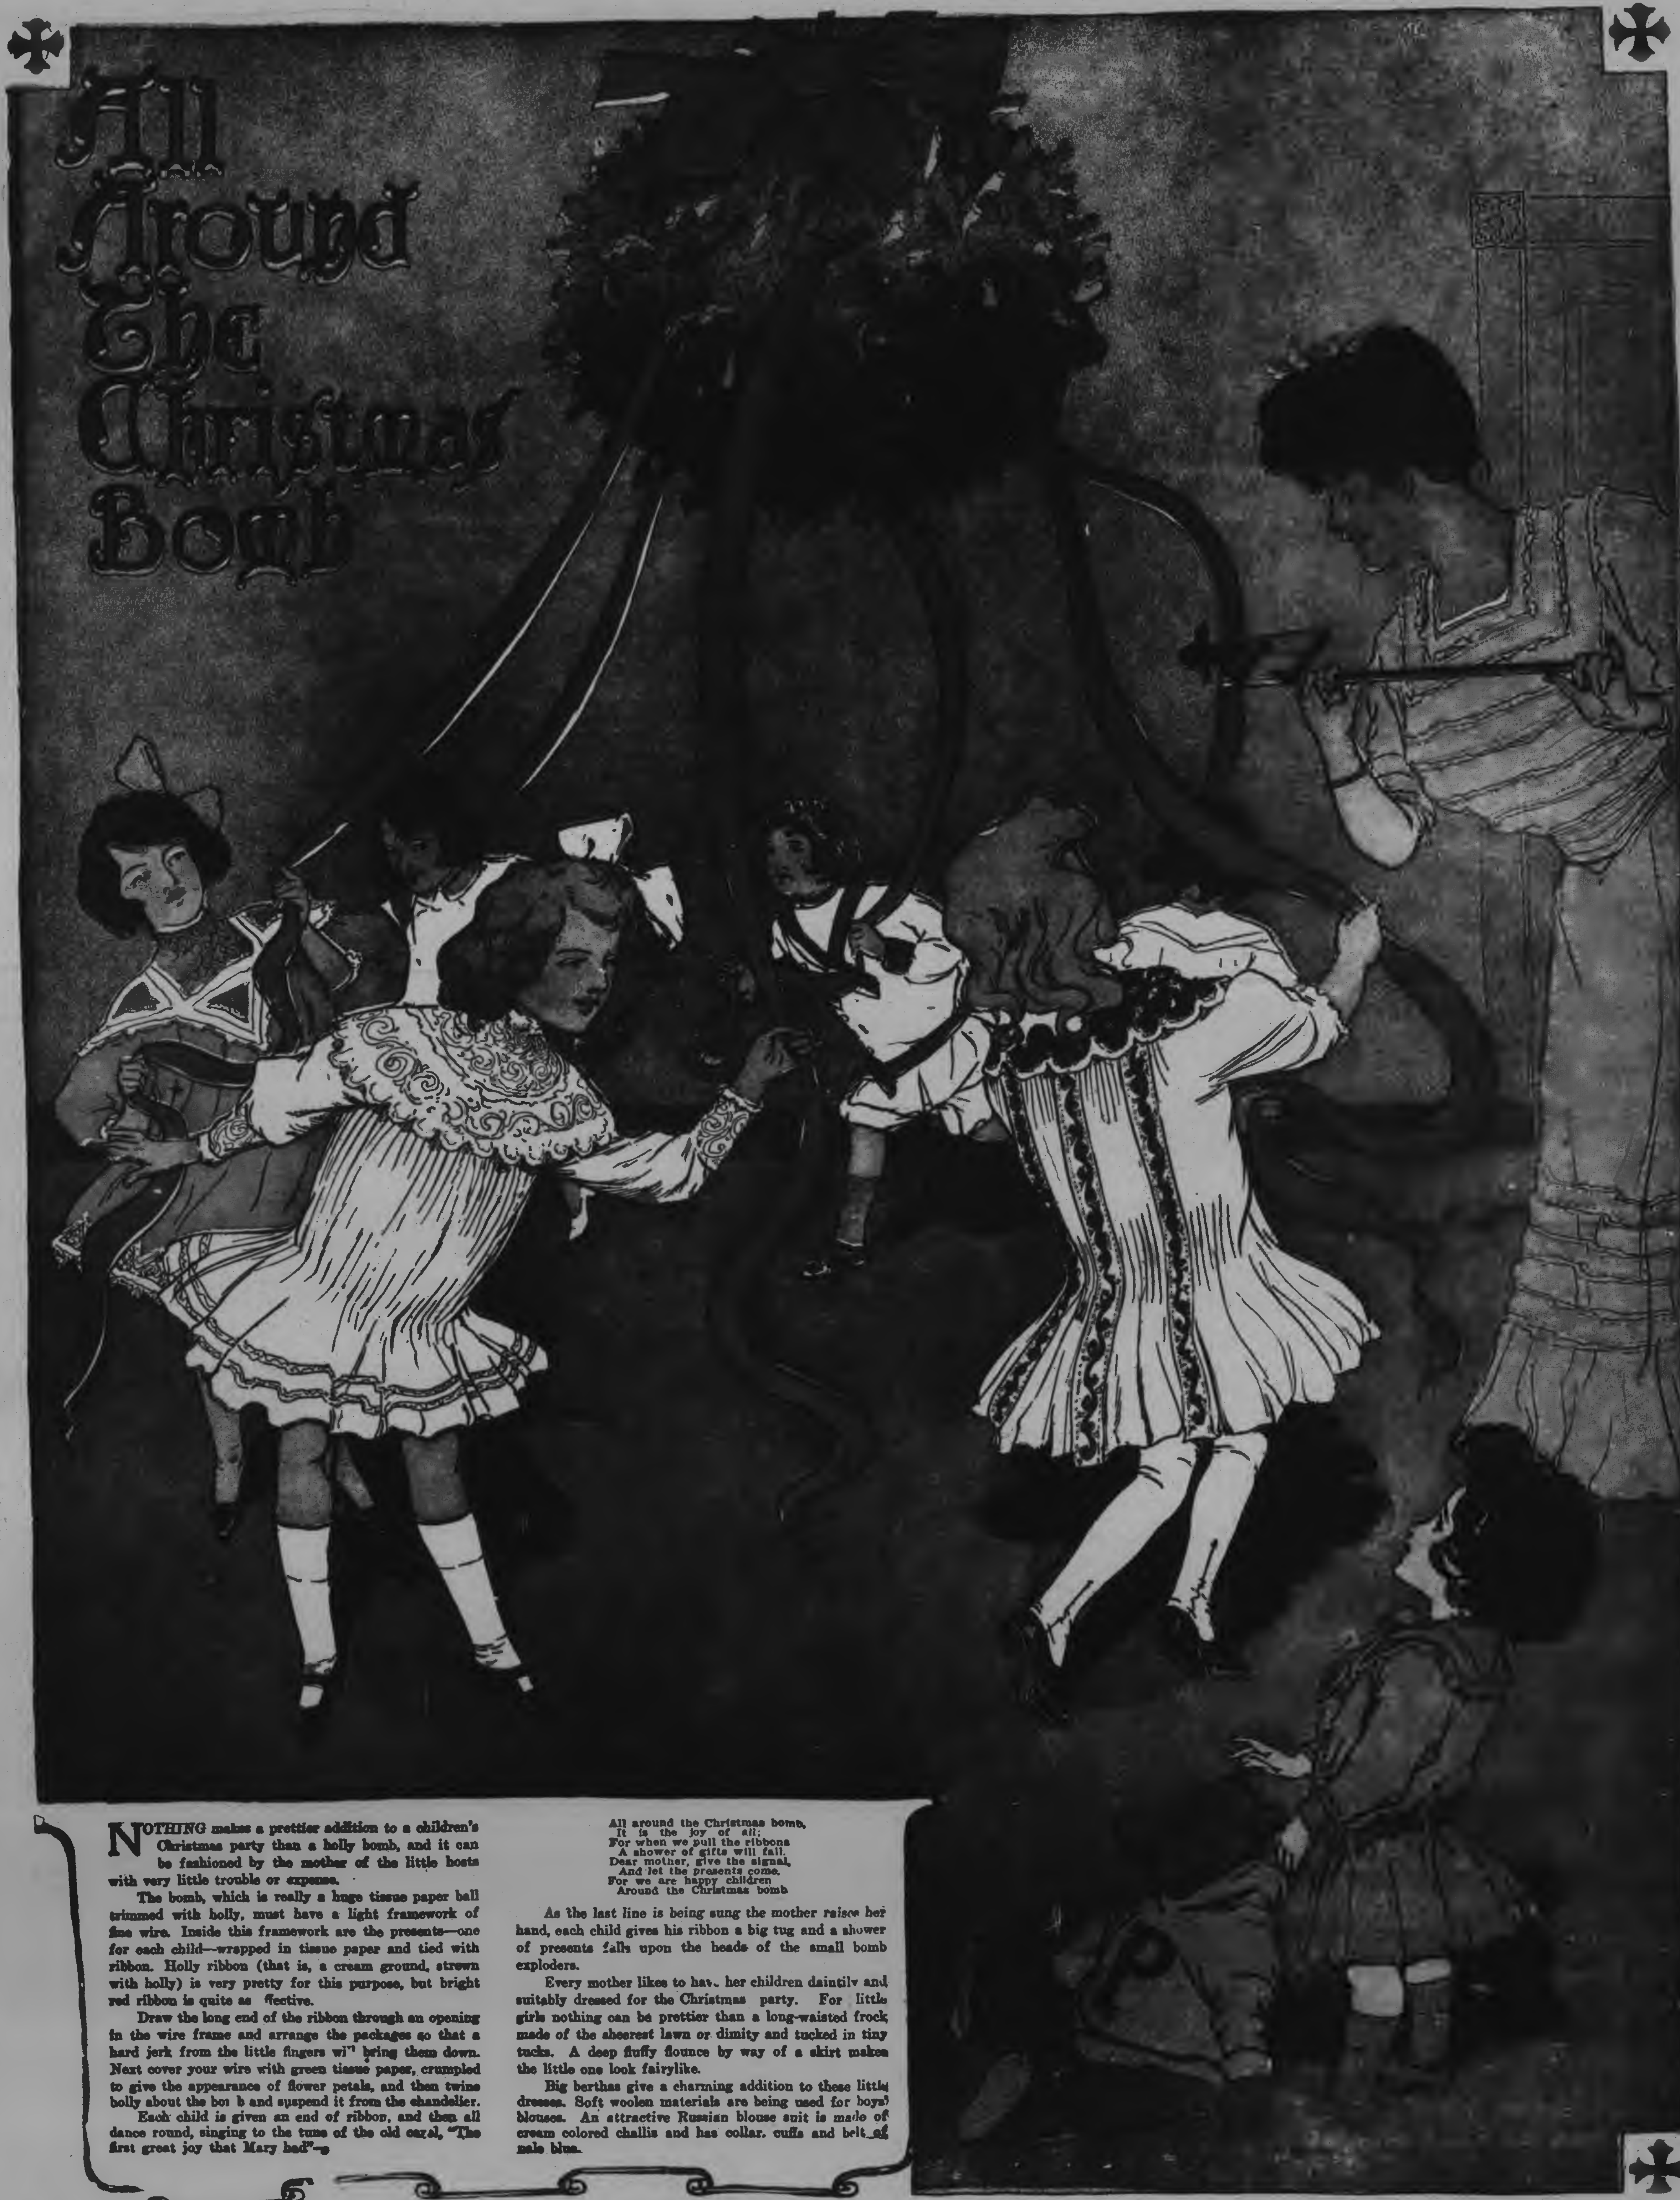
CAPITAL : : : : : $14,400,000
REST : : : : : 11,000,000
UNDIVIDED PROFITS : 700,000

Savings Department—Deposits received of $1.00 and upwards interest quarterly.

A. MONTIZAMBERT, Manager : : PETERBOROUGH

LYNCH'S SHORT STOP is guaranteed to cure COUGHS and COLDS

All Around The Christmas Bomb



NOTHING makes a prettier addition to a children's Christmas party than a holly bomb, and it can be fashioned by the mother of the little hosts with very little trouble or expense.

The bomb, which is really a huge tissue paper ball trimmed with holly, must have a light framework of fine wire. Inside this framework are the presents—one for each child—wrapped in tissue paper and tied with ribbon. Holly ribbon (that is, a cream ground, strewn with holly) is very pretty for this purpose, but bright red ribbon is quite as effective.

Draw the long end of the ribbon through an opening in the wire frame and arrange the packages so that a hard jerk from the little fingers will bring them down. Next cover your wire with green tissue paper, crumpled to give the appearance of flower petals, and then twine holly about the bomb and suspend it from the chandelier.

Each child is given an end of ribbon, and then all dance round, singing to the tune of the old carol, "The first great joy that Mary had"—

All around the Christmas bomb,
It is the joy of all;
For when we pull the ribbons
A shower of gifts will fall.
Dear mother, give the signal,
And let the presents come.
For we are happy children
Around the Christmas bomb

As the last line is being sung the mother raises her hand, each child gives his ribbon a big tug and a shower of presents falls upon the heads of the small bomb exploders.

Every mother likes to have her children daintily and suitably dressed for the Christmas party. For little girls nothing can be prettier than a long-waisted frock made of the sheerest lawn or dimity and tucked in tiny tucks. A deep fluffy flounce by way of a skirt makes the little one look fairylike.

Big berthas give a charming addition to these little dresses. Soft woolen materials are being used for boys' blouses. An attractive Russian blouse suit is made of cream colored challis and has collar, cuffs and belt of pale blue.

GET THE LATEST

The Review Supplies the Correct Things in Wedding Invitations, Programmes, Personal Stationery, Etc. . . . .

THE DAILY REVIEW

VOL LV. NO. 137

PETERBOROUGH, ONT., CANADA, MONDAY, DECEMBER 16, 1907

TEN CENTS PER WEEK

LUMBER

and BUILDING MATERIAL of all kinds. Shingles, Scantling, Joists and Bill Stuff. Mouldings, Casings and Base, and all kinds of finish. Boxes and Box Shooks.

ALF. McDONALD ESTATE

Point St. Charles Mill, Peterborough.

PROBABILITIES

Fresh to strong westerly to northwesterly winds, turning colder, light snow falls and flurries.

At The Golden Lion Store

AN ABSOLUTELY WONDERFUL ASSORTMENT OF

HANDKERCHIEFS

From the Linen Mills of Ireland and the Embroidery Factories of Switzerland, the great majority of which were personally selected by our Mr. Fair while in Europe the past summer, insuring to you the latest novelties, best values and prettiest designs which have been produced. All prices are represented here, ranging in price from 3c to $3 each. We enumerate today a few of the many styles—very specially priced

Boxed Handkerchiefs

With views of beauty spots and places of interest in Ireland on the lids—3, 4 and 6 Handkerchiefs in the boxes, plain hemstitched and the new hemstitched dimity checked linen for ladies 50c and 75c the box

For Gentlemen, Pure Linen Initial Handkerchiefs

3 in box $1.00, 6 in box $2.25

A FEW OF THE MANY VIEWS WE MENTION HERE—The Giants' Causeway; Port Rush; Main St. Larne; Glenarm Castle; Sugar Loaf Mountain, Wicklow; The River Augrien; Eagle's Nest, Killarney; Kate Kearney's Cottage; Ross Castle; Muckross Abbey; Wishing Chair, Giants' Causeway; Donegal Square, Belfast; City Hall, Belfast; Belfast Castle; Glenarriff; Meeting of the Waters, Killarney; Blarney Castle; The Esplanade, Bray, Enniskerry Bridge; Pass of Glencoe; The Tunnel, Kenmare Road; and a great many others.

Kindergarden Handkerchiefs

For the little folks—good quality Irish lawn with nursery rhymes printed in assorted colors 3c each, 2 for 5c

Excelda Handkerchiefs

A fine soft mercerized mull handkerchief, good size, hemstitched 3c each, 4 for 25c

Linen Cambric Handkerchiefs

For boys and men, taped border, hemmed handkerchiefs, all pure linen 12½c to 35c each

White Lawn Handkerchiefs

Fine quality white lawn, hemstitched all around, good size, looks like linen 4c each, 3 for 10c

Initialed Handkerchiefs

Pure Irish checked linen, unlaundried, hemstitched, 10c and 12½c each

Linen Centres

In two sizes, plain hemstitched and with drawn work corners 12½c, 15c, 25c each

Fancy Baskets of Handkerchiefs

An acceptable gift, and the baskets alone in many cases are worth the price of both basket and handkerchiefs—this season's novelty, shown in Peterborough only by us, 3, 4 and 6 handkerchiefs in basket, per basket

25c, 35c, 40c, 50c, 75c and $1.50

Real Lace Handkerchiefs

A choice assortment of high class lace trimmed handkerchiefs with silk and linen centres 75c to $3.00 each

Mourning Handkerchiefs

Hemstitched, pure linen and swiss embroidered handkerchiefs 3c to 75c each

Embroidered Handkerchiefs

You will admit you have never before seen such beauty of design and good values in fancy handkerchiefs, everything new will be found in our assortment. Prices are

5c, 10, 12½, 15, 20, 25, 35, 40, 50, 75, $1.00, 1.25, 1 50

Robert Fair & Co. Limited

383 GEORGE STREET

Phone—Dry Goods 145 Phone—Dressmaking 145B

WANTED

AT THE CANADIAN GENERAL ELECTRIC CO. Ltd., Girls. Apply at once. 3d

WANTED

ELECTRICIAN, used to conduit work. Apply a Normal School.

WANTED

TEACHER for School Section No. 7, Harvey. Duties to commence after New Year. State salary. T. A Gordon, Sec. Treasurer, Hall's Bridge, Ont. 1d2w

WANTED

ORGANIST for Knox church. Duties to commence first of January. Apply by letter only to undersigned stating salary expected. J. W. Bennett, Clerk of Session, Drawer 1136, Peterborough 3d

For Sale or To Rent

FOR SALE

TYPEWRITER, latest model American Oliver, bran new. Good discount off lowest selling price for a quick sale. Apply Review Office. 1d

TO RENT

NO. 535 Downie Street. Recently occupied by Lambert Lyon, Esq., C. E. Pretty little house. Hardwood floors, all modern improvements. D. W. Dumble or Wm. Might. 5d

TO RENT

BRICK HOUSE AT 77 WATER ST., bath and electric light. Immediate possession. Apply to J. J. TURNER & SONS, Tent Manufacturers, George Street. 3d

TO RENT

A FEW FINE, WELL LIGHTED AND HEATED ROOMS at the Y. M. C. A. for rent from $1.00 to $2.00 a week. 6td

FOR SALE

PIANO CASE ORGAN, double the usual volume, (8 sets reeds) good as new, less than half price on easy weekly or monthly payments. A nice Christmas present easy to buy. 27 Park St., corner Park and Parnell. tf

Lost and Found

LOST

PURSE containing Note and Door Key. Finder please leave at Review Office.

LOST

WILL THE PERSON who was seen carrying away the Sable Throw-over from the table in the Secretayr's office in the Y.W.C.A., please return it at once and avoid further trouble.

General

CHEAP HOUSES

If money is low and rent high, call at our office and see if you can't buy.

A good lot and comfortable house, $50 down and easy payments.

A lot and 6 roomed house, $100 and Six Dollars a month

A new 2 story, nice modern red brick house, $350

A 1½ story red brick with half acre garden, on easy terms, $500

A half acre garden on easy terms. Others at good value up to $5,000

Companies Good as the Best in all lines of Insurance but Life. Rates moderate.

R. G. Ivey, Special Agent. 136 George St. Phone 3 Bell W. MIGHT

SPECIAL RATES FOR FAMILY WASHING

Prices were never lower than now at

Parkers' Steam Laundry

Goods called for and delivered free to an part of the city.

W. P. HETHERINGTON

CHARLOTTE ST. PHONE 65

For Sale or To Rent

AT REASONABLE PRICES

Three small farms, good soil, suitable for gardening purposes, close to city. Also a few small, comfortable, dwelling houses, and choice building lots, well situated in good localities.

Properties sold, purchased or exchanged.

Private Funds to Loan on Real Estate.

INSURANCE

Agents for reliable Fire, Life, Accident, Plate Glass and Liability Insurance Companies. For particulars as to rates, etc., apply to

J. J. McBAIN & SON

Real Estate and Insurance Agents.

Office Cor. Simcoe and George-sts.

Office 'Phone 454 Residence Phone 109A

FOR XMAS

Furditure fixed up like new. Upholstering and all kinds of similar work done. Mattresses made over.

A. R. JACKSON

320 Aylmer. Corner of Charlotte. Bell Phone 494B

FANCY POTTERY

All kinds of Urns, Vases, Jugs, Plates, Jardinieres, etc., Moulded to Order for hand painting for Christmas gifts.

GEO. E. RAWLINGS, Crescent Street

GEORGE RUTH

Properties for Sale:

Come and inspect our list of HOUSES We have a number of first-class residences; all modern; locality and prices are right; also a number of cheaper houses. Terms to suit the purchasers.

8 fine building lots, near the C. G. E. works, are offered for $1500.

A few first-class homes to rent with modern improvements.

395 Water Street, open evenings

CHRISTMAS GIFTS

What more appropriate gift could you make than by purchasing a home for your family?

Come and see J. T. O'Connell & Co's bargains.

$2,250—New red brick house, central, cement floor in cellar; hall, parlor, dining room, kitchen, large pantry, front and back stairs, 4 bedrooms, bathroom fitted, 3 clothes closets, attic finished, electric lights, large verandah and balcony, woodshed and summer kitchen. Can be bought on monthly payments. Possession at once.

$900 buys red brick cottage East City, 6 rooms, hard and soft water, large lot.

To Rent—New house with all conveniences. Possession at once.

For further particulars apply to

J. T. O'CONNELL & CO.

Phone 376. 136 Hunter St.

MEALS—LUNCHES

AT ALL HOURS

For quick service, well-cooked meals and popular prices—go to

FOWLER'S RESTAURANT

McCallum's Old Stand - 330 George St

R. A. ELLIOTT & CO.

Real Estate Agents

Head Office of the Sandstone Brick Co.

STOVES, RANGES

—AND—

HEATERS

Enamel and Tinware

Plumbing and Eavetroughing

HUTCHINSON-STURGEON CO

Bell and Machine 'Phones 226 342 George Street

International Correspondence Schools

Of Scranton, Penn.

Industrial Science Taught by Mail.

LOCAL OFFICE - - 436 George Stree

R. C. BALFOUR, Representa tve

h e Talk of the Town—OUR COOKING

TOOTHSOME WHOLESOME PALATABLE

Try a loaf of our Brown and Currant Bread

FRY'S MILK CHOCOLATE DROPS

BURNT ALMONDS

COLEMAN BROS.

Phone 335. 426 Georg St.

THE STORE THAT NEVER DISAPPOINTS

The Men's Holiday Shop

LET US SUGGEST

To the man or woman who is undecided as to the most desired holiday remembrances for men. We would suggest any of the following, found in our Men's Toggery Shop in a complete showing of the styles that are new. Everything to please "Him."

Smoking Jackets and Lounging Robes

Find the man who would not be pleased with a gift of this sort and you will see the one exception. All styles in the most handsome cloths

Mufflers, Reefers, Gloves, Vests

These make very appropriate Xmas Gifts for any man, young or aged. Neat, dressy article of wear in the newest showing of the season

Handkerchiefs, Suspenders Hosiery, Shirts

In all the fancy holiday designs, at any price to suit any purse, and styles to suit all tastes.

Sweaters, Collar Boxes Umbrellas, Canes

Sweaters for the boys and men, and some elegant styles in Umbrellas, Canes and Collar Boxes—useful, appropriate Gift Goods

NOTE

All Goods that cannot be boxed will be parcelled in handsome Xmas Boxes free of charge . .

Cressman's 389 GEORGE ST

TOGGERY SHOP

RICHMOND STUDIO

SPECIALS for XMAS PHOTOS

Newest Mountings	Newest Styles
Pictures	Plain Cards
Folders	Calendars

First-class work at night by electric ligh Sittings by appointment.

147 HUNTER STREET

"DON'T BURN THEM"

We will buy all kinds of Second-hand boots and shoes

JAY'S SECOND-HAND STORE

390 Aylmer Street

CHRISTMAS IS COMING!

A nice pair of Snowshoes or a good Toboggan would make a most acceptable present to lady, gentleman, girl or boy. We carry a very large assortment. Call and see them.

J. J. TURNER & SONS

TENT MANUFACTURERS

George Street. Peterborough

ALL THINGS ARE NOW READY

GEORGE R. RECORD

PRACTICAL

FRENCH DRY CLEANER AND PRESSER

Ladies' and Gentlemen's Garments and Household Articles cleaned and guaranteed not to fade color or shrink any material. Charges moderate. Goods called for and delivered. Telephone 669.

NEW BRICK BLOCK, 173 SIMCOE ST.

Only Complete Dry Cleaning Plant in City

A. BROWN & CO.,

The Real Estate Agents, 396 Water Street

$100 will secure good Cottage with large lot 50x200

$500 will secure an up-to date House with all modern improvements.

$1,000 will purchase good Cottage and large lot

$600 will secure Cottage, Stable and 4 acres good land near city.

We have some great snaps in Houses, Farms and City lots for sale and to rent.

Fire, Life and Accident Insurance.

Bell Phone 126 and 474 B. Machine 117

MONEY IN YOUR POCKET

Give your family a Xmas Present—a snug little home for your own. We have some at valuation that would agreeably surprise you and be money in your pocket.

$900 and $1200—Brick house, six or eight roomed; two story.

$1500—Nice brick, well finished inside, near Can Gen. Electric Co.

$1600—Fine new brick, two storys, large lot, south city

$2250—Brick, central location, modern, electric light, city water, bath, sewer connection, nice large house.

$2800—Artistic brick house, large garden, well planted with fruit; house has all modern conveniences and a nice sunny location.

$6250—Beautiful residential location; large lot with stable. House solid brick and warm; furnace and all conveniences.

Some good houses to rent cheap.

Some good farms throughout the district for sale. Farm lands in the Great West and on the Pacific Coast. City lots in Vancouver. Double your money in a year. See us for particulars.

BELL & TAYLOR

Real Estate. Fire Insurance

Office—376 Water Street.

Office Phone—498B House Phone 547B

FOR XMAS GREETING

Order your cards now and secure the best as the prettiest are always sold out first. Many different styles printed with your own greeting and name, at all prices. Call and make your selection at the Review Office.

Young Men's Guild of St. Paul's Church

Interesting Programme Arranged for To-morrow Night

The Young Men's Guild of St. Paul's church will hold its regular monthly meeting to-morrow, Tuesday evening, at 8 o'clock, at which it is expected there will be a large attendance.

A good musical programme will be provided. Mr. John Crane will give an address on "Banking."

Closing of the Kindergartens

The closing exercises of the kindergartens in connection with the local public schools will be held this week, the majority of them on Thursday and Friday. There are kindergarten classes at the King Edward, South Ward, West Ward, East Ward and Central schools.

Don't miss the bona fide reductions in Underwear at H LeBrun & Co's. 50 dozen Boys' Shirts and Drawers, fleece-lined, at 25c and 30c each. See our north window for what you can buy for 25c.—H. LeBRUN & CO.

LOCAL NEWS ITEMS

RAILROAD SNOWPLOUGHS.

Two large railroad snowploughs passed through the city this morning, clearing the tracks as they went. One was going to Belleville, and the other to Port Hope.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE.

It only took one appearance in the want column of the Review to find some person to look after a baby. The advertisement was ordered in on Saturday for three times. This morning about six different parties enquired as to the party who had the baby to give away and it is likely that the child is in good hands at the present time. It pays to advertise in the Review.

Walk Will be Arranged in the Near Future

Between Local Pedestrian and J. H. Graham of Buffalo

It will be remembered that a few weeks ago a challenge was published in this paper from Mr. J. H. Graham, 254 14th street, Buffalo, N. Y., to Mr. David Hartley, the local pedestrian. Mr. Hartley has since been communicating with Mr. Graham, who wants to arrange a twelve or twenty-seven hour, go as you please, or straight heel and toe walk, either here or in Buffalo. Mr. Graham styles himself as being the champion 27 hour walker of America. Mr. Hartley wrote him, telling him that he could not have the contest here, as there was no convenient place to hold it. He informed him that he would be pleased to meet the Buffalo champion some time in the near future.

Bobcaygeon shipped a carload lot of 11,600 bushels of buckwheat to make pancakes for the Britishers.

A six-months' old colt, raised by A. Johnston, Greenwood, was sold to T. Phillips, of Essex, for $300.

PALMISTRY Professor C. Shepherd

344 AYLMER STREET—Opposite Fire Hall

THE CRYSTAL

OPEN EVERY AFTERNOON AND EVENING

ENTIRE CHANGE PROGRAMME TO-DAY

ADMISSION 5 CENTS

Watches—Diamonds

See our splendid stock of Watches, Diamond Ruby and Sapphire Rings for Christmas giving Special Prices on Signet Rings for Ladies and Gentlemen. Engraving done free of charge for purchasers : : : : :

CLARKE & SON

430 GEORGE STREET JEWELLERS

The Court of Revision Slashes the Assessment

Reduction of Over $300,000 Has Been Made

LARGEST IN CITY'S HISTORY

Over Forty Meetings Held for Purpose of Considering Appeals

The Court of Revision has reduced the assessment of the city by over $300,000. This is the largest reduction ever made by a Court of Revision in Peterborough, and will likely constitute a record that will stand for many years. The Court completed its work on Saturday, after having been dealing with the assessment since Nov. 8th. Over forty meetings were held for the purpose of considering appeals, in addition to ten or twelve meetings held to give the appellants an opportunity to state their claims.

In some cases the assessment has been reduced one-half, while there are a comparatively small number of appellants whose assessment has not been cut down.

There were 228 appeals against the assessment, the bulk of them from the southern part of the city and from the business section.

The Court of Revision consisted of Messrs. W. Langford, chairman; A. E. Dixon and B. Morrow.

The complete list of the appeals against the assessment, and the action taken in connection with each one will be published tomorrow. The statistics are exceedingly interesting. The Court of Revision spent a great deal of time considering the appeals. This is evidenced by the large number of meetings held, afternoon and evening sessions have been held nearly every day for the past three weeks. In many cases the property under consideration was visited in order that a better grasp of the situation might be obtained.

The total reduction in assessment amounts to over $300,000.

PERSONAL

Mrs. B. F. Ackerman has returned from a business trip to the West.

Mr. Harry Rogers, of Montreal, spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Rogers.

Mr. Robert Spiers and Mrs. Andrew Spiers and Master C. Spiers leave today for Edmonton.

Mr. M. J. Hutchinson, editor of the Dry Goods Review, Toronto, spent Sunday in the city.

Mr. John Crane is in Toronto, and will attend the National Chorus concert in Massey Hall tonight.

Dr. A. T. Emmerson, of Goderich, spent Sunday in the city, the guest of his brother-in-law, Mr. R. J. Kidd, Hunter street.

Mrs. R. G. McQuiah and son have left for the east where they will visit Peterborough, Toronto and Parkhill for the next three month.—Winnipeg Free Press.

Oakville Brass Band has twenty members, "every man a musician," but not necessarily a Mozart.

An Operation Was Performed

Upon Dr. Bradd Who is Now Progressing Favorably

Dr. Bradd, who has been confined to his room for several days with an abscess of the middle ear, was operated upon at Nicholls' hospital today, and is progressing favorably.

Dr. Young has been attending him and last evening, after a consultation with Drs. King and Carmichael, it was decided that it was advisable for the patient to undergo an operation. He was removed to the hospital, and the operation was performed this morning by Dr. McDonough, ear specialist from Toronto, assisted by Dr. Young. Dr. Carmichael administered the anaesthetic.

Dr. Bradd is now getting along as well as could be expected.

Tillsonburg reports 1,300 turkeys and 4,000 chickens, as two days' delivery of fowl for export to Britain.

Medical

E. V. FREDERICK, M.B., Tor.
M.R.C.S., Eng.; L.R.C.P., Lond. Lic. Univ. of New York.
Removed to No. 492 George St., formerly office of Dr. McNeal
Private nursing home for surgical cases.

DR. G. STEWART CAMERON
Office and Residence
No. 273 Charlotte St. 'Phone 128

DR. G. C. LEACH
Late House Surgeon of Lakeside Hospital, Cleveland, Ohio; also of Cook County Hospital, Chicago OFFICE—324 Hunter St., formerly occupied by Dr. Coughlin Phone Bell 219.
Special Attention to Diseases of Women

DR. JAS. V. GALLIVAN
Office 215 Simcoe St. Late of St. John's Hospital New York. Lic. University of New York.
Telephone 658.

Osteopathy

DR. ASA G. WALMSLEY
Osteopathic Physician
Office over Canadian Bank of Commerce, Water Street entrance.
Office Hours—9 to 12 a.m. 2 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Consultation free.

Legal

R. E. WOOD
BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, Etc. Office removed from Bank of Commerce Building to 435 George street, recently occupied by E. B. Edwards. Money to Loan

W. H. MOORE
BARRISTER SOLICITOR, in the Supreme Court etc. Office—Hunter street. first stairs west of Post Office.

HALL & HAYES
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS and NOTARIES PUBLIC, Hunter Street, Peterborough, next to English Church. Money to Loan at the lowest rates of interest.
E. H. D. HALL LOUIS M. HAYES

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON
(Successors to Stratton & Hall)
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, Etc., Peterborough Ont. Office—Corner of Hunter and Water Sts. over Bank of Commerce.
E. S. HALL, K.C. E. T. MEDD. W. S. DAVIDSON

EDMISON & DIXON
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, Etc. Office in Cluxton's Block, corner of Hunter and George streets, over Dickson's store.

DENNISTOUN, PECK & KERR
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, NOTARIES, Etc 415 Water Street, Peterborough.
E.A. PECK F. D. KERR R. M. DENNISTOUN

Money

MONEY TO LOAN
ON EASY TERMS
O'CONNELL & GORDON
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS NOTARIES, Etc
Canadian and United States Patent Attorneys
134 Hunter Street, two doors west of Post Office.
DANIEL O'CONNELL GEORGE N. GORDON

ROGER, BENNET & GOODWILL
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, Etc., 37 Water St. Peterborough. Telephone No. 191.
Money at Current Rates Upon Easy Terms.
G. M. ROGER J. W. BENNET E. L. GOODWILL

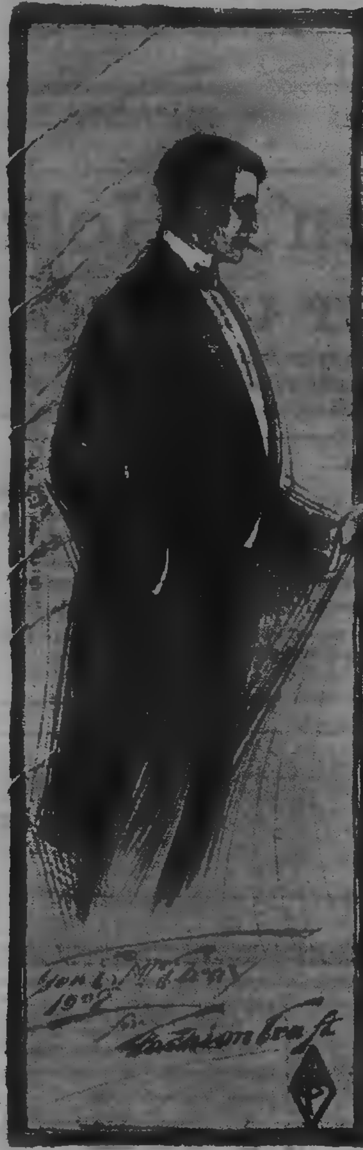
TORONTO SAVINGS AND LOAN CO.

PAID UP CAPITAL $1,000,000.00
RESERVE FUND 580,000.00

SAVINGS
An Account may be opened at any time with a Deposit of One Dollar.
3½ % Interest allowed on daily balances.
DEBENTURE DEPT.
Four Per Cent. paid half yearly on sums of $100,00 and upwards.
MONEY TO LOAN
at current rates of interest.
V. G. MORROW,
Manager

Children's Aid Society
FOR THE CARE OF NEGLECTED AND ILL-TREATED CHILDREN.
Incorporated by Act of Legislature, 1898 Information required. Informant's name kept strictly private.
CHILDREN FOR ADOPTION
Office Hours—11.00 to 12.00 a.m.
OFFICE—DIVISION COURT BLDG
GEO. COCHRANE,
Agent and Asst. Sec

CENTRAL LIVERY STABLES
AND
VETERINARY INFIRMARY
193 Hunter Street east of Oriental Hotel.
If you wish a rig of any kind for any occasion ring us up and you will find everything up-to-date in the livery line. Both Phones 161. Night Phone Bell 486 B.
D. McKERCHER, V.S.



"Fashion-Craft"
DRESS SUITS

¶ There is not one tailor in a hundred who can make a dress suit for $40. equal in material and workmanship to a Fashion-Craft Dress Suit at $30.

Or:—

¶ Who can make a dress suit for $45. equal to a Fashion-Craft at $35.

Or:—

¶ Who can make a dress suit for $50. equal to a Fashion-Craft at $40.

And:

¶ There is not one tailor in a thousand who can equal the style of a Fashion Craft Dress Suit at any price.

¶ We make and emphasize this claim because the conventional Dress Suit is so well defined that comparison is easy and we invite you to make the comparison.

¶ It is a business matter—in this as in other business matters use business judgment. We are on trial—you are the judge—

Laidlaw & Oles, Props.
PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO

Fifteen Meet Death in The Storm Tossed Ocean

Seven-Masted Schooner Founders of the English Coast.

Battered to Pieces by Heavy Waves—Boats Lost During Stormy Voyage—Vessel Turned Turtle — Gallant Efforts at Rescue—Swim Through Boiling Seas With Lifeline—Other Disasters.

Hughton, Scilly Islands, Dec. 16.—After successfully riding out a succession of gales which she encountered all the way across the Atlantic, in which she lost all her lifeboats, the American seven-masted schooner Thomas W. Lawson was capsized in Broad Sound, Scilly Islands, where the captain sought shelter from the fierce storm raging along the English coast Friday night. Of the crew of eighteen, including Pilot Hicks, who boarded the vessel from a life-savers' boat during the night, only three were rescued. These were Capt. G. W. Dow of Melrose, Mass., Edward L. Rowe, the engineer of Wiscasset, Maine, and George Allen of Bradford, England.

The schooner left Philadelphia Nov. 19, for London, with a cargo of oil. She had a hard battle with the seas all the way across, and when she entered the Board Sound, her captain, knowing the dangers of the coast, threw out his anchors. Later, in answer to his signals of distress, the life-savers put out two lifeboats and found the Lawson anchored in a dangerous position off Gunner's Rock. The seas were running high, and the gale was increasing, and the life-savers found that their efforts at rescue were useless. One of the boats returned for a tug, and the other was compelled to put back to shore because of the exhaustion of the men. During their absence the Thomas W. Lawson turned turtle.

Rescued, But May Die.

Allen, one of the rescued men, is not expected to live, while Captain Dow is suffering from a fractured arm. His rescue was effected only through the almost superhuman efforts of the life-savers, and the gallantry of Frederick Hicks, the son of Pilot Hicks, who accompanied them on their second trip in the hope of finding his father.

Late Saturday afternoon, after a long search, Captain Dow and Engineer Rowe were seen alive on the Helwether Rocks, to which they had clung for upwards of fifteen hours, the tremendous waves preventing them making a landing. Young Hicks plunged into the boiling seas and swam ashore, carrying a life-line, by means of which he and the captain hauled back to the boat the engineer, who was practically uninjured. After assisting Captain Dow, Hicks was able to reach the boat unaided, but the effort exhausted him, and the doctors ordered him to remain quiet for a time.

Lashed to the Masts.

Captain Dow told the life-savers that when he found his vessel was doomed, he, the engineer and the pilot lashed themselves to the mizzen rigging. When the masts fell, the captain and the engineer managed to get clear. They jumped to the deck, but were washed overboard, being carried by the currents to the rocks, where they were found. Pilot Hicks, however, seemed to be entangled in the rigging.

Wreck of Edmund P. Hinney.

New York, Dec. 16.—Caught in the storm of wind and snow that swept down from the northeast Saturday, the American bark Edmund P. Hinney, Captain Alfred Anderson, was piled up on the sands of Sandy Hook Beach and battered to pieces by mountainous seas. With great difficulty her crew, half dead from exposure, was rescued by the Sandy Hook and Spermacetti Cove life saving crews after clinging to the bark for several hours, the last man scarcely having swung off in the breeches buoy, when the broken and battered craft went to pieces and disappeared in the boiling waters. Not another man could have been saved, so suddenly did the bark disintegrate before the gale-driven seas.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

CURE
Sick Headache and relieve all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing
SICK
Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured
HEAD
Ache they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head is the bane of so many lives that here is where we make our great boast. Our pills cure it while others do not.
ACHE

Carter's Little Liver Pills are very small and very easy to take. One or two pills make a dose. They are strictly vegetable and do not gripe or purge, but by their gentle action please all who use them.

CARTER MEDICINE CO., NEW YORK.
Small Pill. Small Dose. Small Price.

GUNBOAT GOES DOWN.

Speedwell Struck by Heavy Sea—Eight Seamen Drown.

London, Dec. 16.—The fierce gales which have raged on the coasts of the United Kingdom for the past few days show little signs of abating, and the heavy rains have flooded almost all the interior lowlands. Communication generally is much hampered. The harbors and bays are crowded with vessels that have run in for shelter. The most serious wreck happened near Sheerness Saturday morning. The cutter gunboat Speedwell was struck by a heavy sea and went down. There were 13 men on board at the time and only five of them were rescued.

The entire Thames valley is a huge lake. The river is out of its banks and rising rapidly.

PREMIER SEES VESSEL WRECKED

Gales of Hurricane Force Throw Vessel on the Rocks.

Paris, Dec. 16.—Gales of hurricane force, which have been raging in France for the past two days, seem to have spent their force in the north and now are central over Spain and the Mediterranean.

The cruiser Isly has been driven ashore at L'Orient, and the three-master Padousa went to pieces on the rocks at Biarritz, directly in front of the hotels, the catastrophe being witness by thousands, including Premier Campbell-Bannerman.

The life-savers were powerless to give aid to the wrecked vessel, and four were drowned.

A large number of fishing craft were lost in the English Channel.

Liner Kildona on Rocks.

Halifax, Dec. 16.—The Thomson liner Kildona ran ashore yesterday morning on the Brazil Rocks, near Cape Sable. The wreck is in a dangerous position. A steamer and schooners are standing by the wreck.

BABY SUFFOCATED IN FIRE.

Mother's Frantic Efforts to Save Her Child at Parry Sound.

Parry Sound, Dec. 16.—At 10.30 Saturday night fire broke out in a frame double house on Gibson street, one-half of which was occupied by the families of Nathanial Smith and Mrs. Weatherup, a widow. An infant of the Smith's was asleep in a back room upstairs and could not be reached by the inmates, the stairs being on fire and sometime having been taken in rescuing the other children. Chief Fireman Logan, at considerable risk, got into the burning compartment and recovered the child, but it was found that it had died of suffocation in the smoke.

The frantic mother was restrained from rushing into the fire. The building was badly gutted, and a number of poor boarders lost their belongings. The house was owned by Peter Weller and was insured.

Three hours later another fire broke out, this time in Parry Harbor, in a building occupied by Mr. Haddad, a jeweler, and Clarke, a barber. The fire gained rapid headway before an alarm was sounded. Haddad, who lived upstairs, had to jump from an upper window to save himself. The fire was confined to the building, which is a complete loss, and nothing of the contents were saved.

The adjoining block, occupied by Mr. Fawcett, a liquor dealer, and the Bank of Toronto was considerably scorched.

KINGSTON FOR KOW.

Five Years For Setting Fire to Barn and Stack.

Cobourg, Dec. 16.—Judge Benson, senior judge of the County Count, sentenced Thomas Kow, the French-Canadian, who gave Montreal as his home, to five years' imprisonment. Kow pleaded guilty to a charge of setting fire to a barn and strawstack in Hope Township.

The barn, which was the property of Mr. William Harcourt, was burner, together with a large quantity of grain, feed and implements. Kow, it is said, gave as a reason for his act that he was half-starved and wished to go to jail.

SAT BESIDE A CORPSE.

Man Found Dead In Buggy Under Suspicious Circumstances.

Chatham, Dec. 16.—Crown Attorney H. D. Smith has ordered that an investigation be made into the death of Duncan Johnson of Ridgetown, who was found dead in a buggy after returning from a drive with a friend named Roy Green. Green was unaware that Johnson was dead till they came to their destination. It appears that there were suspicious circumstances surrounding the movements of Johnson and his friends on the night in question, though they are at present unknown, with the exception of the alleged circumstance that Johnson was under the influence of strong drink. The inquest will be held in Ridgetown on Wednesday.

FIRE CHIEF SENTENCED.

Sent to Kingston For Seven Years on a Charge of Arson.

Sault Ste. Marie, Dec. 16.—The jury in George Raymond arson case Saturday night returned a verdict of guilty and Judge Anglin imposed a sentence of seven years in Kingston. Upon a charge of forgery Raymond also received seven years, the sentences to run concurrently.

Thomas Ryan, guilty of manslaughter in connection with the death of Edward Hines here in the summer, received a light sentence, namely six months in the Soo jail without labor The case is an exceptional one, Ryan being a respected citizen, and the death of Hines being regarded more as an accident than otherwise.

Arrested U. S. Convict.

Kingston, Dec. 16.—Henry Fisher, an American convict, was arrested here yesterday. Fisher was sentenced to four years at Auburn, N. Y., and had served two years and a half before he was liberated on parole. A few weeks ago he broke his parole and jumped to Canada. An officer will be here to arrange for extradition.

It is said that New York friends of "Kid" McManus, in the penitentiary here, have settled the Paris bond matter for him, and that he will not be arrested when he is released from prison in February.

Mysterious Disease.

London, Dec. 16.—A mysterious disease which is prevailing in certain parts of England is baffling the local doctors. It was at first thought to be scarlet fever until many of the patients deviated from the normal course of that ailment. It is now suggested that the disease is a form of influenza. It is not markedly infectious, resembling German measles in this respect, but the rash which appears is quite unlike any other, being more of a brick red color.

Sawmill Burned.

Springfield, Dec. 15.—About 7.30 Saturday evening the valuable sawmill of D. B. McGarvie, formerly of Chatham, was totally destroyed by fire; value $10,000; loss partially covered by insurance. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Would Build Direct Line.

Hamilton, Dec. 16.—The Hamilton Radial Co. are asking for an amendment which will permit them to build direct from Brantford to London, Chatham and Windsor, instead of going around by St. Thomas.

Cobourg customs collect $800 per day on the coal brought into that port by the new U.T.R. ferry.

MINERS ARE ENTOMBED

Terrible Disaster at a Colliery in South Wales.

Was Caused by Firing of a Shot—Twelve Men Below at Time—Headgear All Blown Out — Six Bodies Have Already Been Recovered—Higher Death Roll Is Feared—Rescuers Still at Work.

London, Dec. 16.—A terrible explosion occurred at the Dinas main colliery in Wales Saturday. Fortunately only 12 men were below the surface at the time, the others having come up to receive their weekly pay. The disaster which caused the accident was brought about by the firing of a shot to signalize the change of shifts. All the headgear of the top of the shaft was blown out and there was a great fall of rock internally. The rescuers are still at work. Six bodies have been found, but it is believed that the death roll will be higher.

$50 OR CANNOT LAND.

Pauper Immigrant Will Be Barred From Canada.

Ottawa, Dec. 16.—In order to curb immigration from Great Britain during the winter season and put a further check upon people coming to Canada when there is a probability of work not being forthcoming, agents in England have been instructed to notify intending emigrants that no adult will be allowed to land in Canada between now and the 15th of February unless he has $50 in his pocket. From the latter date to April 1st the amount must be $25.

The only exception is in the case of those who are coming out to friends, and have work provided for them.

An Important Arrest.

Bowmanville, Dec. 16.—Chief Jarvis arrested a young man at a boarding-house here last night passing by the name of John Harris, and claiming to be from New York State. He is charged with stealing a purse from John Hellyar's shoe store and of trying to obtain clothing at several stores, saying he had been sent by the manager of the organ factory. He had a 32-calibre revolver with five chambers loaded.

He was surprised by Chief Jarvis and Constable Fletcher and handcuffed before he knew what was doing. It is supposed here that he is the man who shot a farmer in eastern Durham County, near Millbrook, last week. He is apparently about 25 years old, 5 feet 8 inches tall, with fair complexion. He confesses to wrongdoing here, but is silent on his previous record. He wears a cap and short double-breasted overcoat. Chief Jarvis considers that the arrest is an important one.

Peace In Central America.

Washington, Dec. 16.—The Central American peace conference practically concluded its labors Saturday when it was announced the delegates had agreed upon, and were ready to sign, seven treaties. The most important step towards the preservance of peace in Central America consisted in the agreement on the treaty establishing a permanent court.

The other treaties will be one of extradition, one for the establishment of a Central American pedagogical institution, one for the establishment of an international Central American bureau, similar to the bureau of American republics at Washington; a financial convention, a treaty for the establishment of better communication between the countries, and a general era of peace and amity. On Friday the delegates will formally sign these treaties.

Russia May Cancel Agreement.

Pekin, Dec. 16.—The policy of Japan in China is threatening to bring about a new crisis in Manchurian affairs, and as a result of the course pursued by the Tokio Government, there is danger of Russia canceling the Russo-Chinese telegraph convention, signed last October.

Japan has ten telegraph stations in Manchuria in violation of the treaty, and she has also committed other acts of aggression.

The Pekin Government is being urged by Japan to relieve the Manchurian financial situation by means of loans to the native banks.

Chief Drew Burglar's Blood.

Tillsonburg, Dec. 16.—There was a desperate attempt made Saturday night to effect an entrance into the jewelry store of Mr. Davis. Two burglars were seen by the chief attempting to gain an entrance at the back of Broadway. When the chief came upon them he was ordered to hold up his hands. Not doing so, they fired twice at him. The chief answered by firing upon them, but they made their escape. Yesterday morning there were traces of blood upon the snow.

Abe Hummel Dying.

New York, Dec. 16.—Abraham Hummel, the lawyer who is serving a year's sentence in Blackwell's Island Penitentiary for conspiracy in connection with the Dodge-Morse divorce case, is near death from kidney affection. He collapsed Saturday, after exercising in the prison yard. Dr. Mats, the resident physician, says that Hummel's condition is such that he is likely to die at any moment. Hummell's sentence at Blackwell's Island will expire within a few weeks.

Barn Burned; Train Derailed.

London, Dec. 16.—The barn of John Kilbourne, a farmer living near the Delaware cheese factory, was burned yesterday morning. All the horses and a number of rigs were saved. The damage is estimated at $300. The building was fairly well insured.

The breaking of an axle caused seven cars on a fast freight to be derailed near Strathroy on Saturday.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS
PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days or money refunded. 50c.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM
RAILWAY TIME TABLE

	Arrive	Depart
Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, Gravenhurst, North Bay, Stouffville and Toronto	11.40 a.m. 9.00 p.m.	8.25 a.m 5.35 p.m
Port Hope and points east to Montreal and Boston		8.30 a.m
Port Hope, Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago & West, Niagara Falls, Buffalo, Cobourg, Montreal and East	8.30 a.m. 5.32 p.m.	11.45 a.m 9.05 p.m
From Buffalo, Hamilton, Toronto, Bowmanville and Port Hope	11.43 a.m.
Toronto, Lindsay, Stouffville, Uxbridge and Markham	10.06 p.m.	7.20 a.m
Lindsay Local	8.15 a.m.	9.10 p.m
Hastings, Campbellford, Madoc, Belleville, Kingston, Montreal and East	8.10 a.m. 8.40 p.m.	8.30 a.m 1.50 p.m
Lakefield and Stony Lake	9.30 a.m. 5.15 p.m.	8.30 a.m 12.20 p.m

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY

To Peterboro' Going East,
11.16 a. m., Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal
7.51 p. m., Indian River, Norwood, Havelock, Tweed.
12.31 a. m. midnight, Havelock, Tweed, Smith's Falls, Montreal, Quebec, Portland, Boston and New England points.
9.10 a. m., Ottawa express, Norwood, Havelock, Ivanhoe, Tweed, Smith's Falls, Carleton Jct., Ottawa.
To Peterboro' Going West,
4.48 a. m. for Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, New York, Woodstock, St. Thomas, Chicago, etc.
5.36 a. m. Do. Do.
7.56 a. m. for Cavanville, Manvers, Pontypool, Burkton, etc., Fort William, Winnipeg and all western points in North West Canada.
4.48 p. m. Pontypool, Lindsay, Toronto, Hamilton, Galt, Woodstock, London, Detroit Chicago, etc.

Acton rejoices in a ten per cent. cut in the price of brick and ten per cent on some classes of lumber.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

Xmas and New Year's Excursions

Between all stations in Canada, also to Detroit and Port Huron, Mich., Buffalo, Black Rock, Niagara Falls and Suspension Bridge, N.Y.

AT SINGLE FARE
Good going December 24th and 25th, 1907
RETURNING UNTIL DEC. 26, 1907
Also good going December 31st, 1907, and January 1st, 1908, returning until January 2nd, 1908.
AT FARE AND ONE-THIRD
Good going Dec. 21st to Dec. 25th, 1907.
Returning until January 3rd, 1908.
Also good going Dec. 28th, 1907, to Jan. 1st, 1908.
Returning Until January 3rd, 1908
For further information and tickets call on
W. BUNTON
City Passenger Agent
F. SANDY,
Depot Ticket Agent
Or write Mr J. D. McDonald, D.P.A., Union Depot, Toronto

SHORT LINE TO MUSKOKA AND PARRY SOUND
WINTER TIME TABLE
In effect December 9th, 1907

NORTHBOUND

	No. 1	No. 3
TORONTO	† 9.00 am	† 5.30 pm
WASHAGO	12.45 pm	9.00 pm
PARRY SOUND	3.15 pm

SOUTHBOUND

	No. 2	No. 4
PARRY SOUND	† 9.00 am
WASHAGO	11.15 am	6.45 am
TORONTO	3.00 pm	10.10 am

Observation-Dining-Parlor Cars between Toronto and Parry Sound serving meals a la carte.
† Daily except Sunday.
OFFICES: All Stations, also Cor. King and Toronto and Union Station. Phone, Main 5179.

CANADIAN PACIFIC
CHRISTMAS and NEW YEAR RATES
RETURN TICKETS between all stations in Canada, east of Port Arthur and to Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Detroit, Mich. and Niagara Falls and Buffalo, N.Y., on sale at
SINGLE FARE
Dec. 24 and 25, returning until Dec. 26, also Dec. 31 and January 1, returning until Jan. 2, 1908.
FARE AND A THIRD
good going Dec. 21, 22, 23, 24 and 25, also Dec. 28, 29, 30 and 31 and Jan. 1, all good returning until Jan. 3, 1908.
Tickets and all information from
W. McILROY,
Canadian Pacific Agent
349 George St. Peterboro'
or write C. B. Foster, D.P.A. Toronto

Letterheads

¶What you think about you Business Stationery isn't quite so important as what your correspondent thinks.

¶Don't have inferior paper and work up your Business Stationery. Don't try good work and paper because you like it, altogether, but because it influences the man you write in your favor

¶The Review Job Department will give you the best work obtainable and superior paper and envelopes. Your order set, printed and cared for for you, particularly you

¶A Call or Phone will bring to you samples.

THE REVIEW
PETERBOROUGH

Why Peterborough Citizens Now Come to Dr. Browett for Glasses

FIRST REASON. The Eye glasses supplied by Dr. Browett are ground in one of the largest and best optical factories in America. Skilled workmanship and quality have placed the lenses produced by this firm far in advance o. those ground in the ordinary factory. Dr. Browett devotes his exclusive attention to Optical Work—examining eyes, and teaching Opticians the use of the modern eye instruments. The number of Optical colleges this gentleman has attended, his experiences throughout the United States and Canada as a teacher of opticians, the thousands of satisfied patrons in various parts of America, wherever he has visited in his teaching capacity, his equipment of instruments and knowledge of their use are sufficient reasons for Dr Browett's success since making Peterborough his permanent home, and our store his head office.

McDERMID & JURY'S, Drug Store,
290 George Street, Peterborough, Ont.

A Story of Absorbing Interest

The Rogue's March

By E. W. HORNUNG, author of "Raffles, the Amateur Cracksman," "Stingaree," etc.

The dog was dragged within a yard of the door it would not enter, then released, and it did not run away. Daintree now went within and called and whistled to the dog, but there it stood, bristling all over, and yet wagging its tail with immense energy, as if to proclaim its anxiety to please in any other way, but enter that room it could not. Nor was it until Daintree rushed out in his rage that the little dog turned tail and ran away. And again he caught it, and again and again the same thing happened, the man vowing the dog should give in, the dog still wagging his tail and still disobeying, the dinner growing cold on the table and Tom viewing the whole petty, pitiable exhibition with the most irritating pain and disenchantment. It made his heart sick to see this man of all men in such a passion about so small a thing. In a little he was all but foaming at the mouth, and at last, when he caught up a heavy ivory paper knife and belabored the dog with that, the spectacle hurt Tom more than any flogging he had witnessed in the iron gang. It was not only that his feeling for men was numbed, while his feeling for animals remained quick—here was the one man living whom he wished to honor and to admire, and the honor and the admiration were sickening at their birth.

The beating did no good whatever. Then Daintree turned on his heel with such a face that Tom took the dog in his arms. He heard a drawer unlocked in the room. When his master reappeared the paper knife was no longer in his hand. A pistol was there instead.

"Where's the dog?" he cried.

"Here," said Tom, showing him.

"Put it down. I'm going to shoot him. I'll have no stubborn beasts here!"

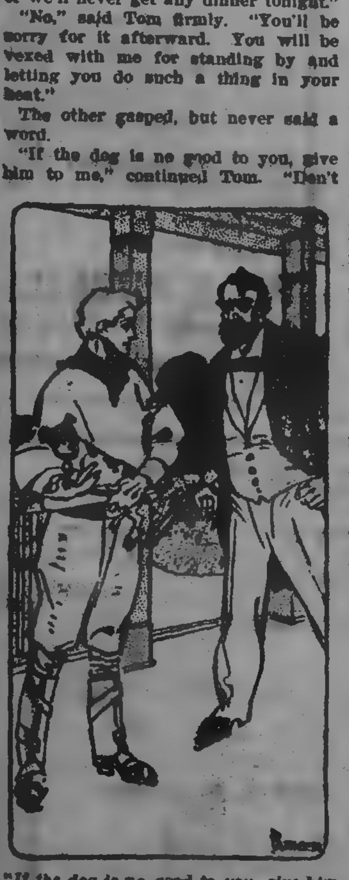
"Have you had this one long, sir?"

"From a puppy," said Daintree, cocking his pistol. "Come, put him down or we'll never get any dinner tonight."

"No," said Tom firmly. "You'll be sorry for it afterward. You will be vexed with me for standing by and letting you do such a thing in your heat."

The other gasped, but never said a word.

"If the dog is no good to you, give him to me," continued Tom. "Don't shoot him, sir. Not that I believe you meant it." And to show his belief he dropped the terrier, whereupon Daintree hesitated, but presently retreated to his room without a word.



"If the dog is no good to you, give him to me."

The dog was spared. They sat down at last to cool dishes that should have been hot, and their mutual ardor had suffered with the viands. Daintree was very solemn and very stiff, his hapless companion quite certain that he had given mortal and everlasting offense. But the incident was never referred to again, and Tom soon forgot the solitary occasion upon which his champion displayed himself in so sinister a light.

Not that the other lights were all rose colored. The man had foibles innumerable and in their way as extraordinary as his inexplicable kindness to Tom. This continued and increased, and yet there was a something ostentatious, vainglorious, egotistical, even in his kindest acts. Tom hated himself for seeing it, but there it was. It became the more noticeable as Tom himself grew more regenerate and so made fewer demands upon the other's consideration. And then the gloomy vanity of the man! His literary pretensions! His solemn belief in himself and all he did!

"Heaven knows he has done enough for me!" sighed Tom, quite ashamed. "I must try to see nothing else, but what I can't help seeing shall never, never, never make any difference to my regard for him."

Tom wanted to get to work at once, in the house, in the garden, anywhere and at anything, but the other would not hear of it for days. He was to rest and forget and to enjoy his life. They made excursions together in the curricle or in Daintree's boat. Tom would have been almost happy if he only could have given his kind companion the heart whole admiration which the latter took for granted. And his inability in that respect was so real a grief to him he could have wept at it and at the other's kindness put together, but there was still not a tear in his heart. He often wondered was there any heart left in his body. What he deemed his ingratitude seemed sometimes to prove that there was not.

There were qualities he could honestly admire in Daintree, but they were not those qualities upon whose possession Daintree most prided himself. He was a man of iron nerve and will. That was undoubted. One day in a squall near the Heads he handled the boat with magnificent coolness and skill when Tom thought they must both have gone to the sharks. When they landed safe and sound, he inflicted so many of his poems upon Tom, whom the salt breezes had overcome with drowsiness, that the pantry and the knives to clean seemed preferable to such nightly ordeals. Tom asked to be put into livery and to work at once. He insisted upon it and gained his point through the accidental touch of "livery."

They drove into Sydney next day with specimens of the family crest, which Tom was to bear on every button. Daintree being a magistrate, a cockade was duly included in the order, and for a time the master was in high feather at the prospective display. But it recalled family troubles ere long, and all the way home he talked dismally of himself as an "exile like Byron—my literary second self." Somebody had once called him "own brother to Byron." He never tired of quoting the phrase. He was destitute of humor and made Tom blush for him where he would have shaken with laughter at another.

His contrariety was unique. Not only was he a good magistrate spoilt through neglecting the bench for his desk, but an old athlete who bragged about the poetry he could not write instead of about the races he had really won. On the top of his bookshelf stood the row of tarnished silver cups, and his proud eye climbed no higher than the volume or two of mediocre verse underneath. He made little enough of his genuine triumphs, his real abilities, but he would talk with bated breath of a few stanzas which often rhymed as false as they rang. Once Tom cleaned the cups when Daintree was out, and he flew into something very like a rage when he came in and saw them. He was the most unaccountable of men.

"Still he is the kindest," was Tom's reflection on the top of that conclusion, and the same night he not only made another of his poor attempts at thanking Daintree for all that he was doing and had done; he at last put the question which seemed to mark a stride in his slow and uphill return from brute to man. And yet even now it was no very sincere curiosity, but rather an uncomfortable feeling that he ought to seem curious, which prompted him to say:

"I can't understand your kindness to me. Why did you begin it? Why do you go on? I wonder what made you take an interest in me at the start!"

Wonder was the word, for wonder he did, but keenly inquisitive he was not, and the stride was shorter than it had looked.

"I believed in your innocence," replied Daintree with deliberation; "that was all."

"I can't think why. You were the only one. Yet you knew nothing about me, it seems." And still his tone was that of purely impersonal speculation.

Daintree took the cheroot from between his teeth.

"I knew something about Blaydes," said he.

"Ah!"

"Not much; very little, in fact, but that little was pretty bad. I knew what an infernal blackguard he was, and I felt sure there must be more ruined men than one upon his track. You remember that point in the defense?"

Tom jumped up. "Don't remind me of it!" he cried. "The very barrister disbelieved in me! And it doesn't interest me now; it only hurts. Don't speak of it, if you please."

"Oh, very well," said Daintree, "only that point was suggested by me."

"You?" exclaimed Tom in an altered voice. "Ah, but what don't I owe to you? More than I can ever realize or believe; everything—everything—and yet I refuse to speak of it to you of all men! You see how ungrateful I am; you see what they've made of me among them. Oh, sir, forgive me, have patience with me, and I may be grateful yet! Give me time, and I shall thank you as I cannot now."

"You shall not," rejoined Daintree firmly. "You were quite right, and we'll speak of all this no more. Good heavens!" he cried out. "How do you know my motives were so pure? What if it was a mere whim—and not altogether my own? At all events, I take no credit for it, and never you thank me again, do you hear? You'll offend me if you do. You will indeed!"

He spoke earnestly, nervously and without a trace of affectation or egotism. Nor did Tom remember a single foible as he looked in the handsome, dark, inscrutable face and took his benefactor by both hands.

"God bless you!" he whispered. "Do you know what I used to call you in my heart when I had one? My Noble Unknown! Well, you are nobler even than I thought. Do you know what you are doing? You're giving me my heart back little by little! I shall be grateful yet!"

He went to the door, but would stand there gazing at his friend. So long he stood, with burning eyes that seemed to ache for tears, but at length he was gone, and Daintree sat alone with a cold cheroot between his fingers.

CHAPTER XXV.

ONCE in livery, Tom sat no more at his master's table. He had, however, to insist on waiting at it instead and to make himself the servant he had been hitherto in name only. Daintree would have let the old arrangement continue, but the new one was a boon to Tom. It gave him freedom and independence and occupation, and so helped him wonderfully upon the upward road.

One evening when a ship had come in and Daintree had driven into Sydney for his letters he returned in such extraordinary spirits that he could hardly touch his dinner; he must gloat over a crinkling sheet of paper, while the soup grew cold in the very spoon, and Tom could only suppose that his master's family had come round at last. As a rule, he talked incessantly to Tom while the latter waited, but this evening his letter absorbed his whole attention. At last, however, he looked up, and his saturnine countenance was redeemed and transfigured by a perfectly startling radiance and joy.

"Thomas," he said, "you must marry a wife!"

The cheery tone was as new in him as the delighted look. Tom was so astonished he had to think what the words meant before shaking his head.

"Why not, my good fellow?" cried Daintree.

"Why should you want me to?" retorted Tom.

"Because I am about to marry one myself."

Had he said he was about to bury one Tom could not have been more startled and amazed. Somehow he had never conceived of Daintree as a married man. That solitary spirit, centered and immersed in self and consciously wallowing in its own solitude and gloom, had forbidden such a thought the more easily since Tom had himself abandoned every aspiration of the kind. A twinge of jealousy succeeded his first surprise, but in another moment his heart dilated with unselfish pleasure, and his congratulations were no less sincere than vociferous.

"If you knew her," said Daintree, "you would congratulate me even more." And he proceeded to praise his choice as he could have praised nothing that was not in some sense his, and yet his passion was convincing. His voice shook with it as his face shone.

"A Sydney lady?" Tom ventured to inquire.

"Good heavens, no! If she only were as near as that! She is on her way out to marry me. This letter was written a month before she sailed."

"From England?"

"Yes."

"You will see her in another month."

"Perhaps before. You never know how long or how short the voyage will be. Mine was 136 days, and that was long. I kept a chart of it—stop; I'm going to fetch it! Clear away. I've had dinner enough."

He rushed from the table, to return presently with a mariner's chart of the world, upon which he had neatly marked out the daily courses of his recent voyage. It was a chain of many links from England to the Cape and a chain of longer links from the Cape to Australia.

"Now, then!" cried Daintree, arranging the chart under the lamp and seating himself delightedly at the table. "Now we'll see where they've got to. Hello! Where's my letter?"

It was on the floor, and Tom picked it up, averting his eyes so that he should see nothing while Daintree referred to the contents.

"Ha! Here we have it," and the letter was thrust into his pocket. "They were to sail on the 23d of June. How many days ago is that? This is September the 12th. Seven—thirty-one—thirty-one and twelve. How much is that?"

"Eighty-one," said Tom.

"Only eighty-one! Then you're right," sighed Daintree, "and they won't be here for another month. I was fifty-five days more."

"They may make a quicker voyage."

"They may, but I never have. The one before was a hundred and forty days. They were both above the average, but not so very much."

"Then all the more time to prepare in," said Tom, entering thoroughly into the situation. "We must get the place to rights, you know, sir."

"That's true. It will help to pass the time."

"Then we might pin up this chart."

"What, and follow the course?"

"Suppose they came no quicker than you did and put a drawing pin in the place every day."

Daintree was delighted. He shook Tom's hand, and up went the chart and in went the drawing pin.

"You see," he said, "they've not got to the Cape yet. They're only just beginning to turn the corner and run their easting down."

"That's assuming they came no quicker than you," said his consoler.

"Well, we will assume it. Still, when they're a hundred days out we'll have a flag ready, and you shall begin going every morning to the point to see whether there's a ball at the south yard arm, and after that will be the longest time of all."

To be continued.

INITIALLED WRITING PAPER

One of the most acceptable of gifts that you can send is a dainty box of note paper and envelopes with one or more initials printed in gold on the top of the first sheet of paper or on the back of the envelopes. Good writing paper is always appreciated and you can make no mistake in including it in your list. Leave your order early at the REVIEW Office and you will be well satisfied. 3d

Brussels Presbyterians will erect a fine new church to replace the present edifice, built 35 or 40 years ago.

TUMORS CONQUERED

SERIOUS OPERATIONS AVOIDED

Unqualified Success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the Case of Mrs. Fannie D. Fox.

One of the greatest triumphs of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the conquering of woman's dread enemy, Tumor.

The growth of a tumor is so sly that frequently its presence is not suspected until it is far advanced.

Mrs Fannie D. Fox

So-called "wandering pains" may come from its early stages, or the presence of danger may be made manifest by profuse monthly periods, accompanied by unusual pain, from the abdomen through the groin and thighs.

If you have mysterious pains, if there are indications of inflammation or displacement, secure Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound right away and begin its use.

Mrs. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., will give you her advice if you will write her about yourself. She is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for twenty-five years has been advising sick women free of charge.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I take the liberty to congratulate you on the success I have had with your wonderful medicine. Eighteen months ago my periods stopped. Shortly after I felt so badly that I submitted to a thorough examination by a physician and was told that I had a tumor and would have to undergo an operation.

"Soon after I read one of your advertisements and decided to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. After trying five bottles as directed the tumor is entirely gone. I have been examined by a physician and he says I have no signs of a tumor now. It has also brought my periods around once more, and I am entirely well."—Fannie D. Fox, 7 Chestnut Street Bradford, Pa.

HARDEN TRIAL AGAIN.

Count Von Moltke Will Seek Vindication in Higher Court.

Berlin, Dec. 16.—The efforts of Count Kuno Von Moltke to vindicate himself in the trial which resulted from accusations made by Maxmilian Harden, editor of Die Sukunft, having failed before the minor court, the case will be taken up by the state's attorney before a criminal bench of five judges to-day. Fresh revelations are awaited with tense expectancy by the public, because it is believed that much new testimony will be brought out concerning the so-called camarilla surrounding the Emperor. Prince Philip Zu Eulenberg, Count Von Moltke's divorced wife, Frau Von Elbe, and her son, Lieut. Von Kruze, are among the witnesses who will be called.

It is by no means certain that the judges will allow the testimony to take a range wide enough to elicit political secrets of the court for anything that may touch directly the person of the Emperor.

EDITOR'S DEATH SENTENCE.

Geneva Section of Russian "Reds" Say He Must Die.

Geneva, Dec. 16.—The police here have discovered in the postoffice, en route to New York, a notice of the passage of the death sentence on the editor of the New York Russian newspaper, Warheit, by Russian revolutionists. The notice reads as follows:

"The Geneva section of the Union of Russian people at its last assembly took the following decision: The editor of the journal Warheit, Louis Miller, is condemned to death for publishing secret Governmental documents. The prompt execution of this judgment is confided to three specialists of the fighting organization. We hereby inform you this resolution is in conformity with our status."

The secret documents mentioned in the above notification refer to the death of a revolutionist named Scherneck.

FATE OF RUSSIAN DEPUTIES.

Punishment Unexpectedly Heavy—To Mines and Siberia.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 16.—Sentence was pronounced Saturday upon the Social-Democratic members of the Lower House, whose arrest was the indirect cause of the dissolution of the second Douma. The punishment inflicted is unexpectedly heavy. Eight deputies, including Apnikin, Annismoff, Dshaparidze and Prince Tzereeli, are condemned to five years' labor in the mines and subsequent deportation to Siberia; nine others, including Batasheff, Biolouseff and Kirtenko, are sent to the mines for four years and then will be deported. Ten deputies are sent into perpetual exile in Siberia. Many other correspondingly heavy sentences were imposed.

288 Bulgarians Slain.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 16.—The Bulgarian Government has sent a note to Russia, in answer to a recent representation made by the Russian Minister at Sofia, with reference to the activity of Bulgarian bands in Macedonia. The note denies that the residents of the principality are participating in these activities and states that Bulgaria reposes entire trust in the powers to introduce adequate reforms in Macedonia. It suggests the employment of a European gendarmerie, the officers of which shall be empowered to supplant the Turks in the administration of the province.

Bulgaria launches a counter complaint against Greek bands composed of Cretans, which, it declares, are carrying on a propaganda with fire and sword. The statistics for the month of October show that 288 persons were murdered.

Shah Turns Tyrant.

Teheran, Dec. 16.—Popular agitation against the delay in the execution of soldiers who recently murdered two shopkeepers here reached a climax yesterday in hostile demonstrations on the streets, firing on the Parliament buildings and the resignation of the Cabinet.

The Shah ordered the arrest of the Premier, Nasir el Mulk, and the Minister of the Interior, Sani ed Dowleh, and Alla ed Dowleh, the Governor of Shiras. Parliament has demanded an explanation of the Shah's action, and is sitting in permanent session until an answer is received.

It is supposed that the Shah is acting under the influence of the reactionaries, as he recently summoned two aged ex-Governors to his palace.

Church Bell Nuisance.

London, Dec. 16.—To the great satisfaction of distracted workers in the city who have long complained of the constant church bell ringing which occurs almost daily in various churches in accordance with old customs, the society for the betterment of London has prepared a petition asking the Home Secretary for greater power in dealing with street noises and that the police may have authority to prevent unnecessary noises, and furthermore that church bells be placed in the category of street nuisances.

Killed by Runaway Horse.

Walkerton, Dec. 16.—At about 11 o'clock Saturday morning the horse hitched to the steam laundry delivery wagon took fright and ran away. John Lenhart, an old man of about 70, was knocked over by the frightened beast and sustained such serious injuries that he died in the hospital six hours later.

To Save Boyd's Life.

Ottawa, Dec. 16.—Mr. Phalen interviewed Hon. A. B. Aylesworth on Saturday and asked for clemency for Boyd, the slayer of Wandle. He made a strong point of the jury's recommendation to mercy, and Mr. Aylesworth promised to review the evidence.

Unknown Man's Suicide.

Winnipeg, Dec. 16.—An unknown man hanged himself in a vacant stable at the rear of 24 Aberdeen avenue yesterday. The body was found at 6 o'clock. There is nothing on the clothes to identify the victim, who was fairly well dressed.

Aylmer shipped 1,290 turkeys in one week to the British Christmas market.

IF YOUR PIANO BEARS THE NAME

"GERHARD HEINTZMAN"

It has the excellence that comes of years of experience and study, carefully and intelligently applied.

A SINGING EVEN TONE PERFECT ACTION DELICACY OF TOUCH

combined with durability and beauty of design are the distinguishable characteristics of the "Gerhard Heintzman."

In buying a piano it is the truest form of economy to get the best, the few dollars additional in the price being returned tenfold in wear, pleasure and pride of ownership. Write for catalogue.

Gerhard Heintzman, Limited
97 Yonge Street, Toronto.
W. H. ISAAC, 226 Dublin Street, Peterborough.
Local Salaried Representative.
Machine 'Phone 22

FOR THE LADY WHO CALLS

Visiting List and Social Engagement Book —A Dainty and Useful Gift.

Those ladies who find it difficult to keep track of their social debts in the way of calls which have to be returned, invitations to various society functions which have been received will be pleased to learn that a dainty little book has been issued from the presses of the Review which will fill their need. The city has grown so rapidly of late years that it has become almost necessary for each lady to have a special reception day each month when her friends will be sure to find her at home. To keep a record of these will be an easy matter with one of these little books. They are prettily bound in blue linen, lettered in gold and printed on good paper. There are two pages for every day in the month, arranged, according as the day is, first Monday, second Tuesday, etc. At the back of the book are pages for invitations received, out-of-town addresses, special reception dates, and memoranda. One of the books would make a dainty and acceptable Xmas gift. The books are on sale at the bookstores at the price of 50c

CENTRAL LIVERY STABLES
AND
VETERINARY INFIRMARY
123 Hunter Street, west of Oriental

If you wish a rig of any kind for any occasion ring us up and you will find everything up-to-date in the livery line. Both Phones 275. Night Phone Bell 125 B

D. McKERCHER, V.S.

YOUR OWN HAIR MADE UP AS DESIRED . .

By home talent, where you are sure of satisfaction, or matched correctly in shade and quality.

Switches, Natural Wavy Pomp Latest Coiffures

Let us show you what we can do before you patronize some outside party. We guarantee to please you at lowest prices in the city.

Back Hair Dressing, Shampooing, etc.

MRS. BYRNE'S
George Street Second Door North of Dutton's

Special Inducements TO BUY HEATERS

You gain nothing by delay. See ou
Standard Oak
Quebec Ideal
Art Laurel

They are great fuel savers. Easily operated and splendid heat distributors.

F.R.J. MACPHERSON & CO.
341 George St. Phone 116
F.R.J. MACPHERSON ANGUS MACPHERSON

HOCKEY SKATES
From 75c to $5.00

Skates repaired and sharpened
General machine work.

METHEREL'S CYCLE WORKS
225 Hunter Street

Private Greeting Cards

THE highly colored and lithographed Christmas Card in vogue a few years ago has passed away entirely.

IN place has come the much more appropriate Personal Greeting Card.

OF these the Review Office is showing a great many original designs.

YOUR order should be given immediately, while the selection is so complete.

SHOULD you desire a Card specially designed to your order, promptness is absolutely necessary.

The Review
HUNTER STREET
PETERBOROUGH

ESTIMATES AND RESULTS

The evidence before the Royal Commission showed that over 700 SUN LIFE policies had already matured and that in thirty-four per cent. of the cases the amounts originally estimated as likely to be received at the end of the terms, had been realized or exceeded. On all the cases combined the average amount paid had been about ninety-seven per cent. of the estimate. The management may be pardoned for being proud of this record. The estimates now in use since 1900 are lower than former ones, and premiums are higher, so that present estimates should certainly be realized. Statements were also filed showing that $108 is on hand for every $100 required to pay the amounts called for by the present estimates for every deferred profit policy on the books, and this without taking into account the Company's great and increasingly valuable contingent fund. Our policyholders are therefore justified in being particularly optimistic in regard to the Company's probable future profits.

Some one has said, "the true value of a life assurance policy must be gauged by the security of the protection given; if it proves to be a good investment, all the better; when both are shown, there is nothing on earth to equal it."

The security of the protection afforded by the Sun Life of Canada needs no comment, and the profits paid—let our results tell their own forceful story.

W. H. HILL,
Mgr. Central Ont.

DODD'S
KIDNEY PILLS
KIDNEY
CURES RHEUMATISM
BRIGHT'S DISEASE
DIABETES

SNAPS FOR XMAS

Ebony Mirrors
Ebony Hair Brushes
Ebony Clothes Brushes
Ebony Manicure Sets
Ebony Military Brushes
Real Seal Skin Purses
Hand Satchels
Ladies' Companions
Gentlemen's Companions
Perfumes, etc.

at lowest prices

WARNE BROS.

345 GEORGE ST. PHONE 527

Xmas Photos

Send a family group or the children's photos to your friends at Christmas. Nothing is appreciated more than such remembrances, from

MENDEL'S STUDIO

374 1-2 George St Entrance next Oke's

BREEZE BLEW BLINDING BLAST

Storm King Ruled on Saturday—Train Service Interfered With

A regular old time blizzard struck Peterborough on Saturday and continued on Sunday, although much abated. Over six inches of snow fell and for a time the streets were badly filled up. Snow shovels were quickly brought into service and in the business section of the city the sidewalks weer kept clear, but on the outlying streets the walking was very bad.

The Street Railway Company had a hard task keeping the tracks clear and the sweepers and snow plows were kept busy all day Saturday and at night and were also out on Sunday. There was no interuption to the service with the exception of Saturday night when some of the cars got stalled for short periods.

All the evening trains were behind schedule time on Saturday, but they are all running as usual to-day. The storm was a rough one for so early in the season and brought visions of the days of old to the "oldest inhabitant."

Navel Oranges 25, 30, & 40c. Holly (English) for decorating. On and after Friday night 13 inst. store will be open late. R. A. DUTTON.

DIED

DUNLOP.—On Monday, 16th Dec., Eleanor S. Dunlop, widow of the late A. O. Dunlop, and second daughter of the late Hon. T. A. Stewart.

Funeral from her late residence, corner of Water and Murray street, on Thursday, 19th Dec., at 3 p.m.

SEE OUR GRAND WINDOW DISPLAY OF XMAS SNAPS

Fountain Pens—fully guaranteed—Solid Gold Points—Just two grades—Regular price $2.50 and $3.50. Our price this week only

$1.50 and $2.50

With each $1.50 sale we will give a 50c bottle of perfume FREE.

With each $2.50 sale we will give a $1.00 bottle of perfume FREE.

Just a limited number of pens.

Perfume either in bulk or in fancy bottles. Your own choice.

NUGENT DRUG CO.

386 GEORGE STREET

INTEREST PAID
QUARTERLY
—ON—
SAVINGS DEPOSITS of $1 and upwards
—THE—
BANK OF OTTAWA

Interest paid
February 28
May 31
August 31
November 30

PETERBOROUGH BRANCHES:
George Street, also Corner Rubidge and Townsend Streets

A HOLLINGSHEAD, Mgr

Is This the Man Who Shot Mr. Porteous?

Supposed Assailant of Cavan Farmer Arrested in Bomanville

A special despatch from Bowmanville says; A man giving his name as Jack Harris, about 25 years of age, came into town on Friday. He took a lady's chatelaine from John Hellyar's shoe store, and visited several stores and tried to get clothing, saying he was sent by Superintendent Mitchell, of the Dominion Organ and Piano Company. When arrested, he had a revolver, with five chambers loaded. He is supposed to be the man who shot farmer Porteous in Cavan township, near Millbrook, a few days ago.

Have you secured your ticket for the grand performance of the talented Eckhardt Family in the Conservatory Hall, on Tuesday next at 8 p.m.?

Lovers of music, both vocal and instrumental, should not fail to attend as their skilful numbers are unequalled.

Presented With Fur Gauntlets

Knights of Columbus Remember Mr. Crowley on Eve of Departure

At a meeting of the Knights of Columbus, held in their rooms yesterday afternoon, Mr. Wm. Crowley, who leaves today for Edmonton, Alta., was presented with a pair of handsome Persian lamb gauntlets. Mr. John Sullivan referred to the loss the Society was sustaining in Mr. Crowley's departure. While they regretted greatly his leaving, they all joined in congratulating him upon his advancement. On behalf of the members Mr. Fred McFadden made the presentation. Others who spoke were Messrs. George Lynch, T. B. McGrath and Fred. LePlante, each expressing regret at Mr. Crowley's departure from their midst.

Although greatly surprised Mr. Crowley made a suitable reply, thanking his friends for their kindness. He would always remember his pleasant associations with his fellow Knights of Columbus.

1000 GIVEN AWAY 1,000

Every purchaser of $1 00 or over will receive a beautiful Wall Packet and Calendar combined; a very useful article for the home. Special prices on all Xmas goods at

JAMES R. BELL'S

Both Phones. 161 Hunter St

ADAMS ADAMS

Christmas Neckwear

Neckwear is under the Christmas spell, This store is considered headquarters for Ladies' Stylish Neckwear, especially at Christmas. Scores of pretty designs and styles, priced as follows:

COLLARS--25c. 50c, 75c and $1.00

FRILLS--15c and 20c, in pretty boxes of four and five frills each.

SCARFS--Beautiful Chiffon and Lace Scarfs at $1.25 up to $3.00, boxed in fancy boxes.

Boxed Handkerchiefs

Lovely range of Linen Handkerchiefs, hemstitched, scalloped and lace edged, boxed in dainty boxes, decorated with neat views and containing four and six handkerchiefs each.

Harry Adams

Holy Rite of Confirmation Administered Yesterday

At St. John's and St. Luke's Churches by Rt. Rev. Bishop Reeve, Assistant to the Archbishop of Toronto—Many Candidates—Impressive and Interesting Addresses Delivered by His Lordship.

The Right Reverend Bishop Reeve administered the apostolic rite of confirmation in St. John's church on Sunday morning at 10.30 o'clock. A shortened form of Morning Prayer, which opened with the large choir and congregation joining heartily in singing "Onward, Christian Soldiers," was followed by the confirmation service. There were 49 candidates presented by Rev. Canon Davidson, nearly all of whom were adults, and eight from Lakefield, including some of the boys from Rev. A. W. McKenzie's school. His Lordship's address to the candidates was earnest, and in exhorting them to hold fast to prayer and Bible reading, went through the Collect for Second Sunday in Advent, and sentence by sentence brought out helpful lessons and advice. He specially spoke on "read, mark, learn and inwardly digest," as applied to the Holy Scriptures, and warned them that after confirmation, temptation might specially assail them, as the temptation of our blessed Lord came immediately after His baptism. During the offertory Mr. George Chandler sang, "Be Thou Faithful Unto Death," from Mendelssohn's St. Paul. The Rev. Mr. Seward acted as bishop's chaplain.

AT ST. LUKE'S

The beautiful and impressive rite of confirmation was administered to twenty-five young persons last evening at St. Luke's church. The edifice was filled with an earnest and devout congregation, who interestedly entered into the spirit of the ceremony of the laying on of hands. It was performed by Right Rev. Bishop Reeve, assistant to the Archbishop of Toronto. The Rector, Rev. Dr. Langfeldt, was assisted in the opening services by Rev. A. L. Reed, curate, and Mr. H. F. Battersby, of Young's Point. The service was a bright and impressive one, the music being especially for confirmation.

RIGHT REV. BISHOP REEVE.
Who Administered the Apostolic Rite of Confirmation Yesterday.

The candidates occupied the front seats in the central row. During the past several weeks they have been carefully trained by the rector, Dr. Langfeldt, who has been most faithful, earnest and devoted in his administrations and upbuilding of the noblest aspirations in the minds of those who received the holy rite last evening.

The candidates were presented to His Lordship by the rector, and after they had made their solemn obligation by answering the question put to them by the Bishop, His Lordship addressed them, impressing upon their minds the wisdom of the step they had just taken. They were now renewing their vows made for them in their baptism. He urged upon them the necessity of carrying out in their daily lives the promises made. He hoped they would be strengthened in their good resolution, and the Holy Spirit would enable them to fulfill their obligation. Confirmation was not merely the laying on of the Bishop's hands, but it was the descending of the Holy Ghost, even as it came upon the Apostles at the day of Pentecost. His Lordship referred to the true meaning of the rite. It was not appointed by man's own device, but instituted by the apostles, under instructions from Christ.

"It depends upon yourselves," said the Bishop, "whether you will keep your vows. God will help you and through prayer you alone can receive this assistance. Be faithful in your attendance at the Lord's Table and regular at public worship. Try and not make your worship a mere act or form, but be sincere. Remember who you serve and strive earnestly to glorify him. Fresh trials and adversities will await you, but from strength to strength and from grace to grace advance and each day you will find yourselves nearer your heavenly home."

While a hymn was being sung, the candidates went forward, and as they knelt before the Bishop, His Lordship, placing his hand in turn upon each head, said, "Defend, O Lord, this, Thy servant, with Thy heavenly grace, that he may continue Thine forever; and daily increase in Thy Holy Spirit more and more until he comes unto Thy everlasting kingdom."

After another hymn had been sung His Lordship delivered a forcible and earnest sermon to the congregation, taking for his text the words found in the 8th verse of the 4th chapter of St. Paul's first epistle to Timothy, "For bodily exercise profiteth little, but Godliness is profitable unto all things." "In order that we might accomplish the duties resting upon us in our daily proceedings, it is necessary that we exercise Godliness," said the learned preacher. "These are days of games and athletes, and our physical development is largely dependent upon outdoor exercise. The apostle knew of this training when he wrote the text. He was acquainted with the great Grecian games of the early days, and with the athletes of his time. But bodily exercise does not last, and only does good for a time. Exercise Godliness, and it will follow you into the greater life that comes after death." His Lordship remarked that God made both the body and soul, and development was as necessary for one as for the other. As the body is being sustained by being constantly fed, so is the soul. The soul must be given righteous food. Temptation often assails one, and especially those who have just lately given themselves to Christ, will be affronted by the tempter. "Do not be discouraged. It is a test given to us, and intended for our good." In praying, His Lordship warned the congregation against making their devotions lip services. Assume an attitude of lowly reverence, and with faith look to your Saviour, who alone can help you. Exercise Godliness, and there will be a marked change in your features. Your friends will know you belong to Jesus, and you will be the means of influencing others in doing that which is right."

Miss Ruth Dawson sang a confirmation hymn, while the congregation knelt in prayer.

On Sunday morning next the newly confirmed will receive their first Communion at 8 o'clock.

Two Contractors Failed To Clean the Sidewalks

One Had no Horse and the Other Thought He Should Not Turn Out Until Storm Was Over—Misunderstanding Regarding City's Portion.

There was considerable complaint in the city yesterday and this morning regarding the snow plows not being at work in certain sections. Some streets were not touched at all, and as a result great inconvenience was caused the people residing on them.

As soon as the state of affairs became known this morning, the Mayor and Ald. Johnston started out on an expedition to ascertain the cause of the trouble, and succeeded in finding out what was wrong. It was found that one of the men to whom a contract had been let, had no horse of his own, depending upon a rented animal to do the work. This time he couldn't secure the horse and his share of the snow plowing was not done. Another of the contractors asked the Mayor if he was supposed to turn out before the storm was over and seemed surprised when told that he certainly had to. Both the above men are new contractors in the snow plowing line, and it is likely that the man who has no horse will have the contract taken away from him, but the other man apparently neglected his work through ignorance, and he will be given another chance.

As regards the central section of the city, where the plowing is done by the civic employees at the Fire hall, it appears that there has been a misunderstanding between the Board of Works and the fire department. However, it has been straightened out, and there will not likely be any trouble in future.

Sleighriding on the Sidewalks

Will Not be Allowed—Chief Roszel Issues Instructions

The boys and girls must not coast on the sidewalks of the city, said Chief Rossel this morning. Everyone that is caught sleighriding on walks will have the pleasure of appearing before the magistrate. Citizens have been complaining of the slippery conditions of the sidewalks, rendered so by the boys coasting. Chief Rossel intends to enforce the law, and a word to the wise is sufficient. The boys and girls must not sleighride on the sidewalk.

PETERBOROGH CLUB'S DANCE

The annual dance of the Peterborough Club will be held at the Conservatory of Music hall on Thursday, December 26th. The affair will be a brilliant function.

Enjoyed Tea at St. John's Church

100 Men Gathered as Guests of Brotherhood of St. Andrew

About 100 men gathered in St. John's school from 5 to 7 o'clock last night, many of them being out of work men, and sat down to a substantial tea catered for by Coleman Bros. The funds were again provided by kindly members of the congregation, thus showing a deep interest in this particular work. Bishop Reeve received a hearty welcome, and gave a most interesting address. After relating some of his adventures and trials the Bishop urged those present to work on and not be discouraged, even if the outlook was dark. He gave the men a motto for the year. "Watch ye! Quit you like men, be strong."

Mr. D. Hughes-Charles presided and some of the men present gave their opinions on the situation, specially with regard to the conditions of labor.

Rev. Canon Davidson spoke encouragingly and said that while much was being done to procure work for men, Many cases were known of men who wanted work, but not charity, and it was very hard not to be able to get it for them.

Mr. Jay, Mr. R. J. Devey, Mr. Lumly, Mr. Brettie, Mr. Goddacre, Mr. Chandler and others gave short addresses, and most of the men attended evensong in St. John's at seven p.m.

HAS BEEN ON EXPEDITIONS WITH PEARY

Mr. Ralph Gordon of San Antonio, Texas in City To-day

Mr. Ralph Gordon, of San Antonio, Texas, is an interesting visitor in the city to-day and is staying at the White House. He is passing through the city from New York on a private detective case, the particulars of which he will naturally not divulge. He was connected with Capt. Peary in his last polar expedition and is thoroughly acquainted with the regions of the Eskimos and the polar bear. Mr. Gordon, who is of quite a distinguished appearance is somewhat reserved in discussing anything referring to his trip to the frigid north, but said he had had some thrilling experiences on land and water as well as in mid air during balloon trips.

Mr. Gordon is a strapping young man who appears to be about twenty-nine years of age and looks from his appearance to be capable of standing almost any amount of hardship. He leaves the city on the 4.48 C.P.R. for Toontro.

Two Important Matters Come up

At To-night's Meeting of the City Council—Will Likely be Last Session

The City Council will meet to-night, likely for the last time this season. The aldermen will first meet in committee of the whole and afterwards in regular session. Two of the matters to come up in committee are the public library question and the proposition to grant fixed assessment to a number of local industries. The Fire, Water and Light committee will meet at 7.30 to finish their report.

Successful Sale Held at St. John's

A most successful sale of work and tea was held by St. John's church Junior Auxiliary on Saturday afternoon in the school house. About $26 was realized from the sale of work. The tea table was presided over by Misses Dean, Wilson and Fair. Bishop and Mrs. Reeve were in attendance, and the former gave a short address to the children. Mrs W. R. Morris is president of the Junior Auxiliary. The sale and tea were a decided success.

AMUSEMENTS

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

Mr. J. Guerin, of Marks Bros., spent Sunday in the city and will re-join his company at Chatham. He is looking well and says he thoroughly enjoys the show business.

"No Mother to Guide Her," appears in Brockville at an early date. It is to be hoped that some good soul will guide her past Peterborough.

To Shovel Car of Coal in Half Day

Local Business Man Agrees to do it at Rate of 25c per Ton

For the past week the railbirds at the police court have been cheated out of their regular morning's entertainment, owing to the fact that the police court room has been undergoing artistic modifications with Mr. C. A. Londerville, the well known local painter, wielding the brush. He has touched up the room from dome to prisoner's box, in a very thorough and workmanlike manner, and in its present bright garb it will be quite dazzling to a prisoner after a night in a dark and sombre cell.

As the floor has been given a coat of floor finish, it is not likely court will be held in the room until a perfectly dried.

ESTABLISHED 1873

WE WANT TO MAKE THIS A RECORD DECEMBER

This is the 35th Anniversary of the City Clothing Store and we want our customers and we want the public to join us in making this December the "best ever." To accomplish this we have Reduced everything in the store in price until New Year's. Every Customer gets a benefit :—

Good Tweed Working Overcoats	5.00 to 6.00
Fine Winter Overcoats	7.00 to 8.50
Melton and Beaver Overcoats	Special at 10 00 to 15.00
Heavy Tweed Suits	4.50 to 7.00
Scotch Tweed and Worsted Suits	8.00 to 12.00
Fine Black Worsted Suits	10.00 to 15.00
Fine Worsted or Tweed Pants	2.50, 3.00, 4.00
Good Heavy Wool Working Pants	1.00, 1.50, 2.00
Boys' Cosy Winter Overcoats	3.00 to 4.50
Boys' Storm Proof Overcoats	4.00 to 6.50
Boys' 3-piece Suits	2.50 to 4.50
Boys' 2-piece Suits	1.50 to 2.50
Scotch Shetland Wool Underwear, reg. 75c	.50
Elastic Ribbed Underwear, Utica Brand, fleecelined, reg. 90c for 65 or for the Suit	1.25
Heavy Wool Ribbed Shirt and drawers, regular 60c for	45
Fleece lined	45, 50
Very fine qualities of Scotch Wolsley and Natural Wool Underwear, up to	2.50

ORDERED WORK—If you need an Overcoat or Suit made to order before New Year's, you can't find a choicer selection of cloth to pick from. Best of work and satisfaction.

H. LeBrun & Co.

Two Entrances George and Hunter Sts.

Ladies' Hand Bags and Purses

Just the thing for Useful and Beautiful Gift now on display at the store that gives the largest choice, the best leathers and closest prices.

Ladies' and Gentlemen's TRAVELLING SATCHELS and TRUNKS of all kinds, in the largest selection in the city.

B. SHORTLY SIGN OF THE BIG HORSE AT THE DOOR

TELEPHONE No. 319

STOCK MARKET QUOTATIONS

Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

	Opening	Closing
Amal. Copper	45⅞	43⅝
Atchison	70⅛	69⅞
B. R. T.	38⅛	38¼
Can. Pacific x div.	149⅛	148⅛
Erie	15⅞	15⅛
Louis. & Nash.	90	89⅛
Mo. Pac.	49¼	49¼
N. Y. Central	93¼	93¼
Penna	111⅞	111⅝
Rock Island	14⅞	14⅛
Reading	90⅛	89⅞
Smelters	69⅞	68⅞
Sugar	94⅞	95⅝
St. Paul	102	101
So. Pac.	71⅛	71⅛
Union Pac. x-div. 2½	114⅞	114⅛
U. S. Steel	25⅝	25¼
do. pfd.	83⅞	86⅝
Twin City	81⅛	81⅛
McKay	00	52
Nipissing	6¼	6⅛
Wheat	103⅛	102⅝
Corn	57⅞	57⅞
May Oats	54	54⅛
Pork.	13.05	13 20

Port Hope votes January 5th on a bylaw raising $7,400 for the construction of an electric light plant.

Xmas Drawing Near

You have only a few days to consider where to place your order for Brandies, Scotch, Irish and all kinds of Wines, Ales, etc.

Don't hesitate a moment but come direct to Mitchell's, 141 Hunter St. where you will get nothing but pure whiskey, (not Otonabee water.) Don't forget to ask for Mitchell's Special Rye Whiskey, the only reliable draught goods sold.

Sweet Cider for sale.

Leave your order early.

F. J. R. MITCHELL

141 Hunter St. -- Phone 300

WE WISH YOU
A Merry Xmas

We point with pride to our selections of Men's Furnishings for the Holiday trade. We've

Exclusive and Elegant Neckwear
Best Makes of Gloves
Perfection in Shirts and Collars
Best Brands of Underwear
Choice Hosiery, Mufflers
Night Robes, Umbrellas
House Coats, Fancy Braces, Etc.

If you're still undecided just what to buy him for Christmas, we'll take pleasure in showing you a host of things he would be delighted to have.

LANG & MAHER

CLOTHIERS AND FURNISHERS TO MEN WHO KNOW

409 411 George Street Peterborough

THE PRICE CUTTER HAS ATTACKED HATS

HALF PRICE IN HAT PRICES

If you need a hat, get it now. Sweeping price reductions among our choice display of becoming and pattern hats. No restrictions. Everyone of our fashionable head pieces has been visited by the Price Cutter and has suffered accordingly. Come—GET YOURS. Any sort of a fashionable hat you want is here at

HALF PRICE

Our Hats aren't ordinary hats, and this isn't an ordinary sale. Just the Swellest, Prettiest, Nicest Hats you ever saw priced at half regular. They won't last long. Hats with such dash, ginger and exclusiveness, priced like these are will sell at a merry rate. You'll have to hurry to get THE ONE you want. SALE BEGINS TOMORROW

TUESDAY AT 8:30 A. M.

RICHARD HALL & SON, LIMITED

353 AND 355 GEORGE STREET, PETERBOROUGH

STORE OPENS AT 8 A.M. CLOSES AT 6 P.M., EXCEPT SATURDAY

FOR FINE

Lemons, Oranges
Malaga Grapes
Bananas

and all kinds of fruit and vegetables try

MINOCOLO BROS.

Wholesale and Retail.
Both Phones 337.

FAMILY RE-UNIONS AT CHRISTMAS

The opportunity to have a complete group taken may not occur again. Appointments at

THE ROY STUDIO

BROCK ST. RINK

SEASON 1907-8

Tickets for the season entitling the holder to all skating privileges, now on sale at the Examiner Office, Peterborough Bookstore, Sanderson & Co., F. A. Clarke's, Best Hardware Co., the Secretary, C. G. Graham, at the Oriental Hotel.

Gentlemen . .	3.00
Ladies	2.00
Youths, 16 to 18	2.00
Boys under 16 .	1.50
Girls	1.50

Nothing makes a better Christmas gift for your boy or girl than a Season Ticket for the Brock Street Rink.

THE CITY AND VICINITY

EVENTS TO-NIGHT

City Council meeting.

I.O.O.F. hall,—Past Grands' night and 25th anniversary.

Mark-st. church,—Reception to men of congregation.

City churches—Young People's meetings.

FLOWERS GALORE.

Great assortment of Xmas Flowers at Mason's, the Florist, 406 1-2 George street. 3d

RURAL SCHOOLS.

The rural schools will close for the Christmas holidays on Friday of this week. They will open on Monday, January 6th.

WILL GIVE CHRISTMAS TREE.

The Ladies Aid of Mark St. church will give the Sunday School scholars a Christmas tree and entertainment on Christmas Day.

FUR LINED COATS

We clean and press them and guarantee no injury to the fur. My Valet, 204 Charlotte street. All goods called for and delivered. dtf

MAKE CALENDARS.

Why not make calendars? They are pretty cheap and always acceptable. We have pictures in sepia and colors, fancy embossed cards and dainty calendar pads in many designs. See them at the Review office. 3d

A GOOD SERVANT.

The Review Want Ad. column solves the problem of how to recover lost articles, get a tenant for a house, secure a servant or help of any kind, obtain roomers or boarders, sell surplus articles around the home, or find something you want to buy. Try it, the cost is low.

BUTTER FROM WHEY

At the Willow cheese factory, near Brockville, owned by Mr. Jas. Bissel, the sum of $1,500 was realized this season from the make of butter obtained from whey. That it was of good quality is shown by the fact that at several fairs it was placed in competition with creamery butter and was given first prize over all other butter exhibits. The judge was Prof. Publow, who did not know that the butter was made from whey.

SWETE MUSIC FOR XMAS

Thousands of mouthorgans to choose from, at the old reliable store. Peterborough Music Co., 404 George street. 3d

CHARLOTTE ST. W.M.A.

The Woman's Missionary Auxiliary of Charlotte Street Methodist church will hold their regular monthly meeting tomorrow (Tuesday) at 3 o'clock p.m.

ALL SHEET MUSIC

At prices never known before, either single or in lots of $1.00. Visit our sale and see our excellent offering. J. M. GREENE MUSIC CO., Grand Opera House Building.

AT MARK STREET.

This (Monday) evening at 8 o'clock there will be a social evening for the men and older boys of Mark St. Methodist church. Luncheon will be served at 9 o'clock. It is expected there will be a large attendance.

LEAVE ORDERS EARLY.

Oh, my! it would be so nice if customers would leave their orders early for Xmas flowers and plants at Mason's the Florist, 406 1-2 George-st. 3d

MARK ST. SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Mark Street Sunday school children are practising for their annual Christmas tree and entertainment, consisting of recitations, drills and singing. The programme will be given in the town hall, East City, on Christmas night.

CHRISTMAS MUSIC.

A full choral practice of the children was held in St. Andrew's church yesterday afternoon after the Sunday school. On Thursday evening there will be another rehearsal of Christmas music, the children meeting at 7.15 o'clock and the choir at 8 o'clock.

DON'T WANT TO GO.

An old man, who has no means of support, except a small pittance he gets here and there, objects to going to jail for the winter, and gives a good excuse. He has been working for a local gentleman lately, eating much and sawing little. "I don't want to go to gaol for the winter," he said, "as they have many cords of hardwood there—very hard," he added.

A ROLL OF MUSIC

Of new song hits makes a nice neat gift for Xmas. Until Jan. 1st we are selling the newest publications at greatly reduced prices. Ask to see our $6 for $1.00 lot. J. M. GREENE MUSIC CO., Grand Opera House Building.

CHORAL PRACTICE.

There will be no practice of the choral work Stainer's "Daughter of Jairus," on Tuesday of this week on account of the performance of the Eckhardt Family Swiss Bell Ringers in the Conservatory Music hall at 8 o'clock. The next practice will be on Thursday in St. John's school at 9 o'clock.

A CAPITAL CHRISTMAS GIFT.

The head of the family could not do better in the way of Christmas gifts than to present to his excellent wife one of the "Automatic Electric Irons," made by the Collier-Cunningham Company of this city. These irons are a great boon to the housewife. For a good practical Christmas gift, buy one of them.

ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of St. Andrew's church, will be held in the lecture hall to-morrow afternoon at three o'clock. The annual statement will be given and officers for the ensuing year will be elected. The Rev. H. J. Keith, M.A., B.D., of Knox church, who spent some years in India, will give the annual address. All the women of the congregation are urgently invited to be present.

A GOOD MEETING.

On Thursday evening, in the Y.M.C.A. hall, a special meeting of the Royal Templars of Temperance was held, for the purpose of initiating a number of new members. Brother Richmond occupied the chair, and Bro. Allin, of Toronto, who for the past week has been working in this city in the interests of the local society, performed the initiation ceremonies. Rev. C. H. Coon was present, and delivered a much appreciated address. Miss Bell contributed to the evening's enjoyment by giving a well rendered piano solo, and there were also a number of speeches by members. It was decided not to hold any meetings of the society until after the new year, so that the next regular gathering of the members will take place on the second Tuesday of January, 1908.

PERSONAL

Mr. Carl Cecil Forsyth, of Lindsay, was in the city today.

Mrs. W. H. Denham will not receive again until February.

Mr. C. L. Owen, M.P., of Campbellford, was in the city today.

Mr. A. St. A. Smith, manager of the Bank of Toronto, Keene, spent Sunday in the city.

The marriage of Miss Ethel Acheson, of Goderich, to Mr. R. N. Merritt, of Peterborough, has been arranged to take place on New Year's day.—Toronto Globe.

Mr. W. R. Norris left for Toronto where he will sing this week. He will return on Saturday evening, and will contribute solos at the Charlotte street services on Sunday next.

Mr. John Laing, who has been purser on the steamer Wahcondah, plying between Montreal and Fort William and Duluth, has returned to the city to spend a few weeks.

Mrs. Lionel King, of Toronto, attended the confirmation service at St. John's church yesterday, her son who is attending the Grove School at Lakefield, being one of the candidates.

Lindsay Post:—Mr. Wm. Galbraith, of Peterborough, was in town yesterday......Mr. L. Sherwood, Peterborough, was a business visitor yesterday......borough, was among those in town yesterday......Mr. J. McLaughlin, of Peterborough, is visiting his sister, Mrs. Halpin, town.

SANTA CLAUS at ROUTLEY'S

Santa has paid many visits to his old established Headquarters. Our 2nd floor is heavier stocked with every imaginable Toy or Gift for the little tots than ever was known in the city.

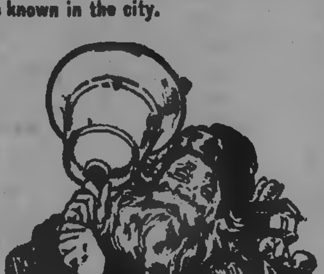
Dolls, Cradles, Hose Carts, Toy Beds, Games all kinds, Toy Carriages, Sleighs, Toy Tea Sets, Whips, Toy Wash Sets. Toy Books; Sleeping, Walking, Kid and Jointed Dolls; Building Blocks, Noah's Arks, Bugles, Drums, Reins, Mechanical Toys, Magic Lanterns, Steam Engines, Banks, Trains.

CHINA SECTION

Bread and Butter Plates, China Cups and Saucers, Jardinieres, Vases, Salad Bowls, Brush Trays, Biscuit Jars' Jelly Pots, China Tea Sets, Fancy Jugs in Sets, Dinner Sets, Chamber Sets, all the newest in natty pieces suitable for presents.

MAIN FLOOR

Manicure Sets, Brush and Comb Sets, Military Sets, Padded Poets, Catholic Prayer Books, English Church Prayer Books, Hymn Books, Bibles, Work Boxes, Collar Boxes, Glove and Handkerchief Sets, Leather Writing Cases and Desks, Music Rolls, Pocket Books, Hand Bags.



As usual we will not allow those not strictly in the fancy goods or stationery lines to compete in any way. Stick to the place that has served you well, there are none who can head us off at our own old game

TORONTO
262-4 QUEEN W

ROUTLEY'S

PETERBORO'
379 GEORGE ST

MERMAIDS OF LEGEND

Sea Women That Were Vouched For by Ancient Writers.

ORIGIN OF THE DELUSION.

These Traditional Creatures Were Probably Dugongs and Manatees. Seal Maidens of Fable—Mermaids of Fiction and the Seal of Fact.

There is a decided fascination about the mermaids of legend. Considering their traditional form, it does not seem quite certain whether they can be included among the fair "humanities" of old religion, but it would be extremely interesting to see one. In all seriousness the truths and poetry underlying and inherent in the old myths are well worth attention, but apart from these there is something distinctly entertaining in the quasi-historical accounts that we have of mermaids and the heroic attempts at rationalistic explanation. The fancy has taken firmer hold on popular imagination than many of the old legends. Of course they are recognized as nonexistent; but, unlike the majority of mythological beings, they are invested colloquially with a sort of humorous reality.

A "History of the Netherlands" gives a circumstantial account of a great tempest which washed ashore near Haarlem a "sea woman" as she was swimming about. She was captured and cleansed from the "sea moss that had grown about her" and became a humanized creature, except that she was always trying to escape into the water. And it is added, "Many persons worthy of credit have justified in their writings that they had seene her in the said towne of Haarlem." In the sixteenth century off Ceylon some sailors captured "seven mermen and mermaids," several priests and physicians testifying to the fact and the latter leaving it on record that after examination and dissection they found the external and internal structures resembled those of human beings. Hudson, the famous navigator, declared that his ship's company had seen a mermaid, the upper part of her body like a woman, skin very white and long black hair. An old Iceland history tells of one near Greenland, "the neck and head in all respects like a human being." The Norwegian Bishop Pontoppidan, who wrote in the eighteenth century, "records the appearance of a mermaid which was deposed to on oath by the observers." And not to multiply quotations proving the belief even of the learned in the actual existence of the mermaids, Pliny asserts authoritatively that "as for the meremaidens it is no fabulous tale that goeth of them, for looke how painters draw them, so thay are indeed."

It seems hard after all these weighty testimonies that we should be assured that the "historical" mermaids were only dugongs or manatees, seals or sea lions, especially as some of these interesting creatures measure some eighteen feet in length and are by no means attractive in appearance. Something in the shape of the head and the breast is relied on by the rationalistic scientists as explaining the delusion, but one is at a loss to understand how this can account for the circumstantial descriptions that have come down to us. Coevals of those old writers have proved to us by their paintings that they held very much the same views as to what constitutes feminine beauty as we have, and we should certainly not discover in the dugong or manatee anything whatever to suggest in the very faintest degree the idea of a pretty woman. Yet there is generally the implication of comeliness in the verbal pictures the old writers give of their mermaids, though Columbus, who reported that he had seen two or three, admitted that he saw no beauty in them. The seal explanation perhaps does the least violence to one's traditional ideas, as, whatever may be thought of its resemblance to a woman, it is in itself graceful and its face and eyes are pleasing.

There is, at any rate, a rather suggestive coincidence in the view that the mermaid of fiction is the seal of fact, for closely allied if not identical with mermaids were the "seal maidens" of a thousand fables. The accepted tradition was that these maidens assumed the form of seals, which they could relinquish at any moment by divesting themselves of the sealskins. Only if while they were disporting themselves in quasi human guise their seal integuments were stolen or hidden they would have to remain as "maidens" and could not resume the form of seals. We know on the authority of many a song and legend that willingly or unwillingly a man has been "married to a mermaid

At the bottom of the deep blue sea," but in the case of the fortunate purloiner of a seal maiden's "troublesome disguise" there was no need for a submarine descent. She could quite comfortably live on land and, indeed, had to unless she found her sealskin again, though always longing, like the mermaid of Haarlem, to become a sea dweller once more. There is therefore unquestionably a certain poetic propriety in the scientific identification of the mermaid with the seal.—London Globe.

Renunciation.

"I have always been a good friend to you, Mrs. Jinx," said Mrs. Lapsing, with blazing eyes, as she rose to go, "but I am a friend no longer. You have talked about my husband. Right here is where our paths divulge. Good afternoon."

Dredges Excelsior and Monarch completed their work at Victoria Harbor on Dec. 1st.

THE BEEHIVE

The Ladies' Big Ready-to-wear Store

You Can Always Get The Most Satisfying Christmas Box AT THE BEEHIVE

The Ladies' Big Ready-to Wear Store

"It's Confidence That Does It"

WHITE & GILLESPIE

TO HOUSEKEEPERS:

Another Christmas will soon be here We can assure Housekeepers of both city and country that we are now ready to provide them with an abundance of the good things necessary for Christmas baking and cooking at enticing prices.

NEW FRUITS

Raisins, Currants, Figs, Prunes, Dates, Candied Peel, Extracts, Syrups, Molasses, Shelled Walnuts and Almonds, Sauces, Pickles, Spices, Sugars, Teas, Coffees, Flour, Biscuits, Cheese, Prime Butter, Fresh Eggs, Breakfast Cereals, etc.

336 GEORGE ST. Phone 208

GET YOUR HOLIDAY PHOTOS
— AT —
LENDRUM'S

They are the best and most up-to-date
170 Charlotte Streht

MADE LIKE NEW

Chenille and Tapestry Curtains and Table Covers Cleaned and Dyed Like New

For genuine satisfaction and saving the purchase of new curtains, bring your old ones to us or telephone us and we will call for them.

Sponging and pressing made a special part of our business.

PARKER'S DYE WORKS
R. M. BEACH,
Phone 250 Proprietor

LADIES, CUT THIS OUT

Dr. Cristion's

FRENCH TOILET ARTICLES

Have been placed on sale with

Miss E. Smith

567 GEORGE STREET

MANICURING, SHAMPOOING
SCALP TREATMENT and FACIAL
MASSAGE SKILFULLY DONE

Appointments made. Mach. Phone 13

Second Hand Stove Bargains
—AT—
BARRETT'S

Why pay $30 for a Heater or $40 for a Range when you can buy either for $5 to $15 at Barrett's Second Hand Store.

187 Simcoe St. next Cavanagh's

ESTABLISHED 1879

J. R. HEINTZ & CO.

STOCKS, GRAIN,
COTTON, COFFEE

J. N. BARBER, Manager

Phone 529

THE
DOMINION BANK

PAYS SPECIAL ATTENTION TO

SAVINGS ACCOUNTS

INTEREST PAID QUARTERLY

JOHN CRANE Manager

Corner George and Simcoe Sts.

SODEN'S BOOKSTORE 369 GEORGE-ST.

THE BEST CHRISTMAS STORE

Christmas is almost here. Have you bought your Christmas Presents? If not begin at once by going to Soden's. The Stock at this Store is the newest and best selected in its line in Peterborough, comprising

Books, Stationery, Pictures, Fancy Goods Leather Goods, China, Toys and Games

BOOKS

All the latest and best fiction, beautifully bound, cloth bound and padded poets, children's picture and story books. All the newest and most up-to-date gift books, ranging in prices from 10c to $3.00 each.

STATIONERY

All the best makes and designs from leading American and Canadian manufacturers—See our special Papeteries, Calendars, Christmas Cards.

PICTURES

Don't fail to inspect this stock. We are the largest importers of High Class Pictures between Toronto and Montreal. We frame on the ground and on short notice Our prices in this, as in all other lines, are RIGHT.

LEATHER GOODS

Fancy goods and China—We import direct from the factories. Our designs are the newest, our qualities the best to be had in the world's markets.

OUR PRICES are as low as you can buy inferior Goods for elsewhere, and quality considered are LOWER than any others in Peterborough. Come, see for yourself, and be satisfied.

SPECIAL PRICES ON BOOKS FOR SUNDAY SCHOOLS

SODEN'S BOOKSTORE 369 GEORGE-ST.

THE BANK'S SKATE STORE

Stock The

LUNN'S
AUTOMOBILE
CYCLE
ENGEL'S
STARR
REGAL
MIC-MAC
SKATES

Come to us for your Skates and Skate Supplies

Banks Bicycle and Sporting Goods Co.

Under the Market Clock

DOLLAR'S WORTH OF SANDWICHES

The Shock Was too Great and Actor Lost His Appetite

Has the average actor an abnormal appetite? A young fellow who filled the hustle order of one of the members of "Hooligan in New York" Co., on Saturday night would apparently answer the above question with a "Yes." After the show was over the actor in question retired to his room at one of the local hotels and gave his order for a few sandwiches accompanying it with a dollar bill. When the messenger came back he brought with him a dollar's worth of sandwiches, enough to feed an entire theatrical troupe. The man for whom they were intended was so astounded at the big supply of rations that, to use his own expression, "he lost his appetite."

SUBSCRIBERS PLEASE NOTICE

Readers, whose street number has been lately changed, will confer a favor if they will notify this office so that the correction can also be made on our list. tf

TO CONNECT BELLEVILLE AND TWEED

Reported That C.P.R. are Working This Direction

Tweed, Dec. 14.—Rather persistent rumors have for some time been circulated to the effect that the C.P.R. has been trying to connect Belleville with its main line. This week we have more definite surmises from both Kingston and Belleville. The Kingston story is that the C.P.R. has secured options on the Rathbun railways. The Thousand Island line running from Gananoque to the G.T.R. Junction and on the Napanee, Tamworth and Quebec railroad, running from Kingston and Deseronto to Tweed.

Along this line the Belleville Ontario says;

"The Onario has been informed, on what it believes to be reliable authority, that the C.P.R. have purchased the Napanee, Tamworth and Quebec Railway, which runs between Deseronto and Tweed, and will extend the line from Deseronto to Belleville.

This is very good news indeed, as Belleville will thus, although in a round-about way, secure connection with Tweed, and the main line of the C.P.R."

EXTENSION OF TIME IS MADE

Recent Militia Order That Will be of Local Interest

The following excerpt from a recent militia order will be of interest to local military men:

Whereas we deem it expedient to extend the period within which the death of an officer or soldier from wounds or injuries received in the performance of military duty, or from disease contracted or commencing while on active service, must occur in order that his widow, children, or other dependent relatives may be eligible for pension or compassionate allowances;

Our will and pleasure is that the period laid down in our warrant of the 30th August, 1907, shall be extended from 2 years to 7 years, and that our said warrant be amended accordingly, and be held to apply to all cases where such wounds or injuries were received, or such disease was contracted or commenced, on or after the 11th October, 1899, but no award of pension or allowance made in pursuance thereof shall have effect from a date earlier than the 1st October, 1907.

Given at our Court, at Balmoral, this 5th day of October, 1907, in the 7th year of our reign.

By His Majesty's command.

(Sgd) R. B. HALDANE.

In connection with the investigation of any fresh claims to pensions which may arise under the amended rule as set forth in the Royal Warrant quoted above, a continuous history sheet of disease clearly connecting the officer or man's death with the war services must be submitted. (H.Q. 49—6.)

SHOT AN OWL MEASURING FORTY INCHES

Mr. Wm. Hunter, who resides in Douro, brought to the city on Saturday a large owl which he prizes very highly. It measured fully forty-two inches and was a beautiful golden color. Mr. Hunter shot it in an apple tree in his orchard a few nights ago. He took it up to Mr. Bloome, the taxidermist and will have it mounted. Mr. Hunter says that he has never before seen one as large or pretty and thinks such fine birds are rare around here.

TELL YOU HOW

Directions to Prepare Simple, Yet Remarkable, Home Mixture,

A well-known authority on Rheumatism gives the following valuable, yet simple and harmless prescription, which any one can easily prepare at home:

Fluid Extract of Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces.

Mix by shaking well in a bottle, and take a teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime.

He states that the ingredients can be obtained from any good prescription pharmacy at small cost, and being of vegetable extraction, are harmless to take.

This pleasant mixture, if taken regularly for a few days, is said to overcome almost any case of Rheumatism. The pain and swelling, if any, diminishes with each dose, until permanent results are obtained, and without injuring the stomach. While there are many so-called Rheumatism remedies, patent medicines, etc., some of which do give relief, few really give permanent results, and the above will, no doubt, be greatly appreciated by many sufferers here at this time.

Big catches of herring are reported from Port Burrell.

Mr. Manning on "The Mission of Life"

Helpful Address Delivered at Y.M.C.A. on Sunday Afternoon

The meeting at the Y.M.C.A. yesterday afternoon for men and older boys was very interesting and helpful. Rev. H. M. Manning spoke on "The Mission of Life" in a strong, helpful address, showing that life was a divine mission, and to make the best of that life we must have our souls in closer touch with God and our minds ruled by Him. Solos Mr. D. Campbell and Mr. J. Harry Shriver, of Toronto, were much appreciated and excellently rendered.

The song service at night in the parlor was largely attended and greatly enjoyed. This meeting is growing in favor, and will no doubt be even more largely attended in the future.

To-night at 6.30, the Intermediate Bible Study Club hold their weekly tea and Bible study class. Dr. J.E. Middleton is the leader of the class.

SOCIAL EVENING.

Tomorrow night the intermediates hold a social evening in the rooms downstairs, under Mr. C. E. Bisson's supervision. Plans will be discussed for work this winter, and ways and means of making this department more interesting to employed boys.

The membership committee, composed of Messrs. Wm. McLaren, Gordon Carter, Percy Redgrave, P. A. Little, H. Cooke, G. A. Hamlin, R. Baker and Rev. Wm. Major, will meet at 8 p.m. to-morrow, and the decorating committee, composed of Messrs. C. E. Bisson, J. S. Knapman, H. Major, H. Cooke, and B. Huston meet at 7.30 p.m. tomorrow.

A special invitation has been received by the association from the secretary of the Martin road race, St. Catharines, to be held on New Year's Day, to have some of our members compete in this event.

FOR PASSEPARTOUT WORK

The fad for passepartout pictures is again growing a favorite for pretty pictures and are always appreciated. One can always find room for a couple more on the walls and every one has their favorite subject, some like scenery, others historical subjects, many like kittens and one boy in the city has the walls of his bedroom fairly covered with pictures of dogs—small and large. When mounted on a suitable background and passepartouted they are very pretty and inexpensive to make up. The Review has a large stock of pictures in sepia and colors, mounting papers and passepartout to match. Call and see them at the REVIEW Office, Hunter street. 6d

WEDDING BELLS

WEBB—ENNIS

The marriage of Miss Gertrude M. Ennis and Mr. W. A. F. Webb, of Toronto Junction, was to have taken place at Norwood, but owing to serious illness in the family was solemnized very quietly at 2 Law street, Toronto Junction, on Wednesday, Dec. 4th, by the Rev. Dr. G. A. Pigeon, of Victoria Presbyterian church. The bride wearing her travelling suit of navy blue venetian with fawn trimmings and hat to match and over-lace blouse. Miss Lou Scott, of Norwood, as bridesmaid, was gowned in a similar suit, while Mr. Archie Howlette, of 81 Clare avenue, supported the groom.

The groom's gift to the bride was a diamond ring, to the bridesmaid a gold locket with monogram, and to the groomsman a pair of gold cuff links.

After the ceremony the wedding party repaired to 228 Annette street, where a dainty luncheon awaited them, the tables being prettily arranged and decked with pink and white carnations and ferns.

Mr. and Mrs. Webb will reside at 228 Annette street, Toronto Junction.

HOW'S THIS

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligations made by his firm.

WALDING, KINNAN & MARVIN,
Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Testimonials sent free. Price 75 cents per bottle. Sold by all druggists.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

WILL HAVE ESTIMATES PREPARED

The Chemong Indians are dead in earnest after the bridge they want built between the village and the Ennismore shore. A meeting of the council of the village was held on Saturday, and it was decided to have an engineer prepare plans and specifications, and an estimate of what the bridge would cost, in order that the matter may be laid before the Government. Mr R. R. Hall, M.P., and Mr. T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P., will be asked to take this matter up, and it is also expected that the county council will make a grant.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM STREET CAR

"Driver" Writes to the Review Condemning Careless Motormen

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—I think the street car drivers are too careless in handling their cars. This morning about ten o'clock I was driving into the city with a pair of lively young colts, and upon George street near Auburn. The street car was stopped at the railway crossing and I had my team with about half a dozen occupants, about 60 yards away. The car was started again at full speed, and without any doubt, the motorman must have seen my colts frightened, as both of them were jumping and backing up. The colts had backed the sleigh right up near the track when the car went by at full speed. We all thought the car was going at about 20 or 30 miles an hour. If the frightened colts had backed the sleigh 4 or 5 inches nearer the track, it is very likely serious damage would have been done both to the people and horses. There is no reason why the motormen of Peterborough should not always have their cars in full control, to stop the cars when they see a frightened team, or any object in front of them. I think the car that frightened my team this morning was No. 7, Auburn.

Yours, etc.,

DRIVER.

Christmas Party at Y. W. C. A.

Good Programme Will be Rendered To-morrow Evening

There will be a Christmas party in the Y.W.C.A. rooms to-morrow, Tuesday, Dec. 17th, to which all young women are invited and are requested to bring with them a small 5c gift suitable for children. 8 to 10 o'clock. Admission free.

The programme is as follows:

Christmas Carol—Audience.
Wand drill Christmas song.—Intermediate class.
Violin solo.—Miss E. Palmer.
Piano solo.—Miss E. Jay.
Christmas reading.
Tableaux.—Sheriff Hall's class.
Bandaging contest.—Dr. Greer's class.
Christmas games, fish pond,
Refreshments.

Owen Sound wants the Underwriters to put the town in class A., thus reducing insurance rates 15 per cent.

The Typos Elect New Officers

At the meeting of Typographical Union, No. 248, on Saturday night, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

Pres.—T. J. Begley, re-elected.
Vice-Pres.—Arthur Rogers.
Rec.-Sec.—G. Hammond
Fin.-Sec.—T. J. Forty, re-elected,
Treas.—W. Peters, re-elected.
Sergt.-at-arms.—G. Paxman
Scribe.—A. Bothwell.
Executive—Officers and Messrs. Slighte, Thompson and Bartlett.
Delegates to Trades and Labor Council.—Messrs. Begley, Paxman and Reid.

The installation will take place at the first meeting in January.

Donations for the Christmas Party

The Children's Aid Society acknowledges with thanks the following donations for the children's Christmas party:—

J. H. Burnham, $2.00
Mrs. Mary Bowman $2.00.
George Webber, $5.00.
J. E. A. Fitzgerald, $5.00,
Geo. Cochrane, $2.00,
St. Luke's Junior W.A., $6.00,

Electric Laundry Will be Started

Two young men in this city intend starting an electric laundry in the near future. All work will be done by electricity, and a splendid plant will be put in.

XMAS GREETING CARDS

Leave your order for Greeting cards now at the Review Office. Still some pretty designs in stock, at most reasonable prices. tf

FOR XMAS WORK OR BAZAARS

Pictures in Sepia or Colors, from 3c to 12c

Mounting Papers and Card, in White, Browns and Gray.

Leather in all shades—Brown, Tan, Green and Red.

Calendar Pads, all sizes, from 2c to 10c each.

Passepartout in all shades.

AT REVIEW STATIONERY DEPT.

LEARN DRESS-MAKING BY MAIL
in your spare time at home, or
Take a Personal Course at School.

To enable all to learn we teach on cash or instalment plan. We also teach a personal class at school once a month. Class commencing last Tuesday of each month. These lessons teaches how to cut, fit and put together any garment from the plainest shirt waist suit, to the most elaborate dress. The whole family can learn from one course. We have taught over seven thousand dress-making, and guarantee to give five hundred dollars to any one that cannot learn between the age of 14 and 40. You cannot learn dress-making as thorough as this course teaches if you work in shops for years. Beware of imitations as we employ no one outside the school. This is the only experienced Dress Cutting School in Canada and excelled by none in any other country. Write at once for particulars, as we have cut our rate one-third for a short time. Address:—

SANDERS' DRESS-CUTTING SCHOOL,
31 Erie St., Stratford, Ont., Canada.

The Daily Review

MONDAY, DEC. 16, 1907.

DON'T DO IT

There is some talk of Peterborough applying to Mr. Andrew Carnegie for a grant for a new library.

There is no doubt that the city needs a well equipped library, but there is no necessity of going to the multi-millionaire, for any favors. It would savor of base ingratitude in the first place, toward the late Mrs. Nicholls, and the trustees of this estate. She left $10,000 as an endowment for the library, and now the trustees have handed over to this city a fine, centrally located library building. It will, of course, require considerable money to place this structure in proper shape, but surely Peterborough, having been helped so materially, is not required to wander outside for assistance. The proposition of asking Mr. Carnegie for a library grant was discussed at a meeting of the Board of Trade a couple of years ago, and was voted down. It was then thought that the matter had received its quietus, but it appears that the scheme is looming up again.

The City of Peterborough should, in view of what has been done for it, by the estate of the late Mrs. Nicholls, do above going to Mr. Carnegie and asking for a library.

Our sense of dignity, independence and public spirit should rebel against such a move. Other places, it is true, have accepted gifts from Mr. Carnegie, but they have not received donations of a building and an endowment fund from a departed citizen, the same as this city has, and to talk of applying to the "steel king" for a grant, to say the least, comes with very bad grace, and constitutes a meagre sense of appreciation for many kindnesses already received.

PEN POINTS

Have you got work in the city stone pile yet?

Most people can stand the snowstorm better than the snow shovelling.

If you have not already done your Christmas shopping—just try to see how long you can put it off.

It looks as if there would be sleighing for Christmas—both on the highway and among the lordly turkeys.

The city council will hold its final meeting for the year this evening. Next, the members will have to meet the electors.

Peterborough loses a good all-round athlete and true sportsman in the departure of Mr. Wm. Crowley for the West. He has long upheld Peterborough's honor in the lacrosse, football and hockey arena.

If the merchants keep the walks in front of their respective places of business bare as the Mayor has ordered, the pavements will be in a more dangerous condition than if an inch or two of snow was left on them.

No Traces of Edward Beaman

On Account of River Being Frozen Over Grappling Has Been Given up

Nothing has yet been heard of Edward Beaman, of Marvern, the C.P.R. pump man, who disappeared a week ago today, and who is believed to have met his death in the River Otonabee. As the river is frozen over, the grappling crews have ceased their work for this year, and if Mr. Beamin should have been drowned, there is apparently no hope of recovering his body until the spring.

Every means possible has been taken to locate the missing man, but enquiries have failed to elicit the slightest information concerning his disappearance. The circumstances, however, which have been cited at some length in the local papers, would seem to indicate that he has [illegible]

Judgment Given in Ennismore Case

Mr. C. O'Connor Fined for Doing Damage to a Culvert

County Magistrate Edmison on Saturday morning delivered judgment in the case of the township of Ennismore, against Cornelius O'Connor, who was charged with damaging a culvert and blocking a stream. A nominal fine of $1 and costs was imposed and the defendant was also ordered to pay $7 for damages done to the culvert. The charge was laid by Reeve S. Killen. R. F. McWilliams for plaintiff, W. H. Moore, for defendant.

OBITUARY

MRS JOHN ALCUUMBRACK

The funeral of the late Mrs. John Alcumbrack, of Lakefield, who passed away on Tuesday last, took place in that village Thursday. The services at the house and grave were conducted by Rev. John Bedford, pastor of the Methodist church, and there was a large attendance.

The late Mrs. Alcumbrack, whose maiden name was Flora Murduff, was born in Belleville, Ont., and was 69 years of Lakefield. She had resided in Lakefield for many years, and always enjoyed good health up to within a few hours of her death, when she was seized with paralysis on both sides of the body, and expired within five hours. Besides her sorrowing husband, two sons and three daughters are left to mourn her death. The sons are Philip, of Bowmanville, and Arthur of Duluth, Minn. The daughters are Mrs. Andrew Dilling, of Bowmanville, Mrs. Edward Cook, of Peterborough, and Mrs. David Little, of Dummer. Five brothers and one sister also survive. The brothers are William Murduff, of Utica, Kansas; Phillip, of Belleville, Ont.; Sylvester, George and John Murduff, of Lakefield. Mrs. Alexander Fairbairn, of Smith township, is a sister.

The death of Mrs. Alcumbrack, who was a lady highly esteemed and much beloved by her many friends, is the first break in the family, all the members of which were in attendance at the last sad rites.

THOS. WILLIAMSON.

The death occurred yesterday morning of Thos. Williamson, at his late residence, 691 Stewart street, after a lingering illness. He was 60 years of age and only had lived in this city a short while.

The funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

Indian Walker in Police Court

Wm. Knockendown Was Drunk in a Public Place

Wm. Knockendown, an Hiawatha Indian, was arrested Saturday evening for being drunk in a public place. He appeared before His Worship Magistrate Dumble this morning and on promising to leave at once for Rice Lake, was allowed to go. Knockendown is the redman who challenged Peterborough's pedestrian, a few weeks ago to a walking match. He told His Worship that he intended to walk all the way home and he evidently must be a walker of some endurance.

A CHARGE OF NON-SUPPORT

Mrs. Edith Phillips, Norwood, has laid an information against her husband, Alonzo Phillips, charging him with non-support. The case comes up before County Police Magistrate Edmison in Norwood, on Wednesday. As there are two children in the family, who it is alleged are not receiving proper attention, Mr. Goodwill, solicitor for the Children's Aid Society, will probably accompany the Magistrate and investigate the matter with regard to the children.

STEAMSHIP MOVEMENTS

Montreal, Dec. 16—Empress of Britain sailed from Halifax at 1 a.m. on Sunday, with 1669 passengers. Of this number 477 were second class.

AMUSEMENTS

HOOLIGAN IN NEW YORK.

To one who is a devotee of the high drama or brilliant comedy, "Hooligan at New York," which appeared at the Grand on Saturday, matinee and night, would fail to arouse any great enthusiasm. To those who enjoy an ordinary show at an ordinary price, however, it afforded good entertainment. At both performances the audience greeted the play well and it seemed to please the large majority of those in attendance.

ATHLETIC PHOTOS

The Rugby team was photographed Roy's on Saturday afternoon, and the Tigers, city basketball champions, had their picture taken at Mendel's.

MEETING OF THE DIRECTORS

The directors of the Port Hope Brewing and Malting Company will hold their regular monthly meeting at the offices of the company, in Port Hope, on Wednesday, Jan. 18th.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY
Take LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine Tablets. Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c

Collingwood public schools carry 1,065 pupils on the roll. Average attendance 949.

"Blind Pig" or Decent Bar?

Under license, men drink moderately, and are restricted to good behavior. No Ontario licensed bartender dare sell to a drunken man, nor to a minor—his very living depends upon the decency of his bar.

Under local option, men drink by stealth and to excess—because there is no restraint. Local option substitutes the "blind pig" for the decent bar, and the seller welcomes minors.

Local option hurts the community that tries it. Owen Sound proves that.

207

In every community where local option has been tried, drunkenness has increased. In one Ontario town arrests for drunkenness have increased 80 per cent. under local option.

Naturally. For when men drink by stealth, hidden from the eyes of their community, they drink far more than they would (or would be allowed to) under license. Their self-respect, and the law, keeps them straight. Local option hides and increases intemperance—never checks it.

Local Option Makes Drunkards

208

Early Sunday Morning Fire Destroys Large Building

Dozen Buildings Badly Scorched by Big Fire in Toronto.

Whole Place Ablaze Before Outbreak Was Discovered—Total Loss About $175,000—Planing Mill Also Totally Destroyed—Three Smaller Fires—Many People Thrown Out of Employment—Loss Partly Covered.

Toronto, Dec. 16.—Fire, which had possession of the whole building and was bursting through the roof before an alarm was sent in, early Sunday morning, totally destroyed the Elliott Paper Box Manufacturing Co., 229 to 235 Richmond street, at a loss estimated at $150,000, covered by insurance up to $121,000.

Surrounding property also suffered to the extent of $16,900.

One hundred and ninety people are thrown out of employment.

The factory was a three-storey building, with a frontage of about 75 feet on Richmond street and the same on Nelson street, to which it extended back. With few partitions, and with most inflammable contents, the building was a roaring furnace. The caretaker of the St. Andrew's Institute, adjoining on Nelson street, was awakened by the glare and saw the flames coming from the windows apparently before an alarm had been sent in.

The water pressure was not as good as it should have been, and one of the big engines on Nelson street was too powerful for the main which should have supplied it, affording a notable instance of the necessity for hastening the completion of the high pressure system which skirts the district.

Dangerous Falling Walls.

Deputy Chief Noble, one of the first to arrive, had ordered Queen street section to get clear of the Richmond street wall just three minutes before it crumbled out.

Attention was then directed to the south wall, efforts being combined to save St. Andrew's Institute. This will fell with a roar out into Nelson street thirty minutes after the first one. The heat was so intense that telegraph posts and scaffolding on the south side of Nelson street commenced burning. It was "a perfect hell," as one of the firemen expressed it, while rolling in the snow and in the spray of another jet from a hose which was being used to cool the men and hose. Several lengths of hose were lost by scorching.

With the walls down, the danger to surrounding property began to abate, and attention was directed toward quenching the bed of flame in the factory ruins. The fire was aggravated considerably by a broken three-inch gas main, which had been placed in the factory a short time ago, and which had burst open.

One hundred and ten girls were employed, and some eighty men. A small percentage of the men will be put to work at once in the art department, and as soon as temporary premises are secured, according to David Elliott, the general manager, many of the men employed in the other departments will be back at work.

Planing Mill Gutted.

While the Elliott Box Co. fire was burning itself out, the Williamson Planing Mill and Lumber Yards at No. 133 Woodbine avenue, owned by W. Williamson, were wrapped in flames, the fire starting in the dry kiln at the northeast corner, just before 3 o'clock.

The wind blew the flames clean through the two-storey brick veneer building, and in a short time the building was badly gutted. The fire was not under complete control until 6 a. m. The damage is $18,000.

Other Sunday Fires.

While M. Krystal was absent from his tailoring store, at 358 Yonge street, yesterday afternoon, a fire broke out, causing $900 damage to the building, which is owned by W. Weir, and $1,000 damage to the contents. The blaze started under the counter, and the cause remains a mystery.

About 5 o'clock in the afternoon fire broke out in some bags of charcoal in the works of the Standard Chemical Co., at the foot of John street, doing $1,000 damage. The cause is unknown. The loss is mostly covered by insurance.

Fire In Hay.

Fire, which broke out in the Hortop Milling Co.'s premises at Dufferin and Florence streets at 7.45 Saturday morning, destroyed 200 tons of hay, baled in G. T. R. cars and in the Hortop building, which was a frame structure.

One car on an adjacent siding was completely destroyed and three others partially burned.

The total loss to building and contents will be about $6,700.

Roasted to Death.

Montreal, Dec. 16.—Edward Nagle, a Montreal workingman, met a horrible death in a conflagration in a boarding-house at the Cedars, Saturday night.

The man was literally roasted alive while he was trying to fight his way through the devouring flames.

Ten of his fellow-workers, who were asleep in the wooden building, were nearly caught.

Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID
IS A TABLET TAKEN INTERNALLY FOR THE CURE OF PILES
Guaranteed, or money refunded. Correspondence confidential. Booklet on Piles, with copy of Guarantee and Testimonials mailed Free on application. $1 a bottle at all dealers, or prepaid from THE WILSON-FYLE CO., Ltd., Niagara Falls, Ont.
Sold by James Lynch, Druggist, Peterborough.

THE MARKETS.

Liverpool and Chicago Wheat Futures Close Higher—Live Stock—Latest Quotations.

Saturday Evening, Dec. 14.

Liverpool wheat futures closed today 1-8d to 1-4d up, corn unchanged.

At Chicago December wheat closed 1 7-8c higher, December corn 3-4c higher and December oats 1-8c higher.

Winnipeg Options.

Following are the closing quotations on Winnipeg grain futures to-day:
Wheat—Dec. $1.01 bid, May $1.09¾ bid.
Oats—Dec. 42½c bid, May 49½c bid.

Toronto Grain Market.

Grain—
Wheat, spring, bush	$0 95	to $....
Wheat, fall, bush	0 96	0 97
Wheat, goose, bush	0 87	....
Wheat, red, bush	0 96	....
Rye, bush	0 83	....
Peas, bush	0 88	....
Buckwheat, bush	0 64	0 65
Barley, bush	0 70	....
Oats, bush	0 52	....
Seeds—
Alsike, fancy, bush	$8 00	to $8 75
Alsike, No. 1, bush	7 50	8 00
Alsike, No. 2, bush	6 75	7 25
Red clover, No. 1, bush	9 50	....
Hay and Straw—
Hay, new, per ton	$19 00	to $21 00
Cattle hay, ton	12 00	14 00
Straw, loose, ton	10 00	....
Straw, bundled, ton	16 00	....
Fruits and Vegetables—
Potatoes, per bag	$0 85	to $0 95
Apples, per barrel	1 75	2 50
Apples, snow, barrel	2 50	3 50
Onions, per bag	1 00	1 25
Poultry—
Turkeys, dressed, lb	$0 13	to $0 15
Geese, per lb	0 09	0 10
Spring chickens, lb	0 09	0 11
Spring ducks, lb	0 09	0 11
Fowl, per lb.	0 07	0 08
Dairy Produce—
Butter, lb	$0 27	to $0 33
Eggs, strictly new-laid, per dozen	0 45	0 55

Toronto Dairy Market.

Butter, dairy, lb. rolls	0 27	0 28
Butter, tubs	0 26	0 27
Butter, creamery, lb. rolls	0 30	0 31
Butter, creamery, boxes	0 29	0 30
Eggs, new-laid, dozen	0 30	....
Eggs, cold-storage, dozen	0 22	....
Cheese, large, lb	0 13½	....
Cheese, twin, lb	0 13¾	....
Honey, extracted, lb	0 12	0 13½

Liverpool Grain and Produce.

LIVERPOOL, Dec. 14.—Wheat—Spot weak; No. 2 red western winter, 7s 6d. Futures steady; Dec. nominal, March 7s 9¼d, May 7s 9¼d.

Corn—Spot quiet; prime mixed, American, 5s 5d. Futures steady; Dec. nominal, Jan. 5s 3d.

Peas—Canadian steady, 7s 9d.

Flour—Winter patents, quiet, 30s 3d.

Hops—In London (Pacific Coast), quiet, £2 to £3.

Beef—Extra India mess firm, 90s 3d.

Pork—Prime mess, western, steady, 85s.

Hams—Short cut, 14 to 16 lbs., steady, 48s 6d.

Bacon—Cumberland cut, 26 to 30 lbs., firm, 54s 6d; short ribs, 16 to 24 lbs., quiet, 55s 6d; long clear middles, light, 28 to 34 lbs., strong, 55s; long clear middles, heavy, 35 to 40 lbs., strong, 57s; short clear backs, 16 to 20 lbs., strong, 51s 6d; clear bellies, 14 to 18 lbs., firm, 58s; shoulders, square, 11 to 13 lbs., firm, 38s 6d.

Lard—Prime western, in tierces, dull, 45s; American refined, in pails, dull, 45s 9d.

Cheese—Canadian finest white, new, steady, 61s; Canadian finest colored, new, steady, 62s.

Tallow—Prime city weak, 29s 6d; Australian in London steady, 33s 3d.

Turpentine—Spirits dull, 34s 9d. Rosin—Common dull, 9s 9d. Petroleum—Refined firm, 7¼d. Linseed oil—Weak, 22s 9d. Cottonseed oil—Hull refined, Jan.-April, quiet, 21s 6d.

New York Dairy Market.

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—Butter—Dull, unchanged; receipts, 4020.

Cheese—Quiet, unchanged; receipts, 1076.

Eggs—Firm, unchanged; receipts, 4032.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Cables Unchanged—Feeling Easier in United States Market.

LONDON, Dec. 14.—London cables are firmer, at 11c to 12½c per lb., dressed weight; refrigerator beef is quoted at 9½c to 10c per pound.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, Dec. 14.—Cattle—Receipts, 200 head; slow and steady; prices unchanged.

Veals—Receipts, 450 head; active; 25c lower; $5 to $9.25.

Hogs—Receipts, 8500 head; slow; 30c lower; heavy and mixed, $4.80 to $4.90, mostly $4.85; yorkers, $4.65 to $4.90; pigs, $4.40 to $4.50; roughs, $4.20 to $4.40; stags, $3 to $3.75; dairies, $4.50 to $4.75.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 4000 head; sheep steady; lambs active, 25c higher; lambs, $5 to $7.50; yearlings, $5.50 to $6; wethers, $4.75 to $5; ewes, $4.50 to $4.75; sheep, mixed, $2 to $4.75; Canada lambs, $7 to $7.25.

New York Live Stock.

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—Beeves, receipts 2104, all for slaughterers and exporters direct. Nothing doing; feeling steady. Exports to-day, 144 cattle and 3600 quarters of beef.

Calves—Receipts 14. Market steady, but dull for barnyard and western calves. Medium veals 800. Barnyard calves $2.50; good western calves $4.

Sheep and lambs—Receipts 2843; sheep steady; lambs firm, quality considered. Sheep $3.75 to $4.62 1-2; lambs $6 to $7; no prime stock here.

Hogs—Receipts 5016, all for slaughterers. No sales on live weight; nominally lower on Buffalo advices.

Chicago Live Stock.

CHICAGO, Dec. 14.—Cattle—Receipts 500; steady. Beeves $3.15 to $6.15; cows and heifers $4.10 to $4.50; Texans $3 to $3.75; calves $4.75 to $6.65; westerners $3.10 to $4.75; stockers and feeders $2.40 to $4.15.

Hogs—Receipts 3000; 5c to 25c lower. Light $4.15 to $4.55; mixed and butchers $4.25 to $4.45; heavy $4.20 to $4.65; rough $4.20 to $4.30; pigs $3.30 to $4.50; bulk of sales $4.40 to $4.55.

Sheep—Receipts about 2000; market steady. Native $2 to $4.65; western $2 to $4.80; yearlings $4.60 to $5.30; lambs $3.75 to $6.25; western $3.75 to $6.15.

Hats Off Said Preacher.

Winnipeg, Dec. 16.—Last night Rev. J. L. Gordon of the First Congregational Church, formerly of the Bond street Congregational of Toronto, insisted on every lady in his congregation removing her hat before the service began. It was announced last week.

The church was crowded, and as the minister appeared in the pulpit the ladies began to murmur and remove their bonnets. Four ladies, wearing especially stunning creations of the Gainsboro type, refused to comply with the order, and no remarks were occasioned. It is said to be the first instance in the Dominion of the enforcement of this rule.

Shoe Factory Burns.

New Orleans, La., Dec. 16.—Fire early yesterday destroyed the Tulane Shoe Factory, one of the largest in the south. The loss is $100,000.

Valuable Fresco Found.

Rome, Dec. 16.—A fresco of the Madonna and child, which was recently discovered on a wall behind an old wardrobe in a house in the small umbrian village of Acciano, is believed to be the work of Matteo du Gualdo, and is probably one of his latest, as it is dated 1497. The discovery was made by mere chance.

Took Pills and Died.

Montreal, Dec. 16.—Mrs. John W. Littlewood of Lachine died under rather suspicious circumstances yesterday, from, it is believed, the effects of poisoning, and her husband is in a precarious condition. They partook of some quinine pills for a cold, and were shortly afterwards taken violently ill.

You have heard the Sailor Boys' plea, buy to-day for your dinner to-morrow "Sailor Boy" Canned Goods, Tomatoes Corn, Peas and Salmon. Your money does not buy better Goods. Do you get "Sailor Boy" or substitute?

Apple barrels 10,000 is the record of one Lucknow cooper shop this season.

Killross township, Bruce County, received $25,000 for the first crop of 1907.

ONLY TWO WEEKS

IN fourteen days the REVIEW NEWS BOYS' COMPETITION will close, and the awards will be made. Following the plan on which the competition was instituted no information has been given of the standing of the several competitors. The decision will rest on the results, each boy getting credit to the last paper for his efforts. ¶ Fourteen days yet to work. A good deal can be accomplished in that time. The hustling boy can add to his list of customers and pull up to a first place easily. Christmas week will be a good time in which to hustle, and all through the holidays. The boy showing the largest number of papers sold to customers and those who did not buy before will get the biggest prize.

HUSTLE! HUSTLE! HUSTLE!

We have just received a few cars of specially prepared Coal for ranges and small stoves, a little smaller than Nut and larger than No 2 Nut

Price, Per ton $6.50

If your stove has a good draught, give it a trial.

ONTARIO COAL CO. LIMITED PETERBORO

City Office: 387 Water St. Bell Phone 325
Head Office and Yards: Cor Aylmer and Wolfe Sts. Phones, Bell 116, Mac. 323

ONTARIO COAL CO., Limited
A. J. McCLELLAN C. CURRIER G. K. RACKHAM

PUPILS STANDING

Following is the standing of pupils of school section No. 1, North Monaghan:

I.—Clara Payne, Ernest Payne.
II.—Murial Podger.
Jr. III.—Myra Ward, Reuben Ortelli, Mollie Campbell.
Sr. III.—Verta Ward, Alma Dobbin, John Morrison, Stanley Jackson, Edna Huston.
Jr. IV.—Fred Preston, Ivan Lillico.
Sr. IV.—Wilma Dobbin, Vernon Spilsbury.

Invitation Cards for AT Homes, Receptions and Evening Parties, partly printed for 1c each. Envelopes to match 10c package. On sale at the Review Office

Christmas Slippers.

There's nothing that will make a more sensible Christmas Gift than Footwear. Our slipper show, at this season is a big thing—worth coming to see.

MEN'S SLIPPERS
Operas, Everett and Romeo styles, black kid, tan kid, patent leathers,
$1.00, 1.25, 1.50, 2.00

WOMEN'S SLIPPERS
House Slippers, Turkish Slippers and Juliets Slippers for Dress Functions, all the new Ties and Pump effects, choice, handsome and exclusive creations,
50c to $3.00

J. T. STENSON
364 George St.

EGGS
FOR SALE by the case

Fresh and Pickled Choice Stock at our warehouse, Robinson Street, East City

Scott & Hogg
PHONE 264, BOTH PHONES

PRICE OF Coal FOR OCTOBER IS $7.50
Ton, cash with order

THE PETERBORO FUEL & CARTAGE CO
LIMITED.
182 Charlotte-st. Telephones—(Bell) 281, 279. (Machine)—279.
134 Aylmer-st. Tel. (Bell) 302.

D.L. & W'S SCRANTON COAL

SOLD BY R. HICKS & CO. AT $7.50 Per Ton
for Month of October, in lots of not less than half ton.
This is the Standard Anthracite. 60 % of Coal sold in Ontario is SCRANTON.
Terms Positively Cash.

R. HICKS & CO.
Coal Builders' Supplies, Etc.

COAL AND WOOD
Best of Coal—Best of Wood

COAL FOR OCTOBER
$7.50 PER TON

J. E. A. FITZGERALD
Cor. Brock and Bethune Sts
BOTH PHONES 111

Palace Livery Barn

For the smartest and most up-to-date LIVERY OUTFITS, at reasonable rates, go to

TOM FOSTER & CO.
Successors to Bruce Lee & Co
Rear of Snowden House.

AUCTION SALE OF HORSES BUGGIES, HARNESS, ETC., EVERY SATURDAY
Phones—Bell 286—Machine 289

Steer Straight
for the best Beer ever brewed, and you are sure to come to us! Our Bottled Beer is "bottled health." It means vigor and strength, a good appetite and high spirits. It is the best medicine for the weak and the best food for the strong. Keep our excellent Beer in your home as a beverage and you will have no need of a doctor. Nothing but the purest ingredients used in the brewing.

—THE—
CALCUTT BREWING AND MALTING CO
of Ashburnham Limited

FACTS—JUST PLAIN, POINTED FACTS

BOYS' SUITS

Good words our Good Boy's Clothing are coming back to us in good business, what better proof could you ask of our value-giving than these.

BUSTER BROWN STYLE

Gray mixed Tweeds, plain, well made and trimmed, sizes 22 to 25	3 25
Gray stripe Tweed, well made and trimmed, 22 to 25	3.50
Blue and black Serge, well made and trimmed sizes 22 to 26	4.00

2-PIECE NORFOLK STYLE

Dark gray stripe Tweed, sizes from 25 to 30, special	2.00
Gray mixed Tweed, pepper and salt effects, all sizes, 24 to 30, Special	2.50
Brown Scotch Tweed effect, double breasted Norfolk, sizes 26 to 29, prices	4.00, 4.50, 5.00
3 piece Double Breasted Styles-dark gray check and stripe Tweed, Lion Brand, with double elbows and double seats and knees, well padded and well made, sizes 28 to 33	4.50 and 5.00
Dark gray over plaids and dark stripes, the newest designs for boys' suits, double breasted, sizes 28 to 33	6.00, 6.50, 7.00
Boys' and Youth's Reefers—Dark gray and black Frieze, Tweed lined, all sizes up to 28	2.00, 2.25
Dark gray and black Frieze, Tweed lined,	2 75

MERRELL & MEREDITH
CLOTHIERS, FURNISHERS and HATTERS
375-377 GEORGE ST. PHONE 35

SPORTING NEWS

PETERBOROUGH IN TROUBLE ALL ROUND, THIS SEASON

Toronto, Dec. 14.—The 26th annual meeting of the Ontario Rugby Football Union was held this afternoon at the King Edward hotel, with President James G. Merrick in the chair. Owing to the storm the meeting was slimly attended. W. J. Slee, Percy H. Scott, H. M. Robinson, E. W. Pyke, George Calvin, and Secretary J. B. Hay were delegates present.

No financial statement was presented, but a deficit was reported, few of the clubs having paid their fees and none of the senior clubs having paid the customary fee for matches. Secretary J. B. Hay read the following report for the executive committee:—

Gentlemen,—The season, as you know, has not been a very prosperous one for the O.R.F.U.

The season has not been quite so prosperous as we might have wished, the introduction of the new rules and the formation of the new Inter-Provincial Union having drawn a number of teams away from your body, but despite this, we have had a fairly successful year.

The amendment to reduce the drop kick from 4 to 3 points was adopted. Where tie, semi-final or final games are played, the visiting club or clubs will henceforth be allowed 6c per mile for 16 players before the gate is divided.

The winners last season were: Peterborough senior, Tamanany Tigers intermediate, and Parkdale Canoe Club junior. The cup will be awarded the intermediate and junior champions, but on motion of Mr. Merrick the senior cup will remain in the possession of the union, owing to Peterborough having played against Montreal for the Canadian championship.

M. J. Barrie Willing to Meet W. Magee in a Go-as-You-Please

A short time ago a challenge from W. McGee to David Hartley for a go-as-you-please contest from twelve to to twenty-four hours was made. Mr. M. J. Barrie, of the City hotel, expresses his willingness to meet Mr. Gee in such an event as he challenged Hartley to. Arrangements for the contest, such as the time, place and amount to be wagered may be arranged by a personal conference between Messrs. Barrie and MaGee. If Mr. Messrs. Barrie and McGee. If Mr. Gee is willing to make the match he is requested to announce the acceptance of the challenge through the columns of the Review.

Mr. McGee accepts Mr. Barrie's challenge and will be pleased to make all arrangements for the match.

Bridgenorth's Hockey Team

Bridgenorth has organized their City League team for the season with the following officers:—

Hon. President—R. J. Scott.
President—T. N. Kelly.
1st Vice-President—J. A. Jobe.
2nd Vice-President—R. T. Udy.
Sec.-Treas.—E. Brumwell.
Captain—W. Mann.
Executive Committee—H. Stubbs, F. Jopling, J. Cullen, and the captain.

SNOWSHOEING.

R.T.D.C. Snowshoe Club will meet tonight at the club house at 7.30 p.m., to prepare for a tramp to the tall pines.

HOCKEY

The manager of the Strathcona hockey team of Edmonton, is making great efforts to have Reg. Blomfield, the ex-Argonaut man, reconsider his intention of retiring this year. Reg. says he is out of the game, but they are sending him pucks and miniature hockey sticks by mail, hoping to tease him back to the ice.

Cubitt's
Books, Stationery and Fancy Goods Store
IS THE PLACE TO BUY YOUR CHRISTMAS PRESENTS

Save money. The extra cost of LARGE FLAMING ADVERTISEMENTS not necessary. Variety, cheapness and obliging attention of clerks advertise my business : : : : : : : : : : : :

Call and see for yourself. No trouble to show Goods

"CUBITT SELLS CHEAP"

Winter Meet of the Turf Club

The Peterborough Turf Club is bound to have good races this winter. They have organized in good season and in a short time will have all literature concerning the meet published and distributed. As is generally conceded, the local half-mile track is unsurpassed in Canada, and, judging from the enthusiastic attendance at the last Peterborough fair, large crowds should assemble to witness the best events on January 21st and 22nd. From a spectator's standpoint the bill of fare should prove a most acceptable one, while the real in and out horseman and watchful rail bird will find much food for gossip. From now on the horse owners will be rounding their pets into shape, and when the actual events are pulled off the enthusiasts and other onlookers will have an opportunity to see some tall stepping.

THE EVENTS.

The events and purses are as follows:—

JANUARY 21.

2.35 class—$100.00.
2.18 class—$125.00.

JANUARY 22.

2.22 class—$125.00.
Free-for-All—$150.00.

THE OFFICIALS.

Mr. Donald Fraser, proprietor of the Snowden House, who for several years was secretary of the London Driving Club, has been decided upon as one of the judges, and Mr. Connors will handle the starters' bell. Many fast horses will start, a full list of which will be published on Tuesday.

Entries close on the 15th of January, and all who intend to start their horses in any of the events are requested to forward their entries to Secretary O'Shea, at their earliest convenience.

RUGBY

The executive of the Crescent Rugby Club will meet this evening at 8 o'clock at the Y.M.C.A.

BUYING A SAW.

Find Out the Kind You Want Before You Go to Purchase.

When the man in the golf cap started downstairs his wife ran to the door and called him back.

"Harry," she said, "I want you to go into a hardware store today and get a saw. Don't forget it, please. We need one badly."

Being an accommodating person, the man in the golf cap said he would not forget it. He chose the luncheon hour as the most opportune time for making his simple purchase. He was in a good humor, and he smiled blandly when he went bustling into the store and said:

"I want a saw, please."

"What kind of a saw?" asked the clerk.

"Why," said the prospective purchaser, "I don't know; just a saw. Any kind will do, I presume."

The clerk sighed. "If you only knew what you want to use it for, perhaps I could advise you," he suggested.

"What I want to use it for?" echoed the man in the golf cap. "Why, I want to saw, of course—that is, my folks do."

"Saw what?" asked the clerk.

"I don't know," admitted the nonplused shopper.

The clerk led the way to the rear of the store. "I will show you a few of the different varieties of saws we have on hand," he said. "Observation and explanation of their uses and prices may assist you in making a decision. Here is a metal saw. It is made of highly tempered steel and will saw iron, copper, lead and all manner of metals. Is that the kind you want?"

The man in the golf cap was sorely perplexed. "No," he said. "I don't think so. We have no metals at our house to work on that I know of."

"Perhaps you would like a meat saw?" suggested the clerk. "But you are not a butcher."

"Heaven be praised, no!" said the man who wanted a saw.

"Here is a regular kitchen saw for general utility purposes. It will cost you only 50 cents. How does that strike you? No? Then here is the cabinetmaker's saw. Then I have here the plumbers' saws, the fine delicate saws used by all manner of artificers and the ordinary wood saws, which will cost you anywhere from 50 cents to $4. In that back room we have still other varieties of saws—the two man ten foot saws, buzz saws and circular saws. If you want to pay a big price you had better take one of the circular saws. I'll give you a good one for $500. Would you like to see them?"

The man in the golf cap looked about him wonderingly.

"No, thank you," he said. "I guess I won't take any till I find out just what kind I want."

"I regret being unable to make a sale," said the clerk affably, "but I really think that the best plan."

Girls' Names.

In the eighteenth century girls were christened Sophia and Caroline, in the early nineteenth Emma and Jane, a little later Laura and Clara. Then came a crop of Dorothys and Marjories, who are now all calling their own babies (in a reaction against the "quaint") Elizabeth. The names of men suffer no such emphatic fashions, and yet it is a pleasure to note that there are certainly no more young men called Alf and Gus, as were the young men who walked with the crinoline in the days of Leech. Good is the sound of John through all changes.—London Chronicle.

FREE FLAT TREAD

"One of the 14"

THE USUAL TREAD
THE DOLLY VARDEN FREE FLAT TREAD
THE USUAL TREAD

If your feet wobble about as though you were walking in V shaped rowboats (and most feminine foot jails give that very feeling), you will be a grateful woman after making the acquaintance of the Dolly Varden Shoe and its Free Flat Tread.

The above pictures illustrate the tread of most shoes and the Dolly Varden Free Flat Tread.

Dolly Vardens allow a Free Flat Tread because their inside shapes are copies of Perfect Feminine Feet.

They force the foot to lie flat because the sole of the forepart rests flat on the ground at every point and because of their Dead Level Ball and Heel Balance.

The only flatless thing about the tread of a Dolly Varden is its arch, but nature wants that raised as the Dolly Varden's newly devised steel arch support does it.

This is a Dolly Varden store and exclusive agency. It will give the Salesman pleasure to introduce you to the Dolly Varden Free Flat Tread. Purchasers or investigators equally welcome. $4.00 to $5.00 in Canada or the States. Every pair Goodyear welted—therefore the best.

THE DOLLY VARDEN SHOE
BOSTON The Shoe of Fourteen New Features MONTREAL
Cressman's AGENT PETERBOROUGH

News of the City Churches

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH

The Christian Endeavor Society will meet to-night.

The W.F.M.S. will meet to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock in the lecture hall. This is the annual meeting.

The Young Men's Guild will meet to-morrow night. A good programme is being prepared.

A general meeting of the congregation will be held after the prayer service on Wednesday night in connection with the charity concert to be held in January.

The Boy's Guild will meet on Friday evening at 7.15 o'clock.

The annual meeting of the Sunday School Teachers Association will be held on Friday evening, Dec. 27th.

The annual Christmas gathering for the Sunday school will be held on Thursday, January 2nd.

Communion will be celebrated the first Sunday of the new year, Jan. 5th.

The minister will meet with those wishing to unite with the church, on Mondays between 7 and 8 o'clock, and on Thursdays between 8 and 10 o'clock.

PARK ST. BAPTIST CHURCH

Monday, B.Y.P.U. President Mr. Charles Barrie in charge.

Wednesday, public service, pastor in chair.

Next Sunday, Christmas sermon in morning; song service in evening.

The teachers voted a supply of toys, candies and oranges for the Children's Aid Christmas tree, and appointed a committee.

MURRAY ST. BAPTIST CHURCH

The Young People's meeting will be held to-night at 8 o'clock.

Prayer meeting will be held on Wednesday night at 8 o'clock, followed by a meeting of the Ladies' Aid.

On Friday night the annual Sunday school children's tea and concert will be held. Tea will be served from 5.30 to 7.30 o'clock. The programme will commence at 8 o'clock.

GEORGE STREET CHURCH

The Epworth League will meet this evening at 8 o'clock. The meeting will be of a devotional character. Mrs. Tisdale will take the topic, which will be "The True Centre of Life."

On Tuesday night the Girls' Guild will hold a regular meeting.

On Wednesday night the regular weekly prayer meeting will be held.

Rev. E. Bowerman, of Victoria University, Toronto, ably preached at both services in George street Methodist church yesterday. Rev. E. A. Pearson, the pastor, conducted missionary anniversary services in Trenton.

Donations for the Christmas gifts to deserving families in the city can be left at the church on Wednesday, afternoon and night. The congregation will no doubt respond generously.

ST. LUKE'S CHURCH

A meeting of St. Luke's Chancel Guild and Decoration Chapter will be held on Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

The regular week night service will be held on Wednesday at 8 p.m.

The Brotherhood of St. Andrew will hold a cottage meeting at the residence of Mrs. Sedgwick, on Thursday, at 8 p.m.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH

The following are the notices of St. John's church for the week:

Monday, 7.30—King's Daughters. 7.30, Girls' Auxiliary.

Tuesday, 8 p.m.—Swiss bell ringers, Ekhardt family, in Conservatory hall under auspices of A.Y.P.A.

Wednesday, 8 p.m.—Brotherhood of St. Andrew.

Thursday, 4.30 — Cantata practice, "Story of a Star." 7.30, Boys' choir practice; 8 p.m., full choir practice.

Friday, 4.15—Mission Band.

Saturday, 9 a.m.—Boys' choir training class.

Sunday, 8.30 a.m.—First Communion of candidates confirmed on Sunday last.

Thursday, Dec. 26—Christmas cantata, "Story of a Star," given by members of St. John's Sunday school.

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH

The Session of St. Paul's church will hold a regular monthly meeting to-night.

The Fraser Mission Band will meet to-morrow, Tuesday night, also the Young Men's Guild on the same evening.

On Wednesday night the regular weekly prayer service will be held.

The choir, owing to repairs to the organ will not render the Christmas music until a week from Sunday next.

On a week from to-night, Monday, Dec. 30th, the annual Sunday school entertainment will be held.

COMMON SENSE GIFTS

If you want to make two families genuinely happy this holiday season, try giving the old cook stove that has given you years of service, to some needy household, and present the good wife with a

PANDORA RANGE

You will thus make two homes happy, especially your own where the great comfort of using the Pandora Range will be greatly appreciated.

ADAMSON & DOBBIN
NEW BRICK BLOCK—SIMCOE STREET

CHARLOTTE ST. CHURCH

Charlotte street church

A missionary meeting meeting of the Epworth League will be held tonight.

The Union Committee in charge of the proposed new Methodist church in the south end, meets tomorrow night.

The Woman's Missionary Society meet tomorrow afternoon at three o'clock.

Prayer meeting on Wednesday at 8 o'clock.

MARK STREET CHURCH

The Epworth League will meet tonight at 7.30 o'clock. It will only be a half-hour meeting for the election of a president. At 8 o'clock tonight a social meeting to men will be held.

Prayer meeting will be held on Wednesday evening.

The Ladies' Aid will meet at the Parsonage on Thursday at 3 o'clock.

A cottage prayer meeting will be held on Friday night at the residence of Mr. Whitred, Carlisle Ave.

KNOX CHURCH

Knox church

The Young People's Society will meet tonight at 8 o'clock. Rev. J. R. Webb will give an address.

The Sabbath school teachers will meet tomorrow night to 8 o'clock, at 684 Bolivar street.

Prayer meeting will be held on Wednesday at 8 o'clock.

The Boys' Club will meet on Friday at 8 o'clock.

DIED

TEMPLEMAN.—At 210 Simcoe street, on Monday, Dec. 16th, the wife of George E. Templeman, of a son.

Collingwood harbor is the winter home of the Leighton McCarthy and 17 other steamboats.

A banquet was spread for 60 guests by the locomotive firemen running out of Fort William.

Porter's Delicatessen

CUT RATE GROCERY STORE

Shelled Almonds per lb	35
" Walnuts	35
Choice Black & Green Tea 3 lbs	50
Choice Coffee 17c 3 lbs	50
Select Raisins 3 lbs	.20
Dates, 3 lbs.	.25
Mince Meat, 3 lbs.	.20
Washing Soda, 3 lbs.	.05
Cooking Figs, 4 lbs	.25
3 bottles Ketchup	.25
3 bottles Pickles	.25
Potatoes, per pk	.15
Apples, per pk	.10

410 George Street

CHRISTMAS BARGAINS AT CHINA HALL

No store in Peterboro' can offer Christmas buyers the variety or value to be found at China Hall. The goods are all new and bought direct. The variety covers ever class of goods from the cheapest to the most celebrated makes. DINNER and TEA SETS—China Hall has one entire flat devoted to Tea and Dinner Sets from $3.00 to $125.00 each. Ask to be shown the upstair show room—it is said to be the finest of its kind in Canada.

CHINA HALL CO. New Premises 394 GEORGE STREET
(NEXT TO H. LeBRUN & CO.)

GET THE LATEST

The Review Supplies the Correct Things in Wedding Invitations, Programmes, Personal Stationery, Etc.

THE DAILY REVIEW

VOL LV., NO. 139 PETERBOROUGH, ONT., CANADA, TUESDAY, DECEMBER 17, 1907 TEN CENTS PER WEEK

LUMBER and BUILDING MATERIAL of all kinds. Shingles, Scantling, Joists and Bill Stuff. Mouldings, Casings and Base, and all kinds of finish. Boxes and Box Shooks.

ALF. McDONALD ESTATE
Point St. Charles Mill, Peterborough.

PROBABILITIES

Westerly to northerly winds; fair and moderately cold, with some local snow falls.

At The Golden Lion Store

AN ABSOLUTELY WONDERFUL ASSORTMENT OF

HANDKERCHIEFS

From the Linen Mills of Ireland and the Embroidery Factories of Switzerland, the great majority of which were personally selected by our Mr. Fair while in Europe the past summer, insuring to you the latest novelties, best values and prettiest designs which have been produced. All prices are represented here, ranging in price from 3c to $3 each. We enumerate today a few of the many styles—very specially priced

Boxed Handkerchiefs

With views of beauty spots and places of interest in Ireland on the lids—3, 4 and 6 Handkerchiefs in the boxes, plain hemstitched and the new hemstitched dimity checked linen for ladies 50c and 75c the box

For Gentlemen, Pure Linen Initial Handkerchiefs 3 in box $1.00, 6 in box $2.25

A FEW OF THE MANY VIEWS WE MENTION HERE—The Giants' Causeway; Port Rush; Main St. Larne; Glenarm Castle; Sugar Loaf Mountain, Wicklow; The River Augrien; Eagle's Nest, Killarney; Kate Kearney's Cottage; Ross Castle; Muckross Abbey; Wishing Chair, Giants' Causeway; Donegal Square, Belfast; City Hall, Belfast; Belfast Castle; Glenarriff; Meeting of the Waters, Killarney; Blarney Castle; The Esplanade, Bray, Enniskerry Bridge; Pass of Glencoe; The Tunnel, Kenmare Road; and a great many others.

Kindergarden Handkerchiefs
For the little folks—good quality Irish lawn with nursery rhymes printed in assorted colors 3c each, 2 for 5c

Excelda Handkerchiefs
A fine soft mercerized mull handkerchief, good size, hemstitched 8c each, 4 for 25c

Linen Cambric Handkerchiefs
For boys and men, taped border, hemmed handkerchiefs, all pure linen 12½c to 25c each

White Lawn Handkerchiefs
Fine quality white lawn, hemstitched all around, good size, looks like linen 4c each, 3 for 10c

Initialed Handkerchiefs
Pure Irish checked linen, unlaundried, hemstitched, 10c and 12½c each

Linen Centres
In two sizes, plain hemstitched and with drawn work corners 12½c, 15c, 25c each

Fancy Baskets of Handkerchiefs

An acceptable gift, and the baskets alone in many cases are worth the priee of both basket and handkerchiefs—this season's novelty, shown in Peterborough only by us, 3, 4 and 6 handkerchiefs in basket, per basket 25c, 35c, 40c, 50c, 75c and $1.50

Real Lace Handkerchiefs
A choice assortment of high class lace trimmed handkerchiefs with silk and linen centres 75c to $3.00 each

Mourning Handkerchiefs
Hemstitched, pure linen and swiss embroidered handkerchiefs 8c to 75c each

Embroidered Handkerchiefs
You will admit you have never before seen such beauty of design and good values in fancy handkerchiefs, everything new will be found in our assortment. Prices are 5c, 10, 12½, 15, 20, 25, 35, 40, 50 75, $1.00, 1.25, 1 50

Robert Fair & Co. Limited
383 GEORGE STREET
Phone—Dry Goods 145 Phone—Dressmaking 145B

Wanted

WANTED

AT THE CANADIAN GENERAL ELECTRIC CO. Ltd., Girls. Apply at once. 3d

WANTED

ORGANIST for Knox church. Duties to commence first of January. Apply by letter only to undersigned stating salary expected. J. W. Bennett, Clerk of Session, Drawer 1136, Peterborough 3d

For Sale or To Rent

FOR SALE

TYPEWRITER, latest model American Oliver, bran new. Good discount off lowest selling price for a quick sale. Apply Review Office. tdf

TO RENT

NO. 535 Downie Street. Recently occupied by Lambert Lynn, Esq., C. E. Pretty little house. Hardwood floors, all modern improvements. D. W. Dumble or Wm. Might. 5d

TO RENT

BRICK HOUSE AT 77 WATER ST., bath and electric light. Immediate possession. Apply to J. J. TURNER & SONS, Tent Manufacturers, George Street. 3d

TO RENT

A FEW FINE, WELL LIGHTED AND HEATED ROOMS at the Y. M. C. A. for rent from $1.50 to $2.00 a week. 6td

FOR SALE

PIANO CASE ORGAN, double the usual volume, (8 sets reeds) good as new, less than half price on easy weekly or monthly payments. A nice Christmas present easy to buy. 27 Park St., corner Park and Parnell. tf

Lost and Found

LOST

PURSE containing Note and Door Key. Finder please leave at Review Office.

LOST

WILL THE PERSON who was seen carrying away the Sable Throw-over from the table in the Secretary's office in the Y.W.C.A., please return it at once and avoid further trouble.

General

CHEAP HOUSES

If money is low and rent high, call at our office and see if you can't buy.
A good lot and comfortable house, $50 down and easy payments.
A lot and 6 roomed house, $100 and Six Dollars a month
A new 2 story, nice modern red brick house, $850
A 1½ story red brick with half acre garden, on easy terms, $500
A half acre garden on easy terms. Others at good value up to $5,000
Companies Good as the Best in all lines of Insurance but Life. Rates moderate.
R. G. Ivey, Special Agent. 336 George St. Phone 2 Bell W. MIGHT

PETERBOROUGH
LAUNDRY

The quality of our work is our special pride, and makes lasting customers. If you are unacquainted with it, telephone 65 and our rig will call. After that you'll know what we can do . . . .

179 Charlotte St. Phone 65

For Sale or To Rent
AT REASONABLE PRICES

Three small farms, good soil, suitable for gardening purposes, close to city. Also a few small, comfortable, dwelling houses, and choice building lots, well situated in good localities.

Properties sold, purchased or exchanged.

Private Funds to Loan on Real Estate.

INSURANCE

Agents for reliable Fire, Life, Accident, Plate Glass and Liability Insurance Companies. For particulars as to rates, etc., apply to

J. J. McBAIN & SON
Real Estate and Insurance Agents.
Office Cor. Simcoe and George-sts
Office 'Phone 454 Residence Phone 109A

FOR XMAS

Furditure fixed up like new. Upholstering and all kinds of similar work done. Mattresses made over.

A. R. JACKSON
320 Aylmer. Corner of Charlotte. Bell Phone 494B

FANCY POTTERY

All kinds of Urns, Vases, Jugs, Plates, Jardinieres, etc., Moulded to Order for hand painting for Christmas gifts.
GEO. E. RAWLINGS, Crescent Street

GEORGE RUTH
Properties for Sale:

Come and inspect our list of HOUSES We have a number of first-class residences; all modern; locality and prices are right; also a number of cheaper houses. Terms to suit the purchasers.

8 fine building lots, near the C. G. E. works, are offered for $1500.

A few first-class homes to rent with modern improvements.

395 Water Street, open evenings

CHRISTMAS GIFTS

What more appropriate gift could you make than by purchasing a home for your family?
Come and see J. T. O'Connell & Co's bargains.
$2,850—New red brick house, central, cement floor in cellar; hall, parlor, dining room, kitchen, large pantry, front and back stairs, 4 bedrooms, bathroom fitted, 3 clothes closets, attic finished, electric lights, large verandah and balcony, woodshed and summer kitchen. Can be bought on monthly payments. Possession at once.
$900 buys red brick cottage East City, 6 rooms, hard and soft water, large lot.
To Rent—New house with all conveniences. Possession at once.
For further particulars apply to

J. T. O'CONNELL & CO.
Phone 376. 136 Hunter St.

MEALS—LUNCHES
AT ALL HOURS
For quick service, well-cooked meals and popular prices—go to
FOWLER'S RESTAURANT
McCallum's Old Stand - 330 George St

R. A. ELLIOTT
& CO.
Real Estate Agents

Head Office of the Sandstone Brick Co.

STOVES, RANGES
—AND—
HEATERS
Enamel and Tinware
Plumbing and Eavetroughing

HUTCHINSON-STURGEON CO
Bell and Machine 'Phones 236 342 George Street

International Correspondence Schools
Of Scranton, Penn.

Industrial Science Taught by Mail.

LOCAL OFFICE - - 430 George Stree
R. C. BALFOUR, Representative

The Talk of the Town—OUR COOKING
TOOTHSOME
WHOLESOME
PALATABLE

Try a loaf of our Brown and Currant Bread
FRY'S MILK CHOCOLATE DROPS
BURNT ALMONDS

COLEMAN BROS.
Phone 335. 426 Georg St.

THE STORE THAT NEVER DISAPPOINTS

Christmas Annex . . .

107th Event
Wednesday, Dec. 18th

ONLY A FEW DAYS MORE and the long-looked-for event will be over again for another year. Great is the anticipation that is experienced by nearly everybody, old and young. The older folk take the giving part as the greatest pleasure, while the children look forward to the receiving of all the good things from "Old Santa." Yes, a good old fellow he is, but what would he do without the good things that we have in our Big Xmas Annex this week? The Annex is full of the nicest and most sensible Xmas remembrances. Make your Xmas money go half as far again by buying in the Annex. Seven Leaders of the 36 Wednesday Specials. SEE RED DODGERS.

Fountain Pens
A good English Pen, made of best Vulcanite, complete with filler. Each Pen boxed separately. An ideal inexpensive Xmas gift for any one; worth 75c WEDNESDAY ANNEX .19

Taffeta Ribbon
Best Silk Ribbon on the market for 20c per yard; four in. wide, in all the leading colors, including Pale Blue, Navy, Red, Brown, Cream, Pink, etc; also Black; worth 20c yd. WEDNESDAY ANNEX, Yard .10

Kid Gloves
Good French makes, 2 dozen (336) Pairs of Ladies' and Misses' Kid Gloves, in shades of Gray, Modes, Tans and Brown; all White and Black, ranging in sizes from 5 1-2 to 6 1-2 and some shades in sizes up to 7¼. These Gloves are worth from 75c to $1.25 a pair, and make most acceptable Xmas Gifts. SEE WINDOW WEDNESDAY ANNEX at 8.10, Pair .47

Fancy Collars
Ladies' and Misses' 230 Fancy Collars in light and dark colors; all the pretty effects in the season's styles and make most desirable and appropriate Christmas gifts; two lines. WEDNESDAY ANNEX
Reg 40c to 75c, for 19c
Reg 25c to 40c, for 11c

2 O'clock
2 Big Housefurnishing Specials
No. 1—Large double bed size Metropolitan Bed Spreads in Marseilles designs, reg $1.25. WED. ANNEX .79
NO. 2—58 pairs only good size Flannelette Blankets, best quality white or gray flannelette; reg $1.10. WEDNESDAY ANNEX, Pair .77

Swiss Work
Applique Embroidered Pillow Shams, Centrepieces, Runners and Dresser Scarfs. These Goods are neat openwork designs, on very fine material. They make natty little remembrances for Christmas; reg 40c, 45c and 50c SEE WINDOW WEDNESDAY ANNEX .24

STORE HOURS 8.10 - - 5.45 Cressman's 385, 387, 389 GEORGE STREET

"DON'T BURN THEM"
We will buy all kinds of Second-hand boots and shoes
JAY'S SECOND-HAND STORE
390 Aylmer Street

CHRISTMAS IS COMING!
A nice pair of Snowshoes or a good Toboggan would make a most acceptable present to lady, gentleman, girl or boy. We carry a very large assortment. Call and see them.
J. J. TURNER & SONS
TENT MANUFACTURERS
George Street, Peterborough

ALL THINGS ARE NOW READY
GEORGE R. RECORD
PRACTICAL
FRENCH DRY CLEANER AND PRESSER

Ladies' and Gentlemen's Garments and Household Articles cleaned and guaranteed not to fade color or shrink any material. Charges moderate. Goods called for and delivered. Telephone 669.

NEW BRICK BLOCK, 173 SIMCOE ST.
Only Complete Dry Cleaning Plant in City

A. BROWN & CO.,
The Real Estate Agents, 396 Water Street

$100 will secure good Cottage with large lot 50x200
$600 will secure an up-to-date House with all modern improvements.
$1,000 will purchase good Cottage and large lot
$600 will secure Cottage, Stable and 4 acres good land near city.
We have some great snaps in Houses, Farms and City lots for sale and to rent.
Fire, Life and Accident Insurance.
Bell Phone 126 and 474 B. Machine 117.

MONEY IN YOUR POCKET

Give your family a Xmas Present—a snug little home for your own. We have some at valuation that would agreeably surprise you and be money in your pocket.
$900 and $1300—Brick house, six or eight roomed; two story
$1500—Nice brick, well finished inside, near Can. Gen. Electric Co.
$1600—Fine new brick, two storys, large lot, south city
$2350—Brick, central location, modern, electric light, city water, bath, sewer connection, nice large house.
$2800—Artistic brick house, large garden, well planted with fruit; house has all modern conveniences and a nice sunny location.
$3250—Beautiful residential location; large lot with stable. House solid brick and warm; furnace and all conveniences.
Some good houses to rent cheap.
Some good farms throughout the district for sale. Farm lands in the Great West and on the Pacific Coast. City lots in Vancouver. Double your money in a year. See us for particulars.

BELL & TAYLOR
Real Estate. Fire Insurance
Office—376 Water Street.
Office Phone—498B House Phone 547B

Ontario Liquor License Act

License District of West Peterborough

Notice is hereby given that Edward Flaherty has made application for permission to transfer his Hotel License for the premises Nos. 217-219 Hunter St., in the City of Peterborough, known as the Royal Hotel, to Stephen Holland, of the City of Peterborough; and that the said application will be considered at the meeting of the Board of License Commissioners to be held at the Inspector's Office in the City of Peterborough on the 18th Day December, 1907 at the hour of 8 o'clock p.m.

All persons interested will govern themselves accordingly.

JOSEPH STEWART
License Inspector, West Peterborough

Dated at Peterborough this 3rd Day of December, 1907.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS

NOTICE is hereby given, pursuant to the Revised Statutes of Ontario, Chapter 129, that all Creditors and others having claims against the Estate of William Hetherington, late of the City of Peterborough in the County of Peterborough, Hostler, who died on or about the Twenty-fifth day of November 1906, are required on or before the Twenty-seventh day of December 1907, to send by Post prepaid, or deliver to the undersigned Solicitors for the Administrator of the said deceased, their Christian and surnames, addresses and descriptions, the full particulars of their claims and statement of their accounts and the nature of the securities, if any, held by them.

And further take notice, that after such last mentioned date, the said Administrator will proceed to distribute the assets of the deceased among the parties entitled thereto, having regard only to the claims of which he shall then have notice, and that said Administrator will not be liable for the said assets or any part thereof to any person or persons of whose claims Notice shall not have been received by him at the time of such distribution.

Dated 11th. day of November 1907.

DENNISTOUN, PECK & KERR,
415 Water Street, Peterborough, Ont.,
Administrators' Solicitors

National Chorus at Massey Hall

Miss Helen Davies Scored Distinct Triumph

Toronto Press Praises Her Splendid Work

At the National Chorus, in Massey Hall, Toronto, last night, Miss Helen Davies, Peterborough's talented soprano soloist, scored a distinct triumph by her brilliant work.

During the evening she was presented with a handsome bouquet of American beauty roses, from St. Paul's church choir, Peterborough.

Among those present from Peterborough were Misses Hazel and Lillian Dean, Mr. and Mrs. John Crane, Mrs. Alfred Davies, Mr. G. K. Martin and others.

The Mail and Empire says: It was a pleasure to many to hear once again Miss Helen Davies, of Peterborough, whose beautiful high soprano voice is too seldom heard on local platforms. Only one of the brief solos allotted gave her a fitting opportunity to display the superb quality of her voice, and the beauty and distinction of her utterance. This was the narrative of Hiawatha's grief, beginning with the line, "On the Bed of Minnehaha," in which she overcame difficulties of phrasing and the tenderness she imparted to the melody stamped her as an artiste who should go far indeed.

Mr. J. D. Logan, writing to the World says: "I must commend both Miss Helen Davies and Mr. Francis Rogers for their enunciation. Both were in good voice, and Mr. Rogers' tones were always mellow."

The Globe says: The soloists were Miss Helen Davies, soprano, of Peterborough, and Mr. Francis Rogers, baritone, of New York. To speak frankly, the solo music does not give the artists many grateful opportunities of displaying a lyrical style or of showing the graces of accomplished vocalization, but nevertheless, both singers made a success. Miss Helen Davies has broadened in her voice and method since she was last heard here. Her voice is more even throughout its compass, and her interpretation is more authoritative.

PALMISTRY Professor C. Shepherd
344 AYLMER STREET—Opposite Fire Hall

THE CRYSTAL
OPEN EVERY AFTERNOON AND EVENING
ENTIRE CHANGE PROGRAMME
TO-DAY
ADMISSION—5 CENTS

Watches—Diamonds

See our splendid stock of Watches, Diamond Ruby and Sapphire Rings for Christmas giving Special Prices on Signet Rings for Ladies and Gentlemen. Engraving done free of charge for purchasers : : : : :

CLARKE & SON
439 GEORGE STREET JEWELLERS

A GOOD SERVANT

The Review Want Ad. column solves the problem of how to recover lost articles, get a tenant for a house, secure a servant or help of any kind, obtain roomers or boarders, sell surplus articles around the home, or find something you want to buy. Try it, the cost is low.

The Closing of Gates of Derry

Will be Commemorated by Royal Black Preceptory

The sixth annual banquet of the Royal Black Preceptory, No. 261, in commemoration of the 219th anniversary of the closing of the gates of Derry, will be held on the evening of Dec 18th, in the Orange Hall, Simcoe street. The event promises to be most successful as extensive preparations are being made.

Kindergartens Close on Friday

The closing exercises and Christmas trees of the city kindergartens take place this week. The Central school will have theirs on Thursday morning, and the South Central school hold theirs on Thursday afternoon. On Friday morning the King Edward school intend having their closing exercises and in the afternoon the present school term will close with the Christmas tree and closing exercises at east city school.

Collingwood harbor is the winter home of the Leighton McCarthy and 17 other steamboats.

A banquet was spread for 60 guests by the locomotive firemen running out of Fort William.

Medical

E. V. FREDERICK, M.B., Tor.
M.R.C.S., Eng.; L.R.C.P., Lond. Lic. Univ. o New York.
Removed to No. 498 George St., formerly office of Dr. McPhal
Private nursing home for surgical ca.

DR. G. STEWART CAMERON
Office and Residence
No. 273 Charlotte St. 'Phone 128

DR. G. C. LEACH
Late House Surgeon of Lakeside Hospital, Cleveland, Ohio; also of Cook County Hospital, Chicago
OFFICE—324 Hunter St., formerly occupied by Dr. Coughlin. Phone Bell 219.
Special Attention to Diseases of Women

DR. JAS. V. GALLIVAN
Office 215 Simcoe St. Late of St. John's Hospital New York. Lic. University of New York.
Telephone 668.

Osteopathy

DR. ASA G. WALMSLEY
Osteopathic Physician
Office over Canadian Bank of Commerce, Water Street entrance.
Office Hours—9 to 12 a.m. 2 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Consultation free.

Legal

R. E. WOOD
BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, Etc. Office removed from Bank of Commerce Building to 435 George street, recently occupied by E. B. Edwards. MONEY TO LOAN

W. H. MOORE
BARRISTER SOLICITOR, in the Supreme Court etc. Office—Hunter street, first stairs west of Post Office.

HALL & HAYES
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS and NOTARIES PUBLIC, Hunter Street, Peterborough, next to English Church. MONEY TO LOAN at the lowest rates of interest.
E. H. D. HALL. LOUIS M. HAYES

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON
(Successors to Stratton & Hall)
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, Etc., Peterborough Ont. Office—Corner of Hunter and Water Sts. over Bank of Commerce.
E. H. HALL, M.P. S. T. MEDD. W. S. DAVIDSON

EDMISON & DIXON
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, Etc. Office in Cluxton's Block, corner of Hunter and George streets, over Dickson's store.

DENNISTOUN, PECK & KERR
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, NOTARIES, Etc
415 Water Street, Peterborough.
R. J. PECK F. D. KERR. R. M. DENNISTOUN

Money

MONEY TO LOAN
ON EASY TERMS
O'CONNELL & GORDON
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS NOTARIES, Etc
Canadian and United States Patent Attorneys
134 Hunter Street, two doors west of Post Office.
DANIEL O'CONNELL GEORGE H. GORDON

ROGER, BENNET & GOODWILL
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, Etc., 37 Water St. Peterborough. Telephone No. 191.
Money at Current Rates
Upon Easy Terms.
G. M. ROGER. J. W. BENNETT. R. L. GOODWILL

Children's Aid Society
FOR THE CARE OF NEGLECTED AND ILL-TREATED CHILDREN.
Incorporated by Act of Legislature, 1898
Information required. Informants name kept strictly private.
CHILDREN FOR ADOPTION
Office Hours—11.00 to 12.00 a.m.
OFFICE—DIVISION COURT BLDG
GEO. COCHRANE,
Agent and Asst Sec

TORONTO SAVINGS AND LOAN CO.

PAID UP CAPITAL $1,000,000.00
RESERVE FUND 580,000.00

SAVINGS
An Account may be opened at any time with a Deposit of One Dollar.
3½% Interest allowed on daily balances.
DEBENTURE DEPT.
Four Per Cent. paid half yearly on sums of $100.00 and upwards.
MONEY TO LOAN
at current rates of interest.
V. G. MORROW,
Manager

CENTRAL LIVERY STABLES
AND
VETERINARY INFIRMARY
193 Hunter Street West of Oriental Hotel.
If you wish a rig of any kind for any occasion ring us up and you will find everything up-to-date in the livery line. Both Phones 275. Night Phone Bell 4-5 B.
D. McKERCHER, V.S.

THAT PALE TIRED GIRL.

You see her everywhere—in the office, behind the counter, in society—weak, unstrung, awfully nervous and tired.

She hasn't heard of Ferrozone or she would be perfectly well. How quickly it strengthens! What an appetite it gives!

FERROZONE

Makes you strong, healthy, vigorous, happy.

It nourishes the blood, gives the body the right kind of material to build up with. Ferrozone puts color in pale cheeks, makes the whole body tingle with vim and vivacity. No tonic so instant in effect. Thousands of attractive, happy women use Ferrozone—why not you?

Price 50c per box or six for $2.50 at all dealers, or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., and Hartford, Conn. U.S.A.

British Columbia Strong Against Oriental Invasion

Canada Must Be White Man's Country Say B. C. Members.

Debate in House of Commons — No Assimilation of Yellow Race Possible — Would Take Centuries to Obliterate Their Diversities—Right of Exclusion Must Be Impressed on Downing Street.

Ottawa, Dec. 17.—Five of the seven British Columbia members had the floor yesterday on the Oriental immigration resolution of Mr. Smith of Nanaimo. The discussion was not finished when the House adjourned at 10 o'clock, and when it is resumed Mr. McCarthy of Calgary, Mr. Monk, Mr. Borden and Sir Wilfrid Laurier will probably be heard.

That the resolution will be pressed, there is very little reason to believe. The British Columbia statesmen were careful not to hurt the Government; in fact, while strongly advocating exclusion, they all, with the exception of Mr. Kennedy of New Westminster, declared that the Japanese treaty was ratified under the distinct impression, backed by a letter from Consul-General Nosse, that the Japanese Government would restrict emigration in accordance with a previous arrangement.

It is not expected that the motion will again be reached till after the vacation, when Special Envoy Lemieux will probably have completed his mission.

Just before adjournment, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, replying to Mr. Borden, said Government bills will be taken up to-day. The introduction of Mr. Fielding's insurance bill and the bill respecting old age annuities are the principal items of the bill of fare.

Asiatic Immigration.

The Opposition yesterday welcomed with vociferous applause John Stanfield, member-elect of Colchester, N S., who was formally introduced to Mr. Speaker by R. L. Borden and George W. Fowler. Afterwards there were some questions of more or less public interest answered by the Ministers and the consideration of the Jap immigration resolution of Mr. Smith (Liberal-Labor) of Nanaimo, B. C. This is the strict wording of Mr. Smith's kick:

"That in the opinion of this House steps should be taken to restrict the influx of Oriental immigrants into Canada, and inasmuch as the policy of the Government concerning Chinese immigration has proved entirely satisfactory, a definite policy should be immediately put into operation looking to the accomplishment of equally satisfactory results with regard to all other Oriental immigrants."

It was easy, Mr. Smith said, to associate the question with provincialism, but he was prepared to say that he would advocate nothing in the House in the interests of British Columbia that he was not convinced would be in the interests of the whole people. There always had been a race prejudice. He had been trying all his life to destroy and break down this race prejudice, but this prejudice had been fostered by the privileges granted the Orientals in British Columbia; an unrestrained system of spoilation and injustice against the British people. There was a tendency to consider small and local interests, and not to look out and recognize the national and international aspect of the case. Some had tried to use the question in the interest of petty politics, but so far as he was concerned he was prepared to discuss it as a national question. It was an Empire problem, and what was good for the Empire was good for Canada. The strength of the Empire depended on equality and the conditions of the elements composing the Empire. It was the prerogative of the Empire to go out and seek relations that will promote trade and commerce. But in promoting treaties with Oriental races there had been a disposition on the part of the Empire to bring the Empire into closer relations with the Oriental races. The two races in his opinion could not be assimilated. It would take centuries to obliterate their many diversities.

Mr. Smith took no stock in stories of Japanese plans of military invasion of this continent, but he believed that there would be a labor invasion. Over the Pacific there were 800,000,000 starving people within a few days' reach of a land flowing with milk and honey. Could they not see if the barriers were down the possibility of an overwhelming invasion of Orientals?

Mr. McPherson.

R. G. McPherson (Vancouver, B.C.), seconding the resolution, said the only mistake that was made when the Anglo-Japanese treaty was ratified was in putting faith in the promises of the Japanese Government. When the treaty came into effect the understanding that one person a month from each precinct of Japan would be permitted to come to Canada, at the most 600 or 700 a month.

The Provincial Government had gone outside of its jurisdiction when it passed the Natal Act and it was to the Federal Government alone that the people of British Columbia looked for the restriction of Japanese immigration.

Mr. McPherson said the yellow peril was closer than many thought. If the influx kept up there would soon be more yellow people than whites in British Columbia, and in the event of a struggle between Britain and Japan that part of Canada would be lost to the Empire.

Comox-Atlin's Member.

Mr. Sloan (Comox-Atlin) said that after having spent a period of his life in the Orient, he would deal with the question from a not altogether local point of view and discuss it from the standpoint of loyalty to Canada and the flag.

"Sir Wilfrid Laurier has stated," declared Mr. Sloan, "that the solution as far as Japan is concerned is different. I agree with him fully in that statement, but from the very fact that it is different and more difficult, it is the more dangerous and the remedy must be the more drastic. It might be true that labor was scarce in British Columbia, but so it had been in the other provinces of Canada owing to prosperous times. But labor should not be robbed of its legitimate share in prosperity by unjust competition.

"England," said the member for Comox-Atlin, "has made an alliance with this new world power, but this alliance and all other treaties or compacts of a European-Asian complexion can never endure. They can at best possess the elements of expediency, never thorough permanence or stability. It is impossible. It is improbable; nay, more, it is unnatural. As individuals, the races do not, and never will, associate. A nation, their ultimate destiny, their world-wide interests, their undying ambitions centre in channels as opposite as the poles."

ABSOLUTE SECURITY.

Genuine

Carter's Little Liver Pills.

Must Bear Signature of

Brentgood

See Fac-Simile Wrapper Below.

Very small and as easy to take as sugar.

CARTER'S ITTLE IVER PILLS

FOR HEADACHE.
FOR DIZZINESS.
FOR BILIOUSNESS.
FOR TORPID LIVER.
FOR CONSTIPATION
FOR SALLOW SKIN.
FOR THE COMPLEXION

CURE SICK HEADACHE.

8 MONTHS FOR MRS. HAMILTON.

Convicted of Defrauding St. Catharines' Banker Out of $200.

St. Catharines, Dec. 17.—"You should have thought about your little children who are even now asking when their mother is coming back, before you started such things as this," said Police Magistrate Comfort yesterday to Lillian Hamilton, the Buffalo young woman, who had just pleaded guilty to swindling L. H. Collard, the private banker here, out of $200 by forging a local merchant's signature to a note.

"I will take your children into consideration in passing sentence, but I cannot let you off," continued the magistrate. "You will be confined in the Mercer Reformatory for eight months."

The woman took the sentence stolidly, evidently expecting a longer term, but she said it was her first and last offence.

KILDONA A WRECK.

Captain and Crew Safe, But Vessel Will Break Up.

St. John, N.B., Dec. 17.—The steamship Louisburg, having on board Captain Roberts, the officers and crew of the wrecked Thomson liner Kildona, reached port at 10 o'clock yesterday morning.

It was learned the Kildona is caught fast under her fore hold, and her bottom is badly stove in and the hold flooded.

The Louisburg arrived about 11 and made an attempt to pull the Kildona off, but she was hard aground, and as the captain saw she could not long hold together in the heavy seas pounding over her, he gave orders to launch the boats. One was smashed, but three others got away, making several trips to the steamer Louisburg and placing on board all the crew and their effects. Between 4 and 5 o'clock, when Captain Roberts and first officer left the Kildona, she was fast breaking up and has probably totally disappeared.

The steamer Empress of Britain reports both Brazil Rock and Blond Rock buoys adrift. This probably explains the disaster. The steamer Lady Laurier left Halifax yesterday to replace these buoys.

MOTORMAN ACQUITTED.

Was Charged With Causing Collision Through Negligence.

Hamilton, Dec. 17.—Abraham Davis, was yesterday found guilty at the sessions of snatching a purse from Mrs. Burgoyne, Toronto. It took the jury only 15 minutes to arrive at that verdict. He was remanded for sentence.

James McIlraith, the street railway motorman on the car that collided on Nov. 12 with a G. T. R. train at the corner of King street and Ferguson avenue, and who was charged with criminal negligence, was acquitted. Judge Monk charged in his favor. He said the jury had to consider two things—did McIlraith attempt to do anything to prevent the accident, and, did he do it wilfully. A man cannot be a criminal unless he has a criminal intent. The Street Railway Co. could not appoint electricians to run its cars, but it ought to see that its men were competent. In jumping from his car 40 feet before it collided with the train, McIraith was to be severely criticized, and if they found that he did it wilfully they would have to bring in a verdict of guilty.

FIVE-YEAR SENTENCE.

Treasurer of Quebec Central Railway Defaulter For Large Amount.

Montreal, Dec. 17.—The defalcations of A. H. Anderson, treasurer of the Quebec Central Railway, turns out to be more serious than was supposed, and they are said to be nearly $200,000. The defalcations cover a period of eighteen years, and amount to about $10,000 a year. The railway is almost entirely an English company, and the directors sent their own auditors from London.

His method was to show in the books the railway as owing a couple of thousand more than they did. The Quebec Central Railway being connected with a number of other roads in the United States and Canada there is constant counter accounts, and Anderson falsified this, but apparently did not forge vouchers.

He was sent down yesterday for five years.

Ape Chewed Up Thief.

New York, Dec. 17.—While a burglar was filling his pockets with jewelry in the house of Miss Catherine Baman, at Amsterdam avenue and 154th street, he was suddenly confronted by her pet ape, Napoleon Bonaparte, who attacked him ferociously with teeth and claws.

During the battle, which raged all over the parlor of Miss Baman's house, two valuable canvases were destroyed and the furniture lost much of its polish. Incidentally, the burglar lost much of his clothing and skin, besides his loot. It was with difficulty he escaped into the hallway and out the front door.

Honore Mercier Elected.

Montreal, Dec. 17.—There will be a Mercier in the Quebec Legislature when Mr. Speaker takes his seat next session. Ald. H. Mercier, son of the ex-Premier, was elected yesterday in Chateauguay by the handsome majority of 200, and the anti-English cry had, as intimated Sunday evening, very little effect, as some of the English polls gave the straight Liberal candidate good majorities.

For instance, Mercier leads the poll in Howick by 55 and in Ormstown by 21. Poissan, Independent Liberal, polled 300 votes.

Threw Stick at Premier.

Vienna, Dec. 17.—There was a riotous scene in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday afternoon. Members of the Ruthenian party saw fit to interrupt the proceedings, and a Ruthenian deputy threw a piece of wood at the Premier. The Christian Socialists then retaliated by attacking the Ruthenians, using chairs as weapons. Several deputies sustained injuries before order was restored.

Burned Ten Thousand Dollars.

Marion, Ohio, Dec. 17.—John Gordon, a wealthy farmer of this county, burned $10,000 in bills yesterday, a short time before he died. The charred remnants of the bills were found by members of his family. Gordon was 85 years old, and in the last few weeks had grown childish.

Drowned In the St. Clair.

Port Huron, Mich., Dec. 17.—Edward Brown, aged 24, of Corunna, Ont., a sailor, attempted to take off his overcoat in a row boat while crossing the St. Clair River seven miles below here and was thrown into the river by a gust of wind and drowned.

Football Injury Fatal.

St. Thomas, Dec. 17.—Following a football injury, which resulted in blood-poisoning, Master Henry Wallace Abbott, aged 15, died yesterday morning.

Cobourg customs collect $800 per day on the coal brought into that port by the new G.T.R. ferry.

ART THIEVES IN FRANCE

Treasures Worth Fabulous Sums Disappear From Museums.

Robbers at Amiens Enter Building In Spite of Elaborate System of Alarms and Carry Off Choice 18th Century Paintings—Police Outwitted — Thieves Appear to Be Art Connoisseurs.

Paris, Dec. 17.—Almost a million francs' worth of pictures and art objects disappeared this week from French museums. Following the robbery of the museum in Rouen, when many priceless treasures of eighteenth century culture disappeared, the extremely rich museum in Amiens was also entered. Here, too, the robbers devoted themselves to works of the eighteenth century, picking out works of the greatest value with the skill of expert connoisseurs.

The Amiens museum, in view of the art robberies reported by other museums and churches throughout the country, has been provided with an elaborate system of burglar alarms, and the usual force of night watchmen had been doubled. In spite of these precautions the burglars clambered up a water pipe to the roof, broke through the skylight and descended into the room reserved for eighteenth century masters by means of a knotted rope.

The police are nonplussed. They do not know whether the miscreants are professional cracksmen or art enthusiasts suffering monomania. The former theory is considered the most likely, because at all the recent art sales in Europe the works of the eighteenth century painters have commanded fabulous prices.

POPE CONDEMNS MODERNISTS.

Resents Their Perseverance In Rebellion Against the Church.

Rome, Dec. 17.—Pius X. yesterday held a secret consistory in the Vatican, in which he created four new cardinals and precanonized several bishops.

The new cardinals are: Mons. Pietro Gasparri, secretary of the Congregation of Extraordinary Ecclesiastical Affairs; Mons. De Lai, secretary of the Congregations of the Council; Mons. Ludovic Henry Lucon, Archbishop of Theims; and Mons. Paul Pierre Andrieu, Archbishop of Versailles.

The Pope delivered an elocution, in which he made reference to the tenacious persecution of the Redeemer and said that his church had been attacked from all sides in a warfare open or dissimilated. The rights and laws of the church had been trampled on even by those who should safeguard them, and the impious and vulgar press had fought her even to the extent of disturbing the public quiet.

In conclusion the elocution reads: "The Episcopacy has accepted the Papal direction with eagerness and has applied them with zeal, but the modernists persevere in their rebellion and give manifest proof of their attitude even in the press. May God enlighten these misled ones."

Epsom Salts an Anesthetic.

New York, Dec. 17.—An announcement of the discovery of a new anesthetic will soon be made by the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research.

The new anesthetic is nothing else than plain, common epsom salts. Its great value is that it permits any sort of an operation without any danger to the heart of the patient.

Either local or general anesthia, it is said, may be produced by the injection of a 20 per cent. solution of the familiar drug into the nerve tract governing the sensations of the part to be operated upon.

Prosecuting Booking Agent.

London, Dec. 17.—Bruce Walker, superintendent of Canadian emigration, has notified all booking agents regarding the new regulation requiring emigrants coming to Canada to have a certain amount of Canadian currency in their possession. Mr. Walker is also taking legal proceedings against a London booking agent who, through misleading advertisements, has been endeavoring to induce mechanics and other artisans to emigrate to Canada.

Queen Carola Dead.

Dresden, Dec. 17.—The body of Dowager Queen Carola of Saxony, who died yesterday, is lying in state in the winter garden of the villa where the end came.

It will be transferred to the Catholic Court Church in Dresden this evening.

It will there lie in state a second time until the funeral, which has been fixed for Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock.

Seven Men Badly Burned.

Halifax, N. S., Dec. 17.—Seven men were badly burned by a hot air and gas explosion of a blast furnace here Sunday night.

The victims will likely recover, but will be disfigured for life. The flesh on one of the victims' hands peeled completely off, while others were burned seriously about the face and hands.

Kills Two and Self.

Columbus, Ohio, Dec. 17.—Otto Schmigler, a Hungarian tailor, Sunday shot and probably fatally wounded Mrs. Caroline Webster, and seriously wounded Miss Myrtle Spence and then killed himself. He had been out of employment for some time and was despondent. He was infatuated with Miss Spence.

Open to Saskatoon.

Saskatoon, Dec. 17.—The city is now connected with Winnipeg by the C. P. R., the first train having arrived Sunday night from the east.

The new transcontinental is now ready for traffic as far west as Asquith, and it is expected that grain will be hauled in a few days.

Aylmer shipped 1,200 turkeys in one week to the British Christmas market.

THE MARKETS.

Liverpool and Chicago Wheat Futures Close Higher—Live Stock —Latest Quotations.

Monday Evening, Dec. 16.

Liverpool wheat futures closed to-day 1⅛d to 1¼d higher. Corn, ¼d up.

At Chicago December wheat closed ⅞c higher; December corn ¾c higher, and December oats ⅜c higher.

Winnipeg Options.

Following are the closing quotations on Winnipeg grain futures to-day:

Wheat—Dec. $1.03 bid, May $1.10¾ bid.

Oats—Dec. 43c bid, May 48¾c bid.

Toronto Grain Market.

Grain—
Wheat, spring, bush	$0 96	to $....
Wheat, fall, bush	0 97	....
Wheat, goose, bush	0 87	....
Wheat, red, bush	0 98	....
Rye, bush	0 83	....
Peas, bush	0 88	....
Buckwheat, bush	0 64	0 65
Barley, bush	0 70	....
Oats, bush	0 52	....

Toronto Dairy Market.

Butter, dairy, lb. rolls	0 27	0 28
Butter, tubs	0 26	0 27
Butter, creamery, lb. rolls	0 30	0 31
Butter, creamery, boxes	0 29	0 30
Eggs, new-laid, dozen	0 30	....
Eggs, cold-storage, dozen	0 22	....
Cheese, large, lb	0 13½	....
Cheese, twin, lb	0 13¾	....
Honey, extracted, lb	0 13	0 13½

New York Dairy Market.

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—Butter—Steady; receipts, 3394. Creamery, specials, 29½c; extras, 28½c to 29c; thirds to first, 21c to 28c; held, seconds to special, 22c to 28c; state dairy, common to finest, 20c to 33c; process, common to specials, 15c to 23c; western factory, common to first, 15c to 20c; imitation creamery, first, 21c to 22c.

Cheese—Firm; receipts, 1329; state full cream, small, colored and white, fine, 16½c; large, colored, fine, 15¾c; do., white, 15½c; do., good to prime, 14½c to 15c; do., late made, best, 11½c to 12c; do., common to fair, 9½c to 11½c; skims, 10c to 11c.

Eggs—Steady; receipts, 6025; state, Pennsylvania and nearby fancy selected white, 50c; good to choice, 43c to 48c; brown and mixed fancy, 40c; average best, 36c to 38c; first to extra first, 32c to 35c; western first, 32c to 33c; second, 28c to 31c.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Cables Steady—Cattle and Hogs Are Easier at Chicago.

LONDON, Dec. 16.—London cables are firmer, at 11c to 12½c per lb., dressed weight; refrigerator beef is quoted at 9¾c to 10c per pound.

Toronto Junction Live Stock.

TORONTO JUNCTION, Dec. 16.—Receipts of live stock at the Union Stock Yards were 25 carloads, composed of 559 cattle, 2 hogs, 145 sheep and 20 calves.

Exporters.

There were a few loads of light exporters, but not much demand for them. T. Halligan bought two loads, 1240 lbs. each, at $4.45 to $4.50. Export bulls sold at $3 to $4.25 per cwt.

Butchers.

Picked butchers' heifers sold at $5 to $5.25; loads of good, $4.50 to $5; medium, $4 to $4.25; common, at $3.50 to $3.75; canners, at $1 to $1.50 per cwt.

Veal Calves.

Veal calves were in demand at $4 to $6 per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs.

Sheep sold at $4 per cwt.; lambs, at $5 to $5.25 per cwt.

Hogs.

Gunn's, Limited, quoted hogs unchanged, at $5.50 per cwt. for selects, and $5.25 f.o.b., cars, at country points.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, Dec. 16.—(Special.)—At the Montreal Stock Yards, west end market, the receipts of live stock for the week ending Dec. 14 were 3979 cattle, 3906 sheep and lambs, 2701 hogs and 307 calves, while the offerings this morning consisted of 1350 cattle, 350 sheep and lambs, 900 hogs and 200 calves.

The display of cattle was not as large as expected, but was quite ample to fill all requirements and the quality of the stock was of the choicest. A feature was the demand from Quebec buyers, who bought several car loads of choice steers at 5¼c to 5½c, and Belanger secured the finest steer on the market, which weighed 1280 lbs. and cost 7½c per lb. Extra choice beeves, sold at 5¼c to 5¾c; choice, at 5c to 5¼c; good, at 4½c to 4¾c; fair, at 4c to 4¼c; common, at 3¼c to 3¾c; inferior, at 2½c to 3c per lb., and canners, at 70c to 90c per cwt. A stronger feeling developed in the market for lambs and prices show an advance of ¼c per lb., which was due to a smaller run and the fact that the quality was better than usual for the Christmas trade. There was also a firmer feeling in the market for sheep, but prices show no actual change from a week ago. There were a few very choice milk-fed calves on the market, which met with a good demand. One lot of five weighing 2280 lbs., sold at 8c per lb. The demand for hogs was good from packers and dealers and an active trade was done at $6 to $6.25 per cwt. for selected lots, weighed off cars.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, Dec. 16.—Cattle—Receipts, 5000 head; slow and 25c lower; prime steers, $5.85 to $6.75; shipping, $4.60 to $5.25; butchers', $4 to $5; heifers, $3.25 to $4.75; cows, $2.50 to $4.15; bulls, $2.50 to $4.50; stockers and feeders, $2.50 to $4; stock heifers, $2.25 to $2.75; fresh cows and springers, steady, $20 to $56.

Veals—Receipts, 1200 head; active and steady, $5 to $9.25.

Hogs—Receipts, 29,000 head; active and 10c to 25c lower; heavy, $4.65 to $4.70; mixed and yorkers, $4.60 to $4.65; pigs, $4.40 to $4.50; roughs, $4 to $4.15; stags, $3 to $3.50; dairies, $4.25 to $4.60.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 23,000 head; active; lambs and yearlings, 25c lower; others, steady; lambs, $3 to $7.25; yearlings, 25c lower; others, steady; lambs, $3 to $7.25; yearlings, $5.50 to $5.75; wethers, $4.75 to $5; ewes, $4.50 to $4.75; sheep, mixed, $2 to $4.75; Canada lambs, $6.85 to $7.

New York Live Stock.

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—Beeves—Receipts, 3718; steers, dull to a shade lower; bulls, slow to 15c lower; bologna cows, easier; not wanted; fat cows, firm to 15c higher; steers, $3.60 to $5.95; bulls, $2.60 to $3.90; extra fat do., $4.85; cows, $1.25 to $2.75. Exports to-morrow, 700 cattle and 5800 quarters of beef.

Calves—Receipts, 1500; prime veals, firm to higher; others, steady; barnyard and western calves, selling more freely. Veals, $5 to $9.75; barnyard calves, $2.50 to $3; western calves, $3.62½.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 11,349; sheep, steady to firm; choice, higher; lambs, active and strong, 10c to 25c higher; sheep, $3 to $5; choice, $5.25; culls $2; lambs, $6.12½ to $7.50; one car, $7.60; culls, $5 to $5.50.

Chicago Live Stock.

CHICAGO, Dec. 16.—Cattle—Receipts estimated at about 25,000; market dull; steers, $4.00 to $6.20; cows, $2.75 to $4.50; heifers, $2.50 to $5.25; bulls, $2.00 to $4.50; calves, $3 to $7.25; stockers and feeders, $3 to $4.50.

Hogs—Receipts estimated at about 55,000; market 10c lower; choice heavy shipping, $4.50 to $4.55; light butchers', $4.50 to $4.55; light mixed, $4.40 to $4.45; choice light, $4.40 to $4.45; packing, $4.25 to $4.40; pigs, $3.75 to $4.25; bulk of sales, $4.35 to $4.40.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts at about 25,000; market steady to 10c lower; sheep, $2.50 to $4.75; lambs, $5.40 to $6.25; yearlings, $4.20 to $4.85.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS
PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days or money refunded. 50c.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM
RAILWAY TIME TABLE

	Arrive	Depart
Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, Gravenhurst, North Bay, Stouffville and Toronto	11.40 a.m. 8.00 p.m.	8.25 a.m 5.38 p.m
Port Hope and points east to Montreal and Boston		6.30 a.m
Port Hope, Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago & West, Niagara Falls, Buffalo, Cobourg, Montreal and East	8.20 a.m. 5.33 p.m.	11.45 a.m 9.05 p.m
From Buffalo, Hamilton, Toronto, Bowmanville and Port Hope	11.45 a.m.
Toronto, Lindsay, Stouffville, Uxbridge and Markham	10.06 p.m.	7.20 a.m
Lindsay Local	8.15 a.m.	9.10 p.m
Hastings, Campbellford, Madoc, Belleville, Kingston, Montreal and East	8.10 a.m. 8.40 p.m.	8.30 a.m 1.50 p.m
Lakefield and Stony Lake	9.50 a.m. 5.15 p.m.	8.30 a.m 12.20 p.m

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY

To Peterboro' Going East,
11.16 a. m., Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal
7.51 p. m., Indian River, Norwood, Havelock, Tweed.
12.31 a. m. midnight, Havelock, Tweed, Smith's Falls, Montreal, Quebec Portland, Boston and New England points.
1.10 a. m., Ottawa express, Norwood, Havelock, Ivanhoe, Tweed, Smith's Falls, Carleton Jct., Ottawa.
To Peterboro' Going West,
4.48 a. m. for Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, New York, Woodstock, St. Thomas, Chicago, etc.
5.26 a. m. Do. Do.
7.56 a. m. for Cavanville, Manvers, Pontypool, Burketon, etc., Fort William, Winnipeg and all western points in North West Canada.
4.48 p. m. Pontypool, Lindsay, Toronto, Hamilton, Galt, Woodstock, London, Detroit Chicago, etc.

Acton rejoices in a ten per cent. cut in the price of brick and ten per cent on some classes of lumber.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

Xmas and New Year's Excursions

Between all stations in Canada, also to Detroit and Port Huron, Mich., Buffalo, Black Rock, Niagara Falls and Suspension Bridge, N.Y.

AT SINGLE FARE
Good going December 24th and 25th, 1907.
RETURNING UNTIL DEC. 26, 1907
Also good going December 31st, 1907, and January 1st, 1908, returning until January 2nd, 1908.

AT FARE AND ONE-THIRD
Good going Dec. 21st to Dec. 25th, 1907.
Returning until January 3rd, 1908.
Also good going Dec. 28th, 1907, to Jan. 1st, 1908.
Returning Until January 3rd, 1908

For further information and tickets call on
W. BUNTON
City Passenger Agent
F. SANDY,
Depot Ticket Agent
Or write Mr J. D. McDonald, D.P.A., Union Depot, Toronto

CANADIAN NORTHERN ONTARIO

SHORT LINE TO MUSKOKA AND PARRY SOUND

WINTER TIME TABLE
In effect December 9th, 1907

NORTHBOUND

	No. 1	No. 3
TORONTO	† 9.00 am	† 5.30 pm
WASHAGO	12.45 pm	9.00 pm
PARRY SOUND	3.10 pm	....

SOUTHBOUND

	No. 2	No. 4
PARRY SOUND	† 9.00 am	†........
WASHAGO	11.25 am	6.45 am
TORONTO	3.00 pm	10.10 am

Observation-Dining Parlor Cars between Toronto and Parry Sound serving meals a la carte.
† Daily except Sunday.
OFFICES: All Stations, also Cor. King and Toronto and Union Station. Phone, Main 5179.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

CHRISTMAS and NEW YEAR RATES

RETURN TICKETS between all stations in Canada, east of Port Arthur and to Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Detroit, Mich., and Niagara Falls and Buffalo, N.Y., on sale at

SINGLE FARE
good going Dec. 24 and 25, returning until Dec. 26, also Dec. 31 and January 1, returning until Jan. 2, 1908.

FARE AND A THIRD
good going Dec. 21, 22, 23, 24 and 25, also Dec. 28, 29, 30 and 31 and Jan. 1, all good returning until Jan. 3, 1908.
Tickets and all information from
W. McILROY,
Canadian Pacific Agent
349 George St. Peterboro'
or write C. B. Foster, D.P.A., Toronto

Letterheads

¶What you think about you Business Stationery isn't quite so important as what your correspondent thinks.

¶Don't have inferior paper and work in your Business Stationery. Don't try good work and paper because you like it, altogether, but because it influences the man you write in your favor

¶The Review Job Department will give you the best work obtainable and superior paper and envelopes. Your order set, printed and cared for for you, particularly y.u

¶A Call or Phone will bring to you samples

THE REVIEW
PETERBOROUGH

Why Peterborough Citizens Now Come to Dr. Browett for Glasses

FIRST REASON. The Eye glasses supplied by Dr. Browett are ground in one of the largest and best optical factories in America. Skilled workmanship and quality have placed the lenses produced by this firm far in advance of those ground in the ordinary factory. Dr. Browett devotes his exclusive attention to Optical Work—examining eyes, and teaching Opticians the use of the modern eye instruments. The number of Optical colleges this gentleman has attended, his experiences throughout the United States and Canada as a teacher of opticians, the thousands of satisfied patrons in various parts of America, wherever he has visited in his teaching capacity, his equipment of instruments and knowledge of their use are sufficient reasons for Dr. Browett's success since making Peterborough his permanent home, and our store his head office.

McDERMID & JURY'S, Drug Store,
390 George Street, Peterborough, Ont.

A Story of Absorbing Interest

The Rogue's March

By E. W. HORNUNG, author of "Raffles, the Amateur Cracksman," "Stingaree," etc.

Meanwhile there was much to do, and Tom did most of it with enormous zest. He had never thought to be so happy again. His enthusiasm was the one return that he could make to Daintree, and he permitted it no bounds. It was Tom who stuck the drawing pin through a cork ship of cunning build, full rigged, with needles for masts and paper sails. When Daintree saw it, they christened her the Rosamund, after her real namesake, with a fitting libation, and from that day forth the cork vessel plowed the white ocean of the chart and was a good half inch nearer Sydney every morning when the master of the house entered the breakfast room.

"You sympathetic fellow!" he would say to Tom, and sympathy bred sympathy as it always will. "You must marry yourself, Thomas," he would add, "and you and your wife must live with me and mine, and we'll go into partnership together up the country somewhere and all four live happy ever after."

To all of which the servant would shake his head, but continue to enter into the master's happiness with unabated sympathy and enthusiasm. Nor was this a conscious merit in Tom; it made him think no better of himself. He knew how much was inspired by gratitude and how much more by the selfish relief of sinking his own woes in the hopes and fears and raptures of his friend. He was not even aware of the essential fineness of a nature capable of this kind of comfort. Eternal dissatisfaction with his own feelings kept his opinion of himself at zero still. And if the new bond between Tom and his benefactor had done no more than provide them with common ground on which they might meet and be at one in all sincerity, even so it would have done much for Tom's peace of mind.

When Daintree spoke of his beloved his dark face shone, the darker eyes softened, and the rich voice quivered with no common passion. It was possible to agree and to applaud without hypocrisy, which was not possible when the puny poet stood in the strong man's shoes. Of his poetry enough has been said, but about his passion there was no mistake. The one was genuine; the other was not. It was a man's passion, a selfish passion, but the sheer masterful strength of it was patent to Tom from the first. Sometimes it made him fear for the girl—and despair of himself. Gratitude apart, it was as though his spoiled and petty spirit was incapable of an honest, whole hearted, ungrudging admiration and regard.

In all their talks the only name Tom heard was Clarinda. It was characteristic of his state that he never inquired the other. His sympathy and his interest were confined to his friend; real curiosity he had none. He asked no questions, but a crooked answer was ready for him if he had.

"You must let me tell her all I owe to you," Tom said once. "It will be a pleasure to her and a relief to me."

"Perhaps you owe as much to herself."

It had slipped out, but Tom was not at all excited.

"You mean that she believed in me, too?" he asked with a mild sort of incredulity, and he saw from the other's face that she had not. "Upon my soul," he thought, "I begin to disbelieve in myself, especially since I've done as bad out here—and perhaps not heard the last of it yet!"

Daintree wondered why he shuddered in the sun. It was because his one true and fierce emotion was the base fear of further tortures. He despised himself for that most of all.

Meanwhile the cork ship with the paper sails was creeping slowly, but surely, across the great white south Atlantic of the chart, and the wall on which it hung had been repapered, and the whole bungalow smelt of paint. It was a fair sized house of two stories, with a veranda encircling the one and a balcony the other. Very pretty it looked in its new coat of paint for the summer, a white coat with yellow trimmings, which stood out delightfully on the blue water's edge. The garden lawn merged into a narrow strand that slid straight under the wavelets themselves. As summer set in the trees behind the house broke out in every gay and gorgeous color; it was the plumage of the parrots that now came and perched in flocks among the branches.

Tom gave up his room, as two ladies and a maid were expected. It was repapered for the maid. A room was found for Tom in the pretty little stables amid the trees, where he helped Fawcett with the horses and the curricle, which was in Sydney on some errand every day. Generally the master went alone. Once he took Tom with him. It was on the occasion of his cashing a check to meet the running expenses of these elaborate preparations.

They were on their way home at dusk when Daintree pulled up on the outskirts of the town and hailed a disconsolate, soldierly figure with one arm in a sling.

"Why, Harry!" cried Daintree. "That's never you?"

"I wish it wasn't, sir."

"You've left the force?"

"These six months. It was my arm. Look there, sir!"

An emaciated hand came through the sling. The thumb and forefinger were uninjured, but half the middle finger and both the other two were like dead, distorted branches on a living tree.

"What did it?"

"A bullet; caught me on the funny bone and paralyzed half my hand. My right hand too. It's set me on the shelf at thirty-three."

"An accident, Harry?"

Tom held his breath.

"Quite," said Harry bitterly. "It was meant for my heart. You would hear of the bushrangers at Dr. Sullivan's last summer—that's when it was—and the one that did it was the only one to get away."

Tom's clothes were sticking to him, freezing him. "Drive on!" he whispered. "For God's sake, sir, drive on!"

Daintree expressed sympathy with the man and whipped up his horses.

"Not so fast!" cried Tom. "You offered me wages. Advance me £5 of what you got from the bank!"

His face was white with horror, his tone so piteous and so eager that Daintree pulled up, took 5 sovereigns from a bag and dropped them one by one into the trembling hand. Tom sprang out and ran back to the disabled man.

"From my master!" he gasped and thrust the money into his left hand and darted back without daring to look in his face. The astonished trooper had not time to say a word.

"God bless you for that money!" faltered Tom in terrible agitation as they drove on. "I gave it to him from you. I want no wages. Give them all to him!"

The other remained silent.

"You don't ask why!"

"I think I know."

"It was I who smashed his arm and spoiled his life!"

"I suspected it."

"When?"

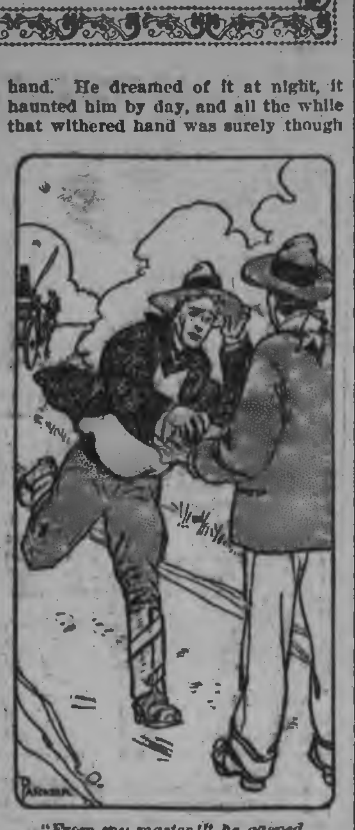
"On the road down, when you kept looking behind and thinking they were after you."

"Ah, no!" cried Tom, almost beside himself with grief and shame. "That was for something else. See what a villain I have been! You should have left me one. I could have stood it if you'd left me what I was! Oh, what am I to do—I in luxury and that man shattered and ruined by my hand? I can't bear it! I must confess! And I an innocent man in the beginning! Oh, that was bad enough, to be condemned for what you never did, but it's as bad to know you're guilty and to go scot free!"

The other said nothing, but listened attentively as Tom now unbosomed himself of the whole truth of his adventure with the bushrangers, whereupon Daintree justified his offense with such warmth of conviction that Tom was a little soothed. But his lavish friend went further. He undertook that the disabled man should want for nothing, but first they must find out what his circumstances really were.

They found out within an hour, and from the man himself. He had followed them on foot to render thanks. He even wanted to return the money. Not only was the department treating him handsomely, the surgeons had hopes of his arm, and he was ashamed of the way in which he must have exaggerated matters in the street. So Tom was assured when the man was gone. He kept out of the way while he was there.

The assurance consoled him—a little. He never forgot that half withered hand. He dreamed of it at night, it haunted him by day, and all the while that withered hand was surely though invisibly restoring the shattered temple of his soul. It did for Tom what mere kindness had failed to do, for now a horror of his acts replaced the dread of their consequences. Those ignoble terrors passed quite away. It never even occurred to Tom that he had lightly confessed what no living witness could have proved.



"From my master!" he gasped.

He had been with Daintree now some eight or nine weeks. There were deep lines in his face, but his eyes were no longer inflamed and ferocious, and he was beginning to hold them up again as of old. The debonair glance had not come back. It was gone forever. And his back was still marked (the master saw it when they bathed), and his walk was still shambling. Yet day by day peace was creeping into his heart, day by day he liked Daintree better, and day by day the little cork Rosamund left the Cape farther astern and came nearer and nearer Sydney heads.

CHAPTER XXVI.

ONE morning when Tom was busy in his pantry a tearful voice advised him that he was wanted in the study at once. The woman vanished as he turned; the kitchen door slammed upon her sobs, and in the study Tom found his master in a towering rage.

"You profess some gratitude toward me, I believe?" said Daintree, with a biting ceremony of voice and manner.

"Not more than I feel—not half as much."

"Then you are the exception, and now's your chance of showing what you say you feel. I'm going to ask a favor of you, Thomas."

"You shouldn't put it so, sir. I love to serve you."

"Then go to Parramatta factory and choose a wife!"

Tom twitched all over and stood very still without a word. The other covered him with an ugly eye.

"So even your gratitude has its limits!" he sneered. "Another time I should protest a little less if I were you."

"You ask the one impossible thing," replied Tom, with a groan.

"Pardon me, I did not ask it," rejoined Daintree, whose blacker moods inspired him with a perfect genius for picking quarrels. "Though you have not honored me with your confidence, it may relieve you to hear that I have not the least desire to tamper with your loyalty to some lady unknown. I ask you to choose a wife—not to marry her."

"I don't understand you, sir," said Tom respectfully.

"You will if you condescend to listen. The woman Fawcett says we shall require another servant here. I don't believe a word of it—the ladies are bringing their own maid with them—but this idle, impudent, ungrateful woman holds a pistol to my head and threatens to desert me at this juncture if I don't get her a girl. I've had her here bullying me for the last half hour, and this is the hole that I'm in—either the Fawcetts leave this day month, when I shall want them most, or I must apply for a convict woman, and God knows what kind they'll send me. Now, if you applied for a wife you'd have your pick and choose a decent one, and, as I say, there's no earthly reason why you should ever marry her."

"Surely it would be unfair not to," objected Tom, who would have used a stronger adjective to anybody else.

"Unfair on the girl? Not at all. You simply let her off a blind bargain and she gains good wages and a comfortable home. The girl comes out of it deuced well, the officials are none the wiser and none the worse, while I have the advantage of your selection instead of theirs."

"I might make a bad choice"—

"Oh, if you want to keep out of it," cried Daintree, "keep out of it and refuse me the first favor I've ever asked you to do me! I shall know better than to ask another. Only in future let me hear less of your gratitude till you've some to show."

Tom consented without further words. He disliked the plan as cordially as he resented the outrageous tone adopted by Daintree, but he would submit to both sooner than deny the man to whom he owed more than he could even yet realize.

Meanwhile the necessary letters, in which the convict applied for a wife and the master undertook to support her, were written, the one with secret abhorrence, the other with a sinister gusto. Next day Tom received his order to the matron of the factory to supply him with a wife and started in the early morning following on an errand which his whole soul repudiated.

"You are to take her back with you," said the woman, having read her letter, "and to be married from your master's house."

Tom found Peggy O'Brien and selected her. By noon she was a comparatively free woman. Alas, she was an unutterably happy one!

Her arm stole within Tom's as he drove. He had neither the courage nor the heart to tell her the truth outright. It was a cruel position for them both. He glanced with horror at her radiant face, and again he noticed her hair.

"Where's it all gone to, Peggy?" he asked, pointing to the short strong locks. "What have you done with it?"

They had reached the outskirts of Parramatta. New buildings were springing up in every direction, and Peggy jerked her head toward some scaffoldings.

"Is it where me hair's gone?" she said, with a laugh. "Mebbe there's some of 't there."

"Where, Peggy?"

"In them new buildin's, like as not. An' didn't ye hear they strengthen the morthar wid the hair of the women's heads? 'Tis thrue, then, in Parramatta. An' 'tis mighty kind they think themselves to give us the razor instid o' the cat. But where's their bricks an' morthar if they bet us?"

"They used that glorious hair for bricks and mortar!"

His praise of it was dearer far than her possession. She colored with pride and happiness as she told him it happened long ago when first she came there.

"But why did it happen?" he asked indignantly. "What could you have done to deserve such treatment?"

She hesitated and squeezed his arm.

"Nat Sullivan came"—

"Nat Sullivan!"

—"an' I was to swear whether or not you were one of the bushrangers, so you may think what I swore, an' he said I was a liar, an' I struck 'm in the face wid me open hand, an' they shaved me for that!"

Tom felt miserable. She had suffered for him all along. How could he tell her he was deceiving her now and had no intention of marrying her at all? Not one word of that had passed her modest lips, yet the pressure of her homely hand was eloquent with love and joy. What could he do? What could he say? For miles he never opened his lips; they were tight shut when she glanced at him and his face so wretched that at last she could bear it no longer.

"What is it, dear?" she asked him tenderly. "Is it how ye can make such as me your wedded wife? Because ye needn't, Tom dear, if ye think betther not. 'Twouldn't take all that to make me happy!"

Then in a burst he told her of his master's plan and how he had entered into it against his own better judgment, because that master had plucked him from the jaws of death and from the gates of hell, and how from the moment he saw Peggy his only thought was to do for her what his master had done for him.

"My one idea," he said, "was to get you out of that horrible place. I give you my word I never thought of anything else. But"—

Her sweet eyes had fallen. There were tears on her lashes. Claire was dead to him, so what else mattered? Better be true to the living than to the dead.

—"but I do now!" he cried through his teeth. "Yes, Peggy, I mean it now! I hate such trickery; I'll have no hand in it. I applied for a wife and by the Lord I'll marry her, too—if—why"—

She had withdrawn her arm and was shaking her bent black head.

CHAPTER XXVII.

SEPTEMBER finished on its sweetest note, a mild breeze blowing off the south Pacific, a temperate sun in a spotless sky, a harbor fretted with waves like azure shells and winding among shores still green and wholesome from a winter's rains. It was Sunday, too, and round the woody headlands and across the dark blue inlets came the sound of bells for afternoon church. Tom lay on his back, his head beneath a Norfolk island pine, his heels in the warm sand at the water's edge. His eyes were closed, but he was listening to the bells.

He fancied the sound as 14,000 miles away, for so had he lain and listened amid the Suffolk rabbit warrens on summer Sundays when his place was in the cool, dark rectory pew. His spirit was in Suffolk now. Then the bells stopped. Then he lay very still, and when he turned he half expected his back to smart and his legs to jingle. Once more he was a felon in a felon's country. It was that despite sun and waves and soft white sand, and felon was his name no less for this his unmerited case. As he looked across the bay a black fin broke the blue and made an allegory with a single smudge. Even as those sweet waters teemed with sharks, so the fair land that locked them was rank and rotten with intestine horror and cruelty and corruption.

Fourteen thousand miles! The distance was brought home to Tom by being printed on the chart, beneath an ideal course, in small type, which the little Rosamund was sailing over at that moment. It set him thinking of Claire, but the thoughts had no form and little sting. Not even yet could he think or feel acutely. A bundle of dead nerves and clouded brains, he could but ache and work or ache and bask as he was doing now.

An odd number of "The Pickwick Papers" had found its way to the bungalow and now lay in the sand beside Tom. He had finished it, to his sorrow, before the bells began. Presently up came Daintree with the dog that still followed him to every haunt but his study. He carried his camp stool and an armful of books, and Tom's heart sank, their taste in literature differing terribly, though of the two only one held himself qualified to judge. The judge glanced at the green cover in the sand much as he would have favored a mountebank at a fair, with insolent nostrils and a pitying eye for those who smiled. He opened his Byron and read a canto of "Lara" aloud and admirably, but Tom nearly fell asleep and was accused of having no soul for poetry. "Or for anything else," Tom reminded the reader, who shut the book with an offended snap, but opened another next minute.

"Perhaps," said Daintree, "you prefer this sort of thing. I shouldn't wonder."

And he read:

"Oh, that 'twere possible
After long grief and pain
To find the arms of my true love
Round me once again!

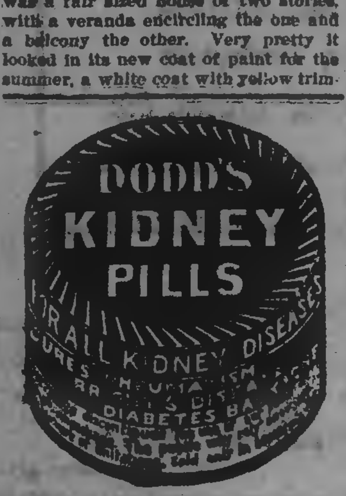
"When I was wont to meet her
In the silent woody places
Of the land that gave me birth
We stood tranced in long embraces
Mixed with kisses sweeter, sweeter
Than anything on earth.

"A shadow flits before me—
Not thou, but like to thee.
Ah, God, that it were possible
For one short hour to see
The souls we loved, that they might tell us
What and where they be!"

When Daintree began, Tom's eyes had been swimming lazily about the bay, but the first quatrain brought them at a bound to the reader's face, and now he was hanging upon every word. Line after line rang through him like a trumpet call, waking old echoes, stirring and stabbing him, until the whole man tingled with the rushing of long stagnant blood. And now came stanzas that went no deeper than the ear, while those three ran their course through every vein. Yet when he next caught up the thread it was his own soul still speaking. The very story was now his own.

"Alas for her that met me,
That heard me softly call;
Came glimmering through the laurels
At the quiet evenfall
In the garden by the turrets
Of the old manorial hall!"

To be continued.



PAIN OVER THE HEART.

FLUTTERING AND PALPITATION

Dangerous Symptoms of a Dangerous Disease.

Heart pains rarely come from a diseased heart—but from an irritated Heart or "Stomach Heart." The cause of the trouble lies with a bad stomach or non-action of the bowels.

If you have pains over the heart, palpitation and fluttering of the heart, pains running down the left side, you know, too, that you have indigestion and that the bowels are not regular. Indigestion and constipation produce gas in the stomach, which bulges out the walls and thus presses upon and irritates the heart.

"Heart-tonics" won't cure because the trouble is not with the heart. "Fruit-a-tives" cure irritated heart—stop palpitation, pain and weak spells—because they act on stomach, liver and kidneys—improve digestion—regulate the bowels—tone up the appetite—and build up the whole system.

"I had a nasty pain over my heart, which alarmed me. I consulted several physicians, but nothing did me any good. After taking 'Fruit-a-tives' I am entirely well." Mrs. A. Sutherland, Taylorville, Ont.

"Fruit-a-tives" are fruit juices in which the medicinal action is greatly intensified by the wonderful process of making them. Tonics and internal antiseptics are also added, and the new compound then made into tablets. "Fruit-a-tives" never fail to cure Irritated Heart. Take them on that guarantee. 50c a box; 6 for $2.50. Sent on receipt of price if your druggist does not have them.

Fruit-a-tives Limited, - Ottawa, Ont.

PETERBOROUGH RAG AND METAL COMPANY

Prepared to pay the highest market price and will give a square deal for Scrap Iron, Rags, Rubbers, Wool Pickings, etc. Don't sell before you see them. Call up Phone 694

YARD AND OFFICE:
COR. SIMCOE and BETHUNE, West

D. FLORENCE & SON

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY
Take LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine Tablets Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c

Week from tomorrow is Christmas.

WHEN YOU SPEND A DOLLAR GET A DOLLAR'S WORTH

COWAN'S PERFECTION COCOA

(Maple Leaf Label)

Is the best value, because it is pure, nutritious and very economical.

THE COWAN CO., Ltd., TORONTO

FOR THE LADY WHO CALLS

Visiting List and Social Engagement Book—A Dainty and Useful Gift.

Those ladies who find it difficult to keep track of their social debts in the way of calls which have to be returned, invitations to various society functions which have been received will be pleased to learn that a dainty little book has been issued from the presses of the Review which will fill their need. The city has grown so rapidly of late years that it has become almost necessary for each lady to have a special reception day each month when her friends will be sure to find her at home. To keep a record of these will be an easy matter with one of these little books. They are prettily bound in blue linen, lettered in gold and printed on good paper. There are two pages for every day in the month, arranged, according as the day is, first Monday, second Tuesday, etc. At the back of the book are pages for invitations received, out-of-town addresses, special reception dates, and memoranda. One of the books would make a dainty and acceptable Xmas gift. The books are on sale at the bookstores at the price of 50c

CENTRAL LIVERY STABLES
AND
VETERINARY INFIRMARY
193 Hunter Street, West of Oriental

If you wish a rig of any kind for any occasion ring us up and you will find everything up-to-date in the livery line. Both Phones 278. Night Phone Bell 425 B

D. McKERCHER. V.S.

YOUR OWN HAIR MADE UP AS DESIRED . .

By home talent, where you are sure of satisfaction, or matched correctly in shade and quality.

Switches, Natural Wavy Pomp Latest Coiffures

Let us show you what we can do before you patronize some outside party. We guarantee to please you at lowest prices in the city.

Back Hair Dressing, Shampooing, etc.

MRS. BYRNE'S
George Street Second Door North of Dutton's

Special Inducements TO BUY HEATERS

You gain nothing by delay. See our
Standard Oak
Quebec Ideal
Art Laurel

They are great fuel savers. Easily operated and splendid heat distributors.

F.R.J. MACPHERSON & CO.
341 George St. Phone 116
F.R.J. MACPHERSON ANGUS MACPHERSON

Private Greeting Cards

THE highly colored and lithographed Christmas Card in vogue a few years ago has passed away entirely.

IN place has come the much more appropriate Personal Greeting Card.

OF these the Review Office is showing a great many original designs.

YOUR order should be given immediately, while the selection is so complete.

SHOULD you desire a Card specially designed to your order, promptness is absolutely necessary.

The Review
HUNTER STREET
PETERBOROUGH

HOCKEY SKATES

From 75c to $5.00

Skates repaired and sharpened
General machine work.

METHEREL'S CYCLE WORKS
225 Hunter Street

ESTIMATES AND RESULTS

The evidence before the Royal Commission showed that over 700 SUN LIFE policies had already matured and that in thirty-four per cent. of the cases the amounts originally estimated as likely to be received at the end of the terms, had been realized or exceeded. On all the cases combined the average amount paid had been about ninety-seven per cent. of the estimate. The management may be pardoned for being proud of this record. The estimates now in use since 1900 are lower than former ones, and premiums are higher, so that present estimates should certainly be realized. Statements were also filed showing that $108 is on hand for every $100 required to pay the amounts called for by the present estimates for every deferred profit policy on the books, and this without taking into account the Company's great and increasingly valuable contingent fund. Our policyholders are therefore justified in being particularly optimistic in regard to the Company's probable future profits.

Some one has said, "the true value of a life assurance policy must be gauged by the security of the protection given; if it proves to be a good investment, all the better; when both are shown, there is nothing on earth to equal it."

The security of the protection afforded by the Sun Life of Canada needs no comment, and the profits paid—let our results tell their own forceful story.

W. H. HILL,
Mgr. Central Ont.

AN INVITATION

We cordially invite every one interested in something select for Christmas, to visit our store and note the fine lines, perfect quality and moderate prices here shown. Affection can prompt nothing more appropriate than some of the following suggestions;

Gentlemen's Gold Watches, $10 to $40
Ladies' Gold Watches, $10 to $35
Diamond Rings, 3 Leading Specials, $15, $25, $50
Pearl Rings a Multitude of Designs, $3 to $30
Gold Cuff Links, 14 Karat, $5 to $7
Gold Lockets, $5 to $10
Signet Rings, (Gentlemen's) $5 to $10
Pearl Brooches, Delightful Patterns, $5 to $35
1847 Rogers Knives and Forks at Special Prices

No trouble to show Goods. Call and inspect them.

WARNE'S
345 GEORGE STREET

SNAPS FOR XMAS
Ebony Mirrors
Ebony Hair Brushes
Ebony Clothes Brushes
Ebony Manicure Sets
Ebony Military Brushes
Real Seal Skin Purses
Hand Satchels
Ladies' Companions
Gentlemen's Companions
Perfumes, etc.
at lowest prices
WARNE BROS.
345 GEORGE ST. PHONE 327

Xmas Photos
Send a family group or the children's photos to your friends at Christmas. Nothing is appreciated more than such remembrances, from
MENDEL'S STUDIO
374 1-2 George St Entrance next Oke's

Apple barrels 10,000 is the score of one Lucknow cooper shop this season.

Killross township, Bruce County, received $25,000 for the first crop of 1907.

SEE OUR GRAND WINDOW DISPLAY OF XMAS SNAPS

Fountain Pens—fully guaranteed—Solid Gold Points—Just two grades—Regular price $2.50 and $3.50. Our price this week only

$1.50 and $2.50

With each $1.50 sale we will give a 50c bottl of perfume FREE.

With each $2.50 sale we will give a $1.00 bottle of perfume FREE.

Just a limited number of pens.

Perfume either in bulk or in fancy bottles. Your own choice.

NUGENT DRUG CO.
386 GEORGE STREET

ADAMS' LIST
—OF—
ECONOMIC SUGGESTIONS FOR CHRISTMAS SHOPPERS

Our showing of useful articles suitable for Christmas Gifts is large and attractive. Each year the demand is increasing for the gifts that are useful. Below is a list of such useful articles for the gift-giving season. ADAMS' is your store for popular gifts at popular prices.

SILK BLOUSES
A Silk Blouse is a gift that any lady will appreciate. At our prices they are within the reach of all. Xmas Blouses at from
$1.98 to $10.00

MUSLIN BLOUSES
We are showing a splendid range of fine quality Muslin Blouses for the Xmas trade at from
$1.50 to $5.00

LADIES' XMAS NECKWEAR
We claim to give you the best values in Ladies' Neckwear in the city. A fancy Collar is an acceptable gift. Hundreds of beautiful collars to choose from—Prices from 25c to $1.25

VISIT ADAMS'
When looking for a useful Xmas gift for the ladies.

LADIES' UMBRELLAS
Our range of beautiful Umbrellas for Xmas gifts is very tempting—An umbrella gift is sure to please—Prices at from
$1.50 to $6.00

HANDKERCHIEFS
Are always acceptable Xmas gifts—In our range are all the newest designs in Fancy Embroidered, Scolloped edge, Fancy Chicks—special values at from 3c to 75c

KID GLOVES
Are popular gifts inexpensive and always appreciated. We give you only the reliable makes—"guaranteed." All Kid Gloves boxed in fancy glove boxes with the season's greetings at $1.00, $1.25, $1.50
Special values in long Kid Gloves at
$2.25 and $3.00

Harry Adams

New Officers for Epworth League

At a business meeting of Mark Street Methodist Epworth League last evening, Miss Howson was unanimously chosen president. Miss Howson was formerly secretary, and owing to her taking a new office, Miss Marion Coon was appointed to fill that of the secretaryship.

KNOX CHURCH YOUNG PEOPLE

Address by Rev. J. R. Webb Was Feature of Last Night's Meeting

The feature of the Young People's Society's meeting at Knox church last night was an address by Rev. J. R. Webb. It was of a most interesting and helpful nature and greatly appreciated. Mr. W. J. Carruthers occupied the chair and in addition to the address by Mr. Webb there were solos of an appropriate nature by Miss Carr and by Mr. and Mrs. H. McClennan. The latter also gave a duet in a most pleasing manner.

A.O.U.W. NOTICE

Dear Sir and Brother,—A special meeting of Peterborough Lodge, No. 135, A.O.U.W., will be held this evening, (Tuesday) at 8 p.m., in the Foresters' hall, Simcoe street. The business will include the nomination and election of officers for 1908, and other matters of vital importance to every member.

Every member is urgently requested to be present.

By order of Master Workman.

T. G. GILLESPIE,
Recorder.

XMAS CHEER
Customers, Young Ladies, Young Gentlemen, Friends, will do well to patronize James R. Bell this year, as he has everything fresh and good. Fry's Chocolate 10 and 25c. Cream Candies Walnuts, Almonds, Filbert, Navel Oranges. Mexican Sweet Oranges. 161 Hunter St. tdf

Should Form Society to Look After the Immigrants

Many Citizens Believe That it Would Accomplish Good Work in Peterborough—Should be Organized Without Delay.

A movement is on foot in Peterborough to form an organization to look after the immigrants that locate in the city. At least there are a large number of citizens who are in favor of such steps being taken, as it is felt there is a big field for good work and practical Christianity in this line. There is little doubt but that there are some families in the city who need help, and the number will likely be larger before the winter is over. Many of those who are in straightened circumstances are recent arrivals from the old land, who have come here with but little of worldly goods, and who for one reason or another, have been not been able to get fairly on their feet. Through lack of steady employment or sickness in their families they have been kept back and view the coming of a long, hard winter with alarm.

Peterborough is prosperous, and there is no reason why any deserving one should be in need. There are hundreds who can afford and who are willing to give if they but knew where their assistance was required. The churches are doing good work in looking after needy families, but they cannot take up the work with the thoroughness of a society organized for that special purpose. It would be undenominational in character and its work would be to look after the new comers, provide them with employment as far as possible, see that none of them are in need, and in general to keep an eye on the immigrants until they get a start in life in the land of their adoption.

A citizen who spoke with the Review regarding this matter, denounced the attitude of some people, who look down upon the newcomers and consider them an unfair class. With the majority of them their greatest fault is their being poor. The children of these new citizens are the ones to be considered. If they are looked after they will yet become good citizens, just as many of the best residents at the present day are the descendents of immigrants who settled here years ago. As long as there is not a criminal tendency in the parents, the children will turn out all right.

A large number of citizens are in favor of having an organization to look after the new comers, and believe that it should be organized without delay. There will be plenty of work for it during the winter.

Otonabee Lodge Celebrates Its Twenty-Fifth Anniversary

Past Grands Put on the Initiatory Degree—Many Old Oddfellows in the Lodge Room—Veterans' Jewels Presented to Two Members—Grand Warden Derbyshire Present.

There was a great gathering at Otonabee Lodge, No. 13, I.O.O.F., last night, when the 25th anniversary of the resuscitation of the lodge was fittingly celebrated.

It was Past Grands Night, and there was a good representation of those who have passed through the chairs. The veterans put on the initiatory degree in admirable style, and were warmly applauded. They were also highly complimented by Bro. D. Derbyshire, of Brockville, Grand Warden.

BRO. JAMES STEVENSON
The Oldest Member of Otonabee Lodge No. 13 I.O.O.F.

Previous to the work of the evening, veterans' jewels were presented to Bros. D. Belleghem and W. F. Green, who have been members of Otonabee Lodge for twenty-five years. Bro. Derbyshire made the presentation in a happy speech.

The following Past Grands filled chairs for the initiatory degree;—M. Mowry, N.G.; W. D. Jewett, V.G.; John Matheson, Warden; Harry Morgan, conductor; J. A. Tully, J.P.G.; W. S. Robinson, outside conductor; R. J. Matchett, R.S.N.G.; John Nugent, L.S.N.G.; W. J. Patterson, R.S.V.G.; E. B. Clegg, L.S.V.G.; C. H. Huffman, R.S.S.; David Yarnold, L.S.S.; Col. J. W. Miller, O.G.; Frank Wise, Chaplain; W. F. Green, pianist; J. T. C. Lang, Walter Squires, W. R. G. Higgins, George Maitland, M. F. Breckenridge and W. Roberts, Scene Bearers.

After the initiation of a candidate, short congratulatory addresses were delivered by Bro. D. Derbyshire and Bro. James Stevenson, one of the charter members of the lodge at its founding in 1846. Bro. Stevenson was given a rousing reception and expressed his pleasure to be back in old Otonabee Lodge.

Afterwards an adjournment was made to the banquetting room, where a pleasant social time was spent. Bro. E. G. Poole, N.G., presided, while Bro George Cairns, V.G., filled the position of vice-chairman. The following toast list was carried out in a very enjoyable manner;—"The King," proposed by Bro. Poole; "The Grand Lodge of Ontario," proposed by Bro. Cairns, and responded to by Bro. D. Derbyshire, Grand Warden; J. A. Tully, J. W. Miller, P.D.G.M., and Wm. Hill, P.D.D.G.M.

"Past Grands," proposed by Bro. F. Wise, and replied to by Bro. M. Mowry, J. Matheson, W. D. Jewett and W. J. Patterson.

During the evening the quartette composed of Messrs. Hill, Laing, Thornton and Allen sang several selections in fine style, while Mr. Jas. Browne contributed a couple of excellent songs.

Bro. T. Hooper was the caterer.

Andrew Carnegie Will be Asked for Grant of $35,000 Towards Public Library

Decided at Meeting of Committee on the Whole to Make Application for This Amount—Members of Library Board Discussed Question With Committee—Important Step in Important Matter.

Andrew Carnegie will be asked for a grant of $35,000, for the purpose of supplying a new library for Peterborough. But will Mr. Carnegie consent to give the money? Mayor McWilliams has received a regular application form from Mr. Birchell, who looks after the matter of library grants on behalf of Mr. Carnegie. It was the opinion of every member of the library board, with the exception of Mr. Wm. English, and by the large majority of the council, that Mr. Carnegie should be asked for this grant. When the store formerly occupied by Messrs. R. Hall and Son was given the city to be used for a public library or to be disposed of in any way that the city saw fit, provided that money was devoted to the establishment of a public library in Peterborough, it was stipulated in the deed that the library be known as the Nicholls library. The money that can be got from the store will be used in the purchase of a site, and that expected from Carnegie for the construction of the building. While Carnegie has always been willing to make grants towards libraries will he be agreeable to give such a sum towards an establishment in the name of another person?

The city fathers met in Committee of the Whole last night, when there were present, Mayor R. F. McWilliams, Aldermen McIntyre, Duncan, Elliott, Morgan, Stevenson, Bradburn, Leary, Tovey, Wilson, Morrow and Phelan.

The question of making the best use of the Nicholls gift towards public library purposes was thoroughly gone into. By terms of the deed which gives to Peterborough the building on Simcoe street, formerly used by Richard Hall & Son for conversion into a public library, the city is at liberty either to use the building itself or sell it and apply the proceeds to purchase of a more suitable building, providing they name the new library, "The Nicholls Public Library." It has been suggested that a gift of say $30,000 might be secured from Mr. Carnegie, which in addition to the proceeds from the sale of the building given by the Nicholls estate would create an ample fund with which to erect a new building and afford a sufficient maintenance revenue.

The following members of the present Library Board were present; Messrs. W. H. Hill, Knapman, Pringle, Corkery and Wm. English. These gentlemen, excepting Mr. English, offered that it would be advisable to build a new building entirely, to be converted into a free public library. They thought the city should apply to Mr. Carnegie for a donation of $30,000 toward a public library, to which could be added the proceeds from the sale of the old Richard Hall & Son's store on Simcoe street. The members of the board did not think it would be wise to use the present store.

Mr. Wm. English, however, was opposed to approaching Mr. Carnegie for a grant. He thought the institution should be purely a "Nicholls" one, and the city would not lose anything by disposing of the store on Simcoe street, and purchasing the old Bank of Montreal building, corner of Simcoe and Water streets, which he thought well adapted to library purposes. The library board have been notified to leave their present premises by March next, and the old Bank of Montreal structure is ready for immediate occupancy.

The mayor offered that without applying for a Carnegie grant it would be necessary to go to the people for a vote of $15,000 or $20,000 to be added to the proceeds from the sale of Richard Hall's old store for the erection of a new library building, to say nothing of perhaps $3000 a year for maintenance.

The Library Board did not think the people would vote so much money for this purpose.

It was generally conceded that should a grant be obtained from Mr. Andrew Carnegie, his name would have to appear on the building as well as that of Mrs. Nicholls. Of course the building could be named the "Nicholls-Carnegie Public Library," or the Peterborough Public Library, with a prominent tablet to each of the donators.

Ald. Tovey said he would like to see a public library but would not like the city to go to Mr. Carnegie for it.

Ald. McIntyre did not approve of buying the Bank of Montreal's old building, which would never give the appearance of anything but a one-horse library.

Ald. Wilson thought the old building on Simcoe street, could be converted into a very handsome public library.

Ald. Phelan moved, seconded by Ald. Morrow,—That this council ask Mr. Andrew Carnegie for a grant of $35,000 for public library purposes.—Carried.

FIXED ASSESSMENTS.

Mr. Jas. Kendry, president of the Auburn Woolen Mills Co., appeared before the committee in support of his company's request for a reasonable fixed assessment for a term of years.

They spend, Mr. Kendry urged, in wages $75,000 a year, and have never had even any other fire protection than that furnished by themselves at considerable expense. They have increased their plant and business very extensively of late years and are only seeking the same consideration as extended other industries. Mr. Kendry added that he would be pleased to leave it to the council to fix a reasonable assessment.

The Peter Hamilton Mfg. Co.'s request for a fixed assessment was also taken up.

Ald. Leary moved, seconded by Ald. Wilson,—That application be made to the legislature for fixed assessment for the Auburn Woolen Mills and the Peter Hamilton Mfg. Co.—Carried.

This means that merely notice will be given to the legislature that fixed assessment will be asked for these two industries early in the year.

Ald. Morgan moved that no action be taken regarding the several applications for fixed assessment till next year.

SNOW PLOWING.

Ald. Phelan wanted action taken to enforce the turning out of snow plowing men promptly when needed. For instance on Saturday night the town's horses were standing in their stables when the business portion of the city was snowed under.

Ald. Bradburn offered that in the west end no snow plow had been at work at 8.30 Sunday morning.

Ald. Duncan explained that Mr. Pakenham won't let the men go out; the more men we have at the fire hall, and the more wages they get, the less work they want to do. There seems to be some friction at the hall as to who should turn out for snow plowing.

Chard, the north end contractor, it appears has not signed his contract yet and will not be allowed to do so, not having a team of his own.

Harper, the west end contractor, did not know that he need turn out till after a snow storm is over; since out right on this matter he is attending to his duties faithfully.

As to the center portion of the city, Foreman Pakenham claims that his rules are to keep continually two men in the fire hall; on Saturday night he had not a third man to turn out for snow plowing.

Ald Wilson suggested that one of the "call" firemen turn out on such occasions for additional remuneration.

Ald. Phelan moved, seconded by Ald. Bradburn,—That Ald. Duncan, as acting chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, be empowered to settle this matter.

Ald. Leary moved in amendment,—That Street Commissioner Evans be authorized to order out Driver Matchett on all such stormy occasions.

Ald. Stevenson thought the chairmen of the Board of Works and the Fire, Water and Light committees should be held responsible for snow plowing.

Ald. Phelan's motion carried.

ISOLATION TENT.

Ald. Morrow moved, seconded by Ald. Bradburn,—That Ald. McIntyre be empowered to request permission from Mr. Richard Hall to erect the isolation tent in Jackson Park during the winter should occasion arise.—Carried.

INTEREST PAID
QUARTERLY
—ON—
SAVINGS DEPOSITS of $1 and upwards
—THE—
BANK OF OTTAWA
Interest paid
February 28
May 31
August 31
November 30
PETERBOROUGH BRANCHES:
George Street, also
Corner Rubidge and Townsend Streets
A. A. HOLLINGSHEAD, Mgr.

ESTABLISHED 1873

WE WANT TO MAKE THIS A RECORD DECEMBER

This is the 35th Anniversary of the City Clothing Store and we want our customers and we want the public to join us in making this December the "best ever." To accomplish this we have Reduced everything in the store in price until New Year's. Every Customer gets a benefit :—

Good Tweed Working Overcoats	5.00 to 6.00
Fine Winter Overcoats	7.00 to 8.50
Melton and Beaver Overcoats	Special at 10 00 to 15.00
Heavy Tweed Suits	4.50 to 7.00
Scotch Tweed and Worsted Suits	8.00 to 12.00
Fine Black Worsted Suits	10.00 to 15.00
Fine Worsted or Tweed Pants	2.50, 3.00, 4.00
Good Heavy Wool Working Pants	1.00, 1.50, 2.00
Boys' Cosy Winter Overcoats	2.00 to 4.50
Boys' Storm Proof Overcoats	4.00 to 6.50
Boys' 3-piece Suits	2.50 to 4.50
Boys' 2-piece Suits	1 50 to 2.50
Scotch Shetland Wool Underwear, reg. 75c	.50
Elastic Ribbed Underwear, Utica Brand, fleecelined, reg. 90c for	65
or for the Suit	1.25
Heavy Wool Ribbed Shirt and drawers, regular 60c for	.45
Fleece lined	.45, 50
Very fine qualities of Scotch Wolsley and Natural Wool Underwear, up to	2.50

ORDERED WORK—If you need an Overcoat or Suit made to order before New Year's, you can't find a choicer selection of cloth to pick from. Best of work and satisfaction,

H. LeBrun & Co.
Two Entrances George and Hunter Sts.

Ladies' Hand Bags and Purses
Just the thing for Useful and Beautiful Gift now on display at the store that gives the largest choice, the best leathers and closest prices.
Ladies' and Gentlemen's TRAVELLING SATCHELS and TRUNKS of all kinds, in the largest selection in the city.
B. SHORTLY SIGN OF THE BIG HORSE AT THE DOOR
TELEPHONE No. 319

Port Hope votes January 5th on a bylaw raising $7,400 for the construction of an electric light plant.

Chocolate and Creams 2 lb. for 25c, Navel Oranges 20, 30, 40c, Mixed Nuts per lb. 15c.
R. A. DUTTON.

HOCKEY

PRACTICE AT RINK TONIGHT.

The opening hockey practice of the season will be held tonight at seven o'clock at the Brock street rink. There will be no skating tonight, but the rink will be open to the skating public tomorrow night.

XMAS GREETING CARDS
Leave your order for Greeting cards now at the Review Office. Still some pretty designs in stock, at most reasonable prices. tf

Xmas Drawing Near
You have only a few days to consider where to place your order for Brandies, Scotch, Irish and all kinds of Wines, Ales, etc.
Don't hesitate a moment but come direct to Mitchell's, 141 Hunter St. where you will get nothing but pure whiskey, (not Otonabee water.) Don't forget to ask for Mitchell's Special Rye Whiskey, the only reliable draught goods sold.
Sweet Cider for sale.
Leave your order early.
F. J. R. MITCHELL
141 Hunter St. — Phone 399

WE WISH YOU
A Merry Xmas
We point with pride to our selections of Men's Furnishings for the Holiday trade. We've
Exclusive and Elegant Neckwear
Best Makes of Gloves
Perfection in Shirts and Collars
Best Brands of Underwear
Choice Hosiery, Mufflers
Night Robes, Umbrellas
House Coats, Fancy Braces, Etc.
If you're still undecided just what to buy him for Christmas, we'll take pleasure in showing you a host of things he would be delighted to have.
LANG & MAHER
CLOTHIERS AND FURNISHERS TO MEN WHO KNOW
409 411 George Street Peterborough

THE PRICE CUTTER HAS ATTACKED HATS

HALF PRICE IN HAT PRICES

If you need a hat, get it now. Sweeping price reductions among our choice display of becoming and pattern hats. No restrictions. Everyone of our fashionable head pieces has been visited by the Price Cutter and has suffered accordingly. Come—GET YOURS. Any sort of a fashionable hat you want is here at

HALF PRICE

Our Hats aren't ordinary hats, and this isn't an ordinary sale. Just the Swellest, Prettiest, Nicest Hats you ever saw priced at half regular. They won't last long. Hats with such dash, ginger and exclusiveness, priced like these are will sell at a merry rate. You'll have to hurry to get THE ONE you want. SALE BEGINS TOMORROW

TUESDAY AT 8:30 A. M.

RICHARD HALL & SON, LIMITED

353 AND 355 GEORGE STREET, PETERBOROUGH

STORE OPENS AT 8 A.M. CLOSES AT 6 P.M., EXCEPT SATURDAY

FOR FINE

Lemons, Oranges
Malaga Grapes
Bananas

and all kinds of fruit and vegetables try

MINOCOLO BROS.

Wholesale and Retail.
Both Phones 327.

FAMILY RE-UNIONS AT CHRISTMAS

The opportunity to have a complete group taken may not occur again.
Appointments at

THE ROY STUDIO

BROCK ST. RINK

SEASON 1907-8

Tickets for the season entitling the holder to all skating privileges, now on sale at the Examiner Office, Peterborough Bookstore, Sanderson & Co., F. A. Clarke's, Best Hardware Co., the Secretary, C. G. Graham, at the Oriental Hotel.

Gentlemen . . 3.00
Ladies 2.00
Youths, 16 to 18 2.00
Boys under 16 . 1.50
Girls 1.50

Nothing makes a better Christmas gift for your boy or girl than a Season Ticket for the Brock Street Rink.

THE CITY AND VICINITY

EVENTS TO-NIGHT

Conservatory of Music Hall—Swiss Bell Ringers.

St. Paul's church—Young Men's Guild.

St. Andrew's church—Young Men's Guild.

Y.W.C.A.—Christmas party.

Peterborough Lodge, No. 135, A.O.U.W., elects officers.

All Saints' church—Men's Association concert.

FLOWERS GALORE.

Great assortment of Xmas Flowers at Mason's, the Florist. 406 1-2 George street. 3d

FUR LINED COATS

We clean and press them and guarantee no injury to the fur. My Valet, 304 Charlotte street. All goods called for and delivered. dtf

NEW CHURCH COMMITTEE

The committee dealing with the proposition to build a new Methodist church in the south end of the city will meet tonight.

MAKE CALENDARS.

Why not make calendars? They are pretty cheap and always acceptable. We have pictures in sepia and colors, fancy embossed cards and dainty calendar pads in many designs. See them at the Review office. 3d

ST. PAUL'S GUILD.

The regular meeting of Knox church church Young Men's Guild will be held this evening at 8 o'clock. Mr. John Crane will give an address on Banking. A good programme has been prepared.

ETRA HELP REQUIRED

Several section men were busily engaged in clearing the snow away from around the G.T.R. station this morning. Extra help was brought from Garden Hill, Fraserville and other sections, two men coming from each place.

A ROLL OF MUSIC

Of new song hits makes a nice neat gift for Xmas. Until Jan. 1st we are selling the newest publications at greatly reduced prices. Ask to see our $6 for $1.00 lot. J. M. GREENE MUSIC CO., Grand Opera House Building.

NOTHING DOING

There was nothing doing in police court this morning.

LEAVE ORDERS EARLY.

Oh, my! it would be so nice if customers would leave their orders early for Xmas flowers and plants at Mason's the Florist, 406 1-2 George-st. 3d

SWETE MUSIC FOR XMAS

Thousands of mouthorgans to choose from, at the old reliable store. Peterborough Music Co., 404 George street. 3d

ALL SHEET MUSIC

At prices never known before, either single or in lots of $1.00. Visit our sale and see our excellent offering. J. M. GREENE MUSIC CO., Grand Opera House Building.

Again Elected to Calgary Council

Mr. R. J. Stuart, formerly of Norwood, was re-elected alderman at the recent municipal elections in Calgary. He stood second in ward four, there being six contestants. Lieut.-Col. E. B. Edwards, formerly of Peterborough, who was a candidate for municipal honors in Edmonton, was not successful, although he made a splendid run considering that he has been a resident of the capital of Alberta only a little over a year ago.

BANK CLERKS RECEIVE BONUS

The clerks in the Peterborough banch of the Bank of Commerce have been granted a bonus and are consequently in a happy mood. Twelve and a half per cent. has been granted to those drawing up to $500 salary, while those drawing over this amount have received a bonus of ten per cent.

The members of the staff of the Bank of Toronto, have received a bonus of ten per cent.

Tillsonburg reports 1,500 turkeys and 4,000 chickens, as two days' delivery of fowl for export to Britain.

Social Bible Class Organized

For Men of Mark St. Church Last Evening

A social Bible class for men was organized last evening at the reception held at Mark street Methodist church. Between twenty and thirty men were present and showed much interest in the new enterprise. Rev. Mr. Coon occupied the chair and explained the object of the meeting, that of Bible study on Sunday afternoon and the development of the social and literary every Tuesday evening. The first meeting will be held on the first Tuesday in the new year.

The officers elected were:—

President.—Mr. Jos. Soucoi
Vice-Pres.—Mr. John Spiers.
Secretary.—Mr. K. Throop
Treasurer.—Mr. Stanley Matchett.

Refreshments were served by the ladies and a pleasant time spent.

HORSE ACTS STRANGELY ON WATER ST.

A rather strange incident occurred yesterday afternoon at the post office corner. Two young ladies were driving up Water street when suddenly at the point mentioned their horse started to kick so violently that in a few minutes the dash board was badly smashed and the animal was liberated from the vehicle. It started to run, the ladies following after it, but fortunately it turned into the Crown hotel yard, and they did not have to go far. Considerable damage was done to the harness and the cutter.

PERSONAL

Ven Archdeacon Casey, of Lindsay, is in the city to-day.

Mr. Walter Squires, of Toronto, is in the city.

Mr. Fred. Cook, the well known local sign artist, is in Midland on business.

Mr W Dickson Jewett, of Cannington, formerly of Peterborough, is in the city.

Mr. W. J. Patterson, of Otterville, Ont., is renewing old acquaintances in the city.

Mr. Charles Regan, commercial representative of Goulet Bros., the Montreal tobacco merchants, is in Peterborough on a business visit.

The results of the junior examinations of the Ontario College of Pharmacy are announced. Mr. A. R. Mann, of this city, took second class honors. Mr. Robt. J. Davidson, of this city, was among those who passed.

GRAND MUSICAL ENTERTAINMENT TO-NIGHT

Talented Eckhardt Family, Swiss Bell Ringers, Conservatory of Music Hall, to-night at 8 p.m. The musical treat of the season. Plan at McDermid and Jury's. Reserved seats 50c, admission 25c.

Mr. Taylor is Seriously Ill

The numerous friends of Mr. Jas. Taylor, of Chemong Indian village, who has been seriously ill for some time will be pained to learn that he is in a critical condition and has apparently made no improvement toward recovery. Mr. Taylor is about 87 years of age and has been a life long resident of Chemong.

Effectually Squelched.

The clerk in a dry goods store was waxing sarcastic at the boarding house table because the schoolteacher said she was tired. "I don't see how you have the nerve to say that," he said. "You have a snap. Your hours are short, and, although you say you have to look over papers in the evening, I reckon you don't have to spend much time on them. Then look at the vacations you have—a week or two at Christmas, another in the spring, two or three days at Thanksgiving time and then the entire summer. Look at me. I have to work eight hours every day, with only a half hour at noon, and once in awhile I have to put in an evening at the store when they take inventory of stock. And my vacation! I get the legal holidays, two weeks in the summer and during the hot months a half day off, and heaven knows what a good half day does! Gee! Schoolteachers certainly have a cinch."

During this harangue the schoolteacher listened carefully to the noise he made while he talked. When he finished she said sweetly: "Well, why don't you become a schoolteacher? There's no law to prevent you that I know of."

And the rest of the table grinned audibly, while the clerk grabbed a toothpick and went out.—New York Press.

On the Dynamite Ships.

There is a service whose conditions are little known to the outside world, that of the men on the dynamite ships that lurk in the shadow of Canvey island. It once happened that a cargo boat took fire near Canvey island. The crew could not extinguish the flames, the vessel had to be abandoned, and the tide carried her straight for the dynamite ships. By a miracle the blazing hulk steered safely between them. But the tide turned, and with it back again she came. Another miracle and the floating inferno missed them all a second time. A spark from her blazing timbers, the least shock from a collision and she had exploded such a mine as would have blown the half of Essex into Ireland. She floated, hissing and spluttering, down the tideway and passed away, to burn herself to the water's edge beyond the reach of dynamite. And the silent, lonely men stayed unstirring at their posts and twice saw the grave open and close before them.—Army and Navy.

Missed the Towpath.

There was a little girl five years old or so living in an inland town up the state. Near her home there was no river nor, in fact, any water but the Erie canal.

The child's mother made a visit to New York and on her return was telling of her trip down the bay and of how wonderful the sea had looked to her. Her little girl was listening eagerly.

"Tell me just what the sea is like, mamma," she said.

Her mother made an effort.

"There's the beach," she said, "all smooth white sand. You stand on it and look out over the ocean, and all you can see is water, just moving water, waves coming in and breaking—nothing but water and sky."

The child sat trying to picture it, then in an awed little whisper asked:

"Oh, mamma, isn't there a towpath?"—New York Times.

Little Mamie Rose Rose.

"It doesn't take these little Russian children long to catch on to things in this country," remarked a teacher of the Educational alliance. "When one explains a word to them they never forget it, and they are always ready with an illustration of its meaning too. I remember that some time ago I had explained to the class the meaning of the word 'ambiguity,' and then, as the custom is, I turned about and made them explain the word to me.

"'Now, is there any one,' I asked, 'who can give me an illustration?'

"A grimy little urchin at the back of the room stuck up his hand.

"'Here's a ambiguity fer ye,' he cried. 'Little Mamie Rose sat on a tack—little Mamie Rose. See?'

"Oh, no," concluded the teacher, "you don't have to explain a thing to the east side child twice."—New York Sun.

The Lady and Her Dog.

There are any number of men who would ask who you were talking to if you hinted that they were not absolutely masters in their own establishments, yet these very men are often the slaves of their dogs. By the way, unless you really want to make her your sworn foe, don't, whatever else you may say or do, speak disparagingly of a lady's dog, even if it is the most unholy mongrel that ever wagged a tail.—Fry's Magazine.

What We Want Daily.

Protein to make blood and muscle, bone and brain, and corresponding quantities of fat, starch and sugar and the like to be consumed in the body to serve as a fuel to provide warmth and give strength for the body. The protein is found in lean meats, fish, eggs, cheese, gluten of flour and in beans and peas and the like.—London Answers.

British English.

Englishman—I say, ye knaw, what's the bookage to Boston? Railroad Ticket Clerk—The whatage? Englishman—The bookage, ye knaw—the tariff. What's the tariff? Ticket Clerk—I haven't time to talk politics.—New York Weekly.

The success of a movement depends much less upon the force of its argument or upon the ability of its advocates than the predisposition of society to receive it.—Lecky.

Dredges Excelsior and Monarch completed their work at Victoria Harbor on Dec. 1st.

THE BEEHIVE

The Ladies' Big Ready-to-wear Store

You Can Always Get The Most Satisfying Christmas Box AT THE BEEHIVE

The Ladies' Big Ready-to Wear Store

KANDIES FOR THE KIDS

Nut Candies
Cream Candy
Pure Sugar Candy
Royal Mixed Candy

SEE OUR CANDY WINDOW

WHITE & GILLESPIE

336 GEORGE ST. Phone 208

GET YOUR HOLIDAY PHOTOS
—AT—
LENDRUM'S

They are the best and most up-to-date
170 Charlotte Streht

MADE LIKE NEW

Chenille and Tapestry Curtains and Table Covers Cleaned and Dyed Like New

For genuine satisfaction and saving the purchase of new curtains, bring your old ones to us or telephone us and we will call for them.

Sponging and pressing made a special part of our business.

PARKER'S DYE WORKS
R. M. BEACH,
Phone 250 Proprietor

LADIES, CUT THIS OUT

Dr. Cristion's
FRENCH TOILET ARTICLES
Have been placed on sale with
Miss E. Smith
567 GEORGE STREET
MANICURING, SHAMPOOING
SCALP TREATMENT and FACIAL
MASSAGE SKILFULLY DONE
Appointments made. Mach. Phone 13

Second Hand Stove Bargains
—AT—
BARRETT'S

Why pay $30 for a Heater or $40 for a Range when you can buy either for $5 to $15 at Barrett's Second Hand Store.
187 Simcoe St. next Cavanagh's

ESTABLISHED 1879

J. R. HEINTZ & CO.

STOCKS, GRAIN,
COTTON, COFFEE

J. N. BARBER, Manager

Phone 529

THE DOMINION BANK

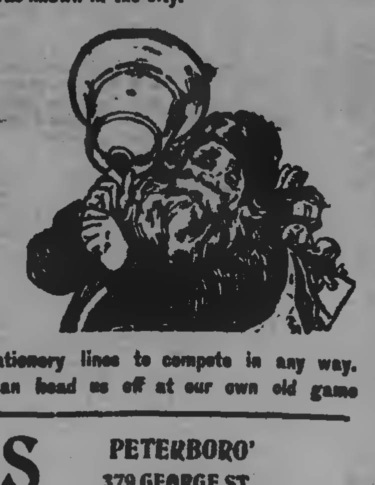
PAYS SPECIAL ATTENTION TO

SAVINGS ACCOUNTS

INTEREST PAID QUARTERLY

JOHN CRANE Manager

Corner George and Simcoe Sts.



SANTA CLAUS at ROUTLEY'S

Santa has paid many visits to his old established Headquarters. Our 2nd floor is heavier stocked with every imaginable Toy or Gift for the little tots than ever was known in the city.

Dolls, Cradles, Hose Carts, Toy Beds, Games all kinds, Toy Carriages, Sleighs, Toy Tea Sets, Whips, Toy Wash Sets, Toy Books; Sleeping, Walking, Kid and Jointed Dolls; Building Blocks, Noah's Arks, Bugles, Drums, Reins, Mechanical Toys, Magic Lanterns, Steam Engines, Banks, Trains.

CHINA SECTION

Bread and Butter Plates, China Cups and Saucers, Jardinieres, Vases, Salad Bowls, Brush Trays, Biscuit Jars' Jelly Pots, China Tea Sets, Fancy Jugs in Sets, Dinner Sets, Chamber Sets, all the newest in natty pieces suitable for presents.

MAIN FLOOR

Manicure Sets, Brush and Comb Sets, Military Sets, Padded Posts, Catholic Prayer Books, English Church Prayer Books, Hymn Books, Bibles, Work Boxes, Collar Boxes, Glove and Handkerchief Sets, Leather Writing Cases and Desks, Music Rolls, Pocket Books, Hand Bags.

As usual we will not allow those not strictly in the fancy goods or stationery lines to compete in any way. Stick to the place that has served you well, there are none who can head us off at our own old game

TORONTO 262-4 QUEEN W ROUTLEY'S PETERBORO' 379 GEORGE ST

Total Reduction in Assessment $339,873

Complete List of the Appeals and the Action Taken

CUTTING DOWN IN MANY PLACES

Only Small Number of Appeals That Were Dismissed

The total reduction made by the Court of Revision in the assessment of the city is $339,873. The complete list of appeals and the action taken with each one is published below and makes interesting reading. It will be seen that in many cases the assessment has been almost cut in two, while 30 to 40 per cent. reductions are quite frequent. There were only about fifteen appeals that were dismissed and the assessment confirmed.

The complete list of appeals is as follows:

W O Ackerman, Park street, from $1,500 to $1,300.

B F Ackerman, Son & Co., 222 Dalhousie street, from $5,070 to $4,000.

Aggett and Stalker, corner Rink and Bethune streets. No change.

W H G Armstrong, Margaret avenue, from $2,060 to $1,800.

Auburn Woollen Company. No cahnge.

F Bartlett. No change.

John Bell, 135, 137, 139 141, 143 145 Rubidge street, reduced from $8,400 to $8,600; 127, 129, 131, and 133 Rubidge street, from $5,860 to $4,600; 125 Rubidge, from $1,500 to $1,400; 312 and 314 Townsend street, from $2,260 to $2,000; 132 Park street from $1,700 to $1,400; 148 and 150 Park street, from $3,400 to $2,700.

Best Stove Company's store, Hunter street, from $7,000 to $6,000, and business assessment from $1,960 to $1,800.

B F Ackerman, Son and Company, n. Dalhousie w. George, part 1, from $11,400 to $10,100; n. Dalhousie w. George, part 2, from $1,3400 to $3,400; business assessment reduced on both parcels from $6,840 to $6,040, and from $2,600 to $2,040.

Henry Best, w. side Lock street, from $5,500 to $3,500, and w. side George street from $6,000 to $2,500.

Mrs. C M Birdsall, 440 George street, from $9,980 to $8,120, and business assessment from $2,490 to $2,030; 422 and 424 George street, from $8,400 to $7,300; 426 to 438 George street, from $24,500 to $20,880.

F Birdsall, s. Brock street, e. George street, assessment of O'Shea, tenant, from $4,200 to $4,100, and business, from $1,050 to $1,025; assessment of Fitzgerald, tenant, from $5,300 to $5,000, and business assessment from $3,180 to $3,000.

F Bolton, Park street, assessment of Boycott, tenant, from $1,720 to $500, and assessment of balance changed to P. Bolton at $2,000.

James Booth. No change.

Mary Bowman, New Oxford Hotel, from $9,500 to $8,650, and business assessment from $2,250 to $2,030.

Bradburn Estate, s. Charlotte, e. George, part 1, from $6,000 to $4,500; License Inspector's office, transferred from taxable column in roll to exempt column.

Dr. Bradd, Rubidge street, from $2,450 to $1,900.

W Bradshaw, 233 Hunter street, from $2,070 to $1,800.

R C Braund, lot 1, plan 98, from $4,000 to $2,800, and business assessment from $1,200 to $870; lot 2, plan 98, from $2,000 to $1,400; lot 1, plan 98, from $250 to $200; Nos. 12, 14, 16 and 18, Lafayette avenue, from $950 each to $850 each; 1, 3, 5, 7 and 9, Lafayette avenue, from $700 each to $650 each; lot 7, plan 98, from $80 to $50; lots 8 and 9, plan 98, from $300 to $250; part lot 5, plan 98, from $150 to $130; lots A and B, plan 98, from $150 to $120, and lots 4 and 6, plan 98, from $300 to $130.

R Briou, Chamberlen street, from $1,350 to $1,190.

John Britton, Harvey street, no change.

Martha Britton, Harvey street, from $1,550 to $1,350.

Andrew Brown, 319 Park street, from $3,300 to $3,100.

C N Brown, Simcoe street, from $3,300 to $3,000 and business assessment from $990 to $900.

H R Buckley, 458 Sherbrooke street, from $1,850 to $1,650.

George Bunton, Jr, 234 and 236 Rubidge street, from $2,800 to $2,700, and 238 Rubidge street from $1,850 to $1,650.

Daniel Burke, 97 Homewood avenue, from $1,800 to $1,500.

Clara Cairns, 55 Patterson street, from $1,100 to $900.

Mary Cairns, 41 Patterson street, from $1,150 to $900; 43 Patterson street, from $1,100 to $900.

W Caldwell, 201 Brock street, from $5,600 to $5,100 and business assessment from $1,400 to $1,250.

G. S. Cameron, Stewart street, from $1,700 to $1,400.

J A Cameron, 292 Stewart street, from $4,700 to $4,100.

John Cameron, 441 Reid street, from $2,100 to $1,700.

Annie Campbell, Water street, assessment confirmed.

Peter Campbell, 309 Hunter street, from $5,600 to $5,000.

W D Campbell, 77 Gilmour street, from $4,200 to $3,800.

Canadian Bank of Commerce, from $20,700 to $15,500, and business assessment from $19,310 to $15,525.

Royal Bank of Canada from $10,500 to $8,000; and business assessment from $12,870 to $6,000.

W B B Higgins, Hunter street, from $9,500 to $7,300 and business assessment from $2,850 to $2,190.

F J R Mitchell, Hunter street, from $5,300 to $4,200 and business assessment from $2,850 to $2,300.

John Kylie, Hunter street, from $5,150 to $5,000, and business assessment from $720 to $700.

Canadian General Electric Company lot 6, plan 88, from $2000 to $1500; 12 Albert st, from $1200 to $900; 16 Albert street, from $1,800 to $1,300; 18 and 20 Albert street, from $2,050 to $1,240; 24 Albert street, from $1,380 to $900; 28 Albert street, from $1,820 to $1,060; 32 and 34 Albert street from $1,850 to $1,240; 36 Albert street from $1,400 to $860; 38 Albert street from $1,500 to $1,100; 42 Albert street from $2,170 to $1,770; lot 17, plan 30, from $600 to $325; lot 18, plan 30, from $950 to $580; lot 19, plan 30, from $600 to $325; north Townsend, west George, part 10, from $8,700 to $7,400; north Townsend, west George, part 12, from $6,800 to $6,000, and business assessment from $9,300 to $8,040; south Wolfe, west George, part 10, from $1,200 to $1,100 and business assessment from $720 to $660; south Wolfe, west George, part 11, from $1,800 to $1,560.

W T Carruthers, Boswell avenue, from $600 to $500.

E D Carver, Charlotte street, from $4,500 to $3,600.

H Carveth, 320 Charlotte street, from $1,780 to $1,500.

Mrs E B Cavanah, 198 London street, from $2,500 to $2,200.

C Clancy, 64 Aylmer street, from $3,260 to $2,700.

E G Clark, 362 Sherbrooke street, from $1,470 to $1,370.

E Clegg, 291 Stewart street, from $3,770 to $2,970.

C Clemence, 7 Walton street, from $2,100 to $1,850.

C H Clementi, 360 Charlotte street, from $5,300 to $4,500.

Mary Clementi, 336 Stewart street, from $3,700 to $3,540.

Alethea Ferguson, 343 Stewart street, from $4,000 to $3,800, and 359 Stewart street, from $4,600 to $4,300.

A Comstock, George street, from $8,150 to $7,100, and business assessment from $2,430 to $2,130; and Water street business assessment of $300 struck off.

M Comstock, no change.

Mrs. B Coulin, 45 Bolivar street, from $820 to $710.

R J Cook, no change.

B Cooney, 241 Stewart street, from $950 to $880.

Geo B Cooney, 339 George street, from $810 to $600.

S H Corbman, 92 Aylmer street, from $1,700 to $1,550.

John Corkery, 169 and 171 Perry street, from $2,200 to $1,880; 184 and 186 Perry street, from $2,260 to $2,040; north Perry, west George, part 3, from $150 to $100; 39 Gilmour street, from $2,550 to $2,250.

M. Coughlin, 43 Gilmour street, from $2,500 to $2,200.

S. Cottingham, 430 Donegal street, from $1960 to $1,750.

Wm. Cowie, 269 and 271 Reid St., from $2,850 to $2,430.

Wm. Cresswell, no change.

Wm. Croft, 252 Dalhousie street, from $2,300 to $2,000.

Mrs. A. A. Crosby, 188 Dalhousie street, from $2,480 to $2,180.

J. J. Cunningham, 104 Lock street, from $1,320 to $1,050.

D. Cushing, 153 Rubidge street, assessment confirmed; 330 Sherbrooke street, from $1,900 to $1,770.

F. A. Dalton, no change.

Hugh Darke, 124 Rubidge street, from $1,400 to $1,150.

P. Kane, 160 Rubidge street, from $1,150 to $1,000.

Mrs. M. Moore, 154 Rubidge, from $1,100 to $950.

Mrs. C. Davidson, 202 Dalhousie street, from $5,100 to $4,800

Rev. J. C. Davidson, 39 Sheridan street, from $1200 to $1000; 35 Sheridan street, from $400 to $200.

Mrs. W. Godfrey, 23 Sheridan St. from $400 to $200.

D. D. C. Dawe, 31 Gilmour street. from $1,900 to $1,700.

McDonald estate, s. Townsend, w. George, parts 2, 3 and 4, from $450 to $150, and business assessment from $270 to $75; n. Rink, w. George 2, 3 and 4, from $900 to $750, and business assessment from $540 to $370; n. Rink, w. George, part 1, from $650 to $500; s. Rink, w. George, part 1, from $700 to $600; s. Townsend, w. George, part 1, from $500 to $350. Business assessment of these lots reduced from $1,100 to $670; s. Rink, w. George, 2 and 3, increased from $1,100 to $1,250 and business assessment from $650 to $660; s. Rink w. George, part B, business assessment from $600 to $500, s. Rink, e. George, part 1, from $5,550 to $2,750, and business assessment from $3,300 to $1,650; n. Rink e. George, part 2, from $1200 to $250, and business assessment from $720 to $150; s. Rink, e. George, block 2, from $300 to $250, and business assessment from $180 to $150; s. Rink, e. George, block C, from $9,500 to $7,000, business assessment from $5,700 to $4,200.

A. Low, Simcoe street, business assessment from $2,250 to $600.

Chamberlain estate, part lot 17, Park street, from $4,500 to $4,000; lots 21 to 26, Patterson street, from $2,600 to $1,500; lots 27 to 31, Patterson street, from $900 to $750, lots 32, 33, and 34, Patterson street, from $700 to $350; lots 12, 13 and 14, Patterson street from $1,200 to $900; lot 12, Chamberlain St., $600 to $480; s. King, w. George, part 11, from $3,250 to $2,800; 197 Bethune street, $2,000 to $1,600; 189 and 191 Charlotte street, from $2,100 to $2,000; 185 and 187 Bethune street, from $2,600 to $2,500.

R. Devlin, Wescott street. No change.

Wm. Dinsdale, 210 Antrim street, from $1,750 to $1,500.

Mrs. M. Doherty, 278 and 280 Rubidge street, from $2,800 to $2,500.

Dominion Bank from $20,000 to $13,700 and business assessment from $15,900 to $10,275.

Isaac Dormer, No change.

Rose Drake, n Hunter, e Water, part 4, from $2,700 to $2,500.

D. W. Dumble, lots 9 to 24 Elgin street, lot 88 e Ridger's lots 42 and 43, plan 78. No change. S. Brock w George, part 1, from $2,000 to $1,800, and business assessment from $1000 to $900.

G. T. Leonard, s Dublin w George, 23 and 24, part lot 22, lots 23 and 24 from $600 to $400; part lot 22, from $750 to $700.

Mrs. M. J. Dunford, 33 Stewart-st., from $1150 to $850; 35 Stewart street, from $900 to $700; 30 Park street, from $1,050 to $950; 32 Park street, from $950 to $850, and 357 Sherbrooke street, from $1,120 to $1,000.

Sarah Dunn, 163 Charlotte street, from $2,700 to $2,625, and rear of 163 Charlotte street. No change; 167 Charlotte street, from $3,100 to $2,700, and 303 Rubidge street. No change.

C. A. J. Duranceau, 280 Simcoe-st. from $3,100 to $2,900; 62 Lake street, 81 and 79 Lock street. No change.

A. L. Elliott, 421 Bethune street, $1,650 to $1,450.

Thos. Eakins. No change.

Geo. Evans. No change.

Jas. A. Fair, 88 Aylmer street from $1,700 to $1,430.

J. H. Fair. No change

Robt. Fair & Co. No change.

W. M. Fair. No change

Jas Fairley, 30 Bolivar street, from $1,910 to $1,700.

A Ferguson. No change.

Mrs. M. Ferguson, Simcoe street. From $1,850 to $1,650.

J E Firth, 185 Dalhousie street. From $2,460 to $2,200.

John Fitzpatrick. No change.

Jos. Forster, 16, 17 and 18 plan 60, Bolivar street. From $3,200 to $2,400.

Mrs A V A Fraelick, 181, and 183 Edinburg street; from $2,400 to $2,180; 186 Edinburgh street. From $1,400 to $1,230. 34 Union street. No change.

P J Fuller, 127 Gilmour street; from $1,650 to $1,550.

Mrs E A Geary, 378 George street. From $900 to $700.

Minnie Giles. No change.

John Gillespie, 195 Sherbrooke-st. From $2,060 to $1,880.

George Milne, 191 Sherbrooke street. Land reduced from $630 to $560.

J W Gray, 305 Sherbrooke street; from $5,000 to $4,400.

G H Giroux, 306 Stewart street From $2,500 to $2,200.

E A Goheen, 196 and 198 Rubidge street. From $4,170 to $3,440.

Henry Gordon, 38 Park street. From $2,050 to $1,660.

Jos. Goselin, Crescent street. From $1,620 to $1,400.

Geo. N. Graham, part lot 2, Hunter street. From $30,300 to $23,600, and business assessment from $7,570 to $5,840; part lot 2, Hunter street, from $7,400 to $7,240, and business assessment of $1,850 was written off.

Mary Jane Graham, 9 Wescott-st.; from $920 to $750.

A J Grant, 130 Gilmour street.; from $4,200 to $3,580.

Henry Greene, 202 Perry street; from $1,700 to $1,600.

W J Green, 375 Brock street; from $2,150 to $1,950.

Dr. Greer, corner Aylmer and Simcoe; from $6,000 to $5,200, and business assessment from $1,500 to $1,300

N. Guerin, 7 Lewis street; from $650 to $400.

G. Gumpricht, Aylmer street. No change.

Geo. Fry, Euclid avenue, from $150 to $75.

J W Hales, Park street, pt. lots 1 and 2, plan 69, from $750 to $650; other part of lots 1 and 2, plan 69, from $1,000 to $850.

Hall and Hayes, No. 248 Hunter street, from $3,800 to $3,100; part lot 8, n. Hunter, w. George, no change; s. Brock, w. George, part 9, from $1,200 to $1,000; 409 Aylmer street, from $2,400 to $2,100; part 8, n. Hunter, w. George, from $1,000 to $750; Bowling Club property, Aylmer street, land reduced, from $2,300 to $1,800; part 8, s. Brock, w. George, from $1,500 to $1,000; 1, 2, 3 and 4 Fleming Place, from $8,800 to $7,000.

Samuel Hall, 183 Rubidge street, from $1,630 to $1,550; 187 Rubidge street, from $1,350 to $1,220; 195 Rubidge street, from $1,160 to $1,080; 197-199 Rubidge street, divided with $1,376 for 197, and $1,430 for 199 Rubidge street.

Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Co., part 16, s. Murray, w. George, from $800 to $550; n. Murray, w. George, part 19, from $1,900 to $1,200 on land; building, from $9,000 to $7,000.

Peter Hamilton Co., n. Sherbrooke, w. George, part 3, from $1,000 to $800; business assessment of $600 struck off; part 2, s. King, w. George, from $800 to $600; part 3, s. King, w. George, $2,000 to $1,700; part 1, s. King, w. George, from $5,600 to $4,500, and business assessment from $3,3600 to $2,700; n. Sherbrooke, e. George, part 1, from $4,500 to $3,800, and s. King, e. George, part 1, from $15,500 to $11,500, and business assessment on these two parcels reduced from $12,000 to $9,180; part 2, n. Sherbrooke, e. George, land from $1,800 to $1,000, and business assessment from $1,080 to $600.

Peter Hamilton, house, Water street, from $2,300 to $1,500; s. King, e. George, part 1, from $3,250 to $2,600; 176 Sherbrooke street, from $1,200 to $1,100; 180 Sherbrooke street, from $1,070 to $1,000.

W H Hamilton, 138 Simcoe street, building, from $6,000 to $5,700, and business assessment from $2,940 to $2,850; 415 Rubidge street, from $9,600 to $7,500.

Hugh Harper, 234 Downie street, from $1,700 to $1,500.

Ira D Moore, 336 Downie street, from $1,700 to $1,500; 338 Downie street, from $1,700 to $1,500.

John Harper, 180 Dalhousie street, from $2,860 to $2,600.

Mrs. E A Harris, 112 Lock street, from $1,900 to $1,500, and business assessment from $150 to $100.

Wm Harstone, 107 and 108 Lock street from $350 each to $300 each.

Rebecca Hartley, 97 Dickson street, from $1,600 to $1,200; 52 Murray street, from $2,100 to $1,900; 100 Murray street, from $1,300 to $1,000.

G W Hatton, part 2 south Sherbrooke, West George, from $2,750 to $2,150.

H T Strickland, parts of Blocks B and C, George street, from $600 to $300; part block H, from $250 to $100.

John Heal, 173, 175, 177, 179, Rubidge street, from $6,400 to $5,600.

Jas. Heal, no change.

Jas. Henry, asked to be assessed as tenant and S. S. supporter for 167 Simcoe street.—Appeal allowed.

W J Henry, part lot 1, plan 80, from $850 to $750; part lot 1, plan 80, from $850 to $750; 4 Cambridge street, from $850 to $750; 8 Cambridge street, from $850 to $750; 12 Cambridge street, from $850 to $750; 14 Cambridge street, from $850 to $750.

Cornelius Holland, 136 Chamberlen street, from $850 to $750.

Jas J Houlahan, assessment confirmed.

Geo. Howarth, 104 Chamberlen street, from $1,550 to $1,400.

C. L. Huffman, 410 Sherbrooke street, from $1,750 to $1,520; part lot 10 plan 22, Bolivar street, from $400 to $275.

F E Hurd, 38 Wescott street, assessment confirmed.

Mary E. Hurley, 201 King street, from $2,650 to $2,050; 207 King St., from $980 to $760; lot 13 plan, 56 King street, from $700 to $450.

T. Hurley, 134 Rubidge street. from $1,106 to $950.

Hugh Darke, 124 Rubidge street, from $400 to $350.

Mrs. M. Moore, 154 Rubidge street, from $400 to $350.

P. Kane, 106 Rubidge street. from $450 to $400.

W. H. Irwin, park lots 19 and 20, plan 90, Thomas street, buildings, from $1,050 to $930.

John Jameson, 85 Aylmer street. from $1,850 to $1,660.

Harold Jewett, part lot 1, plan 23, Park street, from $450 to $350.

S. Jinks, 348 Charlotte street, from $960 to $850.

Wm. Johnston, 64 Hunter street, from $2,950 to $2,500.

W. N. Jones, Pearl avenue, from $2,020 to $1,900.

John Kelleher, 123 Lake street, assessment confirmed.

John Kelly, 257 Rubidge, from $2,200 to $1,760, 251 Rubidge from $2,080 to $1,750; 316 and 318 Sherbrooke street, from $1,000 to $740; Rev. P. J. Kelly, 341 Downie street, from $3,050 to $2,560.

Mrs. Mary L. Kelly, 372 and 374 Downie street, buildings, reduced from $3,000 to $2,600.

Wm. Kemp, 648 Bethune street, assessment confirmed.

W. J. Kennedy, Charlotte street, business assessment of $250 struck off.

A. R. Kidd, from $600 to $450 on part of Park 7, lot 14, Lock street.

Kingan Hardware Co., 359 George street, from $11,800 to $11,000. On storehouse from $1,200 to $1,000, and business assessment from $3,540 to $3,300, on 359 George street, and on storehouse from $360 to $300.

T. Kinnear & Co., land at s. Dalhousie, e. George, part 1, from $3,420 to $2,660, and on building from $5,500 to $5,000, and business assessment from $5,250 to $4,425.

Mrs. I. Knox, 22 Queen street, from $1,300 to $1,200, and business assessment from $1,140 to $1,080; building at 26 Queen street, from $2,520 to $2,000.

John Lane, assessment confirmed.

N. T. LePlante, s. Hunter, w. George, part 7, Aylmer street, from $900 to $790; 126 Romaine street, from $2,360 to $1,850; 142 Romaine street, from $950 to $770; lot 18, plan 83, Romaine street, from $350 to $270; 180 Romaine street, from $550 to $470; 23 Park street, from $540 to $400; 119 Crescent street, from $500 to $450; 46 Lock street, $1,800 to $1,550; part Block A, plan 82, from $700 to $500; part Block B, plan 83, from $2,500 to $1,800; part Block A, plan 83, from $300 to $200. 49 Lock street, from $7,500 to $5,300. 385 and 387 Reid street, building from $4,000 to $3,400, reducing 385 Reid to $2,900, and 387 to $2,500; 687 Water street, assessment confirmed.

O. de LePlante, east one-half, lot 11, plan 62, from $1,300 to $1150; 138 Perry street, land from $650 to $540, part lot 21, plan 62, land from $300 to $230

J. B. Larocque, 282 Aylmer street, from $5,000 to $4,100 and business assessment from $1,250 to $1,020.

James Murty, 294 Aylmer street, land from $1,950 to $1,700.

B. Lastar, 252 London street, land from $500 to $400, 565 Bethune street, land from $300 to $200.

R. E. Layfield, 313 Park street, from $2,800 to $2,600.

Mrs. C. Learmouth, 567 Sherbrooke street, from $1,550 to $1,450; 379 Sherbrooke street, from $1,060 to $950.

K G Lech, 413 George street, from $9,300 to $8,660, and business assessment from $2,790 to $2,469; lot 14, plan 56, from $800 to $600.

L D Letellier, north Perry west of George, lot 7. Nos. 222 to 232 Perry street, from $5,100 to $4,500; and from 48 to 56 Aylmer street from $4,080 to $3,550; and 83 Aylmer street from $1750 to $1600.

M B Letellier, 74 and 76 Lake street, from $1600 to $1400; and 84 and 84 1-2 Lake street, from $2300 to $2060; 81 Lake street, from $700 to $610; 96 and 96 1-2 Lake street, from $1300 to $1040; 98 Lake street from $1000 to $880.

J J Lundy, part park lot, lot 13, concession 12, from $3000 to $2000; part park 3, lot 13, concession 12, from $3000 to $2000; part park 9, lot 13, concession 12, Park street, from $3000 to $2200; part park 9, lot 13, concession 12, boundary, from $2400 to $1800; 281 and 287 George street, from $14,600 to $10,800; N King, w George part 1, from $3600 to $2640; 291 George street, from $2500 to $1650, and business assessment struck off.

Jas Murty, part park 1, lot 13, concession 12, from $3000 to $2000.

Jos Lundy, 338 and 340 Aylmer street, from $2360 to $2000, and W J Lundy assessed as owner of 338; 162 and 164 Aylmer street, from $3,050 to $2640; 178 Aylmer street, from $1750 to $1400.

Mary B Lyle, Pearl avenue, from $2100 to $1980.

Jas Lynch, 166, 168, 170 and 172 Hunter street, from $10,000 to $9500.

A MacPherson, 73 Patterson street from $1150 to $1300; 79 Patterson street from $1500 to $1350; lot 20, plan 40, Patterson street from $300 to $250; lot 21, plan 40, Patterson street, from $300 to $250.

Mrs Mahoney, 379 Downie street, from $1100 to $1000.

William Maniece, Concession street, from $1250 to $1000.

Mann Lumber Co. business assessment of $1675 struck off.

Thomas Rebill assessed for north Wolf west George part 5, instead of Mann Lumber Co.

Geo Mather, from $2400 to $1200 on Charlotte street, business assessment reduced from $1000 to $800.

Donald Menzies, 280 King street, from $3160 to $2750.

John Menzies, 288 Stewart street, from $1850 to $1650.

W. Menzies, 291 Rubidge street, from $2300 to $1750.

W S Merrett, 67 Homewood avenue, from $2000 to $1650.

W G Metheral, 480 Aylmer street, from $1500 to $1280.

Jos Mills, 371 Hunter Street, from $3300 to $2900.

J Moore, 295 Park street, from $1,800 to $1450.

J N Morrison, 270 Reid street, from $2400 to $2300.

R Morrison, Sherbrooke street, from $2,100 to $1,850.

Robt. Munro, s. Hunter, e. Water, part 1 and 2, from $14,000 to $10,660; business assessment, from $4,500 to $3,250.

S Murphy; assessment confirmed.

Jas. Murty, 91 Weller street, from $2,000 to $1,500; 178 1-2 and 180 Hunter street, confirmed.

W E McCall, 306 and 308 Water street, from $3,100 to $2,700.

J S McCarthy, 498 Charlotte street, from $1,650 to $1,350.

J H McClellan, 19 Gilmour street, from $2,500 to $2,000.

John McClelland, 386 Downie street, from $1,850 to $1,500; business assessment for 1907 remitted.

J L McCreary, 100 Gilmour street, from $3,600 to $3,300.

E J McDonnell, 53 Albert street, from $1,800 to $1,600.

B McGill, 108 Lake street, from $1,900 to $1,500, and 6 Aylmer street, from $1,450 to $1,20.

Ed. McKeiver, 60 Bolivar street, from $1,620 to $1,350.

Wm. McMaster, 26 Park street, from $800 to $650, and 15 Stewart street, from $1,500 to $1,150.

Jas. McMillan, 113 Rubidge street, from $1,150 to $1,050.

Thos. McMurray, 22 Wescott street, from $1,020 to $920.

P McNamara, 11 Bethune street, part block H, from $1,200 to $600, and part block I, from $600 to $250; lot 9, plan 26, Lake street, from $500 to $350; 113 Lake street, from $1,550 to $1,250.

F P McNulty; no change.

John MacPherson, 283 Stewart street, from $2,760 to $2,400; 287 stewart street, from $2,600 to $2,300.

Robt. Neil, 350-354 George street, from $12,500 to $11,000; business assessment, from $5,500 to $5,100; 359 Hunter street, from $4,400 to $3,500.

Herbert Nicholls; no change.

Miss A M Nicholls, part lots 1 and 2, plan 85, from $3,500 to $3,000.

John Nugent, 205 Brock street, from $3,350 to $2,950.

John O'Brien, 45 Lake street, from $2,200 to $1,900; 55 Lake street from $1,250 to $1,050; lots 5 and 6, plan 97, Romaine street, from $150 to $100; lots 7 to 15, plan 97, Ash street, from $900 to $460.

Right Reverend R A O'Connor, 350 Hunter street, from $8,300 to $7,000, and 411 Reid street, from $9,000 to $7,000.

Michael O'Donnell, 211, 213 and 215 King street, from $2,700 to $2,310.

W A O'Rourke, 26 Bolivar street, from $1,560 to $1,180.

M. M L O'Sullivan, Hunter street, from $6,000 to $5,040.

J Parkes, 20 Aylmer street, from $1,000 to $800.

F B Patterson, King street, from $1,400 to $1,200.

T E E Pearse, no change.

Peterborough Canoe Company, n. King, e. Water, part 1, from $5,500 to $3,700; n. King e. Water, part 1, business assessment, $6,000 to $4,920; north King, east George, part 1, company relieved of assessment as tenants; business assessment of $2,730 struck off; assessment on land from $4,450 to $3,900.

Peterborough Hockey Club, Limited, Brock street, from $9,450 to $8,450, and business assessment from $2,950 to $2,700.

Peterborough Lock Company, Simcoe street, from $14,850 to $12,180, and business assessment from $8,910 to $7,260.

H Phelan, 293 to 303 Bethune street, from $7,300 to $6,180.

Joseph Picard, part lot 2, plan 52, Lock street, from $600 to $360; 63 Lock street, from $2,200 to $1,660; part lots 1 and 2, plan 52, Romaine street, from $600 to $480.

W Pilling, 14 Bolivar street, from $1,630 to $1,350, 16 and 18 Bolivar street, from $3,260 to $2,700; part lot 16, plan 22, Bolivar street, from $400 to $250.

Geo. D Pogue, 14 William street, from $1,350 to $1,200.

Nelson Pogue, 359 King street, from $1,450 to $1,250.

W Pollard, 57 George street, from $850 to $720.

B R Poole, 420 to 422 Water street, from $1,040 to $900 and business assessment from $560 to $520.

Wm Pope, Pearl avenue, from $2,400 to $2,000N King street, from $600 ot from $4,800 to $3,500, and house from $3,300 to $2,000; business assessment from $1,440 to $1,050.

G W Powell, 225 Dublin street, from $930 to $560.

Robt. Rae, income, assessment struck off.

Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Company, business assessment struck off.

W G Rankin, no change.

W C Read, 435 King street, from $3,200 to $2,800.

Mrs. Maria Reid, 76 Lansdowne street, part lot 13, from $300 to $200; lot 12, $400 to $300; lot 11, from $400 to $300, and building from $1,200 to $1,000.

R W Reid, 348-350 Aylmer street, from $2,200 to $1,600; east part lot 12, plan 20, Dunlop street, assessed to Mrs. Stock instead of Frances Reid.

Bruce Rickey, no change.

S Righamyer, 461 Sherbrooke street, from $1,930 to $1,750.

A. C. Robertson, 11 Gilmour street, no change.

W H Robertson, no change.

F L Robinson, 224-226 Charlotte street, from $4,500 to $3,800; business assessment from $1,120 to $900; 234 Charlotte street from $6,900 to $6,230; business assessment, from $1,720 to $1,560.

R. Z. Rogers, Sherbrooke street, from $700 to $600.

Alex. Rose, 460 Downie street, from $3,300 to $3,000.

Jas. Rose, 301 Park street, from $2,150 to $2,000

Mrs. Stewart Rose, 373 King street, from $1,570 to $1,250.

W. G. Randle, 84 Lock street, from $2,100 to $1,750.

G. A. Rutherford, no change.

John Ryan, 275 Reid-st., no change.

A. S. Sanderson, 120 Chamberlain-st., from $1,030 to $910.

F. Sandy, no change.

Jos. Saunders, [illegible] Romaine street, from $1,400 to $1,100.

W. M. Savigny, Bolivar street, from $600 to $450.

Mrs. E. Sayles, 385 Sherbrooke-st., from $1,270 to $1,150.

G. Schneider, 204 George street, from $8,800 to $6,200, and business assessment from $4,860 to $3,720.

G. F. Schneider, n Hunter, e George, part 1, from $10,800 to $8,280.

Alfred Scott, no change

Mrs. E. Shannon, from $1,630 to $1,550 at 375 George street.

J. A. Sharpe, 45 Homewood avenue, from $1,600 to $1,400.

R. Sheehy, 209 Rubidge street, from $2,700 to $2,280; 27 29 1-2, 31, 31 1-2 and 33 Bolivar street, from $4,400, to $3,600; 35, 35 1-2, 37, 37 1-2 and 39 Bolivar street, from $4,400 to $3,650; lots 18 and 19, plan 36, Sherbrooke-st., from $700 to $600.

Mrs. N. Shevlin, 229 King-st., from $2,880 to $2,300.

Mrs. P. Simons, 311 Rubidge street, from $2,400 to $2,150.

T. A. Slighte, no change.

J. Smythe, 458 Bolivar-st., from $2,200 to $1,900.

J. T. Stenson, 349 Reid street, from $4,800 to $4,300; 418 George street, from $4,380 to $4,420.

Mrs. E. Stenton, 257 Wolfe street, from $950 to $850.

Miss M. C. Stevenson, 216 Simcoe street, from $2,600 to $2,000; 307 Bethune street, from $2,200 to $2,000.

J. R. Stratton, n. Simcoe, e George, part 2, Water street, from $4,480 to $3,920.

Mrs. Martha Sutton, 57 Albert-st., no change.

M. J. Sweeney, 103 Homewood-ave., from $1,850 to $1,550.

W F Tetley, 220 Reid street, from $2,100 to $1,900.

J W Theobald, 73 Albert street, from $1,130 to $950; 67 Albert street, from $2,040 to $1,700.

Eliz. Thistlethwaite, 473 Sherbrooke street, from $1,500 to $1,300; part lot 3, plan 89, Sherbrooke street, from $150 to $100; lot 2, plan 89, from $240 to $140; lot 1, plan 89, from $240 to $140; lots 4 and 5, plan 89, from $200 to $150.

Mrs M Thomson, 295 to 303 King street, from $5,750 to $4,900; 270 Rubidge street, from $2,350 to $2,030.

R S Trew, 452 Bolivar street, from $2,100 to $1,800.

Mrs V Tully, 277 Stewart street, from $3,200 to $2,870.

J J Turner, 280 George street, from $12,180 to $9,450 and business assessment from $7,800 to $5,607; 282 George street, from $1,000 to $800, business assessment from $300 to $240; 286 George street, from $1,500 to $1,300; business assessment from $450 to $360; No. 10 Bolivar street, from $1,130 to $1,000; 49 George street, from $3,240 to $1,950; 392 Charlotte street, from $4,500 to $2,100.

W VanEvery, 306 Rubidge street, from $2,800 to $2,300.

Jas Waller, no change.

Mrs G J Wand, no change.

Mrs M J Watson, 84 Aylmer street, from $1,760 to $1,500.

W J Kennedy, 88 Aylmer street, from $1,700 to $1,550.

Mrs Helen West, 135 Stewart street, from $2,500 to $2,250.

J N White, 95 Aylmer street, from $2,200 to $1,800.

R J Winch, 296 Stewart street, from $3,200 to $2,400.

George Wiskin, 20 Thomas street, from $1,200 to $1,000.

J D Wiskin, 16 Thomas street, from $1,070 to $970.

F R Yokome, 58 Gilmour street, from $3,000 to $2,300.

W. Bustin, 334 George street, business assessment struck off.

V. Eastwood, income assessment reduced from $2,000 to $1,000.

Toronto Savings & Loan Company, s. Brock, w. George, part 1, from $43,000 to $35,635; 41 and 419, George street, from $16,200 to $14,800; 407 and 411, George street, from $15,900 to $15,000; over 399 George street, Hands & Co., from $2,800 to $1,800, business assessment, $840 to $540; 385 to 389 George St., A. W. Crossman, from $14,000 to $11,000, business assessment from $10,800 to $9,900; 321 George street, Demetre Bros., from $6,800 to $6,300, and business assessment from $2,040 to $1,890; S. Simcoe, w. George, part 2, from $6,000 to $5,000; 362 George street, and 144 Simcoe street, from $23,070 to $21,800; S. A.; and W. J. Oke, 376 George street, from $8,600 to $7,700; business assessment from $2,580 to $1,800; H. Le Brun, 143 Hunter street, from $6,900 to $5,000; business assessment from $2,070 to $1,500; s. Hunter, e. George, part 2, Bank of Commerce building, further reduced by $1,700; Peterborough Music Co., 404 George street, from $4,830 to $4,200, business assessment, from $2,050 to $1,680; O'Connell and Gordon, from $2,200 to $1,900; business assessment, $1,100 to $950; W. H. Moore, $1,800 to $1,400; business assessment from $750 to $700; lots 19 and 20, plan 88, Walton street, from $1,200 to $1,060; lots 21, 22, 23, plan 88, Walton street, from $2,000 to $1,800; part lot 28, plan 88 Homewood avenue, from $400 to $350; lots 25, 26 and 27, plan 88, Homewood avenue, from $2,400 to $2,100; lots 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6, plan 88. Weller street, from $3,800 to $3,360.

Geo. A. Cox, lots 6 and 7, plan 117, Reid street, from $1,200 to $1,100; lots 11, 21 and 18, plan 117, Park street, from $1,050 to $900; lots, 8, 9 and 10, plan 117, Park street, from $1,280 to $1,050.

Bradburn estate, over 418 and 420 George street, from $1,250 to $950; Young Conservative Club, from $800 to $600.

William Langford, (did not act on appeal), n. Dublin, e. George, lots 1 and 2, from $8,800 to $7,000.

STOCK MARKET QUOTATIONS

Furnished by J. H. Heints & Co.)

	Opening	Closing
Amal. Copper	43¾	43¼
Atchison	69⅞	70
B. R. T.	38⅛	37½
Can. Pacific x div.	148¼	148¼
Erie	00	00
Louis. & Nash.	89½	89½
Mo. Pac.	49½	47½
N. Y. Central	93½	93½
Penna	111⅛	110¼
Rock Island	14	14½
Reading	89½	[illegible]
Smelters	68¾	[illegible]
Sugar	95½	[illegible]
St. Paul	101¼	[illegible]
So. Pac.	71¾	[illegible]
Union Pac. x-div. 2½	114⅛	113¾
U. S. Steel	25⅝	25¼
do pfd.	86½	86½
Twin City	89	89½
McKay	51	51
Nipissing	6	6
Wheat	109¼	108¾
Corn	57½	56¾
May Oats	54	54¾
Pork	13.30	13.12

FIRE ALARM BOXES

The following are the numbers and locations of the city of Peterborough Fire Alarm Boxes.

WARD No. ONE

BOX LOCATION

12—Lock and McGill
14—Westcott and Aylmer
15—Perry and George
16—Perry and Bethune
17—Park and Townsend
18—George, at C. P. R.

WARD No. TWO

21—George and King
22—Simcoe and Queen
23—George and Hunter
24—Hunter and Quaker
27—Water and McDonel

WARD No. THREE

31—Park and Sherbrooke
33—Charlotte and Stewart
35—Park and Hunter
38—McDonel and Reid

WARD No. FOUR

41—Park and London
42—George and Dublin
43—Edinburgh and Stewart
45—George and Smith
49—Water and Hilliard

WARD No. FIVE

52—Burnham and James
53—Rogers and Sophia
54—Hunter and Mark
57—Concession and Hazlitt
59—Auburn

DIRECTIONS FOR SENDING IN ALARMS

A Key for the Alarm Box will be found hanging in a small box, with glass front, adjoining the Alarm Box. Break the glass, remove the Key, and open the Box; pull the lever down, when the Alarm is at once transmitted to the Fire Hall, Pumping Station and residences of the Firemen. Do not attempt to remove the Key from Box, as this can only be done by the use of a small Relieving Key.

HOW ALARMS ARE SOUNDED

The number of the Ward from which the Alarm is sent in is always sounded on the bell, which also constitutes the first number of the Box nearest to the fire, and when an Alarm is sounded, the Ward number is given first, then a pause, and then the remaining numbers of the Box.

SUBSCRIBERS PLEASE NOTICE

Readers, whose street number has been lately changed, will confer a favor if they will notify this office so that the correction can also be made on our list. tf

OPEN EVENINGS
FROM NOW UNTIL AFTER CHRISTMAS
with a complete stock of new and up-to-date holiday suggestions. Remember we have the greatest variety of Gift Books to be found in Peterboro', as well as Fine China and Cut Glass, Pictures, High-Grade Leather Goods, Stationery, Bibles, Hymn Books, Cards Calendars, etc., to which we invite your inspection. Be sure and get our prices before purchasing. You will be convinced that they are Rock Bottom.
R. J. SODEN
369 George Street

IF YOUR PIANO BEARS THE NAME
"GERHARD HEINTZMAN"
It has the excellence that comes of years of experience and study, carefully and intelligently applied.
A SINGING EVEN TONE PERFECT ACTION DELICACY OF TOUCH
combined with durability and beauty of design are the distinguishable characteristics of the "Gerhard Heintzman."
In buying a piano it is the truest form of economy to get the best, the few dollars additional in the price being returned tenfold in wear, pleasure and pride of ownership. Write for catalogue.
Gerhard Heintzman, Limited
97 Yonge Street, Toronto.
W. H. ISAAC, 228 Dublin Street, Peterborough.
Local Salaried Representative.
Machine 'Phone 22

LEARN DRESS-MAKING BY MAIL
In your spare time at home, or
Take a Personal Course at School.

To enable all to learn we teach on cash or instalment plan. We also teach a personal class at school once a month. Class commencing last Tuesday of each month. These lessons teaches how to cut, fit and put together any garment from the plainest shirt waist suit, to the most elaborate dress. The whole family can learn from one course. We have taught over seven thousand dress-making, and guarantee to give five hundred dollars to any one that cannot learn between the age of 14 and 40. You cannot learn dress-making as thorough as this course teaches if you work in shops for years. Beware of imitations as we employ no one outside the school. This is the only experienced Dress Cutting School in Canada and excelled by none in any other country. Write at once for particulars, as we have cut our rate one-third for a short time. Address:—

SANDERS' DRESS-CUTTING SCHOOL,
31 Erie St., Stratford, Ont., Canada.

The Daily Review

TUESDAY, DEC. 17, 1907

The Underwriters Met in Port Hope

Interesting Addresses Delivered —Good Work of Association

An important meeting of the Life Underwriters' Association of Central Ontario, was held in the Y. M. C. A. board room, in this town of Port Hope, Monday, Dec. 16th. The local members present at that meeting were S. E. Salls, H. P. Lindsay, D. H. Moore and W. R. Nelson. Along with these were insurance men from Oshawa, Elizabethville, Lindsay and several from Port Hope. This meeting was important, because of the fact that the constitution, as adopted by the association, was explained, and as a result several new members were added to the list of membership. The secretary of the association gave the history from the beginning up to this present date. H. P. Lindsay, the president, gave an address on the general work of the association, the same being enlarged upon by Mr. D. H. Moore, Mr. S. E. Salls and W. R. Widdis, Mr. H. A. Ward, M.P., was present, and expressed the view that the association had his sympathy in their work. It is quite evident that this association is growing rapidly, and will have a good chance to secure the prize at the next annual convention, as having admitted more members than any other association in the Dominion. A great deal of the credit for the success of this meeting in Port Hope was due to Captain Robertson.

OBITUARY

JOSEPH MONCRIEF.

The death occurred at Nicholls' hospital, yesterday, of Joseph Moncrief, who passed away, after a long illness. He had only been seriously ill a few days, however, and his death came as a shock to a large number of friends. Deceased was sixty-six years of age and had resided in Peterborough and vicinity practically all his life. He was a native of Ireland, but came to Canada when quite young. The late Mr. Moncrief's wife predeceased him three years ago, but he is survived by three brothers—David, of California; John, of Manitoba, and William, of Victoria county; and three sisters, Mrs. John Emmerson, of Peterborough, Mrs. Wm. Nelson, of Keene, and Mrs. Hy. Lane, of Young's Point.

Deceased was a Presbyterian in religion, and was a member of Downer's Corners Orange Lodge, and Court Chemong, I.O.F.

The funeral will take place tomorrow (Wednesday) at 2.30 o'clock, from the residence of Mrs. Emmerson, 210 Lake street, to Little Lake cemetery. There will be no flowers.

HOW'S THIS

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligations made by his firm.

WALDING, KINNAN & MARVIN,
Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Testimonials sent free. Price 75 cents per bottle. Sold by all druggists.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

5,000 FACTS ABOUT CANADA

A new edition has already been called for of the booklet containing "5,000 Facts about Canada," compiled by Frank Yeigh, of Toronto, and issued by the Canadian Facts Publishing Co., of that city at 25 cents per copy. Nearly 20,000 have been sold in the few weeks since its appearance, the demand therefor coming not only from every part of Canada and the United States, but the British Isles and Empire. The publication certainly measures up to its claim of being "worth its weight in Yukon gold or Cobalt silver," and a copy should be in the hands of every intelligent Canadian.

Invitation Cards for At Homes, Receptions and Evening Parties, partly printed for 1c each. Envelopes to match 10c package. On sale at the Review Office

About 20 cents is the cost of transferring a barrel of apples from the branches of the tree to the car.

HE STOOPED TO CONQUER.

Stole Money to Win Hand of His Wife From Rival.

Windsor, Dec. 17.—Somewhat of a romance was revealed yesterday when Walter Fitzgerald appeared before Judge McHugh on charges of forgery and embezzlement.

No attempt was made to deny that he secured $2,000 by raising checks while employed by a Walkerville firm, but according to the story told in court he had a rival for the hand of the lady who became his wife.

In order to vie with his wealthy rival, Fitzgerald took the money from his company to buy gifts for his sweetheart.

Chatham Youths In Court.

Chatham, Dec. 17.—Three local youths, Ernest Lamon, Frank Miller and W. Farrel, were brought up in the Police Court yesterday, charged with breaking into and committing petty burglaries at several stores in town. The thefts were very small and as one of the young lads at least comes of a well-to-do family, it would appear that the robberies were committed more in a spirit of bravado rather than for the sake of monetary gain.

Young Miller was found to be wearing a pair of steel knuckles when he was arrested. All three were remanded till next Monday for sentence.

Struck Overhead Bridge.

Stratford, Dec. 17.—Knocked unconscious by a steel overhead bridge while standing on top of a moving freight train, Lorne Smith, Grand Trunk brakeman of this city, now lies at death's door in the General Hospital.

A blinding snowstorm prevailed and Smith did not see the bridge. He was struck on the forehead, almost totally scalped and his skull crushed in. Bleeding and senseless he was found several minutes later, when the train arrived at Sebringville, five miles away, and was brought back to the city.

STRUCK NAME OFF LIST.

Lively Time Last Night In London Council.

London, Dec. 17.—There was excitement last night in the London council.

L. A. Jones, the manufacturer, who figured in the recent election trial in Toronto, having confessed to holding envelopes in the notorious London election, had been appointed by the city clerk as deputy returning officer for the municipal election.

The mayor received about 25 written objections from voters in the polling sub-division, and asked that Mr. Jones' name be struck off.

The debate that followed was hot enough to melt the snows of winter, and about midnight, on a straight party vote of 7 to 5, the name of Mr. Jones was struck off and a new bylaw prepared.

CHANGES IN TARIFF.

Effect of Revision of Australian Tariff —News Paper Goes In Free.

Ottawa, Dec. 17.—Mr. Ross, Canada's Trade Commissioner at Melbourne cables that the following changes have been made in the Australian tariff: News paper, free; wall paper, 20 per cent., preferential 15 per cent.; bicycles, 30 per cent., preferential, 25 per cent.; motor cars, 35 per cent., preferential, 30 per cent.; vehicles, 35 per cent., preferential, 30 per cent.; Harvesters, £12, shippers, £6; pianos, 30 per cent., preferential, 25 per cent.; organs, 20 per cent.

Assaulted by a Gang.

Kingston, Dec. 17.—Action is to be taken against a number of men who assaulted a man named Blakely at Stone's Corners in Frontenac County a few day's ago. Blakely's head, shoulders and body were badly injured by the beating received. It is charged that he assaulted a girl, whose friends planned to thrash Blakely. The latter was caught and left unconscious after the attack. He knows some of his assailants and was here yesterday to swear out warrants. He is still in a bad condition, being scarcely recognizable.

Strapped Down Aboard Ship.

New York, Dec. 17.—The Times yesterday says: Pietro Feitya, the French sculptor, who arrived on the Lorraine, amused the passengers by making a clay model of Miss Piney Sutherland, of Montreal, who was on board, and had to be strapped in position, owing to the rolling of the steamer, while he modelled her features. After it was completed the model was disposed of for $100, half the money realised being given to the musicians. The remaining $50 will be paid for having the work bronzed here.

Hubby Spanked Her.

Waterbury, Conn., Dec. 17.—Charging her husband with taking her on his knee upside down and spanking her with his slipper every day while intoxicated, Mrs. Rachel A. Hamlin obtained a divorce from him yesterday in the Supreme Court.

She alleged that hubby's only pleasure was drink, and each day he would demand money from her, and when she refused, he spanked.

Long Cruise is Begun.

Old Point Comfort, Va., Dec. 17.—The backbone of the United States navy, 16 first-class battleships, under command of Rear-Admiral Robley D. Evans, sailed yesterday for the Pacific Ocean, a 14,000 mile cruise, which has aroused much comment owing to the Japanese situation.

The President led the way for ten miles.

Poison In Woman's Stomach.

Quebec, Dec. 17.—The analysis of the stomach of Mrs. Rochette, whose body was exhumed owing to rumors of foul play, showed arsenic in quantity large enough to kill ten persons. Her husband married two days after and cannot now be found.

Shot to Death by Mob.

McHenry, Miss., Dec. 17.—Patrick Husband, a negro, was lynched about eight miles east of here. He was charged with assaulting two girls. About 100 armed men shot him to death.

Another Mine Horror Has Long List of Dead and Injured

Sixty Men Met Death in Disaster at Yolande Pit.

Fourteen Crawled Out Alive But Badly Burned — Twelve Bodies Have Been Recovered—Force of Explosion Was Terrific—Timbers Blown Great Distance—Hot Air Hinders Rescue Work.

Birmingham, Ala., Dec. 17.—Advices last night from Yolande indicate that about sixty men met death by an explosion in the mines at that place early yesterday. The work of recovery is slow, and while hundreds of miners from adjacent mining camps are present to assist, it is thought that all of the dead cannot be taken out before to-morrow. Only 12 bodies had been recovered up to dark yesterday. Fewer than 100 men were in the mine.

The cause of the explosion had not been officially determined. The mine has been pronounced free from gas by state inspectors and it is supposed that the explosion was caused by dust. For two hours after the explosion it was impossible to venture even near the mouth of the mine, so hot was the air that rushed out.

The explosion was below the second right sub-entry. The mines go down something like 1,500 feet. There was a terrific explosion; the force was made known outside by the dust and timbers that were blown out in great quantities, destroying small buildings nearby and landing some distance away.

Officers of the mining company immediately took steps to start a rescue party to get to the men on the inside. Their fans were started and other means employed to eliminate the bad air. Within a half hour fourteen men had crawled out of the mine and their description of the interior conditions was terrible. Several of these men were severely burned.

Yolande mine is a few miles from Virginia City, where a similar explosion occurred two years ago, when 112 men were killed. Yolande is 35 miles south of Birmingham. The Yolande Coal & Coke Co., owners of the mine, is headed by Dr. G. R. Crowde of Birmingham.

St. Paul's Missionary Society Has Had Most Successful Year

Thirty First Annual Meeting Held—Interesting Report From Secretary—Officers Elected.

The thirty-first annual meeting of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of St. Paul's church, was held on Friday, Dec. 13th. A large number of ladies were present. Miss Dickson, the president, occupied the chair. Selection 114, "O Lord thou art my God and King," was sung, after which, the 12th chapter of Romans was read responsively. Mrs. Robert Hall then offered prayer. Miss Dickson gave a most interesting address, reviewing the work that has been accomplished by the missionaries.

Hymn 434, "Jesus Shall Reign Where'er the Sun," was sung, and the report of the Society, prepared by Miss Martha Dickson, secretary pro tem, was read by the secretary. Mrs. McKee, the assistant treasurer, presented the financial statement, showing the total receipts for the year to be $567.98, of which $45.84 was used to clothe a boy and girl in the Alberni school, B.C., leaving a balance in the bank of $522.14.

Reports were read from the Fraser Mission Band by Miss Florence Hamilton, and from the Faithful Workers by Miss Aletha Davidson. The adoption of these reports was moved and seconded by Mrs. W. H. Hill.

After singing the hymn "Soldiers of Christ Arise" Mrs. Jeffrey, of Toronto vice-president of the W.F.M.S. Board, gave a most interesting report on the work of the W.F.M.S. in the different fields. Our missionaries all call for most earnest prayer. Dr. Marion Oliver, Indore, says "Pray the Lord of the harvest for more workers, especially for India." The great revival in India has resulted in the change of life of many of the people gladdening the missionary's heart. Sign point to the breaking down of caste, those of different castes mingling more together. Famine is again threatening the land. Earnest prayer is asked for more workers and that the famine may be stayed.

Our missionaries in China during the past summer suffered terribly from the intense heat.

Good reports came to us from Honan of the splendid work carried on by Miss Pike in the boarding school for girls. Mrs. Jeffrey also touched on the good work being carried on in our other fields, making special mention of Miss Jamieson, the travelling secretary. Mrs. Jeffrey spoke earnestly to the girls of the Mission Bands of the noble work they might accomplish through their efforts. In closing Mrs. Jeffrey made an appeal for individual prayer. Prayer is the life of any society, and by prayer and the study of God's Word each of us may be clothed with the garments of salvation and covered with the robe of righteousness. The offering was then received, during which Miss Moore sang a solo.

Mrs. Garvin moved that a hearty vote of thanks be tendered Mrs. Jeffrey, Mrs. Mason seconding the same.

Greetings were received from the Auxiliaries of St. Luke's, Murray-st. Baptist, Mark-st. Methodist and St. Andrew's. Mrs. Keith expressed the hope that next year she would be able to bring greetings from Knox church.

Mrs. (Rev.) Pogue gave a short address after the hymn "Blest be the tie that binds" was sung. Mr. Pogue offered the dedicatory prayer, closing with the benediction.

REPORT OF SECRETARY.

The thirty-first annual report of St. Paul's Women's Foreign Missionary Auxiliary was as follows:—

In presenting the annual report of our Auxiliary, we do so with gratitude to our Heavenly Father, who has permitted us to have some share in the great work of Foreign Missions, and for the success which has attended the work of the Auxiliary.

Meetings have been held regularly, with the exception of August. The attendance has been good, the average being a little higher than the previous year. The custom of having the January meeting specially for prayer was again followed, and found to be a season most profitable.

The study of "Christ Redemptor," has been pursued during the year. This mode of study has increasingly grown in favor, and we are sure that all who have prepared papers can testify to the personal benefits derived from this work.

The society was asked to supply clothing for a boy and girl in the Alberni School, B.C. Suitable outfits were provided, also a large quantity of supplies needed for the boarding school. These were valued at $59.18, and were shipped in August.

Early in the year, a letter was received from Mrs. Motion, matron of the school, whose home was in Peterborough at one time. She also sent photos of several of the pupils, the school building and church, all of which helped to increase our interest in this department of the work.

Month by month the "Foreign Missionary Tidings" has come, telling of the work which our missionaries, as our representatives, are doing in the mission fields. Could this organ of the W.F.M.S. not be placed on every home during the coming year? This would be one very effective means of interesting the uninterested, and one way in which every member might help. Facts are the fuel which must feed the missionary fire, and here we have them fresh, crisp and spicy.

In October the annual thank-offering meeting was held and was well attended. Mrs. Keith gave a most interesting address on her experience in India, which was much appreciated. The offering amounted to $102.50, the largest in the history of the Auxiliary.

One thing which strikes me very forcibly in looking over the minutes of the monthly meetings, is the repetition of the same names from time to time, as those who have led in prayer. This is certainly the weak point in our work, and if we are to grow and develop, and do the work our Master has given us the talents for, we must give ourselves more and more to prayer. No appeal comes to us so frequently from our missionaries, as this one, "Pray for us." They know something of the wonderful power there is in prayer, and how useless and ineffective their work is without it. Do we realize what helpers we might be, if we were to use this God given power?

"Prayer moves the hand that moves the world."

"Prayer is the key of Heaven."

Dr. McKellar in a recent letter says: "It is only as we use a key that it remains bright and shining." Let us keep on using the key. Shall we not in the coming year try to follow Dr. McKellar's advice, and if we are faithful in this respect, great blessings will attend the work of our missionaries, and it may be, greater blessings will come to ourselves.

The year which has closed, has seen many changes in the Auxiliary. Almost immediately after the annual meeting last year, our beloved Hon. President, Mrs. Fairbairn, was called home, and later in the year Miss Roger passed away. These sisters were closely identified with the Society from its organization, and ever had its interests at heart. In the early days when the Society needed careful fostering, wise council and anxious thought, it was given in no stinted way by these ladies. We may not all realize how much of the success of the work is due in a very large measure to the patient, persistent and consecrated efforts of the early workers, and no one rejoiced more at the continual growth of the Society than those whose loss we mourn to-day. We have lost another faithful member in the person of Mrs. James Finnie. These faithful women have heard the Master's voice saying "Come up higher," and have exchanged the earthly service for the heavenly.

In the removal of Mesdames Torrance, Dennistoun and McKay, the Society has lost tried and faithful workers, who were always ready to assist in any way that the interest of the Auxiliary might be promoted, and we know that our loss will mean gain to other Auxiliaries.

May we refer specially to the very efficient services rendered by our late secretary, who spared neither time nor energy to promote the welfare of the Society.

Our thanks are due to Miss Cameron, who has so kindly filled the office of secretary pro tem.

The record of the year is closed, the results are with Him, who seeth not as man seeth, "man looketh on the outward appearance, but the Lord looketh on the heart."

If we could individually realise and act upon the old proverb, "I am only one, but I am one. I cannot do everything, but I can do something; what I can do I ought to do; what I ought to do, by the Grace of God I will do." Many of the difficulties would be surmounted, and the problems solved in missionary work.

Signed, MARTHA DICKSON,
Sec. pro tem.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

The officers for the ensuing year are as follows:—

President.—Miss Dickson.
1st Vice-President.—Mrs. Pogue.
2nd Vice-President.—Mrs. Roger.
Secretary.—Mrs. A. P. MacLean.
Lit.-Sec.—Miss Laidlaw.
Treasurer.—Miss Kingan.
Asst. Treas.—Mrs. G.S. McKee.
Librarian.—Miss N. Davidson.
Organist.—Miss Simpson.
Executive committee.—Mesdames Shook, Turner, Ferguson, Wm. Davidson, Robert Hall, Pringle, Munro, Hill, Mason and Innes.

Took Overdose of Pills.

Montreal, Dec. 17.—Employes of the Queen's Hotel rooms at 10 o'clock Sunday found Alfred M. Lynch, commercial traveler, between Montreal and Toronto, lying unconscious on the bed. On the bureau was an empty box that had contained 25 cocaine tablets. He died at 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

The pills had been prescribed to him by a local physician in order to relieve acute bronchitis. His death was evidently due to an overdose.

Fires at Parry Sound.

Parry Sound, Dec. 17.—The town was visited with two more fires last night. The first broke out at 9.30 in a workshop and store house owned by E. S. Pratt. While the firemen were engaged here the alarm was given of another in a boarding-house near the Parry Sound Lumber Co.'s mill. Most of the contents were saved. Loss to building about $500, insured.

Mrs. Fetterman's Sentence.

MacLeod, Alta., Dec. 17.—Mrs. Fetterman, found guilty of shooting her husband with intent to kill, was sentenced yesterday by Judge Scott to three years' imprisonment. Her husband pleaded for her, but the judge said the crime was a most unnatural one.

Sunfield Must Hang.

Hamilton, Dec. 17.—The Minister of Justice has informed the solicitor of Jake Tamillo (Sunfield) that he has no power to order a new trial for the murderer, who is to be hanged on Dec. 27.

Uplifting the Savage.

We have received the following spicy analysis of British civilizing procedures in Africa from a young Egyptian from Tanta, who shows dramatic aptitudes. The title of his communication is:

A TRAGEDY IN SIX ACTS.
Act 1.—The missionary.
Act 2.—Whisky and pale ale.
Act 3.—The Maxim gun.
Act 4.—A newspaper.
Act 5.—Cricket and football.
Act 6.—Death of the last aborigine.
Finis.—Band plays "Rule Britannia."

—Egyptian Standard.

Poor Consolation.

"Oh, dear!" exclaimed the society woman. "I feel so wretched, and this is my receiving day too! I do hope no one will call, for I'll be in misery all the time."

"Well," remarked her husband facetiously, "I always understood that 'misery loves company.'" — Catholic Standard.

Her Bribe.

Unattractive Maiden Aunt—Goodby, Jottie. Come soon again. I hope you'll forgive my not kissing you, but I have an awful cold. Jottie (aged six)—Never mind. Do kiss me, auntie. Mother said she'd give me 5 cents if I'd let you.—Exchange.

Resented.

The Scotchman (during an argument) —Hoot, man, hoot! The Irishman (hotly)—Shure an' Oi'll not hoot. Do ye take me for a bloomin' owl?—London Scraps.

You have heard the Sailor Boys' plea, buy to-day for your dinner to-morrow "Sailor Boy" Canned Goods, Tomatoes Corn, Peas and Salmon. Your money does not buy better Goods. Do you get "Sailor Boy" or substitute?

ONTARIO COAL CO. LIMITED PETERBORO

We have just received a few cars of specially prepared Coal for ranges and small stoves, a little smaller than Nut and larger than No 2 Nut

Price, Per ton $6.50

If your stove has a good draught, give it a trial.

City Office: 387 Water St. Bell Phone 325
Head Office and Yards: Cor Aylmer and Wolfe Sts. Phones, Bell 116, Mac. 325

ONTARIO COAL CO., Limited

A. J. McCLELLAN C. CURRIER G. K. RACKHAM

FOR PASSEPARTOUT WORK

The fad for passepartout pictures is again growing a favorite for pretty pictures and are always appreciated. One can always find room for a couple more on the walls and every one has their favorite subject, some like scenery, others historical subjects, many like kittens and one boy in the city has the walls of his bedroom fairly covered with pictures of dogs—small and large. When mounted on a suitable background and passepartouted they are very pretty and inexpensive to make up. The Review has a large stock of pictures in sepia and colors, mounting papers and passepartout to match. Call and see them at the REVIEW Office, Hunter street. 6d

Christmas Slippers

There's nothing that will make a more sensible Christmas Gift than Footwear. Our slipper show, at this season is a big thing—worth coming to see.

MEN'S SLIPPERS

Operas, Everett and Romeo styles, black kid, tan kid, patent leathers,

$1.00, 1.25, 1.50, 2.00

WOMEN'S SLIPPERS

House Slippers, Turkish Slippers and Juliets, Slippers for Dress Functions, all the new Ties and Pump effects, choice, handsome and exclusive creations,

50c to $3.00

J. T. STENSON
364 George St.

EGGS

FOR SALE by the case

Fresh and Pickled Choice Stock at our warehouse, Robinson Street, East City

Scott & Hogg
PHONE 264, BOTH PHONES

ONLY TWO WEEKS

In fourteen days the REVIEW NEWS BOYS' COMPETITION will close, and the awards will be made. Following the plan on which the competition was instituted no information has been given of the standing of the several competitors. The decision will rest on the results, each boy getting credit to the last paper for his efforts. ¶ Fourteen days yet to work. A good deal can be accomplished in that time. The hustling boy can add to his list of customers and pull up to a first place easily. Christmas week will be a good time in which to hustle, and all through the holidays. The boy showing the largest number of papers sold to customers and those who did not buy before will get the biggest prize.

HUSTLE! HUSTLE! HUSTLE!

PRICE OF Coal FOR OCTOBER IS $7.50
Ton, cash with order

THE PETERBORO FUEL & CARTAGE CO
LIMITED.
162 Charlotte-st. Telephones—(Bell) 261, 270. (Machine)—270.
134 Aylmer-st. Tel. (Bell) 382.

D.L. & W's SCRANTON COAL

SOLD BY R. HICKS & CO. AT

$7.50 Per Ton

for Month of October, in lots of not less than half ton.
This is the Standard Anthracite. 60 % of Coal sold in Ontario is SCRANTON.
Terms Positively Cash.

R. HICKS & CO.
Coal Builders' Supplies, Etc.

COAL AND WOOD

Best of Coal—Best of Wood

GOAL FOR OCTOBER

$7.50
PER TON

J. E. A. FITZGERALD
Cor. Brock and Bethune Sts
BOTH PHONES 111

Palace Livery Barn

For the smartest and most up-to-date LIVERY OUTFITS, at reasonable rates, go to

TOM FOSTER & CO.

Successors to Brube Lee & Co
Rear of Snowden House.

AUCTION SALE OF HORSES BUGGIES, HARNESS, ETC., EVERY SATURDAY

Phones—Bell 286—Machine 289

Steer Straight

for the best Beer ever brewed, and you are sure to come to us! Our Bottled Beer is "bottled health." It means vigor and strength, a good appetite and high spirits. It is the best medicine for the weak and the best food for the strong. Keep our excellent in Beer your home as a beverage and you will have no need of a doctor. Nothing but the purest ingredients used in the brewing.

—THE—
CALCUTT BREWING AND MALTING CO
of Ashburnham Limited

FACTS—JUST PLAIN, POINTED FACTS

BOYS' SUITS

Good words our Good Boy's Clothing are coming back to us in good business, what better proof could you ask of our value-giving than these.

BUSTER BROWN STYLE

Gray mixed Tweeds, plain, well made and trimmed, sizes 22 to 25 .... 3 25

Gray stripe Tweed, well made and trimmed, 22 to 25 3.50

Blue and black Serge, well made and trimmed sizes 22 to 26 .... 4.00

2-PIECE NORFOLK STYLE

Dark gray stripe Tweed, sizes from 25 to 30, special 2.00

Gray mixed Tweed, pepper and salt effects, all sizes, 24 to 30, Special 2.50

Brown Scotch Tweed effect, double breasted Norfolk, sizes 26 to 29, prices 4.00, 4.50, 5.00

3 piece Double Breasted Styles—dark gray check and stripe Tweed, Lion Brand, with double elbows and double seats and knees, well padded and well made, sizes 28 to 33 .... 4.50 and 5.00

Dark gray over plaids and dark stripes, the newest designs for boys' suits, double breasted, sizes 28 to 33 .... 6.00, 6.50, 7.00

Boys' and Youth's Reefers—Dark gray and black Frieze, Tweed lined, all sizes up to 28 .... 2.00, 2.25

Dark gray and black Frieze, Tweed lined, 2 75

MERRELL & MEREDITH

CLOTHIERS, FURNISHERS and HATTERS

375-377 GEORGE ST. PHONE 35

MORE DISCUSSION AS TO ROMAINE STREET SEWER

The City Council last night discussed several important matters in regular session;

The City Council met in special session at eleven o'clock last night.

Street Commissioner Evans reported that the Romaine street sewer is now working satisfactorily. According to the engineer's report, however, this work has cost over $500 above first cost to put this sewer in working condition.

Ald. Morrow moved, seconded by Ald. Wilson,—That this report be adopted.—Carried.

Ald. Duncan said he knew quite well that this sewer will have to be taken up from Aylmer street to the track before long.

PUBLIC LIBRARY.

Ald. Stevenson moved, seconded by Ald. Bradburn,—That the petition of the directors of the Mechanics' Institute asking that a public library be established in this municipality under the Public Libraries Act be received and approved of, and that action be deferred till the next council meeting.

SNOW PLOWING.

B. Flaherty was awarded the contract for snow plowing in the north ward, Chard having refused to sign his contract for such work.

ALDERMEN FOR TWO YEARS.

Ald. Phelan submitted the following:—

Gentlemen,—Your Legal Committee beg leave to report and recommend as follows;

1. That the city solicitor be instructed to prepare a bylaw to comply with the request of Mr. Malcolm Buchanan to be assessed as a Public School supporter upon Mr. Buchanan supplying the necessary proofs of the facts.

2. That the city treasurer be authorized to issue a cheque for $12.80 to the city solicitor to settle the claim of G. S. Hodder for injury received by his child on the sidewalk, and to obtain a release.

3. That the city solicitor be instructed to give notice of the intention of the Council to apply for legislation for the following purposes;

To authorise the election of aldermen for two years, one half retiring each year.

To authorise the Water Commissioners to spend $20,000 for five years on extensions and improvements of the waterworks or to authorise the council to issue debentures to the amount of their contingent fund.

To amend the law to provide that the Water Commissioners pay the interest and sinking funds on waterworks debentures directly to the City Trust Commissioners.

For confirmation of bylaws fixing assessments of certain manufacturing concerns as the council may direct.

For confirmation of the bylaws fixing a charge for connections with trunk sewers or when property is not specially assessed for the sewer.

To change the method of appointing the City Trust Commissioners and to enlarge their powers.

To authorise the purchase of the King Edward school land for a park.

This report was adopted.

COMMITTEE OF WHOLE.

The report of the Committee of the Whole as published elsewhere was adopted.

EXTRA WORK.

Ald. Tovey submitted the following:—

Your Finance Committee beg leave to report and recommend as follows;

1. That an account from Dr. Halliday be paid when certified to by the Board of Health.

2. That $1.00 erroneously paid for a dog tax be refunded to Mr. James O'Brien.

3. That owing to the extra work the Court of Revision has had this year the chairman of the court be paid a bonus of $100 and the other members of the court $75 each.

4. That one copy of Seagar's Magistrate's Manual be ordered for the use of the clerk of the police court.

Also payment of a number of accounts.

Ald. Duncan moved, seconded by Ald. Bradburn,—That the offer of Mr. Peck, on behalf of Miss McMann, of $1200 for her property required for the widening of George street be accepted.

The council of 1907 then died.

Prof. Shepherd Arrested on Charge of Fortune Telling

A sensational arrest was made this afternoon, when P. C. Newhall placed in the lockup Prof. C. Shepherd, 344 Aylmer street, who has been giving readings in palmistry in this city, for the past two weeks. He is held on a charge of telling fortunes. The professor informed a Review reporter that there was no fake about his business. He had come here from California, where he had for years given readings in palmistry. His charge was fifty cents. He had not made a study of palmistry as a science, but owed his ability to tell people their dispositions and for what they were best adapted, to a gift which he alone possessed. His readings of the hand have never yet been wrongly told.

He will appear before the magistrate in the morning.

Good News for Tobogganists

The toboggan slide at Jackson Park will likely be open tomorrow night. A large force of men are hard at work, and if there is no change in the weather, the slide should be in shape tomorrow night. The skating rink will open a few days later.

BASKETBALL

To-morrow night at Y.M.C.A. gymnasium, the first and second teams will practise at 8 o'clock.

The teams will be constituted as follows:—

First.—R. P. Best, Dobson, Greenman, Darling, Staunton.

Second.—Richardson, Weatherstone, Sutherland, Wallace, E. M. Best.

After the game a team will be chosen to play against West End, Toronto, New Year's night here.

Mr. Wm. Davidson Replies to Mayor

Thinks Action of His Worship Was Spite Work

To the Editor of the Review.

Dear Sir,—I notice in the report of the council meeting held last Monday evening, and also in the report of the meeting of the Board of Works on Thursday last, that the Mayor accuses me of having torn up the streets of the city without having first obtained proper permission.

In order that the public may know the facts, I wish to make this explanation;

Before commencing the work, I applied to the city engineer for permission to do so. I saw the city engineer upon two or three occasions, and received from him instructions as to how the work was to be done. I then went ahead, and did the work according to his instructions.

In the face of these facts, which could easily have been learned, the Mayor makes the public statement that I tore up the city streets without permission, and gives that as his reason for opposing my application for a refund. I was not asking any favor from this council; all I asked was a return of the deposit required to be made by the city bylaw.

The Mayor seems to have taken extra pains to explain that he had no personal feelings in the matter. After learning the facts I leave that for the public to judge. If the citizens of Peterborough are to be denied their rights on account of the petty spite of the Mayor, then we had better take the first opportunity of electing a man to that high position who will attend to the city's business and not waste his own time and the time of the council in looking for opportunities to annoy those against whom he may have any personal feelings.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your valuable space,

Yours truly,

WM. DAVIDSON.

StopsHeadache

Your tablets are a safe and effective remedy for headache.
E. F. TOMKINS, Mayor of Coaticook.

Every woman who suffers ought to know their worth.
MRS. A. ELFORD, North Sidney, C.B.

I have tried your tablets and wish to give them the highest possible recommendation. D. W. NOYES,
Of Noyes Bros., Boston, Mass.

Zutoo

THE BANK'S SKATE STORE

Stock The
LUNN'S
AUTOMOBILE
CYCLE
ENGEL'S
STARR
REGAL
MIC MAC
SKATES

Come to us for your Skates and Skate Supplies

Banks Bicycle and Sporting Goods Co.

Under the Market Clock

Council Around The Festive Board

At the conclusion of the council meeting last night, the Mayor, aldermen and press representatives adjourned to a local restaurant, and refreshed themselves, after a long and busy session. The Mayor sat at the head of the table, and at the conclusion of the supper, thanked the aldermen for the splendid work they done during the past year, and spoke of the pleasant relations that had existed between him and the city council.

Three cheers and a tiger were given for the Mayor before the gathering broke up.

Presentation to Mr. Frank Mason

On Thursday evening last about 25 members of Mr. Frank Mason's class of the George street Methodist church gathered at his home when Mr. D. W. Dumble read an appreciative address, signed by Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. Syer and Mr. Dumble, on behalf of the class. Accompanying the address was a hardwood Morris chair, which was presented to Mr. Mason. The recipient made a grateful and appropriate reply thanking the members of his class for their totally unexpected evidence of esteem and referring to the pleasant relations which had always existed between the different members.

An enjoyable evening was spent with music and readings. Refreshments were served at the close.

OBITUARY

MRS. MARGARET SCRIVER

The death occurred very suddenly last evening at 6.30 o'clock, of Mrs. Margaret Scriver, at her late residence, Bethune street. The deceased had [illegible] of feeling unwell [illegible] death came as a great shock to her relatives and friends. She was 50 years of age and had lived in Peterborough for the past twelve years.

One daughter, Effie, and one son, Roy, are left to mourn her loss.

The funeral takes place tomorrow afternoon at three o'clock, from the family residence, Bethune street, to the Little Lake cemetery.

BIRTH

TEMPLEMAN.—At 210 Simcoe street, on Monday, Dec. 16th, the wife of George E. Templeman, of a son.

Former Local Man Returns From the West

Mr. Robt. Harrison, formerly of city, but now a resident of Lamonte, Alberta, is home for a few weeks holidays and is renewing old acquaintances. Mr. Harrison owns a flourishing drug business in the western town, and like most easterners who have gone west, is very optimistic over the future of the Northwest. Lamonte is a town of a population of about 400 inhabitants, but it is rapidly going ahead. It has only been in existence for a little over a year. Mr. Harrison will return to Lamonte early in the new year.

Taking No Part in Municipal Fight

President Buller Corrects Rumor Regarding Young Conservative Club

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—I hear it industriously rumored on the street that the Young Conservative Club is taking an active part in the coming municipal election, and is endeavoring to induce a representative citizen to come out and oppose Mr. R. F. McWilliams for the Mayoralty.

I would like to know, sir, if these reports are correct. Surely politics is not being introduced into our municipal battles.

Yours,

CIVIS.

Peterborough, Dec. 17th, 1907.

Mr. Wm. Buller, president of the Young Conservative Club, when shown the foregoing letter today stated that there was not a word of truth in the report that the club was taking, or going to take, any part in the coming municipal contest. "We are remaining neutral," he added, "and as an organization will not participate in the fray at all. Each member will exercise his franchise as he sees fit and cast his vote accordingly. We have not the slightest intention whatever of interfering in municipal affairs."

HOCKEY

Tonight will be the first hockey practice of the season and a good attendance of players is looked for at the Brook street rink.

Professional Etiquette.

An eminent physician had a valuable cow, which became sick and seemed likely to die. He asked an Irish servant who lived with him if he knew anybody who followed cow doctoring. The doctor's groom said, "There's Jemmy Lafferty, who can cure any cow in the world." "Well, then," replied the doctor, "go for Lafferty." The cow doctor accordingly came and treated the brute for four or five days, and on the lapse of due time he waited on Dr. Lewis and pronounced her cured.

The doctor, greatly delighted, put his hand on his pocketbook. "Well, Lafferty, what do I owe you?" "Owe me!" replied Jemmy, drawing himself up with dignity. "Nothing, sir. We doctors niver take money of one another."

"My first impulse," said the doctor while telling the story, "was to throw his fee after him, but on second thought the whole affair seemed so ridiculous that I bowed him my acknowledgments with as much gravity as I could assume." — London Telegraph.

Loaded Ivory.

An ivory dealer uttered a cry of rage.

"Done again!" he said. "Done out of $50!"

And he laid aside one of the tusks from the great heap that he had been examining.

"It is ballasted with lead," he said. "That is a common Kongo trick. The native when he gets a good big tusk of eighty pounds or so melts up ten or fifteen pounds of lead and pours it down into the tusk's hollow. He fills it, so to speak, as a dentist fills a tooth.

"We dealers know the dodge, and every tusk is gone over carefully for a lead filling. My new trader, though, is rather careless, and this is the second filled tusk that has been worked off on him in the last quarter."

The dealer's frown vanished, and he smiled.

"Of course the trader and not I will have to stand the loss," he said.—Minneapolis Journal.

A Woman's War.

[Copyright, 1907, by M. M. Cunningham.]

Fifteen years ago there appeared in New York a woman about thirty years old who gave the name of the Baroness Stein and who claimed to be the widow of a German baron who had been deceased a couple of years. She spoke German, English, French and Spanish. She had three or four servants, lots of baggage and seemingly no end of money. On the contrary, she persistently refused invitations and explained to all that she was on a mission. Instead of seeking society she sought capitalists and speculators. During the three months she remained in the metropolis, with frequent visits to Washington, she had interviews with half a dozen leading capitalists and as many members of congress.

What is not generally known to this day is that the Baroness Stein was an out and out adventuress from Brazil. She had even been the consort of heads of South American states. While in this position she had learned of a new diamond field. The property was owned by private individuals. She desired to possess it, but so did the president. The result of individual greed was a quarrel and a separation, and the president was probably rejoiced when she pocketed a certain sum of money and sailed away for the United States, leaving him to work his own private schemes to enrich himself. He thought he knew the baroness pretty well, but the results astonished him. To capitalists, senators and others she proposed a combine or trust to get possession of those mines. It could not be done without a revolution, and she proposed one. She might have attempted one alone had she had sufficient funds. She would throw in her all and go back and be the head and front of the affair.

One day the Baroness Stein sailed away, bag and baggage, and she did not leave a debt unpaid. She landed at a certain port in South America and began her work. She had interviews with adventurers. She had talks with solid men. She sent for the owners of the mines and told them of the plot of the president and brought them into the combine. She used money, and she used her personal influence, and the day came when she had the backing to return to the president and say:

"If you want to come in with us all right; if you don't I will sweep you out of power within three months."

The president laughed grimly. He was solidly seated and had been for eight years. He was at peace with the neighboring states. His people were never so contented. The idea that he could be bounced out, and that by a woman, was so absurd that he laughed in her face. She reiterated, and he sent her to prison to teach her his power and dignity. In three days she won over her jailers and disappeared. Two weeks later the president made his move against the owners of the mines. They were not residents of his state, and his plea was that they were seditionists who were fomenting rebellion. They were summarily arrested and thrown into prison, and in due time, had things gone the even tenor of their way, evidence would have been manufactured to hang or outlaw them. But something happened. At sunrise one morning a revolution broke out in a town distant from the capital. The president spoke of it sarcastically. Another and another town followed, and he finally gave the order for troops to march against the rebels. The troops refused to stir a foot. On the contrary, the general in command informed the president that he was under arrest and marched him away to prison.

A new dictator appeared. He was a man chosen by the baroness. He had aims and ambitions, and he had agreed to become her tool. The revolutionists were armed and equipped from the United States, and inside of ten days the baroness was the power behind the throne that was directing everything. It was an almost bloodless revolution. A woman had guided and effected it. She had even marched at the head of the troops. The old president was glad enough to be slipped out of the country, and the new one, formally elected by the people after being placed at the head of affairs, set out to obey the mandates of the woman who had put him there.

Then followed the greed of capitalists, the lack of honesty of the politicians and the ingratitude of man. The conspirators had the diamond mines and a good thing all around, but they were not satisfied with that. They demanded concession after concession until the people of the state began to wonder what would be left to them. Their investments profited them a thousand per cent, but still they must have more. The baroness and the new president were almost ignored. They were made the victims of sharp practice. In time they became only puppets in the hands of the trust. The trust could buy assistance and allegiance outside of them, and it did so. The day came when they practically controlled the state and defied its people. Then came another revolution, and it was swept out of power and made to disgorge, but it had made millions. The baroness in one way and other had been plucked of her all. She who had engineered the whole thing had to leave the country as a steerage passenger, while the "ring" sailed away with a full treasury. She landed one day at Bahia, broken in health and penniless, and that night in a cheap lodging house she committed suicide. In overthrowing a republic she had accomplished what a hundred men might have failed to do, and in trusting to the integrity of capitalists and politicians she had worked her own downfall.

M. QUAD.

Deadly East Indian Duels.

There are a good deal of savagery and stoical disregard of death left in the east yet despite the advance of civilization, and this extends to the so called sports of the people. Thus among the natives of Baroda there obtains still a kind of gladiatorial display in the shape of a fearful fist fight wherein the contestants wear a very formidable cestus of steel studded with murderous spikes. The duelists—usually big, brawny, athletic men who have been infuriated for the occasion with copious drafts of opium in which hemp is infused—enter the arena singing and set to with deliberate intent to kill, one or both invariably succumbing.

FOR XMAS GREETING

Order your cards now and secure the best, as the prettiest are always sold out first. Many different styles printed with your own greeting and name, at all prices. Call and make your selection at the Review Office.

Oakville Brass Band has twenty members, "every man a musician," but not necessarily a Mozart.

A SECOND THOUGHT

Should convince you that the place for genuine values of lasting quality in CHRISTMAS GIFTS is where the most select stock is carried. See our North Window for the finest display of Silverware to be found in Peterborough.

Such Remembrances as Choice Cutlery, Skates, Hockey Sticks, Pucks, Carpet Sweepers, etc., are always appreciated by the recipient. Give appreciated Gifts.

PETERBOROUGH HARDWARE CO.

Cubitt's

Books, Stationery and Fancy Goods Store

IS THE PLACE TO BUY YOUR

CHRISTMAS PRESENTS

Save money. The extra cost of LARGE FLAMING ADVERTISEMENTS not necessary. Variety, cheapness and obliging attention of clerks advertise my business : : : : : : : : : : :

Call and see for yourself. No trouble to show Goods

"CUBITT SELLS CHEAP"

COMMON SENSE GIFTS

If you want to make two families genuinely happy this holiday season, try giving the old cook stove that has given you years of service, to some needy household, and present the good wife with a

PANDORA RANGE

You will thus make two homes happy, especially your own where the great comfort of using the Pandora Range will be greatly appreciated.

ADAMSON & DOBBIN

NEW BRICK BLOCK—SIMCOE STREET

Porter's Delicatessen

UT RATE GROCERY STORE

Shelled Almonds per lb	35
" Walnuts	35
Choice Black & Green Tea 3 lbs	50
Choice Coffee 17c 3 lbs	50
Select Raisins 3 lbs	.20
Dates, 3 lbs..........	.25
Mince Meat, 3 lbs.......	.20
Washing Soda, 3 lbs.....	.05
Cooking Figs, 4 lbs	.25
3 bottles Ketchup	.25
3 bottles Pickles........	.25
Potatoes, per pk.........	.15
Apples, per pk	.10

410 George Street

UNIQUE GOODS AT CHINA HALL

A Present

To be a real pleasure should be something new and dainty. A surprise as well as a gift. These abound at China Hall.

For 10c

Cream Jugs, Fancy Plates, China Cups and Saucers, Fern Pots, Spoon Trays, Tea Pots, Stands, Bon Bons, Etc.

For 15c

Bon Bons, Jugs, Pin Trays, China Cups and Saucers, Vases, Ornaments, Spoons, Trays, Etc.

For 25c

Sugar and Cream Sets, Vases, Cake Plates, Tea Pots, Hot Water Jugs, Ornaments, Jardinieres, Etc.

For $1.00

Fancy Lamps, Lemonade Sets, Biscuit Jars, Cocoa Pots, Fern Pots, Jardinieres, Etc.

For $2.00

Cocoa Sets, 13 pieces; Toilet Sets; Berry Sets, 13 pieces; Lamps, Coffee Sets, Ornaments, Etc.

CHRISTMAS BARGAINS AT CHINA HALL

GET THE LATEST

The Review Supplies the Correct Things in Wedding Invitations, Programmes, Personal Stationery, Etc. . . . .

THE DAILY REVIEW

LUMBER

and BUILDING MATERIAL of all kinds. Shingles, Scantling, Joists and Bill Stuff. Mouldings, Casings and Base, and all kinds of finish. Boxes and Box Shooks.

ALF. McDONALD ESTATE

Point St. Charles Mill, Peterborough.

VOL LV., NO. 140 PETERBOROUGH, ONT., CANADA, WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 18, 1907 TEN CENTS PER WEEK

Ladies' Belts

In Silk, Leather and Elastic, specially priced and boxed free.

25c to $2.50

THE GOLDEN LION STORE

CHRISTMAS STORE NEWS

Fancy Neckwear

The choicest of styles for Xmas Gifts, daintily boxed

25c to $2.00

IN--WAIST SILKS AND FANCY WAISTINGS --AS USUAL WE LEAD

Rich Fancy Silks

In 5 yard lengths, in pretty gift boxes, regular up to $7.50, Special Xmas price 5.00

Fancy Wool Waistings

Fine Wool Delaine and Albatross Cloth, white, black and colored grounds, embroidered figures, yd., .50 and .75

Chic Umbrellas

A gift with a lasting remembrance, choice handles, strong frames, durable coverings, specially priced for Xmas selling 2.00 to 6.50

Drawn Work Linens

The linen warehouse offers special values—exquisite hand drawn work on pure Irish Linen, Doylies, Centre Pieces, Runners, Tray Cloths, 5 o'Clocks Etc., .10 to 3.50

Battenburg Linens

Beautiful hand made goods, direct from Belgium—Pure Linen Centres, Doylies, Centre Pieces, round and square, 5 o'Clocks, .50 to 12.00

Wool Blankets

Sensible Gifts, are they not? Prices here are not exorbitant. They range from per pair 2.50 to 6.50

Comforters

Down and cotton filled. We have to offer the best goods at the very least prices. A warm welcome will be given to this gift. Special Xmas prices are 1.25 to 10.00

Lace Curtains

Are practical gifts and need not be extravagant. The newest styles and best values are here. Special Xmas prices per pair .50 to 17.50

A Few Timely Hints on HOW TO PLEASE HER

Give her one of the "Nearest Things to a Woman's Heart," something to fix up the home.

Parquet Rugs and Mats

Ever think of a Rug for a Christmas Gift? If not, visit our fourth floor and feast your eyes on the grandest showing in Peterborough—So many styles and varieties we cannot enumerate them here. The Xmas prices range from .50 to 40.00

Purses and Handbags

The latest productions of the leather craftsman's art; from Paris and New York, real and imitation Alligator, Monkey Skin, Real Seal Skin, etc., in white, colors and black, prices range from .25 to 6.00

Armenian Hand Embroidery

Superb hand work on bolting cloth and satin, made in Armenia by native women in the British Missions.

Doylies, .50, .75 and 1.00

Centres and Cushion Tops, 4.50, 5.00 and 8.00

Kid Gloves

Of course nothing more sure of pleased acceptance when of a reliable make and bought at FAIR'S.

Reyniers and Perrin's best is what we keep—exchanged with pleasure if size or color not right, boxed free, per pair 1.00 to 3.00

Our Fancy Goods Display will solve many a perplexing problem for you. What shall I give? Easily and economically answered here. Come to look or to buy, you will be equally welcome.

Robert Fair & Co.

383 George Street Limited

Wanted

WANTED

AT THE CANADIAN GENERAL ELECTRIC CO. Ltd., Girls. Apply at once. 3d

WANTED

AT ONCE good general servant for a family of two, must be an experienced cook, none other need apply. Mrs. Jas. Hamilton opp. Registry Office 436 Sheridan. 2d

WANTED

ORGANIST for Knox church. Duties to commence first of January. Apply by letter only to undersigned stating salary expected. J. W. Bennett, Clerk of Session, Drawer 1126, Peterborough 3d

For Sale or To Rent

FOR SALE

TYPEWRITER, latest model American Oliver, brand new. Good discount off lowest selling price for a quick sale. Apply Review Office. tdf

TO RENT

NO. 535 Dournie Street. Recently occupied by Lambert Lynn, Esq., C. E. Pretty little house, Hardwood floors, all modern improvements. D. W. Dumble or Wm. Might. 5d

TO RENT

BRICK HOUSE AT 77 WATER ST., bath and electric light. Immediate possession. Apply to J. J. TURNER & SONS, Tent Manufacturers, George Street. 3d

TO RENT

A FEW FINE, WELL LIGHTED AND HEATED ROOMS at the Y. M. C. A. for rent from $1.50 to $2.00 a week. 6td

FOR SALE

PIANO CASE ORGAN, double the usual volume, (8 sets reeds) good as new, less than half price on easy weekly or monthly payments. A nice Christmas present easy to buy. 27 Park St., corner Park and Parnell. tf

Lost and Found

LOST

PURSE containing Note and Door Key. Finder please leave at Review Office.

LOST

BETWEEN E. F. MASON & CO. MAIN STORE and south store a fifty pound bag of sugar on Monday evening. Any information will be gladly received at any E. F. Mason Co. stores. 2d

LOST

WILL THE PERSON who was seen carrying away the Sable Throw-over from the table in the Secretary's office in the Y.W.C.A., please return it at once and avoid further trouble.

General

"DON'T BURN THEM"

We will buy all kinds of Second-hand boots and shoes

JAY'S SECOND-HAND STORE

390 Aylmer Street

International Correspondence Schools

Of Scranton, Penn.

Industrial Science Taught by Mail.

LOCAL OFFICE - - 439 George Street

R. C. BALFOUR, Representative

CHEAP HOUSES

If money is low and rent high, call at our office and see if you can't buy.

A good lot and comfortable house, $50 down and easy payments.

A lot and 6 roomed house, $100 and Six Dollars a month

A new 2 story, nice modern red brick house, $850

A 1½ story red brick with half acre garden, on easy terms, $600

A half acre garden on easy terms. Others at good value up to $5,000

Companies Good as the Best in all lines of Insurance but Life. Rates moderate.

R. G. Ivey, Special Agent

336 George St. Phone 3 Bell W. MIGHT

PETERBOROUGH LAUNDRY

The quality of our work is our special pride, and makes lasting customers. If you are unacquainted with it, telephone 65 and our rig will call. After that you'll know what we can do . . . .

176 Charlotte St. Phone 65

CHRISTMAS IS COMING!

A nice pair of Snowshoes or a good Toboggan would make a most acceptable present to lady, gentleman, girl or boy. We carry a very large assortment. Call and see them.

J. J. TURNER & SONS

TENT MANUFACTURERS

George Street. Peterborough

ALL THINGS ARE NOW READY

GEORGE R. RECORD

PRACTICAL

FRENCH DRY CLEANER AND PRESSER

Ladies' and Gentlemen's Garments and Household Articles cleaned and guaranteed not to fade color or shrink any material. Charges moderate. Goods called for and delivered. Telephone 669.

NEW BRICK BLOCK, 173 SIMCOE ST.

Only Complete Dry Cleaning Plant in City

A. BROWN & CO.,

The Real Estate Agents, 396 Water Street

$100 will secure good Cottage with large lot 50x200

$500 will secure an up-to-date House with all modern improvements.

$1,000 will purchase good Cottage and large lot

$600 will secure Cottage, Stable and 4 acres good land near city.

We have some great snaps in Houses, Farms and City lots for sale and to rent.

Fire, Life and Accident Insurance.

Bell Phone 126 and 474 B. Machine 117.

STOVES, RANGES —AND— HEATERS

Enamel and Tinware

Plumbing and Eavetroughing

HUTCHINSON-STURGEON CO

Bell and Machine 'Phones 235 342 George Street

For Sale or To Rent

AT REASONABLE PRICES

Three small farms, good soil, suitable for gardening purposes, close to city. Also a few small, comfortable, dwelling houses, and choice building lots, well situated in good localities.

Properties sold, purchased or exchanged.

Private Funds to Loan on Real Estate.

INSURANCE

Agents for reliable Fire, Life, Accident, Plate Glass and Liability Insurance Companies. For particulars as to rates, etc., apply to

J. J. McBAIN & SON

Real Estate and Insurance Agents.

Office Cor. Simcoe and George-sts

Office 'Phone 454 Residence Phone 109A

FOR XMAS

Furniture fixed up like new. Upholstering and all kinds of similar work done. Mattresses made over.

A. R. JACKSON

320 Aylmer. Corner of Charlotte. Bell Phone 494B

FANCY POTTERY

All kinds of Urns, Vases, Jugs, Plates, Jardinieres, etc., Moulded to Order for hand painting for Christmas gifts.

GEO. E. RAWLINGS, Crescent Street

GEORGE RUTH

Properties for Sale:

Come and inspect our list of HOUSES We have a number of first-class residences; all modern; locality and prices are right; also a number of cheaper houses. Terms to suit the purchasers.

8 fine building lots, near the C. G. E. works, are offered for $1500.

A few first-class homes to rent with modern improvements.

395 Water Street, open evenings

MEALS——LUNCHES

AT ALL HOURS

For quick service, well-cooked meals and popular prices—go to

FOWLER'S RESTAURANT

McCallum's Old Stand - 330 George St

R. A. ELLIOTT & CO.

Real Estate Agents

Head Office of the Sandstone Brick Co.

The Talk of the Town—OUR COOKING

TOOTHSOME WHOLESOME PALATABLE

Try a loaf of our Brown and Currant Bread

FRY'S MILK CHOCOLATE DROPS

BURNT ALMONDS

COLEMAN BROS.

Phone 335. 426 Georg St

CHRISTMAS GIFTS

Two story brick dwelling, centrally located, containing 7 rooms and bath room; city water, electric light. This house is first class, well built; mantle finish throughout.

A business for sale, consisting of blacksmith and carriage shop with tools, including gasoline engine, lathe, shafting, etc., with a good storehouse for implements and carriages. This is located in a good business centre near Peterborough—$4,000

A good butcher Business, including horses, harness, sleighs, waggons, shop fixtures, slaughter house fixtures, etc. Rent low, location very central. Price $1,300.

For further particulars apply to

J. T. O'CONNELL & CO.

Phone 376. 136 Hunter St.

MONEY IN YOUR POCKET

Give your family a Xmas Present—a snug little home for your own. We have some at valuation that would agreeably surprise you and be money in your pocket.

$900 and $1300—Brick house, six or eight roomed; two story

$1500—Nice brick, well finished inside, near Can Gen. Electric Co.

$1600—Fine new brick, two storys, large lot, south city

$2250—Brick, central location, modern, electric light, city water, bath, sewer connection, nice large house.

$2800—Artistic brick house, large garden, well planted with fruit; house has all modern conveniences and a nice sunny location.

$3250—Beautiful residential location; large lot with stable. House solid brick and warm; furnace and all conveniences.

Some good houses to rent cheap.

Some good farms throughout the district for sale. Farm lands in the Great West and on the Pacific Coast. City lots in Vancouver. Double your money in a year. See us for particulars.

BELL & TAYLOR

Real Estate. Fire Insurance

Office—376 Water Street.

Office Phone—498B House Phone 547B

PROBABILITIES

To-day and on Thursday moderate westerly winds, light local snow flurries, but mostly fair, not much change in temperature.

Ottawa's population now, with the annexed districts, totals 77,000.

THE DAYS ARE GOING

Five days left in which to do your Christmas shopping. We strongly advise the morning shopping. The Christmas rush promises to be greater than ever this year. Shop in the forenoon and get betser service

Smoking Jackets Lounging Robes Bath Robes

Now for that gentlemen friend of yours. Mother, your husband or son; sister, your brother or sweetheart. What can you buy him that he needs more or will appreciate more than one of these? We have an elegant stock; everything that's high as the stars in style; prices low as the lowest—

Smoking Jackets from $4.00-$12.00

Lounging Robes from $5.00-$15.00

Bath Robes at $5.00

389 George St. Cressman's Toggery Shop

CONCERT AT ALL SAINTS'

Good Programme Presented—Proceeds for Building Fund of New Church

The concert at All Saints' church last night, under the auspices of the All Saints' Men's Association was a thoroughly enjoyable one, and was honored with a large and enthusiastic audience. The programme presented was an excellent one, and nearly every every number was encored. The proceeds will go towards the building of the new church. The Men's association are to be complimented on providing such acceptable entertainments. They are making arrangements to have another one in the near future and it will be endeavored to arrange the most satisfactory programme yet prepared.

Last night's programme was as follows:

Chairman's address, Mr. A. Graham.

Miss Mabel McCaw.—Instrumental

Mr. G. W. Allen—song, "Children's Home."

F. Russell, recitation, "Dr Fright."

All Saints' quartette, selected.

Miss Ida and Rose Mulholland, piano duet.

Miss Helen Rush, song, "Molly the Marchioness."

Miss Helen Metheral, recitation, "A Cat Tale."

Miss Pearl Lundy, "Beloved, it is Morn."

Mr. F. Russell, recitation. "Hurrah for the Life of a Farmer."

Miss M. Edwards, song, "Because I Love You, Dear."

Miss Gladys Mulholland, recitation, "Little Rag Doll."

Mr. Thorpe, solo, "Loch Lomond"

Mr. G. W. Allen, song.

The accompanists for the evening were Misses Mulholland, Flowers, and McCaw.

These Balloons are Staying up

Local Drug Firm Has Novel Window Display

The Nugent Drug Company have a novel scheme of attraction in one of the windows of their store on George street. In a large funnel-shaped space arranged with ribbons, a half dozen different colored toy balloons keep moving around without any apparent cause for their movement. The secret is an electric fan revolving at the bottom of the funnel and producing a sufficient movement in the air to keep the balloons floating.

The display is attracting much attention to-day.

STEAMSHIP MOVEMENTS

Special to the Review.

Montreal, Dec. 17.—The steamship Lake Manitoba, passed Inniestrahul at two o'clock this morning. Is due at Liverpool at seven o'clock to-night.

Slide Will Open To-morrow Night

The toboggan slide at Jackson park will open for the season to-morrow night. The slide is in good condition and a large number are anxiously waiting for their favorite pastime. The skating rink is not yet in shape owing to the mild weather.

PALMISTRY Professor C. Shepherd

344 AYLMER STREET—Opposite Fire Hall

THE CRYSTAL

OPEN EVERY AFTERNOON AND EVENING

ENTIRE CHANGE PROGRAMME TO-DAY

ADMISSION--5 CENTS

Watches——Diamonds

See our splendid stock of Watches, Diamond Ruby and Sapphire Rings for Christmas giving Special Prices on Signet Rings for Ladies and Gentlemen. Engraving done free of charge for purchasers : : : : :

CLARKE & SON

430 GEORGE STREET JEWELLERS

Social Committee Work at Y.M.C.A.

Will Welcome Strangers and Members Each Evening

The special committee of the Social Committee of the Y.M.C.A. appointed to organize a schedule for members of the Social Committee to act as a reception committee, met Monday night and appointed the following to be responsible for the nights mentioned;—

Dec. 18—Percy Redgrave.
" 19—G E Bruce.
" 20—D Campbell.
" 21—H Males.
" 23—C E Sisson.
" 24—H Gerrish.
" 26—C E Coleman.
" 27—J S Knapman.
" 28—George Carter.
" 30—N Perry.
" 31—George Martin.

Each man has the privilege, and is expected to secure the aid of at least one of the other members of the Association for the night he is responsible for.

SKATING TO-NIGHT

At Brock Street Rink. 57th Band in attendance. Tickets now on sale.

Y.M.C.A. NOTES

Rev. Robert H. Pogue, pastor of St. Paul's Presbyterian church, will speak at the Y.M.C.A. next Sunday at 4 p.m. It will be a special service and special music will be rendered. All men and older boys are invited.

The Decorating Committee of the Y.M.C.A. met last night and made full plans for decorating the Association rooms for New Years' day. The decorating will start next Monday night, when a large force will be on hand to help make up the decorations. Evergreens, flags and bunting will be used extensively. They decided to decorate the lobby, reading room, where the refreshments will be served, and the parlor. A New Year's tree will also be arranged and presents given from the tree at four p.m. on New Year's day. Any comic presents will be received at the office and put on the tree on New Year's day for any member. Invitations are being issued now, and may be secured from the office or from any member of the committee in charge of the reception.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wallace, of Belleville, celebrated their silver wedding.

WHEN MAKING YOUR SELECTIONS

For Christmas Presents, be sure and call at our store. We have an elegant assortment to choose from.

PERFUMES—A great line in fancy cases or in bulk from the best makers Any kind or price.

Very Handsome TOILET CASES and MANICURE SETS. Any style or price

HAIR BRUSHES and TOILET HAND MIRRORS—all prices and qualities to suit you.

FOUNTAIN PENS—A. A. Waterman & Co's Modern Pens from $1.00 up

LAUGHLIN FOUNTAIN PENS at $3.00. GOLD PENS $1.50

LOWNEY'S CHOCOLATES—A fine new lot in handsome boxes, especially for the Christmas trade.

Be sure and call and we will present you with a pretty Calendar for 1908.

J. D. TULLY, DRUGGIST

401 GEORGE ST.

Medical

E. V. FREDERICK, M.B., Tor.
M.R.C.S., Eng.; L.R.C.P., Lond. Lic. Univ. of New York.
Removed to No. 492 George St., formerly office of Dr. McPaul
Private nursing home for surgical es.

DR. G. STEWART CAMERON
Office and Residence
No. 273 Charlotte St. 'Phone 128

DR. G. C. LEACH
Late House Surgeon of Lakeside Hospital, Cleveland, Ohio; also of Cook County Hospital, Chicago
OFFICE—224 Hunter St., formerly occupied by Dr. Coughlin Phone Bell 219.
Special Attention to Diseases of Women

DR. JAS. V. GALLIVAN
Office 215 Simcoe St. Late of St. John's Hospital New York. Lic. University of New York.
Telephone 668.

Osteopathy

DR. ASA G. WALMSLEY
Osteopathic Physician
Office over Canadian Bank of Commerce, Water Street entrance.
Office Hours—9 to 12 a.m. 2 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Consultation free.

Legal

R. E. WOOD
BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, Etc. Office removed from Bank of Commerce Building to 415 George street, recently occupied by E. B. Edwards. Money to Loan

W. H. MOORE
BARRISTER SOLICITOR, in the Supreme Court etc. Office—Hunter street, first stairs west of Post Office.

HALL & HAYES
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS and NOTARIES PUBLIC, Hunter Street, Peterborough, next to English Church. Money to Loan at the lowest rates of interest.
R. M. D. HALL. LOUIS M. HAYES

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON
(Successors to Stratton & Hall)
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, Etc., Peterborough Ont. Office—Corner of Hunter and Water Sts. over Bank of Commerce.
R. M. HALL, M.P. S. T. MEDD. W. S. DAVIDSON

EDMISON & DIXON
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, Etc. Office in Cluxton's Block, corner of Hunter and George streets, over Dickson's store.

DENNISTOUN, PECK & KERR
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, NOTARIES, Etc
415 Water Street, Peterborough.
E.A. PECK F. D. KERR R. M. DENNISTOUN

Money

MONEY TO LOAN
ON EASY TERMS
O'CONNELL & GORDON
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS NOTARIES, Etc
Canadian and United States Patent Attorneys
134 Hunter Street, two doors west of Post Office.
DANIEL O'CONNELL GEORGE N. GORDON

ROGER, BENNETT & GOODWILL
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, Etc., 37 Water St. Peterborough. Telephone No. 191.
Money at Current Rates Upon Easy Terms.
G. M. ROGER. J. W. BENNETT. S. L. GOODWILL

Children's Aid Society
FOR THE CARE OF NEGLECTED AND ILL-TREATED CHILDREN.
Incorporated by Act of Legislature, 1898
Information required. Informants name kept strictly private.
CHILDREN FOR ADOPTION
Office Hours—11.00 to 12.00 a.m.
OFFICE—DIVISION COURT BLDG
GEO. COCHRANE,
Agent and Ass't Sec

TORONTO SAVINGS AND LOAN CO.
PAID UP CAPITAL $1,000,000.00
RESERVE FUND 580,000.00
SAVINGS
An Account may be opened at any time with a Deposit of One Dollar.
3½ % Interest allowed on daily balances.
DEBENTURE DEPT.
Four Per Cent. paid half yearly on sums of $100,00 and upwards.
MONEY TO LOAN
at current rates of interest.
W. G. MORROW,
Manager

CENTRAL LIVERY STABLES
AND
VETERINARY INFIRMARY
193 Hunter Street west of Oriental Hotel.
If you wish a rig of any kind for any occasion ring us up and you will find everything up-to-date in the livery line. Both Phones 278. Night Phone Bell 666 B.
D. McKERCHER, V.S.

"Fashion-Craft" Values
The "Storm King" a most comfortable cold weather overcoat, made from naps, tweeds and fancy friezes, lined with worsted $18 to $40
Take this overcoat for instance!
There is no custom-made coat that has the style and distinction of a "Fashion Craft" "Storm King."
Improved style is increased value.
The better your clothes look and the better your clothes fit, the longer are you willing to wear them. "Fashion Craft" clothes look better than other clothes.
Lengthened wear is increased value.
The better the material and the more thorough the workmanship, the more wear and tear the clothes will stand.
"Fashion Craft" clothes wear long and well.
A longer clothes life is increased value
Therefore "Fashion-Craft" clothes are cheaper
Laidlaw & Oles,
Proprietors, Peterboro'

Are Crowding Out Home Labor; Discussion in the Commons

Government Charged With Paying For Immigrant Mechanics.

Canadian Cities Thronged With Skilled Workmen — Abuse of Bonus System — Manufacturers' Association Blamed — Mr. Borden Makes Spirited Attack in the House—Salvation Army Gets Special Help.

Ottawa, Dec. 18.—The operations of the North Atlantic Trading Co. and the cost of that mysterious aggregation of booking agents to the people of Canada, together with the present policy of the Government with respect to inducing immigrants to settle in Canada, were discussed yesterday in the House, R. L. Borden bringing up the question on the motion to go into supply. He was followed by Hon. Frank Oliver, who defended the contract with the N. A. T. Co.

The House will adjourn to-day till Wednesday, Jan. 8.

Mr. Oliver's bill respecting surveys of public lands of the Dominion and the surveyors entitled to make such surveys was given its second reading and put through the committee stage. He explained that it is identical with an act passed last year and afterwards repealed.

Hon. H. R. Emmerson urged that the examinations prescribed by the provinces should be accepted as sufficient qualification for Dominion land surveyors, but Mr. Oliver defended the bill on the ground that Parliament must control the qualification of Dominion surveyors.

Mr. Oliver's bill to amend the Irrigation Act was also read a second time. The bill preserves to municipal authorities rights within the limits of the municipality as against the rights of the irrigation companies. Since the establishment of the new northwest provinces there has been some conflict, the irrigation companies claiming privileges under Federal legislation which ignore municipal rights.

The bill also gives private individuals power to take lands for connecting works.

North Atlantic Trading Co.

On the motion to go into supply, R. L. Borden asked the Minister of the Interior for some information concerning payments to the North Atlantic Trading Co. He said that he had been accused during his tour through the west of not saying very much of the scandals that had been ventilated in Parliament. He would like to say that if the Premier saw fit to make a similar tour next summer he would be only too happy to accompany him and discuss with him on the public platform every one of those scandals.

Touching the North Atlantic Trading Co., which had brought him to his feet, he found it necessary to apologize for certain inaccuracies in his statements with respect to that company, as he had since learned that the company had received $367,245 of public money, while he had given them credit for only $360,000. An officer of the Department of the Interior had been sent to Europe to examine the accounts of the company, and he had ascertained that it had fulfilled the terms of its agreement with the Government by expending $20,000 a year; so that its disbursements from June 30, 1903, to the present totaled $84,423.61, and its net profit was $161,891.

Under the circumstances it was fair to ask the Minister to give an account of the system under which bonuses for immigrants were paid. Was it true that instructions had been issued to agents of the Government in England to discourage immigration to Canada? What was the object of making a contract behind the back of Parliament which could take such an amount of money out of the treasury and putting it in the pockets of mythical persons composing the company? He thought the Government through its own office might have disbursed the money itself.

A Canadian Point.

Mr. Borden then read a circular received by a man in Britain who was induced to come to Canada by W. E. Rumsden of Shrewsbury, Eng. The man, a weaver, is now in Toronto, Ont., out of work. Rumsden described himself as a Canadian immigration and land agent and guaranteed work for 25 weavers at $17 to $20 a week. A postscript to the circular stated that the agent was also acting for the G. T. R. It was inconceivable that the man could have acted for the Grand Trunk, and Mr. Borden understood that the railway company had denied any connection with him.

Hon. Mr. Oliver replied that Rumsden was not an agent of the Government, but his belief that he acted for the Manufacturers' Association.

With this association the Government had had some correspondence and had been urged to use its agents in the old country to induce artisans to come to Canada. To these demands the Government had always demurred, had absolutely refused to act as an employment agency, except in regard to agricultural laborers, railway laborers and domestic servants. The instructions to agents in the old land had been most explicit on this subject. If Rumsden had had business dealings with the Government, the sending out of such a circular would preclude any possibility of his doing any further work. The Government had been paying a bonus to agents for agricultural immigrants, but whenever it was ascertained that these men were sending artisans to Canada they were cut off from any connection with the Department.

Mr. Oliver said that Louis Leopold, or Leopold Lazarus, was the agent of the C. M. A. in London, and this led him up to the statement that W. T. R. Preston had not been in the employ of the Immigration Department for two and one-half years.

Mr. Borden asked if the last payment of $61,000 to the North Atlantic Trading Co. was final, and Mr. Oliver said it was final as far as bonuses were concerned, but the company had suggested that it might have a claim against the Government for damages for cancellation of its contract.

Mr. Oliver said the contract with the N. A. T. Co. was made because the country was starving for people, and if a large sum had been paid it was because the country got a large number of immigrants. From 1880 to 1895, the old Government had paid $10 a head, and the only reason why it did not pay a large sum was because it did not get the people. The present Government had got 165,000 immigrants, upon whom bonuses of $57,000 had been paid.

Mr. Blain (Peel) asked if the Government had any special arrangements with the Salvation Army.

Mr. Oliver said, "Yes." The Army not only solicited immigrants, but it procured employment for them. This was a special kind of work, and the Government contributed to the rental of the Army offices, advertised in the Army paper, and made a small grant to the organization.

The Evening Session.

Continuing at the evening session, Mr. Oliver read a letter from W. T. Cockshutt, M. P. for Brantford, enclosing a letter from the proprietor of the Immigration Information Bureau of that city. The writer said he had applications for mechanics which remained unfilled, and he asked the Minister if he could do anything.

Mr. Oliver said the Mr. Cockshutt who in 1905 endorsed a proposition to empty the over-crowded tenements of England into the cities of Ontario was the same man who in 1907 placed a resolution on the paper that assisted immigration, except the agricultural and domestic servant classes, should stop.

Thus Mr. Cockshutt had become a convert to the Government's policy. He continued by reading letters from the Malleable Iron Co., Oshawa; Dominion Textile Co., Montreal; Meaford Board of Trade, resolutions of county councils and of the C. M. A., urging immigration of skilled mechanics. A letter to the C. M. A. also stated that it had opened an employment bureau in London to procure skilled labor, and that in May 200 persons had been shipped to Canada by this agency, and applications were on hand for 500 more.

A Roast For the C. M. A.

Alphonse Verville (Montreal) was gratified that the Canadian Manufacturers' Association had been shown up in its true colors. While this association was advertising in England for skilled mechanics to come to Montreal there were many skilled mechanics walking the streets of that city. The laboring men had sent an agent to England to combat the famous Leopold of the Manufacturers' Association. When Verville heard Mr. Cockshutt the other day on the immigration question he did not believe he was insincere; now he knew he was sincere. The labor body did not oppose the immigration of farm laborers, but it was opposed to the importation of mechanics to compete with Canadian laborers.

Uriah Wilson (Lennox and Addington) expressed disapproval of the policy of giving bonuses for any class of immigrants, and he especially protested against extending the assistance to others than farm laborers and domestic servants. "We were more likely to get undesirable immigrants by paying agents under the bonus system," he said.

House In Supply.

The House at 10.20 went into supply. Houghton Lennox, Davidson Henderson and Richard Blain criticized some increases in the estimates of the Department of Inland Revenue, while Mr. Gervais of Montreal pleaded for increases for some of the poorly paid officials in Montreal.

Hon. Mr. Templeman said the Government would await the report of the civil service commission, which would probably recommend an increase in salaries in many Departments of the service.

Eccentric Millionaire Dies.

Somerville, Mass., Dec. 18.—Benjamin Hadley, an eccentric millionaire, died at his home in East Somerville Monday, of old age. He was 90 years old and never was married. Only on one occasion did he ever travel beyond the Greater Boston district. He never purchased a ticket for any sort of entertainment, never ate a meal in an hotel or restaurant, and did not spend more than $1 in his entire life for car fare. He had not voted for 40 years, and wore a collar and necktie only on special occasions.

He accumulated real estate valued at $1,500,000.

The Times on Roosevelt.

London, Dec. 18.—The Times yesterday, in an editorial, highly eulogizing President Roosevelt regarding the despatch of the American fleet to the Pacific, says:

"His attitude must command the respect and approbation of Englishmen. To admire the resolution with which he clings to his naval policy not less than the broad wisdom by which it is inspired."

Could Not Open Safe.

Kingston, Dec. 18.—The safe in the local branch of the Bank of Commerce could not be opened yesterday. The clerk in charge had locked his combination figures in the cash-box in the vault.

A couple of drillers have arrived from Toronto, and were at work all day drilling out the face of the safe in order to effect an entrance, which they finally succeeded in doing.

Negro's Remark Costs His Life.

Shreveport, La., Dec. 18.—A negro member of a traveling minstrel troupe was hanged by a mob in Morehouse parish Monday night, and his body riddled with bullets.

He had resented a remark made by a white man, declaring that he was "a Yankee nigger and did not take any impudence."

CHINESE IRRITATED.

Object to Inspection of Suspected Vessels by British Gunboats.

Canton, China, Dec. 18.—At a Chinese mass meeting held here yesterday, the "high-handed overhauling" of suspected launches and junks on the West River by British warships, was denounced. Great Britain is patrolling the West River with a fleet of about ten gunboats in an effort to put a stop to piracy. The meeting further passed a resolution to declare a boycott upon the British manufacturers, and to inaugurate a strike among the Chinese in the employment of Englishmen if the British flotilla is not withdrawn from the river.

Japan to Retrench.

Tokio, Dec. 18.—The financial program is one of retrenchment and involves a reduction in the expenses of the army and navy for the next six years, whereby the Government will save $200,000,000. It also means the postponement of certain Government undertakings.

Members of the Opposition, supported by some of the newspapers, are preparing for a vigorous fight against it in the Diet.

Marquis Ito is preparing a land law for Korea, which will open Korean lands to all foreigners.

False Teeth Saved Him.

Port Arthur, Dec. 18.—With a bullet from a 38-calibre revolver lodged somewhere in his head, having been fired with the intention of committing suicide, William Sinclair is able to talk and walk around, complaining only of a slight stiffness of the neck.

Sinclair is to appear to-day to answer to a charge of theft from the C. P. R. warehouse, and he attempted suicide on Sunday by putting the muzzle of the revolver in his mouth and discharging it.

It is believed a plate of a false set of upper teeth saved him from death.

Deadly Duel on Street.

Laurel, Miss., Dec. 18.—A deliberately planned duel occurred in the main street of Laurel yesterday, in which Edward Bragg was killed and B. W. Sharborough, former state Senator, was wounded. The two had a quarrel over a business matter, during which Bragg advised Sharborough to go and get his gun.

Double Electrocution.

Trenton, N. J., Dec. 18.—Charles Gibson and Stephen Dorsey, colored, were electrocuted at the state prison yesterday for the murder of Mrs. Edward Herner and Victoria Natoli, in connection with a robbery. The electrocutions were witnessed by Edward Herner, husband of one of the murdered women.

Sultan's Jewels Pawned.

Paris, Dec. 18.—Jewels belonging to Abd el Aziz, the Sultan of Morocco, which agents brought here for the purpose of a loan, realized $250,000.

The G.T.P. has reached Asquith, Sask.

WILL DEPORT HEIRESS.

Man She Eloped With Returns to Face Embezzlement Charge.

New York, Dec. 18.—Miss Grace W. Lawrence, the young English girl whose lover, Henry Parrott, was arrested on their arrival here, Sunday, on the Lucania, is at Ellis Island in a gloomy state of mind. She does not mind staying on the island, she says, nearly so much as being separated from her lover, who in the meanwhile is resting in the Tombs. He and she were booked on the Lucania as "Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Parrott," but they did not have time, they say, to be married in Liverpool before the Lucania sailed.

Miss Lawrence declares she is worth at least $80,000, but has not the "faintest idea" how much more. She expects to have a large amount in her own name within four years, she says. Commissioner Watchorn, when he found from what station in life she came, had her removed from the ordinary detention room on Ellis Island and placed in the care of a matron.

She will probably be sent back on the Lucania, which sails next Saturday.

Parrott was arraigned before United States Commissioner Alexander Monday afternoon. He was charged with the taking of an automobile, valued at $1,250, from Mansel T. Fletcher of London. The young man calmly admitted he was the person named in the warrant, and volunteered to return to England without the formality of extradition proceedings.

JAPAN WON'T ALTER TREATY.

Lemieux Will Return With Only Verbal Assurance of Limitation.

Tokio, Dec. 18.—Rudolphe Lemieux, Canadian Postmaster-General and Minister of Labor, was tendered a farewell banquet Monday night, which was attended by 200 leading citizens and officials, including Sir Claude MacDonald, the British ambassador. Minister Lemieux proposed the health of the Emperor of Japan, and Baron Kanaka of the Imperial household proposed a toast to the King of England. No speeches were made.

Minister Lemieux will receive the assurance that Japan will limit emigration to British Columbia, but will not change the treaty. A memorandum to be given him includes the program for the future, but is not intended as a formal note. He has been informed by the Japanese Foreign Office that Canada will get exactly the same concessions as already have been granted to the United States.

Through the British ambassador he asked for a written understanding, but this was positively declined.

FIRE ON VIGILANT.

Flames Had Nearly Reached Powder Magazine When Put Out.

Windsor, Dec. 18.—An explosion was narrowly averted on the cruiser Vigilant at Walkerville when fire broke out and nearly ignited a quantity of powder on the boat. The blaze started from a kettle of grease, and in spite of the fact that the crew manned the pumps the fire spread rapidly. The crew turned their attention to the powder, throwing some overboard and removing the rest to the dock.

When the fire was extinguished it had reached within a few inches of the partition dividing the powder magazine.

Assaulted Young Girls.

Belleville, Dec. 18.—Phillip Ketcheson, a middle-aged merchant and married man, of Tweed, has been on trial in the County Court here for the past three days, charged with indecent assault. The complainants in the case are young girls under the age of 14.

Yesterday afternoon the jury brought in a verdict of guilty, but E. Guss Porter, Ketcheson's lawyer, announced that he would take a stated case to Osgoode Hall, and the judge deferred sentence till the case has been argued in Toronto.

The City Council has adopted a resolution to let the contract for an isolation hospital, to cost $8,800. Work on the building will probably begin in the spring.

Police Captain In Prison.

New York, Dec. 18.—Justice Burr sentenced Acting Police Capt. Kuhne yesterday to serve 30 days' imprisonment in King's County Jail and pay a fine of $250 for contempt of court in failing to obey a writ restraining him from taking Bertillon measurements of Frank Jenkins, recently indicted on charges of forgery and larceny in connection with the suspension of the Jenkins Trust Co.

This is another step in the effort of the Jenkins brothers to have their Bertillon records destroyed.

Drifting Buoy Causes Wreck.

St. John, Dec. 18.—Captain Roberts of the wrecked steamer Kildona, says: "I have sailed around that coast for twelve years, and I was looking for the gas buoy that was not there and ought to have been there. That's just what was wrong."

Captain Murray of the Empress of Britain, which reached Halifax Saturday at midnight from this port, also reported that the buoy was out of place.

For Reduction of Cable Rates.

Wellington, New Zealand, Dec. 18.—(C. A. P.)—Premier Ward urged the reduction of cable rates and expressed a willingness to co-operate with Australia in inaugurating an independent service. He would rest unsatisfied until the all-red route was accomplished. Pacific steamers were as easily coaled as the Suez steamers.

Wanted in Philadelphia.

Montreal, Dec. 18.—A distinguished-looking Italian was arrested here on Monday at the request of the Philadelphia police on a charge of stealing $4,000. He arrived here three weeks ago and started a store in West Notre Dame street under the name of Rancesi.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS
PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days or money refunded. 50c.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.
CURE
Sick Headache and relieve all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing
SICK
Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured
HEAD
Ache they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head is the bane of so many lives that here is where we make our great boast. Our pills cure it while others do not.
ACHE
Carter's Little Liver Pills are very small and very easy to take. One or two pills make a dose. They are strictly vegetable and do not gripe or purge, but by their gentle action please all who use them.
CARTER MEDICINE CO., NEW YORK.
Small Pill. Small Dose. Small Price.

Dye to any Color At Home!
"Maypole" is a cake of soap that washes and dyes at one operation. Not an old fashioned dirty, messy powder dye. It gives brilliant, fast colors—dyes anything—dyes to any color or shade. Good-bye to that trip to the dye house—dye at home with Maypole.
Maypole Soap
10c. for Colors—15c. for Black.
Frank L. Benedict & Co. Montreal. 64

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM
RAILWAY TIME TABLE

	Arrive	Depart
Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, Gravenhurst, North Bay, Stouffville and Toronto	11.40 a.m. 3.00 p.m.	8.35 a.m. 5.38 p.m.
Port Hope and points east to Montreal and Boston		8.30 a.m.
Port Hope, Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago & West, Niagara Falls, Buffalo, Cobourg, Montreal and East	8.30 a.m. 5.33 p.m.	11.45 a.m. 9.05 p.m.
From Buffalo, Hamilton, Toronto, Bowmanville and Port Hope	11.45 a.m.
Toronto, Lindsay, Stouffville, Uxbridge and Markham	10.05 p.m.	7.30 a.m.
Lindsay Local	8.15 a.m.	9.10 p.m.
Hastings, Campbellford, Madoc, Belleville, Kingston, Montreal and East	8.10 a.m. 8.40 p.m.	8.30 a.m. 1.50 p.m.
Lakefield and Stony Lake	9.50 a.m. 5.15 p.m.	8.30 a.m. 12.20 p.m.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY
To Peterboro' Going East.
11.16 a. m., Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal
7.51 p. m., Indian River, Norwood, Havelock, Tweed.
12.31 a. m. midnight, Havelock, Tweed, Smith's Falls, Montreal, Quebec, Portland, Boston and New England points.
1.10 a. m., Ottawa express, Norwood, Havelock, Ivanhoe, Tweed, Smith's Falls, Carleton Jct., Ottawa.
To Peterboro' Going West.
4.48 a. m. for Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, New York, Woodstock, St. Thomas, Chicago, etc.
5.26 a. m. Do. Do.
7.56 a. m. for Cavanville, Manvers, Pontypool, Burkton, etc., Fort William, Winnipeg and all western points in North West Canada.
4.48 p. m. Pontypool, Lindsay, Toronto, Hamilton, Galt, Woodstock, London, Detroit Chicago, etc.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM
Xmas and New Year's Excursions
Between all stations in Canada, also to Detroit and Port Huron, Mich., Buffalo, Black Rock, Niagara Falls and Suspension Bridge, N.Y.
AT SINGLE FARE
Good going December 24th and 25th, 1907
RETURNING UNTIL DEC. 26, 1907
Also good going December 31st, 1907, and January 1st, 1908, returning until January 2nd, 1908.
AT FARE AND ONE-THIRD
Good going Dec. 21st to Dec. 25th, 1907.
Returning until January 3rd, 1908.
Also good going Dec. 28th, 1907, to Jan. 1st, 1908.
Returning Until January 3rd, 1908
For further information and tickets call on
W. BUNTON
City Passenger Agent
F. SANDY,
Depot Ticket Agent
Or write Mr J. D. McDonald, D.P.A., Union Depot, Toronto

CANADIAN NORTHERN ONTARIO
SHORT LINE TO MUSKOKA AND PARRY SOUND
WINTER TIME TABLE
In effect December 9th, 1907

NORTHBOUND	No. 1	No. 3
TORONTO	† 9.00 am	† 5.30 pm
WASHAGO	12.45 pm	9.00 pm
PARRY SOUND	3.10 pm	....

SOUTHBOUND	No. 2	No. 4
PARRY SOUND	† 9.00 am	†.........
WASHAGO	11.25 am	6.45 am
TORONTO	3.00 pm	10.10 am

Observation-Dining Parlor Cars between Toronto and Parry Sound serving meals a la carte.
† Daily except Sunday.
OFFICES: All Stations, also Cor. King and Toronto and Union Station. Phone, Main 5179.

CANADIAN PACIFIC
CHRISTMAS and NEW YEAR RATES
RETURN TICKETS between all stations in Canada, east of Port Arthur and to Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Detroit, Mich., and Niagara Falls and Buffalo, N.Y., on sale at
SINGLE FARE
good going Dec. 24 and 25, returning until Dec. 26, also Dec. 31 and January 1, returning until Jan. 2, 1908.
FARE AND A THIRD
good going Dec. 21, 22, 23, 24 and 25, also Dec. 28, 29, 30 and 31 and Jan. 1, all good returning until Jan. 3, 1908.
Tickets and all information from
W. McILROY,
Canadian Pacific Agent
349 George St. Peterboro'
or write C. B. Foster, D.P.A., Toronto

Special Inducements TO BUY HEATERS
You gain nothing by delay. See our
Standard Oak
Quebec Ideal
Art Laurel
They are great fuel savers. Easily operated and splendid heat distributors.
F.R.J. MACPHERSON & CO.
341 George St. Phone 116
F.R.J. MACPHERSON ANGUS MACPHERSON

Why Peterborough Citizens Now Come to Dr. Browett for Glasses

FIRST REASON. The Eye glasses supplied by Dr. Browett are ground in one of the largest and best optical factories in America. Skilled workmanship and quality have placed the lenses produced by this firm far in advance of those ground in the ordinary factory. Dr. Browett devotes his exclusive attention to Optical Work—examining eyes, and teaching Opticians the use of the modern eye instruments. The number of Optical colleges this gentleman has attended, his experiences throughout the United States and Canada as a teacher of opticians, the thousands of satisfied patrons in various parts of America, wherever he has visited in his teaching capacity, his equipment of instruments and knowledge of their use are sufficient reasons for Dr. Browett's success since making Peterborough his permanent home, and our store his head office.

McDERMID & JURY'S, Drug Store,
390 George Street, Peterborough, Ont.

A Story of Absorbing Interest

The Rogue's March

By E. W. HORNUNG, author of "Raffles, the Amateur Cracksman," "Stingaree," etc.

He had turned his head. A blue mist hid the world, but through it shone a poignant vision of Claire Harding—among the Winwood fir trees—in the autumn evenings long ago. And this is how the tears came back into Tom Erichsen's eyes, to show him that his soul had lived through a night's bushranging and four months of Major Heneybone's iron gang.

Daintree looked on with a jealous scorn. That a few stray verses in the Annual Register should put fire and water in eyes which the combined "Hours of Exile" and of "Idleness" sometimes left in such a very different state! It was a galling thought, and it showed itself in such black looks that Tom was constrained to cut his first heartfelt outburst very short indeed. So he hastily added that the poem appealed to him particularly. He need not explain why.

"I see," said Daintree. "Not altogether on its merits, eh? I'm glad to hear it." And his face lightened a little.

"I don't know," said Tom humbly. "It was on its merits, I think. Surely it must appeal to every miserable man. Oh, it's all, all there—in such words! Come, sir, don't you think it fine yourself?"

"Fine," said Daintree, "is a word which the critic does not employ unadvisedly. Your fine poem is not spasmodic. It takes a meter and sticks to it—as I do, for example, and as Byron did. You don't catch me or Byron writing poems with no two stanzas alike in form! No, Thomas, the verdict is not 'fine,' but that the lines have a certain merit I don't deny."

"Who wrote them?" asked Tom after a pause.

"His name is Tennyson," replied the poet. "You have never heard it before, I dare say, and I shouldn't be surprised if you were never to hear it again. There were fair things in his last book, but, upon the whole, I am afraid the production you so admire may be taken as representing his high water mark, which is a sufficient commentary upon the rest. I understand, however, that he is a very young man, so we must give him a chance. When he is my age he may do very much better if he perseveres, as I have done. Now, my notion of treating such a theme," said Daintree, "you have heard before, but you shall hear it again."

And with that he drew "Hours of Exile" from his pocket and read with ineffable unction one of the longest sets of "Stanzas to Clarinda," while the terrier gazed up at him with eyes of devoted sympathy and admiration, and Tom fed his upon feathery emerald branches and a turquoise sky as he reluctantly decided that the kindest of men was in some respects the most egregious also. Suddenly—to his horror—the reading stopped. He had been caught not attending! He lowered his eyes, and they fell upon the snowy wings of a full rigged ship just clearing the woody eastern point of the bay and sailing slowly and majestically on.

Both men sprang to the water's edge. Daintree's book lay in the sand. The ship was now clear of the point, standing to the north of Shark island with the light breeze upon her counter, a noble vessel of 600 tons, flying the red ensign at her peak.

Not a word passed at the water's edge, but it was Tom who led the rush to the bungalow, who fetched Daintree's immense spyglass, with the flags of all nations let into the leather, and who bared the lenses before putting it in his master's shaking hands.

"How many days are they out?" asked Daintree, aiming wildly with the glass.

"Ninety-nine."

"She could never do it!"

"It's been done before."

"Oh, no no. This must be some other ship. Steady the glass for me. I can't get focus. There—now! Yes, I see her people, but I can't read her name!"

"Let me try, sir."

"Here, then."

Tom tried and gave it up.

"To Piper's point!" he cried. "She'll pass there much closer!" And again he led the way, with Daintree thundering close behind and the terrier barking happily at their heels.

Along the shore they raced, the little bay on their right, then across the promontory diagonally and out at its western point, panting, trembling, streaming with perspiration, but in time. Her bowsprit was sticking out behind the island, and they were there to see her nose follow, with the foam curling under it like a white mustache.

Tom had the telescope, focused still, and he handed it to Daintree without a word, but the one concerned was trembling so violently the ship jumped right and left, and Tom had to try again. He was steady enough. What was it to him? She was only half a mile off now, and the first thing he saw was a frock fluttering on the poop.

"Now I have it!" he muttered. "The sun's on the letters; one, two, three—yes, there are eight! R-o"—

He lowered the glass and held out his hand.

"I congratulate you from my heart. The Rosamund it is, and I think that with the glass you may find the young lady herself upon the poop."

It was Tom who led the cheers a moment later.

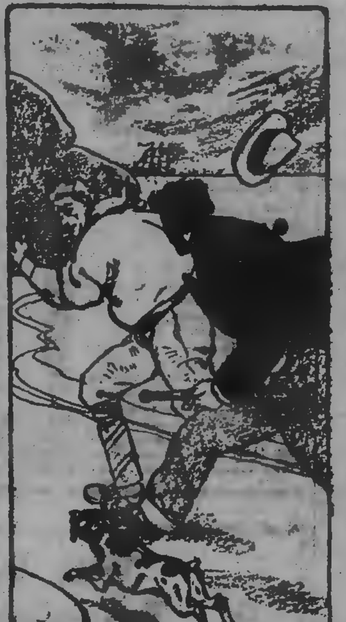
"I sha'n't be there to meet them," moaned Daintree as they were running back. "Ninety-nine days—ninety-nine days!"

"They're not doing four knots; they're shortening sail; you'll see the Cove as soon as they do. Even if you don't, they won't land at once."

"Suppose they did!"

"They won't; we'll put to in five minutes."

Tom was the cheery one, the one with his wits about him, but then it was nothing to Tom. He would not go in with the curricle, though Daintree was as bent as a flurried man could be upon having the livery and the cockade in waiting on the quay. Tom, however, pointed out that the two ladies, their maid and the driver were all the curricle could possibly hold; also that there was more to do at the bungalow than the other realized, but he promised to receive them in all his buttons, and in less than ten minutes the dazed man started both horses at a gallop down the Point Piper road.



He led the way, with Daintree thundering close behind.

Tom heard him rattle out of earshot among the trees without audible mishap. He then ran back to the house, where Mrs. Fawcett was already beside herself in the kitchen, but Peggy had paused on the veranda with an anxious face.

"'Tis you should be wid 'm, Tom," said she reproachfully.

"There wasn't room, Peggy."

"Room enough the one way. I take shame o' ye for lettin' the masther go alone in his haste."

"Why?"

"'Tis throwa out an' kilt he may be on the way to meet his lady!"

"God forbid!" cried Tom, and the words came back to him next day.

CHAPTER XXVIII.

Tom had done well to stay behind. There was so much to make ready that none of the others knew where to begin until he showed them. At his best in most emergencies, he was resolved to strain every nerve in this one and so perhaps show some little gratitude at last. The opportunity was unique. Tom seized it with characteristic ardor.

He began by putting Mrs. Fawcett on her mettle, invented the dinner for her and got old Fawcett out of his wife's way by sending him to a neighboring nursery for the asparagus and the green peas. Peggy he set to work to make the beds, while he himself gathered flowers for the table, flowers for the ladies' rooms, flowers for the veranda upon which the bride must tread. The new flag, bought for this day, had never been unpacked. It was soon flying bravely from the flagstaff on the lawn. And by 5 o'clock Tom had his table exquisitely laid, but it was nearly 7 before the curricle lamps shone through the open gate and the horses swept up to the veranda, where Tom stood in ardent readiness.

He had spent the interim in arraying himself most carefully in all his menial finery, in shaving for the second time that day, in laying out his master's evening clothes, in gathering the books which had been left upon the shore, in reading and re-reading the poem that expressed his case, in talking to Peggy and in thinking of Claire.

The whole situation put him sadly in mind of Claire, but he was not thinking of her as the horses trotted up. He had forgotten all about her when he heard her voice. Next moment the curricle bridged the stream of lamplight issuing from the hall. And Tom stood among the roses he had strewn, silhouetted against the doorway, without moving hand or foot or once lifting his unseen gaze from Claire Harding's face.

What followed seemed to be happening to another man. Daintree cried to him, and he helped the ladies to get down. He touched her hand. Their eyes never met. Daintree jumped down and led Claire on his arm through the roses. Fawcett came up, the curricle was gone, and Tom stood alone in the drive, watching the ladies go upstairs within, followed by their maid and Daintree, and after that he stood watching the staircase until Daintree ran down it and had him by both hands.

"You dear, good fellow, you have thought of everything!" he cried. "You couldn't have done more if you'd been the happy man yourself, and I shall never forget it—especially the flowers."

"Nor I," cried Tom bitterly.

"Why, what's the matter?"

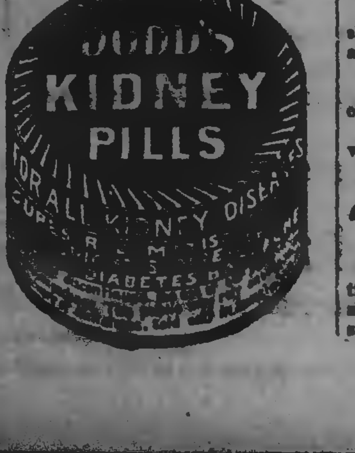
"You might have told me who it was, sir. I recognised Miss Harding at once. Her family used to come to our village for the shooting, and her father was my father's enemy. It's hard for me to meet her like this after that. I'd have run away if I'd known."

"Precisely why I didn't tell you," rejoined Daintree triumphantly. "Come, come, my good fellow, I know all about the relations between the two families, and you mustn't flatter yourself that Miss Harding will remember you. You've altered considerably, for one thing, and I dropped your surname on purpose to spare you any such recognition. Miss Harding won't know you from Adam."

"I would rather not wait upon her all the same."

Daintree showed his teeth.

To be continued.



Dual Control Objectional.

Ottawa, Dec. 18.—A number of the Liberal members of Parliament from Ontario waited upon the Minister of Marine and Fisheries yesterday and strongly presented to Mr. Brodeur the difficulties which arise from the dual control of fishery matters by the Federal and Provincial Governments in Ontario.

Persia's Constitution.

Teheran, Dec. 18.—The Persian Parliament has issued a manifesto to the world, saying:

"When the affairs of the empire had fallen into a hopeless state, the nation saw its only salvation in constitutional government, but persons, who, under the despotic regime, were accustomed to oppress the people, misled our young sovereign into the belief that the constitution was the cause of the present troubles.

"The nation wants to do nothing that will disturb peace, but in view of the attack of the reactionary members of the Government, it will defend the constitution, its only hope, to the utmost."

Polish Schools Closed.

Warsaw, Russian Poland, Dec. 18.—Sixteen hundred Polish schools have been closed in consequence of an order issued by Gen. Skallon, suspending the Polish School Association. The funds of the association, $150,000, have been sent abroad to avoid confiscation.

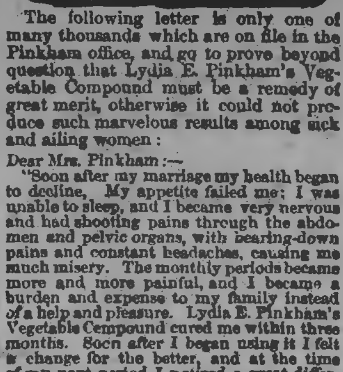
Reeve Crawford, of Tilbury, is to retire.

ITS MERIT IS PROVED

RECORD OF A GREAT MEDICINE

A Prominent Montreal Woman Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Completely Cure Her.

The great good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is doing among the women of America is attracting the attention of many leading scientists, and thinking people generally.



Mrs. M. A. G. Letellier

The following letter is only one of many thousands which are on file in the Pinkham office, and go to prove beyond question that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound must be a remedy of great merit, otherwise it could not produce such marvelous results among sick and ailing women:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"Soon after my marriage my health began to decline. My appetite failed me; I was unable to sleep, and I became very nervous and had shooting pains through the abdomen and pelvic organs, with bearing-down pains and constant headaches, causing me much misery. The monthly periods became more and more painful, and I became a burden and expense to my family instead of a help and pleasure. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured me within three months. Soon after I began using it I felt a change for the better, and at the time of my next period I noticed a great difference, and the pain gradually diminished until I was well. I am stronger and look better than I did before I was married, and there is great rejoicing in the house over the wonders your medicine worked." Mrs. M. A. G. Letellier, 732 Cadieux St., Montreal, Quebec.

If you have suppressed or painful periods, weakness of the stomach, indigestion, bloating, pelvic catarrh, nervous prostration, dizziness, faintness, "don't-care" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feeling, excitability, backache or the blues, these are sure indications of female weakness, or some derangement of the organs. In such cases there is one tried and true remedy—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

THE MARKETS.

Liverpool Wheat Futures Closed Unchanged, Chicago Higher—Live Stock—Latest Quotations.

Tuesday Evening, Dec. 17.

Liverpool wheat futures closed to-day unchanged; corn ⅛d lower.

At Chicago December wheat closed 2½c higher, December corn 3½c higher, and December oats ⅜c lower.

Winnipeg Options.

Following are the closing quotations on Winnipeg grain futures to-day:

Wheat—Dec. $1.05⅜ bid, May $1.13⅜ bid.
Oats—Dec. 45c bid, May 50c bid.

Toronto Grain Market.

Grain—
Wheat, spring, bush	$0 95	to $....
Wheat, fall, bush	0 97	....
Wheat, goose, bush	0 87	....
Wheat, red, bush	0 98	....
Rye, bush	0 83	....
Peas, bush	0 88	....
Buckwheat, bush	0 64	0 65
Barley, bush	0 70	....
Oats, bush	0 51	....

Toronto Dairy Market.

Butter, dairy, lb. rolls	0 27	0 28
Butter, tubs	0 26	0 27
Butter, creamery, lb. rolls	0 30	0 31
Butter, creamery, boxes	0 29	0 30
Eggs, new-laid, dozen	0 30	....
Eggs, cold-storage, dozen	0 22	....
Cheese, large, lb	0 13½	....
Cheese, twin, lb	0 13¾	....
Honey, extracted, lb	0 13	0 13½

Liverpool Grain and Produce.

LIVERPOOL, Dec. 17.—Closing: Wheat—Spot, steady; No. 2 red western winter, steady, 7s 7½d; futures, steady; Dec., nominal; March, 7s 10⅝d; May, 7s 10d.

Corn—Spot, steady; prime mixed American, 5s 9d; futures, quiet; Dec., nominal; Jan., 5s 9⅜d.

Bacon—Cumberland cut, steady, 53s 6d; long clear middles, light, no stock; long clear middles, heavy, no stock.

Lard—Prime western, in tierces, quiet, 42s.

Cheese—Canadian finest white, new, steady, 61s 6d; Canadian finest colored, new, steady, 62s 6d.

New York Dairy Market.

NEW YORK, Dec. 17.—Butter — Firm; receipts, 6050; imitation creamery, firsts, 20c to 21c.

Cheese—Steady, unchanged; receipts, 1568.

Eggs—Firm, unchanged; receipts, 9000.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Cables Easier—U. S. Markets Are Quietly Firmer.

LONDON, Dec. 17.—London cables are firmer, at 11c to 12¾c per lb., dressed weight; refrigerator beef is quoted at 9½c per pound.

Toronto Live Stock.

TORONTO, Dec. 17.—Receipts of live stock at the City Market, as reported by the railroads, were 62 carloads, composed of 794 cattle, 459 hogs, 1366 sheep, 101 calves and 2 horses.

Exporters.

A few export bulls sold at $3.25 to $4.50 per cwt.

Butchers.

Choice picked Christmas cattle sold at $4.75 to $5.50 per cwt.; loads of good, $4.50 to $4.70; medium cattle at $4 to $4.25; common at $3.50 to $3.75; cows, $2.50 to $3.50; canners, 80c to $1.50.

Feeders and Stockers.

Not many feeders and stockers were on sale. Prices quoted by Harry Murby were unchanged, as follows: Best feeders, 1000 to 1100 lbs., at $3.50 to $3.90 per cwt.; best feeders, 900 to 1000 lbs., at $3.90 to $3.50; best stockers, 800 to 900 lbs., at $2.85 to $3.15; best stockers, 600 to 900 lbs., at $2.40 to $2.75; common stockers, unchanged, at $1.50 to $1.75.

Milkers and Springers.

There was a fair supply of milkers and springers, and prices ranged from $25 to $55 each, the bulk of the best going at $40 to $50 each.

Veal Calves.

Trade was good for good to choice quality, of which there were few on sale. Prices ranged from $3 to $6 per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs.

The run of sheep and lambs was moderate, with prices firmer for lambs. Export sheep, $3.75 to $4; lambs, $4.50 to $5.50 per cwt.

Hogs.

Receipts were light. Mr. Harris reports prices 10c per cwt. higher, at $5.60 for selects and $5.35 for light fats.

London will have a building inspector

C.P.R. EXPRESS DITCHED

Two Men Lose Their Lives by Removal of a Rail at Schreiber.

Section Foreman Failed to Put Out Signal—No Warning That Repairs Were Being Made—The Passengers Escaped Injury — Engineer and Fireman Terribly Scalded—Engine and Cars Piled Up.

Fort William, Dec. 18.—The neglect of a section gang foreman to put his signal flags properly after having removed a rail for the purpose of changing, resulted in the ditching of a C. P. R. express train, the death of one man and injuries to another which have since proved fatal. The man killed was William Small, of Schreiber. The fireman, aged twenty years, who was badly scalded and had a leg broken, besides several wounds about the head. The engineer is Phillip McAllen, aged 48 years, whose home is at Schreiber, and who has a wife and two children. He was badly scalded and injured in various parts of the body. Both were taken to Port Arthur last evening on a special train made up at Schreiber. The train wrecked was the through express No. 96, which passed here on Monday night.

The absence of the rail, which was not noticed until shortly before the special was reached, caused the engine to be thrown from the track and turned over with the tender and two cars piled on top of it. Luckily the whole train was not thrown off the track, in which case the consequences would have been much more serious.

WRECK NEAR KINGSTON.

Broken Wheel Throws Cars From Track—No Lives Lost.

Kingston, Dec. 18.—The K. & P. train No. 5, an accommodation, which left the city at 8 yesterday morning, met with a serious accident at Jackson's Mills, about five miles north of Kingston. The cause was a broken wheel on the car next to the engine, which, when turning on its side, fortunately uncoupled the engine and left it clear. Three cars and the coach left the track, and the three freight cars were badly smashed up. One contained a load of flax seed, and the bottom was completely knocked out. Had it not been for a rail penetrating through the box car the three cars would have gone over the embankment, a distance of 20 feet.

Rails were torn up for three hundred feet, and all section men between here and Harrowsmith are at work. It will be fully two days before the track is cleared.

Railway Collision.

Keene, N. H., Dec. 18.—Passenger train No. 517, bound from Boston for Burlington and Montreal, ran into the rear end of a local freight train near Troy station on the Fitchburg division of the Boston & Maine yesterday. No one was injured. Four freight cars were demolished, and the wreckage caught fire.

NERVES ARE SHATTERED.

Compromise May Be Effected In Celebrated German Case.

Berlin, Dec. 18.—A compromise in the Harden-Von Moltke case is under consideration. Monday the prosecution of Maximilian Harden, editor of Die Zukunft, who brought a series of accusations against Count Kuno Von Moltke, was postponed owing to the illness of the defendant. It became known also that several others most closely identified with the case, are suffering greatly from the nervous strain brought about by the developments in the previous trial, and within the last 24 hours every effort has been made to effect a compromise on the grounds that the health of the principals have been shattered and that the highest interests of state render further controversy inadvisable.

The present prosecution is now in the hands of the states attorney, and the case was to have been heard before a criminal bench of five judges.

If a compromise is arranged it must be with the consent of the Ministry.

Canada's Oldest Physician.

St. John, N. B., Dec. 18.—Dr. William Bayard, the oldest practicing physician in the world, died yesterday at his home in this city, aged 94. Last August Dr. Bayard celebrated the seventieth anniversary of his entry into the medical profession. On that occasion Edinburgh University, of which he was the senior graduate, sent cordial greetings, and the Maritime Medical Association presented him with an address.

For 67 years Dr. Bayard has practiced in this city, of which he has always been one of the most prominent and highly honored citizens. The general public hospital, which he founded, is his chief monument. He was formerly president of the Dominion Medical Association.

Arrested Telephone Manager.

Wingham, Dec. 18.—P. M. Tansley, local manager of the Bell Telephone Co., was arrested yesterday charged with the embezzlement of about $500 of the company's funds.

He has been here for six years, had worked up a good business and was highly thought of. The case will come up this morning, and in the meantime Tansley is out on $500 bail.

Farmer Suicides.

Wingham, Dec. 18.—Albert Goble, second concession, Township of Culross, is reported to have committed suicide by shooting himself with a revolver.

He was of a melancholy disposition, though he owned a 100-acre farm and had a wife and two bright sons, who were attending school at Wingham.

Struck by Train.

Bradford, Dec. 18.—While driving across the G. T. R. tracks, Thomas Jones, farmer, was struck by a train. The horse was killed, the wagon wrecked, and Jones badly shaken up.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY
Take LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine Tablets. Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c

There is Only One
"Bromo Quinine"
That is Laxative Bromo Quinine
USED THE WORLD OVER TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY.

Always remember the full name. Look for this signature on every box. 25c. E W Grove

FOR THE LADY WHO CALLS

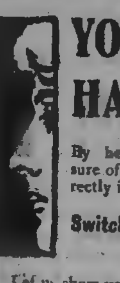
Visiting List and Social Engagement Book—A Dainty and Useful Gift.

Those ladies who find it difficult to keep track of their social debts in the way of calls which have to be returned, invitations to various society functions which have been received will be pleased to learn that a dainty little book has been issued from the presses of the Review which will fill their need. The city has grown so rapidly of late years that it has become almost necessary for each lady to have a special reception day each month when her friends will be sure to find her at home. To keep a record of these will be an easy matter with one of these little books. They are prettily bound in blue linen, lettered in gold and printed on good paper. There are two pages for every day in the month, arranged, according as the day is, first Monday, second Tuesday, etc. At the back of the book are pages for invitations received, out-of-town addresses, special reception dates, and memoranda. One of the books would make a dainty and acceptable Xmas gift. The books are on sale at the bookstores at the price of 50c

CENTRAL LIVERY STABLES
AND
VETERINARY INFIRMARY
183 Hunter Street, west of Oriental

If you wish a rig of any kind for any occasion ring us up and you will find everything up-to-date in the livery line. Both Phones 278. Night Phone Bell 425 B

D. McKERCHER, V.S.



YOUR OWN HAIR MADE UP AS DESIRED . .

By home talent, where you are sure of satisfaction, or matched correctly in shade and quality.

Switches, Natural Wavy Pomp
Latest Coiffures

Let us show you what we can do before you patronize some outside party. We guarantee to please you at lowest prices in the city.

Back Hair Dressing, Shampooing, etc.

MRS. BYRNE'S
George Street Second Door North of Dutton's

EGGS
FOR SALE
by the case

Fresh and Pickled Choice Stock at our warehouse, Robinson Street, East City

Scott&Hogg
PHONE 264, BOTH PHONES

HOCKEY SKATES
From 75c to $5.00

Skates repaired and sharpened
General machine work.

METHEREL'S CYCLE WORKS
225 Hunter Street

Private Greeting Cards

THE highly colored and lithographed Christmas Card in vogue a few years ago has passed away entirely.

IN place has come the much more appropriate Personal Greeting Card.

OF these the Review Office is showing a great many original designs.

YOUR order should be given immediately, while the selection is so complete.

SHOULD you desire a Card specially designed to your order, promptness is absolutely necessary.

The Review
HUNTER STREET
PETERBOROUGH

ESTIMATES AND RESULTS

The evidence before the Royal Commission showed that over 700 SUN LIFE policies had already matured and that in thirty-four per cent. of the cases the amounts originally estimated as likely to be received at the end of the terms, had been realized or exceeded. On all the cases combined the average amount paid had been about ninety-seven per cent. of the estimate. The management may be pardoned for being proud of this record. The estimates now in use since 1900 are lower than former ones, and premiums are higher, so that present estimates should certainly be realized. Statements were also filed showing that $108 is on hand for every $100 required to pay the amounts called for by the present estimates for every deferred profit policy on the books, and this without taking into account the Company's great and increasingly valuable contingent fund. Our policyholders are therefore justified in being particularly optimistic in regard to the Company's probable future profits.

Some one has said, "the true value of a life assurance policy must be gauged by the security of the protection given; if it proves to be a good investment, all the better; when both are shown, there is nothing on earth to equal it."

The security of the protection afforded by the Sun Life of Canada needs no comment, and the profits paid—let our results tell their own forceful story.

W. H. HILL,
Mgr. Central Ont.

AN INVITATION

We cordially invite every one interested in something select for Christmas, to visit our store and note the fine lines, perfect quality and moderate prices here shown. Affection can prompt nothing more appropriate than some of the following suggestions;

Gentlemen's Gold Watches, $10 to $40
Ladies' Gold Watches, $10 to $35
Diamond Rings, 3 Leading Specials, $15, $25, $50
Pearl Rings a Multitude of Designs, $3 to $20
Gold Cuff Links, 14 Karat, $5 to $7
Gold Lockets, $5 to $10
Signet Rings, (Gentlemen's) $5 to $10
Pearl Brooches, Delightful Patterns, $5 to $35
1847 Rogers Knives and Forks at Special Prices

No trouble to show Goods. Call and inspect them.

WARNE'S

345 GEORGE STREET

SNAPS FOR XMAS

Ebony Mirrors
Ebony Hair Brushes
Ebony Clothes Brushes
Ebony Manicure Sets
Ebony Military Brushes
Real Seal Skin Purses
Hand Satchels
Ladies' Companions
Gentlemen's Companions
Perfumes, etc.

at lowest prices

WARNE BROS.

345 GEORGE ST. PHONE 527

Xmas Photos

Send a family group or the children's photos to your friends at Christmas. Nothing is appreciated more than such remembrances, from

MENDEL'S STUDIO

374 1-2 George St Entrance next Ok e

Owen Sound wants the Underwriters to put the town in class A., thus reducing insurance rates 15 per cent.

William Cotter is the new president of the Pere Marquette Railway.

SEE OUR GRAND WINDOW DISPLAY OF XMAS SNAPS

Fountain Pens—fully guaranteed—Solid Gold Points—Just two grades—Regular pric $2.50 and $3.50. Our price this week only

$1.50 and $2.50

With each $1.50 sale we will give a 50c bottl of perfume FREE.

With each $2.50 sale we will give a $1.00 bottle of perfume FREE.

Just a limited number of pens.

Perfume either in bulk or in fancy bottles. Your own choice.

NUGENT DRUG CO.

386 GEORGE STREET

HON. JOSEPH TARTE DYING NEAR MONTREAL

Prominent Figure in Canadian Political Life is Not Expected to Live Twenty-four Hours

Special to the Review.

Montreal, Dec. 18.—Hon. Joseph I. Tarte is dying at Boucherville, and it is questionable whether or not he will live another 24 hours. It has been evident to his friends for some time that the end was approaching.

Mr. Tarte returned to his country home at Boucherville about two weeks ago in the hope that the rest and country air would benefit him, but he has gradually weakened until a message from Boucherville reached the city this morning stating he hardly would survive the day.

BIG CAT OWL IN CAPTIVITY

An immense cat owl in a cage at the bar of the Peterborough house, is attracting considerable attention. It was captured in a trap by a farmer by the name of Head, who resides in the vicinity of Crawford's Grove, and purchased from him on Saturday by Mr. Jas. Head, proprietor of the Peterborough House. The owl is rather torpid in the daytime, but becomes quite lively at night.

The Hibernians Elect Officers

At the last regular meeting of Division No. 2 Ancient Order of Hibernians, the following officers were elected:—

Rev. M. J. O'Leary—Chap
N. Bibby.—Pres.
J. Roach.—Vice-Pres.
Wm. Lynch.—R.S.,
Jas. Drain.—Fin. Sec
Jas. Kelly.—Treas.
W. Dennis.—Sentinel.

George Hanan is the Conservative candidate in Welland for the Commons.

ADAMS' LIST —OF— ECONOMIC SUGGESTIONS FOR CHRISTMAS SHOPPERS

Our showing of useful articles suitable for Christmas Gifts is large and attractive. Each year the demand is increasing for the gifts that are useful. low is a list of such useful articles for the gift-giving season. ADAMS' is your store for popular gifts at popular prices.

SILK BLOUSES

A Silk Blouse is a gift that any lady will appreciate. At our prices they are within the reach of all. Xmas Blouses at from

$1.98 to $10.00

MUSLIN

We are showing a splendid range of fine quality Muslin Blouses for the Xmas trade at from

$1.50 to $5.00

LADIES' XMA NECKWEAR

We claim to give you the best values in Ladies' Neckwear in the city. A fancy Collar is an acceptable gift. Hundreds of beautiful collars to choose from—Prices from

25c to $1.25

VISIT ADAMS'

When looking for a useful Xmas gift for the ladies.

LADIES' UMBRELLAS

Our range of beautiful Umbrellas for Xmas gifts is very tempting—An umbrella gift is sure to please—Prices at from

$1.50 to $6.00

HANDKERCHIEFS

Are always acceptable Xmas gifts—In our range are all the newest designs in Fancy Embroidered, Scolloped edge, Fancy Chicks—special values at from

3c to 75c

KID GLOVES

Are popular gifts inexpensive and always appreciated. We give you only the reliable makes—"guaranteed." All Kid Gloves boxed in fancy glove boxes with the season's greetings at

$1.00, $1.25, $1.50

Special values in long Kid Gloves at

$2.25 and $3.00

Harry Adams

Conservative Convention Will Be Held Wednesday January 29

To Nominate Candidates for Both Dominion and Provincial Houses of Parliament for West Peterborough—Annual Meeting of Association to be Held on Same Date.

At a well attended meeting of the executive of the West Riding of Peterborough Liberal-Conservative Association, held at the Young Conservative Club rooms last night it was decided to hold a convention on Wednesday evening, January 29th, in Bradburn's opera house, when candidates for both the federal and provincial parliaments will be nominated.

Further particulars will be announced later. The annual meeting of the Association will be held on the same date—January 29th.

Palmist Proposed Marriage To Several Young Ladies

Prof. Shepherd Gets Into Serious Trouble—Appeared in Police Court This Morning Charge of Fortune Telling

Evidence of a startling nature was aired in the police court this morning, when Prof. C. Shepherd was charged with undertaking to tell fortunes, by going into trances and reading hands. Several citizens, including a number of popular young ladies, were victims of the learned professor's means of trickery. From evidence given this morning, it appears that he made proposals of marriage to the young ladies who consulted him. He brought one young girl from Belleville, promising to marry her. Shepherd has a smooth, pleasant manner, and is rather good looking, which naturally appealed to the young ladies.

Mr. F. D. Kerr defended him this morning, and Crown Attorney R. E. Wood conducted the prosecution. The prisoner did not elect or plead. The court adjourned at twelve o'clock, to meet again at 2.30 o'clock.

Mrs. Chambers, was the first witness called: "I live at 344 Aylmer street, and keep a boarding house. I know Prof. Shepherd. He came to my house last Friday, and was there until his arrest. She identifed two signs as the ones which hung on her door. There were several persons called to consult him, Prof. Shepherd brought a young lady to the house on Monday whom he introduced as his intended wife. He had a marriage license, and I directed them to a minister."

A well known young man was the next witness. He said; "I have seen Prof Shepherd at Mrs. King's boarding house on George street. I went to see him, having learned that he was a palmist, and was anxious to learn the future destiny of certain things. The so-called palmist took a magnifying glass and examined my hand. He told me I would leave here in the spring. I paid fifty cents for the information. There was no deception on the part of the professor, for what he told me was true."

The first young lady called told of how she had consulted Prof. Shepherd, at Mrs. King's, George street. I saw his ad. in the paper, and went to see him on Monday, Dec. 9th. I paid him fifty cents, and he read my hand. He told me things that would happen in the future. He spoke of marriage to me, and even went as far, as to propose to me. There seemed to be such a magnetism about him that I could not get away. He arranged to meet my mother, which his afterwards did. He said that he had the gift of palmistry, and that it was not from books he derived it. Some things he told me were not true. He said that 'I would be happy with him in three rooms,' which is not true."

A young lady of Fenelon Falls, was the next to give evidence. "I am employed in Peterborough," she said. "I saw prisoner at Mrs. King's about two weeks ago. I was introduced to him by Miss King. He read my hand, for which I paid him fifty cents. He told the young lady things of the past and of the future. He said I would travel a lot, but he did not propose marriage to me." Several other things he told me which I would not care to speak of." During the cross-examination by Mr. Kerr, witness was very reticent. In answering questions. "Surely you did not sit there holding hands without speaking?" said the counsel. The young lady's memory was apparently a poor one, for she had forgotten all the learned professor had told her.

The Formal Opening of the Fire Hall Takes Place New Year's

Public Invited to Attend—The Mayor and Other Public Officials Will Speak—Refreshments Will be Served and 57th Band Will Furnish Music.

The formal opening of the fire hall takes place on New Year's day. The hall will be open from 10 in the morning until 5 in evening and an invitation to be present is extended the general public, including ladies, children and gentlemen and the Mayor and aldermen, the Board of Education, Water Commissioners, Town Trust Commissioners and all the members of civic and municipal bodies. The ex-members of the Peterborough fire department are specially invited to be present.

The official opening takes place at 2 o'clock when it is expected that the Mayor and other prominent public officials will deliver short addresses of an appropriate character. Refreshments of cake and coffee will be served by the members of the brigade. Arrangements are being made to have the 57th band in attendance in the afternoon and they will enliven the proceedings with several selections.

Forged Cheque Passed On East City Tinsmith

Bought Tinware Amounting to $1.50 and Paid it With Cheque for $7.55

But Paper Was of No Value

Name of Thos. Rehill Had Been Forged to it—Description of Man Who Passed it

Oliver S. Ferguson, the East City tinsmith, is out of pocket $5.95 as a result of a forged cheque passed on him yesterday afternoon. A young man about 25 years of age called at his store and purchased tinware amounting to $1.50, and tendered in payment for same a cheque for $7.55. It was signed by Thos. Rehill and made out in favor of "J. A. Webb, or bearer," and was a Dominion Bank cheque. The man who presented it said he was Mr. Webb, and Mr. Ferguson accepted it without any misgiving. This morning he went out to get the cheque cashed, and the man to whom he presented it would not cash it, as he did not know Mr. Rehill. Mr. Ferguson's suspicions were then aroused and he got in communication with Mr. Rehill, and was informed by the latter that he had not made out any cheque in favor of Mr. Webb.

The man who passed the cheque on Mr. Ferguson was of fair complexion with light hair, was about 5 feet 8 inches in height, and had on a suit of dark clothes and wore a hard hat. He was a stranger to Mr. Ferguson.

The police have been notified.

Mr. Rehill, whose name was forged to the cheque, is the well-known ice dealer.

Out Before His Sentence Was Served

Mayor McWilliams has succeeded in getting a young man out of the local jail, whose sentence did not expire till Friday. The young man's mother died on Monday, and by communicating with the Minister of Justice at Ottawa, the Mayor was able to obtain the prisoner's release yesterday.

DIED

FAIRBAIRN.—At Bordeaux, Que., on Tuesday, Dec. 17th, Blanche Fairbairn, wife of James F. R. Fairbairn.

The funeral will be private and from the residence of G. M. Roger, 309 Park street, Peterborough, on Thursday, 19th inst., at 11 a.m., to Little Lake cemetery.

LITTLE BOY IS KILLED BY A TRAIN

Arthur Hutchison, Formerly of This City, Meets Horrible Death

Word was received in the city last night that Arthur Hutchison, of this city, was instantly killed by a train running over him in Cobourg yesterday afternoon. No particulars of the sad affair were given. Upon the death of the child's father in January last, Mrs. Hutchison moved to Cobourg. The family were for many years residents of Peterborough.

The remains will arrive in the city to-morrow morning, and the funeral will take place at two o'clock, from the residence of Mrs. Pearson, Pearl avenue to the Little Lake cemetery.

INTEREST PAID
QUARTERLY
—ON—
SAVINGS DEPOSITS of $1 and upwards
—THE—
BANK OF OTTAWA

Interest paid
February 28
May 31
August 31
November 30

PETERBOROUGH BRANCHES:
George Street, also
Corner Rubidge and Townsend Streets

A. A. HOLLINGSHEAD, Mgr.

Children's Aid Annual Meeting

Will be Held on Friday Night—Mr. J. J. Kelso of Toronto to Speak

The annual meeting of the Children's Aid Society will be held on Friday night at the City Council chamber. Reports will be read and the annual election of officers will take place. The principal feature of the evening will be an address by Mr. J. J. Kelso, superintendent of the Society for neglected and dependent children, of Toronto. Mr. Kelso is an interesting speaker and many ought to avail themselves of the opportunity to hear him.

Art Competition Among Pupils

Medals Offered Those Attending Public Schools or Collegiate

The Peterborough branch of the Woman's Art Association is offering medals for the best original pencil drawings from objects (still life), to be competed for by the pupils of 16 years of age and under, attending the public schools or Collegiate Institute.

The competition will take place after the New Year, when further particulars as to dates, etc., will be given.

Chocolate and Creams 2 lb. for 25c, Navel Oranges 20, 30, 40c, Mixed Nuts per lb. 15c.

R. A. DUTTON.

Two Months in County Gaol for Housebreaking

Chas. Miller, Sentenced This Morning—Entered Stewart Street Residence a Week Ago

On the charge of housebreaking and carrying off fifty dollars' worth of jewellery from the house of Mr. Thomas Brightman, a week ago, Charles Miller, was sentenced to two months in the county gaol. It will be remembered that Miller pleaded guilty to the charge and was remanded for a week. When asked by His Worship if he had anything to say, he replied; "I am very sorry, and I am not in the habit of doing such things. I worked all summer and cannot account for my going wrong." "Such things cannot be tolerated," said His Worship. "Entering a house in broad daylight and stealing valuables is a serious offence. The judgment of the Court is that you be sentenced to two months at hard labor in the county gaol."

OBITUARY

BLANCHE FAIRBAIRN

Word was received in the city last evening, of the death of Mrs. James F. R. Fairbairn, which occurred in Bordeaux, Que. The deceased was the wife of Mr. James F. R. Fairbairn, nephew of Mr. G. M. Roger, city. She was 39 years of age, and was born in Teeswater, her maiden name being Blanche Fairbairn. She was married ten years ago to her sorrowing husband, who with two small boys, Gordon and George, are left to mourn her loss.

The funeral will take place tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock, from the residence of Mr. G. M. Roger, 309 Park street, to the Little Lake cemetery. Funeral will be private.

Porter's Delicatessen

UT RATE GROCERY STORE

Shelled Almonds per lb	35
" Walnuts	35
Choice Black & Green Tea 3 lbs	50
Choice Coffee 17c 3 lbs	50
Select Raisins 3 lbs	.20
Dates, 3 lbs............	.25
Mince Meat, 3 lbs.......	.20
Washing Soda, 3 lbs....	.05
Cooking Figs, 4 lbs	.25
3 bottles Ketchup......	.25
3 bottles Pickles.........	.25
Potatoes, per pk........	.15
Apples, per pk	.10

410 George Street

ESTABLISHED 1873

WE WANT TO MAKE THIS A RECORD DECEMBER

This is the 35th Anniversary of the City Clothing Store and we want our customers and we want the public to join us in making this December the "best ever." To accomplish this we have Reduced everything in the store in price until New Year's. Every Customer gets a benefit :—

Good Tweed Working Overcoats..............	5.00 to 6.00
Fine Winter Overcoats..............	7.00 to 8.50
Melton and Beaver Overcoats..............	Special at 10 00 to 15.00
Heavy Tweed Suits..............	4.50 to 7.00
Scotch Tweed and Worsted Suits..............	8.00 to 12.00
Fine Black Worsted Suits..............	10.00 to 15.00
Fine Worsted or Tweed Pants..............	2.50, 3.00, 4.00
Good Heavy Wool Working Pants..............	1.00, 1.50, 2.00
Boys' Cosy Winter Overcoats..............	3.00 to 4.50
Boys' Storm Proof Overcoats..............	4.00 to 6.50
Boys' 3-piece Suits..............	2.50 to 4.50
Boys' 2-piece Suits..............	1.50 to 2.50
Scotch Shetland Wool Underwear, reg. 75c..............	.50
Elastic Ribbed Underwear, Utica Brand, fleecelined, reg. 90c for 65 or for the Suit..............	1.25
Heavy Wool Ribbed Shirt and drawers, regular 60c for..............	45
Fleece lined..............	45, 50
Very fine qualities of Scotch Wolsley and Natural Wool Underwear, up to..............	2.30

ORDERED WORK—If you need an Overcoat or Suit made to order before New Year's, you can't find a choicer selection of cloth to pick from. Best of work and satisfaction.

H. LeBrun & Co.

Two Entrances George and Hunter Sts

Ladies' Hand Bags and Purses

Just the thing for Useful and Beautiful Gift now on display at the store that gives the largest choice, the best leathers and closest prices.

Ladies' and Gentlemen's TRAVELLING SATCHELS and TRUNKS of all kinds, in the largest selection in the city.

B. SHORTLY SIGN OF THE BIG HORSE AT THE DOOR

TELEPHONE No. 319

STOCK MARKET QUOTATIONS

Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

	Opening	Closing
Amal. Copper	43	43½
Atchison	70½	70½
B. R. T.	38	37⅞
Can. Pacific x div..........	149½	149¾
Erie	16	16
Louis. & Nash.	89½	90½
Mo. Pac.	48	47½
N. Y. Central	93⅞	93¾
Penna	110½	111⅛
Rock Island	14½	14⅞
Reading	90	[illegible]
Smelters..............	68½	68½
Sugar	96½	96½
St. Paul..............	101½	101½
So. Pac.	72	72½
Union Pac. x-div. 2½.......	114½	113½
U. S. Steel	25½	25½
do. pfd.	86½	86½
Twin City..............	00	00
McKay..............	00	00
Nipissing..............	6	6
Wheat	105	104½
Corn	59½	58½
May Oats	54½	54½
Pork.	13.05	13.10

Port Hope votes January 5th on a bylaw raising $7,400 for the construction of an electric light plant.

Xmas Drawing Near

You have only a few days to consider where to place your order for Brandies, Scotch, Irish and all kinds of Wines, Ales, etc.

Don't hesitate a moment but come direct to Mitchell's, 141 Hunter St. where you will get nothing but pure whiskey, (not Otonabee water.) Don't forget to ask for Mitchell's Special Rye Whiskey, the only reliable draught goods sold.

Sweet Cider for sale.

Leave your order early.

F. J. R. MITCHELL

141 Hunter St. — Phone 388

WE WISH YOU
A Merry Xmas

We point with pride to our selections of Men's Furnishings for the Holiday trade. We've

Exclusive and Elegant Neckwear
Best Makes of Gloves
Perfection in Shirts and Collars
Best Brands of Underwear
Choice Hosiery, Mufflers
Night Robes, Umbrellas
House Coats, Fancy Braces, Etc.

If you're still undecided just what to buy him for Christmas, we'll take pleasure in showing you a host of things he would be delighted to have.

LANG & MAHER

CLOTHIERS AND FURNISHERS TO MEN WHO KNOW
409 411 George Street Peterborough

HERE'S A STORE FULL OF XMAS SURPRISES

Rugs, Curtains, Garments, Linens, Silks, Dress Goods, Gloves, Hosiery and other practical gift things in large assortments. When you come and see what this store holds for Christmas, chances are you'll wonder if we left any Christmas goods at all for other stores to show. Yes, indeed we did—but—(and this should interest you) we sent our buyer through the market as thoroughly as a broom goes through a house at house-cleaning time—sweeping together all the best that the manufacturers of the world could produce—choosing the good, ignoring the poor or common place. We bought with the intention of bringing to this store all that our most exacting customers can demand. If you wish to purchase the most practical gifts and if you wish to make small sums accomplish wonders, you can surely do it here. You don't need a fat and bulgy pocket book to shop here or to buy from the finest assortment of useful merchandise you ever got at any Christmas store in all your life. From the tailored garment department to the counter where little bits of things are shown, this store is crowded, FULL OF SURPRISES.

HEAR ALL THE LATEST MUSIC
EVERY DAY THE WEEK
By Chas. E. Musgrave

RICHARD HALL & SON, LIMITED
353 AND 355 GEORGE STREET, PETERBOROUGH
STORE OPENS AT 8 A.M. CLOSES AT 6 P.M., EXCEPT SATURDAY

FOR FINE
Lemons, Oranges
Malaga Grapes
Bananas
and all kinds of fruit and vegetables try
MINOCOLO BROS.
Wholesale and Retail.
Both Phones 337.

FAMILY RE-UNIONS AT CHRISTMAS

The opportunity to have a complete group taken may not occur again.
Appointments at
THE ROY STUDIO

BROCK ST. RINK
SEASON 1907-8

Tickets for the season entitling the holder to all skating privileges, now on sale at the Examiner Office, Peterborough Bookstore, Sanderson & Co., F. A. Clarke's, Best Hardware Co., the Secretary, C. G. Graham, at the Oriental Hotel.

Gentlemen . .	3.00
Ladies	2.00
Youths, 16 to 18	2.00
Boys under 16 .	1.50
Girls	1.50

Nothing makes a better Christmas gift for your boy or girl than a Season Ticket for the Brock Street Rink.

THE CITY AND VICINITY

EVENTS TO-NIGHT

Brock street rink.—Skating with band in attendance.

Orange hall.—Royal Black Preceptory banquet.

St. Andrew's church.—Congregational meeting after prayer service.

Peterborough Tent, No. 69, K.O.T. M.—Election of officers.

FLOWERS GALORE.

Great assortment of Xmas Flowers at Mason's, the Florist, 406 1-2 George street. 3d

CLASSES DISCONTINUED

All the classes at the Y.W.C.A. have been discontinued until after the Christmas holidays.

Y.M.C.A. LADIES' AUXILIARY.

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary will be held in the Y.M.C.A. parlors on Friday evening, Dec. 20th, at 7.30 o'clock.

FUR LINED COATS

We clean and press them and guarantee no injury to the fur. My Valet, 804 Charlotte street. All goods called for and delivered. dtf

JUNIOR BROTHERHOOD.

The debating club of the junior brotherhood of St. John's meet to-night at 8 o'clock in the guild room. All the boys are urgently requested to be present.

MAKE CALENDARS.

Why not make calendars? They are pretty cheap and always acceptable. We have pictures in sepia and colors, fancy embossed cards and dainty calendar pads in many designs. See them at the Review office. 3d

A ROLL OF MUSIC

Of new song hits makes a nice neat gift for Xmas. Until Jan. 1st we are selling the newest publications at greatly reduced prices. Ask to see our $6 for $1.00 lot. J. M. GREENE MUSIC CO., Grand Opera House Building.

NO MEETING.

The meeting of the union committee for the purpose of discussing the proposed new Methodist church in the south end of the city, which was to have been held last evening, did not materialize, and therefore no further steps were taken.

LEAVE ORDERS EARLY.

Oh, my! it would be so nice if customers would leave their orders early for Xmas flowers and plants at Mason's the Florist, 406 1-2 George-st. 3d

SWETE MUSIC FOR XMAS

Thousands of mouthorgans to choose from, at the old reliable store. Peterborough Music Co., 404 George street. 3d

ALL SHEET MUSIC

At prices never known before, either single or in lots of $1.00. Visit our sale and see our excellent offering. J. M. GREENE MUSIC CO., Grand Opera House Building.

A REHEARSAL.

St. John's Sunday school children will meet for rehearsal of their Xmas cantata "Story of a Star," on Thursday afternoon immediately after 4 p. m., in the Sunday school room. All the children taking part must be present.

BRIGADE CALLED OUT.

The fire brigade were called yesterday to extinguish a fire at Mr. Peter's in the south end of the city, caused by a moving picture film catching fire. It was put out, however, before the services of the brigade were needed.

LADIES' LITREARY.

The regular meeting of the Ladies' Literary Society of St. Peter's T. A. S., will be held on Friday evening, Dec. 20th, when an essay will be read by Miss Milaney. A musical programme will also be presented. 4td

CASE AGAIN ENLARGED.

Judgment in the case of Wm. McCrea, charged with the non-support of his wife, was further enlarged this morning. It is said that the two had taken up again, and His Worship will find out whether the report is true.

ST. JOHN'S CHOIR.

St. John's choir will meet for choir practice on Thursday night of this week for the final Xmas practice. In view of the fact that Sunday, Dec. 29, is the day for the monthly choral evensong, every member is earnestly invited to be on hand. The ladies are requested to be on hand shortly before 8 o'clock, to arrange re vestments for Sunday next.

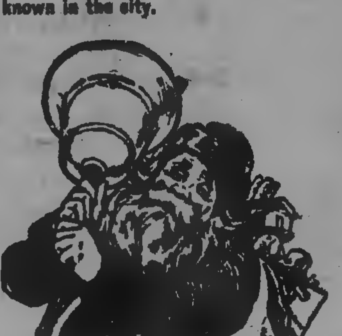
SANTA CLAUS at ROUTLEY'S

Santa has paid many visits to his old established Headquarters. Our 2nd floor is heavier stocked with every imaginable Toy or Gift for the little tots than ever was known in the city.

Dolls, Cradles, Hose Carts, Toy Beds, Games all kinds, Toy Carriages, Sleighs, Toy Tea Sets, Whips, Toy Wash Sets, Toy Books; Sleeping, Walking, Kid and Jointed Dolls; Building Blocks, Noah's Arks, Bugles, Drums, Reins, Mechanical Toys, Magic Lanterns, Steam Engines, Banks, Trains.

CHINA SECTION
Bread and Butter Plates, China Cups and Saucers, Jardinieres, Vases, Salad Bowls, Brush Trays, Biscuit Jars' Jelly Pots, China Tea Sets, Fancy Jugs in Sets, Dinner Sets, Chamber Sets, all the newest in natty pieces suitable for presents.

MAIN FLOOR
Manicure Sets, Brush and Comb Sets, Military Sets, Padded Poets, Catholic Prayer Books, English Church Prayer Books, Hymn Books, Bibles, Work Boxes, Collar Boxes, Glove and Handkerchief Sets, Leather Writing Cases and Desks, Music Rolls, Pocket Books, Hand Bags.



As usual we will not allow those not strictly in the fancy goods or stationery lines to compete in any way. Stick to the place that has served you well, there are none who can head us off at our own old game

TORONTO 262-4 QUEEN W ROUTLEY'S PETERBORO' 379 GEORGE ST

A BIG PROPOSITION

A unique proposition was made this morning, in which a local business man agreed to shovel a carload of coal for the Ontario Coal Company in half a day. A car contains 40 tons and the price agreed upon was 25 cents per ton. The task to be undertaken seems a big one, but the man who proposes to be on the business end of the shovel to do the work is confident he can accomplish the job. Should he fail to do so, within the required time, he will be unrewarded for his labors.

Christmas Party Enjoyed at Y.W.C.A.

Rooms Prettily Decorated—Toys for the Poor

The Y.W.C.A. rooms were well filled last night for the Christmas party.

The programme was made up almost entirely of girls who are attending the classes this year, and the Review cannot speak too highly of the way in which each one performed her part.

The Social Committee spent a busy afternoon decorating the rooms, and the effect was very pretty. The committee also served refreshments during the evening which were much appreciated. The toys, which formed the admission fee, will be given to the children of the poor. The Y.W.C.A was glad to have with them for part of the evening Sheriff Hall, Dr. Greer, who examined the bandaging: Rev. E. A. Pearson and Mr. R. W. Cressman. They all confessed that gentlemen were well treated at the Y.W.C.A.

XMAS CHEER

Customers, Young Ladies, Young Gentlemen, Friends, will do well to patronize James R. Bell this year, as he has everything fresh and good. Fry's Chocolate 10 and 25c Cream Candies Walnuts, Almonds, Filbert, Navel Oranges, Mexican Sweet Oranges. 161 Hunter St. tdf

PERSONAL

Mr. R. Ruddy, of Millbrook, is in the city.

Mr. T. George Holmes, of Port Hope, is in the city.

Mr. Wesley Erskine goes to Winnipeg today on a visit.

Captain David Walsh, of South Burleigh, was in the city to-day.

Mr. Fred J. Smith and wife, of Campbellford, are in the city.

Rev. Mr. MacKenzie and wife, of Lakefield, were in the city today.

Mr. George Yeates left yesterday for Kingston, where he will spend a few weeks.

Mr. William Bunton is in New York city, visiting his brother, who is ill.

Dr. Bradd, who is confined to Nicholls hospital from abscess of the ear, passed a good night and is progressing favorably.

Miss Lena McMillan, nurse-in-training at Jackson Sanitorium, Dannsville, N.Y., is spending the Christmas holidays at her home, 438 Park street.

SKATING TO-NIGHT

At Brock Street Rink. 57th Band in attendance. Tickets now on sale.

A GOOD SERVANT

The Review Want Ad. column solves the problem of how to recover lost articles, get a tenant for a house, secure a servant or help of any kind, obtain roomers or boarders, sell surplus articles around the home, or find something you want to buy. Try it, the cost is low.

WILL REPRESENT THE KING.

Prince Arthur of Connaught Will Attend Champlain Celebrations.

Prince Arthur, only son of the Duke of Connaught, accompanied by an imposing suite, will represent his uncle, King Edward, at the celebration next year of the tercentennial anniversary of the founding of Quebec in 1608 by Samuel de Champlain, who bestowed upon it its present name. All the rumors to the effect that the King and Queen or the Prince and Princess of Wales would visit the Dominion next year are therefore set at rest. It was originally intended that the Duke of Connaught should represent the King, but his appointment as Lord High Commissioner of the British possessions in the Mediterranean and of Egypt and the Soudan, and the possibility of a crisis on the banks of the Nile within the next year, render it impossible for him, to cross the Atlantic. It is proposed that on the termination of the ceremonies at Quebec Prince Arthur should spend several weeks in an extended tour through Northwestern Canada, which is as yet terra incognito to the members of the reigning house.

Prince Arthur, though relatively young in years, is blessed with an abundance of tact, coupled with a pleasant, modest, unaffected manner, and thus far has succeeded in making friends for himself and for the royal family wherever he has been, either at home or abroad. In England he is particularly popular, by reason of the knowledge that he declined the German throne of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha in order to remain an Englishman, preferring the position and life of a British prince of the blood to that of a Teuton sovereign. Moreover, his name has been invested with a certain amount of romance in consequence of the widespread belief that there are dynastic obstacles to his marriage with the very pretty girl, the daughter of a peer, with whom his name has been connected.

It is doubtful whether King Edward will again ever be seen on this side of the Atlantic. Any visit to Canada would necessitate similar compliments to Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, India and other dependencies, in order to avoid colonial jealousy and ill-feeling, added to which, Edward VII. has arrived at a time of life when it is important not only for himself personally, but likewise to the state that he should husband his strength and avoid unnecessary fatigue.

INDIANS WERE EMBALMERS.

Cave in Birnie Island, B.C., Contains Remains of Ancient Chiefs.

The Dominion Government has just had its attention officially called to the fact that the Indians of by-gone years on the northern coast of British Columbia were possessed of some kind of art of embalming human remains. The results of an investigation just made form a very curious story.

The Federal Department of Marine recently established a lighthouse at Birnie Island, which lies off the harbor of Port Simpson, 400 miles north of Vancouver. The Government ordered a reserve of a thousand acres to be surveyed and gazetted for the site of the lighthouse and farm. Then there came a loud and angry complaint from the Tsimpsian Indians. They declared that in the Government's reserve had been included a cave in which had been buried since time immemorial their chiefs and sub-chiefs. They asked that this cave should be given back to the lands of the tribe. And they wanted immediate action.

Their letter was written in such a decided fashion that Capt. Walbran, of the Government marine service at Victoria, was immediately despatched to make a re-survey and give the land back to the Indians. He returned to Vancouver by the steamer Camousun, having carried out the wish of the natives. He visited the cave and found that it was filled to the entrance with human bodies apparently petrified. Some were in boxes, while others were in postures of sitting or standing or lying on the ground or stacked in tiers along the sides of the cave. The place was so well filled that the official was unable to enter. There was not the slightest trace of smell about the bodies, any more than if they had been stones. The Indians told him that no burials had been made in the cave for hundreds of years. All around the mouth of the cave were large deposits of a fine sand or powder, which reminded Capt. Walbran of a guano field on an island in the south seas. The popular belief of the Indians is that this powder is one of the agents which has kept the bodies from decaying, and has assisted their turning into stones.

Mr. Kipling's Canadian Tour.

Ontario and all Eastern Canada is deeply disappointed that Mr. Kipling upon the occasion of his recent visit to Canada should have only seen "The West from a Car Window" and the east not at all. The older provinces are always proud and never jealous of the West, into which they are sending their shekels and their sons. With all his powers as a word painter, it is hardly to be expected that Mr. Kipling can do justice to all of Canada. He has not seen the thriving cities and towns of Ontario, with its splendid railways, mills and manufacturing industries. He had only a fleeting glimpse of Toronto, and saw nothing of the score or more other industrial centres of the Dominion. It is too bad, Canadians believe, that he should have spent the most of the time which he was able to give to the study of conditions in the Dominion to the troubled shores of the Pacific. With no desire to minimize the seriousness of the labor disturbances out there, or to disguise the fact that Canada is in sore need of more men to carry forward the work in hand, Canadians would have been proud of some pen pictures by Mr. Kipling of the industrial east, where the people are prosperous and happy. This conviction is by no means local—it is widespread, universal.—Canada.

Dredges Excelsior and Monarch completed their work at Victoria Harbor on Dec. 1st.

THE BEEHIVE
The Ladies' Big
Ready-to-wear Store

You Can Always Get The Most Satisfying Christmas Box AT THE BEEHIVE
The Ladies' Big
Ready-to Wear Store

KANDIES FOR THE KIDS

Nut Candies
Cream Candy
Pure Sugar Candy
Royal Mixed Candy

SEE OUR CANDY WINDOW

WHITE & GILLESPIE
336 GEORGE ST. Phone 208

GET YOUR HOLIDAY PHOTOS
—AT—
LENDRUM'S
They are the best and most up-to-date
170 Charlotte Street

MADE LIKE NEW

Chenille and Tapestry Curtains and Table Covers Cleaned and Dyed Like New

For genuine satisfaction and saving the purchase of new curtains, bring your old ones to us or telephone us and we will call for them.

Sponging and pressing made a special part of our business.

PARKER'S DYE WORKS
R. M. BEACH,
Phone 250 Proprietor

LADIES, CUT THIS OUT
Dr. Cristion's
FRENCH TOILET ARTICLES
Have been placed on sale with
Miss E. Smith
567 GEORGE STREET
MANICURING, SHAMPOOING
SCALP TREATMENT and FACIAL
MASSAGE SKILFULLY DONE
Appointments made. Mach. Phone 13

Second Hand Stove Bargains
—AT—
BARRETT'S

Why pay $30 for a Heater or $40 for a Range when you can buy either for $5 to $15 at Barrett's Second Hand Store.
187 Simcoe St. next Cavanagh's

ESTABLISHED 1879

J. R. HEINTZ & CO.
STOCKS, GRAIN,
COTTON, COFFEE

J. N. BARBER, Manager
Phone 520

THE
DOMINION BANK
PAYS SPECIAL ATTENTION TO
SAVINGS ACCOUNTS
INTEREST PAID QUARTERLY
JOHN CRANE Manager
Corner George and Simcoe Sts.

SODEN'S BOOKSTORE 369 GEORGE-ST.

THE BEST CHRISTMAS STORE

Christmas is almost here. Have you bought your Christmas Presents? If not begin at once by going to Soden's. The Stock at this Store is the newest and best selected in its line in Peterborough, comprising

Books, Stationery, Pictures, Fancy Goods Leather Goods, China, Toys and Games

BOOKS

All the latest and best fiction, beautifully bound, cloth bound and padded poets, children's picture and story books. All the newest and most up-to-date gift books, ranging in prices from 10c to $3.00 each.

STATIONERY

All the best makes and designs from leading American and Canadian manufacturers—See our special Papeteries, Calendars, Christmas Cards.

PICTURES

Don't fail to inspect this stock. We are the largest importers of High Class Pictures between Toronto and Montreal. We frame on the ground and on short notice Our prices in this, as in all other lines, are RIGHT.

LEATHER GOODS

Fancy goods and China—We import direct from the factories. Our designs are the newest, our qualities the best to be had in the world's markets.

OUR PRICES are as low as you can buy inferior Goods for elsewhere, and quality considered are LOWER than any others in Peterborough. Come, see for yourself, and be satisfied.

SPECIAL PRICES ON BOOKS FOR SUNDAY SCHOOLS

SODEN'S BOOKSTORE 369 GEORGE-ST.

THE BANK'S SKATE STORE

Stock The
LUNN'S
AUTOMOBILE
CYCLE
ENGEL'S
STARR
REGAL
MIC MAC
SKATES

Come to us for your Skates and Skate Supplies

Banks Bicycle and Sporting Goods Co.
Under the Market Clock

Annual Meeting Bensfort Factory

The annual meeting of Bensfort cheese factory was held in the factory on the 5th of December, when the following report of the past season was presented;—

Total milk—1,375,991 lbs.

Total cheese—[illegible] lbs.

No. pounds milk to 1 pound cheese—10.65.

Average price of cheese for season—11.716c.

Amount received for cheese—$17,333.73.

Amount received for whey—$315.13

Amount received for interest—$68.87.

Total receipts—$17,717.73.

Officers were elected as follows;—

Salesman and Treasurer—John Riddell.

Secretary—W. G. Wood.

Auditor—Mrs. John Emberson and five directors.

The patrons as usual attended in large numbers and were addressed by District Instructor Cameron, advising strict cleanliness in the handling of milk. Cool it to at least 60 degrees. It would then be received at the factory in a condition to make finest cheese.

Rev Mr. Mias, pastor of the Lutheran church, Preston, has removed to Berlin.

Havelock Hears That C.P.R. May Greatly Reduce Staff

Railway Town Greatly Interested in the Report—New Water Tank Being Rushed—News of Interest

Special to the eRview.

Havelock, Dec. 16.—The driving snow on Saturday and Sunday did some harm on the C.P.R., stopping the trains for some time until the snow plough made it way through the high banks of the beautiful and cleared the tracks. The yards in Havelock were blocked up for some time, but the C.P.R. soon had a small army of men attacking and scattering the walls of snow. Men worked all Saturday night and Sunday and even today there was plenty of work for the men as the snow must be cleared away for fear another snow storm might come and block up the yards completely.

The C.P.R. are making great headway on the new water tank to replace the old one which collapsed a few weeks ago. The new one will be a round structure, somewhat larger than the old one. It is being built on a foundation of cement and enclosed by large iron hoops, which will make it impossible for it to collapse like the old one did.

It is reported among the C.P.R. employees that the company intend to make a great reduction in its staff. Headquarters have issued orders that expenses must be reduced and it is very probable that within a short time a great many men will be laid off in all branches. The blow is expected to fall principally on the operating department, but the staff in the passenger department may be also reduced, although no orders to that effect have yet been received.

If Father Winter still continues to send snow, the men that are laid off will be able to get work at snow shovelling.

Mr. Leemon Stewart has joined the Standard staff.

The citizens of town will regret to hear of the departure of Mr. Shultz and family to Toronto, where Mr. Shultz has purchased an up-to-date restaurant.

A number of the young friends of Miss Maud Wager gathered at her home on Friday night last to say farewell to this young lady, before her departure for Toronto. Miss Wager will be greatly missed by her many friends in Havelock.

Mr. Jas. Frost is busily engaged in fixing up the new open air rink, but the late thaw has put him back somewhat, but he will have the rink ready for his patrons in a few days.

Miss Jennie Barlow has been engaged by the School Board to take charge of the Jr. II class until the end of the term.

Misses Annie Bryans and Ada Holcombe attended the Model school "At Home" in Norwood on Friday night last.

Mr. B. Brooks, of Norwood, is visiting friends in town.

Miss L. Fowler, of Peterborough, is visiting her brother, Mr. Jas. Fowler.

Mrs. Thos. Bennet has returned from a trip to Medicine Hat, Alta.

The members of Belmont L.O.L., No. 277, elected the officers for next year at their meeting on Dec. 2nd.

The Havelock Public school will be closed on Dec. 20th, for the Christmas holiday. The closing will be celebrated by a concert in Mr. Priddle's room furnished by the pupils.

Mr. Starke, of town, is spending a few days at his home in Peterborough.

Miss Georgina Falkner entertained a number of her young friends on Monday evening at a card party. Everyone present spent a most enjoyable evening.

Enjoyable Time at Central Smith

Annual Tea and Entertainment Proved to be Decidedly Successful

That the annual tea and entertainment of the Central Smith Dairy association is an event which is looked forward to as one of the best entertainments of the season by the residents of Smith and many of the residents of Peterborough, was again demonstrated Friday evening the hall being taxed to its utmost capacity.

An excellent supper was served by the ladies of Central Smith and after ample justice had been done to all the good things with which the tables were laden the following programme was rendered:—

The chair was ably filled by Senator D. Derbyshire, of Brockville, who is an ex-president of the Eastern Dairymen's Association. Mr. Derbyshire in opening congratulated the patrons of Central Smith on their report of the factory for the past year and said he was pleased to be present on the occasion of this annual tea and entertainment. The speaker dwelt on the great necessity of the proper selection of food and care of the dairy cow, to produce profit for the farmers and gave many interesting instances of the results produced from a herd of cows when properly cared for. Mr. Derbyshire also pointed out the great necessity of the storage of ice and its usefulness in the curing of the milk.

He gave many interesting figures regarding the amount of cheese and butter manufactured by the different factories throughout the Province during the past year and complimented Central Smith as being one of the foremost both in quality and amount in Eastern Ontario.

The male quartette consisting of Messrs. Graham, Eastwood, Campbell and MacGregor, were heard in several well rendered selections.

Their musical sketch entitled "The dough-faced quartette" was specially good.

The Rev. J. R. Webb, of Peterborough, and the Rev. Mr. Peckover, of Omemee, delivered short and interesting addresses.

Messrs. D. Hughes-Charles and F. M. Elliott Peterborough, also spoke.

The enjoyable evening was brought to a close with the singing of the National Anthem.

CHRISTMAS BOXES FOR SOME SCHOOLS

Important Notice Received From Department of Education—Rural Schools to Benefit

Notice has been received from the Department of Education by Public School Inspector Lees, that the following grants have been made to schools in this county from the Assisted Schools' Fund;—

Belmont—No. 8, $25; No. 9, $15; No. 12, $50

Burleigh—No. 1, $40; Anstruther, No. 1, $25; No. 2, $25.

Chandos—No. 1, $15; No. 3, $15; No. 5, $10, No. 6, $35.

Galway—No. 2, $25; No. 6, $25; No. 7, $25.

Cavendish—No. 1, $25.

Harvey—No. 4, $15; No. 5, $15; No. 7, $30.

This money will be in the hands of the County Treasurer in the course of a few days, and will be forwarded by him to the treasurers of the above mentioned sections as soon as received.

Concerts for Chemong Village

The Chemong Indian and day schools are holding their annual Xmas tree and concert on Christmas night. Everyone invited to enjoy the evening as a good programme is being prepared. The Chemong Village will also hold its entertainment some time about the 20th of January. Full particulars are not yet arranged, but watch out for the posters.

The first train over the C.P.R. from Winnipeg to Saskatoon arrived on Monday.

The new steel lighthouse and pier at Burlington were washed away Monday.

Saskatoon Will be Important Distributing Point of the West

Mr. Albert Waterman, East City Returns After Spending Several Months in Western Canada—Speaks of Conditions out There.

Mr. Albert E. Waterman, who resides on James street, east city, returned home this week from Saskatoon, where he has spent the past six months. He had also intended to spend the winter there, but owing to the serious illness of his young son he was obliged to come home. He will remain the winter here, but says that it is his intention to return with his family to the flourishing new town upon the banks of the Saskatchewan river in the spring.

Saskatoon, situated as it is 150 miles north of Regina, is bound to become, Mr. Waterman thinks, one of the most important distributing points in the Canadian West. It is connected by three railways, the Canadian Pacific, the Canadian Northern and the Grand Trunk Pacific, with all shipping points and manufacturing centres. The town is but three years old and it has made rapid strides in advancement. Its population is about five thousand and it is continually on the increase. During the past year sewer and waterworks systems have been introduced into the town. A power house supplying electric light for the municipality was also erected during the past summer. Mr. Waterman was engaged as a builder in the northwestern town and he says that the amount of building that is going on there at the present time is astonishing. The Court House, two large public schools, a number of banking institutions, in addition to several business blocks and residences have all been erected recently. Their public buildings are very beautiful and would indeed be a credit to much larger cities.

Real estate in Saskatoon, while it has experienced a big drop, has not been felt so seriously as in other western cities. The slump has not had the tendency of impeding building operations.

Mr. Waterman was greatly impressed with the climate. It is glorious weather out there all the time. As yet they have had very little winter.

The land in the vicinity of Saskatoon is high and rolling and the severe frosts experienced by other parts of the West did not touch the grain there, the farmers all having good crops.

Accommodation in Saskatoon is now excellent, there being ten fine hotels, and the crowded conditions of a year or so ago are no longer felt.

Mr. Waterman is very enthusiastic over the West and intends to make his abode in the future out there.

North Monaghan Collector Will Collect Unpaid Taxes

Instructed to do so by Township Council—Meeting Held on Saturday.

North Monaghan council met in the township treasurer's office in Peterborough at 2 o'clock p.m. on Saturday, Dec. 14th.

All the members were present.

The reeve in the chair.

The reading of the minutes was deferred until the next meeting.

Communications were received as follows;

From John Dodds, claiming exemption from statute labor tax.

Declarations of their not being possessed of a dog in 1907 were filed by Messrs. James Booth and W. J. Armstrong.

Accounts were handed in from the following;

Taylor & Co., culvert tile	$10.50
R. Colen, repairs to culvert, R. division No. 2	14.50
Wm. Whitfield, disbursements paid for search and postage	1.00
G. W. Bennett, disbursements paid for postage and publishing minutes	11.10

The accounts of Messrs. Colen and Taylor were allowed to stand, and those of Messrs. Whitfield and Bennett were ordered to be paid.

It was moved by Messrs. Howden and May, that Messrs. Booth and Armstrong be refunded the sum of $1.00 each, being tax paid for dog in 1907.—Carried.

The clerk was directed to notify Mr. Dodds, that by his assessment he is entitled to pay statute labor tax of 75 cents.

The following statutory and other authorized payments were ordered to be paid;

R. M. Elliott, county treasurer, county rate and county schools, 1907	$1939.20
James Lillico, sec. S. S. No. 1	888,32
G. H. May, sec. S S No 2	600.00
H. T. Adamson, sec. S S No 3	510.00
D. Smyth, sec. S S No 4	275.00
John Corkery, Sep. School, Peterborough	60.00
John Brown, reeve, sessional allowance	30.00
G. H. May, councillor, sessional allowance	25.00
W. G. Howden, councillor, sessional allowance	25.00
R. Dobbin, councillor, sessional allowance	25.00
Jas. Morrow, councillor, sessional allowance	25.00
G. W. Bennett, salary, clerk 1-2 year	50.00
W. H. Bradburn, salary treasurer	60.00
B. Sanderson, caretaker	7.50

The township collector presented his return of taxes collected up to date as follows;

Amount on roll, 1907	$5988.89
Amount paid to Dec. 14, 1907	3870.96
Balance to collect	$2117.93

On motion of Messrs. May and Howden, this was received, and the collector was ordered to proceed and return the balance of the taxes forwith. This was carried.

Mr. G. Ball, the sanitary inspector, of Peterborough, was present and requested the council to give him permission to officially inspect all milk dairies in the township. This request was left for consideration at a future meeting.

Council then adjourned until Monday, 16th inst., in town hall.

Havelock Loses a Good Citizen

Special to the Review.

Havelock, Dec. 16th.—The death of Mr. George W. Williams, of town, took place today at 10 a.m., after a lingering illness of several weeks. Mr Williams has been a prominent business man in this town for several years and was one of the most respected elders of the place, and his death will be greatly regretted by the citizens of the town, especially the members of the Methodist church, in which he has taken a deep interest during his life in Havelock. Service will be held at the family residence, Oak street, on Tuesday, Dec. 17th, at 8 p.m. The body will be taken to Castleton on Wednesday, where burial will take place.

The deceased is survived by a wife and one son. The bereaved ones have the deep sympathy of all their many friends.

FOR XMAS GREETING

Order your cards now and secure the best as the neatest are always sold out first. Many different styles printed with your own greeting and name, at all prices. Call and make your selection at the Review Office.

What SCIENTISTS Say Against Local Option:—

Professor A. B. MacCallum,
Lecturer on Physiology to The University of Toronto:

"The results of careful experiments show that alcohol, taken in diluted form in small doses is oxidized within the body and so supplies energy like common articles of food; and that it is incorrect to designate it as a poison."

Professor P. H. Pye-Smith,
Lecturer to Guy's Hospital Medical School, London:

"Malt liquors, for a large number of people (perhaps for most adults), do more good than harm when taken with meals. Temperance is much better than abstinence."

Professor Lafayette B. Mendel,
Yale University, New Haven:

"Man is by nature a temperate animal, and it is only by distinguishing between temperance and intemperance (i.e., use and abuse) that the evils of alcoholism can be combated. Present methods fail in this respect."

Professor T. J. Clouston,
Lecturer to The University of Scotland, Edinburgh:

"Alcohol is a food, and may in a diluted form (as in beer) be a very valuable adjunct to ordinary foods, by exciting appetite, by improving digestion, and by stimulating certain nutritive processes, e.g., the laying on of fat."

Local Option does not promote temperance---it does promote the misuse of drink.

"It should not be taught that the drinking of one or two glasses of beer or wine at meals, by a grown-up person, is dangerous; for it is not true."

Prof. (of Chemistry) W. O. Atwater
Wesleyan University.
Prof. (of Pathology) H.P. Bowditch
Harvard University.
Prof. (of Pathology) R.H. Chittenden
Yale University.
Dr. Wm. H. Welch (of Pathology)
Johns Hopkins University.

393

A HUGE BARGAIN
AT
CUBITT'S BOOK AND FANCY GOODS STORE
ON SATURDAY, DECEMBER 21st
IN A
HANDSOME PAPETERIE
FOR 19c

"CUBITT SELLS CHEAP"

IF YOUR PIANO BEARS THE NAME
"GERHARD HEINTZMAN"

It has the excellence that comes of years of experience and study, carefully and intelligently applied.

A SINGING EVEN TONE PERFECT ACTION DELICACY OF TOUCH

combined with durability and beauty of design are the distinguishable characteristics of the "Gerhard Heintzman."

In buying a piano it is the truest form of economy to get the best, the few dollars additional in the price being returned tenfold in wear, pleasure and pride of ownership. Write for catalogue.

Gerhard Heintzman, Limited
97 Yonge Street, Toronto.
W. H. ISAAC, 123 Dublin Street, Peterborough.
Local Salaried Representative. Machine 'Phone 22

Lord Kelvin is Called Home His Illness of Short Duration

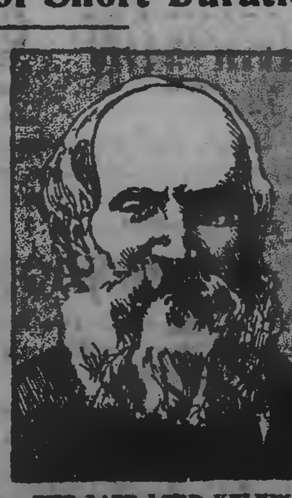
Famous Scientist Passes Away at Glasgow After Short Illness.

Connected With Scottish University For Over Sixty Years — Made Many Discoveries in Navigation and Submarine Telegraphy — Was Active to hte Last—Received Many Decorations—Leaves No Heir.

Glasgow, Dec. 18.—Lord Kelvin, the noted scientist, died yesterday.

Lord Kelvin, whose wife only recently recovered from a dangerous illness, suffered from a chill a fortnight ago. On Wednesday last serious complications developed, with but an occasional rally. Hope for his recovery was then abandoned. He lost consciousness in the afternoon and passed away peacefully.

Until the time of his fatal seizure Lord Kelvin preserved remarkable vigor of body and mind. He leaves no heir and his title becomes extinct. His first wife, married in 1852, was Margaret, daughter of Walter



THE LATE LORD KELVIN.

Crum of Thornliebank. She died in 1870. In 1874 he married Frances, daughter of Charles R. Blandy of Madeira.

The newspapers pay him the highest tribute as the foremost scientist of the age, comparable with Newton and Faraday.

William Thomson, first Lord Kelvin, was born at Belfast, Ireland, June 26, 1824. He was a celebrated mathematician and physicist, and occupied the chair of natural philosophy in Glasgow University from 1846 to 1899. He was knighted in 1866, and was created Baron Kelvin in 1892.

In the domains of heat, electricity and magnetism, he was one of the great investigators of the century. He invented a number of instruments used in navigation and deep sea exploration, and took a prominent part in the laying of the first submarine cables in the Atlantic.

For his efforts in behalf of science, Lord Kelvin has been decorated many times.

Select your candidates for aldermen

PILES CURED at HOME by New Absorption Method.

If you suffer from bleeding, itching, blind or protruding Piles, send me your address, and I will tell you how to cure yourself at home by the absorption treatment; and will also send some of this home treatment free for trial, with references from your own locality if requested. Immediate relief and permanent cure assured. Send no money but tell others of this offer. Write to-day to Mrs. M. Summers, Box P 62, Windsor Ont.

Instructive Talk Given on Banking

By Mr. John Crane Before St. Paul's Young Men's Guild

The regular monthly meeting of St. Paul's church Young Men's Guild, was held last evening.

It was generally agreed that it was the most enjoyable and well attended gathering of the Guild held so far this season.

A programme of unusual interest and merit was presented and the new pastor, Rev. Robert Pogue, was accorded a warm welcome. The president, Mr. G. B. Van Blaricom, occupied the chair. After devotional exercises conducted by Rev. Mr. Pogue, the first number on the programme was a well executed piano solo by Miss Hill, which was enthusiastically encored. Mr. Marcus Bennett gave a couple of songs in splendid voice and was followed by Misses Julia Choate and Eva Irwin, of the Peterborough Conservatory of Music, in a violin duet, which was most artistically contributed, Miss Mimms presiding at the piano. The young ladies were encored and graciously responded. Mr Charles Ackerman delighted the audience with a splendid pianoforte selection, which was loudly applauded.

Mr. John Crane gave an admirable address on "Banking," and briefly traced the history of banking from its early inception down to the present. He compared the superior system of Canada to that of the United States and spoke of the benefit of branch banks, the elasticity of our currency and the solid character of our financial institutions. He explained the issue of Dominion notes, circulation, legal tender, clearing house and other points in the management and policy of our monetary establishments.

Referring to the period of temporary stringency, Mr. Crane told of its effect across the border and how it was brought about. He stated that in Canada it was felt by the banks the state of affairs which had existed for some years could not continue on forever. The farmer when selling his wheat had bought more land. He had not paid the store keeper, who in turn had not squared up with the wholesaler, and the latter owed the bank. It was seen that this state of affairs could not go on forever and that it was time to call a halt and have matters put on a firmer and sounder basis. Mr. Crane explained the function of a bank, the important part played by the small depositor and remarked that the general managers of the thirty-five chartered banks in Canada, acting in unison, could make the financial policy of the country.

The Canadian banking system was unsurpassed; there was no doubt of its excellence from the standpoints of stability, convenience, simplicity and prudence.

At the close a cordial vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Crane for his instructive and timely talk, on motion of Mr. E. S. Clarry and Mr. G. M. Roger.

Rev. Mr. Pogue gave a short address expressing his pleasure at meeting the guildsmen, and after a few words from Mr. H. R. H. Kenner, the gathering dispersed.

They Should Try This Mixture

Home Made Remedy Which Acts Promptly on Kidneys and Bladder

Cut this out and put in some safe place, for it is valuable and worth more than anything else in the world if you should have an attack of rheumatism or bladder trouble or any derangement of the kidneys whatever.

The prescription is simple and can be made up by anyone at home. The ingredients can be had at any good prescription pharmacy and all that is necessary is to shake them well in a bottle.

Here it is: Fluid extract dandelion, one-half ounce; compound Kargon, one ounce; compound syrup of sarsaparilla, three ounces.

Take a teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime. A few doses is said to relieve almost any case of bladder trouble, frequent urination, pain and scalding, weakness and backache, pain above the kidneys, etc. It is now claimed to be the method of curing chronic rheumatism, because of its direct ad positive action upon the eliminative tissues of the kidneys. It cleanses these sponge-like organs and gives them life and power to sift and strain the poisonous waste matter and uric acid from the blood relieving the worst forms of Rheumatism and kidney and bladder troubles. The extract dandelion acts upon the stomach and liver and is used also extensively for relieving constipation and indigestion. Compound sarsaparilla cleans and enriches the blood.

As you or anyone of your family, especially the old folks, may be attacked at any time it would be wise to cut this out and save it.

A well-known local druggist is authority that this prescription is safe to use at any time.

Mix it yourself.

The Crossings Should Also be Kept Clean

"What about having the crossings kept clean?" said a local ratepayer to the Review this morning. "The merchants have been instructed to keep their pavements scrupulously clean, and, in view of this, I think the city officials should see that the crossings are kept in good condition for walking after every fall of snow. Not cleaned right to the granolithic, of course, for that would spoil the sleighing, but in a condition conducive to easy pedestrianism."

Bobcaygeon shipped a carload lot of 11,000 bushels of buckwheat to make pancakes for the Britishers.

A six-months' old colt, raised by A. Johnston, Greenwood, was sold to T. Phillips, of Essex, for $300.

LEARN DRESS-MAKING BY MAIL
in your spare time at home, or
Take a Personal Course at School.

To enable all to learn we teach on cash or instalment plan. We also teach a personal class at school once a month. Class commencing last Tuesday of each month. These lessons teaches how to cut, fit and put together any garment from the plainest shirt waist suit, to the most elaborate dress. The whole family can learn from one course. We have taught over seven thousand dress-making, and guarantee to give five hundred dollars to any one that cannot learn between the age of 14 and 40. You cannot learn dress-making as thorough as this course teaches if you work in shops for years. Beware of imitations as we employ no one outside the school. This is the only experienced Dress Cutting School in Canada and excelled by none in any other country. Write at once for particulars, as we have cut our rate one-third for a short time. Address:—

SANDERS' DRESS-CUTTING SCHOOL,
31 Erie St., Stratford, Ont., Canada.

HANDSOME CHRISTMAS CARDS AND CALENDARS

The display of Christmas cards, art calendars and fancy postal cards in the local bookstores has never been so attractive as this year, and so many beautiful designs are shown that it is hard to make a selection. Most of the works of art are from Raphael, Tuck & Sons, of London, wholesale Canadian office at Montreal.

The designs furnished by this company are so prettily and daintily carried out that they are easily the favorites and are quick sellers. The imprint on the card of Raphael, Tuck & Sons is a guarantee that the best of material, workmanship and ingenuity has been employed in the making. All of the Peterborough stationery stores carry full lines of these cards and calendars.

MISSION BAND CONCERT AND TEA A SUCCESS

Large Number Enjoyed Excellent Programme at Park St. Church.

The Mission Band of the Park street Baptist church sustained its reputation at its annual Tea and Concert. The church was packed and standing room occupied. Master Harold Hatcher was a special favourite and was called back twice. The dialogues were instructive and amusing and the choruses were good.

The Rev. A H Brace occupied the chair and Miss M. Mann and Mr. T G Gillespie took part in the opening exercises and the following report was read by Miss Nelly Hudson:

In reviewing the work of the year we feel very thankful for what has been accomplished and for the spirit and zeal for missions which seems to be instilled in many of the members hearts. During the year we have held 10 meetings. The months of July and August being excepted owing to the warm weather and the absence of many from the city. The meetings held at 4 p.m. on the first Sunday in the month were fairly well attended and very interesting. The subjects taken up have related to our work both at home and abroad. We have 57 names on the roll. In January it was decided instead of our annual election of officers we still retain the officers of last year, viz:—

Hon. President—Rev. A H Brace.
President—Miss M Mann.
Vice-President—Miss Maud Everson.
Treasurer—Miss M Gillespie.
Secretary—Miss Nelly Hudson.
Organist—Miss Gertie Buxton.
Assist. Organist—Miss E Gillespie.

In May we were pleased to welcome back Mr. Alex Haddow and Mr. Roy Jackson from Woodstock College for the summer months, who worked faithfully while with us.

At this meeting Miss Mabel Gillespie and Mr. Roy Jackson were nominated as delegates to the Association held in Port Hope. They brought back a very interesting and instructive report.

On Sept. 24th, the Band met at Mrs. Thos. Aitkins' to consider new plans for increasing the membership with the following result:—

Roll to be revised.

Band to be divided into five or six companies, having a captain over each, responsible for his company.

The companies to be appointed by the officers of the Band.

To take up a country as a topic for two or three meetings. Each company to take turns in preparing the programme.

Programme to be carried out in the form of a responsive exercise.

That we support a native student by special offerings.

And now, as we enter upon another year's work our desire is that we may not only support a student but that we may double our contributions to missions.

N. HUDSON,
Secretary.

The following programme was very heartily enjoyed:—

Recitation—Mary Barrie.
Recitation—May Corsey.
Dialogue, "A Bag of Wishes"—Seven girls.
Recitation, "The Afternoon Tea"—Rena Johnston.
Recitation—Viola Palmer.
Solo—Harold Hatcher.
Recitation, "Two Offerings"—Gertie Killingbeck.
Dialogue, "Unjust Suspicions"—Six young ladies.
Solo—Harold Hatcher.
Recitation—M. Gillespie.
Dialogue, "The Pumpkin Pie"—Four boys.
Reading—Miss Edith Gillespie.
Dialogue, "Grumbling at Lessons"—Seven girls.
Recitation—"Mike's Prayer"—Lillian Tranter.
Recitation—Mr. Chas Barrie.
Dialogue, "Mrs. Muggins"—Three young ladies.

Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID
IS A TABLET TAKEN INTERNALLY FOR THE CURE OF PILES

Guaranteed, or money refunded. Correspondence confidential. Booklet on Piles, with copy of Guarantee and Testimonials mailed Free on application. $1 a bottle @ all dealers, or prepaid from THE WILSON-FYLE CO., Ltd., Niagara Falls, Ont.

Sold by James Lynch, Druggist, Peterborough.

BELL RINGERS PROVIDE FINE ENTERTAINMENT

Delighted Audience at Conservatory of Music Hall—A Musical Treat

The musical bell ringers who appeared under the auspices of St. John's A.Y.P.A., at the Conservatory of Music Hall last night, gave one of the most varied, unique and artistic programmes ever heard in Peterborough. They are not only artist soloists of the highest order, but their different numbers were very appealing and refined. To attempt to enumerate the various selections would be almost impossible, and each individual one was possessed of distinct merit.

While the five are known as bell ringers, the title seems by no means comprehensive enough, their repertoire of entertainment features covers a very wide and interesting range.

The programme opened with a bell ringing selection by all of the five performers, and was a surprise in the mater of tone and expression. The number was enthusiastically applauded, as were all of the succeeding ones, practically every selection presented being encored.

Among the instruments played both in solo and chorus, were the violin, trombone, cornet, bass horn, xylophone, chimes and musical glasses. A vocal selection, with bell accompaniment, "Clover Blossoms," was also sung, and this pretty popular number, which is one of the latest published, made a distinct hit with the audience.

Comic and character monologues and songs were rendered by entertainer of the Eckhardts, and his trick instrumental work was especially clever. The pianist played the accompaniments in an admirable manner.

For a programme of worth and pleasing quality, as well as one that cannot fail to appeal to every auditor, the one given by the Swiss bell ringers last night would be hard to rival.

You have heard the Sailor Boys' plea, buy to-day for your dinner to-morrow "Sailor Boy" Canned Goods, Tomatoes Corn, Peas and Salmon. Your money does not buy better Goods. Do you get "Sailor Boy" or substitute?

Important Work in Mission Field

Rev. J. G. Potter Gives Outline of What is Being Done

At St. Andrew's church Sunday morning Rev. J. G. Potter gave an interesting survey of the important work being done by the Presbyterian Church of Canada in the Foreign and Home Mission fields of the church. The work is ever expanding, and at present embraces efforts in India, China, Korea, Formosa, New Hebrides, Trinidad, British Guiana. The foreign forces include 148 missionaries, 21 medical missionaries, 288 native workers (264 of them being new), 6,000 communicants, and 2,500 catechumens, 153 schools, with 6,601 scholars. The medical work is a real surprise. Patients to the number of 26,376 were treated in various hospitals, while the visitations and treatments in dispensaries and homes far exceed this number.

In the Home Mission field the need is always pressing for Canada is growing all the time. Last year there were 215,912 new comers, distributed as follows:—

British—97,757. Of these 18,637 were Scotch and 5,000 Irish.

Continental—54,373, and from the United States 63,782.

The Presbyterian Church is seeking to do her share in meeting the needs of the stranger, and from the patriotic and Christian standpoint, it must not hold back.

Reference was made to the great enthusiasm of the laymen in their missionary movement, and Mr. Potter expressed the hope that a similar work should be carried forward here as that so heartily supported in Toronto.

The Christmas offerings on Dec. 22nd and 29th will be devoted to the Forward Movement in Missions.

LONGBOAT WILL MEET JACK TAIT

Indian Hotfoot After the West Ender—Fred Simpson May be Asked to Run

According to the Toronto Star, Jack Tait, the West End Y.M.C.A. runner, will have a chance to meet Longboat at an early date. The Indian's manager does not want Tom to run until spring, but the Onondago want to get after Tait and show the West Ender that he is not the only thing along the line. From here it looks as if Tait would give Longboat a merry chase for any distance around five miles. But then that is not the Indian's distance, and it would be no discredit to Tom to be beaten in a short jaunt. Fifteen, twenty and twenty-five miles are more to his liking.

Part of the Star's article is as follows:

There are a whole lot of people, too, especially Old Country people, who say that the Irish-Canadians carefully kept Tom Coley and the Indian apart all summer, lest the little pocket Hercules should take the Bronze Wonder's measure.

Well! Coley is probably the next best man in Canada, if not in America. He says he can beat the Indian, but Tom only laughs, and yesterday urged the club to give Coley a chance at 10 miles, too.

"I'll run Tait five miles one night, and if he and Coley will run 10 miles the next night, I'll take the winner on the third night, said the Indian yesterday.

A. T. Hemmer, Ed. Kerr, and Tim O'Rourke, of the Club Executive, were inclined to agree to the proposition, but Tom Flanagan don't want to race the Indian any more. The matter will be let simmer a few days, to see how things shape up for the indoor carnival, and it may find a place on that programme.

At any rate Tait and Coley will both get a chance before the flowers bloom in the spring, and Art Burn, of Calgary, has been written to asking if he wants to get in and meet Fred. Simpson, of Peterborough, Ben Howard, of Sunderland I.C.A.C. or Hilton Green, the winner to go against the winner of the Longboat-Tait-Coley engagement.

We have just received a few cars of specially prepared Coal for ranges and small stoves, a little smaller than Nut and larger than No 2 Nut

Price, Per ton $6.50

If your stove has a good draught, give it a trial.

ONTARIO COAL CO. LIMITED PETERBORO

CITY OFFICE: 387 Water St. Bell Phone 325
HEAD OFFICE AND YARDS: Cor Aylmer and Wolfe Sts. Phones, Bell 116, Mac. 325

ONTARIO COAL CO., Limited
A. J. McCLELLAN C. CURRIER G. K. RACKHAM

The Happenings in Keene Village

Farmers Institute Meetings—Rink in Good Shape—Other Notes

Keene, Dec. 17.—Mr. A. St. A. Smith spent Sunday in Peterborough.

Misses Margaret McIntyre and Nellie Renwick visited friends in Lakefield last week.

Arrangements are being made for a dance in Lang town hall on Monday evening, Dec. 23rd.

Mrs W. J. Main and Master Gordon Main spent Monday in the village the guests of Mrs. A. Campbell.

Court Otonabee, No. 1,319, I.O.F., will hold its regular meeting on Dec. 24th. A full attendance of members is requested.

Mr Wm. Carter, Edmonton, Alta., who only came to Keene a week before the death of his father, Mr. Wm. Carter, sr., who died last Monday, was hastily summoned back to the West to attend the bedside of his son, who had suddenly taken seriously ill.

The annual Farmers' Institute meetings were held in the town hall Wednesday afternoon and evening. The attendance at the afternoon meeting was rather small, but in the evening the hall was packed. A good musical programme was rendered in the evening.

Rev. Mr Harcourt, the missionary, whom the Presbyterian congregations of Keene and Westwood support, will speak upon his work in the West on Sunday, Dec. 29th, in the Presbyterian church.

Mr J C Read attended the Guelph Winter Fair last week.

Miss Annie Hore, who has been attending Whitby Ladies' College, came home for the Christmas holidays last week.

Mrs. James Armstrong and Miss Gladys Armstrong, Keewatin, are the guests of Mrs. R. McIntyre.

Mr Richard Fife, of Edmonton, Alta., is the guest of his father, Mr. James Fife.

Mr. J. R. McIntyre began last week to ice the skating rink and hopes to have skating Saturday night.

Arrangements ar ebeing made for a concert under the auspices of the Methodist Sunday school in the town hall Monday evening, Dec. 3rd.

SKATING AT THE BROCK ST. RINK TO-NIGHT

Band Will be in Attendance—Good ice is Assured

The Brock street rink will be open for skating to-night. The ice will be in good condition and a big crowd will be on hand for the first skate of the season. The 57th regiment band will be in attendance and will provide an abundance of music. A large number of season tickets have been sold and first class ice and music are assured.

Christmas Slippers.

There's nothing that will make a more sensible Christmas Gift than Footwear. Our slipper show, at this season is a big thing—worth coming to see.

MEN'S SLIPPERS
Operas, Everett and Romeo styles, black kid, tan kid, patent leathers,
$1.00, 1.25, 1.50, 2.00

WOMEN'S SLIPPERS
House Slippers, Turkish Slippers and Juliets, Slippers for Dress Functions, all the new Ties and Pump effects, chic, handsome and exclusive creations,
50c to $3.00

J. T. STENSON
364 George St.

PRICE OF Coal FOR OCTOBER IS $7.50 Ton, cash with order

THE PETERBORO FUEL & CARTAGE CO
LIMITED.
162 Charlotte-st. Telephones—(Bell) 201, 270. (Machine)—270.
134 Aylmer-st. Tel. (Bell) 362.

D.L. & W's SCRANTON COAL

SOLD BY R. HICKS & CO. AT
$7.50 Per Ton
for Month of October, in lots of not less than half ton.
This is the Standard Anthracite. 60 % of Coal sold in Ontario is SCRANTON.
Terms Positively Cash.

R. HICKS & CO.
Coal Builders' Supplies, Etc.

COAL AND WOOD
Best of Coal—Best of Wood
COAL FOR OCTOBER
$7.50 PER TON
J. E. A. FITZGERALD
Cor. Brock and Bethune Sts
BOTH PHONES 111

Palace Livery Barn

For the smartest and most up-to-date LIVERY OUTFITS, at reasonable rates, go to

TOM FOSTER & CO.
Successors to Bruce Lee & Co
Rear of Snowden House.

AUCTION SALE OF HORSES BUGGIES, HARNESS, ETC., EVERY SATURDAY
Phones—Bell 286—Machine 289

Steer Straight
for the best Beer ever brewed, and you are sure to come to us! Our Bottled Beer is "bottled health." It gives vigor and strength, good appetite and high spirits. It is the best medicine for the weak and the best food for the strong. Keep our excellent in your home as a beverage and you will have no need of a doctor. Nothing but the purest ingredients used in the brewing.

THE
CALCUTT BREWING AND MALTING CO
of Ashburnham Limited

O Coffee! goddess of the breakfast table—that delighteth the taste and refresheth the body
—I drink to thee in thy perfect form,
Chase & Sanborn's
SEAL BRAND
COFFEE.

FACTS—JUST PLAIN, POINTED FACTS

BOYS' SUITS

Good words our Good Boy's Clothing are coming back to us in good business, what better proof could you ask of our value-giving than these.

BUSTER BROWN STYLE

Gray mixed Tweeds, plain, well made and trimmed, sizes 22 to 25 .... 3 25
Gray stripe Tweed, well made and trimmed, 22 to 25 3.50
Blue and black Serge, well made and trimmed sizes 22 to 26 .... 4.00

2-PIECE NORFOLK STYLE

Dark gray stripe Tweed, sizes from 25 to 30, special 2.00
Gray mixed Tweed, pepper and salt effects, all sizes, 24 to 30, Special 2.50
Brown Scotch Tweed effect, double breasted Norfolk, sizes 26 to 29, prices 4.00, 4.50, 5.00
3 piece Double Breasted Styles—dark gray check and stripe Tweed, Lion Brand, with double elbows and double seats and knees, well padded and well made, sizes 28 to 33 .... 4.50 and 5.00
Dark gray over plaids and dark stripes, the newest designs for boys' suits, double breasted, sizes 28 to 33 .... 6.00, 6.50, 7.00
Boys' and Youth's Reefers—Dark gray and black Frieze, Tweed lined, all sizes up to 28 .... 2.00, 2.25
Dark gray and black Frieze, Tweed lined, 2 75

MERRELL & MEREDITH
CLOTHIERS, FURNISHERS and HATTERS
375-377 GEORGE ST. PHONE 35

He Took Orders for Wood, But There Has Been no Delivery

One day last week a well dressed man called at several houses on Cedar street, taking orders for slabs. He offered to sell the wood a little cheaper than the local men, and said that he obtained his supply from Mr. Kelly, of Bridgenorth.

In some instances money was paid over, on the understanding that the slabs were to be delivered on Saturday last. Since the orders were taken, neither man nor wood has put in an appearance, and the good people who paid over their cash are somewhat uneasy. It is to be hoped that the stranger will either deliver the goods or return the wherewithal.

Principal and Assistant Secured for Norwood H. S.

Mr. MacLean Gets the Principalship at $1,200 and Miss. Dell the Position of Assistant Teacher at $700 Per Year.

Norwood, Dec. 16.—The Board of Education met on above date in J. L. Squires' office. Members present; John Doherty, Alf. Finlay, Parker Stevenson, D. Campbell, E. P. Coffe, A. S. Harrison, John Elliott, A. J. Robertson, wm. Webster and J. L. Squires, chairman.

The chairman placed before the board four applications for position as assistant teacher in the High School.

After all the applications had been read and discussed, Mr. Cuffe moved, seconded by Mr. Harrison, that Miss Bertha Dell be engaged for the H. S. vacancy at a salary of $700 per year.—Carried.

The chairman reported that Mr. Seaton was unable to accept the position of H. S. principal.

He also reported that Mr. MacLean had been procured, and had accepted by telegram at $1,200 per year.

Moved by Mr. Robertson, seconded by Mr. Campbell, that the board confirm the action of the principal.—Carried.

Mr. Cuffe notified the board that the H. S. required coal. Mr. Nicoll and Mr. Roxburgh had stove coal at $7.50.

Mr. Cuffe was instructed to purchase the coal from Mr. Roxburgh.

Moved by Mr. Cuffe, seconded by Mr. Doherty, that the chairman appoint a committee to draw up a testimonial for Mr. Davidson, in answer to his request.—Carried.

Accounts:

K. G. Thomson, telephoning re engaging teachers ... .$	7.35
K. G. Thomson, advertising for principal	11.47

Moved by Dr. Robertson, seconded by Mr. Webster, that the above accounts be paid, if found correct, on order of the chairman.

T. J. Bahal, balance re furnace and repairs...... ....$	42.71
Ira Cumming, for repairs	7.53
J. Finlay & Sons, [illegible]	2.50

Moved by P. W. Stevenson and E. P. Cuffe, that the accounts be referred to the respective committees, and if found correct, be paid.—Carried.

Moved by Dr. Robertson, seconded by A. S. Harrison, that the chairman look into the matter of maps required for the public school.

Board adjourned.

Mr. D. McLean, of Lindsay, was in town last week on business.

Mrs. Mullon, of Montreal, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Stevenson, Queen street.

Mr. D. Anderson, of Toronto, is visiting his mother, Mrs. A. Anderson.

Mrs. J. B. Pearce has returned, after a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Campbell.

The Sunbeam choir of the Methodist church are preparing for an entertainment on Christmas evening.

Word was received today stating the sudden death of Mr. Robt. Sloane, of Duluth. The particulars have not yet been heard, but it is expected the remains will be brought here for burial.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Davidson will leave for their future home in Sudbury on Dec 28th.

Mrs. Miller is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nicoll, of this place.

Miss Gertie Squire, of Montreal, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Squire.

Mrs. J. Patterson has returned, after two weeks' visit with friends in Tweed.

Miss Maude Beavis, of Lakefield, is visiting friends in Norwood and the vicinity.

Miss M. MacLachlan is spending a few days in Toronto.

We are glad to say that Rev. G. A. McLennan, who has been seriously ill for some time, is able to be out again.

The merchants of Norwood are all getting their windows decorated, and some look very attractive.

Mr. Welcombe took his little daughters, Lena and Reta to Toronto last week, to see Santa Claus.

Mr. Wm. Fleming is expecting to have the rink in good skating order in a few days.

XMAS GREETING CARDS
Leave your order for Greeting cards now at the Review Office. Still some pretty designs in stock, at most reasonable prices.

Union Elected Officers for 1908

Bricklayers and Masons Had Important Meeting Last Night

At the regular meeting of the Bricklayers' and Masons' Union held last night, the following officers were elected:

President—A. H. Webb.
Vice president—Wm. Sharp.
Corresponding Sec. — Wm. Stevens.
Fin Sec.—H. H. Hillier
Treasurer—G. Curtis.
Tyler—Wm. Doucett.
Trustees — J. J. Hartley, James Bradley and John Robson.

The union intends holding a banquet later in the winter, announcement of which will be made later.

ST. ANDREW'S YOUNG MEN

Guild Held an Interesting Meeting Last Night

The Young Men's Guild of St. Andrew's Church held an interesting meeting last night. The president, Mr. Ernest Reid, was in the chair, and the feature of the evening was the treatment of literary selection by Mr. Rutherford, of the Trent Canal office. He gave a very interesting address, which was greatly appreciated season's work.

Considerable routine business was transacted, and plans made for the season's work.

SELECTION OF JURORS FOR THE SESSIONS

Completed in Judge's Chambers Yesterday Afternoon—120 Chosen

In the judge's chambers at the Court House yesterday afternoon a committee consisting of His Honor Judge Weller, County Crown Attorney Wood, Mayor McWilliams, Warden McNulty, County Treasurer Ed. M. Elliott and City Treasurer Adams, completed the selection of jurymen to be notified as required for the general sessions of the County Court in June and December. One hundred and twenty were chosen.

On Thursday morning at 10 o'clock, a meeting will be held in County Treasurer Elliott's office to ratify the selections made.

The Workmen Elect Officers

Peterborough Lodge No. 135 Held Meeting Last Night

At the regular meeting of Peterborough Lodge No. 135, Ancient Order of United Workmen, held last evening, officers for the ensuing year were elected. They will be installed at the next regular meeting on January 14th. The following are the new officers:—

M.W.—Jas. Mulholland
Foreman.—A. W. Hinds
Overseer.—Rev. A. H. Brace.
Recorder.—T. G.Gillespie
Financier.—S. A. Otto
Treas.—W. C. Barrie
Guide.—W. Robinson.
I.W.—J. J. Turner, sr.
O.W.—Geo. K. Throop
Rep. to Grand Lodge.—Jas. Mulholland. Alternate—J. J. Turner, sr.
Auditor.—T. G. Gillespie and Rev. A. H. Brace.
Physician.—Drs. Bradd and Eastwood.

Committed on First Charge

Prof. Shepherd Will Have to Stand Trial for Fortune Telling

Prof. Shepherd was committed for trial on the first charge preferred against him, that of telling fortunes, at this afternoon's session of the police court, and the evidence in the seduction case is now being heard by the magistrate.

ITALIANS LOST ABOUT $250 BY SHANTY FIRE

Blaze Started After They Had Left for Their Work

On Satuday morning when the seven Italians engaged in digging clay near Drummond's station for the Lakefield Ceement Company, had left the shanty, provided for their accommodation, to go to work the shanty caught fire and was burned. The men entailed a loss of about $250 in clothing and money. The only cause to which the fire can be attributed is the fact that the stove and stovepipes were old and defective.

OBITUARY

MARK McILROY.

The death occurred last night of Mark McIlroy an inmate of the Peterborough Protestant Home, after a lengthy illness. He had been in the Home for some time.

The funeral arrangements are not yet made.

HOCKEYISTS AGAIN WEAR STEEL BLADES

Locals Have Good Workout at Brock St. Rink—Ice in Good Shape

There were doings at the Brock street rink last night. The Peterborough Strathconas had the first practice of the season and a dozen men cavorted up and down the glassy surface for nearly two hours. Jack Thirnbeck had a fine sheet of ice, and deserves credit for the good foundation and smooth surface he has secured with only a week of preparation and no frost worth speaking of at that.

Only three of last year's city league champions were out, Weatherstone, McMillan and Wilson. "Pete," and the light haired boy set up a lively pace and should be even better than last year. Dusty, of last year's Charlotte street team, was also prominent, and Clark, a former Stirling man, but now residing here, showed up well. He has a bunch of speed and created a good impression.

The players out last night were Weatherstone, McMillan, Wilson, Mann, Derocher, Dusty, McFadden, Gilman, Quinlan, Clarke, Staunton, Curtis, and one or two others.

ATHLETICS

M. J. Farrie, who anticipates a go-as-you please match with W. McGee in the near future, is in active training for the event, and this morning walked to Nassau and ran back. He works out regularly every second second day.

HOCKEY

NO HOCKEY PRACTICE.

On account of the Brock street rink being open for skating to-night there will be no hockey practice.

SNOW SHOE TRAMP

The R.T.D.C. Snowshoe Club will meet to-night at the club house at 7.30 sharp. Route, out by the boundary line and home, via Chemong road.

He Knew Her.

The conductor looked at the thin man.

"Do you see that stout woman at the other end of the car, the one with the monkey hat?" he asked.

"I think I see the one you mean," the thin man responded.

"There, she's looking this way," said the conductor. "Well, sir, I admire that woman."

"You do?"

"Yes, I do. She may have a squint and wear bad fitting clothes and big shoes, yet I admire her."

"Why?"

"She knows how to get off a car the right way, and that's why. She's too stout, and her hair is ratty, and she hasn't any taste, but when she steps down from the back platform I never worry. I know she'll land all right. I'm dead sure she isn't going to sit down in the mud and ask me for my number. That's why I admire her. Here she comes now. Watch her when she gets off."

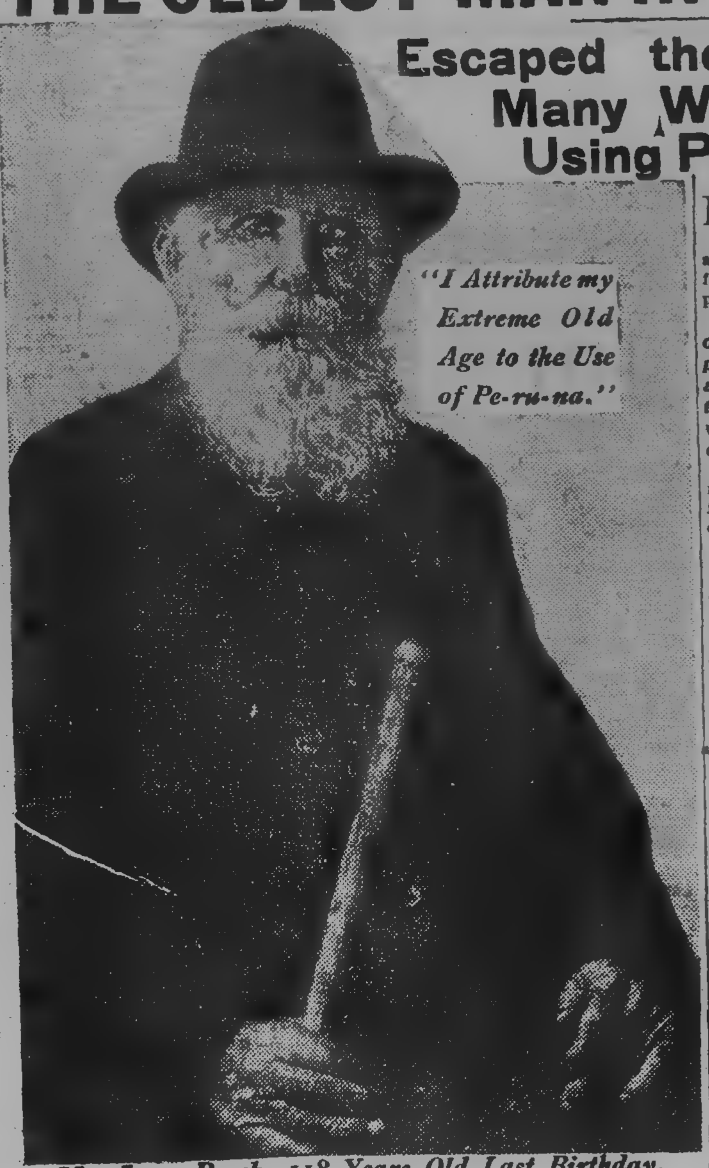
The stout woman came down the aisle and briskly descended to the street. And the conductor, with his hand on the bell rope, winked approvingly at the slim man.

Then the stout woman looked around.

"Come, George," she called, and the slim man meekly followed her.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Simple Minded Kurds.

Some of the peculiar traits of the Kurds of Asia Minor are described by a traveler: "If it were possible to imagine two colors more distinct than black and white it would be possible to imagine two characters more widely differing than those of the Arab and Kurd. The pure Kurd is the most unsophisticated and gullible person in the world so long as you keep away from the material issues. His respect for a man who can read and write is almost pitiable. The Kurds are on the whole blunt and somewhat uncouth, silent and quite incapable of falsehood. If they do wrong—and they often do—they admit the fault in the simplest and most unaffected way. I had a muleteer who was honest, civil and incorrigibly idle. 'Did you ever kill a man?' I asked him one day. Yes; sixteen on the Khazat road when I was a deserter from the army,' came the reply in a voice absolutely unmoved. 'You were a robber?' 'Yes, but now, praise be to God, I am married and a muleteer.'"



THE OLDEST MAN IN AMERICA

Escaped the Terrors of Many Winters By Using Pe-ru-na.

"I Attribute my Extreme Old Age to the Use of Pe-ru-na."

Mr. Isaac Brock, 118 Years Old Last Birthday.

ISAAC BROCK, a citizen of McLennan county, Texas, has lived for 118 years.

For many years he resided at Bosque Falls, eighteen miles west of Waco, but now lives with his son-in-law at Valley Mills, Texas.

Some time ago, by request, Uncle Isaac came to Waco and sat for his picture, holding in his hand a stick cut from the grave of General Andrew Jackson.

Mr. Brock is a dignified old gentleman, showing few signs of decrepitude.

His family Bible is still preserved, and it shows that the date of his birth was written 118 years ago.

Born before the United States were formed.
Saw 22 presidents elected.
Pe-ru-na has protected him from all sudden changes.
Veteran of four wars.
Shod a horse when 99 years old.
Always conquered the grip with Pe-ru-na.
Witness in a land suit at the age of 110 years.
Believes Peruna the greatest remedy of the age for catarrhal troubles.

IN speaking of his good health and extreme old age, Mr. Brock says:

"After a man has lived in the world as long as I have, he ought to have found out a great many things by experience. I think I have done so.

"One of the things I have found out to my entire satisfaction is the proper thing for ailments that are due directly to the effects of the climate. For 118 years I have withstood the changeable climate of the United States.

"I have always been a very healthy man, but, of course, subject to the affections which are due to sudden changes in the climate and temperature.

"As for Dr. Hartman's remedy, Peruna, I have found it to be the best, if not the only reliable remedy for these affections. It has been my standby for many years, and I attribute my good health and extreme old age to this remedy.

"It exactly meets all my requirements. It protects me from the evil effects of sudden changes; it gives me strength; it keeps my blood in good circulation. I have come to rely upon it almost entirely for the many little things for which I need medicine.

"When epidemics of la grippe first began to make their appearance in this country I was a sufferer from this disease.

"I had several long sieges with the grip. At first I did not know that Peruna was a remedy for this disease. When I heard that la grippe was epidemic catarrh, I tried Peruna for la grippe and found it to be just the thing."

In a later letter, Mr. Brock writes:

"I am well and feeling as well as I have for years. I would not be without Peruna."

Yours truly,
Isaac Brock,

A letter dated July 8, 1906, written for Mr. Brock by his wife, Sarah J. Brock, states:

"Last winter I had just gotten up out of a spell of sickness, when I commenced taking Peruna. I think it improved my health very much."

In a postscript, Mrs. Brock adds: "He receives a great many letters inquiring about what Peruna will do. I do not answer them all, as I think they can get a bottle and try it."

Ask Youy Druggist for Free Pruna Almanac for 1908.

PROTESTANT HOME GETS LARGE GRANT

Receives $2,000 From the Nicholls Estate—Other Donations

The Board of Management of the Peterborough Protestant Home, gratefully acknowledge the following donations:

Richard Hall, from the Nicholls estate, $2,000.
Mr. Fletcher, $11.00.
Alexander Dawson, $3.00
J. Girven, bag of apples.
A friend, coffee and tea.
A friend, clothing.
Mrs. J. J. Howden, clothing.
St. John's church, cake.
Mrs. H. A. Harmer, prunes.
Mrs. (Dr.) Burnham, Toronto papers.

Donations of clothing and Christmas cheer, especially of decorations and things for their Christmas tree, will be much appreciated by the old women and men now in the home.

STAMP DEPARTMENT WILL BE OPEN AT NIGHT

For the convenience of those who desire to send parcels through the mails and cannot get to the post office during the day Miss Mowry, who is in charge of the stamp department, will be at the office from Thursday until Tuesday night from 7 o'clock until 8.30 o'clock.

A SECOND THOUGHT

Should convince you that the place for genuine values of lasting quality in CHRISTMAS GIFTS is where the most select stock is carried. See our North Window for the finest display of Silverware to be found in Peterborough.

Such Remembrances as Choice Cutlery, Skates, Hockey Sticks, Pucks, Carpet Sweepers, etc., are always appreciated by the recipient. Give appreciated Gifts.

PETERBOROUGH HARDWARE CO.

COMMON SENSE GIFTS

If you want to make two families genuinely happy this holiday season, try giving the old cook stove that has given you years of service, to some needy household, and present the good wi' with a

PANDORA RANGE

You will thus make two homes happy, especially your own where the great comfort of using the Pandora Range will be greatly appreciated.

ADAMSON & DOBBIN
NEW BRICK BLOCK—SIMCOE STREET

UNIQUE GOODS AT CHINA HALL

A Present
To be a real pleasure should be something new and dainty. A surprise as well as a gift. These abound at China Hall.

For 10c
Cream Jugs, Fancy Plates, China Cups and Saucers, Fern Pots, Spoon Trays, Tea Pots, Stands, Bon Bons, Etc.

For 15c
Bon Bons, Jugs, Pin Trays, China Cups and Saucers, Vases, Ornaments, Spoons, Trays, Etc.

For 25c
Sugar and Cream Sets, Vases, Cake Plates, Tea Pots, Hot Water Jugs, Ornaments, Jardinieres, Etc.

For $1.00
Fancy Lamps, Lemonade Sets, Biscuit Jars, Cocoa Pots, Fern Pots, Jardinieres, Etc.

For $2.00
Cocoa Sets, 13 pieces; Toilet Sets; Berry Sets, 13 pieces; Lamps, Coffee Sets, Ornaments, Etc.

CHRISTMAS BARGAINS AT CHINA HALL

GET THE LATEST

The Review Supplies the Correct Things in Wedding Invitations, Programmes, Personal Stationery, Etc. . . . .

THE DAILY REVIEW

VOL LV., NO. 141 PETERBOROUGH, ONT., CANADA, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 19, 1907 TEN CENTS PER WEEK

LUMBER and BUILDING MATERIAL of all kinds. Shingles, Scantling, Joists and Bill Stuff. Mouldings, Casings and Base, and all kinds of finish. Boxes and Box Shooks.

ALF. McDONALD ESTATE
Point St. Charles Mill, Peterborough.

Ladies' Belts

In Silk, Leather and Elastic, specially priced and boxed free.

25c to $2.50

THE GOLDEN LION STORE

CHRISTMAS STORE NEWS

Fancy Neckwear

The choicest of styles for Xmas Gifts, daintily boxed

25c to $2.00

In Waist Silks and Fancy Waistings We Lead

Rich Fancy Silks

In 5 yard lengths, in pretty gift boxes, regular up to $7.50. Special Xmas price 5.00

Fancy Wool Waistings

Fine Wool Delaine and Albatross Cloth, white, black and colored grounds, embroidered figures, yd., .50 and .75

Chic Umbrellas

A gift with a lasting remembrance, choice handles, strong frames, durable coverings, specially priced for Xmas selling 2.00 to 6.50

Drawn Work Linens

The linen warehouse offers special values—exquisite hand drawn work on pure Irish Linen, Doylies, Centre Pieces, Runners, Tray Cloths, 5 o'Clocks Etc., .10 to 3.50

Battenburg Linens

Beautiful hand made goods, direct from Belgium—Pure Linen Centres, Doylies, Centre Pieces, round and square, 5 o'Clocks, .50 to 12.00

Wool Blankets

Sensible Gifts, are they not? Prices here are not exorbitant. They range from per pair 2.50 to 6.50

Comforters

Down and cotton filled. We have to offer the best goods at the very least prices. A warm welcome will be given to this gift. Special Xmas prices are 1.25 to 10.00

Lace Curtains

Are practical gifts and need not be extravagant. The newest styles and best values are here. Special Xmas prices per pair .50 to 17.50

A Few Timely Hints on HOW TO PLEASE HER

Give her one of the "Nearest Things to a Woman's Heart," something to fix up the home.

Parquet Rugs and Mats

Ever think of a Rug for a Christmas Gift? If not, visit our fourth floor and feast your eyes on the grandest showing in Peterborough—So many styles and varieties we cannot enumerate them here. The Xmas prices range from .50 to 40.00

Purses and Handbags

The latest productions of the leather craftsman's art from Paris and New York, real and imitation Alligator, Monkey Skin, Real Seal Skin, etc., in white, colors and black, prices range from .25 to 6.00

Armenian Hand Embroidery

Superb hand work on bolting cloth and satin, made in Armenia by native women in the British Missions.

Doylies, .50, .75 and 1.00
Centres and Cushion Tops, 4.50, 5.00 and 8.00

Kid Gloves

Of course nothing more sure of pleased acceptance when of a reliable make and bought at FAIR'S.

Reyniers and Perrin's best is what we keep—exchanged with pleasure if size or color not right. boxed free, per pair 1.00 to 3.00

Our Fancy Goods Display will solve many a perplexing problem for you What shall I give? Easily and economically answered here. Come to look or to buy, you will be equally welcome.

Robert Fair & Co.
383 George Street Limited

Wanted

WANTED

AT ONCE good general servant for a family of two, must be an experienced cook, none other need apply. Mrs. Jas. Hamm, opp. Registry Office 436 Sheridan. 2td

WANTED

ORGANIST for Knox church Duties to commence first of January. Apply by letter only to undersigned stating salary expected. J. W. Bennett, Clerk of Session, Drawer 1136, Peterborough 3d

For Sale or To Rent

FOR SALE

TYPEWRITER, latest model American Oliver, brand new. Good discount off lowest selling price for a quick sale. Apply Review Office. tdf

FOR SALE

FIRST-CLASS PIANO for sale. Price reasonable. Apply at this office for particulars.

TO RENT

NO. 535 Downie Street. Recently occupied by Lambert Lynn, Esq., C. E. Pretty little house, Hardwood floors, all modern improvements. D. W. Dumble or Wm. Might. 5d

TO RENT

BRICK HOUSE AT 77 WATER ST., bath and electric light. Immediate possession. Apply to J. J. TURNER & SONS, Tent Manufacturers, George Street. 3d

TO RENT

A FEW FINE, WELL LIGHTED AND HEATED ROOMS at the Y. M. C. A. for rent from $1.50 to $2.00 a week. 6td

FOR SALE

PIANO CASE ORGAN, double the usual volume, (8 sets reeds) good as new, less than half price on easy weekly or monthly payments. A nice Christmas present easy to buy. 27 Park St., corner Park and Parnell. tf

Lost and Found

LOST

PURSE containing Note and Door Key. Finder please leave at Review Office.

LOST

BETWEEN E. F. MASON & CO. MAIN STORE and south store a fifty pound bag of sugar on Monday evening. Any information will be gladly received at any E. F. Mason Co. stores. 2d

LOST

WILL THE PERSON who was seen carrying away the Sable Throw-over from the table in Secretary's office in the Y.W.C.A., please return t once and avoid further trouble.

General

"DON'T BURN THEM"

We will buy all kinds of Second-hand boots and shoes

JAY'S SECOND-HAND STORE
390 Aylmer Street

International Correspondence Schools
Of Scranton, Penn.

Industrial Science Taught by Mail.

LOCAL OFFICE - - 430 George Street
R. C. BALFOUR, Representative

CHEAP HOUSES

If money is low and rent high, call at our office and see if you can't buy.

A good lot and comfortable house, $50 down and easy payments.

A lot and 6 roomed house, $100 and Six Dollars a month

A new 2 story, nice modern red brick house, $250

A 1½ story red brick with half acre garden, on easy terms, $500

A half acre garden on easy terms. Others at good value up to $5,000

Companies Good as the Best in all lines of Insurance but Life. Rates moderate.

R. G. Ivey, Special Agent
386 George St. Phone 2 Bell W. MIGHT

PETERBOROUGH LAUNDRY

The quality of our work is our special pride, and makes lasting customers. If you are unacquainted with it, telephone 65 and our rig will call. After that you'll know what we can do . . . .

179 Charlotte St. Phone 65

CHRISTMAS IS COMING!

A nice pair of Snowshoes or a good Toboggan would make a most acceptable present to lady, gentleman, girl or boy. We carry a very large assortment. Call and see them.

J. J. TURNER & SONS
TENT MANUFACTURERS
George Street. Peterborough

ALL THINGS ARE NOW READY

GEORGE R. RECORD
PRACTICAL
FRENCH DRY CLEANER AND PRESSER

Ladies' and Gentlemen's Garments and Household Articles cleaned and guaranteed not to fade color or shrink any material. Charges moderate. Goods called for and delivered. Telephone 669.

NEW BRICK BLOCK, 173 SIMCOE ST.
Only Complete Dry Cleaning Plant in City

A. BROWN & CO.,
The Real Estate Agents, 396 Water Street

$100 will secure good Cottage with large lot 50x200
$500 will secure an up-to-date House with all modern improvements.
$1,000 will purchase good Cottage and large lot
$600 will secure Cottage, Stable and 4 acres good land near city.

We have some great snaps in Houses, Farms and City lots for sale and to rent.

Fire, Life and Accident Insurance.

Bell Phone 126 and 474 B. Machine 117.

STOVES, RANGES
—AND—
HEATERS
Enamel and Tinware
Plumbing and Eavetroughing

HUTCHINSON-STURGEON CO
Bell and Machine 'Phones 235 342 George Street

For Sale or To Rent
AT REASONABLE PRICES

Three small farms, good soil, suitable for gardening purposes, close to city. Also a few small, comfortable, dwelling houses, and choice building lots, well situated in good localities.

Properties sold, purchased or exchanged.

Private Funds to Loan on Real Estate.

INSURANCE

Agents for reliable Fire, Life, Accident, Plate Glass and Liability Insurance Companies. For particulars as to rates, etc., apply to

J. J. McBAIN & SON
Real Estate and Insurance Agents.
Office Cor. Simcoe and George sts
Office 'Phone 454 Residence Phone 109A

FOR XMAS

Furniture fixed up like new. Upholstering and all kinds of similar work done. Mattresses made over.

A. R. JACKSON
320 Aylmer. Corner of Charlotte. Bell Phone 494B

FANCY POTTERY

All kinds of Urns, Vases, Jugs, Plates, Jardinieres, etc., Moulded to Order for hand painting for Christmas gifts

GEO. E. RAWLINGS, Crescent Street

GEORGE RUTH
Properties for Sale:

Come and inspect our list of HOUSES We have a number of first-class residences; all modern; locality and prices are right; also a number of cheaper houses. Terms to suit the purchasers.

8 fine building lots, near the C. G. E. works, are offered for $1500.

A few first-class homes to rent with modern improvements.

395 Water Street, open evenings

MEALS — LUNCHES
AT ALL HOURS

For quick service, well-cooked meals and popular prices—go to

FOWLER'S RESTAURANT
McCallum's Old Stand - 330 George St

R. A. ELLIOTT & CO.
Real Estate Agents

Head Office of the Sandstone Brick Co.

IT'S CHEAP TO BUY THE BEST

A MERRY XMAS
TO ALL FROM
Coleman Bros

Who have the best line in BULK CANDIES and FANCY BOXES. We have a large Stock and mean to clear. Best Goods and Lowest Prices. SEE OUR DISPLAY. Great variety of Fruit Cake.

SIMMEL CAKE
Plum Cake Plum Pudding Mince Meat
Unequalled in Flavor
Phone 335. 426 George S

CHRISTMAS GIFTS

Two story brick dwelling, centrally located, containing 7 rooms and bath room; city water, electric light. This house is first-class, well built; mantle finish throughout.

A business for sale, consisting of blacksmith and carriage shop with tools, including gasoline engine, lathe, shafting, etc., with a good storehouse for implements and carriages. This is located in a good business centre near Peterborough—$1,000

A good butcher Business, including horses, harness, sleighs, waggons, shop fixtures, slaughter house fixtures, etc. Rent low, location very central. Price $1,300.

For further particulars apply to

J. T. O'CONNELL & CO.
Phone 376. 136 Hunter St.

RICHMOND STUDIO
147 HUNTER STREET

Studio will be open for Sittings on Xmas Day

Make your appointments early. Groups a specialty

PROBABILITIES

Today and on Friday — Fresh to strong southwest to west winds; mostly fair and continued moderately cold, with light local snowfalls.

Dr. William Bayard, died in St. John, N.B., yesterday, at the age of ninety-four, having been in steady prominent practice for 70 years. The claim is made that he was a descendant of the Chevalier de Bayard, the knight "without fear and without reproach."

SEMI-READY WARDROBE

EXCLUSIVE FURNISHINGS FOR MEN

WE PRIDE OURSELVES in the exclusiveness of our Furnishings Stock. Nowhere will you find such decidedly novel ideas and exclusive styles in Men's Togs as we are displaying this season. We have searched the leading American houses for the newest in everything, and have gathered around us just what the MEN LIKE, You are sure you will please "Him" if you choose from our immense stock.

Fancy Vests

Nothing is more to the liking of a man than a handsome Fancy Vest. All the latest cuts from New York in the swellest cloths, light and dark colors. Ask to see our new Striped Brown. It's a stunner. Prices range from $2.50—$5.00

FOUR DAYS MORE TO CHOOSE YOUR GIFTS | SHOP IN THE MORNINGS IF POSSIBLE

389 George St. Cressman's Toggery Shop

YOUNG MAN COMMITTEED FOR TRIAL

Clinton Rightmyer was committed for trial at the next court of competent jurisdiction on the charge of the seduction of Pearl Longdo, who resides in east city. The preliminary hearing took place at the police court this morning. Mr. R. E. Wood conducted the case for the Crown and Mr. Ruddy, barrister of Millbrook, defended the prisoner, and pleaded not guilty. The only witnesses heard were the young lady and her mother, after which His Worship committed the prisoner.

OBITUARY

LAID TO REST.

The remains of the late Mrs. Jas. T. R. Firbairn arrived in the city this morning from Bordeaux, Que., and the funeral, which was private, took place at 11 o'clock from the residence of Mr. G. M. Roger, Park street, to the Little Lake cemetery. Rev. Robt. Pogue of St. Paul's church, officiated.

Annual Meeting Is Postponed

The annual meeting of the Children's Aid Society, which was to have been held to-morrow night has been postponed until after the Christmas holidays. It has been considered advisable to take this step in view of the numerous other events to-morrow night.

Alexandra Circle Elects New Officers

Anniversary Will be Celebrated by a Concert

There was a large attendance of members at regular meeting of Queen Alexandra Circle, No. 138, A.O.F., held last night in S.O.E. hall. The C.C., Mrs. Wm. Stevens, was in the chair. After the business had been dispensed with the D.D.C.C., Mrs. Lloyd, took the chair. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:—

P.C.C.—Mrs. Wm. Stevens,
C.C.—Mrs. J. Scott
S.C.C.—Mrs. J. O. Moss,
Secretary.—Miss M. Moss.
Treasurer.—Miss L. Hendry.
Right Guide.—Miss A. Howell.
Left Guide—Mrs. A. Simmons.
Inner Guard—Miss Rose.
Outer Guard—Mrs. Adlam.
Chaplain—Mrs. W. Head.
Medical Officer—Dr. Morgan.
Trustees—Mrs. J. C. Hamilton, S. Adlam, Wm. Stevens.
Auditors—Bros. George R. Record, S. Adlam, T. Hendry.

A vote of thanks was tendered to D.D.C.C. Mrs. Lloyd, also to Bros. Hendry and McWilliams, for acting as scrutineers.

The following committee was appointed, Mrs. Stevens, Mrs. Simmons, and Miss Howell, and Bros. Adlam and Hendry, to arrange a concert in connection with anniversary of circle.

Non-support Case Heard in Norwood

County Magistrate Edmison and Mr E. L. Goodwill, solicitor for the Children's Aid Society, were in Norwood yesterday, where the Magistrate had a case of non-support to deal with. Mrs. Alphonse Phillips had a complaint of non-support against her husband, but they were unable to proceed with the affair as the defendant failed to show up. A warrant has been issued for his arrest. There are two children and they will be cared for by relatives.

THE CRYSTAL
OPEN EVERY AFTERNOON AND EVENING

ENTIRE CHANGE PROGRAMME TO-DAY

ADMISSION--5 CENTS

A SHARE OF OUR PROFITS will be our Christmas Gift to all customers between now and Christmas, and buyers will find our prices and selection specially attractive. . . . . . .

Unique values in Bracelets, Lockets, Pins, Brooches, Watches, Chains, Rings, Silverware, Fancy Clocks, Fine Chinaware and everything in Jewellry for gifts.

CLARKE & SON
439 GEORGE STREET JEWELLERS

Fifteen Plum Puddings Come Through the Mails to This City

The English mails arriving this week have been very heavy, and many Christmas souvenirs have come from across the water to loved ones living in Peterborough; The plum pudding still has first place, and not less than fifteen have reached this city, so that certain English families will have a big feast during the glad Yuletide season.

Line Has Not Been Given up

C.P.R. Not Pushing New Toronto-Montreal Line on Account of Money Stringency

Montreal, Dec. 18.—The Canadian Pacific Railway, while delaying the construction of a new short line between Montreal and Toronto, through the lake front towns, has no intention of abandoning it. The new line would have been pushed forward rapidly, had not the financial stringency rendered necessary the cutting down of new construction work.

The new steel lighthouse and pier at Burlington were washed away Monday.

HE LIKED THE DECORATIONS

Insurance Inspector Speaks Highly of Local Store Windows

Mr. R. R. Robinson, Inspector for the Gore Fire Insurance Company, who was in the city yesterday on a business visit to Taylor and Bell, the local real estate and insurance men, paid a decided compliment to Peterborough, when he referred to the windows of the local stores as the brightest and most appropriately adorned that he had seen this year. He was much impressed with the stock they had laid in for the Christmas trade. He said, however, that some of the decorations in the stores were of a rather dangerous character and spoke of the danger of flimsy paper shades on electric lamps.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE----CHRISTMAS DAY
MATINEE AND NIGHT
THE MELO-DRAMATIC EVENT—BERTHA M. CLAY'S FAMOUS NOVEL
DORA THORNE

The most popular book ever written, dramatized by Lem. B. Parker. Magnificently mounted with special scenery for every act. A powerful caste of prominent players. The sweetest, prettiest story ever told

Evening Prices 15, 25, 35, 50c. Matinee 25 and 35c. Children 15c
PLAN OPENS MONDAY AT 10 A. M.

WHEN MAKING YOUR SELECTIONS

For Christmas Presents, be sure and call at our store. We have an elegant assortment to choose from.

PERFUMES—A great line in fancy cases or in bulk from the best makers Any kind or price.

Very Handsome TOILET CASES and MANICURE SETS. Any style or price

HAIR BRUSHES and TOILET HAND MIRRORS—all prices and qualities to suit you.

FOUNTAIN PENS—A. A. Waterman & Co's Modern Pens from $1.00 up

LAUGHLIN FOUNTAIN PENS at $3.00. GOLD PENS $1.50

LOWNEY'S CHOCOLATES—A fine new lot in handsome boxes, especially for the Christmas trade.

Be sure and call and we will present you with a pretty Calendar for 1908.

J. D. TULLY, DRUGGIST
491 GEORGE ST.

Medical

E. V. FREDERICK, M.B., Tor.
M.R.C.S., Eng.; L.R.C.P., Lond. New York.
Removed to No. 492 George St., formerly office Dr. McFaul
Private nursing home for surgical cases.

DR. G. STEWART CAMERON
Office and Residence
No. 273 Charlotte St. 'Phone 128

DR. G. C. LEACH
Late House Surgeon of Lakeside Hospital, Cleveland, Ohio; also of Cook County Hospital, Chicago. OFFICE—234 Hunter St., formerly occupied by Dr. Coughlin. Phone Bell 219.
Special Attention to Diseases of Women

DR. JAS. V. GALLIVAN
Office 215 Simcoe St. Late of St. John's Hospital New York. Lic. University of New York.
Telephone 668.

Osteopathy

DR. ASA G. WALMSLEY
Osteopathic Physician
Office over Canadian Bank of Commerce, Water Street entrance.
Office Hours—9 to 12 a.m. 2 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Consultation free.

Legal

R. E. WOOD
BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, Etc. Office removed from Bank of Commerce Building to 435 George street, recently occupied by E. B. Edwards. MONEY TO LOAN

W. H. MOORE
BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, in the Supreme Court etc. Office—Hunter street, first stairs west of Post Office.

HALL & HAYES
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS and NOTARIES PUBLIC, Hunter Street, Peterborough, next to English Church. MONEY TO LOAN at the lowest rates of interest.
R. M. D. HALL. LOUIS M. HAYES

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON
(Successors to Stratton & Hall)
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, Etc., Peterborough Ont. Office—Corner of Hunter and Water Sts. over Bank of Commerce.
R. R. HALL, M.P. S. T. MEDD. W. S. DAVIDSON

EDMISON & DIXON
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, Etc. Office in Clarson's Block, corner of Hunter and George streets, over Dickson's store.

DENNISTOUN, PECK & KERR
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, NOTARIES, Etc
415 Water Street, Peterborough
E.A. PECK. F. D. KERR. R. M. DENNISTOUN

Money

MONEY TO LOAN
ON EASY TERMS
O'CONNELL & GORDON
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS NOTARIES, Etc
Canadian and United States Patent Attorneys
134 Hunter Street, two doors west of Post Office.
DANIEL O'CONNELL. GEORGE N. GORDON

ROGER, BENNET & GOODWILL
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, Etc., 37 Water St. Peterborough. Telephone No. 191.
Money at Current Rates
Upon Easy Terms.
G. M. ROGER. J. W. BENNET. R. L. GOODWILL

TORONTO SAVINGS AND LOAN CO.

PAID UP CAPITAL $1,000,000.00
RESERVE FUND 580,000.00

SAVINGS
An Account may be opened at any time with a Deposit of One Dollar.
3½% Interest allowed on daily balances.
DEBENTURE DEPT.
Four Per Cent. paid half yearly on sums of $100.00 and upwards.
MONEY TO LOAN
at current rates of interest.
V. G. MORROW,
Manager

PHYSICALLY EXHAUSTED?
You're out of joint with everything—lacking in courage—no nerve—scarcely on speaking terms with yourself. Such low spirits are pitiable. Your brain is fagged, vitality exhausted till your nerve-wracked body has gone all to the bad. FERROZONE is what you need.

FERROZONE
IS A BODY-BUILDER, A VITALIZER, A NUTRITIVE TONIC.

It's by making flesh and blood, by infusing iron and oxygen into the system that FERROZONE helps. It repairs the weak spots, instils energy, vim and endurance into worn-out organs—makes you feel like new. Why not use this grand restorative? It lifts age from the old, brings new resiliance and buoyancy of spirits to the depressed. Be vigorous, manly, ruddy-colored, cast aside weakness and enter into that happy life that follows the use of FERROZONE.

Ferrozone is sold everywhere in 50c boxes or six for $2.50. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

New Insurance Bill is Brought Up in Commons

Mr. Fielding Presents His Measure in the House.

Follows Recommendation of Commission in the Main—Is Consolidation of All the Insurance Acts—Amendments Chiefly Concern Life Branch—Japanese Immigration Again the Subject of Debate.

Ottawa, Dec. 19.—Mr. Fielding yesterday introduced his insurance bill, which he said followed to some extent the recommendation of the commission which reported a year ago. Since the draft bill was presented, the Government, with the assistance of experts, had prepared the present measure, the most important feature of which he proposed to explain to the House. While the bill presented by the commission dealt with life insurance only, this bill covered the whole question of insurance.

To Mr. Borden he said it was a consolidation of all the insurance acts, but the amendments were almost entirely confined to the life insurance branch of that business.

Main Features.

Publicity all along the line.

Triennial dividends to policyholders.

Fines for rebaters.

Strict limitation of investments to established dividend-paying stocks and bonds.

Ottawa, Dec. 19.—The Japanese immigration question was brought up in the House again yesterday by Mr. Borden, who moved for a return of papers relating thereto. The Premier refused to comply, on the ground that this was not the proper time. He defended the ratification of the treaty with Japan on the ground that this Government had always made a difference in dealing with Japanese and Chinese immigration; that in 1903 a commission was appointed to investigate the whole question and its recommendation was that in view of the assurance of Japan that the immigration of Japanese to Canada would be controlled in accordance with an agreement existing, which was necessary, and that the Government had relied upon the assurance of Japan.

In offering his resolution, Mr. Borden said that it was remarkable that when the subject was presented in concrete form a few days ago by Mr. Smith of Nanaimo not a single member of the Government had given any information to the House.

"We were waiting for the other side," said a Liberal member.

The resolution of Mr. Smith of Nanaimo appeared to be a bit of gallery play. It had been said that there had been assurances imparted to the members on the other side of the House which had not been given to Parliament as a whole, and Mr. Borden complained that information to which the people were entitled should have been held back.

After dealing with the charge that he had endeavored to provoke race prejudice, Mr. Borden showed that the Government had received ample warning of the difficulties that would arise if effective restrictions were not put into effect. The Premier had been warned in 1900 by Mr. Morrison, then a member of this House from British Columbia, of the undesirable character of Japanese immigration, the Premier declaring that in view of the fact that the Japanese Government had taken the matter into its own hand, the resolution proposed by Mr. Morrison was unnecessary. In 1903 further warnings were sounded when Mr. Borden declared that closer relations with Japan would lead to large influx of Japanese. At that time Hon. Mr. Fisher stated that the arrangement made with Japan to restrict immigration would be respected.

A Statement Demanded.

The leader of the Opposition again demanded a definite statement from the Government as to the character of the assurances given by the Japanese; also its reliance upon those assurances. It had been said that the question had been dealt with a view to the interests of the Government. The assurances given by Japan had not been effective, as there had been an enormous influx of Japanese into British Columbia. The question was decidedly an economic one. We could not change the conditions that exist, and it was impossible for white labor to successfully compete with Japanese labor in British Columbia.

In view of this, the country should know what is the attitude of the Government, what the result of the mission of the Postmaster-General had been. It had been stated in the press that the mission had come to an end, that the treaty would not be amended, that the assurances of Japan restricting immigration would be repeated.

An Educational Test.

Sir Wilfrid replied that there could be no doubt as to the intentions of the Government, but Mr. Borden was entitled to a full answer. The question should be treated with calmness. He had always taken the ground that they could not apply to the Japanese the same treatment that applied to the Chinese, and the commission that investigated the question had so recommended. Mr. Borden should have remembered that the action of the Government was based on the recommendation, and that the assurances given by Japan were sufficient. Should, however, these assurances not be effective, it might be necessary to adopt an educational test, as required by the Natal Act.

"Does he understand that while the treaty remains in its present form it will be competent to pass the Natal Act?" asked Mr. Borden.

"While the treaty is in effect it is impossible to pass the Natal Act," replied Sir Wilfrid.

Sir Wilfrid stated that on the return of Mr. Lemieux the correspondence asked for would be brought down. If it was found that the agreement had been wilfully and systematically violated, it might be necessary to denounce that treaty, but if it had been evaded by designing parties, the matter ought to be easily arranged. Since Japan is an ally of the sovereign, would it not be better, asked Sir Wilfrid, that the restrictions should be carried out by the Japanese themselves?

The Premier referred to the newspaper despatches of the failure of Mr. Lemieux's mission, which he refused to rely on. The journalist apparently had more information than the Government.

Mr. Borden asked when would Mr. Lemieux return, and Sir Wilfrid replied that he would sail direct on Jan. 3.

Mr. Foster demanded, under the rules, that the document be produced upon which the Premier based his statement that an assurance had been given to Canada that Japanese immigration would be restricted, regardless of the treaty stipulation of reciprocal free entry.

Sir Wilfrid's reply was that until the Canadian commissioner had returned from the mission to Japan the document would be considered as confidential.

Mr. Borden stated that reference having been made by members on the Government side to an undertaking to that effect, given in writing by the Japanese consul-general at Ottawa (Mr. Nosse) surely that document could be tabled.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier answered that the document in question was confidential. If confidential how could it be in debate? was the Opposition's retort.

The Prime Minister merely shook his head.

"Then," said Mr. Foster, "do we understand the same obstruction applies to this as to the other?"

Sir Wilfrid nodded.

"Then," returned Mr. Foster, with a snap, "I consider the excuse a very flimsy one."

Mr. Borden's motion carried and the Speaker, having declared Mr. Borden's motion carried adjourned the House until 3 p. m. on Jan. 8.

ABSOLUTE SECURITY.

Genuine
Carter's Little Liver Pills.
Must Bear Signature of
Brent Good
See Fac-Simile Wrapper Below.
Very small and as easy to take as sugar.
CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.
FOR HEADACHE.
FOR DIZZINESS.
FOR BILIOUSNESS.
FOR TORPID LIVER.
FOR CONSTIPATION
FOR SALLOW SKIN.
FOR THE COMPLEXION
Purely Vegetable.
CURE SICK HEADACHE.

Special Inducements TO BUY HEATERS
You gain nothing by delay. See our
Standard Oak
Quebec Ideal
Art Laurel
They are great fuel savers. Easily operated and splendid heat distributors.
F.R.J. MACPHERSON & CO.
361 George St. Phone 118
F.R.J. MACPHERSON ANGUS MACPHERSON

In reply to Mr. Ames, the Finance Minister stated that the coming into force of the new French treaty would not effect Canada's position in respect to the surtax on goods imported from Germany.

Keep Out Foul Seeds.

Ottawa, Dec. 19.—Richard Blain (Peel) moved yesterday to adjourn the House for the purpose of discussing a question of urgent public importance, namely, the importation of foul seeds in the frozen grain now being shipped from Western Canada to the eastern provinces. Hon. Sydney Fisher said he appreciated the danger.

Dr. Barr (Dufferin) introduced a bill giving permission for the crossing of railway tracks by telephone, telegraph and other wires by merely giving notice to the company's nearest agent.

CADET HAS HIS TROUBLES.

Member of Parliament Says Son's Rustication Was Unjust.

Kingston, Dec. 19.—During the past week there has been a lively time at the Royal Military College. A Western Ontario cadet, the son of a member of Parliament, was charged with some irregularities, and the result was that he received rustication for four months. His father was here for several days, demanding full enquiry. He termed the trial held a farce and demanded fair play. He left Tuesday for Ottawa, and declared that he would demand an investigation by the Militia Department. His son, it is understood, accompanied him.

There were five cadets involved in the case, which involves hazing as well as some kind of alleged petty theft of the "swiping" nature. Col. Taylor, commandant of the college, was asked yesterday for a statement, but replied that he would not say anything at present, as his report was before the Minister of Militia. A despatch from Ottawa says that the case will come up before Parliament.

Caught In Mining Camp.

San Diego, Cal., Dec. 19.—A special despatch to The Tribune from Ensenada, says:

A man who was arrested in a mining camp about 100 miles back in the mountains, and now in jail here, awaiting identification, is supposed to be William F. Walker, formerly treasurer of the savings bank of New Britain, Conn., who is wanted to answer to a charge of embezzlement in that city. He was only prevented from committing suicide by the timely intervention of the officers in charge.

No Disturbance In Persia.

Teheran, Dec. 19.—Outside of a few isolated killings and robberies, there have been, up to the present time, no disturbances of public order in the city; nevertheless the situation continues most strained.

The Constitutionalists are quiet, but determined to fight if attacked. They are all well armed, while the supporters of the reactionaries, mostly muleteers and laborers, who have come in from neighboring villages, have few effective weapons.

MONTREAL STREET FIGHT.

Weapons Freely Used and Several Citizens Wounded.

Montreal, Dec. 19.—Knives, razors, and revolvers were used in a row on St. Antoine street, with the result that three men are in the General Hospital suffering from bullet wounds.

Two of the victims did not participate in the fight, but were shot by stray bullets as they were walking on the street. Another pedestrian had a narrow escape, a bullet passing through his overcoat.

One arrest was made, an Italian, who was followed to a grocery store by a trail of blood for 50 yards, in the snow. He was suffering from two knife wounds in the left side when the police found him. This man told the police that he was attacked by three countrymen who wanted his money, and in the scuffle that followed among them, revolvers and stilettoes were used, but he was the only one who was wounded.

The pedestrians wounded were Irving B. Everett of Lachine, shot in the leg; Frank Bell, living at the Brewery Mission, shot in the arm, and John Ferguson of Magdalen street, shot in leg.

ACCUSED OF COWARDICE.

General Stoessel Charged With Having Shown White Feather.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 19.—The trial of Lieut.-Gen. Stoessel for the surrender of Port Arthur to the Japanese was continued in this city yesterday, and in the course of the proceedings Gen. Stoessel was accused of having shown the white feather under fire on two different occasions. This accusation was made by Col. Gurko, who was on the stand as a witness.

The charge was made while the court-martial was investigating the circumstances of Gen. Kuropatkin's order, dated June 18, 1904, in which Gen. Stoessel was told to turn over the command of the fortress to Gen. Smirnoff and join the Manchurian army.

Gen. Stoessel disregarded this order, and it was repeated three times. He suppressed the copy of the order addressed to Gen. Smirnoff and finally was allowed to remain at Port Arthur.

CAUGHT DAYLIGHT ROBBERS.

Police Find Over Fifteen Thousand Dollars' Worth of Loot.

New York, Dec. 19.—Four young men and women suspected of numerous daylight burglaries, were arrested yesterday. Over $15,000 worth of jewelry, laces and other valuable wearing apparel found in their apartment on West 48th street, was confiscated by the police.

According to the authorities, the men, who gave the names of David Cillman and George Carr, entered the rear windows of apartment houses throughout the city by means of ropes strung from the roofs. They were worked at meal time, it is stated, and are generally mistaken for window cleaners. The men, with their wives, were arraigned in the Tombs court on charges of robbery and were held without bail.

THE MARKETS.

Liverpool and Chicago Wheat Futures Close Higher—Live Stock Markets—Latest Quotations.

Wednesday Evening, Dec. 18.

Liverpool wheat futures closed to-day 2½d higher. Corn, ¼d up.

At Chicago, Dec. wheat closed ⅜c higher, Dec. corn 1⅛c lower, Dec. oats ⅜c higher.

Winnipeg Options.

Following are the closing quotations on Winnipeg grain futures to-day:

Wheat—Dec. $1.05¾ bid, May $1.12¾ bid.
Oats—Dec. 43c bid, May 50c bid.

Toronto Grain Market.

Grain—
Wheat, spring, bush	$0 95	to $....
Wheat, fall, bush	0 97	....
Wheat, goose, bush	0 87	....
Wheat, red, bush	0 96	....
Rye, bush	0 83	....
Peas, bush	0 88	....
Buckwheat, bush	0 64	0 65
Barley, bush	0 71	....
Oats, bush	0 51	0 52

Toronto Dairy Market.

Butter, dairy, lb. rolls	0 27	0 28
Butter, tubs	0 25	0 27
Butter, creamery, lb. rolls	0 30	0 31
Butter, creamery, boxes	0 29	0 30
Eggs, new-laid, dozen	0 30	....
Eggs, cold-storage, dozen	0 22	....
Cheese, large, lb	0 12½	....
Cheese, twin, lb	0 13¾	....
Honey, extracted, lb	0 13	0 13½

Liverpool Grain and Produce.

LIVERPOOL, Dec. 18.—Wheat—Spot No. 2 red western winter, steady, 7s 7½d; futures, strong; Dec., nominal; March, 8s ¾d; May, 8s ½d. Corn, spot, prime mixed American new, firm, 5s 4½d; do., old, firm, 5s 6d; futures, firm; Dec., nominal; Jan., 5s 3⅝d.

Pork, prime mess western, steady, 86s 3d. Lard, prime western, in tierces, quiet, 41s 9d; American refined, in pails, quiet, 43s 9d. Turpentine spirits, dull, 34s 6d. Rosin, dull, 9s 3d.

New York Dairy Market.

NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—Butter—Steady, unchanged; receipts, 6671.

Cheese—Firm, unchanged; receipts, 3717.

Eggs—Steady, unchanged; receipts, 7521.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Cables Steady—Hogs and Cattle Are 10c Lower at Chicago.

LONDON, Dec. 18.—London cables are firmer, at 11c to 12¾c per lb., dressed weight; refrigerator beef is quoted at 9½c per pound.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, Dec. 18.—(Special.)—About 800 head of butchers' cattle, 50 milch cows, 100 calves, 800 sheep and lambs and 250 fat hogs, were offered for sale at the East End Abattoir to-day. There were no extra cattle on the market and trade was slow, as the butchers had bought most of their supplies on Monday. Prime beeves sold at 4½c to 5¼c per lb.; pretty good cattle, 3½c to 4½c, and the common stock, 2½c to 3c per lb. Milch cows sold at from $25 to $60 each, but some of them were remarkably fine, large cows. Grass fed calves sold at 2¾c to 3c per lb., and the young veals at $2.75 to $4 each. Sheep sold at 3½c to 3¾c, and lambs at 5¼c to near 6c per lb. Good lots of fat hogs sold at about 6¼c per lb. Messrs. Johnston and Beasner of Bonsecours Market, this week bought an extraordinary fine bull at 6c per lb., and two very fine heifers at $1 each.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, Dec. 18.—Cattle—Receipts, 800 head; dull; prices, unchanged.

Veals—Receipts, 250 head; active and steady.

Hogs—Receipts, 12,000 head; slow, and 15c to 25c lower; heavy and mixed, $4.75 to $4.85; yorkers, $4.65 to $4.75; pigs, $4.50 to $4.65; roughs, $4.10 to $4.25; stags, $3.25 to $3.75; dairy, $4.50 to $4.75.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 16,000 head; very slow; sheep, steady; lambs, 25c to 25c lower; lambs, $5 to $6.75; a few $7; yearlings, $5.50 to $5.75; wethers, $4.75 to $5; ewes, $4 to $4.75; sheep, mixed, $2 to $4.50; Canada lambs, $3 to $6.50.

New York Live Stock.

NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—Beeves—Receipts, 1517; steers, badly demoralized and 15c to 40c lower; bulls, dull to 10c lower; cows, slow and 10c to 15c lower; steers, $3.55 to $5.65; tops, $5.75; general sales, $4 to $5.35; bulls, $2.50 to $3.80; cows, $1.05 to $3.60; few extra fat, $3.85 to $4.10. Exports to-day, 750 cattle and 1400 quarters of beef; to-morrow, 800 cattle, 1100 sheep and 6500 quarters of beef.

Calves—Receipts, 1370. Veals, active and firm. Barnyard calves, 15c to 25c higher; western calves; very nearly nominal veals, $5 to $9.75; culls, $4 to $4.50; barnyard calves, $2.75 to $3.25; few western, $4.12½.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 12,541; sheep, 15c to 25c lower; lambs, to 25c lower; common to choice sheep, $2.75 to $5; culls, $2 to $2.50; lambs, $6.25 to $7.35; two cars, $7.40; culls, $5; Canada lambs, $7.

Hogs—Receipts, 3338; market, weak, at $4.80 to $5.

Chicago Live Stock.

CHICAGO, Dec. 18.—Cattle—Receipts, 21,000; market steady; steers, $3.90 to $6.25; stockers and feeders, $2.40 to $3.80; cows, $2.75 to $4.50; heifers, $2.40 to $5.25; bulls, $2.60 to $4.30; calves, $3.10 to $7.

Hogs—Receipts, 44,000; market, about 10c lower; choice heavy shipping, $4.75 to $4.80; light butchers', $4.70 to $4.75; light mixed, $4.55 to $4.60; choice light, $4.60 to $4.65; packing, $4 to $4.60; pigs, $3.75 to $4.25; bulk of sales, $4.50 to $4.65.

Sheep—Receipts, 22,000; market, weak; sheep, $2 to $4.50; lambs, $5.40 to $6.20; yearlings, $4.20 to $4.80.

An Invitation to Japan.

Tokio, Dec. 19.—The Fiji Shimpo, an independent paper, which has a wide circulation in intellectual and business circles, editorially says:

"This is a noteworthy naval undertaking. We do not entertain the idea for even a minute, however, that the purpose of the visit is to threaten Japan. Should the American fleet visit these shores, it will be given a hearty reception, worthy of the life-long friendship between Japan and the United States."

Everybody Was Satisfied.

London, Dec. 19.—(C. A. P.)—The report of the unemployed committee which recently visited Canada, testifies to the kind-heartedness of Canadians towards emigrants who make good. It also refers to the lack of houses. Of a total of 8,000, only 12 were deported and none of the remainder wished to return.

A Miracle.

Nancy, France, Dec. 19.—A miracle is reported to have occurred in the village church at Brin. On two Sundays in succession during the services, on the priest placing the host in the monstrance, the image of a wonderfully beautiful youth was apparent on the water.

G. T. R. Train Derailed.

Peterboro, Dec. 19.—The G. T. R. mixed train from Lakefield was partially derailed last night, just north of the city. The engine and three cars left the track and were badly damaged. Two passenger coaches on the rear remained on the track. No one was injured.

A scheme is on foot in France to erect two monuments to the memory of Montcalm, one at his birthplace, Vanwert and one at Quebec.

LEAPED FOR FREEDOM

Ex-Fire Chief Makes Desperate Effort to Escape.

Sentenced to Seven Years For Arson—Dived From Train Window Near North Bay While on His Way to Kingston Penitentiary—Recaptured After Going a Mile—Was Cut and Bleeding.

North Bay, Dec. 19.—George Raymond, ex-fire chief at Blind River, New Ontario, who is under a seven-year sentence for arson, took a desperate chance for liberty eight miles this side of North Bay yesterday. His daring effort failed and later he was taken to Kingston by Sheriff Stevenson and Jailor Hearst of Blind River.

As the train left North Bay, Raymond asked that his heavy shackels and handcuffs be removed and that he be taken to the lavatory. He did not return and a search developed the fact that he had leaped from a window while the car was running at a considerable rate.

"When we found that Raymond was gone," said the sheriff, "we stopped the train and went back. In the deep snow it was easy to find where the man had gone by his tracks, added to which he was bleeding profusely from cuts about his hands and face. Only the fact that he lit in a deep drift thrown up by the snow-plows beside the track saved him from death or serious injury. As it was, he was so weakened by his shaking up that we caught him before he had gone a mile from the track, despite the lead which he had.

"Another thing worked against him in his bid for liberty. He was making for some shanties, which he might have reached and concealed himself, but he stepped into a deep hole which the woodmen had dug for their refuse, and while he was floundering in this we overtook him."

BOUFAL'S IRON HAND.

New Governor-General of Odessa Will Suppress Disorders.

Odessa, Dec. 19.—Gen. Boufal, the new Governor-General of Odessa, issued his first proclamation yesterday. He ordered the police to interfere energetically whenever disorders occur, and if necessary to make use of their sabres to effect the arrest of disturbers of the peace, and he declares that all persons guilty of disorders will be sentenced to prison for three months and then expelled from the city. At the same time the Governor-General charges some foreign newspaper correspondents with misrepresenting the actual character of the recent street disorders in Odessa.

Continuing, the proclamation says it is most difficult to ascertain the names of the authors of anti-Jewish outrages, and he invites the political union of Russian people, which invariably is accused of these acts, to issue categorical explanations.

Gen. Boufal is the first Governor-General of this city who has dared publicly to challenge this influential reactionary organization.

VICE-PRESIDENT ACQUITTED.

Judge Holds Could Not Be Held Criminally Liable For Accident.

New York, Dec. 19.—Alfred E. Smith, vice-president of the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad Co., was acquitted yesterday of a charge of manslaughter in the third degree, brought in connection with the wreck of the Brewster express at Woodlawn last February, in which 24 persons were killed.

Justice Kellogg held that it was humanely impossible for the defendant to have personal oversight over the road's entire trackage and that no criminal negligence on his part had been shown.

The accident occurred Feb. 16 on a sharp curve near Woodlawn road bridge. It was asserted that the train was being driven at an excessive speed by an engineer of insufficient experience. The prosecution claimed that Mr. Smith was responsible in permitting this.

Christmas Money on the Sea.

New York, Dec. 19.—The White Star liner Oceanic, the last steamer to leave this port that will land passengers in England before Christmas, steamed for Southampton Tuesday with the greatest bulk of eastbound Christmas mail that has ever been shipped from New York in one bottom.

Stowed away in her were 4,143 mail sacks, worth $5,107, postal orders representing a cash value of $1,199,442.

Guard Against Night Raiders.

Lexington, Ky., Dec. 19.—Although little fear was felt here concerning the threatened attack of an organized band of night raiders, fully 100 men guarded warehouses and several wagons loaded with tobacco every night. The guards were formed by the owners of this tobacco. There have been fully one million pounds sold so far this week, notwithstanding the threats of trouble.

Killed Colonel of Police.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 19.—A colonel of police named Kalchak was killed and several officers and policemen were wounded in a fight yesterday, while the guardians of the law were searching a house on Vasili Island, a section of this city. The police were finally put to flight and the Revolutionists succeeded in escaping.

Murdered By Indians.

Nogales, Ariz., Dec. 19.—Information which has just reached here tells of the frightful murder of 12 men by a band of 150 Yaqui Indians, 45 miles southeast of Magdalena, State of Sonora, Mexico, last Wednesday.

Deport Toronto Bulgarians.

Ottawa, Dec. 19.—The deportation of sixteen of the needy Bulgarians now in Toronto has been arranged for by the Immigration Department.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS
PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days or money refunded. 50c.

Bowels Irregular?
Every night take two
Fruit-a-tives
OR—FRUIT LIVER TABLETS
—keep it up for a month—and see how glad you will be that you tried them. Made of fruit juices and tonics. 50c a box —at druggists'. 122

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM
RAILWAY TIME TABLE

	Arrive	Depart
Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, Gravenhurst, North Bay, Stouffville and Toronto	11.40 a.m. 9.00 p.m.	8.25 a.m. 5.38 p.m.
Port Hope and points east to Montreal and Boston		8.30 a.m.
Port Hope, Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago & West, Niagara Falls, Buffalo, Cobourg, Montreal and East	8.20 a.m. 5.23 p.m.	11.45 a.m. 9.05 p.m.
From Buffalo, Hamilton, Toronto, Bowmanville and Port Hope	11.45 a.m.
Toronto, Lindsay, Stouffville, Uxbridge and Markham	10.05 p.m.	7.20 a.m.
Lindsay Local	8.15 a.m.	9.10 p.m.
Hastings, Campbellford, Madoc, Belleville, Kingston, Montreal and East	8.10 a.m. 8.40 p.m. 9.50 a.m.	6.20 a.m. 1.50 p.m. 8.30 a.m.
Lakefield and Stony Lake	5.15 p.m.	12.20 p.m.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY

To Peterboro' Going East.
11.16 a. m., Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal
7.51 p. m., Indian River, Norwood, Havelock, Tweed.
12.31 a. m. midnight, Havelock, Tweed, Smith's Falls, Montreal, Quebec Portland, Boston and New England points.
1.10 a. m., Ottawa express, Norwood, Havelock Ivanhoe, Tweed, Smith's Falls, Carleton Jct., Ottawa.
To Peterboro' Going West.
4.48 a. m. for Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, New York, Woodstock, St. Thomas, Chicago, etc.
5.26 a. m. Do. Do.
7.56 a. m. for Cavanville, Manvers, Pontypool, Burketon, etc., Fort William, Winnipeg and all western points in North West Canada.
4.48 p. m. Pontypool, Lindsay, Toronto, Hamilton, Galt, Woodstock, London, Detroit Chicago, etc.

London will have a building inspector

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM
Xmas and New Year's Excursions
Between all stations in Canada, also to Detroit and Port Huron, Mich., Buffalo, Black Rock, Niagara Falls and Suspension Bridge, N.Y.
AT SINGLE FARE
Good going December 24th and 25th, 1907
RETURNING UNTIL DEC. 26, 1907
Also good going December 31st, 1907, and January 1st, 1908, returning until January 2nd, 1908.
AT FARE AND ONE-THIRD
Good going Dec. 21st to Dec. 25th, 1907.
Returning until January 3rd, 1908.
Also good going Dec. 28th, 1907, to Jan. 1st, 1908.
Returning Until January 3rd, 1908
For further information and tickets call on
W. BUNTON
City Passenger Agent
F. SANDY,
Depot Ticket Agent
Or write Mr J. D. McDonald, D.P.A., Union Depot, Toronto

CANADIAN NORTHERN ONTARIO
SHORT LINE TO MUSKOKA AND PARRY SOUND
WINTER TIME TABLE
In effect December 9th, 1907

NORTHBOUND	No. 1	No. 3
TORONTO	† 9.00 am	† 5.30 pm
WASHAGO	12.45 pm	9.00 pm
PARRY SOUND	3.10 pm

SOUTHBOUND	No. 2	No. 4
PARRY SOUND	† 9.00 am	†
WASHAGO	11.25 am	6.45 am
TORONTO	3.05 pm	10.10 am

Observation-Dining Parlor Cars between Toronto and Parry Sound serving meals a la carte.
† Daily except Sunday.
OFFICES: All Stations, also Cor. King and Toronto and Union Station. Phone, Main 5179.

CANADIAN PACIFIC
CHRISTMAS and NEW YEAR RATES
RETURN TICKETS between all stations in Canada, east of Port Arthur and to Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Detroit, Mich., and Niagara Falls and Buffalo, N.Y., on sale at
SINGLE FARE
good going Dec. 24 and 25, returning until Dec. 26, also Dec. 31 and January 1, returning until Jan. 2, 1908.
FARE AND A THIRD
good going Dec. 21, 22, 23, 24 and 25, also Dec. 28, 29, 30 and 31 and Jan. 1, all good returning until Jan. 3, 1908.
Tickets and all information from
W. McILROY,
Canadian Pacific Agent
349 George St. Peterboro'
or write C. B. Foster, D.P.A., Toronto

CENTRAL LIVERY STABLES
AND
VETERINARY INFIRMARY
193 Hunter Street west of Oriental Hotel.
If you wish a rig of any kind for any occasion ring us up and you will find everything up-to-date in the livery line. Both Phones 5¼. Night Phone Bell 435 B.
D. McKERCHER, V.S.

Why Peterborough Citizens Now Come to Dr. Browett for Glasses

FIRST REASON. The Eye glasses supplied by Dr. Browett are ground in one of the largest and best optical factories in America. Skilled workmanship and quality have placed the lenses produced by this firm far in advance of those ground in the ordinary factory. Dr. Browett devotes his exclusive attention to Optical Work—examining eyes, and teaching Opticians the use of the modern eye instruments. The number of Optical colleges this gentleman has attended, his experiences throughout the United States and Canada as a teacher of opticians, the thousands of satisfied patrons in various parts of America, wherever he has visited in his teaching capacity, his equipment of instruments and knowledge of their use are sufficient reasons for Dr Browett's success since making Peterborough his permanent home, and our store his head office.

McDERMID & JURY'S, Drug Store,
390 George Street, Peterborough, Ont.

A Story of Absorbing Interest

The Rogue's March

By E. W. HORNUNG, author of "Raffles, the Amateur Cracksman," "Stingaree," etc.

"Not wait upon the lady who is to be my wife and your mistress? You dare to say that to my face? Let me find you at your post when I come downstairs—or take care!"

And he stood a moment at the door, with the most significant and malignant expression, after which he went upstairs to dress, leaving Tom to regret for the first time his impulsive confession of complicity in the Castle Sullivan outrage and to reflect upon the many sides of the man whom Claire Harding had come out from England to marry. Memories lashed him by the score. He had seen how the tyrant could treat his servants and his dog. He had pitied the bride in the abstract, and was it to be Claire Harding, and was he to stand there and see them married?

His head was in a whirl of conflicting emotions and anxieties. Still stunned by the mere shock of seeing her whom he had never thought to see again in that outlandish place and all but another man's bride, he was faced by an immediate dilemma which called for instantaneous decision. If Claire were to recognize him at dinner, then she was pretty certain to betray a secret which Daintree, on the other hand, was almost as certain to guess if his servant absented himself after what had just passed. Well, Claire knew best why she had made a secret where none was necessary. But if more trouble was to come of it, let him be there to take her part. Let him be there forever to watch over her in those passionate hands! And Tom found himself mechanically lighting the candles on the dinner table and lowering the shades to lessen the chance of his face being seen.

While he was so engaged the inner door opened, and Tom and Claire stood face to face.

Her eyes were great with horror. She shut the door behind her and then stood close against it, shrinking from him to whom she once had clung.

"I can't bear it!" she gasped. "I must either speak to you or go mad! Yes, yes, I know we may be caught! I can't help that! Tell me quickly, did you know who I was before I came?"

"No, indeed!"

"Is it by accident that you are his servant?"

"No; he sought me out. So you knew me again, Claire?"

"What did you say? Never call me that again. Of course I knew you! How could I forget you after all you have made me suffer? If I only could!"

The cruelty of this speech struck him dumb. He drew himself up and grimly challenged her with his eye. Her sufferings, indeed! What had she suffered? She was on the point of marrying a rich man. No doubt it was distressing to her to encounter him again at that juncture. His lip curled at such distress.

She read his thoughts to the letter. "You think I have not suffered!" she cried in a low voice. "You little know, but this is the last straw—the punishment I so richly deserve! Mr. Daintree saved your life. You knew that, of course? But I don't think you know why he did it. It was because I asked him. It was for my sake!"

"You?" he said hoarsely. "I see now—I see! I might have guessed it long ago!"

"He wanted to do something for me," she continued in a choking voice. "I let him do that. I deceived him to save your life. I am here because I deceived him!"

He thought he had seen everything. He had not, but he was beginning to now. Good heavens! Why was his heart beating so fast? It ought to bleed instead. Here was the girl he loved, and upstairs was the man he had reason to love better still, and they were going to marry like that. He tried to forget, to think only of what Claire had done for him.

"God bless you!" he murmured. "He has saved my life twice over and much more than my life, and I owe it all to one brave girl who believed in me and made him believe in me when all the world"—

"Stop!" she cried. "I never believed in you at all."

"What?"

"I was sorry for you."

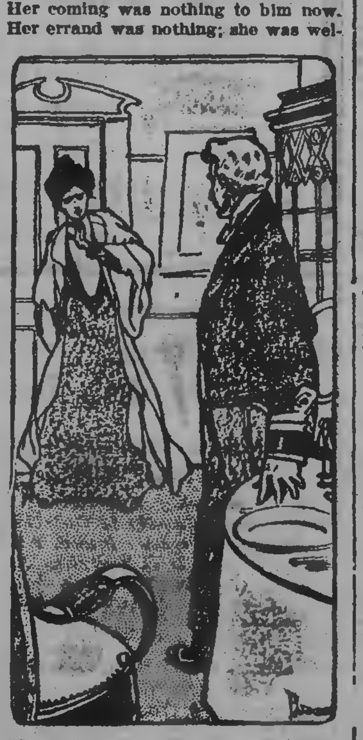
"You believed me guilty, even when you tried to save my life?"

"Of manslaughter—yes!"

"Let us split no hairs! You think—I did it—still?"

"I can think nothing else."

In the dead silence following these words the servant heard his master stamping into evening dress overhead; he felt his own crested buttons glittering in the candlelight that shone upon the table he had set so beautifully for the bride, and as she tossed back the ringlets that he knew so well and repeated with unflinching eyes what she had told him in so many candid words all that had distracted him up to this moment ceased to do so any more. Her coming was nothing to him now. Her errand was nothing; she was welcome to marry the next day. But believe in his innocence she must and should. Injustice from her was the last bitterness, the crowning wrong, the one intolerable misery which absorbed all that had gone before.



"I must either speak to you or go mad!"

Something of this he showed her in his bitter, proud, inexorable look; then suddenly he retreated to the open French windows.

"You are going?" she cried. "I might have known. You were always—generous!"

"I am not now. I hear my master on the stairs."

"You are not going altogether?"

"Certainly not at present."

"When, when?" she cried below her breath.

"When you do me common justice."

Daintree had gone into the wrong room. The girl ran recklessly to the window.

"Tom!"

"Miss Harding?"

"Will you swear—to me—that you are innocent?"

But Tom was gone. She heard him treading viciously on the dark veranda. A moment later Daintree found her deeply engrossed before the chart. She wanted to know what the ship meant. He told her in a tender whisper.

"What a beautiful idea!"

"Well, it wasn't mine."

"Whose was it?"

"My servant's; he made her, and he moved her on each day. You would have said he was the lucky fellow himself!"

CHAPTER XXIX.

THE breeze had freshened; there were white wisps in the blue above and tiny crests upon the blue below. It was early morning, and Tom, having waited admirably overnight, was setting the breakfast table when his master came in glowing from the morning dip. As a rule they bathed together; this exception was their first. They had not spoken since the previous evening, but here was Daintree in a glow for more causes than salt water and fresh air, and a glance told the other that he was forgiven.

"Well, Thomas, will you listen to me another time? Neither lady has the slightest idea who you are."

"I am thankful to hear you say so," said Tom, laying the knives.

"Lady Starkie never set eyes on you before. I feel certain that Miss Harding doesn't know you from Adam. Don't you think it was rather vain of you to imagine that she would?"

"I was afraid of it, sir," said Tom; "that was all."

"And very natural, too," said his master kindly. "I quite enter into your embarrassment and only fear I said more than I meant in the heat of the moment last night. You must forgive me, Thomas. It was unpleasant for you, I admit, but you won't mind another day of it, will you? One more day will end it—for the present."

The swarthy countenance was more radiant than ever. Tom was nonplused.

"Only one more day?"

"For the present," repeated Daintree. "The ladies return to Sydney this afternoon. They go to the Pulteney. Shall I tell you why—shall I tell you why?"

And now one man was on fire, but the other felt a chill run down him as he nodded his head. He could not speak.

"Because it's to be at once!" cried Daintree, beside himself with joy. "Because a special license is to be had by paying for it, so why on earth should we wait for banns? My boy, we shall be married by the end of the week. Only think of it! I can't believe it myself. It's weeks sooner than I dared to hope. But women are all alike. The very best of 'em, Thomas, will take you by surprise if they can. What do you think? I'd tell this to no other living man. When I met her on board no day was too distant, and before we said good night it couldn't be too soon!"

The fine eyes glistened; the deep voice shook. There was no doubt about this man's love. But Tom was thinking of his darker side, and it had never seemed so dark before, for never before had he allowed himself to dwell upon it without shame. Now this was a duty. The point of view was changed, and the regrettable in Tom's benefactor became the intolerable in Claire's husband. Could she be happy with so dangerous a combination of the spoilt child and the unscrupulous tyrant? Would she be safe? Tom sweated with the thought. It was horribly entangled with that of his debt to Daintree. Yet for all that was in his heart the fitting and conventional speech passed his lips, and he found himself shaking the other by the hand.

"Congratulate me?" cried Daintree. "I should think you did! You have only to see her to know how happy she will make me. She is a sweet, true, unselfish girl. She has beauty and goodness and strong common sense. She can appreciate and admire and understand. She is the poet's ideal. I have been longing for her all my life. And then her manner! She will be a leader of society when I come to my own. Yes, Thomas, you may well congratulate me. She is going to make me the very happiest of men. I can see her now—friend of the wits, patroness of all the arts, gracious queen of an ideal salon—when the exile returns to his own."

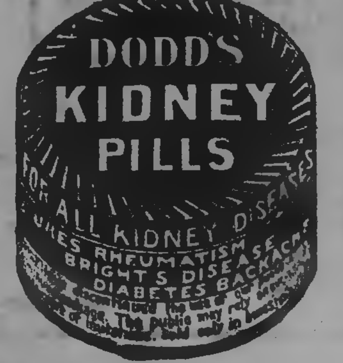
And doubtless he could also see himself—as Tom could see him—swelling with happiness and pride and satisfaction. Her happiness he appeared to take for granted. It might be unfair to say that he never thought of it at all, but he very seldom spoke of it even to Claire.

Tom was in and out at breakfast. He contrived to be out as much as possible. Her face tortured him. He saw marks like bruises beneath the lustrous eyes that never looked his way. He noted the nervous effort of her conversation while he was present. But after breakfast, when he must have met her face to face on the veranda, she turned her back upon him in a manner not only pointed, but barbed. And for awhile his compassion deserted him altogether.

Claire was indeed not herself. Her indisposition became more and more transparent, and when she ultimately confessed to a perfectly sleepless night Daintree put it down to her great happiness and was the first to insist that she should "run away and rest" till luncheon. Lady Starkie, on the other hand, made herself extremely comfortable, quite doting on the harbor and Rose bay, while she declared that she had seldom felt better in her life. Nevertheless when her host began reading her his poems a faintness overcame the lady before he had got very far. It was quite inexplicable and most disappointing, but she feared that both Claire and herself were still suffering from the effects of the atrocious table on board that horrible ship. So Lady Starkie followed Claire upstairs, with the poems, which she took care to leave there when she came down again.

To be continued.

Reeve Crawford, of Tillbury, is to retire.



IS OVERRATED EVERYWHERE

Canada is Known in China by the Seductive Name of "The Gold Mountain"

Great Britain is not the only place in which immigration boomers have as much optimism as a theatrical advance agent. According to Mr. Geo. Thomas, the proprietor of the Dominion Cafe, the people in the Flowery Kingdom are made to believe that money can be found on sidewalks, houses and other places in this country and that all those who want it have to do is to pry it off with a stick. Canada is known as "The Gold Mountain," and the subjects of the Dowager Empress have sweet dreams of the riches to be so easily obtained here.

AMUSEMENTS

DORA THORNE.

This beautiful play will be the attraction at the Grand on Christmas day, matinee and night. You all know the play. You will like the players.

It is a timely reminder that all enduringly successful acting plays are necessarily and largely melodramatic in their construction. They have to be so in order to admit of powerful situations, striking scenery, effective contrasts and emotional scope. In several instances during the past season this was decisively demonstrated. Among dramas "Dora Thorne" is conspicuous for power of plot, realistic force and scenic and spectacular originality and perfection. The fun and frolic, the broad humor, the sorrow and suffering, the typical characters incident to life in a big city, is plentifully introduced, making an unparalleled ensemble of sunshine and shadow, a vivid and veracious object lesson to every American.

A company of able and well known players has been engaged to interpret the piece, and the stage settings are said to be extremely beautiful, showing many New York localities new to the theatre world.

Many Skaters; Opening Night

Brock Street Rink Thronged by Happy Crowd

There was a big throng of skaters at Brock street rink last night for the opening of the season. The ice was in good shape, although it became soft in the latter part of the evening owing to the numerous skaters and the mild weather. It was much better than expected, however, and a touch of hard frost would result in a fine sheet of ice. The 57th Regiment band was in attendance and supplied a liberal programme of good music for skating. The rink was open from eight o'clock till ten, and many of the skaters were loath to leave the ice when the last bell rang.

IT'S A SIGN THAT IS SEEN

Mr. C. R. Banks, the local sporting goods dealer, has one of the most striking and favorably located signs ever erected in Peterborough placed near the skating rink and toboggan slide at Jackson Park. It is effectively illuminated at night and by reason of its lettering and position has an almost annoying publicity. It is the work of the artists of Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons sign painting department.

REMAINS WERE LAID TO REST

Little Arthur Hutchison Met Awful Death—Funeral This Afternoon

The remains of little Arthur Hutchison, who lost his life in Cobourg on Tuesday, arrived in the city this morning. The funeral took place this afternoon at 2 o'clock to the Little Lake cemetery. Further particulars of the accident have been received. How the fatality happened is not known. His mangled body was found beside the G.T.R. track that runs between the wharf and the station, showing that he had been dragged some distance beneath the cars. The little fellow was seven years of age and was the son of Mrs. John Hutchison, formerly of Peterborough.

The Port Hope Guide says: Arthur Hutchison, son of Mrs. J. Hutchison, Cobourg, met with a terrible accident yesterday afternoon when returning from school. He was riding from the station to the wharf on the ferry cars, when he slipped and fell underneath. Before the train could be stopped several cars had passed over him, and he was badly mangled. Deceased was eight years old.

WHO OWNS THE FOX?

To the Editor of the Review.

Please, Mr. Editor, can you tell me which parties are wrong. A Smith farmer residing somewhere about the 10th line of Smith wanted to drive some fox hunters from his lot in a swamp where the land is not cultivated. After these hunters have chased this fox for miles through other farms and drove the fox in a hole in this man's swamp, and were digging it out the farmer came along and told them to get right out, and not dig the fox out. His excuse was that the hunters were tearing up too much of the good soil, and perhaps was afraid they might carry some of it away. The brother to this farmer once ordered fox hunters away from his farm, and took their fox away from them. But as these were bolder hunters, they did not go until they got their fox out and filled the good soil into the hole again, as they always do. Now if these hunters are wrong, I think it is nothing but a mean low farmer that will order fox hunters away from his swamp after them chasing the fowl destroyer for many miles.

ONE WANTING KNOWLEDGE.

JAPANESE IMMIGRATION.

Comments of Pall Mall Gazette on Duty of Situation.

London, Dec. 19.—The Pall Mall Gazette editorially says some formula will doubtless be discovered by which the suggestion of racial disability will be avoided, while sufficient powers will be secured to the Dominion to prevent the swamping of its Pacific province. That an imperative duty is laid upon them in the last named respect, Premier Laurier and his colleagues can no longer remain doubtful. It is a duty which would demand discharge in the last resort, even at the cost of a new commercial treaty with Japan and whatever advantages in the way of international commerce may have been secured to Canada by that arrangement.

The Pall Mall Gazette says there has been an ominous silence in official quarters during the progress of consideration by the Board of Trade. At the present moment the prospect of any action in the matter of the all-red route is not particularly vivid. It would be a highly expensive business, and despite the willingness of Canada, Australia and New Zealand to share the outlay, there could not fail to be a heavy annual charge left upon the resources of the British Exchequer.

Hotelkeeper Blamed.

Ridgetown, Dec. 19.—That Duncan Johnson died in his buggy from suffocation was the verdict of the coroner's jury yesterday. The jury also finds that Patrick Collins, hotelkeeper at Muirkirk, and Roy Green, the latter having rode with deceased, were guilty of carelessness. Dr. Lake, who performed the post-mortem, found that Johnson's face had been muffled by his overcoat while intoxicated, and that he had died from suffocation.

Crown Attorney Smith of Chatham argued that the hotelkeeper should not have allowed the man to start home in such a condition of intoxication.

Flagman Lost Nerve.

Fort William, Dec. 19.—An inquest will be held at Schreiber to-day.

There are two or three stories of the accident, but the one given most credit states that the foreman of the section gang sent a flagman to warn the engineer before he commenced repairing the track. The flagman, an Italian, was crossing a long trestle when he saw the approaching train. Losing his nerve he thought only of himself and hung on to the side of the trestle while the train thundered by to destruction.

Jews Ordered Away.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 19.—A despatch received here from Vladivostok declares the Jews have been ordered to depart within four days. Jewish property-holders, however, are given 18 days in which to liquidate.

Record-Breaker Turbiner.

Southampton, Dec. 19.—The turbine torpedo-boat destroyer Tartar broke all records in fast steaming in her final trials over the official course, attaining a speed of 37.037 knots. She also established a new record for a six hours' trial, covering 233 miles in that time.

They Were Seven.

New York, Dec. 19.—Seven young Scotch women who arrived aboard the Anchor Line steamship California found out before the ship was half a day from Glasgow that they were all bound for America on a similar mission—marriage.

Two Montcalm Memorials.

London, Dec. 19.—(C.A.P.)—According to a statement issued by the Paris press, two monuments are to be erected in memory of Montcalm, who commanded the French against Wolfe. One monument will be placed at Vanvert, the birthplace of Montcalm, the other at Quebec. The promoters of the scheme have secured the patronage of the presidents of the Senate and chamber and a number of prominent Canadians.

Schooner Sunk In Collision.

Vineyard Haven, Mass., Dec. 19.—The schooner Jesse Barlow of Mystic, Conn., was run down and sunk in Pollock Rip Slue by the tug Lehigh at 8.80 o'clock Tuesday night and her crew of six men brought here yesterday.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY
Take LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine Tablets Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c

Children's Aid Society
FOR THE CARE OF NEGLECTED AND ILL-TREATED CHILDREN.
Incorporated by Act of Legislature, 1898. Information required. Informants name kept strictly private.
CHILDREN FOR ADOPTION
Office Hours—11.00 to 12.00 a.m.
FFICE—DIVISION COURT BLDG.
GEO. COCHRANE.
Agent and Ass't Sec

MONEY IN YOUR POCKET

Give your family a Xmas Present—a snug little home for your own. We have some at valuation that would agreeably surprise you and be money in your pocket.

$900 and $1300—Brick house, six or eight roomed; two story.
$1500—Nice brick, well finished inside, near Can. Gen. Electric Co.
$1800 Fine new brick, two storys; large lot, south city
$2350—Brick, central location, modern, electric light, city water, bath, sewer connection, nice large house.
$2800 Artistic brick house, large garden, well planted with fruit; house has all modern conveniences and a nice sunny location.
$3250—Beautiful residential location; large lot with stable. House solid brick and warm; furnace and all conveniences.

Some good houses to rent cheap.

Some good farms throughout the district for sale. Farm lands in the Great West and on the Pacific Coast. City lots in Vancouver. Double your money in a year. See us for particulars.

BELL & TAYLOR
Real Estate. Fire Insurance
Office—376 Water Street.
Office Phone—493B House Phone 547B

WE ARE USING PURE CANADIAN MILK IN Cowan's Milk Chocolate, Croquettes, Wafers, Cakes, Medallions, Etc.
Cowan's Cream Bars
ARE DISTINCT FROM ALL OTHERS IN PURITY AND FINENESS OF FLAVOR.
The COWAN CO., Ltd., TORONTO

FOR THE LADY WHO CALLS

Visiting List and Social Engagement Book—A Dainty and Useful Gift.

Those ladies who find it difficult to keep track of their social debts in the way of calls which have to be returned, invitations to various society functions which have been received will be pleased to learn that a dainty little book has been issued from the presses of the Review which will fill their need. The city has grown so rapidly of late years that it has become almost necessary for each lady to have a special reception day each month when her friends will be sure to find her at home. To keep a record of these will be an easy matter with one of these little books. They are prettily bound in blue linen, lettered in gold and printed on good paper. There are two pages for every day in the month, arranged, according as the day is, first Monday, second Tuesday, etc. At the back of the book are pages for invitations received, out-of-town addresses, special reception dates, and memoranda. One of the books would make a dainty and acceptable Xmas gift. The books are on sale at the bookstores at the price of 50c

EGGS
FOR SALE by the case
Fresh and Pickled Choice Stock at our warehouse, Robinson Street, East City
Scott&Hogg
PHONE 264, BOTH PHONES

HOCKEY SKATES
From 75c to $5.00
Skates repaired and sharpened General machine work.
METHEREL'S CYCLE WORKS
225 Hunter Street

CENTRAL LIVERY STABLES
AND
VETERINARY INFIRMARY
193 Hunter Street, west of Oriental
If you wish a rig of any kind for any occasion ring us up and you will find everything up-to-date in the livery line. Both Phones 278. Night Phone Bell 425 B
D. McKERCHER, V.S.

YOUR OWN HAIR MADE UP AS DESIRED . .
By home talent, where you are sure of satisfaction, or matched correctly in shade and quality.
Switches, Natural Wavy Pomps Latest Coiffures
Let us show you what we can do before you patronize some outside party. We guarantee to please you at lowest prices in the city.
Back Hair Dressing, Shampooing, etc.
MRS. BYRNE'S
George Street Second Door North of Dutton's

Private Greeting Cards

THE highly colored and lithographed Christmas Card in vogue a few years ago has passed away entirely.

IN place has come the much more appropriate Personal Greeting Card.

OF these the Review Office is showing a great many original designs.

YOUR order should be given immediately, while the selection is so complete.

SHOULD you desire Card specially designed to your order, promptness is absolutely necessary.

The Review
HUNTER STREET
PETERBOROUGH

ESTIMATES AND RESULTS

The evidence before the Royal Commission showed that over 700 SUN LIFE policies had already matured and that in thirty-four per cent. of the cases the amounts originally estimated as likely to be received at the end of the terms, had been realized or exceeded. On all the cases combined the average amount paid had been about ninety-seven per cent. of the estimate. The management may be pardoned for being proud of this record. The estimates now in use since 1900 are lower than former ones, and premiums are higher, so that present estimates should certainly be realized. Statements were also filed showing that $108 is on hand for every $100 required to pay the amounts called for by the present estimates for every deferred profit policy on the books, and this without taking into account the Company's great and increasingly valuable contingent fund. Our policyholders are therefore justified in being particularly optimistic in regard to the Company's probable future profits.

Some one has said, "the true value of a life assurance policy must be gauged by the security of the protection given: if it proves to be a good investment, all the better; when both are shown, there is nothing on earth to equal it."

The security of the protection affodred by the Sun Life of Canada needs no comment, and the profits paid—let our results tell their own forceful story.

W. H. HILL,
Mgr. Central Ont.

AN INVITATION

We cordially invite every one interested in something select for Christmas, to visit our store and note the fine lines, perfect quality and moderate prices here shown. Affection can prompt nothing more appropriate than some of the following suggestions;

Gentlemen's Gold Watches, $10 to $40
Ladies' Gold Watches, $10 to $35
Diamond Rings, 3 Leading Specials, $15, $25, $50
Pearl Rings a Multitude of Designs, $3 to $20
Gold Cuff Links, 14 Karat, $5 to $7
Gold Lockets, $5 to $10
Signet Rings, (Gentlemen's) $5 to $10
Pearl Brooches, Delightful Patterns, $5 to $35
1847 Rogers Knives and Forks at Special Prices

No trouble to show Goods. Call and inspect them.

WARNE'S
345 GEORGE STREET

SNAPS FOR XMAS
Ebony Mirrors
Ebony Hair Brushes
Ebony Clothes Brushes
Ebony Manicure Sets
Ebony Military Brushes
Real Seal Skin Purses
Hand Satchels
Ladies' Companions
Gentlemen's Companions
Perfumes, etc.
at lowest prices
WARNE BROS.
345 GEORGE ST. PHONE 527

Xmas Photos

Send a family group or the children's photos to your friends at Christmas. Nothing is appreciated more than such remembrances, from

MENDEL'S STUDIO
374 1-2 George St Entrance next Okes

A negro was hanged, and his body riddled with bullets, by a white mob in Shreveport, La., yesterday. His crime was resenting a remark of a white man.

SEE OUR GRAND WINDOW DISPLAY OF XMAS SNAPS

Fountain Pens—fully guaranteed—Solid Gold Points—Just two grades—Regular pric $2.50 and $3.50. Our price this week only

$1.50 and $2.50

With each $1.50 sale we will give a 50c bottle of perfume FREE.

With each $2.50 sale we will give a $1.00 bottle of perfume FREE.

Just a limited number of pens.

Perfume either in bulk or in fancy bottles. Your own choice.

NUGENT DRUG CO.
386 GEORGE STREET

INTEREST PAID
QUARTERLY
—ON—
SAVINGS DEPOSITS of $1 and upwards
—THE—
BANK OF OTTAWA

Interest paid
February 28
May 31
August 31
November 30

PETERBOROUGH BRANCHES:
George Street, also Corner Rubidge and Townsend Streets

A. A. HOLLINGSHEAD, Mgr.

Arrested on Charge of Bigamy

Young Man Faced Serious Offence in Police Court To-day—Was Remanded

A young man of this city faced a serious charge in the police court this morning when he was accused of bigamy. Mr. G. Gordon appeared for the prisoner and stated to His Worship that in case the statement of the defence was accepted he would plead guilty. Mr. R. E. Wood, for the Crown, explained that in such cases it was usual for to plead and then give the statement and if His Worship did not then accept it, he could change the plea.

Mr. Gordon then on behalf of his client pleaded guilty and elected summarily trial.

It appears that in the month of October last the defendant married a woman in Hastings county, having at the time a wife residing in Peterborough. The second wife procured the license, and when the young man was in a state of intoxication took him to a minister and had the ceremony performed.

The prisoner was remanded for a week and in the meantime, Chief Rossel will communicate with the Chief of Police where wife number two resides.

William Cotter is the new president of the Pere Marquette Railway.

ADAMS' LIST
—OF—
ECONOMIC SUGGESTIONS FOR CHRISTMAS SHOPPERS

Our showing of useful articles suitable for Christmas Gifts is large and attractive. Each year the demand is increasing for the gifts that are useful. Below is a list of such useful articles for the gift-giving season. ADAMS' is your store for popular gifts at popular prices.

SILK BLOUSES
A Silk Blouse is a gift that any lady will appreciate. At our prices they are within the reach of all. Xmas Blouses at from $1.98 to $10.00

MUSLIN
We are showing a splendid range of fine quality Muslin Blouses for the Xmas trade at from
$1.50 to $5.00

LADIES' XMAS NECKWEAR
We claim to give you the best values in Ladies' Neckwear in the city. A fancy Collar is an acceptable gift. Hundreds of beautiful collars to choose from—Prices from 25c to $1.25

VISIT ADAMS'
When looking for a useful Xmas gift for the ladies.

LADIES' UMBRELLAS
Our range of beautiful Umbrellas for Xmas gifts is very tempting—An umbrella gift is sure to please—Prices at from
$1.50 to $6.00

HANDKERCHIEFS
Are always acceptable Xmas gifts—In our range are all the newest designs in Fancy Embroidered, Scolloped edge, Fancy Chicks—special values at from 3c to 75c

KID GLOVES
Are popular gifts inexpensive and always appreciated. We give you only the reliable makes—"guaranteed." All Kid Gloves boxed in fancy glove boxes with the season's greetings at $1.00, $1.25, $1.50
Special values in long Kid Gloves at
$2.25 and $3.00

Harry Adams

Engine and Cars Jumped Track!

Mixed Train From Lakefield Wrecked at Auburn Last Night

Engineer and Firemen Had Exciting Time

Passengers in Coaches at Rear Were Severely Jolted

Cause of Accident Unknown—Some Mysterious Features

Engine and two cars and a cattle car derailed and damaged.

Place—East side of river near Auburn, about 500 yards from bridge crossing the Otonabee.

Time—5.15 o'clock last evening.

Extent of damage—$500.

Cause of wreck—Unknown.

No one hurt. Track cleared at 11 o'clock last night.

The engine of the Grand Trunk mixed train from Lakefield, which is due at Peterborough at 5.15 p.m., jumped the track near Auburn last night. Two empty box cars and a cattle car loaded with hogs were also derailed. The engine was badly damaged and the box cars will also have to go to the repair shop. The engineer and fireman had a miraculous escape from injury. There were two passenger coaches at the rear of the train, but none of the passengers were injured, with the exception of receiving a severe jolt when the derailment occurred.

The wreck occurred on the east side of the river and a few hundred yards north of the bridge which crosses the Otonabee just below Auburn. The train consisted of an engine, several box cars, a cattle car, two or three empty coal cars, a flat car loaded with lumber and two passenger coaches. Two box cars were next the engine, then came the cattle car, and after that the coal cars.

At the point where the wreck occurred there is a sharp curve, the track swinging to the west before crossing the bridge. A switch also leaves the main track running down the east side of the river through Ashburnham. The train was travelling at about ten miles an hour when the derailment occurred. The engine jumped the track, and in doing so broke away from the cars. It ran along beside the rails for about thirty feet, ploughing up the ground to the depth of several feet, and finally came to a standstill, leaning over partially on its side, the smoke stack pointing towards the east. The tender broke away from the rest of the engine and turned completely upside down, and a section of the wheels become detached and were thrown about twenty feet from the rest of the engine. The engine went off to the east side of the track. The engineer, W. J. Fee, and the fireman, Dave O'Brien, both of Peterborough, were both in their seats when the engine went off the rails, and both escaped without the slightest injury. Their escape was almost miraculous for had the tender crashed in on them instead of breaking away, their escape from injury, or, perhaps, death, would have hardly been possible.

CARS JUMPED.

When the engine broke away and left the track, the remainder of the train continued to run along on the rails at a lively rate. About thirty yards from the spot where the engine was lying, the box car, which had been next the engine, tumbled off to the east side of the track, and the cars behind it went with it. The first one came to a stop about thirty feet from the rails and the second one wound up its flight lying partly across the track. The cattle car was a double decker and the lower section was filled with hogs. It was the third car from the engine, and went off to the west side of the track, the box car across the rails forcing it in that direction. It was lying on its side, but was not broken or damaged. None of the pigs were killed and once the car came to a stop, they seemed quite contented with their quarters, and only an occasional grunt drew the attention of the onlookers to the presence of the porcine element. The remainder of the cars did not leave the track, and were not damaged at all.

PASSENGERS NOT HURT.

The passengers got out and walked down town. They received a severe jolt when the derailment took place, but the number of cars between the engine and the passenger coaches greatly lessened the shock.

The auxiliary from Lindsay arrived shortly after eight o'clock, and by eleven o'clock the track was cleared. The cars were got back on the track and the box cars were taken to the local shops to be repaired. An engine brought the remainder of the train to its destination. The engine, being clear of the rails, was not touched last night.

The news that the train was wrecked spread rapidly, and scores of people went to Auburn to see what had happened.

There is a variety of opinion as to what caused the engine to jump the track. As far as can be learned, there was nothing wrong with the rails. In some quarters it is believed that the frog where the switch branches off, was defective, but the engine did not leave the rails until it had passed the frog. As the train was not travelling at a high rate of speed at the time, it does not seem probable that its speed would not permit it making the curve safely. The strange part of the wreck is the fact that the box cars jumped the track after running about thirty yards past the spot where the engine went off.

The wreck did not cause any delay in traffic as there are no trains running between Peterborough and Lakefield after the evening train comes in.

The total damage is estimated at about $500.

Another Horrible Explosion In Pennysivania Coal Mine

400 Men Were at Work and None Escaped—So Far Rescuing Parties Not Able to Enter Mine Owing to Dense Smoke and Flames.

Special to J. R. Heintz &Co.

Pittsburg, Pa., Dec. 19.—An explosion occurred at about 11.30 this morning in the Darr mine, of the Pittsburg Coal Co., at Jacob's Creek, in Westmoreland County, about forty miles from this city, on the B. & O. R. R.

There were 400 men at work in the mine when the explosion occurred, and none escaped.

The force of the explosion closed up the entrance of the shaft, and this, together with smoke and flames issuing from the mine, has prevented any rescuing parties to enter.

The cause of the accident is not known. Of the 400 men employed, about 100 were Americans, and the remainder Hungarians.

At 1.30 p.m. the Pittsburg Coal Company had received no information regarding the disaster.

The fire in the mine is still raging, and no entrance has yet been effected.

Good News for Employees Of Grand Trunk Company

Pension Fund is Started—Every Man on Road to Benefit—Must Quit Service When 65 Years of Age.

Local employes of the Grand Trunk will be interested in the following despatch from Montreal:—

A splendid Christmas box was handed out to its employees by the Grand Trunk to-day in the announcemet of a new and generous pension system for its men. The new system includes every man of the line, from Charles M. Hays down to the humblest wiper or section man. It is started by an appropriation of $200,000, and it is calculated that the income from this will have to be supplemented by further votes of about $75,000 a year.

The new pension system will go into effect on January 1st, and will compel the absolute retirement of every employee when he reaches the age of 65. If he has entered the service before the age of 50, and has served more than 15 consecutive years, he will be entitled to a pension of 1 per cent. of the higest average salary paid for any 10 years multiplied by number of years' service. Thus, a man averaging $1,000 a year for any 10 years, who has served the company for 30 years, will be entitled to a pension of $300 a year. Any man over 50 discharged without cause and otherwise eligible for pension, will also be entitled to a proportionate pension to his years of service.

This pension fund will be entirely contributed by the Grand Trunk, the men being assessed not at all for it; the fund will be administered by a board selected from the official staff, and the benefits of the pension system will apply to all employees, accidentally or otherwise, incapacitated in the company's service.

Ketchecum Hunt Club Sends Xmas Box to Mr. Dennistoun

The Ketcheum Hunt Club to-day forwarded Mr. R. M. Dennistoun, of Winnipeg, an attractive Christmas present in the shape of an artistic booklet of scenes of their annual camp during the hunting season. The views—about thirty in number—are remarkably clear and life-like, and are the excellent work of Mr. R. M. Roy. They have been mounted on mounting board and the collection is in album form. On the outside is a picture of Mr. Dennistoun and one of his favorite hunting dogs. The brochure contains greetings from the club to Mr. Dennistoun coupled with the wish for many happy returns of the holiday season.

Among the scenes displayed in the splendid pictorial production are canoeing on the lake, the deer at camp, the shanty, glimpses of the woods, and also Messrs. Campbell, Winch, LeBrun and Munro each carrying the carcass of a deer from the camp to the canoes, previous to starting for home.

Pictures are also shown of the Gold Lake Hunting party, the Eagle Lake Hunting party, the Casement-Fraser party, from Lakefield, and the Bottle Lake party. Mr. Dennistoun was a former enthusiastic member of the Ketchecum Club and always went with them to camp. Mr. Roy in assembling the various photos has exercised fine judgment and delicate taste.

The Ketchum party, who sent the interesting souvenir to-day, is composed of Messrs. H. C. Winch, captain, H. LeBrun, Wm. Irwin, Robt Gibbs, G. W. Bennett, H. A. Morrow, Archie Morrow, Hazen Ritchie, M. Comstock, G. L. Hay, R. J. Munro, P. Campbell, R. G. Kingan, W. G. Morrow, Norman Hatton and S. Anderson. Messrs. Alex. and Theodore Simpson are guides and Mr. A. Jackson chef.

Golden Wedding Was Celebrated

Mr. and Mrs. Charles McNeill, of Douro, celebrated their golden wedding yesterday. There was a large gathering at the house. The honored couple received a number of valuable presents. All the members of the family, except two, were in attendance. A most enjoyable time spent.

Entertainment at Zion Church

A Christmas entertainment was held at Zion church, in Smith township last night, at which a number of people from this city were in attendance. Rev. Dr. Metzler, pastor of the Bridgenorth circuit, was in the chair, and an excellent programme was provided. Refreshments were also served.

No Raise in Post Office Box Rents

To Those Living Outside the City—Notification Received To day

Col. H. C. Rogers, postmaster, today received the following message from Dr. R. M. Coulter, deputy postmaster general, Ottawa.:

"Box rents to those living outside of city limits and who do not enjoy letter carrier delivery to be same as before; writing you today."

It will be remembered that the post office authorities here were notified a few weeks ago that, owing to the free mail delivery service, the rent of boxes would be doubled. These boxes which were leased at $2, $3, 5, and $7.50 respectively, would after January 1st be increased to $4, $6, $10 and $15 a year.

This was felt to be an injustice, to many farmers who rented boxes, and who received no benefit from free street delivery.

The matter was taken up by the city council, and the clerk instructed to communicate with the department at Ottawa with a view to obtaining a reversal of this decision so far as it affected those living in the country. Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P., also took the question up, and it is pleasing to record that the agitation has met with success.

XMAS CHEER
Customers, Young Ladies, Young Gentlemen, Friends, will do well to patronize James R. Bell this year, as he has everything fresh and good Fry's Chocolate 10 and 25c Cream Candies Walnuts, Almonds, Filbert, Navel Oranges. Mexican Sweet Oranges. 161 Hunter St. tdf

UNRELIABLE NEWS

The Review does not desire to receive from anybody any information that is not of a reliable character. A couple of days ago an item appeared, in which the name of a local business man was mentioned. While the news in question was not of a nature calculated to do him any harm, he objected to any publicity in the matter, and especially, as he says it was absolutely without foundation. It is a rather serious matter to supply false information to the press, and what may appear to be a trivial matter, may turn out to be of a serious and compromising character for the person or persons supplying misleading intelligence.

Owen Sound wants the Underwriters to put the town in class A., thus reducing insurance rates 15 per cent.

ESTABLISHED 1873

WE WANT TO MAKE THIS A RECORD DECEMBER

This is the 35th Anniversary of the City Clothing Store and we want our customers and we want the public to join us in making this December the "best ever." To accomplish this we have Reduced everything in the store in price until New Year's. Every Customer gets a benefit:—

Good Tweed Working Overcoats	5.00 to 6.00
Fine Winter Overcoats	7.00 to 8.50
Melton and Beaver Overcoats	Special at 10 00 to 15.00
Heavy Tweed Suits	4.50 to 7.00
Scotch Tweed and Worsted Suits	8.00 to 12.00
Fine Black Worsted Suits	10.00 to 15.00
Fine Worsted or Tweed Pants	2.50, 3.00, 4.00
Good Heavy Wool Working Pants	1.00, 1.50, 2.00
Boys' Cosy Winter Overcoats	3.00 to 4.50
Boys' Storm Proof Overcoats	4.00 to 6.50
Boys' 3-piece Suits	2.50 to 4.50
Boys' 2-piece Suits	1.50 to 2.50
Scotch Shetland Wool Underwear, reg. 75c	.50
Elastic Ribbed Underwear, Utica Brand, fleecelined, reg. 90c for	65
or for the Suit	1.25
Heavy Wool Ribbed Shirt and drawers, regular 60c for	.45
Fleece lined	45, 50
Very fine qualities of Scotch Wolsley and Natural Wool Underwear, up to	2.50

ORDERED WORK—If you need an Overcoat or Suit made to order before New Year's, you can't find a choicer selection of cloth to pick from. Best of work and satisfaction.

H. LeBrun & Co.
Two Entrances George and Hunter Sts

Ladies' Hand Bags and Purses

Just the thing for Useful and Beautiful Gift now on display at the store that gives the largest choice, the best leathers and closest prices.

Ladies' and Gentlemen's TRAVELLING SATCHELS and TRUNKS of all kinds, in the largest selection in the city.

B. SHORTLY SIGN OF THE BIG HORSE AT THE DOOR
TELEPHONE No. 319

Euchre Contest at Club Room

Will be Held This Evening by Young Conservatives

The last weekly entertainment in the Young Conservative Club rooms, until after the holiday season, will be held this evening at 8 o'clock. There will be a progressive euchre contest and it is expected there will be a large attendance.

James R. Bell, Grocer, 161 Hunter St., is booking orders for Turkeys, Geese and Chickens for Xmas. Call and see him.

BORN

COSFORD.—On Thursday, December 19th, at 382 Stewart street, a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Cosford.

Port Hope votes January 5th on a bylaw raising $7,400 for the construction of an electric light plant.

Xmas Drawing Near

You have only a few days to consider where to place your order for Brandies, Scotch, Irish and all kinds of Wines, Ales, etc.

Don't hesitate a moment but come direct to Mitchell's, 141 Hunter St. where you will get nothing but pure whiskey, (not Otonabee water.) Don't forget to ask for Mitchell's Special Rye Whiskey, the only reliable draught goods sold.

Sweet Cider for sale.

Leave your order early.

F. J. R. MITCHELL
141 Hunter St. — Phone 380

WE WISH YOU
A Merry Xmas

We point with pride to our selections of Men's Furnishings for the Holiday trade. We've

Exclusive and Elegant Neckwear
Best Makes of Gloves
Perfection in Shirts and Collars
Best Brands of Underwear
Choice Hosiery, Mufflers
Night Robes, Umbrellas
House Coats, Fancy Braces, Etc.

If you're still undecided just what to buy him for Christmas, we'll take pleasure in showing you a host of things he would be delighted to have.

LANG & MAHER
CLOTHIERS AND FURNISHERS TO MEN WHO KNOW
409 411 George Street Peterborough

A Beautiful Collection of Seamless Axminster Rugs Offered at Substantial Reduction from Real Worth

There could be no more opportune time than now for such a sale to occur, for everyone appreciates what a touch of freshness a new rug gives to a room and what a genuine pleasure such an acquisition brings to the home during the holidays. Rugs combine a durability of texture with rich, lasting color tones in beautiful new designs to a degree which emphasizes the fact that they were exceptionally good values at their original prices.

At Sale Prices These Rugs are Distinctly Great Bargains

ARGUS AXMINSTER RUGS

The design and coloring of this beautiful $125.00 Rug are reproduced from an an antique rug ten times the price. It is made from a particularly strong Scotch Worsted Yarn, equal to silk for lustre, very deep pile. If you want long wear as well as artistic merit, here's your opportunity

Xmas Sale $97.00

SAXONY RUGS

Made from the best English Worsted Yarn in brilliant and genuine colors, solid and durable in quality, suitable for any room. We show a beautiful pair of Saxony Rugs for drawing room and dining room, size 11 ft 6 x 8 ft 3

Xmas Sale, each $37.50

MOHAIR RUGS

There's nothing nicer for the fireplace or arch than one of these fine rugs, size 33 inch x 75 inch

Xmas Sale $18.00

VICTORIAN PARQUET RUGS

These beautiful Scotch Axminster Rugs are superior to all other makes of rugs for service and artistic appearance for the same money; all woven in one piece without any seams. We can have made to your order any width up to 15 ft. and any length required. Two sizes special for Xmas sale:

12 ft. x 9 ft. $37.50
10 ft. 6 x 9 ft. 32.50

GERMAN RUGS

German Axminster Rugs made from German wool, conspicuous for the genuineness and the quiet effect of the shades, binding and weaving are thoroughly solid. We consider these rugs the finest ever shown at the price size 12 ft 6 x 8 ft 3

Xmas Sale $18.00

AXMINSTER RUGS

In pretty floral designs and color combinations, splendid wearing qualities, size 30 inches x 60 inches

Xmas Sale $6.79

HEAR ALL THE LATEST MUSIC EVERY DAY THE WEEK—By Chas. E. Musgrave.

RICHARD HALL & SON, LIMITED

353 AND 355 GEORGE STREET, PETERBOROUGH
STORE OPENS AT 8 A.M. CLOSES AT 6 P.M., EXCEPT SATURDAY

FOR FINE
Lemons, Oranges
Malaga Grapes
Bananas
and all kinds of fruit and vegetables try

MINOCOLO BROS.

Wholesale and Retail.
Both Phones 437.

FAMILY RE-UNIONS AT CHRISTMAS

The opportunity to have a complete group taken may not occur again. Appointments at

THE ROY STUDIO

BROCK ST. RINK

SEASON 1907-8

Tickets for the season entitling the holder to all skating privileges, now on sale at the Examiner Office, Peterborough Bookstore, Sanderson & Co., F. A. Clarke's, Best Hardware Co., the Secretary, C. G. Graham, at the Oriental Hotel.

Gentlemen . .	3.00
Ladies	2.00
Youths, 16 to 18	2.00
Boys under 16 .	1.50
Girls	1.50

Nothing makes a better Christmas gift for your boy or girl than a Season Ticket for the Brock Street Rink.

SELECTING A LOCKET FOR CHRISTMAS

Plain Gold Lockets in either men's or ladies' styles are as popular as ever.
We have them in 10kt Solid Gold as low as $2.25 and upwards to $8.00. In 14kt Gold from $5.00 upwards to $15.00. This gives a splendid range of shapes and prices In good Gold Filled we have a fine line of lower priced goods, some of which are handsomely set with precious stones.

SCHNEIDER'S

RELIABLE JEWELLERS, 391 GEORGE STREET

THE CITY AND VICINITY

EVENTS TO-NIGHT

Brock street rink—Hockey practice 7.15; skating at 8 o'clock.

Jackson Park—Opening of toboggan slide.

Young Conservative Club rooms—Progressive euchre.

S.O.E. hall—Daughters of England elect officers.

READ THIS.

All late popular song hits at 12 1-2c. per copy, at the J. M. Greene Music Store. 3d

FLOWERS GALORE.

Great assortment of Xmas Flowers at Mason's, the Florist, 406 1-2 George street. 3d

FUR LINED COATS

We clean and press them and guarantee no injury to the fur. My Valet, 304 Charlotte street. All goods called for and delivered. dtf

MARK-ST. CHOIR PRACTICE.

Every member of the Mark street church choir is requested to be at practice this evening at eight o'clock sharp, at the home of Mrs. M. W. Matchett, 336 Mark-st.

MAKE CALENDARS.

Why not make calendars? They are pretty cheap and always acceptable. We have pictures in sepia and colors, fancy embossed cards and dainty calendar pads in many designs. See them at the Review office. 3d

SHEET MUSIC AGAIN.

We are selling the very latest in instrumental and popular Song Hits until New Year's for 12 1-2c. per copy. Buy your music from an established music house. J. M. Greene Music Co., Grand Opera House Building. 3d

LEATHER MUSIC CASES.

We have a large, well assorted stock for Xmas at close prices. Peterborough Music Co. 404 George-st. 3d1w

LADIES' AID MEETING.

A meeting of the Murray Street Ladies' Aid Society was held last night.

SIX NEW CUTTERS

McCollum & Lee have added six new handsome cutters to their livery equipment. They are all manufactured by Mr. George Fitzgerald, the local carriage maker.

LEAVE ORDERS EARLY.

Oh, my! it would be so nice if customers would leave their orders early for Xmas flowers and plants at Mason's the Florist, 406 1-2 George-st. 3d

WILL HOLD DANCE.

Among the many social functions that will take place in Peterborough during the Christmas season is the dance in the Conservatory of Music Hall, under the auspices of the Peterborough Club.

WOMEN'S AUXILIARY.

The meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of the Y.M.C.A., will be held on Friday night, December 20th, instead of on the last Monday of the month. Important business will be considered so that a large attendance of the members is requested.

XMAS GREETINGS

While doing your Christmas shopping, call at the Aylmer Street Greenhouses. Many things for Christmas gifts and also cut bloom. Order early. Open till 10 o'clock. Lit with electric lights. Wishing you all many returns of the season. J. H. Cobb, 551 Aylmer street. Phone 132.

COURT PETERBOROUGH, C.O.F.

Court Peterborough, No. 29, Canadian Order of Foresters, will meet to-morrow night in the Foresters' hall. The election of officers for 1908 will be the principal feature.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS.

There will be a special meeting of Marathon Lodge, No. 39, Knights of Pythias, on Friday evening, Dec. 20. There will be conferring of ranks on candidates, also election of officers for the ensuing year. A large attendance of members is requested

LADIES' LITREARY.

The regular meeting of the Ladies' Literary Society of St. Peter's T. A. S., will be held on Friday evening, Dec. 20th, when an essay will be read by Miss Milaney. A musical programme will also be presented. 4td

ST. ANDREW'S CHOIR

St. Andrew's choir and children's chorus will meet tonight in the church. Children's chorus at 7.15 o'clock; choir at 8 o'clock. As this will be the last practice for the Christmas music, all are requested to attend.

PERSONAL

Mr. Walter Burritt has arrived in the city from Trenton and joined the Bank of Montreal staff, taking the place of Mr. Frank Sawers, who left yesterday for Chatham, Ont., to which city he has been transferred.

The numerous friends of Mr. R. A. W. Hay will be much pleased to see him around at work after a serious attack of paralysis of the throat. He has been confined to the Nicholls Hospital for the past three months, and was able to leave that institution for the first time today. Mr. Hay is still weak from the effects of his illness, but his complete recovery is looked for at as early a date as can be expected.

Lady Palmist Has Been Given Her Freedom

Madame Ayres, the palmist, has been released after spending the night and this morning in gaol. In another column appears a report of the case against her for fortune telling. She was fined fifty dollars to be paid forthwith, or two months in gaol. Through the efforts of a friend and customer of the renowned lady, a subscription list was circulated throughout the city, and it was not long before the required amount was raised and she was given her freedom.

DEEDS ARE FRUITS; WORDS ARE BUT LEAVES

Nevertheless, we would like to say a few words about our tea leaves—our green and black tea leaves. First, they are new crop; second, they are early picked; third, they are well fired; fourth, they are good, which, as a sum total, equals the saying of a good deal. But we want to do more than say; we want to do; we want to make good the saying that "Deeds are fruits," and we will prove to you that our words are as good as our deeds if you will order us to send you a sample package of our blend. Three pounds for one dollar. J. John, Tea Man, Opera House Block, Peterborough. 2d

Knights Beat St. Peter's T.A.S.

In an interesting game of "Forty-Fives" at the T.A.S. rooms last night, the Knights of Columbus defeated the T.A.S. by 108 points to 96. There were eighteen players a side, and the match caused considerable excitement.

The Closing Exercises

Held at Central School Kindergarten—An Interesting and Very Successful Event

It was a happy and joyous gathering of children that shared in the closing exercises of the Central School Kindergarten for the year which were held this morning. The occasion was of a festive character and the chief feature of the adornments was a Christmas tree, the motive of the gathering being to teach the children that "it is more blessed to give than to receive." On the Christmas tree were hung little knick-knacks of various kinds made for the most part by the children and given to their parents. About seventy-five parents and friends of the little ones were present, and expressed their approval and delight with the happy manner in which the programme in which forty-three kindergarten pupils took part, was given. Encouraging remarks were made by Mr. Mowat, Inspector of Public Schools, and Mr. Robert Fair, chairman of the local Board of Education.

To a bright Christmas march played by Miss Carey of the Central School teaching staff, the children marched into the room and took their chairs, which were arranged in circular form. A song of the church and a song of the state were then rendered. The programme presented included many pleasing and admirably enacted features, noticeable among which was the rendering of the "Song of the Church Bells." The children during this selection realistically imitated the ringing of church bells. Simple home songs and Christmas carols were also given in an intelligent and taking manner. An appealing number was the one in which the "Sandman," cleverly impersonated by Master Henry Duggan, sang a crooning lullaby, while the rest of the children went to sleep under his mystic influence. A thorough delight was taken by the pupils in the novel and entertaining games which they played, the principal ones being "Mother Bird" and "A Toy Man's Shop." They were marked by fittingness and originality of conception. The kindergarten room was nicely decorated and in keeping with the character of the function and the near approach of the Yuletide season.

Miss Warner, the directress, and her assistant, Miss Gillespie, are deserving of the highest commendation for the success of the exercises and the efficient way in which the children carried out the programme prepared for them.

PATTERN MAKERS WANTEE

Pattern Makers wanted at once. Apply to the Canadian General Electric Company.

HOCKEY

SASSIETY AT OTTAWA.

The society editor of the Ottawa Free Press must be writing up the practices of the Ottawa hockey team. List to the following:

"All the players with the exception of Pulford appeared on the ice at 7 o'clock. The big fellow wearing his Smith's Falls sweater came on just as the Ottawa City Leaguers came out. The whole team wore their new uniforms. The very white muslin pants contrasted prettily with the red, white and black sweaters and stockings. Capt. Alf. Smith wore his little red, white and blue skull cap, which is now known from Toronto to Quebec. The players were cheered as they came out, and Pulford came in for a big reception as he stepped on the ice."

Nothing could be prettier than that touch about the "very white pants."

RUGBY

"Peterborough didn't get the Ontario Rugby Union Cup, and doesn't seem to have got very much this season except the hook."—Toronto Globe. It is rather hard to get the hook after having climbed the ladder.

PRACTICE TO-NIGHT.

The hockey team will practise at 7.15 to-night, after which the rink will be open to skaters.

THE TURF

Lindsay ice races will be held Jan. 14 and 15.

TOBOGGANING

The toboggan slide at Jackson Park will be open tonight. It is in good condition, and a big crowd is expected. The open air rink will not be ready for a few days.

LOST

ON FRIDAY LAST a Parcel of Silk wrapped in manilla, with "Nog" on the cover. Reward for return to Review Office.

Porter's Delicatessen

UT RATE GROCERY STORE

Shelled Almonds per lb	35
" Walnuts	35
Choice Black & Green Tea 3 lbs	50
Choice Coffee 17c 3 lbs	50
Select Raisins 3 lbs	.20
Dates, 3 lbs............	.25
Mince Meat, 3 lbs.......	.20
Washing Soda, 3 lbs....	.05
Cooking Figs, 4 lbs	.25
3 bottles Ketchup......	.25
3 bottles Pickles........	.25
Potatoes, per pk.........	.15
Apples, per pk	.10

410 George Street

BY-LAW No.____

A by-law to fix and provide for levying a special frontage rate upon lands in the city of Peterborough, fronting on streets and alleys upon which water mains are laid.

(Passed .... day of .... 1908.

WHEREAS by Chapter 83 of the Statutes of the Province of Ontario, passed in the seventh year of the reign of His Majesty King Edward the Seventh, it is enacted, that subject to the approval of the majority voting thereon of the electors entitled to vote at municipal elections, the Peterborough Water Commissioners shall have power by by-law to levy and charge a special rate upon the several lands, lots or parts of lots, whether occupied or vacant, fronting or abutting upon all streets, lanes and alleys in the municipality upon which water mains, from which the Commissioners are willing to supply water, are laid; such special rate to be an annual rate according to the frontage of the said lands, lots or parts of lots and not to exceed five cents per foot for such frontage and to be subject to the same discount for prompt payment as shall be allowed in respect of ordinary water rates for domestic use and to be payable at the time or times, during each year, fixed by the Water Commissioners for payment thereof.

AND WHEREAS the said Water Commissioners have decided to fix the said special rate at four and one-half cents per foot for each foot of frontage in said streets, lanes and alleys and to make the same payable on the same days and times as ordinary water rates are payable under the by-laws of the said Commissioners from time to time in force and effect.

THE PETERBOROUGH WATER COMMISSIONERS, therefore, enact as follows:—

1. This by-law shall come into force and effect on the final passing thereof.

2. An annual special rate of four and one-half cents per foot for each foot of frontage of all lands, lots or parts of lots, whether occupied or vacant, fronting or abutting upon all streets, lanes and and alleys in the city of Peterborough, upon which water mains, from which the Commissioners are willing to supply water, are laid, is hereby fixed, levied and charged, subject to the provisions hereinafter contained.

3. The said annual special rate shall be due and payable to the said Commissioners in equal portions, on the days and times specified and appointed for ordinary water rates under the by-laws of the said Commissioners, from time to time in force, and shall be subject to the same discount, on each of such payments, as is allowed by the said Water Commissioners, for prompt payment in respect of ordinary water rates for domestic use, provided, however, that upon the production by the owner or occupant of any land, lot or part of lot against which said special rate is charged and who is also the user of water from the said waterworks on the same land, lot or part of lot, of a receipt for the payment of any sum, rate or rent, chargeable for the use of such water for the same period, the Commissioners shall remit or allow to such owner or occupant, the amount so paid, as a payment on account of the said special rate, and if the sum, rate or rent paid by the said owner or occupant, as shown by the receipt therefor, shall for the same period, be greater than or equal to the said special rate, the Commissioners shall remit to such owner or occupant, the amount of the said special rate.

4. The votes of the electors of the City of Peterborough entitled to vote at Municipal elections shall be taken on this By-law on the same day as the annual election for the Municipal Council for the year 1908, and the polls will be held during the same hours, at the same places, and by the same Deputy Returning Officers and Poll Clerks as are fixed and appointed for the said annual municipal election.

5. The seventh day of January, 1908, at the hour of 12 o'clock noon, and the City Clerk's office are hereby fixed as the time when and the place where the Clerk will sum up the number of votes given for and against the by-law.

6. The fourth day of January, 1908, at the hour of 12 o'clock noon, and the office of the City Clerk, are hereby fixed as the time and place for the appointment of persons to attend at various polling places, and at the final summing up of the votes by the Clerk respectively, on behalf of the persons interested in and promoting or opposing the passing of the By-law.

NOTICE

Take notice that the foregoing is a true copy of a proposed By-law which has been taken into consideration and which will be finally passed by the Water Commissioners of the City of Peterborough (in the event of the assent of the electors being obtained thereto) after one month from the first publication thereof in The Morning Times newspaper, the date of which first publication is the tenth day of December, 1907, and that at the hour, day and place therein fixed for taking the votes of the electors the polls will be held.

S. R. ARMSTRONG,
City Clerk.

A bill is to be introduced soon in Congress by a California Congressman, to appropriate $250,000 to defray the cost of a United States Exhibit at the Japanese World's Fair four years hence.

KANDIES FOR THE KIDS

Nut Candies
Cream Candy
Pure Sugar Candy
Royal Mixed Candy

SEE OUR CANDY WINDOW

WHITE & GILLESPIE

336 GEORGE ST. Phone 208

GET YOUR HOLIDAY PHOTOS
—AT—
LENDRUM'S
They are the best and most up-to-date
170 Charlotte Streht

MADE LIKE NEW

Chenille and Tapestry Curtains and Table Covers Cleaned and Dyed Like New

For genuine satisfaction and saving the purchase of new curtains, bring your old ones to us or telephone us and we will call for them.

Sponging and pressing made a special part of our business.

PARKER'S DYE WORKS
R. M. BEACH,
Phone 250 Proprietor

LADIES, CUT THIS OUT
Dr. Cristion's
FRENCH TOILET ARTICLES
Have been placed on sale with
Miss E. Smith
567 GEORGE STREET
MANICURING, SHAMPOOING
SCALP TREATMENT and FACIAL
MASSAGE SKILFULLY DONE
Appointments made. Mach. Phone 13

Second Hand Stove Bargains
—AT—
BARRETT'S

Why pay $30 for a Heater or $40 for a Range when you can buy either for $5 to $15 at Barrett's Second Hand Store. 187 Simcoe St. next Cavanagh's

ESTABLISHED 1879

J. R. HEINTZ & CO.
STOCKS, GRAIN,
COTTON, COFFEE

J. N. BARBER, Manager
Phone 529

SANTA CLAUS at ROUTLEY'S

Santa has paid many visits to his old established Headquarters. Our 2nd floor is heavier stocked with every imaginable Toy or Gift for the little tots than ever was known in the city.

Dolls, Cradles, Hose Carts, Toy Beds, Games all kinds, Toy Carriages, Sleighs, Toy Tea Sets, Whips, Toy Wash Sets, Toy Books; Sleeping, Walking, Kid and Jointed Dolls; Building Blocks, Noah's Arks, Bugles, Drums, Reins, Mechanical Toys, Magic Lanterns, Steam Engines, Banks, Trains.

CHINA SECTION

Bread and Butter Plates, China Cups and Saucers, Jardinieres, Vases, Salad Bowls, Brush Trays, Biscuit Jars' Jelly Pots, China Tea Sets, Fancy Jugs in Sets, Dinner Sets, Chamber Sets, all the newest in natty pieces suitable for presents.

MAIN FLOOR

Manicure Sets, Brush and Comb Sets, Military Sets, Padded Poets, Catholic Prayer Books, English Church Prayer Books, Hymn Books, Bibles, Work Boxes, Collar Boxes, Glove and Handkerchief Sets, Leather Writing Cases and Desks, Music Rolls, Pocket Books, Hand Bags.

As usual we will not allow those not strictly in the fancy goods or stationery lines to compete in any way. Stick to the place that has served you well, there are none who can head us off at our own old game

TORONTO 262-4 QUEEN W ROUTLEY'S PETERBORO' 379 GEORGE ST

THE
DOMINION BANK
PAYS SPECIAL ATTENTION TO
SAVINGS ACCOUNTS
INTEREST PAID QUARTERLY
JOHN CRANE Manager
Corner George and Simcoe Sts.

SODEN'S BOOKSTORE 369 GEORGE-ST.

THE BEST CHRISTMAS STORE

Christmas is almost here. Have you bought your Christmas Presents? If not begin at once by going to Soden's. The Stock at this Store is the newest and best selected in its line in Peterborough, comprising

Books, Stationery, Pictures, Fancy Goods Leather Goods, China, Toys and Games

BOOKS

All the latest and best fiction, beautifully bound, cloth bound and padded poets, children's picture and story books. All the newest and most up-to-date gift books, ranging in prices from 10c to $3.00 each.

STATIONERY

All the best makes and designs from leading American and Canadian manufacturers--See our special Papeteries, Calendars, Christmas Cards.

PICTURES

Don't fail to inspect this stock. We are the largest importers of High Class Pictures between Toronto and Montreal. We frame on the ground and on short notice Our prices in this, as in all other lines, are RIGHT.

LEATHER GOODS

Fancy goods and China--We import direct from the factories. Our designs are the newest, our qualities the best to be had in the world's markets.

OUR PRICES are as low as you can buy inferior Goods for elsewhere, and quality considered are LOWER than any others in Peterborough. Come, see for yourself, and be satisfied.

SPECIAL PRICES ON BOOKS FOR SUNDAY SCHOOLS

SODEN'S BOOKSTORE 369 GEORGE-ST.

THE BANK'S SKATE STORE

Stock The
LUNN'S
AUTOMOBILE
CYCLE
ENGEL'S
STARR
REGAL
MIC MAC
SKATES

Come to us for your Skates and Skate Supplies

Banks Bicycle and Sporting Goods Co.
Under the Market Clock

Maccabees Elect Officers for Year

Those Who Will Guide Peterborough Tent, No. 69

Peterborough Tent, No. 69, K.O.T.M., elected officers for the year at their regular meeting last night. The election resulted as follows;

P.C.—Sir Knight A. Morrison
Com.—Sir Knight J. Killingbeck
R.C.—Sir Knight O. S. Matchett.
F.K.—Sir Knight Dr. J. A. Morgan.
Chaplain—Sir Knight Ed. Wicker.
Sergeant—Sir Knight J. H. Price.
Physician—Sir Knight Dr. J. A. Morgan.
M.A.A.—Sir Knight J. Wicker.
1st M. of G.—Sir Knight James Dodds.
Second M. of G.—Sir Knight H. Miller.
Sentinel—Sir Knight J. Hinchcliffe.
Picket—Sir Knight W. T. Arnott.
Trustees—Sir Knights R. Morrison, F. Darling and J. H. Price.
Auditors—Sir Knights J. Hinchcliffe, F. Darling, and A. Morrison.
Sick Committee—J. Watt, J. A. Dodds and J. Wicker.

The above officers will be installed at the first meeting in January, by the newly appointed D. D., Sir Knight R. Morrison. Last night's meeting was held in the Foresters' hall, Simcoe street.

Lady Palmist Fined $50 Or Two Months in Gaol

Madame Ayres Given Severe Sentence for Fortune Telling—Policeman's Brother One of Those Who Had Their Hand Read—Some Interesting Evidence

It is evidently the intention of the authorities to prohibit so-called palmists from carrying on their vocation in the city. The fortune telling population of the city formed the chief object of interest in the police court yesterday. Professor Shepherd has been committed for trial and Madame Lauret Ayres was found guilty yesterday afternoon of fortune telling, and fined fifty dollars, to be paid forthwith, or two months in jail. She had not the money with her, but said that if given four days she could get the required amount. However, His Worship would not change his decision, and the "world-renowned psychic" will sojourn on the hill until the fine is paid.

Madame Ayres styles herself as the possessor of the gift of second sight, which enables her to reveal all matters of importance of the past, present and future. Her readings, she claims, have proved to be marvellous, and in some instances she says she has told correctly where certain lost persons could be found. She claims the distinction of having told the relatives of Louis Bell, who was drowned while skating on the Trent Canal about two years ago, where his body would be found. It will be remembered there was a mystery surrounding the strange disappearance of Louis Bell as to what had happened him. Madame Ayres states that she told the family that he was drowned and the exact spot where he could be found.

Madame Ayres is a young woman, and on several occasions has visited Peterborough, and scores of citizens have consulted her.

Mr. R. F. McWilliams appeared for her and pleaded not guilty, electing to be tried summarily. Crown Attorney R. E. Wood conducted the prosecution.

The witnesses were all persons who had their palms read, and each one told about their past, present and future as revealed by the palmist.

P. C. Newhall was one of the principal witnesses, he having called upon the fortune teller, attired in plain clothes, yesterday afternoon, and had his palms read.

Mr. Fred. Newhall, brother of P. C. Newhall, was the first witness. His story was as follows: "I noticed an advertisement in the papers of Madame Ayres' wonderful ability as a palmist. I borrowed a dollar from my brother and told him I was going to have my fortune told. He said that if I did he would subpoena me. I laughed, and walked away to 330 Water street, where I interviewed Madame Ayres. She told me that I had had troubles in the past, but these she did not enumerate. She also said that I would have trouble in the future. By lines on my hands she could see that I had intentions to go west, and would do well there. 'You are a great fellow for horses, and you are thinking of going into another business, that of a milk vendor,' said Madame Ayres. She told me I had a white horse under my supervision. She warned me to be very careful, as trouble was about to arise between myself and the owner of the animal. She said that possibly I might meet a dark-haired girl in September, and this would lead to an engagement. I asked her if she thought that I would ever go back to the hunting field again, and she answered 'no.' 'Will I take a water trip soon?' I asked her. Madame Ayres replied in the negative. She also advised me to keep away from gambling." Witness remarked that most of the things told him were true. He considered the fifty cents he paid was well spent. No attempt was made to deceive him or defraud him.

SECOND READING FOR HER.

The north George street young lady who visited Prof. Shepherd also consulted Madame Ayres and gave evidence yesterday afternoon. "She told me that I was extravagant, which I am," began the witness. "She said that I was kindhearted and often misunderstood by people."

This, added the Crown Attorney, was the case with almost everyone. "I was told that I would do well in the west," continued the witness, "but that I had not met my future husband yet. I spoke to her in regard to a gentleman friend of mine, but she said that he was not a suitable life partner for me. I paid the nominal charge of fifty cents. Madame Ayres advised me to have nothing whatever to do with Prof. Shepherd."

Mr. Thos. Collard, sworn, said that he had seen Madame Ayres several times on the street. "I have never had anything to do with her at any time, or had any conversation with her." He was surprised when summoned to appear in court.

P. C. Newhall said that he got the summons for Madame Ayres, but did not deliver it. "I called on her yesterday, attired in plain clothes, and asked her if she was the fortune teller," he said. She replied "yes," and asked him to hold out his hands. Holding her hand over her eyes she said, 'You have great controlling powers and you are impulsive. You are very nervous and troubled with your throat and stomach. A friend of yours has recently died of paralysis, has he not?" asked the palmist.

The officer made no answer.

"Have you a scar on your knee?" Witness said no.

"Then you have one on your shin," argued the lady.

"Do you regret the change you made last May?" she continued.

"I made no change that I know of," answered the officer.

"Then you did in July or August," came the reply.

"You will often gain by waiting, and by your impulsive nature, but by so doing you miss good chances," continued the fortune teller. "Your life will be a long one. Let me see your nails. I cannot say how long you will live. It is not clearly shown. You are cool-headed. Have you any questions regarding the future?" she asked.

The officer had none and departed.

In cross-examination P. C. Newhall remarked that Madame Ayres did not tell his qualities very accurately.

No defence was offered. Mr. McWilliams stated that no case had been made. The witness admitted having got their money's worth, and many people told fortunes for the sake of amusement.

His Worship said he found her guilty and imposed the above fine. "I'll stop such work. It is not wholesome," he added.

STEAMSHIP MOVEMENTS

Montreal, Dec. 18 — The steamship Empress of Ireland reported 142 miles east of Cape Race, at 2 p.m. to-day. She is expected to arrive at Liverpool, at seven o'clock tomorrow night.

A number of Peterborough people sailed on the Empress of Ireland to spend Christmas in the old land.

LAID TO REST

Funeral of Joseph Moncrief Attended by Foresters and Orangemen

The funeral of the late Joseph Moncrieff took place yesterday afternoon from the residence of his nephew, George Emmerson, 210 Lake street, to Little Lake cemetery. The funeral was under the auspices of Court Chemong, I.O.F., and Col. Sanderson, L.O.L., Downer's Corners, both of which bodies sent beautiful wreaths. Court Chemong was represented by Bros. William Miles, C.R., W. G. McKee, V.C.R., and George Metcalfe, J.W. and Col. Sanderson, L.O.L. by T. Holden, secretary, C. Kinney, treasurer, and James Armstrong, who acted as pall bearers.

The deceased was a former member of Court Westwood, I.O.F., and only transferred recently to Court Chemong. The funeral services were conducted by Revs. J. G. Potter and A. H. Brace.

Mr. J. H. Burnham Lectured At Lakefield on "Dickens"

Lakefield Pastor Greeted by Empty Church at Hall's Glen--Death of Mr. Peter Ayotte--Many Travellers to and From the Northern Village.

Lakefield, Dec. 18th.

Mr. J. H. Burnham, of Toronto, an old and warm friend of the Grove school, came up on Friday last to give the schoolboys a reading from Dickens. The subject chosen was the "Christmas Carol," and it is scarcely necessary to add that Mr. Burnham treated the story worthily. His reading was marked by good dramatic effect, and electrified the small boys, especially in the part dealing with Scrooge's ghost.

Mr. Pattrick, who has been staying in Lakefield for several months past, left last week for Buffalo, N.Y.

Miss Penny left the village on Saturday last, in order to spend the Christmas holidays with friends in Toronto.

Miss Edith Strickland, who for the past eighteen months has been staying with her brother, Inspector Strickland, of the N.W.M.P., at Fort Saskatoon, Alberta, is expected home this week.

The turkey shooting match last week, which was conducted by Mr. Bob Lennox, turned out a very successful affair.

Mr. A. S. Burchart, left on Friday last for Owen Sound to which place he was suddenly called on business.

The North Smith Presbyterian church is at the present time undergoing a thorough renovation at the of Mr. Robt. Dean, of Young's Point. When finished the church will present a most attractive appearance.

The death occurred on Sunday, Dec. 15, of Mr. Peter Ayotte, of the township of Smith at the age of 56 years. The funeral took place on Tuesday, Dec. 17th, at St. Mary's cemetery, Young's Point.

Mr. John Hull, who has been visiting the back country beyond Apsley, for a few days, returned home on Saturday last.

Rev. Mr. Farney, of Buckhorn, was in the village on Monday last.

Miss McIntyre, of Keene, and Miss Renwick, of Otonabee, spent Sunday in the village as the guests of Miss Morton.

Mr. and Mrs. McBride were called away to Jones' Landing last week, owing to the death of Mr. McBride's aunt, Mrs. Thos. Ferguson.

The public school closes for the Christmas holidays on Friday next.

Miss Tanner, who has been visiting relatives and friends in Peterborough, returned home on Tuesday last.

Rev. W. J. Creighton drove to Halls Glen on Sunday to hold his usual monthly service. When he got there, after a heavy drive, he found an empty church, everybody thinking that owing to the storm there would be no service.

The funeral of Mrs. John Alcombrack took place on Thursday last. All the members of the family were present at the sad ceremony. Those who were present were; Arthur, from Duluth, Philip from Bowmanville, Mrs. Cooke from Peterborough, and Mrs. Little, from Warsaw.

Mr. Labelle, of the Cavendish Lumber Co., left for Toronto on Monday last on business connected with the firm.

Miss Blanche Graham, who has been visiting friends in Toronto, arrived home on Saturday last.

Miss Wilson spent Sunday in Peterborough visiting friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Harper spent two or three days in Bobcaygeon last week visiting friends.

Where Men Work Long Hours for 25c per Day

Wages Paid Natives on Plantations in Jamaica—Visitor From That Island Tells About Conditions There.

Persons who are inclined to grumble that the wages they receive in Peterborough are not as high as they should be, should take consolation from the fact that in Jamaica the natives work a twelve hour day for $25 cents, or $1.65 per week.

Mr. Aubrey P. Gruber, of Jamaica, who has been spending the summer with friends around Peterborough, made the above interesting statement to the Review today. Mr. Gruber is the owner of a large sugar plantation in Jamaica and talks interestingly about conditions there. 800 men are employed the year round on Mr. Gruber's plantation, all natives, or coolies, as they are called.

The average wage is 25 cents per day, and they work for twelve hours per day.

Mr. Gruber states that oranges were formerly grown extensively in Jamaica, but of late they have not been cultivated except only on a small scale, owing to the fact that the oranges from the West Indies cannot be placed on the market in time to compete with those from Florida and the Southern States. Bananas, however, are cultivated extensively and supply the market to a great extent.

Mr. Gruber leaves for the South tomorrow, sailing from New York for Jamaica. He has been the guest of his aunt, Mrs. Hennen, Chemong Road.

Artistic Design In Window Dressing

Messrs F. S. Schneider & Co's Display Attracting Much Attention

One of the most attractive Christmas windows is that of Messrs. F. S. Schneider & Co., jewellers, George street, which is a most artistic creation. In one corner are four pillars surmounted by colored electric lights and supporting a Christmas bell, which is rung by Cupid. The pillars are sheathed in white silk, and ornamented by smilax, violets and carnations. At the base of one pillar is another representative of Venus, the Goddess of Love, with bow and quiver. In another corner of the handsome window are three more pillars, also surmounted by colored lights. Several rare specimens of Teptitz china, of antique copper finish are also displayed. The ensemble effect is very pleasing, and the window is attracting much attention.

MARRIED

ROBINS—WETHERUP. — At the manse, Hastings, by the Rev. D. A. Thomson, on Wednesday afternoon of the 11th inst., Ida, daughter of Mr. Robert Wetherup, to Mr. John Robins, all of Alnwick.

KING—ENGLISH—At the residence of the bride's parents, Asphodel, by the Rev. D. A. Thomson, Hastings, on Wednesday evening, the 11th inst., Beatrice Victoria, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George English, to John King, of Percy township.

Fire broke out yesterday on the Government cruiser Vigilant, laid up for the winter at Walkerville, Ont.

A HUGE BARGAIN
AT
CUBITT'S BOOK AND FANCY GOODS STORE
ON SATURDAY, DECEMBER 21st
IN A
HANDSOME PAPETERIE
FOR 19c
"CUBITT SELLS CHEAP"

IF YOUR PIANO BEARS THE NAME
"GERHARD HEINTZMAN"
It has the excellence that comes of years of experience and study, carefully and intelligently applied.
A SINGING EVEN TONE PERFECT ACTION DELICACY OF TOUCH
combined with durability and beauty of design are the distinguishable characteristics of the "Gerhard Heintzman."
In buying a piano it is the truest form of economy to get the best, the few dollars additional in the price being returned tenfold in wear, pleasure and pride of ownership. Write for catalogue.
Gerhard Heintzman, Limited
97 Yonge Street, Toronto.
W. H. ISAAC, 228 Dublin Street, Peterborough.
Local Salaried Representative.
Machine 'Phone 22

The Daily Review

THURSDAY, DEC. 19, 1907

THE LATE MR. TARTE

The news of the sudden death of Hon. J. I. Tarte, came as a great shock to his many friends throughout Canada. The late Minister of Public Works had an interesting and spectacular career. He was the stormy petrel in many a political conflict and his record in some respects was meteoric. He was regarded as a capable minister and, whatever his faults have been no charge of graft was ever brought against his department. The late Mr. Tarte was an able journalist and wielded a strong, incisive pen. He made many enemies even in his own party and bitter foes they proved to be. Mr. Tarte knew nothing of fear. He was plain and outspoken and never attempted to conceal his convictions. He was a strong protectionist and proclaimed his views from many a platform. It was owing to his attitude on this question that he was ousted from a portfolio. Mr. Tarte always had a quaint, blunt style, of putting things and his utterances were refreshing and widely quoted. It was he who was the author of the now famous expression "elections are not won by prayers," which is almost a parallel to the aphorism of Napoleon that "God is generally on the side of the strongest battalions." It was Mr. Tarte who also exclaimed in connection with a certain transaction "Business is business." At another time, when the Liberals after promising on their accession to office that they would reduce expenditure and were being critized by the Conservatives for their extravagance, Mr. Tarte, in answer to an interrogator remarked, "Just wait until you see us next year."

The late Mr. Tarte was always genial, always courteous and deeply interested in politics. He loved to play the game; he took in it the keenest zest. He watched each move, he scrutinized every tactic.

Mr. Tarte was as restless as a child. He lived on excitement and as a journalist he was a leader, a bright and shining figure. When a cabinet minister the fascination of life in the press gallery appealed to him strongly. Whatever estimate posterity may place on the departed he will always be known as one of the most indefatigable workers in Canadian public life, a man who could give a hard jolt and take one too; a politician—keen, shrewd and aggressive—who was not afraid to proclaim his views. He was easily the most spectacular and picturesque figure in Canadian public life during the past twelve of fifteen years.

TOO VINDICTIVE

It is stated that despite the withdrawal by the Nineteenth Century magazine of insinuations contained in an article by a Canadian contributor which applied to Sir Frederick Borden, and a complete apology, the Minister of Militia will continue the suit. This at first sight seems a bit unfair to the Nineteenth Century, says the Ottawa Journal. That magazine was evidently without malice or unfair intent. The libel consisted of a paragraph which almost at the end of a longthy article was quoted from a Western Canadian paper, the quotation did not reprint the Minister's name the contributor signed his article, thus tending to further lull an editor's alertness, and altogether a very slight bit of carelessness or haste in oversight by the editor of the magazine would account for its mistake. The first thought that occurs to us regarding continued pressing of the suit despite the ample apology is that anyone who gets such an apology as the Nineteenth Century has made should accept it as ending a grievance, for the reason that a prompt, complete and unrestricted apology for any accidental mistake is honorable journalism, and that honorable journalism is a good thing for any one, public man or private citizen to respect and assist. It is possible, of course, that Sir Frederick Borden's idea in going on with a suit against the magazine is to get a legal vantage ground upon which to go after the contributor of the article, though we do not quite see how this aim needs assistance of the sort, inasmuch as the contributor wrote over his own name, and is as available and responsible already as he will be after any verdict against the magazine.

PEN POINTS

Who said that this was to be an open winter?

Have you put in a tender to become the city's banker?

Well! a week from today it will be all over and you will be full of plum pudding, turkey and good resolutions.

Pick out your aldermanic candidates. So far all aspirants for municipal honors are rather backward in coming forward.

The following despatch from Kingston appears in the Toronto press, but the member of Parliament is not named;—A member of Parliament is is likely to have an episode in the Royal Military College ventilated in Parliament. His son was rusticated for four months for offences which he stoutly denies. A trial was held here on the father's demands, which, he says, was a farce. He now wants the retirement of the authorities concerned.

The First issue of the Daily Herald, published in Lethbridge, Alberta, is to hand. It is a clean, bright, newsy sheet, and typographically very attractive, while its pages are filled with live local news. The Herald is keeping pace with the growing city of Lethbridge and is published by the Daily Herald Printing Company, of which Mr. W. A. Buchanan is managing director. He is also editor of the new paper. Mr. Buchanan is a former employee of the Review, and his many Peterborough friends feel confident that he will make a signal success of his venture. He is a clever newspaper man, of progressive ideas, and, once having his hand to the plough, there is with him no turning back.

Hon. J. I. Tarte is Dead; The End Came Peacefully

Brilliant Journalist and Politician Passes Away.

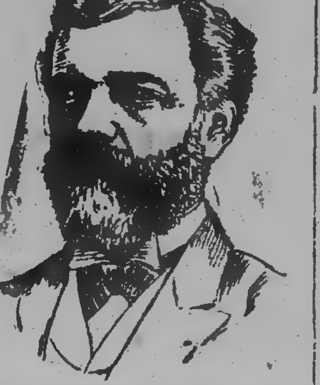
Newspaper Man Who Made Political History—Editor of La Patrie—Succumbed After Nine Days Illness—End of Striking and Useful Career—Sketch of His Life and Work—Was In Laurier's Cabinet.

Montreal, Dec. 19.—Hon. J. Israel Tarte, ex-Minister of Public Works, died here yesterday, within one month of being 60 years of age.

In the death of the political editor of La Patrie newspaper, one of the most energetic journalists of French Canada disappears forever. While all realized that Mr. Tarte was a doomed man, few believed that the end was so very near, for it was only yesterday morning that Mgr. Bruchesi administered the last rites of the church in which he had been born and which he had always expressed the wish to die.

From early manhood, when Sir Hector Langevin brought the clever young notary to Quebec to fight Hon. Joseph Cauchon in the newspaper field, Mr. Tarte was a marked man in political and journalistic life.

As editor of Le Canadien, he was one of the foremost fighters of the French Conservative party, and, strange as it may seem to those who have known Mr. Tarte during the past 20 years, he belonged in those early years to the so-called ultramontane school of religious and political thought and was looked upon by the clerical party as the champion of the militant church.



HON. JOSEPH ISRAEL TARTE:

Mr. Tarte was for many years a conspicuous and somewhat picturesque personality in Canadian political life, but because of his retirement from the Laurier Ministry in 1903 he had been since that time very much out of the public view. This had been owing, in part, to chronic invalidism, varied by acute attacks of disease by which his life had been several times put in extreme peril.

The son of a habitant farmer, he was educated for the Bar, and, like many other young French-Canadians, he mingled journalism with the practice of the law. As his journalistic aptitudes made his services appear valuable to the Conservative managers of Quebec, they purchased Le Canadien and put it under his editorial control. After serving four years as a member of the Quebec Legislative Assembly, he entered the House of Commons in 1891 as member for Montmorency, with the avowed purpose of forcing an inquiry into certain charges of corruption that had been made against Sir Hector Langevin and Thomas McGreevy, M. P., of whom the former resigned from the Thompson Ministry, and the latter was expelled from the House. When the Conservatives were defeated at the general election of 1896 he entered the Laurier Cabinet as Minister of Public Works, and was during that time exceptionally influential in securing for the new administration the support of the Province of Quebec.

General Regret at Ottawa.

Ottawa, Dec. 19.—General regret is expressed at the death of Hon. Mr. Tarte. No expression was given by any Minister, but Mr. Borden spoke as follows regarding the passing of the former Minister:

"The news of the death of Hon. J. I. Tarte comes to me as a great surprise, for I had not heard that he was seriously ill. His public career was long and eventful, and no person who sat with him in Parliament could doubt his great ability, courage, resourcefulness and breadth of view. He realized to the full the great resources of this country and its wonderful possibilities, and he was always inspired with an intense earnestness to accomplish the full development of those resources and the fulfilment of this country's great destiny.

"He was a wonderfully magnetic speaker, and perhaps never had a superior in Parliament in ability to answer rapidly and effectively criticism of the Department, and especially of his estimates. His death, while little past the prime of manhood, is deeply regretted."

Orangemen Celebrated the Day At Their Hall Last Evening

Fittingly Commemorated the 218th Anniversary of Closing of Gates of Derry--County Master, W. H. G. Armstrong, Presided—A Fine Banquet and Splendid Toast List.

It was a loyal and thoroughly enthused gathering of admirers and followers of the noble policy of William, Prince of Orange, that sat down to a sumptuous and well served spread at the Orange Hall, Simcoe St., last night, when the annual banquet of the Royal Black Preceptory, No 261, Peterborough, was held, on the 219th anniversary of the closing of the gates of Derry. Like all Orange gatherings, it was a very successful one, and was honored by the presence of several distinguished out of town guests. The banquet opened at 7.45, and the occasion was marked by many felicitous speeches and remarks of the happiest character. Sir W. H. G. Armstrong, county master, was chairman for the banquet, and presided in his usual capable manner. The toast list was a long one, and brought forth many eloquent remarks.

The number that sat round the banquetting table was a particularly large one, and judging from the way in which the good things disappeared, were delighted with the repast provided by Messrs. Coleman Bros., who were caterers for the evening.

The song, "Closing of the Gates of Derry," was one of the features of the evening, and although this time honored number has been rendered at gatherings under Orange auspices for years, it touched a responsive chord in the bosoms of the listeners, and was greeted with the heartiest applause. The proceedings opened with the singing of a verse of a sacred character, after which the toast of the King was proposed by the chairman, and was followed by the charter reading by the past preceptor, and the following toast list was then run off;

The King—The Chairman.

Charter—Past Preceptor.

Canada Our Home—Proposed by Sir J. Waldie, Response by Sir W. A. Kindred.

Royal Black Institution — Proposed by Sir Robert Wilson. Response by Sir W. A. Kindred.

The Day we Commemorate — Proposed by Sir R. E. Juby. Song, "Closing of the Gates of Derry," Response by Sir W. H. G. Armstrong.

Our United Empire — Proposed by Sir James Garside. Response by Rev. Sir A. H. Brace.

The Ladies—Proposed by Sir E. G. Clarke. Response by Sir Joseph Johnston.

W. H. G. ARMSTRONG

Who Presided at Last Night's Banquet.

Visiting Sir Knights—Proposed by Sir J. E. Carncallen. Response by Sir George McCartney.

The Press—Proposed by Sir R. B. McGill. Response by representatives present.

Our Host—Proposed by Sir H. McClure. Response by Mr. Coleman.

Auld Lang Syne.

THE MENU.

The menu list is given below:

Tomato Soup
Forced Turkey Stuffed Goose
Potatoes Peas
Plum Pudding with Cream Brandy Sauce
Cream Cake Wine Jellies
Cheese Celery
Fruit Nuts Black Coffee Tea.
God Save the King.

You have heard the Sailor Boys' plea, buy to-day for your dinner to-morrow "Sailor Boy" Canned Goods, Tomatoes Corn, Peas and Salmon. Your money does not buy better Goods. Do you get "Sailor Boy" or substitute?

A GOOD SERVANT

The Review Want Ad. column solves the problem of how to recover lost articles, get a tenant for a house, secure a servant or help of any kind, obtain roomers or boarders, sell surplus articles around the home, or find something you want to buy. Try it, the cost is low.

Debating Society Held Meeting

"Quotation Contest" Was the Feature of the Gathering

Last night was the last meeting for the first session of the Y.M.C.A. Literary and Debating Club and was one of the most interesting of the season. The chief feature of the programme was a "Quotation Contest." Two leaders were chosen and, selecting members of the society, they formed two sides. The critic of the society, Mr. J. E. Hodgson, presided. The members of the different sides responded with quotations from well known authors, the side giving the most and best selected quotations in a certain limited time being the winners. Many excellent quotations were given. The chief purpose of this contest was, however, to train the young men to speak before an audience and develop a taste for literary work generally.

Mr. Hodgson, in summing up the speeches of the evening, pointed out the great value of quotations in training one to speak before an audience for the first time.

The executive have an interesting programme prepared for the winter session, which opens on Wednesday, Jan. 8th. This session will include a Mock Parliament, the election of leaders taking place at the next meeting. The leaders will then place their platforms before the people and the House will go into session on January 22nd.

This will no doubt be of great interest to the young men of the city, and all wishing to take part in this Mock Parliament are asked to be on hand at the election next meeting. The session will extend over several meetings and the executive intend to make it one of the most interesting events of the season of a literary character in the city.

Several important questions of interest will be brought before the house and a most interesting and profitable time is anticipated.

"Christmas Ship" Will be Feature

Of the Salvation Army's Christmas Entertainment

The Salvation Army will have "something new" at their annual Christmas entertainment at the barracks on Christmas night. In addition to the Christmas tree there will be a "Christmas Ship." It is now being built and will be the vehicle through which Santa Claus will dispense Christmas gifts to cheer the heart. The masts and rigging of the ship will be strung with gifts and Santa Claus will distribute them. A good programme is being arranged and a most successful event is promised.

PRESENTATION TO S.S. TEACHER

Miss Howson Honored by Her Class of Boys

The young men of Miss Howson's Sunday School class at Mark Street church called at her home on Mark street last evening, and presented her with a handsome lady's companion, accompanied by an address conveying expression of the appreciation of her services. The address was read by Ormond Girven, and Albert Crowe made the presentation. The address was as follows:

Dear Miss Howson,—We, the boys of your Sunday school class, wish to express to you, our warm appreciation of your faithful service to us as our teacher during the past year. We may have seemed unappreciative at times during our class work, but we would have you feel that our attitude has not always been what it has seemed. It is in our hearts to give an expression of some tangible nature at this glad Christmas time, and therefore beg you to receive from our hand this lady's companion with our warmest greetings.

Signed,
ORMOND GIRVEN.
ALBERT CROWE.
MAX SWANSTON.
HORACE COON.
WILLIARD COON.
WESLEY CROWE.

Miss Howson made a suitable reply.

POOR LOOKING FOR ASSISTANCE

Providing for Their Wants May be Problem for the City

As the winter approaches the cry for assistance from the city's destitute becomes more distinct and painful. The city relief officer is being besieged with applications for aid and, from all appearances, there will be a great many penniless people in Peterborough this winter. Just how to handle them is likely to prove a problems to the city.

Chief Secretary Is Coming Here

Col. and Mrs. Sowton, of Toronto, to be Given Hearty Welcome by Local S. A. Corps.

Two distinguished members of the Salvation Army in Canada will visit Peterborough next Saturday and Sunday, December 21st and 22nd. They are Col. and Mrs. Sowton, of Toronto. Col. Sowton is chief secretary of the Dominion, and this will be his first visit to Peterborough. They will arrive Saturday evening, when a welcome meeting will be held. On Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, Col. Sowton will give an address at the barracks, his subject being, "Under the colors in Sweden, Norway, Denmark and Iceland." This should prove especially interesting and a large number will be in attendance.

Col Sowton is one of the big men in the Army in Canada, and the local corps intends giving him a great reception.

XMAS GREETING CARDS
Leave your order for Greeting cards now at the Review Office. Still some pretty designs in stock, at most reasonable prices. tf

ONTARIO COAL CO. LIMITED PETERBORO
We have just received a few cars of specially prepared Coal for ranges and small stoves, a little smaller than No and larger than No 2 Nut
Price, Per ton $6.50
If your stove has a good draught, give it a trial.
City Office: 387 Water St. Bell Phone 325
Head Office and Yards: Cor Aylmer and Wolfe Sts. Phones, Bell 116, Mac. 325
ONTARIO COAL CO., Limited
A. J. McCLELLAN C. CURRIER G. K. RACKHAM

Was a Pioneer Resident of This District

Funeral of the late Mrs. Dunlop Took Place This Afternoon—Was 88 Years of Age

The funeral of the late Mrs. Dunlop, who died at 8 a.m., December 16th, was held this afternoon. Deceased was the second daughter of the late Hon. T. A. Stewart, and was born in Ireland on the 10th of October, 1819. She came to Canada with her parents in June 1822. After some months residence in Toronto and Cobourg, Mr. Stewart, who had taken up a tract of land in the township of Douro, removed his family there in the autumn of that year. The Stewart homestead was erected on the present site of the residence of Mrs. Robert Hamilton, and was given the name of "Auburn," from which that suburb of Peterborough derived its name.

Mrs. Dunlop was married in 1845 and lived for some years in Otonabee and latterly in Ashburnham and Peterborough, and survived her husband, the late M. C. Dunlop, by two years.

The "Forest Home," compiled and published by Mrs. Dunlop in 1901, from letters and journals written by her mother, describing in a most interesting way the hardships, joys and sorrows of pioneer life in the forest. The edition consisted of a limited number intended for the use and instruction of Mrs. Stewart's immediate family and friends.

Mrs. Dunlop is survived by one daughter, one sister, the youngest, and three brothers.

The funeral service was conducted by Rev. Robt. Pogue, pastor of St. Paul's church. The pall bearers were six nephews of the deceased. The remains were interred in Little Lake cemetery.

SUNDAY IS THE CHINESE CHRISTMAS

Next Sunday is the Chinese Christmas day, coming three days ahead of the day observed throughout the Christian world. The day will not be observed to any extent by the local Celestials as Christmas is not in the Chinese calendar. The Chinese New Year, which comes towards the end of January, is however, the cause of great celebrating among the Oriental population and in China the feast lasts for several days.

His Friends Are Very Wrathy

Mr. Lowes, a cattle buyer for Mr. H. P. Kennedy, says the neighbors of Mr. Charles Porteous, who was shot a short time ago by a treacherous tramp, feel very indignant over the incident. The whole countryside is worked up over the affair.

HYDRAULIC CO. VS. McALLISTER

In the Osgoode Hall (Toronto) reports yesterday, the following of local interest appears:

Peterborough Hydraulic Co. v. McAllister—C. W. Kerr, for plaintiffs, D. O'Connell (Peterborough) for defendants, G. B. Strathy, for Ontario Bank, third parties. Counsel to put in and file consent minutes to a judgment, and judgment to be pronounced in accordance therewith.

PETERBOROUGH RAG AND METAL COMPANY
Prepared to pay the highest market price an will give a square deal for Scrap Iron Rags, Rubbers, Wool Pickings, etc. Don't sell before you see them. Call up Phone 694
YARD AND OFFICE:
COR. SIMCOE and BETHUNE, West
D. FLORENCE & SON

Christmas .Slippers.
There's nothing that will make a more sensible Christmas Gift than Footwear. Our slipper show, at this season is a big thing—worth coming to see.
MEN'S SLIPPERS
Operas, Everett and Romeo styles, black kid, tan kid, patent leathers,
$1.00, 1.25, 1.50, 2.00
WOMEN'S SLIPPERS
House Slippers, Turkish Slippers and Juliets, Slippers for Dress Functions, all the new Ties and Pump effects, choice, handsome and exclusive creations,
50c to $3.00
J T. STENSON
364 George St.

PRICE OF Coal
FOR OCTOBER IS $7.50
Ton, cash with order
THE PETERBORO FUEL & CARTAGE CO
LIMITED.
162 Charlotte-st. Telephones—(Bell) 261, 270. (Machine)—270.
134 Aylmer-st. Tel. (Bell) 362.

D.L. & W'S SCRANTON COAL

SOLD BY R. HICKS & CO. AT
$7.50 Per Ton
for Month of October, in lots of not less than half ton.
This is the Standard Anthracite. 60 % of Coal sold in Ontario is SCRANTON.
Terms Positively Cash.
R. HICKS & CO.
Coal Builders' Supplies, Etc.

COAL AND WOOD
Best of Coal—Best of Wood
COAL FOR OCTOBER
$7.50
PER TON
J. E. A. FITZGERALD
Cor. Brock and Bethune Sts
BOTH PHONES 111

Palace Livery Barn
For the smartest and most up-to-date LIVERY OUTFITS, at reasonable rates, go to
TOM FOSTER & CO.
Successors to Bruce Lee & Co
Rear of Snowden House.
AUCTION SALE OF HORSES BUGGIES, HARNESS, ETC., EVERY SATURDAY
Phones—Bell 286—Machine 289

Steer Straight
for the best Beer ever brewed, and you are sure to come to us! Our Bottled Beer is "bottled health." It means vigor and strength, a good appetite and high spirits. It is the best medicine for the weak and the best food for the strong. Keep our excellent Beer in your home as a beverage and you will have no need of a doctor. Nothing but the purest ingredients used in the brewing.
—THE—
CALCUTT BREWING AND MALTING CO
of Ashburnham Limited

THE BEEHIVE

The Ladies' Big Ready-to-Wear Store

We have just received in Stock a large consignment of

DRESSY MULL WAISTS

All in the new 1908 Styles.
Be sure to call and see them At $2.50

YOU CAN ALWAYS GET THE MOST SATISFYING CHRISTMAS BOX AT THE BEEHIVE

Keep in Mind the Free February Embroidery Classes.

The Beehive The Ladies' Big Ready-to-Wear Store

FACTS—JUST PLAIN, POINTED FACTS

BOYS' SUITS

Good words our Good Boy's Clothing are coming back to us in good business, what better proof could you ask of our value-giving than these.

BUSTER BROWN STYLE

Gray mixed Tweeds, plain, well made and trimmed, sizes 22 to 25 .... 3 25
Gray stripe Tweed, well made and trimmed, 22 to 25 3.50
Blue and black Serge, well made and trimmed sizes 22 to 26 .... 4.00

2-PIECE NORFOLK STYLE

Dark gray stripe Tweed, sizes from 25 to 30, special 2.00
Gray mixed Tweed, pepper and salt effects, all sizes, 24 to 30, Special 2.50
Brown Scotch Tweed effect, double breasted Norfolk, sizes 26 to 29, prices 4.00, 4.50, 5.00
3 piece Double Breasted Styles—dark gray check and stripe Tweed. Lion Brand, with double elbows and double seats and knees, well padded and well made, sizes 28 to 33 .... 4.50 and 5.00
Dark gray over plaids and dark stripes, the newest designs for boys' suits, double breasted, sizes 28 to 33 .... 6.00, 6.50, 7.00
Boys' and Youth's Reefers—Dark gray and black Frieze, Tweed lined, all sizes up to 28 .... 2.00, 2.25
Dark gray and black Frieze, Tweed lined, 2 75

MERRELL & MEREDITH
CLOTHIERS, FURNISHERS and HATTERS
375-377 GEORGE ST. PHONE 35

Mr. Harry Rush Requested to Contest the Mayorality for 1908

A deputation waited upon Mr. Harry Rush last evening and presented him with a petition largely signed requesting him to allow his name to go before the electors as a candidate for the mayoralty for 1908.

The requisition bore the signatures of several hundred ratepayers representing all classes of the community.

Mr. Rush informed the deputation that he would take the question into his serious consideration and would give a definite answer at an early date.

Christmas Pastoral Has Been Issued by Archbishop of Toronto

His Grace the Archbishop of Toronto has just issued his Christmas pastoral, copies of which have been addressed to all the churchwardens and lay members throughout the diocese. Besides wishing every member a happy Christmas, His Grace reminds them of the time-honored practice of devoting the Christmas offering to the personal use of the clergy, and asks that they give expression to their joy at this time of the year in a suitable gift to their pastor.

The Grand Trunk is likely to appeal the two cent a mile case to the Privy Council.

The Annual Meeting of Local Fair

Will Probably be Held This Year Earlier Than the Date Scheduled

The date fixed for the annual meeting of the directors of the Peterborough Fair is booked for the third Wednesday in January, but Alderman Leary, the president, when seen by a representative of the Review to-day, said it would in all probability be held earlier. Much important business will be considered at the meeting this year. Among other matters to be decided upon is the advisability of having Saturday as one of the days upon which to hold the fair this year. It will be endeavored to have the days arranged so they will not in any way conflict with those of other fairs in surrounding places. The announcement of the date of the annual meeting will be made through the medium of the local press.

Seduction Charge is Dismissed

Prof. Shepherd Not Found Guilty --Complainant Told to go Home to Her Parents

The second and more serious charge against Prof. Shepherd, the now celebrated palmist, was dismissed at a police court session yesterday afternoon. It was that of the seduction of Mary Tuncliffe, a young Belleville girl of about 18 summers. After the girl had told her story of how she had been enticed into the prisoner's room on numerous occasions with the promises of marriage, His Worship dismissed the case and advised Miss Tuncliffe to return to her parents at once, and in the future not to associate with men she knew nothing about. It appears that the young lady first met Shepherd in going to have her palm read, a few months ago in Belleville. The professor had a room in the Y.M.C.A. in that city, and it was there that the first offence was committed. He asked her to marry him, and she said she was willing. On Monday she came to this city upon receipt of a letter from Shepherd, and was met at the depot by him. He took her to his boarding house where they spent the night. Shepherd had a marriage certificate and they were to be wedded next morning. When the hour appointed for the ceremony came, the professor backed out. The agitated young girl then swore out an information against Shepherd.

The prisoner is held on the charge of fortune telling and was committed for trial. He will come up before Judge Weller at a later date.

These Thirteens Were in Bunches

There were thirteen cars on the Lakefield train that was wrecked last night, thirteen passengers on board, and thirteen hogs in the cattle car that left the rails. And yet some people do not believe in superstition!

WANTS TO PAY PALMISTS FINE

Chivalrous Action of One Who Had His Hand Read

Even in this prosaic period their is such a thing as gallantry toward a member of the fair sex in distress. One of the gentlemen who had his hand read by Madame Ayers and who casually gave away the information to a police officer, is so grieved to see her at variance with the law that he is trying to raise the necessary $50 to pay the fine imposed on her at the police court yesterday. His endeavors in this respect are meeting with a favorable response, and there is every indication that the required amount will be forthcoming.

Chocolate and Creams 2 lb. for 25c, Navel Oranges 20, 30, 40c, Mixed Nuts per lb. 15c.
R. A. DUTTON.

Money orders from the United States to Europe this Christmas tide exceed those of last year by over 1,150,000.

An Entertainment for the Children

To be Given in Market Hall by Children's Aid Society on Dec. 27th

An entertainment for the children of the city, to be given in the Market Hall, on Friday evening, December 27, under the auspices of the Children's Aid Society, was the outcome of a meeting held yesterday afternoon, in the council chamber, of the members of the society, and the representatives of the city churches.

Two big Christmas trees will be the star feature of the evening's fun. From these trees, Santa Claus will distribute toys, candies, and other goodies to all who come to see him. There will also be a magic lantern show and band music. Light refreshments will be served during the evening.

The committee feel that the success of this children's treat depends entirely on the co-operation of all citizens. The churches have already responded liberally to requests for candy bags and toys, but contributions of money, toys and decorations for the trees are still required. Donations of money may be sent to Mr. Peter Campbell, the treasurer of the Children's Aid Society. All other contributions should be sent to the Y.M.C.A. building, and the committee in charge particularly request that everything be delivered there not later than noon, Thursday, Dec. 26.

All who know any children they would like to have at the treat are urged to send the names and addresses to Mr. George Cochrane, agent for the society.

The following are the committees in charge;

Toys and decoration of trees—Mrs. Grossman, convener; Mrs. W. D. Scott, Mrs. Spier, Mrs. R. F. McWilliams, Miss Edmison, Miss Florrie Barnham.

Entertainment—Mrs. Frank Mason, convener; Mrs. O'Sullivan, Mrs. Kendry, Mrs. D. J. Lundy, Miss Belle Morrow.

Refreshment—Mrs. Monroe, convener; Mrs. James Wood, Mrs. J. J. Turner, Mrs R. J. Todd.

Christmas trees—Mrs. Best, convener; Mrs. LeBrun, Mrs. Fortye.

Platform—Mrs. H. Ritchie, convener; Mrs. Hunter, Miss Halliday.

Platform decoration—The young ladies of the telephone office.

A SECOND THOUGHT

Should convince you that the place for genuine values of lasting quality in CHRISTMAS GIFTS is where the most select stock is carried. See our North Window for the finest display of Silverware to be found in Peterborough.

Such Remembrances as Choice Cutlery, Skates, Hockey Sticks, Pucks, Carpet Sweepers, etc., are always appreciated by the recipient. Give appreciated Gifts.

PETERBOROUGH HARDWARE CO.

COMMON SENSE GIFTS

If you want to make two families genuinely happy this holiday season, try giving the old cook stove that has given you years of service, to some needy household, and present the good wife with a

PANDORA RANGE

You will thus make two homes happy, especially your own where the great comfort of using the Pandora Range will be greatly appreciated.

ADAMSON & DOBBIN
NEW BRICK BLOCK—SIMCOE STREET

UNIQUE GOODS AT CHINA HALL

A Present
To be a real pleasure should be something new and dainty. A surprise as well as a gift. These abound at China Hall.

For 10c
Cream Jugs, Fancy Plates, China Cups and Saucers, Fern Pots, Spoon Trays, Tea Pots, Stands, Bon Bons, Etc.

For 15c
Bon Bons, Jugs, Pin Trays, China Cups and Saucers, Vases, Ornaments, Spoons, Trays, Etc.

For 25c
Sugar and Cream Sets, Vases, Cake Plates, Tea Pots, Hot Water Jugs, Ornaments, Jardinieres, Etc.

For $1.00
Fancy Lamps, Lemonade Sets, Biscuit Jars, Cocoa Pots, Fern Pots, Jardinieres, Etc.

For $2.00
Cocoa Sets, 13 pieces; Toilet Sets; Berry Sets, 13 pieces; Lamps, Coffee Sets, Ornaments, Etc.

CHRISTMAS BARGAINS AT CHINA HALL

GET THE LATEST

The Review Supplies the Correct Things in Wedding Invitations, Programmes, Personal Stationery, Etc.

THE DAILY REVIEW

LUMBER and BUILDING MATERIAL of all kinds. Shingles, Scantling, Joists and Bill Stuff. Mouldings, Casings and Base, and all kinds of finish. Boxes and Box Shooks.

ALF. McDONALD ESTATE
Point St. Charles Mill, Peterborough.

VOL LV., NO. 142 PETERBOROUGH, ONT., CANADA, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 20, 1907 TEN CENTS PER WEEK

Ladies' Belts

In Silk, Leather and Elastic, specially priced and boxed free.

25c to $2.50

THE GOLDEN LION STORE

CHRISTMAS STORE NEWS

Fancy Neckwear

The choicest of styles for Xmas Gifts, daintily boxed

25c to $2.00

In Waist Silks and Fancy Waistings We Lead

Rich Fancy Silks

In 5 yard lengths, in pretty gift boxes, regular up to $7.50, Special Xmas price 5.00

Fancy Wool Waistings

Fine Wool Delaine and Albatross Cloth, white, black and colored grounds, embroidered figures, yd., .50 and .75

Chic Umbrellas

A gift with a lasting remembrance, choice handles, strong frames, durable coverings, specially priced for Xmas selling 2.00 to 6.50

Drawn Work Linens

The linen warehouse offers special values—exquisite hand drawn work on pure Irish Linen, Doylies, Centre Pieces, Runners, Tray Cloths, 5 o'Clocks Etc., .10 to 3.50

Battenburg Linens

Beautiful hand made goods, direct from Belgium—Pure Linen Centres, Doylies, Centre Pieces, round and square, 5 o'Clocks, .50 to 12.00

Wool Blankets

Sensible Gifts, are they not? Prices here are not exorbitant. They range from per pair 2.50 to 6.50

Comforters

Down and cotton filled. We have to offer the best goods at the very least prices. A warm welcome will be given to this gift. Special Xmas prices are 1.25 to 10.00

Lace Curtains

Are practical gifts and need not be extravagant. The newest styles and best values are here. Special Xmas prices per pair .50 to 17.50

A Few Timely Hints on HOW TO PLEASE HER

Give her one of the "Nearest Things to a Woman's Heart," something to fix up the home.

Parquet Rugs and Mats

Ever think of a Rug for a Christmas Gift? If not, visit our fourth floor and feast your eyes on the grandest showing in Peterborough—So many styles and varieties we cannot enumerate them here. The Xmas prices range from .50 to 40.00

Purses and Handbags

The latest productions of the leather craftsman's art from Paris and New York, real and imitation Alligator, Monkey Skin, Real Seal Skin, etc., in white, colors and black, prices range from .25 to 6.00

Armenian Hand Embroidery

Superb hand work on bolting cloth and satin, made in Armenia by native women in the British Missions.
Doylies, .50, .75 and 1.00
Centres and Cushion Tops, 4.50, 5.00 and 8.00

Kid Gloves

Of course nothing more sure of pleased acceptance when of a reliable make and bought at FAIR'S.

Reyniers and Perrin's best is what we keep—exchanged with pleasure if size or color not right, boxed free, per pair 1.00 to 3.00

Our Fancy Goods Display will solve many a perplexing problem for you What shall I give? Easily and economically answered here. Come to look or to buy, you will be equally welcome.

Robert Fair & Co.

383 George Street Limited

For Sale or To Rent

FOR SALE

TYPEWRITER, latest model American Oliver, brand new. Good discount off lowest selling price for a quick sale. Apply Review Office. tdl

FOR SALE

FIRST-CLASS PIANO for sale. Price reasonable. Apply at this office for particulars.

FOR SALE

PIANO CASE ORGAN, double the usual volume, (8 sets reeds) good as new, less than half price on easy weekly or monthly payments. A nice Christmas present easy to buy. 27 Park St., corner Park and Parnell. tf

Lost and Found

LOST

ON FRIDAY LAST a Parcel of Silk wrapped in manilla, with "No. 9" on the cover. Reward for return to Review Office.

CHRISTMAS GIFTS

Two story brick dwelling, centrally located, containing 7 rooms and bath room; city water, electric light. This house is first-class, well built; mantle finish throughout.

A business for sale, consisting of blacksmith and carriage shop with tools, including gasoline engine, lathe, shafting, etc., with a good storehouse for implements and carriages. This is located in a good business centre near Peterborough—$1,000

A good butcher business, including horses, harness, sleighs, waggons, shop fixtures, slaughter house fixtures, etc. Rent low, location very central. Price $1,300.

For further particulars apply to

J. T. O'CONNELL & CO.
Phone 376. 136 Hunter St.

FANCY POTTERY

All kinds of Urns, Vases, Jugs, Plates, Jardinieres, etc., Moulded to Order fo hand painting for Christmas gifts.

GEO. E. RAWLINGS, Crescent Street

MEALS—LUNCHES AT ALL HOURS

For quick service, well-cooked meals and popular prices—go to

FOWLER'S RESTAURANT
McCallum's Old Stand - 330 George St

General

"DON'T BURN THEM"

We will buy all kinds of Second-hand boots and shoes

JAY'S SECOND-HAND STORE
390 Aylmer Street

International Correspondence Schools

Of Scranton, Penn.

Industrial Science Taught by Mail.

LOCAL OFFICE - - 430 George Stree
R. C. BALFOUR, Representative

CHEAP HOUSES

If money is low and rent high, call at our office and see if you can't buy.

A good lot and comfortable house $50 down and easy payments.

A lot and 6 roomed house, $100 and Six Dollars a month

A new 2 story, nice modern red brick house, $250

A 1½ story red brick with half acre garden, on easy terms, $600

A half acre garden on easy terms. Others at good value up to $5,000

Companies Good as the Best in all lines of Insurance but Life. Rates moderate.

R. G. Ivey, Special Agent.
136 George St. Phone 2 Bell W. MIGHT

PETERBOROUGH LAUNDRY

The quality of our work is our special pride, and makes lasting customers. If you are unacquainted with it, telephone 65 and our rig will call. After that you'll know what we can do . . . .

179 Charlotte St. Phone 65

CHRISTMAS IS COMING!

A nice pair of Snowshoes or a good Toboggan would make a most acceptable present to lady, gentleman, girl or boy. We carry a very large assortment. Call and see them.

J. J. TURNER & SONS
TENT MANUFACTURERS
George Street. Peterborough

ALL THINGS ARE NOW READY

GEORGE R. RECORD

PRACTICAL
FRENCH DRY CLEANER AND PRESSER

Ladies' and Gentlemen's Garments and Household Articles cleaned and guaranteed not to fade color or shrink any material. Charges moderate. Goods called for and delivered. Telephone 669.

NEW BRICK BLOCK, 173 SIMCOE ST.
Only Complete Dry Cleaning Plant in City

A. BROWN & CO.,
The Real Estate Agents, 396 Water Street

$100 will secure good Cottage with large lot 50x200
$500 will secure an up-to date House with all modern improvements.
$1,000 will purchase good Cottage and large lot
$600 will secure Cottage, Stable and 4 acres good land near city.

We have some great snaps in Houses, Farms and City lots for sale and to rent.

Fire, Life and Accident Insurance.

Bell Phone 126 and 474 B. Machine 117.

STOVES, RANGES —AND— HEATERS

Enamel and Tinware
Plumbing and Eavetroughing

HUTCHINSON-STURGEON CO
Bell and Machine 'Phones 235 342 George Street

THE STORE THAT NEVER DISAPPOINTS

THREE DAYS XMAS ..ANNEX..

Saturday Monday Tuesday — 10th Event — Dec. 21st Dec. 23rd Dec. 24th

Merry Merry Christmas

Right on to the heels of Christmas—the merriest time of the year—Xmas, the day that everybody expects to be happy and should try to make everybody else the same—the gift giving day. Christmas remembrances delight the giver as well as the receiver, no matter how small it may be. In the Annex for the three days there will be gift suggestions galore—big money saving on the articles that while small, total up to considerable expenditure of money. Scores of genuine bargains in the very goods you are looking for—Gifts you have perhaps decided on and at a saving of nearly half. A big Annex Special each day for the day only. Regular Annex crowders. Don't forget the days—SATURDAY, MONDAY and TUESDAY, 8.10 a.m. to 10 p.m. each day.

THE LEADERS FOR EACH DAY

SATURDAY LEADER . .
JAPANESE SILK BLOUSES

100 only, White and Ivory Silk Blouses, in sizes from 32 to 40, nicely made with neat pin tucks; buttoned in back or front; a very acceptable Xmas gift for "Her." Reg. $2.25, in Annex .98
See Window

MONDAY LEADER . .
PERSIAN JUTE RUGS

Another shipment, 300 in the lot, size 27 in. x 1 1-2 yds; a splendid range of patterns in all the best Oriental effects. Especially fine quality for the regular price 65c Monday's Leader In the Annex .25

TUESDAY LEADER . . .
SWISS CUT WORK

216 Pieces of Swiss Cut and Renaissance Lace Work, including Shams, Runners, Dresser Scarfs, Centrepieces, etc. Fine embroidered openwork designs, and lines sold for 85c and $1.25 Tuesday in the Annex, Each Price .49
SEE WINDOW

Store Open 8.10 a.m. to 10 p.m. for the 3 Days

Cressman's

385, 387, 389 GEORGE STREET

For Sale or To Rent
AT REASONABLE PRICES

Three small farms, good soil, suitable for gardening purposes, close to city. Also a few small, comfortable, dwelling houses, and choice building lots, well situated in good localities.

Properties sold, purchased or exchanged.

Private Funds to Loan on Real Estate.

INSURANCE

Agents for reliable Fire, Life, Accident, Plate Glass and Liability Insurance Companies. For particulars as to rates, etc., apply to

J. J. McBAIN & SON
Real Estate and Insurance Agents.
Office Cor. Simcoe and George-sts.
Office 'Phone 454 Residence Phone 109A

FOR XMAS

Furniture fixed up like new. Upholstering and all kinds of similar work done. Mattresses made over.

A. R. JACKSON
320 Aylmer. Corner of Charlotte. Bell Phone 494B

RICHMOND STUDIO

147 HUNTER STREET

Studio will be open for Sittings on Xmas Day

Make your appointments early. Groups a specialty

PROBABILITIES

Fresh to strong south-westerly winds, fair to-day and on Saturday, not much change in temperature.

STEAMSHIP MOVEMENTS

Special to the Review.

Montreal, Dec. 20.—The Empress of Ireland was reported 150 miles west of Fastnet Light at eight o'clock a.m. to-day. Due at Liverpool at 8 o'clock Saturday morning.

DEAD DOG

Yesterday afternoon between 5 and 5.30 a spotted hound was struck by No. 17 car on Charlotte street. As the car was bumping along at a merry clip, the dog was killed on the spot.

"The Toboggan slide at Jackson Park is now open for the winter".

The Invitations Have Been Issued

For Reception at the Y.M.C.A. on New Years Day

The Evangelistic Committee of the Y. M. C. A. meet to-night from 7.30 to 8 p.m. The following compose the committee: A. Northey, John Tisdale, W. Coleman, J. C. Shock, Geo. A. Hamlin, W. G. McKee and Rev. A. H. Drake. Everyone is urged to be present.

The invitations are out for the New Year's Day Reception, and read as follows: The members of the Y.M.C.A. of Peterborough extend to you and your friends, both ladies and gentlemen, a very cordial invitation to be present at the reception January the first, nineteen hundred and eight. Music and refreshments. Two to five o'clock p.m. A fine programme is being arranged for the entertainment at night. Among those on the programme will be Mr. R. M. Roy, who will give a fine exhibition of mystery.

"The Toboggan slide at Jackson Park is now open for the winter".

DAUGHTERS OF ENGLAND NEW OFFICERS

Lady Lansdowne Lodge, No. 22, Daughters of England, elected officers last night as follows:

Past President—Sister Olliver.
Worthy President—Sister Wolstenholme.
" Vice Pres—Sister Anderson.
" Secretary—Sister M. Taylor.
" Treasurer—Sister Tovey.
" Chaplain—Sister Roberts.
" 1st Committeewoman—Sister Rathbone.
" 2nd Committeewoman—Sister Bayes.
" 3rd Committeewoman—Sister Logan.
" 4th Committeewoman—Sister M. Pitman.
" Inner Guard, Sister Olliver.
" Outer Guard—Bro. W. Taylor.
" Surgeon—Dr. T. W. H. Young.

Lodge Trustees—Sisters Gaskins, Lush and Shaw.

Auditors—Sisters Mitchell, Olliver, and Harmar.

After election the lodge had an oyster supper, which was provided by Bro. Dr. Young.

Lord Kelvin, one of the greatest scientists of his age, died in Glasgow yesterday afternoon at the age of 83 years.

THE CRYSTAL

OPEN EVERY AFTERNOON AND EVENING

ENTIRE CHANGE PROGRAMME TO-DAY
ADMISSION--5 CENTS

A SHARE OF OUR PROFITS will be our Christmas Gift to all customers between now and Christmas, and buyers will find our prices and selection specially attractive.

Unique values in Bracelets, Lockets, Pins, Brooches Watches, Chains, Rings, Silverware, Fancy Clocks Fine Chinaware and everything in Jewellry for gifts.

CLARKE & SON

439 GEORGE STREET JEWELLERS

GRAND OPERA HOUSE

THURSDAY and FRIDAY December 26—27

HAZLETON & NORTH introduce MR. HENRY LUDLOWE—the Greatest Living Richard—in Mr. Richard Mansfield's magnificent $60,000 Productions

RICHARD III THURSDAY EVENING THE MERCHANT OF VENICE FRIDAY EVENING

Prices, $1.00, 75c, 50c. Box Seats $1 50. Seat Sale Opens Tuesday at 10 a.m.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE----CHRISTMAS DAY

MATINEE AND NIGHT

THE MELO-DRAMATIC EVENT—BERTHA M. CLAY'S FAMOUS NOVEL

DORA THORNE

The most popular book ever written, dramatized by Lem. B. Parker. Magnificently mounted with specialy scenery for every act. A powerful caste of prominent players. The sweetest, prettiest story ever told

Evening Prices 15, 25, 35, 50c. Matinee 25 and 35c. Children 15c
PLAN OPENS MONDAY AT 10 A. M.

WHEN MAKING YOUR SELECTIONS

For Christmas Presents, be sure and call at our store. We have an elegant assortment to choose from.

PERFUMES—A great line in fancy cases or in bulk from the best makers Any kind or price.

Very Handsome TOILET CASES and MANICURE SETS. Any style or price

HAIR BRUSHES and TOILET HAND MIRRORS—all prices and qualities to suit you.

FOUNTAIN PENS—A. A. Waterman & Co's Modern Pens from $1.00 up

LAUGHLIN FOUNTAIN PENS at $3.00. GOLD PENS $1.50

LOWNEY'S CHOCOLATES—A fine new lot in handsome boxes, especially for the Christmas trade.

Be sure and call and we will present you with a pretty Calendar for 1903.

J. D. TULLY, DRUGGIST
401 GEORGE ST.

Medical

E. V. FREDERICK, M.B., Tor.

M.R.C.S., Eng. L.R.C.P., Lond. Lic. Univ. of New York

Removed to No. 192 George St., formerly office of Dr. McFaul

Private nursing home for surgical cases.

DR. G. STEWART CAMERON
Office and Residence
No. 273 Charlotte St. 'Phone 128

DR. G. C. LEACH

Late House Surgeon of Lakeside Hospital, Cleveland, Ohio; also of Cook County Hospital, Chicago. OFFICE—254 Hunter St., formerly occupied by Dr. Coughlin. Phone Bell 219.
Special Attention to Diseases of Women

DR. JAS. V. GALLIVAN

Office 215 Simcoe St. Late of St. John's Hospital New York. Lic. University of New York.
Telephone 468.

Osteopathy

DR. ASA G. WALMSLEY
Osteopathic Physician

Office over Canadian Bank of Commerce, Water Street entrance.
Office Hours—9 to 12 a.m. 2 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Consultation free.

Legal

R. E. WOOD

BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, Etc. Office removed from Bank of Commerce Building to 436 George street, recently occupied by E. B. Edwards. Money to Loan

W. H. MOORE

BARRISTER SOLICITOR, in the Supreme Court etc. Office—Hunter street, first stairs west of Post Office.

HALL & HAYES

BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS and NOTARIES PUBLIC, Hunter Street, Peterborough, next to English Church. Money to Loan at the lowest rates of interest.
R. E. D. HALL. LOUIS M. HAYES

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON

(Successors to Stratton & Hall)

BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, Etc., Peterborough Ont. Office—Corner of Hunter and Water Sts. over Bank of Commerce.
R. R. HALL, M.P. G. T. MEDD. W. S. DAVIDSON

EDMISON & DIXON

BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, Etc. Office in Cluxton's Block, corner of Hunter and George streets, over Dickson's store.

DENNISTOUN, PECK & KERR

BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, NOTARIES, Etc. 415 Water Street, Peterborough
E.A. PECK F. D. KERR. R. M. DENNISTOUN

Money

MONEY TO LOAN
ON EASY TERMS
O'CONNELL & GORDON
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, NOTARIES, Etc.
Canadian and United States Patent Attorneys
134 Hunter Street, two doors west of Post Office.
DANIEL O'CONNELL GEORGE N. GORDON

ROGER, BENNET & GOODWILL

BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, Etc., 31 Water St. Peterborough Telephone No. 191.
Money at Current Rates
Upon Easy Terms.
G. M. ROGER. J. W. BENNET. E. L. GOODWILL

TORONTO SAVINGS AND LOAN CO.

PAID UP CAPITAL $1,000,000.00
RESERVE FUND 580,000.00

SAVINGS

An Account may be opened at any time with a Deposit of One Dollar.

3½% Interest allowed on daily balances.

DEBENTURE DEPT.

Four Per Cent. paid half yearly on sums of $100.00 and upwards.

MONEY TO LOAN
at current rates of interest.

W. G. MORROW,
Manager

Special Inducements TO BUY HEATERS

You gain nothing by delay. See our
Standard Oak
Quebec Ideal
Art Laurel
They are great fuel savers. Easily operated and splendid heat distributors.

F.R.J. MACPHERSON
& CO
341 George St. Phone 118
F.R.J. MACPHERSON ANGUS MACPHERSON

Health of Canadian Women

A Subject Much Discussed At Women's Clubs—The Future of a Country Depends on the Health of its Women.

Miss Helena Ma Kinnon_Mrs. Anna McKay

At the New York State Assembly of Mothers a prominent New York doctor told the 500 women present that healthy women were so rare as to be almost extinct.

This seems to be a sweeping statement of the condition of women. Yet how many do you know who are perfectly well and do not have some trouble arising from a derangement of the female organism which manifests itself in headaches, backaches, nervousness, that bearing-down feeling, painful or irregular periods, pelvic catarrh, displacement of the female organs, indigestion or sleeplessness? There is a tried and true remedy for all these ailments. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored more Canadian women to health than all other remedies in the world. It regulates, strengthens and cures diseases of the female organism as nothing else can. For thirty years it has been curing the worst forms of female complaints.

Such testimony as the following should be convincing.

Mrs. Anna McKay of 326 Spadina Avenue, Toronto, Ont., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"Being a mother of five children, I had had experience with the general troubles of my sex. I was lacerated when one of my children was born, and from that hour I date all of my afflictions. I found that within a few months my health was impaired, I had female weakness and serious inflammation. I became weak and dizzy, but kept on my feet, dragging through my work without life or pleasure. A neighbor who had been helped by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound insisted that I take at least one bottle. I did so and felt so much better that I kept on the treatment and it made me a strong and well woman. The few dollars I spent for the medicine cannot begin to pay what it was worth to me."

Miss Helena McKinnon of Sand Bay, Ont., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I consider Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound the best medicine in the world for a woman sick and weak from exhaustion, irregularities and overwork. I have found from personal experience that it is all and more than it is recommended to be. I only wish that every sick woman would try it, for it cured me of suppressed periods and irregularity, and has cured many of my friends of the same difficulty, in fact all who have used it have nothing but good to say of its efficacy. Please accept a grateful woman's thanks for all it has accomplished in my case."

When women are troubled with irregular, suppressed or painful periods, weakness, pelvic catarrh, displacements, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation, backache, bloating, (or flatulency), general debility, indigestion, and nervous prostration, or are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, faintness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, "all-gone" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feelings, blues, and hopelessness, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such troubles. No other medicine in the world has received such unqualified endorsement. No other medicine has such a record of cures of female troubles. Refuse to buy any other medicine, for you need the best.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. The present Mrs. Pinkham is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, her assistant before her decease, and for twenty-five years since her advice has been freely given to sick women. Her advice and medicine have restored thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Succeeds where Others Fail.

More Details About the Frightful Mine Disaster

Pittsburg Coal Co.'s Mine Scene of Frightful Calamity.

Fierce Fire Follows Terrific Explosion—Fourth Disaster Within Past Three Weeks—Smoke and Flame Prevent Rescue Work — Bodies Dreadfully Mutilated — Pitiful Scenes at Mouth of Pit.

Jacob's Creek, Pa., Dec. 20.—An explosion of gas in the Darr mine of the Pittsburg Coal Co., located here, yesterday entombed between 200 and 250 miners and there is scarcely a ray of hope that a single one of them will be taken from the mine alive.

Partially wrecked buildings in the vicinity of the mine and the condition of the few bodies found early in the rescue work indicate an explosion of such terrific force that it seems impossible that anyone could have survived it. All of the thirteen bodies taken out up to this time are terribly mutilated and three of them are headless.

This is the third mine disaster since the first of the month in the veins of bituminous coal underlying western Pennsylvania and West Virginia, for the Naomi mine near Fayette City and the two mines at Monongahela, W. Va., in which the earlier explosions happened are in the same belt as the local workings. Yesterday's catastrophe swells the number of victims of deadly mine gas for the nineteen days to between 550 and 600.

Church Devotion Saved Many.

That the disaster does not equal or surpass in loss of life and attendant horrors the one in West Virginia is due to the devotion to church duties of a considerable number of the miners. In observance of the church festival many of the 400 or more men regularly employed at the mine did not go to work yesterday morning. Those who escaped through this reason are members of the Greek Catholic Church and they suspended work to celebrate St. Nicholas Day.

Followed Brief Shut Down.

As was the case at Monongahela, the explosion followed a brief shutdown, the Darr mine having been closed Tuesday and Wednesday. It was just 11.30 o'clock when the tenth trip of loaded cars had been brought out to the tipple and there came an awful rumbling sound, followed immediately by a loud report and a concussion that shook nearby buildings and was felt within a radius of several miles. At the same time there came out of the mouth of the mine an immense cloud of smoke and dust that floated across the Youghiogheny river.

Within a few minutes after the explosion the mouth of the pit was surrounded by relatives and friends of the entombed men. The scenes were most pitiful. The smoke and flames issuing from the slope made it impossible to enter and the wives and children were frantic.

Every effort is being made to subdue the fire, but it was burning so fiercely that no headway could be made.

Lone Survivor's Story.

The ventilating fans were kept in operation almost without interruption, however, the power plant having withstood the force of the explosion, and up to this time the rescuers have found no fire in the mouth.

As far as known only one man who went to work in the morning escaped. Joseph Mapleton, a pumper, emerged from one of the side entries shortly after the explosion. He had left the part of the mines were most of the men were working and was on his way to the engine room for oil.

"I was near entry No. 21," said he, "when I heard an awful rumbling. I started towards the entry, but the next moment I was blinded and for a little time I did not know anything. Then I got to the side entry and worked my way out."

Mapleton was somewhat cut and bruised, but after going home and having his injuries dressed, he returned in the mines and joined the rescuing parties.

Inspired by Faint Hope.

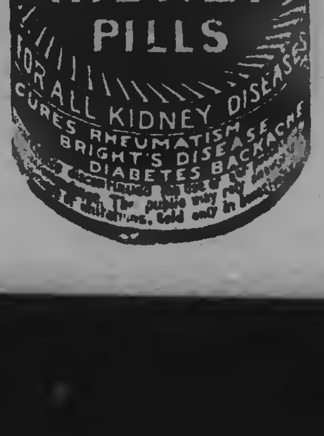
William Kelvington, superintendent of the mine, was not in it when the explosion occurred, and he quickly organized rescuing parties, with reliefs at short intervals, in the main entry, and at a side entry. It is hoped to reach the greater part of the victims through the latter. So far little trouble has been encountered on account of gas or lack of air by the rescuers. While the officials and the rescuers have only the faintest hope that any of the men may be living, all work is being carried on on the theory that some may have found places of safety, and every point of the workings will be explored at the earliest possible moment.

France Will Not Interfere.

Paris, Dec. 20.—Advices received here under yesterday's date from the French Minister at Teheran give a more optimistic view of the present situation in Persia and indicate that the existing deadlock between the Shah and the Persian Parliament probably will be straightened without recourse to arms.

It is pointed out here that France is not immediately concerned in the internal politics of Persia, and that her only excuse for intervention would be the protection of French subjects.

The opinion is held in official circles that it will be difficult and delicate for either Great Britain or Russia to interfere in Persia as the Anglo-Russian convention regarding Persia is economic and not political.



MOCKERY A FAIR WEAPON.

Else Where Would Be Great Satirists? Asks Harden.

Berlin, Dec. 20.—In the Harden case yesterday the president of the court remarked that the public was incapable of distinguishing between the subtleties in Die Sukunft articles and the epithet used by the prisoner. The president referred to Harden's statement that he mocked the friends of Zu Falenburg.

"Yes," replied Harden, "mockery is a fair weapon, else where would the world's greatest satirists be?"

In the course of his explanations Harden said that he had no desire to call witnesses to prove that Von Moltke was abnormal.

"I have a definite conviction," the prisoner said, "I have said nothing libellous. The articles are there and if the court assumes that they are defamatory I am here to bear my penalty."

Dr. Isenbell asked if Harden had meant to express esteem or contempt of Von Moltke. "I have no occasion," Harden retorted, "of expressing esteem; I criticized."

Harden here began to show signs of extreme weariness, and the president declared that in consideration of the health of the accused he would adjourn court until to-day.

TROUBLE AT THE R. M. C.

Cadets "Swiped" Stuff From One Another's Rooms.

Kingston, Dec. 20.—The offence for which the commandant of the Royal Military College rusticated five cadets was apparently of a minor nature, but one which has to be given attention in a boarding academy like the Military College. The property of young man attending the college has to be protected, and when some of the cadets complained about their boxes being rifled an inquiry was at once instituted. The "swiping" of a cake from one box was one feature of the case. Money had been missed by more than one of the cadets, but the taking of this could not be proved against any of the unfortunate young men who had made merry with their comrades' edibles. The evidence brought out some other irregularities. It is against the rules for the cadets to play cards in their rooms or about the college. Card-playing has been very prevalent, and it will now cease, special orders to that effect having been given. The commandant found the five cadets guilty of irregularities, and rusticated one for four months and the other four for one month each.

BOY HELD HIS SLEIGH.

And Was Dragged to His Death Beneath Train.

Kingston, Dec. 20.—A sad accident occurred at the point where the Bay of Quinte Railway crosses Montreal street. As the 4 o'clock train going north approached this, Kenneth Hughes, aged 7, with two little girls, were crossing the track, the lad pulling a small sleigh.

The wind was blowing in a direction which prevented the children hearing the on-coming train. The girls, however, got well across before the train arrived. The boy was over, too, but the engine caught his sled, which he held on to and was drawn under the wheels and mangled into an unrecognizable shape.

Thaw Will Plead Insanity.

New York, Dec. 20.—The second trial of Harry K. Thaw for the murder of Stanford White, set for Jan. 6, will be cut short by admission on the part of the defence that Thaw was insane when he shot White, and that he is insane now and has been insane from birth.

A man connected with the case, and close to Thaw's new counsel, said yesterday: "Personally, I believe Thaw to be absolutely crazy. The second trial will be much shorter than the first."

Thaw's lawyer expects to reach an agreement with the district attorney, by which his prisoner will be sent to Mattewan Asylum for the Insane. This step probably will be taken soon, as the jury is chosen and before the taking of evidence is begun.

It is said Thaw's wife may spring another surprise at the next trial.

He Never Saw the Falls.

Hamilton, Dec. 20.—A St. Catharines paper has unearthed a new sort of a dime museum here—a man who never saw Niagara Falls. This remarkable personage is Capt. Duncan McLachlan of the steamer Eastern States, plying between Buffalo and Detroit. Capt. McLachlan has sailed the lakes for 35 years, making Buffalo and Tonawanda his ports, and yet he has never seen the Falls. On one occasion his boat parted a line at Tonawanda, and was sliding down the river at a lively clip when rescued. On that occasion the captain got near enough to hear the hoarse boom of Niagara, but not enough to see the waterfall.

Demand Protection.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 20.—At the request of the Italian ambassador, Secretary of State Root has called upon the Governor of Kentucky to intervene to prevent the further destruction by "night riders" of tobacco belonging to the Italian Government and stored in Kentucky.

Kelvin to Rest In Abbey.

London, Dec. 20.—In accordance with the desire of the Royal Society, Lord Kelvin, who died two days ago, will be buried in Westminster Abbey.

The last scientist to be buried in the abbey was Charles Robert Darwin, who died in 1882.

Millionaire Insane.

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 20.—Henry Clay Ward, millionaire lumberman of Pontiac, Mich., who erected a tobacco factory in Leamington, Ont., several years ago, is insane and will be placed in Oak Grove Sanitarium in Flint.

An Author's Death.

London, Dec. 20.—Liscombe Serrelle, an author, died yesterday at Molsely-on-Thames. He had an adventurous career in South Africa and was a friend of Cecil Rhodes.

The Grand Trunk has announced a pension fund for its employees, for which they are not to be in any way assessed.

EXPLOSION IN PALERMO

Twenty-Five People People Killed and One Hundred Injured.

Powder Magazine Blows Up—Causes Awful Conflagration—Many Houses Collapse — Whole Town Shaken—Inhabitants Stricken With Panic—Troops and Firemen Rush to Scene of the Disaster.

Palermo, Dec. 20.—A terrific explosion occurred last evening in the military powder magazine, where a large quantity of dynamite was stored, and was followed by a number of lesser explosions, the whole town being badly shaken and the people thrown into a panic. Almost immediately flames shot high in the air and spread to the ruins of houses that had fallen, adding greatly to the terror of those who were in the immediate neighborhood of the disaster.

It is estimated that about twenty-five persons were killed and a hundred others injured. Wild rumors followed fast upon the explosion, placing the numbers of killed and wounded into the thousands, and troops were ordered out to aid the firemen in clearing away the wreck and succoring the wounded. Several houses that stood above the magazine partially collapsed and their destruction was completed by the fire.

One of these was an emigrants' lodging house and a number of emigrants were killed.

SENSATION AT GUELPH.

City Treasurer Charged With Accepting Double Rental.

Guelph, Dec. 20.—Quite a sensation was created in the civic offices here yesterday, when William Stevens, a resident on Durham street, reported to Capt. Clarke, the city relief officer, that Mrs. Fisher, an old colored woman who lived in a miserable little shack on Durham street, and was considered by all her neighbors a most deserving subject for charity, had been paying $2.50 a month for rent of the front part of the shack in which she lived.

She was reported to have been paying this amount to David Scroggie, the city treasurer, also her landlord, who at the same time was said to be accepting $4 a month from the relief officer in payment of the rent.

When Mr. Stevens reported the case to Capt. Clarke he was referred to the mayor. The mayor seeing the seriousness of the charges, at once ordered an investigation, and called a meeting to consider the matter.

DOUBLE DOMESTIC TRAGEDY.

Man Shot Wife Who Divorced Another to Marry Him.

Akron, Ohio, Dec. 20.—Thomas Larrimore, 39 years old, shot his wife, formerly Mrs. Liliah Summerton, through the head three times Wednesday night, and then put a bullet into his own brain. Both died shortly afterwards at a hospital. The shooting occurred on the street. The couple were married last summer after Mrs. Summerton's husband obtained a divorce. They did not live happily, and separated. Larrimore left the city and returned only on Wednesday to seek reconciliation. The dead man had relatives in Shelby, Iowa.

Would Keep Out Japs.

Toronto, Dec. 20.—Speaking at last night's meeting of the District Labor Council, Mr. John Hodge, a Labor representative in the British House of Commons, briefly referred to the Japanese immigration question. "The Labor members in England will certainly stand by Canadian trade unionists," said Mr. Hodge. "After the war in South Africa the Labor party in England realized that the introduction of Chinese labor in that part of the hemisphere was a move to disorganize labor unions and get rid of the white man in certain lines of labor. Japanese immigration should be restricted." With regard to the immigration of mechanics from England, Mr. Hodge said that many of them had been misled by false statements as to the demands for labor in this country.

A Suit For Libel.

St. John, N.B., Dec. 20.—William A. Quinton, steward of the Provincial Hospital for Nervous Patients, and a former member of the Legislature, has instructed John Kerr, solicitor, to begin criminal proceedings against A. A. Clarke, one of the candidates nominated on Wednesday evening in the opposition's interests in St. John County. Clarke in his nomination speech made statements reflecting on Quinton, and insinuating that he had converted to his own use and profit hay, wood and other things cut on Government property.

Season's Losses on Great Lakes.

Cleveland, O., Dec. 20.—The total loss to vessel property on the great lakes amounted to $743,000 for the season of 1907, according to figures compiled by marine men here. Thirteen steamers and one schooner were lost. Their total capacity was 29,900 tons.

In 1906 forty-four vessels were lost and during 1905 forty-eight ships.

Miracle and Optical Delusion.

Nancy, France, Dec. 20.—The diocesan authorities have investigated the alleged miracle reported to have occurred in the village church at Brin recently, and found it to have been an optical illusion, caused by the reflection of a church image upon the sacred water as the candles moved.

$32,000 Package Lost.

New York, Dec. 20.—Richard Gordon, a negro porter at the branch office of the United States Express Co., from whom a package containing $32,000 worth of diamonds disappeared last Saturday night, was arrested last night on a charge of being a suspicious person.

The Tartar, the British torpedo boat destroyer, made a record run yesterday travelling at the rate of 44 miles an hour.

FIST FIGHT IN CONGRESS.

Williams the Mississippi Firebrand Gets Worst of the Encounter.

Washington, Dec. 20.—Immediately after the House adjourned yesterday, Representative John Sharp Williams of Mississippi, and Representative D'Armond of Missouri became engaged in a personal encounter on the floor of the House.

The men closed in and dealt each other several blows. Friends rushed to separate the two men. Mr. Williams' face was streaming with blood.

So startled and so astounded were the members of the House and the officials that for a moment no one offered to interfere, and the leader of the minority and the member from Missouri lunged back and forth between the desks, both swaying wildly, and each in apparent danger of going down.

Blood was flowing freely from a gash in Mr. Williams' cheek when Assistant Sergeant-at-Arms Sinnett sprang between them, grasped Dr. D'Armond and held him back while Representatives and attendants, following suit, effected a separation.

CZAR'S NAME DAY.

Celebrated By Restoration of Gay Uniforms For Cavalry.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 20.—The name day of Emperor Nicholas, which is being celebrated at Tsarskoe-Selo, has been signalized by an order, restoring to the Russian army the picturesque uniform worn in the reign of Alexander II. This order will transform thirty-five out of the fifty-five soberly-clad dragoon regiments into hussars and uhlans, whose brilliant and showy garb is expected to popularize the service.

All the Russian grand dukes returned from abroad for the celebration. The Empress was unable to partake in the festivities on account of illness.

The list of name honors fills sixty-five columns in The Official Gazette, but even so it is barely half as long this year as it was in 1906. Gen. Kaulbars, whose administration of Odessa has been much criticized, is given the Alexander Nevsky Order set in diamonds.

HUNDREDS VIEWED BODY.

Remains of Late Hon. J. Israel Tarte Lie In State.

Montreal, Dec. 20.—Dressed in the Windsor uniform the remains of the late Hon. J. Israel Tarte were viewed yesterday by hundreds of people at the residence of L. J. Tarate, the ex-Minister's son. Sir Wilfrid Laurier and several of his colleagues will attend the funeral. Messages of condolence to the family were received from Earl Grey, the Prime Minister and most of those who had been in the Government with Mr. Tarte, as well as from the Quebec Premier, and all the leading newspaper men of the land.

The death of Hon. Mr. Tarte will not interfere with the position of The Patrie, as his sons have been conducting that paper for some time past.

ARTIST GOES FREE.

Dramatic London Murder Trial Ends In an Acquittal.

London, Dec. 20.—A jury yesterday acquitted Robert Wood, a young artist, who was charged with the murder of Emily Dimrock, a girl of the streets, who was found dead in bed on Sept. 9, with her throat cut, in a house in Camden Town. The trial was a dramatic one. And the unsavory details brought out in the evidence caused great excitement.

Disabled Ship Reported.

London, Dec. 20.—The Cunard liner Lusitania when in communication by wireless telegraph with Fastnet at 6.30 last evening signalled that she had been in communication with the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Britain from St. John, N. B., for Liverpool, which reported that she had spoken with the British steamer Cambrian bound from London for Philadelphia in latitude 50, longitude 30, with shaft broken.

The British steamer William Cliff from New Orleans for Liverpool was standing by and rendering all assistance necessary.

The Cambrian left London Dec. 7 and was almost in mid-ocean when reported.

Neglected His Child.

Woodstock, Dec. 20.—Arthur Scott was arrested on the charge of neglecting to provide necessaries for his six-year-old child, Earle, who is at present in the general hospital suffering from frozen feet.

Scott appeared before Police Magistrate Ball some time ago, but was discharged for lack of evidence. The arrest was the result of a petition which was circulated, and also the work of the recently formed Children's Aid Society.

Chairman Has Resigned.

Ottawa, Dec. 20.—Stewart McClenaghan, chairman of the license commissioners, sent in his resignation to Mr. Hanna yesterday. It is said that the politicians are after his job, and he does not want to wait until he is fired. McClenaghan is a leading Conservative, and was appointed by the Whitney Government.

Assailed at His Door.

Windsor, Dec. 20.—Just as Mrs. J. Pageau switched on an electric light on the side porch of her home to light her husband up the steps Wednesday night she saw him felled to the ground at the door by a crushing blow on the head. The flash of light scared the highwaymen away.

Thousands Present.

Rome, Dec. 20.—The Pope yesterday morning personally conducted the ceremony of the public consistory, which was attended by thousands of invited persons, especially foreigners.

Ten Killed In Wreck.

Guayaquil, Ecuador, Dec. 20.—A northbound passenger train was derailed near Latacunga yesterday. Ten persons were either killed or seriously injured.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS
PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days or money refunded. 50c.

Children's Aid Society

FOR THE CARE OF NEGLECTED AND ILL-TREATED CHILDREN.

Incorporated by Act of Legislature, 1898. Information required. Informants name kept strictly private.

CHILDREN FOR ADOPTION

Office Hours—11.00 to 12.00 a.m.
OFFICE—DIVISION COURT BLDG

GEO. COCHRANE,
Agent and Ass't Sec

SANTAL-MIDY
Standard remedy for Gleet, Gonorrhoea and Runnings IN 48 HOURS. Cures Kidney and Bladder Troubles.
MIDY

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM
RAILWAY TIME TABLE

	Arrive	Depart
Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, Gravenhurst, North Bay, Stouffville and Toronto	11.40 a.m. 9.00 p.m.	8.25 a.m 5.38 p.m
Port Hope and points east to Montreal and Boston		8.30 a.m
Port Hope, Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago & West, Niagara Falls, Buffalo, Cobourg, Montreal and East	8.20 a.m. 5.33 p.m.	11.45 a.m 9.05 p.m
From Buffalo, Hamilton, Toronto, Bowmanville and Port Hope	11.45 a.m.
Toronto, Lindsay, Stoufville, Uxbridge and Markham	10.05 p.m.	7.20 a.m
Lindsay Local	8.15 a.m.	9.10 p.m
Hastings, Campbellford, Madoc, Belleville, Kingston, Montreal and East	8.10 a.m. 8.40 p.m	8.30 a.m 1.50 p.m
Lakefield and Stony Lake	9.50 a.m. 5.15 p.m.	8.30 a.m 12.30 p.m

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY

To Peterboro' Going East.
11.16 a.m., Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal
7.51 p.m., Indian River, Norwood, Havelock, Tweed.
12.31 a.m. midnight, Havelock, Tweed, Smith's Falls, Montreal, Quebec, Portland, Boston and New England points.
1.10 a. m., Ottawa express, Norwood, Havelock, Ivanhoe, Tweed, Smith's Falls, Carleton Jct, Ottawa.
To Peterboro' Going West.
4.48 a. m. for Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, New York, Woodstock, St. Thomas, Chicago, etc.
5.26 a. m. Do. Do.
7.56 a. m. for Cavanville, Manvers, Pontypool, Burkton, etc., Fort William, Winnipeg and all western points in North West Canada.
4.48 p. m. Pontypool, Lindsay, Toronto, Hamilton, Galt, Woodstock, London, Detroit Chicago, etc.

The teachers of the Protestant Board of School Commissioners yesterday presented a unanimous petition to the Rev. Dr. Barclay asking him to accept his re-appointment, and return to the Board.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

Xmas and New Year's Excursions

Between all stations in Canada, also to Detroit and Port Huron, Mich., Buffalo, Black Rock, Niagara Falls and Suspension Bridge, N.Y.

AT SINGLE FARE
Good going December 24th and 25th, 1907
RETURNING UNTIL DEC. 26, 1907
Also good going December 31st, 1907, and January 1st, 1908, returning until January 2nd, 1908.

FARE AND ONE-THIRD
Good going Dec. 21st to Dec. 25th, 1907.
Returning until January 3rd, 1908.
Also good going Dec. 28th, 1907, to Jan. 1st, 1908.
Returning Until January 3rd, 1908

For further information and tickets call on
W. BUNTON
City Passenger Agent
F. SANDY,
Depot Ticket Agent
Or write Mr J. D. McDonald, D.P.A., Union Depot, Toronto

SHORT LINE TO MUSKOKA AND PARRY SOUND

WINTER TIME TABLE
In effect December 9th, 1907

NORTHBOUND

	No. 1	No. 3
TORONTO	† 9.00 am	† 5.30 pm
WASHAGO	12.45 pm	9.00 pm
PARRY SOUND	3.10 pm	....

SOUTHBOUND

	No. 2	No. 4
PARRY SOUND	† 9.00 am	†........
WASHAGO	11.25 am	6.45 am
TORONTO	3.00 pm	10.10 am

Observation-Dining Parlor Cars between Toronto and Parry Sound serving meals a la carte.
† Daily except Sunday.
OFFICES: All Stations, also Cor. King and Toronto and Union Station. Phone, Main 5179.

SINGLE FARE
Tickets good going
Dec. 24 and 25
Return limit Dec. 26
Also good going December 31 and January 1. Return limit January 2.

FARE AND ONE THIRD
Tickets good going:
December 21 to 25 inclusive
December 28 to January 21 inclusive
Return limit January 3.
BETWEEN ALL STATIONS
Tickets and all information
W. McILROY,
Canadian Pacific Agent
349 George St. Peterboro'
or write C. B. Foster, D.P.A., Toronto

CENTRAL LIVERY STABLES
AND
VETERINARY INFIRMARY
133 Hunter Street west of Oriental Hotel.

If you wish a rig of any kind for any occasion ring us up and you will find everything up-to-date in the livery line. Both Phones 275. Night Phone Bell 425 B.

D. McKERCHER, V.S.

Why Peterborough Citizens Now Come to Dr. Browett for Glasses

FIRST REASON. The Eye glasses supplied by Dr. Browett are ground in one of the largest and best optical factories in America. Skilled workmanship and quality have placed the lenses produced by this firm far in advance of those ground in the ordinary factory. Dr. Browett devotes his exclusive attention to Optical Work—examining eyes, and teaching Opticians the use of the modern eye instruments. The number of Optical colleges this gentleman has attended, his experiences throughout the United States and Canada as a teacher of opticians, the thousands of satisfied patrons in various parts of America, wherever he has visited in his teaching capacity, his equipment of instruments and knowledge of their use are sufficient reasons for Dr. Browett's success since making Peterborough his permanent home, and our store his head office.

McDERMID & JURY'S, Drug Store,
390 George Street, Peterborough, Ont.

A Story of Absorbing Interest

The Rogue's March

By E. W. HORNUNG, author of "Raffles, the Amateur Cracksman," "Stingaree," etc.

It was a little hard on Daintree, but he was now much too happy to be readily depressed or vexed. His rampant spirits sought relief in activity, and he galloped off to Sydney to secure rooms at the Pulteney hotel.

Tom was meantime behind the scenes. So was Peggy O'Brien, and already those keen Irish eyes had seen more than he thought, for hopeless love had fitted them with strong lenses, even as his triumphant suit had blinded her master to every passion but his own. The girl had long divined that some other woman stood between herself and Tom, and there were more reasons than might appear for her instantly pouncing upon Miss Harding as the one.

Peggy was sure that Tom and Daintree must have known each other in England, or why were they more like brothers than master and man? Tom would not tell her, and the Fawcetts could not. So Peggy set them down as two old friends, and what if the friends had loved the same woman? The idea occurred to her when she saw Tom manipulating the cork ship and so zealously preparing for the bride. It was then an idea only. It became a suspicion on the evening of the bride's arrival, and Claire was not the only young woman who lay awake all that night.

The other had been transported for a comparatively venial offense and had come through the thick of her ordeal a better woman than most. She is not put forward as an average specimen of her sex and kind in that colony and at that time. The Irishwomen were almost invariably the best of a deplorable lot, and Peggy was certainly not the worst of the Irishwomen. But there was evil in her, and passion was to bring it out, as it had already brought out the good. A callous man she could bear with and wait for so long as he was callous and cold to all. But to see and hear him sighing for another woman—and that other woman there on the spot—was to lash a patient and single hearted devotion into tumults of jealousy and bitter rage.

The thing galled her while it was still a suspicion. It maddened her when she knew it for a fact. And that was when, in the same half minute, she met Claire on the stairs in tears and saw Tom in his pantry with his head clasped tight between his hands. Peggy stole away without a word, and there was mischief in every noiseless step she took.

Her first thought was to tell Daintree. It she dismissed on consideration and tried making friends with the ladies' maid in order to acquire information. This young woman, however, could only talk of the fourth officer aboard the Rosamund, and it took Peggy half an hour to discover that she had never even seen Miss Harding before the voyage. So she knew nothing, and half the morning was gone, but Peggy was all the more determined to learn everything before the visitors left.

The master's departure on horseback at last inspired the way. Tom in the pantry was still listening to the clattering hoofs when Peggy opened the door.

"Oh, Tom, the masther would like ye to clane out the boat for 'm when ye can find the time."

"Did he say so, Peggy?"

"Sure, he tould me not to tell ye, wid all the extra work ye've got, but he only wished it could be done."

"Then I'll set to work this minute."

"An' ye won't be tellin' 'm I tould ye?"

"No, I'll take all the credit if you like," said Tom in a voice and with a face which he took no pains to discipline for Peggy's benefit. Both supported her theory and hardened her in her plot. And as he reached the boat shed she was knocking at Miss Harding's door.

"Askin' yer pardon, miss, I think I know what would be better for you than lyin' down up here."

"What is that?"

"Lyin' in a hammock by the say."

"It sounds pleasant. Thank you very much, but I think I'll stay where I am."

"Sure, ye'd find one in the boat shed, an' it's all the good the air would do ye!"

"You are very kind," said Claire wearily. "But who would put the hammock up?"

"Masther's gone to Sydney," said Peggy reflectively, "an' he won't have me meddlin' wid such things. Wait till I tell ye, miss. Go this minute, an' you'll find Thomas in the boat shed cl'anin' the boat. He'll have 't up in a twinkle."

"Well, I'll see."

Claire had colored.

"Will I tell 'm, miss?"

"No. I'll see. I think I would rather be where I am."

Peggy withdrew. In three minutes she heard the young lady coming downstairs. In two more she was herself outside the shed, crouching between timber and shrubs and sand and sky.

CHAPTER XXX.

"YOU won't condescend?" said a scornful voice.

"Since you have made up your mind, why should I?"

"It is only your word that I ask—your solemn word to me that you are innocent."

"If you don't believe in me, what's the use of giving you my solemn word? I can't prove it and never could. The evidence was too strong."

"It would have been stronger still"—

The voice stopped short.

"Well?"

"If I had told them all you said to me that very night, that very hour!"

The voice was no longer scornful. Even to Peggy it seemed to falter and to tremble with the pent up agony of years. But Tom's tone did not change.

"I know that," he said bitterly. "I have always known that you had more reason than anybody in the world to think me guilty. Yet I would rather you had thought me innocent and let me die than saved my life to show me what you still think after all these months. My cup has been pretty full, but that's the bitterest drop."

"And still you won't deny it," persisted the girl. "I am ready to take your word, yet you will not give it."

"What's the use?" he asked. "What difference could it make, even supposing you believed me?"

"All the difference to me," was the quick but low reply. "It would alter everything—everything. Can't you see that it must?"

"No; it is too late to alter anything at all."

Yet his voice shook in its turn.

"Too late? Too late?" cried the girl wildly. "Nothing is too late if you are innocent. Speak, Tom. Why don't you speak? Oh, Tom, it would alter all our lives, yet you will not speak."

"Because I cannot!" he cried out. "Because I—I am not an innocent man. I am not—I am not—I am not! And now leave me—leave me, I say, for God's sake! Never you pity me again."

Almost from a shout his voice died down to a whisper. The last words were hardly audible outside. But they were followed by a silence so heavy that Peggy O'Brien heard herself breathing and thought she must be heard within. And then came the sound of light, unsteady steps retreating, and nothing more—not another sound within.

The silence appalled Peggy. At last, when she could no longer bear it, she crept over the soft sand to the mouth of the shed and peered round the corner. He was standing within as the other woman had left him. He had never stirred. His open hands were still extended in some unfinished gesture. A glimmer of sunshine glanced off the waters and pointed the cruel contrast between the lined face and the yellow hair thrown proudly back from it—the one so aged, the other so boyish. And his eyes—they seemed still to be pouring tenderness and strength upon the other woman. They never saw this one at all.

She stole away, loving him more than ever. But must not the other one too? She had seen the same look—had won it—but his crime made a difference to her. To Peggy it made none. She neither knew nor cared what it was, and there lay her slight advantage. It was too slight. She loved him, but so much the other. Her love lay near to hate. She would see if she could not push the other woman's nearer yet.

She reached the house, and nobody was in the way. Lady Starkie was writing letters in the breakfast room. Peggy was soon listening at the other woman's door—listening to her sobs. She compressed her lips and nodded to herself with splendid confidence. At length there fell a silence, in which Peggy knocked and entered.

"I beg pardon, miss, but was Thomas not in the boat shed? It's sorry I am if I sent ye on a fool's errand—savin' your presence, miss!"

"No; he was there."

"An' did he refuse ye?"

"No—I—changed my mind."

"Glory be to God, miss! 'Tis meself would let 'm know 't if he gave any of his sauce to the masther's lady. I'd have no more to do wid 'm at all."

Claire turned pale.

"You would have no more to do with him?" said she very slowly. "I don't understand you."

"Sure an' how would you? He wouldn't be afther tellin' a lady like you."

"Telling me what, my good girl?" She was trembling now.

"He came to the factory last week, miss. Ye'll niver guess why—to choose a wife."

"A wife!"

"An' it's me he chose—you ask the masther when he comes back."

The master came back in time for lunch. He found Claire on the veranda with a white face and an angry eye, loudly declaring she felt another being.

Tom heard and saw her and waited infamously for the first time. He could not understand it at all. She had left the boat shed with a very different mien. What could she have found out since then? That he had purposely misled her for her own good? That was impossible. Yet he knew so well from her proud, averted face that Claire had discovered something fresh against him. Whatever that discovery might be, however, it was destined not to be her last that day.

They were still at luncheon when Peggy burst into the room.

"Nat Sullivan an' the thraps!" she gasped. "It's afther Tom they are, an' I tould 'm he absconded last night. Oh, sir, say that same, for Ginger's there, too, an' there's the blood in their eyes!"

Here was a bombshell from the least expected quarter, at the least expected time. Tom felt the blood rush to his face, draining his heart, but he stood his ground until Daintree ordered him out of the way of the windows. Claire sat motionless. Lady Starkie was less calm. But Daintree rose up from the table with perfect but ostentatious sangfroid, and he patted Peggy on the back as a party of horsemen rode in front of the veranda.

"Quite right, my girl!" cried he. "They shall not lay a finger on him. Never you fear. He has me at his back, and so have you." With that he strutted through the French windows, flourishing his napkin and quite delighted at the prospect of a little simultaneous display of power, generosity and laudable cunning before so select an audience.

"Sorry to trouble you, sir," said a voice, "but I believe you have an assigned convict here of the name of Thomas Erichsen."

"What name?" cried Lady Starkie.

"Hush, aunt!" whispered Claire.

"I have not," said Daintree.

"You have not?" roared Nat Sullivan himself.

"I have not," repeated Daintree blandly. "I had, but he has absconded from my service."

"When?"

"Last night."

"Any notion where he went?"

To be continued.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

CURE

Sick Headache and relieve all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing

SICK

Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

HEAD

Ache they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head

ACHE

Is the bane of so many lives that here is where we make our great boast. Our pills cure it while others do not.

Carter's Little Liver Pills are very small and very easy to take. One or two pills make a dose. They are strictly vegetable and do not gripe or purge, but by their gentle action please all who use them.

CARTER MEDICINE CO., NEW YORK.

Small Pill. Small Dose. Small Price.

Invitation Cards for AT Homes, Receptions and Evening Parties, partly printed for 1c each. Envelopes to match 10c package. On sale at the Review Office

Peru and Chili, through the medium of Senor Balmaceda, the Chilian minister to Peru, and Senor Polo, the Peruvian Minister of Foreign Affairs, yesterday signed their first treaties of amity. One provides for a consular convention, and the other concerns the pursuit of the liberal professions.

Golden Wedding Was Celebrated

Pleasant Gathering at the Home of Mr. and Mrs. McCall, Douro

Mr. and Mrs. Charles McCall, who reside in Douro township about three and a half miles from the city, on Wednesday, Dec. 18th, celebrated the anniversary of their golden wedding. There were about fifty persons present and a delightful time was spent.

Congratulations were bestowed upon the aged couple and the wish expressed that they might live many more years to enjoy the respect and esteem of their neighbors and friends. Mr. McCall is 77 years of age, and his partner is 70 years. Both are enjoying good health.

At the celebration on Wednesday all the children except two—one son and one daughter, who were unable to be present—attended, and four generations were represented. There are four sons and six daughters. There has never been a break in the family. The sons are Messrs. Henry and Chas., of Douro; Alfred and Aaron, of Peterborough. The daughters, all of whom are married, are Elizabeth, of Harvey; Maggie, Sarah and Jennie, of North Smith; Hattie, of Otonabee, and Lillie, of Peterborough.

Mr. and Mrs. McCall live with their son, Henry, and have been residents of Douro about 22 years. Among the neighbors present at the interesting function were Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Kemp, Mr and Mrs. Will Hunter, Mrs. Hugh Mackay, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sampson. Many valuable presents were received, among them being a cheque for a handsome sum from Mrs. Walker, of Lakefield, sister of Mrs McCall.

Dinner and tea were partaken of and the time very pleasantly spent in music and social intercourse.

GRENFELL OF LABRADOR

Do you want to see a man out of the Book? Got to hear Grenfell, of Labrador. All your life long, maybe, you have wondered how men looked and spoke, who "left all and followed Him." You can see the bearing of such a man today. Have you ever known people to whom life is really simple, who see everything in a white light, who march like soldiers all day long and every day in the year, who work miracles because they give up everything else, and eat, breathe, think and pray for Africa, Labrador, or the submerged tenth, the one desire of their hearts? If you have, then you have known Grenfell. Such a man was Livingstone, whose name still marks a tree by the falls of the Zambesi. If you want to understand Savonarola better, then see the man from Labrador. Here is someone in the twentieth century speaking with the accent of one of the apostles and thinking their thoughts. There are very few of them in the world. They are the pride of one generation and the just envy of all the rest. It is worth while taking the trouble to see a Grenfell. When you do see him, what are you going to look for? He is a man like other men, not tall nor short, not noticeably dark nor fair, but he stands with the steadiness of rock. Imagine, if you can, Grenfell in a storm at sea. He has no fear. The statement is absurd. Fear does not exist in the world. To him earth is heaven, and heaven includes earth. There are no slips or stumbles where the hand of God is. That is what Grenfell's steadiness means. He has cut everything away that would hinder him in his race, and his standard makes big things shrink and small things grow great. How would you like that standard applied to you? How much would it leave in your life? Wake up! Wake up! he cries. The only way of living is to live for other people. What have you done today to help some one else? That is your only reason for being here. Now listen, Grenfell is not Dr. Luke, of the Labrador. He is Grenfell, of the Labrador and no other. The story of his character remains untold. It never will be told except in deeds. He is no hero of a novel. He is the hero of real life. The story in which he lives is part of your story and mine. He is a prophet of this generation. He offers us a chance to join him in his work, and remember, only now and then has the world a chance to join in such a work as Grenfell's. He is a man who is working miracles and bigger miracles with your help. He will convince you that if ever a man found, for himself pleasant, desirable work, he is that man. He is happier than anyone else can be with the exception of people who are doing the same kind of work in their own way. It doesn't mean anything but rougher fare than most of us eat, harder lodgings than most of us occupy, longer hours, less fun of a kind, more arduous work and longer absence from some of the people we care about. But it does mean happiness. Look at Grenfell and see for yourself. The strong face, the vigorous frame, the toil hardened hands, hands of a doctor, too, the eyes, the voice, the step, belong to a man whose soul is satisfied. But, remember, that he is no more than mortal. He needs other people. He must have his own thoughts hidden away somewhere. I don't believe somehow, that he enjoys talking about his work or himself. But the fire of necessity drives him on. For your own comfort, for your own happiness, and your own share of life, heaven give you a double portion, Grenfell of Labrador.

J. R. M. in Toronto News

A GOOD SERVANT

The Review Want Ad. column solves the problem of how to recover lost articles, get a tenant for a house, secure a servant or help of any kind, obtain roomers or boarders, sell surplus articles around the home, or find something you want to buy. Try it, the cost is low.

THE FIRE RECORD.

Power Station Damaged and Cars Stopped at Hamilton.

Hamilton, Dec. 20.—Another fire occurred last night at the Cataract Power Co.'s sub-station at Irondale. It started on the roof under the slates, and considerable damage was done to the transformers by water. The power was turned off when the fire was going on, and the street cars were stopped for an hour and a half. This was inconvenient to theatre-goers, and those who attended the oratorio at the Armories had to walk home.

Forest, Dec. 20.—Forest's best industry, the flax mill, was totally destroyed by an incendiary fire early yesterday morning, and 20 hands are thrown out of work. The loss will be $4,000, insured for $2,500.

London, Ont., Dec. 20.—A stable belonging to J. Luxton, 14 Oxford street, was burned last night. A cow was burned to death.

KING A ROYAL GALLANT.

Scene In Belgian Senate — Tired of Perpetual Scandal.

Brussels, Dec. 20.—M. Elbers, Socialist, created a scene in the Belgium Senate yesterday by endorsing the attack upon King Leopold delivered recently before the Chamber of Deputies by M. Vanveride, the Socialist leader in the Chamber. M. Elbers declared that the country was tired of the perpetual scandal in connection with King Leopold. He characterized the King as a "royal gallant," who was always on his way to visit a new family in France.

Found Dead In His House.

Montreal, Dec. 20.—J. E. Caron, merchant tailor, was found dead in his home, Longueuil, early yesterday. The discovery was made by a next door neighbor named Tison. Not having noticed the deceased about for some days, Mr. Tison thought he was out of town. Yesterday when he noticed an odor emanating from the house, he decided to force the door, and was shocked to find Mr. Caron dead, and his body in an advanced state of decomposition. The coroner found that death was due to natural causes.

Foreign Navies Invited.

New York, Dec. 20.—The commission which has in charge the Hudson-Fulton celebration in 1909, has decided to invite the foreign nations to send warships to take part in the naval rendezvous and parade up the Hudson.

Barge Sunk Off Battery.

New York, Dec. 20.—The ocean-going barge Annie B. Neville sank in the Hudson River just off the battery yesterday. Jerry Van Halen, captain of the barge, and his wife were drowned.

Prediction of Another Disaster.

New York, Dec. 20.—That the new Hudson memorial bridge planned to span the Spuyten Duyvil Creek and to cost $4,000,600, is liable to furnish New York with a bridge horror surpassing the recent disaster at Quebec, is the fear expressed by Engineering News in its issue of yesterday, which says:

"The accumulated knowledge and experience of the engineering profession is not now sufficient to build a concrete arch of 103 feet span with the assurance of safety that the public properly demands."

Didn't Know It Was Loaded.

St. Thomas, Dec. 20.—An accident which may prove fatal occurred yesterday morning at the residence of W. K. Cameron, barrister. Miss Heffernan, a trained nurse in attendance upon Mrs. Cameron, was shot through the neck by a 22-calibre rifle in the hands of Hugh Cameron. The lad was playing with the weapon, which was not supposed to be loaded, when it discharged, the bullet lodging in Miss Heffernan's neck. She was taken to the hospital.

Engineer Stuck to His Post.

Cleveland, Ohio, Dec. 20.—Engineer Frank Krag, 50 years old, of Buffalo, N. Y., though ill and faint, stayed at his throttle till he brought his fast Lake Shore train safely into Collinwood yards yesterday. Then he stepped from his cab and in a few minutes was dead.

Was a Quebec Man.

Ottawa, Dec. 20.—The man supposed to have been J. Moore of Ottawa, who committed suicide in Alexandria last Monday night, has been identified as J. D. Champigny of Maniwaki, Que.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY
Take LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine Tablets Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c

GEORGE RUTH
Properties for Sale:

Come and inspect our list of HOUSES. We have a number of first-class residences; all modern; locality and prices are right; also a number of cheaper houses. Terms to suit the purchasers.

8 fine building lots, near the C. G. E. works, are offered for $1500.

A few first-class homes to rent with modern improvements.

395 Water Street, open evenings

R. A. ELLIOTT
& CO
Real Estate Agents

Head Office of the Sand stone Brick Co.

Ladies' Hand Bags and Purses

Just the thing for Useful and Beautiful Gift now on display at the store that gives the largest choice, the best leathers and closest prices.

Ladies' and Gentlemen's TRAVELLING SATCHELS and TRUNKS of all kinds, in the largest selection in the city.

B. SHORTLY SIGN OF THE BIG HORSE AT THE DOOR
TELEPHONE No. 319

FOR THE LADY WHO CALLS

Visiting List and Social Engagement Book —A Dainty and Useful Gift.

Those ladies who find it difficult to keep track of their social debts in the way of calls which have to be returned, invitations to various society functions which have been received will be pleased to learn that a dainty little book has been issued from the presses of the Review which will fill their need. The city has grown so rapidly of late years that it has become almost necessary for each lady to have a special reception day each month when her friends will be sure to find her at home. To keep a record of these will be an easy matter with one of these little books. They are prettily bound in blue linen, lettered in gold and printed on good paper. There are two pages for every day in the month, arranged according as the day is, first Monday, second Tuesday, etc. At the back of the book are pages for invitations received, out-of-town addresses, special reception dates, and memoranda. One of the books would make a dainty and acceptable Xmas gift. The books are on sale at the bookstores at the price of 50c

CENTRAL LIVERY STABLES
AND
VETERINARY INFIRMARY
193 Hunter Street, west of Oriental

If you wish a rig of any kind for any occasion ring us up and you will find everything up-to-date in the livery line. Both Phones 278. Night Phone Bell 425 B

D. McKERCHER, V.S.

YOUR OWN HAIR MADE UP AS DESIRED . .

By home talent, where you are sure of satisfaction, or matched correctly in shade and quality.

Switches, Natural Wavy Pomps Latest Coiffures

Let us show you what we can do before you patronize some outside party. We guarantee to please you at lowest prices in the city.

Back Hair Dressing, Shampooing, etc.

MRS. BYRNE'S
George Street Second Door North of Dutton's

EGGS
FOR SALE by the case

Fresh and Pickled Choice Stock at our warehouse, Robinson Street, East City

Scott&Hogg
PHONE 264, BOTH PHONES

HOCKEY SKATES
From 75c to $5.00

Skates repaired and sharpened General machine work.

METHEREL'S CYCLE WORKS
225 Hunter Street

Private Greeting Cards

THE highly colored and lithographed Christmas Card in vogue a few years ago has passed away entirely.

IN place has come the much more appropriate Personal Greeting Card.

OF these the Review Office is showing a great many original designs.

YOUR order should be given immediately, while the selection is so complete.

SHOULD you desire Card specially designed to your order, promptness is absolutely necessary.

The Review
HUNTER STREET
PETERBOROUGH

ESTIMATES AND RESULTS

The evidence before the Royal Commission showed that over 700 SUN LIFE policies had already matured and that in thirty-four per cent. of the cases the amounts originally estimated as likely to be received at the end of the terms, had been realized or exceeded. On all the cases combined the average amount paid had been about ninety-seven per cent. of the estimate. The management may be pardoned for being proud of this record. The estimates now in use since 1900 are lower than former ones, and premiums are higher, so that present estimates should certainly be realized. Statements were also filed showing that $108 is on hand for every $100 required to pay the amounts called for by the present estimates for every deferred profit policy on the books, and this without taking into account the Company's great and increasingly valuable contingent fund. Our policyholders are therefore justified in being particularly optimistic in regard to the Company's probable future profits.

Some one has said, "the true value of a life assurance policy must be gauged by the security of the protection given; if it proves to be a good investment, all the better; when both are shown, there is nothing on earth to equal it." The security of the protection afforded by the Sun Life of Canada needs no comment, and the profits paid—let our results tell their own forceful story.

W. H. HILL,
Mgr. Central Ont.

AN INVITATION

We cordially invite every one interested in something select for Christmas, to visit our store and note the fine lines, perfect quality and moderate prices here shown. Affection can prompt nothing more appropriate than some of the following suggestions;

Gentlemen's Gold Watches, $10 to $40
Ladies' Gold Watches, $10 to $35
Diamond Rings, 3 Leading Specials, $15, $25, $50
Pearl Rings a Multitude of Designs, $3 to $20
Gold Cuff Links, 14 Karat, $5 to $7
Gold Lockets, $5 to $10
Signet Rings, (Gentlemen's) $5 to $10
Pearl Brooches, Delightful Patterns, $5 to $35
1847 Rogers Knives and Forks at Special Prices

No trouble to show Goods. Call and inspect them.

WARNE'S

345 GEORGE STREET

SNAPS FOR XMAS

Ebony Mirrors
Ebony Hair Brushes
Ebony Clothes Brushes
Ebony Manicure Sets
Ebony Military Brushes
Real Seal Skin Purses
Hand Satchels
Ladies' Companions
Gentlemen's Companions
Perfumes, etc.

at lowest prices

WARNE BROS.

345 GEORGE ST. PHONE 527

Xmas Photos

Send a family group or the children's photos to your friends at Christmas. Nothing is appreciated more than such remembrances, rom

MENDEL'S STUDIO

374 1-2 George St Entrance next Okes

A negro was hanged, and his body riddled with bullets, by a white mob in Shreveport, La., yesterday. His crime was resenting a remark of a white man.

SEE OUR GRAND WINDOW DISPLAY OF XMAS SNAPS

Fountain Pens—fully guaranteed—Solid Gold Points—Just two grades—Regular pric $2.50 and $3.50. Our price this week only

$1.50 and $2.50

With each $1.50 sale we will give a 50c bottle of perfume FREE.

With each $2.50 sale we will give a $1.00 bottle of perfume FREE.

Just a limited number of pens.

Perfume either in bulk or in fancy bottles. Your own choice.

NUGENT DRUG CO.

386 GEORGE STREET

INTEREST PAID

QUARTERLY

—ON—

SAVINGS DEPOSITS

of $1 and upwards

—THE—

BANK OF OTTAWA

Interest paid
February 28
May 31
August 31
November 30

PETERBOROUGH BRANCHES:
George Street, also
Corner Rubidge and Townsend Streets

A. A. HOLLINGSHEAD, Mgr.

TURKEY, DOLL AND CARRIAGE

To be Given Away on Christmas Eve by Alex Gordon, the Market Butcher

Among the tastily decorated Christmas stores, one of the brightest in its line is that of Alex. Gordon, the market butcher in the Arcade. Fruit-laden evergreen trees are everywhere in evidence, artistically placed, and giving the interior a real holiday appearance. The specially fed Christmas meat in beef, mutton, lamb and pork, as well as an abundance of choice poultry, and a good fat bear look tempting.

A splendid big doll and carriage and a mammoth turkey are to be given away on Christmas Eve on the following plan. Everyone making a purchase to the amount of 50c. will be entitled to a guess at the name of the doll or the weight of the turkey. The doll's name is in an envelope, sewed into its dress, and the turkey will be weighed on Christmas Eve. The one guessing correctly the name or weight will be given the doll or turkey. 3d

Chocolate and Creams 2 lb. for 25c, Navel Oranges 20, 30, 40c, Mixed Nuts per lb. 15c.

R. A. DUTTON.

Thibet is waking up, the Throne having sanctioned the construction of a telegraph line into the sacred city of Lhassa.

LADIES' FANCY BELTS

FOR CHRISTMAS GIFTS

We have been fortunate in securing a manufacturer's clearing lot of SILK BELTS, all this season's newest styles, black and colored, many different styles to choose from. Regular 75c, 1.00 and 1,25 Belts

Your Choice Saturday for 38c

Silk Belts are popular Xmas Gifts—This is a rare Belt Gift chance, two and three for the price of one.

SEE OUR WINDOW

STORE OPENS MONDAY AND TUESDAY EVENINGS

Harry Adams

Gifts Requested for Poor Children of Peterborough

An Appeal to Generous Hearted Citizens—Distributions Under Auspices of Children's Aid Society—May be Left at the Shelter or Division Court Office.

Mr. George Cochrane, agent for the Children's Aid Society, says that baskets for the poor children in the city will be served from the shelter this year as usual, and looks for a generous contribution from the philanthropic citizens of Peterbrough. The friends of the little ones who have no means of enjoying Christmas unless assisted by the charitably inclined will, needless to remark, be very glad to receive any donations. The public are requested to leave gifts of nuts, candies, toys, etc., and children's clothing at the shelter for distribution. It would be much appreciated by the officials if these were left at the earliest convenience of the donors. The society wishes to thank the numerous people of Peterborough who have contributed during the Christmas season in the past, and express their gratitude and that of the many poor children in the city in anticipation of a continuance of their favors this year. Donations may also be left at the Division Court office, care of Mr. F. J. Bell.

Thirty Bodies Recovered; Ghastly Sight at Mine

Special to the Review.

Jacob's Creek, Dec. 20.—Of the 200 or more miners who were made prisoners in the Barr mine of the Pittsburg Coal Co. by the explosion yesterday, the bodies of 30 lie this morning in the main entrance. Some of the bodies are dismembered and mangled, and all are distorted, disfigured and begrimed.

Faint hope is cherished by rescuers, friends and relatives that some of the men have survived the explosion and are waiting release far back in the mine.

Ex-Ald. Harry Rush Will be Candidate for the Mayoralty

Will Oppose Mr. McWilliams for the Civic Chair—In Response to the Numerously Signed Requisition He Enters the Field—Lively Contest Expected.

Mr. Harry Rush is a candidate for the mayoralty for 1908, and the contest promises to be a lively one.

At the urgent solicitation of hundreds of ratepayers Mr. Rush is in the field. This week he was presented with a numerously signed requisition and asked to allow his name to go before the people. Mr. Rush asked for a few days to consider the matter and to-day he sent his answer to the deputation which will be read with interest.

Mr. Rush holds that the office should seek the man and not the man the office. It is in deference to a demand from all classes and interests in the community that he has consented to take the field against Mr. R. F. McWilliams.

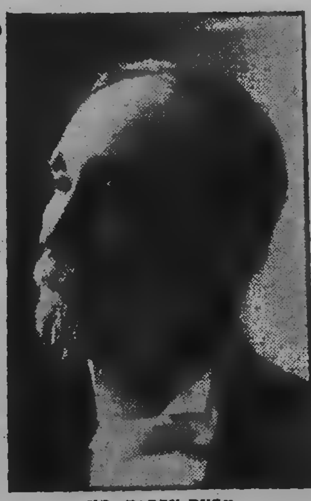
His letter in response to the requisition is as follows:—

To the electors of Peterborough:

Ladies and Gentlemen,—On Wednesday evening last a deputation waited upon me to present a requisition signed by hundreds of ratepayers of Peterborough, asking me to become a candidate for Mayor. I cannot but regard so numerously signed a requisition and by so representative a number of citizens as a call of duty. Consequently, as I have, during my 45 years' residence in Peterborough, tried to do my duty faithfully to the place in which all my material interests are centered. I have decided to place myself in the hands of the electors.

If I am chosen as Mayor I shall use all my ability to practically apply the motto of my life—"The interests of Peterborough first, last and always." I am known to you all by virtue of a residence of 45 years in the city and through a corresponding experience in business, which through the kind co-operation of the public, I have been favored in making a success.

Though I have not sought public office any more than I am seeking the present offered position. I may say that for four terms in succession I was returned as alderman without soliciting or attending a nomination or soliciting a vote. I felt that as both an honor and a flattering mark of confidence, which I endeavored to justify to the fullest of my ability. And if elected as Mayor I shall discharge the duties of the office to the full extent of my powers and with a single eye to the promotion of the best interests of the city.



MR. HARRY RUSH

Who is a Candidate for the Mayoralty for 1908.

That is the platform upon which I can and do appeal to your support; that is the platform upon which I shall justify your choice if you do me the honor to elect me. It is not practicable for me, even if it were in line with my inclination, to personally call upon the electors. I hold that the office should seek the man rather than the man the office. I have no personal interests to serve; my only object in accepting the kind offer of the citizens for which honor I give my hearty thanks, is to serve the best interests of the city of Peterborough. With cordial wishes for a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to all, I remain,

Your obedient servant,
H. RUSH.

Peterborough, Dec. 20, 1907.

Entire Train Left the Track Yet No Person Was Injured

Special to the Review.

North Bay, Ont., Dec. 20—The C.P.R. Soo line train, No. 8, due at North Bay at 8.50 last night, was wrecked six miles west of here, the cause being the breaking of the middle axle on the engine.

The entire train left the track. No one was injured.

The track was cleared by 9.30 this morning.

City Engineer Says That No Permission Was Given

Has Furnished the Mayor With Statement in Connection With the Controversy Over the Sewer Connection—What Mr. Hay Says.

Mayor McWilliams has received a statement from City Engineer Hay, in which he says that Mr. Wm. Davidson received no permission from him before commencing work on the sewer connection, over which there has been so much discussion.

The letter from Mr. Hay is self-explanatory, being as follows:

Mayor McWilliams, city;

Dear Sir,—In reply to your request for a statement of the report which I made verbally to the Board of Works with regard to the construction of a sewer connection on Dickson street, by Mr. William Davidson, I beg to report as follows:

The first I knew of the construction of this sewer connection was when I was asked by a member of the Board of Works (not the Mayor) what the digging was which he had seen at the head of McDonnell street. I said I did not know anything about it, and then sent Mr. Thompson to find out what it was. Mr. Thompson reported that Mr. Davidson had men constructing a sewer connection, and that a considerable part of the work was already done. Up to this time, Mr. Davidson had not made application nor deposited the necessary money required in all such cases, and which had been explained to him some days previously. I then ordered the work to be stopped, after which Mr. Davidson made the usual application and deposit, and also made a payment of twenty-five dollars, which is required before a party whose property is not assessed for a sewer can connect with any sewer. In view of the fact that a large part of the work had already been done, I then ordered the completion of the work in a satisfactory manner I gave a certificate authorizing the repayment of his deposit. Mr. Davidson has since acknowledged that he understood the substance of our former conversation to be authority for proceeding with the work and that the cheque was all ready to be deposited.

This is the only case in my recollection in which any person has attempted to construct a sewer connection without first obtaining permission from the city.

Yours truly,
T. A. S. HAY,
City Engineer.

GREAT LEADER PASSING AWAY

John Michell Evidently Has Only Few More Hours to Live

Special to J. R. Heintz & Co.

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 19. — John Mitchell, the great labor leader, has been again stricken. A doctor and priest have been sent for. He will probably die.

HURRAH! HURRAH! FOR A HOLIDAY

Schools are Closed and Teachers and Pupils Commence Their Holidays

The Collegiate Institute closed for the holidays at noon to-day, and the Public and Separate Schools closed at four o'clock. They will not re-open until Monday, January 6th. Teachers and pupils wore happy smiles to-day, as much hard work has been put in since the schools opened on September 1st.

Some of the teachers who came from points outside the city leave for their homes this evening, while others go to-morrow.

James R. Bell, Grocer, 161 Hunter St., is booking orders for Turkeys, Geese and Chickens for Xmas. Call and see him.

What is Making Money Scarce

A Kinmount subscriber in renewing his subscription to the Review, wants to know the cause of the present stringency of the money market. This matter can best be explained by a homely illustration. Canada has grown out of its money supply like a schoolboy grows out of a pair of copper toed boots. The unprecedented development of the country has tied up the money market, and the stringency has been accentuated by many people keeping their money locked up in safes, fearing a financial crisis. Money is of no use unless it is in circulation, and every dollar hoarded up at the present time is doing its share to cause the downfall of financial institutions and the laying off of men in the industrial world.

"The Toboggan slide at Jackson Park is now open for the winter".

PERSONAL

Mr. F. J. Harrison, London, is at the National.

Rev. Mr. McKenzie, of Lakefield, is in the city to-day.

Mrs. Wadely will not receive again until next May.

Mr. P. D. Gordon and wife, Montreal, are guests at the Oriental.

Miss Ross, Lindsay, is in the city today.

Mr. R. H. Boyd, Glasgow, is registered at the Oriental.

Ms. T. Bruce, Lindsay, is at the Oriental.

Mr. Max Cameron, of the School of Practical Science, Toronto, is home for the holidays.

Mr. Ross Dobbin is home from the School of Practical Science, Toronto, to spend the Christmas holidays

Miss Mamie Montgomery, of McMaster University, is home for Christmas.

Messrs. Ed. and Arthur Wood, of Queen's University, are home for the holiday season.

Mrs. J. Roszel, of Hanover, is the guest of relatives in the city, for the Christmas vacation.

Mr. Duncan Walker, of the Normal School staff, London, is spending a few days in the city.

Mr. Sidney Shorey, of Cobourg, who has been the guest of Mr. Barry Lovekin, has returned home.

Miss Lillian Cox, of Lillian Massey school, Toronto, is spending the holidays with her mother, Mrs. Aaron Cox.

Miss Lexa Denne, of Toronto University, and Miss Marion, St. Hilda's Collage, Toronto, are home for the holidays.

Mr. Ronald Dawson, of the Bank of Toronto, was in Peterborough Saturday on business.—Millbrook Mirror.

Mrs. Ernie Payne, of Toronto, is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Hutcheson, Sheridan St., for a few weeks.

Mr. J. H. Burnham of Toronto, who who has been spending the past few days in the city, left to-day for Kingston on business.

Misses Hazel Sanderson and Miss Helen Denne, of Queen's University, Kingston, have arrived home to spend the Christmas holidays.

Mr. J. A. O'Donoghue, principal of the Ennismore school, is in the city today, on his way home to Campbellford, where he will spend his Christmas holidays.

Miss Mattie Robertson, who is attending Queen's University, Kingston, has returned home and is spending the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Robertson, Water-st.

Lakefield News: Miss Wilson spent Sunday in Peterborough, visiting friends......Mr. J. Doyle Brown, public school inspector, was in the village this week making an inspection of the public school.

Fenelon Falls Gazette: Mrs. J. H. Brandon and Miss Brandon visited relatives in Peterborough last week...... Miss Sabina Martin returned home on Tuesday from a two weeks' visit at Mr. John Thompson's in Peterborough.

Norwood Register: Miss C. McDonnell, of Peterborough, who has been the guest of Mrs. P. McNickoll, for some weeks, left for her home on Wednesday......Miss Minnie Todd, of Fenelon Falls, has been engaged by the School Board to fill the vacancy caused by Miss Treleaven's department......Inspector R. H. Cowley, B.A. of the Educational Department, made his annual inspection of the local continuation classes on Friday last.

Mr. E. A. Isaac and Miss Maibel Isaac of Winnipeg, arrived in Peterborough last night, and are spending the Christmas holidays with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Isaac, 228 Dublin street.

ONLY THREE MORE DAYS, THEN XMAS

CHRISTMAS GIFTS

That Ladies Can Buy as Well as Men

The remaining days before Christmas will be Bona Fide Bargain Days for all who sensible Gifts at LeBrun's, as follows:

CLOTHING BARGAINS

Men's Fine Overcoats	$5.00 to $15.00
Men's Fine Suits	4.00 to 14.00
Boys' Winter Overcoats	2.50 to 5.00
Boys' Winter Suits, 2-piece	1.50 to 3.00
Boys' Winter Suits, 3-piece	2.50 to 5.00
Great Stock of Pants for men and boys

CHRISTMAS FURNISHINGS

Men's Superior Underwear, Natural Wool, Scotch and Fleece-lined, all large sizes for large men	.45 to 2.50
Christmas Neckwear	.25 to 1.25
Specially made for us by the Novel-Ti Co., of Peterborough
Christmas Scarfs	.50 to .75
Christmas Hosiery	.25 to .50
Christmas Gloves	.50 to 2.50
Christmas Hdkfs, Fine Linen and Silk	.15 to 1.00
Men's and Boys' Sweaters	.50 to 3.00
Umbrellas of all kinds, including fine silk and with fancy handles	1.00 to 4.50

Neckwear, Scarfs, Gloves, etc., put up in fancy boxes free of charge.

H. LeBrun & Co.

Two Entrances George and Hunter Sts.

IT'S CHEAP TO BUY THE BEST

A Merry Christmas to All

—FROM—

Coleman Bros.

Who have the best line of BULK CANDIES and FANCY BOXES. We have a large stock and mean to clear. Best Goods—Lowest Prices—See our Display—It's Great.

Great Variety of Fruit Cake

SIMMEL CAKE

—A Delicious Article

Plum Cake, Plum Pudding and Mince Meat, unequalled in Flavor.

PHONE 335 426 GEORGE ST.

Assessment Roll Was Confirmed

The Court of Revision held a session yesterday afternoon, and confirmed the assessment roll, as revised by the court. It is not likely that there will be any cases taken to the judge as there were few appellants that did not have their assessment reduced.

A frightful murder of twelve men by a band of Yaqui Indians is reported from Mexico.

WE WISH YOU

A Merry Xmas

We point with pride to our selections of Men's Furnishings for the Holiday trade. We've

Exclusive and Elegant Neckwear
Best Makes of Gloves
Perfection in Shirts and Collars
Best Brands of Underwear
Choice Hosiery, Mufflers
Night Robes, Umbrellas
House Coats, Fancy Braces, Etc.

If you're still undecided just what to buy him for Christmas, we'll take pleasure in showing you a host of things he would be delighted to have.

LANG & MAHER

CLOTHIERS AND FURNISHERS TO MEN WHO KNOW

409 411 George Street Peterborough

How Big is a Dollar?

Depends on whether you have it or not, how soon you mean to let go of it, and what you intend to do with it. Dollars are biggest during our "After Supper Sale" because they go the farthest and buy the most See them grow tomorrow night—from 7.30 to 9:30. Such values! Such chances to save money you have never known, because for the two hours Saturday night we forget about profits. It's our way of winding up the week. These 25c "After Supper" Christmas Specials on tap for Tomorrow Night.

Women's Ties Ea.	25
Handkerchiefs Ea.	25
Ringword Gloves Pr.	25
Cashmere Gloves Pr.	25
Women's Belts Ea.	25
Hose Supporters Pr.	25
Box of Handkerchiefs for	25
Men's Cashmere Sox Pr.	25
Japanese Silk Yd. all shades.	25
Men's Ties Ea.	25
Men's Braces Pr.	25
Tweed Dress Goods Yd.	25
Fancy Black Combs Ea.	25
Fancy Side Combs Ea.	25
Wool Clouds Ea.	25
Wool Toques Ea.	25
Silk Hdkfs. Ea.	25
Women's Vests Ea.	25
Women's Drawers Pr.	25
Box Toilet Soap 3 cakes.	25
Buster Brown Belts Ea.	25
Silk Ribbons 6 inches wide yd.	25
Fancy Dresden Ribbon Yd.	25
Cushion Tops Ea.	25
Table Linen Yd.	25
Pearl Necklets Ea.	25
Veilings Yd.	25.
Linen Towels Pr.	25
Doylies Ea.	25
Tray Cloths Ea.	25
Sideboard Covers Ea.	25
Table Napkins Ea.	25
Bath Towels Pr.	25
Bath Towels Ea.	25
Apron Lawn Yd. tucks and insertion	25
Sheer India Linen Yd.	25
Art Sateen Yd.	25
White Lawn Aprons Ea.	25
Scotch Oil Cloth Sq. Yd.	25
Ends Linoleum Ea.	25
Lace Curtains Pr.	25
Brass Extension Rods extends 54 inches 3 for	25

HEAR ALL THE LATEST MUSIC EVERY DAY THE WEEK
BY CHARLES E. MUSGRAVE

MATINEE SALE OF
FRENCH KID GLOVES
Black, White and Tan, per pair
67c

SATURDAY AFTERNOON FROM 2 TO 5 O'CLOCK ONLY

RICHARD HALL & SON, LIMITED

353 AND 355 GEORGE STREET, PETERBOROUGH
STORE OPENS AT 8 A.M. CLOSES AT 6 P.M., EXCEPT SATURDAY

"HENRY LUDLOWE" IN "RICHARD III" AND "THE MERCHANT OF VENICE"

Mr. Henry Ludlowe, an experienced tragedian supported by a trained company of Shakespearean players, with sumptuous scenic and costume effects, will appear at the Grand opera house on Thursday and Friday, presenting "Richard III," and "The Merchant of Venice," with the most careful attention to historical accuracy and detail—in fact, an earnest, conscientious, and able effort in behalf of the legitimate drama.

Mr. Ludlowe is not only an actor of acknowledged ability—a man of magnificent physique and powerful voice—but an authority on all matters pertaining to the Shakespearian stage. His dramatic career began as a youth with such brilliant players as Booth and Barrett, Salvini and the galaxy of other brilliant stars of their day. In this school he was trained and in this school he was known and admired as a young man of remarkable dramatic power and pleasing stage action, particularly as a very robust youngster whose rare dramatic force was unmarred by any tendency to rant, that bane of so many capable tragedians.

In spite of such brilliant praise Mr. Ludlowe withdrew from the stage to devote himself to earnest study. He returns now, hoping to display the fruits of years of careful study of intelligent conceptions of Shakespearian characters.

Mr. Ludlowe has acquired all the scenery, costumes and paraphernalia used by the late Mr. Richard Mansfield. These have been in the hands of the original scene painters and costumers. They were but seldom used by the great Mr. Mansfield and are virtually new.

The tour is under the direction of Messrs. Haselton & North, Mr. Haselton being the celebrated author of "Mistress Nell" and Mr. Hall a well known actor manager.

HOLIDAY CONFECTIONS

For a choice Box of fresh home-made Creams, Chocolates or Bon Bons, go to L. Potvin, 425 George George St. All Candies made on the premises from finest materials. Christmas and Fancy Cakes that delight the most fastidious. Visit Potvin's before making your Christmas purchases.

The Vital Truths of Cleanliness

Impressed Upon Youth of Stirling by Peterborough Man

The Stirling News Argus says:—Mr. Arthur W. Beall, B.A., of Peterborough, of the White Cross department of the W.C.T.U., gave an interesting and earnest address in St. Andrew's church on Sunday morning. The message to parents regarding the need of having their children learn certain vital truths from clean sources will not soon be forgotten by those present. Mr. Beall addressed a mass meeting of the Sunday school scholars in the afternoon in the Methodist church, impressing upon them that as disciples of the great Teacher they should keep "clean" from the body and soul destroying cigarettes and liquors, and stand firmly by their colors, the white badge of purity. He suggested the wearing of a bow of white ribbon until after the voting on the local option by-law, thus showing a desire to purify Stirling from its three bar rooms, which accounts for the number of people, both old and young, wearing white ribbons. On Monday and Tuesday Mr. Beall gave "purity" talks to the public school pupils. The topics were handled with the utmost delicacy and fineness and were treated in a manner that cannot fail to be of great and lasting benefit to those who listened.

DEEDS ARE FRUITS; WORDS ARE BUT LEAVES

Nevertheless, we would like to say a few words about our tea leaves—our green and black tea leaves. First, they are new crop; second, they are early picked; third, they are well fired; fourth, they are good, which, as a sum total, equals the saying of a good deal. But we want to do more than say; we want to do; we want to make good the saying that "Deeds are fruits," and we will prove to you that our words are as good as our deeds if you will order us to send you a sample package of our blend. Three pounds for one dollar. J. John, Tea Man, Opera House Block, Peterborough. 2d

"The Toboggan slide at Jackson Park is now open for the winter".

PORTER'S Delicatessen

TONS OF POULTRY

INCLUDING

1500 lbs. : : Geese
2000 lbs. : : Turkey
1000 lbs. : : : Chicken
All less than Market Price

WATCH OUR GROCERY BARGAINS

Select New Raisins, 3 lbs.	20c
Our own Mince Meat, 3 lbs.	20c
Choice Tea or Coffee, 3 lbs.	50c
Hallowe'en Dates, 3 lbs.	25c
Shelled Almonds and Walnuts, per lb.	35c
Apples and Potatoes, per peck	15c

410 George Street

HAD THE BIG TREE CUT DOWN

Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons Remove One From Front of Grand Hotel

Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons, the local tent and awning makers, have branched out in another line. There was a large tree in front of the present Grand hotel for years and Mr. Chas. Nixon, the proprietor, in view of the recent improvements made to the house, was of the opinion that to present a better appearance the tree should be removed. On account of the danger of breaking the telephone wires no one would undertake the contract, however, until the firm mentioned above came to the rescue and hewed down the spreading landmark.

"The Toboggan slide at Jackson Park is now open for the winter".

THE SENDING OF GIFTS

Little Touches That Will Add to the Pleasure of Recipient.

A good deal of the pleasures of Christmas lies in the opening of the mysterious packages that find their way to your door. If these are daintily wrapped up, the present is perhaps the more acceptable. The proper way to send a pretty gift is to secure some white wrapping paper, enclose your card, one of those Christmas greetings and a spray of holly embossed on it; seal the first wrapper with one of the holly seals — there are four patterns — and then wrap in a stronger paper. On this use one of the gummed Christmas labels or a shipping tag with an embossed holly design on it. If one is sending a number of parcels to one address for different members of a family, there are miniature shipping tags, prettily decorated with holly, only costing five cents a dozen, which will be nice to use. There are more elaborate tags, round in shape with a wreath of holly, and enough bright red ribbon attached to tie a bow on the parcel.

The use of all these gives a distinctive touch to the gift, and will be sure to repay the extra trouble taken. The holly seals, labels, cards, and tags, are all on sale at the Review office. Call and get a variety of them before you send out your gifts.—dtf.

PATTERN MAKERS WANTEE

Pattern Makers wanted at once. Apply to the Canadian General Electric Company.

Xmas Drawing Near

You have only a few days to consider where to place your order for Brandies, Scotch, Irish and all kinds of Wines, Ales, etc.

Don't hesitate a moment but come direct to Mitchell's, 141 Hunter St. where you will get nothing but pure whiskey, (not Otonabee water.) Don't forget to ask for Mitchell's Special Rye Whiskey, the only reliable draught goods sold.

Sweet Cider for sale.

Leave your order early.

F. J. R. MITCHELL
141 Hunter St. — Phone 300

KANDIES FOR THE KIDS

Nut Candies
Cream Candy
Pure Sugar Candy
Royal Mixed Candy

SEE OUR CANDY WINDOW

WHITE & GILLESPIE

336 GEORGE ST. Phone 208

GET YOUR HOLIDAY PHOTOS
—AT—
LENDRUM'S
They are the best and most up-to-date
170 Charlotte Streht

MADE LIKE NEW

Chenille and Tapestry Curtains and Table Covers Cleaned and Dyed Like New

For genuine satisfaction and saving the purchase of new curtains, bring your old ones to us or telephone us and we will call for them.

Sponging and pressing made a special part of our business.

PARKER'S DYE WORKS
R. M. BEACH,
Phone 250 Proprietor

LADIES, CUT THIS OUT
Dr. Cristion's
FRENCH TOILET ARTICLES
Have been placed on sale with
Miss E. Smith
507 GEORGE STREET
MANICURING, SHAMPOOING
SCALP TREATMENT and FACIAL
MASSAGE SKILFULLY DONE
Appointments made. Mach. Phone 13

Second Hand Stove Bargains
—AT—
BARRETT'S
Why pay $30 for a Heater or $40 for a Range when you can buy either for $5 to $15 at Barrett's Second Hand Store.
187 Simcoe St. next Cavanagh's

ESTABLISHED 1879

J. R. HEINTZ & CO.
STOCKS, GRAIN,
COTTON, COFFEE

J. N. BARBER, Manager
Phone 529

FOR FINE
Lemons, Oranges
Malaga Grapes
Bananas
and all kinds of fruit and vegetables try
MINOCOLO BROS.
Wholesale and Retail.
Both Phones 337.

FAMILY RE-UNIONS AT CHRISTMAS

The opportunity to have a complete group taken may not occur again. Appointments at

THE ROY STUDIO

BROCK ST. RINK

SEASON 1907-8

Tickets for the season entitling the holder to all skating privileges, now on sale at the Examiner Office, Peterborough Bookstore, Sanderson & Co., F. A. Clarke's, Best Hardware Co., the Secretary, C. G. Graham, at the Oriental Hotel.

Gentlemen	3.00
Ladies	2.00
Youths, 16 to 18	2.00
Boys under 16	1.50
Girls	1.50

Nothing makes a better Christmas gift for your boy or girl than a Season Ticket for the Brock Street Rink.

SELECTING A LOCKET FOR CHRISTMAS

Plain Gold Lockets in either men's or ladies' styles are as popular as ever.
We have them in 10kt Solid Gold as low as $2.25 and upwards to $8.00. In 14kt Gold from $5.00 upwards to $15.00. This gives a splendid range of shapes and prices In good Gold Filled we have a fine line of lower priced goods, some of which are handsomely set with precious stones.

SCHNEIDER'S

RELIABLE JEWELLERS, 391 GEORGE STREET

THE CITY AND VICINITY

EVENTS TO-NIGHT

Conservatory of Music hall.—Violin recital by Miss Julia Choate.

Murray street church. — Sunday school entertainment.

T.A.S. rooms—Ladies' Literary Society meeting.

Knox church.—Boy's Club.

St. Andrew's church.—Boy's Guild.

Peterborough Court, Canadian Foresters, elects officers.

Peterborough Lodge, Knights of Pythias, elects officers.

READ THIS.

All late popular song hits at 12 1-2c. per copy, at the J. M. Greene Music Store. 3d

FLOWERS GALORE.

Great assortment of Xmas Flowers at Mason's, the Florist, 406 1-2 George street. 3d

FUR LINED COATS

We clean and press them and guarantee no injury to the fur. My Valet, 204 Charlotte street. All goods called for and delivered. dtf

MAKE CALENDARS.

Why not make calendars? They are pretty cheap and always acceptable. We have pictures in sepia and colors, fancy embossed cards and dainty calendar pads in many designs. See them at the Review office. 3d

SHEET MUSIC AGAIN.

We are selling the very latest in instrumental and popular Song Hits until New Year's for 12 1-2c. per copy. Buy your music from an established music house. J. M. Greene Music Co., Grand Opera House Building. 3d

LEATHER MUSIC CASES.

We have a large well assorted stock for Xmas at close prices. Peterborough Music Co. 404 George-st. 3ddw

NOTHING DOING.

There was nothing doing in police court this morning. The busy spell of the past few days has broken.

ACCOUNT BOOK FOUND.

A small account book, bearing the name of Katie Owens, awaits a claimant at this office.

LEAVE ORDERS EARLY.

Oh, my! it would be so nice if customers would leave their orders early for Xmas flowers and plants at Mason's the Florist, 406 1-2 George-st. 3d

XMAS GREETINGS.

While doing your Christmas shopping, call at the Aylmer Street Greenhouses. Many things for Christmas gifts and also cut bloom. Order early. Open till 10 o'clock. Lit with electric lights. Wishing you all many returns of the season. J. H. Cobb, 551 Aylmer street. Phone 132.

LADIES' LITREARY.

The regular meeting of the Ladies' Literary Society of St. Peter's T. A. S., will be held on Friday evening, Dec. 20th, when an essay will be read by Miss Milaney. A musical programme will also be presented. 4td

MADE FINAL BOW.

Warden McNeil made his final bow to the chair at Cobourg last week, a position which he has occupied with dignity and satisfaction to the Council. He gave each member an autograph photograph of himself besides a group picture of the whole Council.

WILL HOLD DANCE.

The gentlemen of Millbrook are arranging a dance for early in January in the town hall.

COLLEGIATE CLOSES.

The Collegiate Institute closed at noon today for the Christmas holidays. It will reopen on January 6th.

FINANCE COMMITTEE.

The Finance Committee held a meeting last night and transacted some routine business.

BUSINESS COLLEGE CLOSES.

The Peterborough Business College closed to-day for the Christmas holidays. The school will reopen on Thursday, January 2nd.

DINING ROOM DECORATED.

The dining room at the Munro house has been prettily decorated for the Christmas season. The work has been done very artistically.

MASONIC VISITS.

Mr. Duncan Walker, D.D.G.M. and a number of local craftsmen will pay a visit to Keene Lodge, A. F. & A. M. this evening. On Monday night they will visit Clementi Lodge, Lakefield.

PUDDING AND CAKE.

The crowning point of the Christmas dinner is the pudding, especially if it is prepared at Elliott's; 20c. a pound. To know the possibilities in cake making, be sure and try Elliott's Christmas cake; 20c. a pound. dtf

PUDDING AND CAKE.

The crowning point of the Christmas dinner is the pudding, especially if it is prepared at Elliott's. 20c a pound. To know the possibilities in cake making, be sure and try Elliott's Christmas Cake, 20c a pound. dtf

VIOLIN RECITAL.

A large number of invitations have been issued for the violin recital to be given at the Conservatory of Music hall this evening by Miss Julia Choate. Miss Choate will be assisted by Miss Pearl Lundy.

DIVISION COURT TO-DAY.

Division Court is being held to-day at the Court House before His Honor Judge Weller and several minor cases are being settled. There is an unusually heavy docket for His Honor to deal with.

PHILADELPHIA STYLE OF SIGN

The new electric sign of Dr. Browett, Optical Specialist, is being much admired. It is perhaps the first of its kind in Canada, and, while it is quite small and unassuming, it is very neat and effective. Messrs. Turner & Sons are to be congratulated upon its workmanship, and Dr. Browett for its introduction. We are pleased to notice the success with which Dr Browett is meeting since making this city his permanent home.

PLANTS IN CORK AND BARK

Something very unique—Plants growing in cork, bark and red cedar. Just the thing for Christmas presents, at Mason, the Florist, 406 1-2 George St.

SLIDE OPENED LAST NIGHT

May be Skating at St. Railway Rink in Couple of Nights

Jackson Park has again come to life. The toboggan slide has again assumed a brilliant appearance. A large number of lovers of this fascinating pastime enjoyed an evening's exhilarating fun. The slide was pretty fast, and the turnout was good for an opening night. Provided the cold weather continues, there will be skating on the street railway rink in a couple of nights.

SANTA CLAUS at ROUTLEY'S

Santa has paid many visits to his old established Headquarters. Our 2nd floor is heavier stocked with every imaginable Toy or Gift for the little tots than ever was known in the city.

Dolls, Cradles, Hose Carts, Toy Beds, Games all kinds, Toy Carriages, Sleighs, Toy Tea Sets, Whips, Toy Wash Sets. Toy Books; Sleeping, Walking, Kid and Jointed Dolls; Building Blocks, Noah's Arks, Bugles, Drums, Reins, Mechanical Toys, Magic Lanterns, Steam Engines, Banks, Trains.

CHINA SECTION

Bread and Butter Plates, China Cups and Saucers, Jardinieres, Vases, Salad Bowls, Brush Trays, Biscuit Jars' Jelly Pots, China Tea Sets, Fancy Jugs in Sets, Dinner Sets, Chamber Sets, all the newest in natty pieces suitable for presents.

MAIN FLOOR

Manicure Sets, Brush and Comb Sets, Military Sets, Padded Posts, Catholic Prayer Books, English Church Prayer Books, Hymn Books, Bibles, Work Boxes, Collar Boxes, Glove and Handkerchief Sets, Leather Writing Cases and Desks, Music Rolls, Pocket Books, Hand Bags.

As usual we will not allow those not strictly in the fancy goods or stationery lines to compete in any way. Stick to the place that has served you well, there are none who can head us off at our own old game

TORONTO
262-4 QUEEN W

ROUTLEY'S

PETERBORO'
379 GEORGE ST

THE
DOMINION BANK
PAYS SPECIAL ATTENTION TO
SAVINGS ACCOUNTS
INTEREST PAID QUARTERLY
JOHN CRANE Manager
Corner George and Simcoe Sts.

SODEN'S BOOKSTORE 369 GEORGE-ST.

THE BEST CHRISTMAS STORE

Christmas is almost here. Have you bought your Christmas Presents? If not begin at once by going to Soden's. The Stock at this Store is the newest and best selected in its line in Peterborough, comprising

Books, Stationery, Pictures, Fancy Goods Leather Goods, China, Toys and Games

BOOKS

All the latest and best fiction, beautifully bound, cloth bound and padded poets, children's picture and story books. All the newest and most up-to-date gift books, ranging in prices from 10c to $3.00 each.

STATIONERY

All the best makes and designs from leading American and Canadian manufacturers—See our special Papeteries, Calendars, Christmas Cards.

PICTURES

Don't fail to inspect this stock. We are the largest importers of High Class Pictures between Toronto and Montreal. We frame on the ground and on short notice Our prices in this, as in all other lines, are RIGHT.

LEATHER GOODS

Fancy goods and China—We import direct from the factories. Our designs are the newest, our qualities the best to be had in the world's markets.

OUR PRICES are as low as you can buy inferior Goods for elsewhere, and quality considered are LOWER than any others in Peterborough. Come, see for yourself, and be satisfied.

SPECIAL PRICES ON BOOKS FOR SUNDAY SCHOOLS

SODEN'S BOOKSTORE 369 GEORGE-ST.

THE BANK'S SKATE STORE

Stock The
LUNN'S
AUTOMOBILE
CYCLE
ENGEL'S
STARR
REGAL
MIC MAC
SKATES

Come to us for your Skates and Skate Supplies

Banks Bicycle and Sporting Goods Co.

Under the Market Clock

Timely Comment on the Mayoralty

Mayor Should be Worthy of Second Term Before Being Accorded The Honor

St. Luke's Parish Church Work for December says;—

The municipal elections will soon call upon the ratepayers to give their attention to the personnel of the City Council. Without wishing to enter into a discussion with regard to the council's work, one might say that some improvements might be made when the selection of a council is given to the citizens. On the whole the aldermen have manifested a great interest in the welfare of the city, and some of them have given real valuable service. But there has been, lately, manifested some narrow minded policy, with regard to certain affairs, which prove that the originator is not worthy of holding an office which is in the gift of the people. If any one allows personal feelings to interfere with the discharge of a public duty, such a one is not fit to be trusted with the discharge of public affairs.

The question of who is to occupy the civic chair as Mayor ought to be seriously considered, and in doing so the custom of offering by acclamation a second term to the occupant of the chair should not seriously affect the discharge of a citizen's duty nor should be acceded to for merely reasons of politeness. Real and valuable service, ability and sound judgment alone should be factors in the choice for the Chief Magistrate. Certainly the Mayor ought to be a property owner, a man of experience in years and in civic work, a man who will place the well-being of the city before anything else, and who will never allow personal affairs to hinder him from a fair and just discharge of his duties. That sort of a man ought to be the choice of the electors: whether he be a Conservative or a Liberal should in no way influence the electors.

It is not unlikely that the labor organizations of the city will make their choice of candidates for municipal honors, thereby calling the attention of the public to the interests they represented. No fair-minded citizen objects to all the interests of the community being represented in the Municipal Council, but we do expect that our interests will be represented by men of ability, standing and honor. Fair minded, economical representatives with public spirit are welcomed in public life by all classes of the community, and it is to be hoped that when the nominations are made it will be found that the gentlemen offering themselves for election will be men who will command the full confidence and respect of the electors.

You have heard the Sailor Boys' plea, buy to-day for your dinner to-morrow "Sailor Boy" Canned Goods, Tomatoes Corn, Peas and Salmon. Your money does not buy better Goods. Do you get "Sailor Boy" or substitute?

The National Live Stock Convention

Will be Held in Ottawa on Feb. 5, 6 and 7th.

The convention of the National Live Stock Association, to be held in Ottawa, on February, 5th, 6th and 7th, 1908, promises to be a most important meeting. The programme being prepared provides for the consideration of such national topics as the export, import and interprovincial trade in breeding and commercial live stock. The relationship of transportation companies to the live stock industry will be dealt with by foremost authorities. The health of Canadian live stock, proposed amendments of custom regulations and the Scottish premium system of hiring stallions will all be considered, with a view to improving present conditions in Canada in regard to these matters.

Already an attendance of representative stock men from each of the several provinces is assured. Most of the record and provincial live stock associations have fulfilled the requirements of affiliation. It is the privilege also of Agriculture societies and exhibition associations, which paid in cash pries for live stock in 1907 a sum of $500 or upwards, to affiliate with the national association by sending to the Live Stock Commissioner, Ottawa, a list of its members. Societies affiliated in this way are entitled to representation at the convention by the president or secretary.

An Engagement of Importance

Mr. Henry Ludlowe, the Celebrated Actor, to Appear in City—Magnificent Cast and Production

An interesting visitor was in the city this week when Mr. Augustus P. Dunlop, advance agent for Mr. Henry Ludlowe, the celebrated actor in historical and classic roles, was here in the interests of Mr. Ludlowe and his talented company. The latter appears at the Grand Opera House on Thursday and Friday, December 26th and 27th, in "The Merchant of Venice" and "Richard III." Mr. Dunlop, who is over 70 years of age, has been in the executive field of play production for the past half century, for many years being advance agent for the late Richard Mansfield. From a standpoint of histrionic ability, the company he represents is one of the finest that has ever appeared in Canada. The dramas they interpret are of the highest order both in the matter of literary worth as well as from the standpoint of rich and artistic scenic investure. In fact they have exactly the same stage settings as were used by the famous Mansfield during his brilliant career on the stage. Mr. Ludlowe, the star, while naturally overshadowing the balance of the cast by his wonderfully realistic and impressive acting, is given the enthusiastic and scholarly support of a superb cast, every member of which is a most worthy exponent of the dramatic art. He and his company are at present playing at "His Majesty's," the leading Montreal playhouse, and are meeting with undivided critical and popular approval. Needless to remark they will be warmly greeted on their appearance in Peterborough.

In a fight with knives, razors and revolvers at the east end of St. Antoine street last night, one Italian was stabbed twice, and two men passing by were shot.

Tried to Get the Bullion; Young Man's Bold Attempt

St. John Youth Charged With Attempted Robbery.

Yardman at Philadelphia Station Found William Hewitt Concealed—Working With Saw Under Car of Buffalo Express—Train Contained $60,000 in Gold—Was Unarmed But Desperate—Held in Heavy Bail.

Philadelphia, Dec. 20.—Charged with making a daring attempt to rob a car on the Buffalo Express, containing $60,000 gold bullion, while the train was standing in the Reading terminal Wednesday night, William A. Hewitt, who gives his address as 325 West Fifteenth street, New York, was yesterday held in heavy bail for a further hearing.

A yard man while at work on a track adjoining the one on which the express train stood heard a peculiar grating noise, and on investigation discovered Hewitt under the bullion car at work with a saw on a gas pipe.

The police say they are working on the theory that Hewitt probably expected to enter the car after he had extinguished the lights and loot it unobserved.

Hewitt, who is 21 years old, gives the impression of a man of education and refinement, who had adopted desperate methods to secure funds. He was unarmed and had but 15 cents. The young man has a mother living at St. John, N. B. Recently he had charge of the billiard-room of a local hotel, and worked at the Somerset Club in Boston. From the latter city Hewitt went to New York and then came to this city, he says, and walked the streets all of Tuesday night.

Peterborough Strathconas Show up Well at Practice

Good Turnout Last Night With Two New Men, Donegan and Armstrong, in Evidence—Ice in Splendid Condition and Practice Was Fast One——First Game With St. Georges on Dec. 27th.

Peterborough will evidently have a good fast bunch of puck chasers to choose from this winter, as the practices at Brock street are being well attended, and those who turn out display encouraging form, when the darkness of the season is considered. The ice is in fine condition, and ice maker Jack Thimbeck deserved great praise for his good work. A fast, snappy practice was held at the rink last night, and among those in attendance were Denocher, Buller, Weatherstone, McMillian, Dobson, Dusty, Walle Parnell, Hillier, Mann, Hall, Donegan, Armstrong and Curtis. Donegan and Armstrong are new men, and make a good impression with the fans. The former played right wing with the Berlin intermediates last year, and has barrels of speed, and is a swift and accurate shot. Armstrong played with the Smith's Falls Mic Macs two years ago. When Glover, Moore and Meagher turn out, and they will do so in a short time, there will be a bunch to pick from that should be able to give any seven in the O.H.A. the hardest kind of an argument. From all appearances, the forward line will be especially fast, and effective, and will be backed by a first class defence.

The first game of the season is on the 27th December, when the St. George's, who will probably have Harold White, of last year's Strathconas on their line-up, cross sticks with the locals. The seven from this city expect a hard battle, and will get into excellent shape for the match.

Sporting Comment

The Peterborough Strathconas come into the calcium light on December 27th, when they meet the St. George's of Toronto. As there will probably be some players on the team who are unknown to the hockey enthusiasts of this city this game will be particularly interesting and there will doubtless be a big crowd on hand to see the game.

The Hamilton Times says: "The Peterborough Ministerial Association is again in revolt against Sunday funerals. Why not hire a superannuated or unattached cleric to do the honors?"

Notes of Interest St. Luke's Church

Preparations for Christmas Services—Other References

St. Luke's Parish Church Work, in its issue for December, contains the following of local interest:

The services Christmas Day will be as follows: Holy Communion at 7 and 8 a.m., and at noon. Morning Prayer at 10.30. We would urge all communicants to avail themselves of the 7 and 8 a.m. celebrations, so that the noon service might not be prolonged.

At St. Mark's Church, Otonabee, the Christmas service will be held on the Sunday following Christmas, December 29, at 11 a.m. The customary Christmas offering which is for the clergyman, the rector desires to give to Mr. Perry, who so acceptably ministered to the congregation during the summer. In view of his faithful work, Dr. Langfeldt hopes that the offering for Mr. Perry will be a very liberal one.

As we have done in the past so we do now again, appealing for contributions of flowers, and willing hands to help in the decorating of the church for Christmas. We would ask our good friends in the country to bring a few loads of evergreens for decorating purposes.

The next meeting of the A.Y.P.A. of St. Luke's church will be held on January 17th. The evening will be a social one, with a debate by Misses Clara Adams and Mary Pratley and Messrs. Arthur Pakenham and Guy Quartermaine. We wish to repeat the statement that the meetings of the A. Y. P. A. are open to the public, and that the members would be delighted to welcome their friends. At the meeting on Dec. 6 Sheriff Hall gave a most delightful and instructive lecture on "Dickens."

We sympathize very heartily with Mr. and Mrs. David Lawrence, who were formerly members of St. Luke's, but live now at Lakefield, in the loss by death of their son Ralph. He was a bright young fellow whose life was just budding into manhood, and whose death is an irreparable loss to his parents.

Much sympathy is felt for Mrs. A. Waterman on account of the serious sickness of her son, Kingsley. Mr. Waterman being away, made the situation much more distressing. Kingsley was operated on for appendicitis, at a time when the most serious consequences were anticipated, but with the help of God and the good work of the physicians, he passed through the operation with every hope for a full recovery. Indeed we thank God for His wonderful deliverance from what seemed to be imminent death.

We would advise our friends not to be too generous in the distribution of Christmas cheer. For years the charitably disposed people have been imposed upon by a certain class of paupers who go from church to church in order to obtain help. A movement is on foot to prevent this. Each church can do its own charitable work, but let it be done through a responsible person who is conversant with the needs of the people. The rector will be glad to distribute, as in former years, anything that may be donated for giving cheer to the deserving. A case came to his notice the other day when a woman made the bold statement that she sent her children to another Sunday school every Sunday in order to obtain "what was going," as she termed it. Such designs ought to be and must be frustrated.

There will be much hardship this winter, judging from the fact of so many being unemployed. Last year the rector distributed cast-off clothing to about 200 people. He would be glad to receive again old clothing to help the many who come to him asking help in that line.

The weekly service on Wednesday opened again the first Wednesday in Advent, and was fairly good in attendance. It has been truly said that the week-night service is the spiritual thermometer of a congregation. If that is true some of our people ought to bestir themselves and attend. They have plenty of time for lodge meetings, parties and other enjoyment, but find no time to set apart one evening to worship God and to learn something with regard to their duties toward God. Brethren, these things ought not so to be.

We welcome again Mr. and Mrs. Stenton to our church and parish. They are spending the winter at the home of Mrs. Stenton's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Curtis.

The annual prize-giving and Christmas tree for our Sunday school will be held on Friday, January 10. We hope that the people of St. Luke's will do their best in making this event a great success.

The Reverend Canon Spragge, rector of Cobourg, is laid up with a sore throat, which prevents him from using his voice. To assist him during the Christmas season, the rector has consented to letting Rev. A. L. Reed go to Cobourg to take Canon Spragge's duties.

MONEY IN YOUR POCKET

Give your family a Xmas Present—a snug little home for your own. We have some at valuation that would agreeably surprise you and be money in your pocket.

[illegible] and [illegible]—Brick house, six or eight roomed; two story

[illegible]—Nice brick, well finished inside, near Can Gen. Electric Co.

[illegible]—Fine new brick, two storys, large lot, south city

[illegible]—Brick, central location, modern, electric light, city water, bath, sewer connection, nice large house.

[illegible]—Artistic brick house, large garden, well planted with fruit; house has all modern conveniences and a nice sunny location.

[illegible]—Beautiful residential location; large lot with stable. House solid brick and warm; furnace and all conveniences.

Some good houses to rent cheap.

Some good farms throughout the district for sale Farm lands in the Great West and on the Pacific Coast. City lots in Vancouver. Double your money in a year. See us for particulars.

BELL & TAYLOR

Real Estate. Fire Insurance

Office—376 Water Street.

Office Phone—498B House Phone 547B

A HUGE BARGAIN
AT
CUBITT'S BOOK AND FANCY GOODS STORE
ON SATURDAY, DECEMBER 21st
IN A
HANDSOME PAPETERIE
FOR 19c
"CUBITT SELLS CHEAP"

IF YOUR PIANO BEARS THE NAME
"GERHARD HEINTZMAN"
It has the excellence that comes of years of experience and study, carefully and intelligently applied.
A SINGING EVEN TONE PERFECT ACTION
DELICACY OF TOUCH
combined with durability and beauty of design are the distinguishable characteristics of the "Gerhard Heintzman."
In buying a piano it is the truest form of economy to get the best, the few dollars additional in the price being returned tenfold in wear, pleasure and pride of ownership. Write for catalogue.
Gerhard Heintzman, Limited
97 Yonge Street, Toronto.
W. H. ISAAC, 228 Dublin Street, Peterborough.
Local Salaried Representative. Machine 'Phone 22

The Daily Review

FRIDAY, DEC. 20, 1907

THE MAYORALTY RACE

As intimated in another column of the Review, Mr. Harry Rush has consented, at the solicitation of hundreds of representative citizens who have attached their names to requisitions to become a candidate for the mayoralty for 1908. Mr. Rush, after taking the matter into his earnest consideration, has yielded to the pressure brought to bear upon him, from many quarters, and should prove a strong, popular candidate. He is well known to all the citizens, having resided here for forty-five years. He conducted a large and successful business for some years, and for the last 22 years has been engaged in the real estate and insurance business. For four years he was a careful, conscientious and energetic member of the city council, retiring three years ago. During his tenure of office he was chairman of the Manufacturers' Committee, and also of the Finance for one year. Mr. Rush won the confidence and esteem of all ratepayers by his faithful and earnest work around the board, and brought to bear on all civic questions, good, sound common sense and mature judgment. Largely through his instrumentality, the Hilliard farm was purchased by the city. It has proved a good investment and the Board of Works have obtained ample supplies of gravel therefrom for many years, while the house thereon has been converted at small cost into an admirable shelter for the wards of the Children's Aid Society.

In entering the field for the chief magistracy, it is not a case of the man seeking the office, but rather the office seeking the man. Mr. Rush's requisition papers bear the signatures of scores upon scores of residents in all walks of life, representing every class of ratepayers who believe that he will well and worthily guard the welfare and best interests of the city in which he has rendered useful public service. His candidature will meet with general approval. He has no personal interest to serve, no spleen to visit on any citizen, and no ambition to gratify other than to discharge the duties and responsibilities of the office in a straightforward, helpful manner, with an aim and object to see Peterborough advance and retain the proud position she now occupies as a live, progressive, industrial and manufacturing centre, a city of which all residents should ever feel proud.

SHOULD STAY AT HOME

A great many undesirable immigrants are being deported from Canada and it is only right that they should be. Only this week several persons were sent home from Halifax who were suffering from incurable maladies. It is proper that this course should be carried out as the Dominion has at the present time enough of its own poor and afflicted to look after. Unscrupulous agents and mercenary steamship companies, who inveigle certain parties to come to Canada under false promises and with the idea that money is exceptionally plentiful here at the present time should be prosecuted. If persons are out of work and out of money it is better that they should be in this condition at home than abroad among strangers.

The action taken at Ottawa to check immigration is therefore timely and a despatch from the Capital contains the following interesting information: In order to curb immigration from Great Britain during the winter season and put a further check upon people coming to Canada when there is a probability of work not being forthcoming, agents in England have been instructed to notify intending emigrants that no adult will be allowed to land in Canada between now and the 15th of February unless he has $50 in his pocket. From the latter date to April 1st, the amount must be $25. The only exception is in the case of those who are coming out to friends and have work provided for them.

SHOULD PAY WATER RATES

At the forthcoming election the ratepayers will be asked to give their verdict on a bylaw which will enable the water commissioners to levy a special frontage tax upon all land fronted by water mains.

At present water rates are paid only by consumers, and owners of vacant lots have in the past contributed nothing toward the operation and maintenance of the system.

The by-law says in part:

"An annual special rate of four and one-half cents per foot for each foot of frontage of all lands, lots or parts of lots, whether occupied or vacant, fronting or abutting upon all streets, lanes and alleys in the city of Peterborough, upon which water mains from which the Commissioners are willing to supply water are laid, is hereby fixed, levied and charged, subject to the provisions hereinafter contained."

Of course, all owners of vacant property will very probably oppose the measure, but why should they not contribute? In the larger cities vacant lands are charged with water rates, and the fairness and justice of the levy is recognized. There is no doubt that where mains pass vacant land that property is rendered much more valuable and saleable than it otherwise would be without this great civic convenience. Why, then, should not such real estate be assessed at so much per foot frontage, to help defray the expense of running the splendid waterworks system of which Peterborough is justly proud.

SHORTER SITTINGS

There is no doubt but that the majority of the speeches delivered in the House of Commons are too long-winded and too prosaic. The result is that the night sessions are unduly prolonged and the members are hanging around the legislative chamber when they should be in bed. Sittings which are drawn out until twelve, one, and even two o'clock are apt to be listless, perfunctory and undignified. Mr. Wright, of Renfrew, this week brought forward a motion that the Commons should sit no later than 10.30 o'clock, while Mr. Taylor, the veteran Conservative whip, proposed that morning and afternoon sittings be held, and that the night sederunts be abolished and given over to committee work, which would relieve the tension and strain to some extent. While no definite action was taken, it is hoped for the good of the members themselves and the example set other deliberative bodies, that the discussion will do good and bear fruit. Too much valuable time is spent in useless and unprofitable talk for which the country has to pay dearly, and any plan looking to abbreviation of the sessions and speeches will be welcomed by all serious, earnest minded electors. It is folly to charge one political party or the other as being wholly responsible for the present undesirable order of things. Both are in a degree contributory to it. Surely some mutual understanding can be arrived at whereby the annual sessions of six and seven months duration and the daily sittings of nine and ten hours (not considering the committee work) may be amended.

PEN POINTS

The Mayoralty contest is starting off with a Rush.

It is hoped that snow shovelling will soon be as popular as long distance walking.

Why all this Rush? Partly due to the busy Christmas trade and partly to the Mayoralty campaign.

$339,873 lopped off by the Court of Revision, and still valuations in many instances are too high.

It requires a hero to walk boldly up to a snow shovel, grasp it firmly and exclaim with decision; "You may not be my friend, but I am going to use you just the same."

Was your assessment reduced? If not, depend upon it, your pocket book will be before you are through purchasing Christmas presents.

Say, if you have not bought your Christmas gifts yet, don't hurry! Just defer the matter until about 11.30 o'clock on Christmas eve, and then take your time.

A certain King of France marched up the hill and marched down again, and this is about what Peterborough has done in the matter of increased assessment.

Mayor McWilliams' opponent may be Rush-ing the contest, but he is doing so at the earnest solicitation of several hundreds of representative citizens interested in the good government of the city.

They are off—Messrs. Rush and McWilliams. The latter has been in many a rush on the football field, but he'll find the present one an entirely different proposition, tackle it as he may.

Considering that the members of the Court of Revision held over forty meetings and went about their work in a thorough, practical manner, no one will begrudge them the small increase in pay granted by the city council.

An expenditure of $767,000 in building operations in Peterborough during the past season tells an eloquent story of the city's expansion. The number of new structures, which have been completed, or are in course of erection, is 293.

It is clear that President Roosevelt is determined to quit the presidency job. It is a pity, for the United States could stand a man of Roosevelt's forcefulness, integrity and aggressiveness for years to come. It is seldom our American neighbors have a President who is so invariably anxious to give the public a square deal.

The following sentence, printed in the current number of a prominent medical journal, explains why there is no great demand for professional periodicals by the laity; "The virulent spirillum possesses a greater number of bacteriolytic and agglutinable haptophore groups or these groups are endowed with a greater binding power for uniceptors and amboceptors than the avirulent."

The Liberal newspaper at Amherst, N.S., which is credited with giving expression to the views of Mr. Hance Logan, M.P., thinks that the general parliamentary elections will not be held until the summer of 1909. The Kingston Whig, an Ontario Liberal paper, also intimates that the country is not likely to have a general election next year. Conservatives should not object to these foreshadowings being justified by events. An extra twelve months for the people to think about what the spending of $120,000,000 a year means, should bring about a state of opinion that will end the Laurier administration.

The commission report in the Congdon case is severe on the ex-administrator of the Yukon, but that does not afford much comfort for the widow and orphan whose interests appear to have suffered seriously in consequence. A curious feature of this report is that a government official in the Yukon states the proport is that a government official in the Yukon states the property involved to be worthless, while an independent mining authority gives evidence that it is worth $100,000 "at a low estimate." That seems to be a very big discrepancy, and should need investigation.

Literary Society At Fraserville

Officers Elected—Bright Prospects for the Season

Fraserville, Dec. 18.—The social event of the season came off last night in the Orange hall here, it being the formal organization of the Fraserville Union Literary and Debating Society.

The following officers were elected:
President.—Mr. Geo. Seabrook.
Vice-Pres.—Miss Violet Campbell.
Secretary.—Miss Violet McIlroy.
Treasurer.—Miss Emma Seabrook.
Critic.—Mr. Harry Brown.

Committees were then formed as follows:—
Debating.—Mr. Wood, Mr. Otto Pue, Mr. B. Cunningham.
Musical.—Miss Lulu Cathcart, Miss B. Armstrong, Mr. Albert Bowles.
Miscellaneous.—Mr. Mamie Whitfield, Mr. S. Hogg, Mr. Harry Bothwell.

The business of the evening was next concluded.

Moved by Mr. Bert Cunningham, seconded by Mr. Wood.—That the fee of twenty-five cents be the membership fee for gentlemen and that the ladies be admitted free.—Carried.

The following programme was rendered:—
Reading.—Master W. Johnston.
Musical duet.—Messrs. Wood and Cunningham. Encore responded to.
Speech.—Mr. Lane.
Reading.—Master Charlie Hogg.
Musical duet.—Messrs. Wood and Cunningham.

The outlook for the society is bright as the members, one and all, seem to be enthusiastic and working hard and no doubt but they will have a society second to none in the district. The next meeting will be on Monday evening, 30th Dec.

OTHER NOTES.

Threshing is quite the order of the day about here.

Miss Janet Waterman and Mamie Whitefield are spending the vacations at home just now.

Mr. Wood is visiting at Mr. Bert Cunningham's.

CHRISTMAS SHOPPING

Rev. Madison C. Peters, of New York, gives the following good advice to Christmas shoppers:

Above all things be patient, be corteous, be considerate of the feelings of others.

Remember that the clerks and sales girls are not altogether human automatons, they have feelings to resent insult as well as yourself, therefore, respect those feelings.

You get tired waiting, but just think how tired the clerk must be behind the counter waiting all day. She was there before you came and must remain until after you leave.

You are impatient, but please remember there are others to be served who are entitled to as much or more consideration than you.

Don't stand in the same place handling goods for half an hour; others want to see them as well as you and they may buy while you won't.

Know what you really want before you go into the store.

If you expect courtesy, give it. The girl you address may have heard nothing but irritating voices all day and such do not sweeten the temper.

Of course, employees should endeavor to fulfil their duties.

They may not like their situations, but as long as they hold them they should be true to the interests of their employers.

Patience and cheerfulness sell twice as much and twice as easily as abruptness and ill temper.

Don't let the bargain hunter tax your temper; she may not be mean; she may only have a slender purse and must make her money go as far as she can. Perhaps she is trying to buy as much happiness for others as her limited means will allow.

Show the Christmas spirit in yourself, though you are behind the counter, and the shopper will catch the infection. Smile and the shopper will smile with you. Give kind words and you will get kind words in return.

Christmas shopping is not calculated to promote sweetness of spirit. The stores are usually crowded; there is much of rude jostling, and there are always selfish and inconsiderate people who insist on being served out of their turn. The best way to keep in good humor is to do your shopping in the early morning, after having first made up your mind just what you want to buy. To enter a crowded store with no definite idea of what you are after is simply to increase confusion and to make yourself more or less a nuisance.

London will have a building inspector

Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID
IS A TABLET TAKEN INTERNALLY FOR THE CURE OF PILES
Guaranteed, or money refunded. Correspondence confidential. Booklet on Piles, with copy of Guarantee and Testimonials mailed Free on application. $1 a bottle at all dealers, or prepaid from THE WILSON-FYLE CO., Ltd., Niagara Falls, Ont.
Sold by James Lynch, Druggist, Peterborough.

LEARN DRESS-MAKING BY MAIL
in your spare time at home, or
Take a Personal Course at School.
To enable all to learn we teach on cash or instalment plan. We also teach a personal class at school once a month. Class commencing last Tuesday of each month. These lessons teaches how to cut, fit and put together any garment from the plainest shirt waist suit, to the most elaborate dress. The whole family can learn from one course. We have taught over seven thousand dress-making, and guarantee to give five hundred dollars to any one that cannot learn between the age of 14 and 40. You cannot learn dress-making as thorough as this course teaches if you work in shops for years. Beware of imitations as we employ no one outside the school. This is the only experienced Dress Cutting School in Canada and excelled by none in any other country. Write at once for particulars, as we have cut our rate one-third for a short time. Address:—
SANDERS' DRESS-CUTTING SCHOOL,
31 Erie St., Stratford, Ont., Canada.

CHARGED WITH THEFT OF HAY

Three Cavan Men Appear Before Reeve of Anstruther on Dec. 27th.

J. W. Hutchinson, Fred. Hutchinson Ernest Leith, all of Cavan, are charged with stealing and destroying a quantity of hay belonging to William White, of the township of Anstruther during the coming season. The above parties will appear before fore Charles R. D. Booth, reeve of Anstruther, on the 27th of December at the Apsley town hall. Mr. George Cochrane, high county constable, served the papers in the case yesterday.

First Number of the "Echoes"

Collegiate Institute Publication is Highly Creditable in Every Respect

The first number of the Collegiate Echoes, the bright and well written publication of the Peterborough Collegiate Institute, was issued to-day. The "Echoes" is in magazine form and contains sixteen pages besides the cover. It is well supplied with advertisements, while the reading matter is bright and well chosen. There are sections devoted to "Sports," "Topics of the Hour," "Our Literary Society" and "Corridor Cullings," in addition to editorial and some general matter. Practically all the reading matter is supplied by the Collegiate pupils. Great credit is due the editorial and business staffs for the excellence of the first number of their publication. The "Echoes" will be on sale at all the local bookstores and the price is 50 per copy. Every citizen should buy a copy and help the students along.

WAIT TOO LONG

Says This Home-made, Helpful Mixture Should be Used Promptly.

A well known authority states that Backache and pains in the loins are only too often the danger signals which notify the patient that something is wrong with the Kidneys, and warns every one to be careful, particularly at this period of the year, forcing the kidneys to do double their work of filtering the impurities and poisons from the blood and system.

At the first sign of Backache or pain in the region of the Kidneys, or weakness and Urinary trouble, the following simple home recipe should be used. Any one can easily prepare it:

Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Take a teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime.

Any good prescription pharmacy will supply these three ingredients at small cost, which can easily be mixed by shaking well in a bottle. Few people seem to know the value of these common remedies in the treatment of the kidneys. This simple prescription, when taken as directed, will regulate the urine, clear up and remove sediment, overcome back pains and cleanse the entire kidney structure, correcting bladder troubles in just a little while.

Court Langton Elects Officers

At the regular meeting of Court Langton, No. 844 Canadian Order of Foresters, held on Monday night the following officers were elected:—
P.C.R.—D. Kerneghan,
C.R.—Noble Graham.
V.C.R.—G. Warbey,
Rec.-Sec.—Wm. Stevens
Fin.-Sec.—S. Kemp.
Treas.—R. N. Jones.
Chap.—Wm. Payton.
S.W.—Fred Finney.
J.W.—J. Logan,
S.B.—Benj. Johnston,
J.B.—H. Shuten,
Physician.—Dr. McClelland.
Trustee.—D. Kernegan.

Broke His Arm Near the Wrist

Mr. Andrew Mann, a lumberman in the employ of the Cavendish Lumber Company, has sustained a bad fracture of the right arm, a short distance above the wrist. He fell on Hunter street, near the American Hotel. Dr. Leach was called, and reduced the fracture, finding it necessary to administer chloroform on account of the painful nature of the injury. Mr. Mann is confined to St. Joseph's hospital.

XMAS GREETING CARDS
Leave your order for Greeting cards now at the Review Office. Still some pretty designs in stock, at most reasonable prices. tf

ONTARIO COAL CO. LIMITED PETERBORO
We have just received a few cars of specially prepared Coal for ranges and small stoves, a little smaller than No and larger than No 2 Nut
Price, Per ton $6.50
If your stove has a good draught, give it a trial.
City Office: 387 Water St. Bell Phone 325
Head Office and Yards: Cor Aylmer and Wolfe Sts. Phones, Bell 116, Mac. 326
ONTARIO COAL CO., Limited
A. J. McCLELLAN C. CURRIER G. K. RACKHAM

Are Helping the Poor and Needy

George Street Ladies Send Out Useful Articles to Many Families

Some twenty families in the city were made happy yesterday by the receipt of donations sent out by the Ladies' Aid Society of George Street Church. The ladies met at the church yesterday afternoon, and proceeded to distribute the various articles that had already been sent in. There had been a generous response to the request for donations for deserving families in the city, the offerings including a chest of tea, a quarter of beef, bags of potatoes and scores of other articles of a useful and substantial nature. The distribution was made by two of the Cressman's delivery sleighs, and the families benefited were of various religious denominations.

The George Street Epworth League will hand in their donations towards the Christmas cheer fund at their meeting on Monday night.

South Central Kindergarten

Held Closing Exercises Yesterday Afternoon—An Interesting Programme

The parents and friends of the children of the South Central kindergarten gathered at the school yesterday afternoon, and enjoyed the closing exercises, as presented by about forty scholars, under the direction of Miss Davidson. The early part of the afternoon was given to the general work done each day by the pupils, and the parents seemed to be greatly pleased with the clever workmanship of the little tots. Nothing of a special nature was prepared this year by the South Central kindergarten, and only the daily routine of kindergarten training was given.; The musical games and drills were presented in a faultless manner, and were the subject of much praise and admiration from the visitors. Choruses were also also sung, and the several features of the little home songs were pleasingly enacted.

Occupying a prominent position in the room was a large and heavily laden Christmas tree, on which were hung pretty and artistic gifts for the parents of the scholars. There were articles of various descriptions and these were the designing of the little tots. Santa Claus made his appearance, and delivered the presents to the parents.

During the afternoon, Mr. Robt. Fair, chairman of the board of education, made a few complimentary remarks, referring to the splendid showing of the pupils, and congratulated the directress and her assistants on the high standard of efficiency attained by the children under their supervision.

Mr. A. Mowat, school inspector, also added a few words of congratulation.

Miss Davidson and her assistant, Miss May Denne, are indeed to be highly commended on the excellent manner in which the exercises were carried out.

The pleasantly spent afternoon was closed with the singing of the National anthem.

BORN

JEFFERY. — In Peterborough, on Tuesday, Dec. 10th, 1907, the wife of Mr. Harry Jeffery, 497 Patterson street, of a son.

PETERBOROUGH RAG AND METAL COMPANY
Is prepared to pay the highest market price an will give a square deal for Scrap Iron Rags, Rubbers, Wool Pickings, etc. Don't sell before you see them. Call up Phone 694
Yard and Office:
COR. SIMCOE and BETHUNE, West
D. FLORENCE & SON

Christmas . Slippers.
There's nothing that will make a more sensible Christmas Gift than Footwear. Our slipper show, at this season is a big thing—worth coming to see.
MEN'S SLIPPERS
Operas, Everett and Romeo styles, black kid, tan kid, patent leathers,
$1.00, 1.25, 1.50, 2.00
WOMEN'S SLIPPERS
House Slippers, Turkish Slippers and Juliets, Slippers for Dress Functions, all the new Ties and Pump effects, choice, handsome and exclusive creations,
50c to $3.00
J T. STENSON
364 George St.

PRICE OF Coal
FOR OCTOBER IS $7.50
Ton, cash with order
THE PETERBORO FUEL & CARTAGE CO
LIMITED.
162 Charlotte-st. Telephone—(Bell) 261, 270. (Machine)—270.
134 Aylmer-st. Tel. (Bell) 362.

D.L. & W'S SCRANTON COAL

SOLD BY R. HICKS & CO. AT
$7.50 Per Ton
for Month of October, in lots of not less than half ton.
This is the Standard Anthracite. 60 % of Coal sold in Ontario is SCRANTON.
Terms Positively Cash.
R. HICKS & CO.
Coal Builders' Supplies, Etc.

COAL AND WOOD
Best of Coal—Best of Wood
COAL FOR OCTOBER
$7.50 PER TON
J. E. A. FITZGERALD
Cor. Brock and Bethune Sts
BOTH PHONES 111

Palace Livery Barn
For the smartest and most up-to-date LIVERY OUTFITS, at reasonable rates, go to
TOM FOSTER & CO.
Successors to Bruce Lee & Co
Rear of Snowden House.
AUCTION SALE OF HORSES BUGGIES, HARNESS, ETC., EVERY SATURDAY
Phones – Bell 286 – Machine 289

Steer Straight
for the best Beer ever brewed, and you are sure to come to us! Our Bottled Beer is "bottled health." It means vigor and strength, a good appetite and high spirits. It is the best medicine for the weak and the best food for the strong. Keep our excellent Beer in your home as a beverage and you will have no need of a doctor. Nothing but the purest ingredients used in the brewing.
—THE—
CALCUTT BREWING AND MALTING CO
of Ashburnham Limited

THE BEEHIVE

The Ladies' Big Ready-to-Wear Store

We have just received in Stock a large consignment of

DRESSY MULL WAISTS

All in the new 1908 Styles.
Be sure to call and see them At $2.50

YOU CAN ALWAYS GET THE MOST SATISFYING CHRISTMAS BOX AT THE BEEHIVE

Keep in Mind the Free February Embroidery Classes.

The Beehive The Ladies' Big Ready-to-Wear Store

FACTS—JUST PLAIN, POINTED FACTS

BOYS' SUITS

Good words our Good Boy's Clothing are coming back to us in good business, what better proof could you ask of our value-giving than these.

BUSTER BROWN STYLE

Gray mixed Tweeds, plain, well made and trimmed, sizes 22 to 25	3 25
Gray stripe Tweed, well made and trimmed, 22 to 25	3.50
Blue and black Serge, well made and trimmed sizes 22 to 26	4.00

2-PIECE NORFOLK STYLE

Dark gray stripe Tweed, sizes from 25 to 30, special	2.00
Gray mixed Tweed, pepper and salt effects, all sizes, 24 to 30, Special	2.50
Brown Scotch Tweed effect, double breasted Norfolk, sizes 26 to 29, prices	4.00, 4.50, 5.00
3 piece Double Breasted Styles—dark gray check and stripe Tweed. Lion Brand, with double elbows and double seats and knees, well padded and well made, sizes 28 to 33	4.50 and 5.00
Dark gray over plaids and dark stripes, the newest designs for boys' suits, double breasted, sizes 28 to 33	6.00, 6.50, 7.00
Boys' and Youth's Reefers—Dark gray and black Frieze, Tweed lined, all sizes up to 28	2.00, 2.25
Dark gray and black Frieze, Tweed lined,	2 75

MERRELL & MEREDITH

CLOTHIERS, FURNISHERS and HATTERS
375-377 GEORGE ST. PHONE 35

Leading New York Broker Was Shot in Office by Customer

Special to J. R. Heintz & Co.

New York, Dec. 20.—James H. Oliphant of the New York Stock Exchange firm of Jas. H. Oliphant & Co., was shot in his office this afternoon by a customer. The man who did the shooting immediately turned the revolver on himself and died in a few minutes. Mr. Oliphant was immediately removed to the Hudson Street Hospital in an ambulance. He is one of the most prominent brokers in New York.

"EXTRA"

Just passed into stock by China Hall over five hundred pieces of "Royal Doulton." The finest direct importation ever made to Peterborough of this celebrated ware. It will be on sale Saturday morning at prices low enough to compete with common Japanese or German china. Each piece bears the "Royal Doulton" trade mark. A piece of "Royal Doulton" makes an ideal Christmas present out of the ordinary line. Prices from 25 cents to $3.00 each. See the show window. 2d

The Candidates are Backward

Few to Announce Themselves for Public Positions for 1908

Nomination day is a week from Monday, and yet there has been no one come forward and definitely announce himself as a candidate for alderman. To date, the only ones who have stated that they are definitely in the field are Mayor McWilliams for a second term in the Mayor's chair, and Mr. W. H. Hill for Water Commissioner. Aldermanic aspirants seem to be waiting to see which way the cat is going to jump, and each one is holding back to see what the other is going to do. cities the mayoralty and aldermanic

In Kingston and several other candidates already have their cards in the newspapers, announcing themselves as candidates stating their platform in concise form, and soliciting the votes of the ratepayers. Peterborough ratepayers are anxious to know who is going to run, and a might not be a bad idea for some of the prospective candidates to speak up.

THE CHILDREN WERE CLEVER

Closing Exercises of King Edward Kindergarten Held This Morning

The closing exercises of the King Edward school kindergarten were held this morning from ten to twelve o'clock. A large number of the parents and friends of the little tots were present and greatly enjoyed the programme provided. The children greatly enjoyed the programme provided. The children gave demonstrations of the work they do in school and showed surprising cleverness. The choruses and recitations were also well given and elicited hearty applause. One of the features was the Christmas tree, which was well laden with presents from the children for their parents, thus instilling in the minds of the little ones that "it is more blessed to give than to receive." Inspector Mowat was present and was greatly pleased with the work of the children.

The directress of the King Edward school kindergarten is Miss Cameron and her assistant is Miss Rush.

FLOWERS in JARDINIERES

A great variety of Plants in fancy pots and jardinieres. Nice for Xmas presents, at Mason, the Florist, 406½ George St.

YOUNG MAN HAD KNEE INJURED

By Falling Yesterday Afternoon at C. G. E. Works

Mr. W. Dickson, who is employed at the C.G.E. works, had the misfortune yesterday afternoon to fall and badly injure his right knee. He was returning to his work when he slipped and struck his knee with great force on the hard ground. He was unable to walk with the injured limb, and Dr. Young was called and attended him. The accident is not at all serious, and Mr. Dickson will be able to be around in a few days.

RECEIVED A NASTY CUT AT C.G.E. WORKS

Mr. F. Lamb Had Painful Injury To-day

Mr. F. Lamb, who is engaged in the punch press department at the C. G. E. works, was the victim of a painful accident while engaged at his work this morning. Not noticing a large pair of shears, he ran up against them and received a bad cut over his right eyebrow. Dr. Young was called and attended to the young man's injury. Mr. Lamb was not seriously hurt and was able to continue his work.

Col. Sam Hughes Again Nominated

hosen as Conservative Candidate at Largely Attended Convention

Lindsay, Ont., Dec. 19.—A mammoth convention of the Liberal Conservative party of Victoria County was held in Lindsay today. Delegates were present in large numbers to appoint a candidate to represent the party at the next election. Two names were put in nomination, Col. S. Hughes, M.P., and Dr. A. E. Vrooman, ex-M.P. Col. Hughes secured the nomination by a large majority, obtaining over C votes of the 355 delegates.

The meeting was most enthusiastic, and all present were confident of again returning Col. Hughes as their representative at the next election.

"The Tobbogan slide at Jackson Park is now open for the Winter".

Brantford Much Pleased With Miller's Work

Speaking of the first practice of the Brantford pro-hockey team, which was held Wednesday night, the Brantford Expositor has the following to say of "Jiddy" Miller:

"One of the pleasing surprises of the evening was the appearance and work of Miller, the left wing man secured from Peterborough; Miller is a big, strong chap, and displays a wealth of speed. He looks like a player of endurance, who could take all kinds of punishment, and through it all play like a brilliant luminary. Manager Brown is pleased with the Peterborough acquisition, and it is thought that he will make wonderful strides in the pro. league. He is young, and his company with Brown, Taylor, et al., is just what he requires."

WALKING

W. McGee is training regularly for his go-as-you-please contest with M. J. Barrie, and is getting into good condition for the event. Although definite arrangements have not yet been made, it is understood that the match will be pulled off about Christmas.

HOCKEY

There will be a hockey practice to-night between seven and eight. A full attendance of players is requested on account of the approaching match with the St. George's.

RUNNING

TAIT AND LONGBOAT.

Some Toronto papers and their correspondents are making a great howdy-do as to whether Jack Tait can trim Tom Longboat and vice versa. All sorts of claims are made for the two runners, and if one was to believe what is said in the papers Tait can make the Indian look like a lumber waggon in an automobile procession, and at the same time that the Indian can show his heels to the West Ender at any old time and distance.

Judging from the way Tait ran at the indoor meet here, he would be a hard man for Longboat to beat at five miles or under. The Onondago has never accomplished anything remarkable running indoors, but he should not be condemned on this account. But hats should be taken off to anyone who can outdistance Tom Flanagan's protege at 10, 15, 20 or 25 miles over a country road. If Jack Tait can trim him under these conditions, the West Enders will be excused for talking big.

A SECOND THOUGHT

Should convince you that the place for genuine values of lasting quality in CHRISTMAS GIFTS is where the most select stock is carried. See our North Window for the finest display of Silverware to be found in Peterborough.

Such Remembrances as Choice Cutlery, Skates, Hockey Sticks, Pucks, Carpet Sweepers, etc., are always appreciated by the recipient. Give appreciated Gifts.

PETERBOROUGH HARDWARE CO.

COMMON SENSE GIFTS

If you want to make two families genuinely happy this holiday season, try giving the old cook stove that has given you years of service, to some needy household, and present the good wife with a

PANDORA RANGE

You will thus make two homes happy, especially your own where the great comfort of using the Pandora Range will be greatly appreciated.

ADAMSON & DOBBIN
NEW BRICK BLOCK—SIMCOE STREET

UNIQUE GOODS AT CHINA HALL

A Present
To be a real pleasure should be something new and dainty. A surprise as well as a gift. These abound at China Hall.

For 10c
Cream Jugs, Fancy Plates, China Cups and Saucers, Fern Pots, Spoon Trays, Tea Pots, Stands, Bon Bons, Etc.

For 15c
Bon Bons, Jugs, Pin Trays, China Cups and Saucers, Vases, Ornaments, Spoons, Trays, Etc.

For 25c
Sugar and Cream Sets, Vases, Cake Plates, Tea Pots, Hot Water Jugs, Ornaments, Jardinieres, Etc.

For $1.00
Fancy Lamps, Lemonade Sets, Biscuit Jars, Cocoa Pots, Fern Pots, Jardinieres, Etc.

For $2.00
Cocoa Sets, 13 pieces; Toilet Sets; Berry Sets, 13 pieces; Lamps, Coffee Sets, Ornaments, Etc.

CHRISTMAS BARGAINS AT CHINA HALL

THE DAILY REVIEW

DECEMBER 21

1907

MICROFILMED BY MICROFILMING SERVICES
2215 QUEEN ST. EAST
TORONTO, CANADA

START
OF REEL

GET THE LATEST

The Review Supplies the Correct Things in Wedding Invitations, Programmes, Personal Stationery, Etc.

THE DAILY REVIEW

VOL. LV., NO. 143 PETERBOROUGH, ONT., CANADA, SATURDAY, DECEMBER 21, 1907 TEN CENTS PER WEEK

LUMBER

and BUILDING MATERIAL of all kinds. Shingles, Scantling, Joists and Bill Stuff. Mouldings, Casings and Base, and all kinds of finish. Boxes and Box Shooks.

ALF. McDONALD ESTATE

Point St. Charles Mill, Peterborough.

PROBABILITIES

Fair today and on Sunday; no decided change in temperature.

THE GOLDEN LION STORE

MONDAY USHERS IN LAST TWO DAYS OF XMAS RUSH

Unusually heavy buying had depleted our stock of CHRISTMAS NOVELTIES, but we have been fortunate in securing at LITTLE LESS THAN ONE HALF PRICE, another choice selection, which will be placed on sale Monday and Tuesday as we bought them—

Fully One-Third Less Than Regular

This showing embraces these gift suggestions: FANCY PIN CUSHIONS, HAIR RECEIVERS, WORK BASKETS, WORK BOXES, WHISK HOLDERS, HAND MIRRORS, JEWEL CASES, POCKET COMPANIONS, HANDKERCHIEF BASKETS, HANDKERCHIEF SACHETS, BONNET BRUSHES and a great many other lines of FANCY DRY GOODS.

A Christmas Special

Crystaline

New Evening Dress Fabric, Yd, 50c

A sheer, gausy, silk material, speciallly adapted for Evening Dresses, in all the wanted shades; also deinty designs on cream grounds. An ordered costume of this would make an ideal Christmas Gift; 45 inches wide. Worth 75c. Christmas Special

MONDAY and TUESDAY .50

60 DOZEN HANDKERCHIEFS

FOR MEN—Pure Irish Linen hemstitched, extra special value; full size. Christmas Special Monday and Tuesday

20c Each. Per Dozen, $2.25

FANCY HANDKERCHIEFS

Our Stock was never more complete. A late shipment just to hand enables us to offer some choice designs at much less than regular for Monday and Tuesday.

MEN'S INITIALLED HANDKERCHIEFS $1.00

Three in Box. Pure Irish Checked Linen, hemstitched, in pretty box, with Irish scenes on lid.

ARMENIAN HAND EMBROID'Y

Superb hand work on bolting cloth and satin, made in Armenia by native women in the British Missions. Doylies, 50c, 75c, $1; Centres and Cushion Tops, $4.50, $5.00 and $8.00

STORE OPEN MONDAY AND TUESDAY EVENINGS TILL 10 O'CLOCK, BUT SHOP IN THE MORNINGS IF POSSIBLE.

Robert Fair & Co.

383 GEORGE STREET Limited

Phone—Dry Goods 168 Phone—Dress making 168B

For Sale or To Rent

FOR SALE

TYPEWRITER, latest model American Oliver, brand new. Good discount off lowest selling price for a quick sale. Apply Review Office. tf

FOR SALE

FIRST-CLASS PIANO for sale. Price reasonable. Apply at this office for particulars.

TO RENT

BRICK HOUSE AT 77 WATER ST., bath and electric light. Immediate possession. Apply to J. J. TURNER & SONS, Tent Manufacturers, George Street. 3d

FOR SALE

PIANO CASE ORGAN, double the usual volume, (8 sets reeds) good as new, less than half price on easy weekly or monthly payments. A nice Christmas present easy to buy. 21 Park St., corner Park and Parnell. tf

Lost and Found

LOST

ON FRIDAY LAST a Parcel of Silk wrapped in manilla, with "No. 9" on the cover. Reward for return to Review Office.

CHRISTMAS GIFTS

Two story brick dwelling, centrally located, containing 7 rooms and bath room; city water, electric light. This house is first-class, well built; mantle finish throughout.

A business for sale, consisting of blacksmith and carriage shop with tools, including gasoline engine, lathe, shafting, etc., with a good storehouse for implements and carriages. This is located in a good business centre near Peterborough—$1,000

A good butcher business, including horses, harness, sleighs, waggons, shop fixtures, slaughter house fixtures, etc. Rent low. location very central. Price $1,300.

For further particulars apply to

J. T. O'CONNELL & CO.

Phone 376. 138 Hunter St.

"DON'T BURN THEM"

We will buy all kinds of Second-hand boots and shoes

JAY'S SECOND-HAND STORE

290 Aylmer Street

International Correspondence Schools

Of Scranton, Penn.

Industrial Science Taught by Mail.

LOCAL OFFICE - - 410 George Street

R. C. BALFOUR, Representative

PETERBOROUGH LAUNDRY

The quality of our work is our special pride, and makes lasting customers. If you are unacquainted with it, telephone 65 and our rig will call. After that you'll know what we can do . . . .

79 Charlotte St. Phone 65

For Sale or To Rent

AT REASONABLE PRICES

Three small farms, good soil, suitable for gardening purposes, close to city. Also a few small, comfortable, dwelling houses, and choice building lots, well situated in good localities.

Properties sold, purchased or exchanged.

Private Funds to Loan on Real Estate.

INSURANCE

Agents for reliable Fire, Life, Accident, Plate Glass and Liability Insurance Companies. For particulars as to rates, etc., apply to

J. S. McBAIN & SON

Real Estate and Insurance Agents.

Office Cor. Simcoe and George-sts.

Office Phone 454 Residence Phone 103A

FOR XMAS

Furniture fixed up like new. Upholstering and all kinds of similar work done. Mattresses made over.

A. R. JACKSON

320 Aylmer. Corner of Charlotte. Bell Phone 494B

RICHMOND STUDIO

147 HUNTER STREET

Studio will be open for Sittings on Xmas Day

Make your appointments early, Groups a specialty

CHRISTMAS IS COMING!

A nice pair of Snowshoes or a good Toboggan would make a most acceptable present to lady, gentleman, girl or boy. We carry a very large assortment. Call and see them.

J. J. TURNER & SONS

TENT MANUFACTURERS

George Street, Peterborough

ALL THINGS ARE NOW READY

GEORGE R. RECORD

PRACTICAL

FRENCH DRY CLEANER AND PRESSER

Ladies' and Gentlemen's Garments and Household Articles cleaned and guaranteed not to fade color or shrink any material. Charges moderate. Goods called for and delivered. Telephone 669.

NEW BRICK BLOCK, 173 SIMCOE ST.

Only Complete Dry Cleaning Plant in City

A. BROWN & CO.,

The Real Estate Agents, 398 Water Street

$100 will secure good Cottage with large lot 50x200

$500 will secure an up-to-date House with all modern improvements.

$1,000 will purchase good Cottage and large lot

$600 will secure Cottage, Stable and 4 acres good land near city.

We have some great snaps in Houses, Farms and City lots for sale and to rent.

Fire, Life and Accident Insurance.

Bell Phone 126 and 474 B. Machine 117.

STOVES, RANGES —AND— HEATERS

Enamel and Tinware

Plumbing and Eavetroughing

HUTCHINSON-STURGEON CO

Bell and Machine 'Phones 235 342 George Street

MEALS—LUNCHES

AT ALL HOURS

For quick service, well-cooked meals and popular prices—go to

FOWLER'S RESTAURANT

McCallum's Old Stand - 330 George St

FANCY POTTERY

All kinds of Urns, Vases, Jugs, Plates, Jardinieres, etc., Moulded to Order for hand painting for Christmas gifts.

GEO. E. RAWLINGS, Crescent Street

CHEAP HOUSES

If money is low and rent high, call at our office and see if you can't buy.

A good lot and comfortable house $50 down and easy payments.

A lot and 6 roomed house, $100 and Six Dollars a month

A new 2 story, nice modern red brick house, $250

A 1½ story red brick with half acre garden, on easy terms, $600 will buy and pay for.

Others at good value up to $3,000

Companies Good as the Best in all lines of Insurance but Life. Rates moderate.

R. G. Ivey, Special Agent.

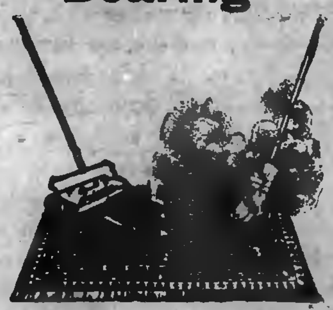
336 George St. Phone 3 Bell

W. MIGHT

HOCKEY

The Chieftains want to get a game for Christmas day with some team whose players are not over sixteen years of age.

The United States War Department have called for tenders for a dirigible balloon.



THE STORE THAT NEVER DISAPPOINTS

TWO DAYS MORE

Only Monday and Tuesday to buy the balance of your Xmas presents. Have you a friend who hasn't a CARPET SWEEPER? If so, here's a hint:

CARPET SWEEPERS

Bissell's Roller Bearing

What would you think if your wife told you that the old fashoned broom was a back-breaker? Guess you'd buy a Bissell's Roller Bearing Carpet Sweeper for her, even if it wasn't Christmas.

ANNEX OPEN MONDAY AND TUESDAY

Store Open To-night Until 10 O'clock

We have the most handsome stock of Carpet Sweepers ever shown before in the city. Just the nicest line of Christmas Remembrances you could think of for your wife or mother. All the finest finished Sweepers, including oak and mahogany, walnut, etc., with nickle and Japan trimmings. Prices from $2.29 to $4.50

Cressman's 385, 387, 389 GEORGE STREET

Tortured by Her Husband's Neglect, Woman Goes Insane And is Removed From City

A pathetic domestic tragedy has come to light in Peterborough. The story unfolded is an oft recurring one and will probably be repeated as long as this old world of ours exists. It is said that a woman whose husband was unfaithful and negligent, being unable to stand the anxiety and worry resulting from his treatment went out of her mind after months of mental anguish. It is true that she lost her powers of reason and her sad plight is attributed to the above cause. Chief among her grievances was "the other woman."

UNFAITHFUL HUSBAND.

For some time it appears her husband had forsaken his wife and kept company with a woman who had no claim to his affections. She had the additional burden of two children, only a few months old and the other a little tot under three years of age. Her husband stayed out late at nights went to places of amusement alone and left her to take care of the children without his assistance. "The other woman" was the means of making her legitimately jealous and between all her troubles she went out of her mind.

WANTED SOLDIERS.

She lost her mental balance rather suddenly, though a friend of hers informed the Review that the painful result of her constant worrying was evident some time ago. The day before yesterday she went to Sergeant-Major Brittain and asked him for soldiers for a trivial purpose, and the officer had to use his resourcefulness in getting her to leave.

It is understood that she was placed under the protection of the police, while acting strangely, and detained at the police station for a short time.

On Thursday evening accompanied by her husband and two children she was taken to Toronto where she is at the present time under the watchful care of her mother. The husband returned to the city the same night.

Official Visit to Keene Lodge A.F. and A.M.

Rt. Wor. Bro. Duncan Walker, D. D.G.M., of Otonabee District, No. 20, paid an official visit to Keene Lodge, A. F. & A. M., last night. He was accompanied by W. Bro. J. G. M. Wilson, W. Bro. H. R. H. Keener, W. Bro. R. J. Munro and Bros. J. E. A. Fitzgerald and W. R. G. Higgins.

PATTERN MAKERS WANTEE

Pattern Makers wanted at once. Apply to the Canadian General Electric Company.

HEANY FINE FOR INDIAN

This morning John George, an Indian from Curve Lake reserve, was brough to Peterborough and appeared before Magistrate Edmison on the charge of being "found in a state of intoxication." He was fined $5 and costs, totalling $11.16, to be paid forthwith. It is expected the fine will be paid this afternoon.

C.M.B.A. MEETING

The regular meeting of the C.M.B.A. will be held in the C.M.B.A. hall, George street, on Monday night, instead of Tuesday. The election of officers will take place and other important matters attended to.

PERSONAL

Mr. Percy Skinner, of Keene, has returned from attending Queen's University, Kingston. Miss Agnes and Jean Campbell, of the Limestone City are also spending their vacation in Keene.

Last evening, Mr. Musgrave, of Toronto, who is playing at Richard Hall & Son's store, pleasantly entertained the saleladies and salesmen of the dry goods department to a dance at the home of Miss Cuffe, Queen-st.

POPULAR YOUNG MAN PASSES AWAY

The news of the death of Chas. Albert Edmondson, which occurred at his home, 116 Weller st., this morning, came with shocking suddenness to a wide circle of friends. The late Mr. Edmondson had only been sick a week, having been seized with an attack of appendicitis last Sunday evening, from which he never recovered. Had he lived he would have celebrated his 18th birthday to-morrow. He was born in this city and was the son of Mr. Henry Edmondson. He was universally beloved and respected and his death at such an early age is to be greatly regretted. He was a member of the bugle band of the 57th regiment. He was also prominently identified with the George street Methodist church.

Two brothers and six sisters are left to mourn his loss. The brothers are Wm. and George of Peterborough, and the sisters are Mrs. Cunningham and Mrs. Martin, and Misses Annie, Roxie, Ethel and Grace, all residing in this city.

The funeral, which will most likely be a military one, will take place on Monday at 3 o'clock from the family residence, Weller-st., to the Little Lake cemetery.

Court Peterboro' Elects Officers

At the regular meeting of Court Peterboro, No. 29, Canadian Order of Foresters, held last evening, the following officers were elected. They will be installed on Friday, January 3rd.

C.R.—Geo. Hardwick.
V.C.R.—Wm. Whitcroft.
Rec. Sec.—Chas. A. Stenton.
Fin. Sec.—H. Nesbitt.
Treasurer—F. Adams.
Chaplain—R. Wescott.
S.W.—Norman Andrews.
J.W.—A. Long.
S.B.—Geo. Garrett.
J.B.—D. Menzies.
Court Physician—Dr. Eastwood.
Hall Trustees—Geo. Stanton, Jos. Metheral, W. Bolton.

A SHARE OF OUR PROFITS

will be our Christmas Gift to all customers between now and Christmas, and buyers will find our prices and selection specially attractive. . . . . . .

Unique values in Bracelets, Lockets, Pins, Brooches, Watches, Chains, Rings, Silverware, Fancy Clocks, Fine Chinaware and everything in Jewellry for gifts.

CLARKE & SON

439 GEORGE STREET JEWELLERS

GRAND OPERA HOUSE

THURSDAY and FRIDAY December 26—27

HAZLETON & NORTH introduce MR. HENRY LUDLOWE—the Greatest Living Richard—in Mr. Richard Mansfield's magnificent $60,000 Productions

RICHARD III THURSDAY EVENING THE MERCHANT OF VENICE FRIDAY EVENING

Prices, $1.00, 75c, 50c. Box Seats $1.50. Seat Sale Opens Tuesday at 10 a.m.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE----CHRISTMAS DAY

MATINEE AND NIGHT

THE MELO-DRAMATIC EVENT—BERTHA M. CLAY'S FAMOUS NOVEL

DORA THORNE

The most popular book ever written, dramatized by Lem. B. Parker. Magnificently mounted with specialy scenery for every act. A powerful caste of prominent players. The sweetest, prettiest story ever told

Evening Prices 15, 25, 35, 50c. Matinee 25 and 35c. Children 15c

PLAN OPENS MONDAY AT 10 A. M.

WHEN MAKING YOUR SELECTIONS

For Christmas Presents, be sure and call at our store. We have an elegant assortment to choose from.

PERFUMES—A great line in fancy cases or in bulk from the best makers Any kind or price.

Very Handsome TOILET CASES and MANICURE SETS. Any style or price

HAIR BRUSHES and TOILET HAND MIRRORS—all prices and qualities to suit you.

FOUNTAIN PENS—A. A. Waterman & Co's Modern Pens from $1.00 up

LAUGHLIN FOUNTAIN PENS at $3.00. GOLD PENS $1.50

LOWNEY'S CHOCOLATES—A fine new lot in handsome boxes, especially for the Christmas trade.

Be sure and call and we will present you with a pretty Calendar for 1908.

J. D. TULLY, DRUGGIST

401 GEORGE ST.

Decide to give your boy or girl
A BUSINESS EDUCATION
as a Christmas present this year.
This gift would be a lasting benefit through life.

WM. PRINGLE
Business College Principal

Medical

E. V. FREDERICK, M.B., Tor.
M.R.C.S., Eng; L.R.C.P., Lond. Lic. Univ. of New York.
Removed to No. [illegible] George St., formerly office of the late Dr. [illegible]
Private nursing home for surgical cases.

DR. G. STEWART CAMERON
Office and Residence
No. 273 Charlotte St. 'Phone 128

DR. G. C. LEACH
Late House Surgeon of Lakeside Hospital, Cleveland, Ohio; also of Cook County Hospital, Chicago. OFFICE—[illegible] Hunter St., formerly occupied by Dr. [illegible] Phone Bell 219.
Special Attention to Diseases of Women

DR. JAS. V. GALLIVAN
Office 215 Simcoe St. Late of St. John's Hospital New York. Lic. University of New York.
Telephone 663.

Osteopathy

DR. ASA G. WALMSLEY
Osteopathic Physician
Office over Canadian Bank of Commerce, Water Street entrance.
Office Hours—9 to 12 a.m. 2 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Consultation free.

Legal

R. E. WOOD
BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, Etc. Office removed from Bank of Commerce Building to 409 George street, formerly occupied by E. B. Edwards. Money to Loan.

W. H. MOORE
BARRISTER, SOLICITOR in the Supreme Court, etc. Office—Hunter street, first steps west of Post Office.

HALL & HAYES
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS and NOTARIES PUBLIC, Hunter Street, Peterborough, next to English Church. Money to Loan at the lowest rates of interest.
E. H. D. HALL LOUIS M. HAYES

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON
(Successors to Stratton & Hall)
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, Etc., Peterborough Ont. Office—Corner of Hunter and Water Sts., over Bank of Commerce.
E. H. D. HALL, M.P. S. T. MEDD. W. S. DAVIDSON

EDMISON & DIXON
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, Etc. Office in Claxton's Block, corner of Hunter and George streets, over Dickson's store.

DENNISTOUN, PECK & KERR
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, NOTARIES, Etc. 415 Water Street, Peterborough.
[illegible] PECK F. D. KERR R. M. DENNISTOUN

Money

MONEY TO LOAN
ON EASY TERMS
O'CONNELL & GORDON
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS NOTARIES, Etc
Canadian and United States Patent Attorneys
134 Hunter Street, two doors west of Post Office.
DANIEL O'CONNELL GEORGE N. GORDON

ROGER, BENNET & GOODWILL
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, Etc., 37 Water St. Peterborough. Telephone No. 191.
Money at Current Rates
Upon Easy Terms.
[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] GOODWILL

TORONTO SAVINGS AND LOAN CO.

PAID UP CAPITAL $1,000,000.00
RESERVE FUND [illegible]

SAVINGS
An Account may be opened at any time with a Deposit of One Dollar.
$3\frac{1}{2}$ % Interest allowed on daily balances.

DEBENTURE DEPT.
Four Per Cent. paid half yearly on sums of $100,00 and upwards.

MONEY TO LOAN
at current rates of interest.
W. G. MORROW,
Manager

Special Inducements
TO BUY
HEATERS
You gain nothing by delay. See our
Standard Oak
Quebec Ideal
Art Laurel
They are great fuel savers. Easily operated and splendid heat distributors.
F.R.J. MACPHERSON
& CO.
301 George St. Phone 116
F. R. J. MACPHERSON ANGUS MACPHERSON

Drooping—Tired—Weary

You Feel Depressed, Dragged Out, and Sort of "All Gone"—Shake Off That Tired Feeling, Get Well and Strong, Fortify Your Nerves, Nourish Your Blood.

FERROZONE

You are getting pale and thin. You're dragged down with a "don't care" feeling that makes life most unhappy. Your strength is fleeting away, and weakness is creeping in. Every day your chances for cure becomes smaller.

Trouble is you don't assimilate your food, consequently the body is poorly nourished. The blood is thin, lacks those red corpuscles that denote health.

You can only prevent a total collapse by building up all the powers of the body with Ferrozone, which will surely make you well. Ferrozone creates tremendous appetite, increases the power of digestion, and insures perfect assimilation. Everything you eat is at once converted into nourishment.

FERROZONE makes rich, pure blood, a surplus of energy, new life for the nerves and all over-strained organs. Robust health will glow on the cheeks, jovial spirits, increased weight, and a clear, active brain will evidence a few of the benefits that follow Ferrozone.

GAINED 15 POUNDS.

Mr. H. A. Thurston, of 228 Vermont St. E., Indianapolis, Restored by Ferrozone.

"A year ago I took the grippe. I was as weak as a child. I was no longer able to eat. My blood was thin. My cheeks were white and hollow. Doctors gave me all kinds of medicine, but none of them brought me strength. My friends said I was wasting away with some slow disease, and I bade them good-bye. Then I heard of the wonderful Ferrozone. After three days it gave me an appetite. I gained strength and became cheerful. Under Ferrozone I improved steadily. I am well to-day. I weigh fifteen pounds heavier than ever before, and feel like a new man.
(Signed) "H. A. THURSTON."

The effect of Ferrozone is instant, yet permanent. For upbuilding and invigorating the listless and depressed it has no equal. It's the concentrated nourishment in Ferrozone that makes it so beneficial. We guarantee it contains no opiates, no alcohol, nothing but the most strengthening qualities known in medicine. Won't you use Ferrozone; it will surely make you well.

BUILD UP WITH FERROZONE!

Ferrozone Makes the Weak Strong—the Sick Well.

CAUTION! Be on your guard against the substitutor who urges something "just as good." Get FERROZONE when you ask for it. Other tonics are not so good as FERROZONE, which is guaranteed to cure. Price 50c per box of 50 chocolate coated tablets. Sold by all reliable dealers, or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ontario.

Will Sing Glad Songs of Praise Unto the Saviour of Mankind

Christmas Music in the City Churches To-Morrow

Hymns, Carols, Solos, Duets and Quartettes Comprise the Programme—Singing Will be of Unusual Excellence.

Thou whose birth on earth
Angels sing to men,
While thy stars made mirth,
Saviour at Thy birth,
This day born again:

Throughout the Christmas world to-morrow the song the herald angels sang on the first glad morn will be re-echoed by millions of happy hearts. In the peals of song that will encircle the globe, Peterborough will not be found wanting. In all the city churches there will be special music. For some time past the various choir leaders have been engaged in preparing for the glad anniversary, and the singing to-morrow promises to be of an excellent quality. Anthems, carols, part songs, duets and quartettes, with appropriate organ numbers, will combine to make a musical programme that will be bright and suitable for the occasion. Then, too, the people in the pews have not been overlooked. While the more ambitious compositions will be rendered by the choir, the hymns selected for the congregational singing will also be appropriate for the season of the anniversary of the birth of the Holy Saviour of mankind.

St. Peter's Cathedral

At St. Peter's Cathedral there will be three masses celebrated—at 8.00 a.m., low mass; children's mass at 9.15 a.m. High mass at 10.30; Vespers at 7 p.m., with sermon.

On Wednesday (Christmas Day) the following music will be rendered: 5.30 a.m., High Mass; 10.30 a.m., Mass in honor of St. Louis, by Le Heube; "Pastorea," by Lambeliotte; Adeste Fideles. Musical vespers by Wiegand.

St. John's (Anglican)

Rev. Canon Davidson, M.A., rector. 4th Sunday in Advent. 8.30 a.m., Holy Communion; 11 a.m., Morning Prayer and sermon; 3 p.m., Sunday School and Bible class; 7 p.m., Evensong and sermon. The music to-morrow will be: Matins, 11 a.m.; hymns 47, 46, 210, 263; Venite 5, Benedicite, Skeffington, Benedictus, 23, Cathedral Psalter Chants; anthem, "In That Day," Stainer; Evensong, 7 p.m. Hymns 58, 48, 193, 263. Canticles to C. P. Chants 155, 78. Anthem, "Hark! the Glad Sound," Marks.

On Christmas Day the music will be: 11 a.m., Matins, Hymns 59, 60; Venite 196, Te Deum, 186, 189, Benedictus 188; carol, "Ring Out, Christmas Bells," Stainer. Holy Communion 12 o'clock noon. Woodward's service in E. flat. Hymns 464, 62, 324.

All Saint's Church

(Anglican) Cor. Rubidge and Sherbrooke streets. Rev. W. Major, rector; 4th Sunday in Advent. 8.30 a.m., Holy Communion. 11 a.m., Morning Prayer and Sermon. 3 p.m., Sunday School and Bible Class. 7 p.m., Evensong and sermon. Sidesmen for the day, Messrs. Lachour and Smeeton. Special services will be held on Christmas day, of which full announcement will be made on Monday.

St. Luke's (Anglican)

(Anglican) East side.—Rev. Dr Langfeldt, M.A., rector; 4th Sunday in Advent. 8 o'clock, Holy Communion; 11 o'clock Morning Prayer and sermon; 3 o'clock, Sunday School and Bible class; 7 p.m., Evensong and sermon. On Christmas Day there will be celebrations of Holy Communion at 7 and 8 o'clock, and at 10.30 o'clock there will be Morning Prayer and Holy Communion. The choir will render special music on Christmas day. The candidates who were recently confirmed will partake of their first communion on Sunday at 8 o'clock a.m. A large representation is earnestly requested by the rector, Rev. Dr. Langfeldt. Parents and friends of the new communicants are invited to be present.

St. Paul's Presbyterian

Rev. Robert Bogue, the pastor, will preach at both services in St. Paul's Church to-morrow. In the morning his subject will be "The Great Commission," and in the evening he will speak on "What it is to be a Christian." This will be a sermon especially for young men who are cordially invited to attend. At the Bible class in the afternoon the topic will be "The Wise Men Seeking Christ." Owing to the repairs to the organ not yet being completed, the choir will not render special Christmas music until next Sunday, Dec. 29th.

St. Andrew's Presbyterian

The pastor, Rev. J. G. Potter, will preach at both services to-morrow, and will deliver sermons appropriate to the glad Christmas season. An elaborate and specially prepared musical programme will be presented by the choir, and the Sunday School children under the able direction of Mr. Fred. C. Freeland. The musical numbers are as follows:

Morning Service — Organ prelude, Chanson De Matin, H. B. Gaul; Christmas carol, Adeste Fideles, Bouguereau, 50 children's voices and choir,

O come, all ye faithful,
Joyfully triumphant,
To Bethlehem hasten now with glad accord;
Lo! in a manger
Lies the King of angels;
O come let us adore Him, Christ the Lord!

Invocation; hymn 30, "Hark the Herald Angel's Sing"; Scripture lesson, responsive reading, Luke ii., 8-20; Christmas carol, "Christians, Listen While We Sing," John Martin; Prayer and Lord's Prayer, Holden's Chant; Scripture lesson, Hebrews i., 1-14; Hymn 38, "Joy to the world, the Lord is Come"; organ offertory solo, "Chorus of Angels," Scotson Clark; anthem, "Hearken Unto Me My People," Sir Arthur Sullivan; sermon, Luke ii., 14, Rev. J. G. Potter, B.A.; solo, "The Anthem Celestial," J. H. Adams, Mrs. W. A. Greenshields; prayer and chant national, Lavalle, 50 children's voices and choir; hymn 31, "As With Gladness Men of Old"; Benediction; organ postlude, "Benedictus," Mozart.

Evening service—Melodie in F., Rubinstein; Christmas carol, Adeste Fideles, Bouguereau, 50 children's voices and choir; Invocation; hymn 28 (Noel), "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear"; scripture lesson, Matthew ii., 1-12; solo, "Oh! I Hear the Glad Song," Nevin, Mrs. R. W. F. B. Davidson; Prayer and Lord's Prayer, Holden's Chant; hymn 23, "The Lord is King"; organ offertory solo, "Hymn of the Nuns," T. Wely; anthem, "Like Silver Lamps," J. Barnby; sermon, Matthew ii., 2, Rev. J. G. Potter, B.A.; solo, "The Star of Peace," Henry Parker, Mr. F. C. Freeland; Prayer and Chant National, Lavallee, 50 children's voices and choir; hymn 60, "Rejoice the Lord is King"; Benediction; organ postlude, "Wely's Celebrated Offertory."

Knox Presbyterian

Rev. H. J. Keith will preach at Knox Church both morning and evening to-morrow. The music will be as follows: Morning — Anthem, "Once in Royal David's City," by choir; hymn 84, "Come All Ye Faithful"; hymn, "Oh Little Town of Bethlehem"; solo, "Birthday of a King," W. H. Neidlinger, D. Campbell; hymn, "As With Gladness Men of Old"; anthem, "We Have Seen His Star in the East"; anthem, "God is With His People;" C. E. Leslie.

Evening — Hymn, "Hark! the Herald Angels Sing"; hymn, "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear"; solo, "One Sweetly Solemn Thought," by Miss Carr, Ambrose; anthem, "Good Tidings," by Danks; hymn, "Peace, Perfect Peace"; anthem, "We Have Seen His Star in the East," Sniper; hymn, "Glory to God on High!"

George Street Methodist

Rev. E. A. Pearson will preach at both services at George Street Methodist Church.

The Social Bible Men's Class will meet at three o'clock.

The musical part of the services will be as follows:

Organ prelude—"Joy to the World"—Handel-Ashford.
Anthem—"Hark, Hark, with Harps of Gold"—Hanscom.
Invocation.
Hymn 139—Hark! the glad sound, the Saviour comes, The Saviour promised long—Doddridge.
Prayer.
Solo—"The Manger Cradle"—Neidlinger. Mr. Miles.
Announcements.
Ladies' Chorus — "The Angels' Song."
Lesson.
Solo — "Christmas"—Shelley. Miss Mowry.
Hymn 142—Hark! the Herald Angels sing, Glory to the new born King—Wesley.
Sermon—Subject, "The Joy of Christmastide"
Prayer.
Solo—"Night of Nights"—Van der Water. Miss Chantry.
Hymn 143—Hark! what mean those holy voices, Sweetly sounding thro' the skies—Cawood.
Benediction.
Postlude—March in E—Flager.
Organ Prelude—"Christmas Pastorale"—Lefebvre-Wely.
Anthem—"Sing, O Heavens"—Coldham Hall.
Invocation.
Hymn 111—Joy to the world, the Lord is come, Let earth receive her King—Watts.
Prayer.
Male Quartette — "Dear Little Stranger"—Gabriel.
Announcements.
Solo—"The First Christmas Morn"—Newton. Mr. Scriver.
Lesson.
Anthem—"The Hush of Night" — Spence.
Hymn 146—Brightest and best of the sons of the morning, Dawn on our darkness and lend us Thine aid—Bishop Heber.
Sermon—"The Coming Christ."
Offertory.
Mixed quartette — "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear"—Ryder.
Offertory.
Solo—"Glory to God in the Highest"—Bliss. Miss Reesor.
Hymn 148—To us a child of royal Heir of the promises is given—Wesley.
Benediction.
Postlude—"Gloria"—Farmer.

Charlotte Street Methodist

The music for to-morrow is as follows:

MORNING.

Carol, "On the Birthday of the Lord," Dykes.
Anthem, "Glory to God in the Highest," Cooke.
Solo, selected, Mr. Norris.
Solo, "The First Christmas Morning," Miss Belleghem.
Anthem, "Sing and Rejoice," Rogers.

EVENING.

Carol, "Carol, Sweetly Carol," Simper.
Anthem, "Come and Worship," Adams.
Solo, "The Star of Bethlehem," Mr. Norris.
Solo, "Messengers of Peace," Newton, Miss Clara Belleghem.
Anthem, "When Shepherds Watched Their Flocks by Night," Smart.

Mark Street Methodist

Rev. O. H. Coon, the pastor, will preach both morning and evening in the Mark street Methodist church, and will deliver special sermons appropriate to the occasion. In the morning the choir will render "Calm on the listening ear of Night," by Ashford. A mixed quartette will contribute, "Oh, Radiant Morn."

In the evening the anthem will be "The Birth of our Saviour," by Rice. A ladies' quartette will sing, "The Angels' Message," by Jackson.

Murray Street Baptist

Rev. Mr. Daniels, of Winnipeg, will speak on Northwest Missions in the morning, and the pastor, Rev. J. R. Webb, will preach at night at the Murray street Baptist church. The music will be as follows:—

Morning.

Christmas Pastoral—Handel.
Carol—Christians, Listen While we Sing—Martin.
Anthem—Sing, O Heaven—Tozer.
Offertory—Shepherd's Song—Schuloff.
Solo—Nazareth—Gounod.
Mr. D. Ferguson.
Postlude, Chorus—Handel.

Evening Service.

Christmas Pastoral—Wermann.
Carol—When the sun had sunk to rest—Knight.
Carol—O, so sweetly they are ringing—Simper.
Anthem—While Shepherds watched their Flocks by Night—Smart.
Offertory—Lipatier.
Trio—The Angels' Song—Gounod.
Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Hunter Miss Kidd.
Solo—The Child of Nazareth—Gray
Miss Kidd.
With violin obligato by Miss Hope Miller.
Postlude—Festival March—Merkel.

Park Street Baptist

Rev. A. H. Brace, the pastor, will preach at both services tomorrow. Morning—Hymn 106, "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing." Offerings. "Praise the Lord of Starry Sky," by Garvin H. Mark. Sermon, "The little stone cut out of mountains without hands." "Hark! the Angels' Song," by J. Lincoln Hall. Evening "Praise God." Invocation. Hymn No. 105, "Joy to the World, the Lord Has Come." Lesson and prayer. "Glory to God in the Highest," J. Lincoln Hall. Address, "Protestant Christianity," Sepping. "Down from the Cross and Flooding the World." Solo, "Hear the Bells," by C. Austin Miles. Address, "Star of the Angels," by J. Lincoln Hall. Address. Anthem, "Rejoice," by J. Lincoln Hall. Offerings. Duet, "Hark the Angels' Song," by C. Austin Miles.

Salvation Army Barracks

Simcoe street.—Staff Captain Goodwin in charge; Captain Maisey, assistant. Sunday meetings 7 a.m. prayer meeting; 11 a.m. holiness meeting; 3 p.m. free and easy; 7 p.m. salvation meeting. All are welcome. Col. and Mrs. Sowton, of Toronto, will speak at both services tomorrow.

Bethany Tabernacle

Special Christmas services conducted by pastor and Mrs. Steuernagel, both morning and evening. Morning subject, "The Angels' Gospel." Evening subject, "The Incarnate Christ." Fellowship meeting at 10.30. The public generally is cordially invited.

Meeting of North Monaghan Council

The statutory meeting of the Township Council of North Monaghan was held in the town hall on Monday, Dec. 16th inst. All the members were present, the reeve in the chair.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

Communications were read from the following:—M. A. McNamara, asking for a rebate of his taxes on condition that he improve the road and drain at the north and south ends of his lot.

From G H May, secretary-treasurer of school section No. 2, requiring the township to issue and dispose of debentures to the amount of $1,800, to be used by the trustees in enlarging and improving the school house of the said section, No. 2.

Mr J H Forster was present, and requested the council to favorably entertain his claim for 8 loads of gravel, for which he had not been allowed.

A letter was read from Mr S R Armstrong, City Clerk of Peterborough, stating that the Board of Works of the city would improve Lansdowne street, and at the same time remove the cause of complaint made by Messrs. Stewart and Smithson. The clerk also reported having interviewed the Mayor of Peterborough, as instructed, in regard to the imposing of regulations as to the manner of storing and handling explosives within the township, and that the matter was now under mutual consideration by both the city and township solicitors.

The following accounts were handed in; R Sanderson, supplies, oil, etc., for town hall, 35 c; Jas. Morrow, grading Western Avenue, $18.75; G H May, sale of and cartage on lumber, $1; Peterborough Hardware Co., cement and material, $177.90; D V Frew, cleaning drain, $3; John McIntosh, making tile and cartage, $15; R Cohen, repairs to culverts, Road Div. No. 7, $14.50; Langan Hardware Co., shovels, $1.50; Rev. Ptg. Co., on contract, 1907, $47.78; J Brown, disbursements paid re Gusty Dundas, $26.75; M Clarke, roadway to gravel pit, $4; Dennistoun, Peck & Kerr, cost of arrangement of lease and preparing bylaw, $9.40.

It was moved by Messrs. May and Howden,—That the above accounts when properly certified, be passed and paid. This was carried.

It was moved by Messrs. Morrow and May, that the clerk is hereby instructed to notify Mr. McNamara that this council cannot legally undertake a work in the manner which he suggests. This was carried.

Moved by Messrs. Howden and Dobbin, that on Mr J H Forster fyling a declaration as to the number of loads of gravel taken from his pit in 1907 for road division No. 1, then an order will be issued on payment thereof. This was carried.

The treasurer's financial statement showing the receipts and expenditures of the township to Dec. 15th, was presented and the clerk was directed to have this published according to law.

The clerk presented a statement of the cost of work performed upon the Cavan boundary in 1907 by the township of North Monaghan, in all the sum of $110.10, one half of this being due from the Township of Cavan. This was received and directed to be rendered to the township council of Cavan.

On motion bylaw Nos. 590, 592 and 593 were introduced regularly and finally passed. The bylaws appoint deputy returning officers H G Webber and John J Bennett, arrange for the collection of rates and authorize the issue of debentures for school section No. 2 respectively.

Council then adjourned until Dec. 31 inst. in Peterborough.

Donations for Christmas Cheer

The Children's Aid Society acknowledges with thanks the following donations for the Christmas entertainment and basket distribution;

J. H. McClelland	$ 1.00
A Friend	5.00
J H Larmouth	2.00
W. H. Bradburn	3.00
Mrs. (Dr.) Burnham	3.00

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS
PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days or money refunded. 50c.

DODD'S
KIDNEY PILLS
CURE ALL KIDNEY DISEASE
CURES RHEUMATISM
BRIGHT'S DISEASE BACKACHE
DIABETES

Dye
With Maypole Soap
Maypole is a cake of soap that dyes and washes at the same time. A household world in England. No mess, no trouble, no uncertain results, no streaks. The tired women's best friend—an Economical Home Dye.
MAYPOLE SOAP 66
10c. for Colors—15c. for Black.
Frank L. Benedict & Co., Montreal.

SANTAL MIDY
standard remedy for Gleet, Gonorrhoea and Runnings IN 48 HOURS. Cures Kidney and Bladder Troubles.
MIDY

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM
RAILWAY TIME TABLE

	Arrive	Depart
Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, Gravenhurst, North Bay, Stouffville and Toronto	11.40 a.m.	8.25 a.m.
	2.00 p.m.	5.20 p.m.
Port Hope and points east to Montreal and Boston		8.30 a.m.
Port Hope, Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago & West, Niagara Falls, Buffalo, Cobourg, Montreal and East	8.20 a.m.	11.45 a.m.
	5.33 p.m.	9.05 p.m.
From Buffalo, Hamilton, Toronto, Bowmanville and Port Hope	11.45 a.m.
Toronto, Lindsay, Stouffville, Uxbridge and Markham	10.05 p.m.	7.30 a.m.
Lindsay Local	8.15 a.m.	3.30 p.m.
Hastings, Campbellford, Madoc, Belleville, Kingston, Montreal and East	8.10 a.m.	8.30 a.m.
	5.40 p.m.	1.50 p.m.
	9.50 a.m.	8.30 a.m.
Lakefield and Stony Lake	5.15 p.m.	12.30 p.m.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY

To Peterboro' Going East.
11.16 a. m., Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal
7.51 p. m., Indian River, Norwood, Havelock, Tweed.
12.31 a. m. midnight, Havelock, Tweed, Smith's Falls, Montreal, Quebec Portland, Boston and New England points.
1.10 a. m., Ottawa express, Norwood, Havelock, Ivanhoe, Tweed, Smith's Falls, Carleton Jct., Ottawa.
To Peterboro' Going West.
4.48 a. m. for Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, New York, Woodstock, St. Thomas, Chicago, etc.
5.28 a. m. Do. Do.
7.56 a. m. for Cavanville, Manvers, Pontypool, Burkton, etc., Fort William, Winnipeg and all western points in North West Canada.
4.48 p. m. Pontypool, Lindsay, Toronto, Hamilton, Galt, Woodstock, London, Detroit Chicago, etc.

The teachers of the Protestant Board of School Commissioners yesterday presented a unanimous petition to the Rev. Dr. Barclay asking him to accept his re-appointment and return to the Board.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM
Xmas and New Year's Excursions
Between all stations in Canada, also to Detroit and Port Huron, Mich., Buffalo, Black Rock, Niagara Falls and Suspension Bridge, N.Y.
AT SINGLE FARE
Good going December 24th and 25th, 1907
RETURNING UNTIL DEC. 26, 1907
Also good going December 31st, 1907, and January 1st, 1908, returning until January 2nd, 1908.
AT FARE AND ONE-THIRD
Good going Dec. 21st to Dec. 25th, 1907.
Returning until January 3rd, 1908.
Also good going Dec. 28th, 1907, to Jan. 1st, 1908.
Returning Until January 3rd, 1908
For further information and tickets call on
W. BUNTON
City Passenger Agent
F. SANDY,
Depot Ticket Agent
Or write Mr J. D. McDonald, D.P.A., Union Depot, Toronto

SHORT LINE TO MUSKOKA AND PARRY SOUND
WINTER TIME TABLE
In effect December 9th, 1907

NORTHBOUND	No. 1	No. 3
TORONTO	† 9.00 am	† 5.30 pm
WASHAGO	12.45 pm	9.00 pm
PARRY SOUND	3.10 pm

SOUTHBOUND	No. 2	No. 4
PARRY SOUND	† 9.00 am	†
WASHAGO	11.25 am	6.45 am
TORONTO	3.00 pm	10.10 am

Observation-Dining Parlor Cars between Toronto and Parry Sound serving meals a la carte.
† Daily except Sunday.
OFFICES: All Stations, also Cor. King and Toronto and Union Station. Phone, Main 5179.

SINGLE FARE
Tickets good going
Dec. 24 and 25
Return limit Dec. 26
Also good going December 31 and January 1. Return limit January 2.
FARE AND ONE THIRD
Tickets good going:
December 21 to 25 inclusive
December 28 to January 21 inclusive
Return limit January 3.
BETWEEN ALL STATIONS
Tickets and all information
W. McILROY,
Canadian Pacific Agent
349 George St. Peterboro'
or write C. B. Foster, D.P.A., Toronto

CENTRAL LIVERY STABLES
AND
VETERINARY INFIRMARY
136 Hunter Street west of Oriental Hotel.
If you wish a rig of any kind for any occasion ring us up and you will find everything up-to-date in the livery line. Both Phones 231. Night Phone Bell 435 R.
D. McKERCHER, V.S.

Why Peterborough Citizens Now Come to Dr. Browett for Glasses

FIRST REASON.—The Eye glasses supplied by Dr. Browett are ground in one of the largest and best optical factories in America. Skilled workmanship and quality have placed the lenses produced by this firm far in advance of those ground in the ordinary factory. Dr. Browett devotes his exclusive attention to Optical Work—examining eyes, and teaching Opticians the use of the modern eye instruments. The number of Optical colleges this gentleman has attended, his experiences throughout the United States and Canada as a teacher of opticians, the thousands of satisfied patrons in various parts of America, wherever he has visited in his teaching capacity, his equipment of instruments and knowledge of their use are sufficient reasons for Dr. Browett's success since making Peterborough his permanent home, and our store his head office.

McDERMID & JURY'S, Drug Store,
260 George Street, Peterborough, Ont.

Past Year Has Been Busiest In History of Trent Canal

Comparisons With Past Years Show This to be So

Reports From The Various Lockmasters

Opening of Lake Simcoe—Balsam Lake Division Feature of the Year

Some Interesting Information About the Great Inland Waterway

The superintendent of the Trent Canal, Mr. J. H. McClellan, has received from the various lockmasters on the canal, their returns, showing the number of lockages, and the amount of traffic generally, through the different locks during the past season. Comparisons with the returns of other years show that the past year has been the busiest in the history of the canal.

The chief item of interest in connection with the maintenance and operation of the canal during the past season, has been the formal opening of the Lake Simcoe-Balsam Lake Division, adding many additional miles of navigation to the system, and affording a through stretch of navigation from Healey's Falls on the south, to Barrie, Orillia and other points on Lake Simcoe on the north.

The report of the traffic at the various points, is as follows:

HYDRAULIC LIFT LOCK, KIRKFIELD.

William Jobe, lockmaster.

This was the first year for the Kirkfield Lift Lock, and it was not opened for public use until July 6th. However, the lockages for the season, numbered 136.

Lockmaster Jobe's report is as follows:

	St'mrs.	Small boats	Scows
July	25	18	5
August	25	19	1
September	19	14	6
October	2	2
	71	53	12

Lockages, 1907, 136.
Opened, July, 6, 1907.
Closed, October 28, 1907.

Rosedale Lock.

Lockmastre, William McIntosh.

	St'mrs.	Scows.	Rafts
May	66	20	13
June	199	30	4
July	229	3
August	245	9	6
September	119	[illegible]
October	72	36	1
November	98	1
	852	125	24

Number of cords of wood, 1,800.
Number of barges maple logs, 2.

COMPARISONS FOR PAST 8 YEARS

1900	874
1901	[illegible]
1902	1463
1903	1,410
1904	781
1905	728
1906	1,116
1907	1,001

OPENING AND CLOSING OF NAVIGATION.

1907, opened May 4th.
1907, Closed, November 16th.
1906, Opened, April 18th.
1906, Closed, December 1st.

FENELON FALLS LOCK.

Lockmaster, W. T. Junkin.

Fenelon Falls Lock is a double lock, overcoming a raise of 28 feet. Through this lock boats pass from Cameron Lake into Sturgeon Lake. The returns from Lockmaster Junkin for the past season, are as follows:

	St'mrs.	Small boats,	Scows	Rafts
May	18	7	1	20
June	37		14	1
July	[illegible]	26	2	3
Aug	44	40	7	4
Sept	30	7	21
Oct	25	2	27	8
Nov	12		10	18
	235	82	62	54

Total No. of lockages, 453.
Total No. of passengers, 2600.
Total No. cords of wood, 1155.
Total No. tons of coal, 60.
Brick, 50 M.
Stone, 60 cords.

COMPARISONS FOR PAST 7 YEARS.

	Total.
1901	257
1902	[illegible]
1903	504
1904	478
1905	319
1906	296
1907	453

OPENING AND CLOSING OF NAVIGATION.

1907, Opened May 3rd.
1907, Closed, Nov. 23rd.
1906, Opened May 5th.
1906, Closed Nov. 29th.

LINDSAY LOCK.

Lockmaster, John Makins.

The number of lockages at the Lindsay lock, is by no means a criterion of the amount of traffic on the Lindsay River. As a matter of fact, there is more traffic on the Lindsay River, than on any other single stretch of water on the Trent Canal. Three boats ply on this stream daily, during the summer months, whilst numerous tug boats find steady employment. As the dock at which the boats land is below the Locks, there are necessarily fewer lockages than there otherwise might be. However, the returns, of Mr. Makins, the veteran lockmaster, show that he has had a busy season.

The returns from the Lindsay Lock are as follows:

	St'mrs.	Small boats.	B'ges	Rafts.
April	9	5	1	21
May	22	40	12	37
June	28	88	20	7
July	36	158	12	34
Aug	24	111	22	17
Sept	10	72	9
Oct	8	30	5
Nov	8	9	11	18
	145	522	92	137

Total No. of Lockages, 886.

OPENING AND CLOSING OF NAVIGATION.

1907, Opened, April 16th.
1907, Closed, Nov. 20th.

BOBCAYGEON LOCK.

Lockmaster—John J. Walker.

There were, at Bobcaygeon, during the past year, 859 lockages. As is the case in connection with other locks on the canal, the largest number of lockages occurred in the month of July. The lockmaster's returns for the year are as follows:

	Steam-ers,	Small boats,	scows,	rafts
April	2
May	20		12
June	50	10	13	33
July	64	21	11	113
August	60	32	15	87
Sept	51	19	26	71
Oct	36	6	25	36
Nov	15		8	41
Totals	298	87	111	363

Total number of lockages, 1907—859.

Total number of passengers—3,408.

Total number of feet of lumber—40,000.

Total number of cords of wood—1,620.

COMPARISONS FOR PAST 8 YEARS

1899	[illegible]
1900	1045
1901	964
1902	864
1903	993
1904	979
1905	963
1906	796
1907	859

OPENING AND CLOSING OF NAVIGATION.

1907—Opened April 15.
1907—Closed Nov. 15.
1906—Opened April 26.
1906—Closed Nov. 29.

BUCKHORN LOCK.

Lockmaster—R. T. Hill.

Buckhorn Lock connects Lovesick Lake and Buckhorn Lake. A new dam is now in course of construction at this point. Lockages for the season totalled 1,210. The lockmaster's returns for the season are as follows:

	Steam-ers,	Small boats,	scows,	rafts
April	27		14	2
May	34	23	9	9
June	50	37	23	11
July	139	78	32	18
August	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Sept	50	35	36	12
Oct	52	12	42	18
Nov	27		32
Total	616	279	222	93

Total number of lockages—1,210.

Total number of passengers—5,806.

Total number of feet of lumber—85,000.

Total number of cords of wood—1,278.

Total number of pigs—172.

Total number shingles—22,000.

Total number barrels of cement—3,742.

Total number barrels coal oil—26.

Pumps—1.
Steam boilers—5.
Mixers—1.
Hay—42 tons.

OPENING AND CLOSING OF NAVIGATION.

1907—Opened April 12.
1907—Closed Nov. 16.
1906—Opened May 8.
1906—Closed Nov. 29.

LOVESICK LOCK.

Lockmaster, Wm. McFarlane

The following table shows the lockages at Lovesick Lock during the past summer;

	Strs.	Scows.	Rafts
April		1
May	29	4	6
June	96	21	30
August	160	15	22
August	169	15	22
September	83	16	3
October	46	31	12
November	29	19	15
Total	644	121	185

Total number of lockages, 830.

Total number of passengers, 9,600.

Navigation opened at Lovesick on April 30th, and closed on November 15th. This was four days earlier in opening, and three days later in closing than the previous year.

The steamer Ogemah of the Trent Valley Navigation Company, which plies between Bobcaygeon, Chemong and Burleigh, passed through the lock at Lovesick 154 times during the season.

There passed through Lovesick lock during the season, 6 scow loads of logs, and 3 scow loads of cordwood. The Cavendish Lumber Company brought down 650,000 pieces, logs and timber. The McDonald Lumber Company brought down 30,000 pieces, and the Peterborough Lumber Company, seven or eight thousand pieces, and Dunn & Young, 8,005.

BURLEIGH FALLS.

Lockmaster, A. C. Bates.

The following is a list of the lockages at Burleigh Falls locks during the past season;

	Strs.	Scows.	Rafts
April
May	18	6	4
June	64	9	36
July	98	18	31
August	100	19	17
September	60	19	4
October	50	32	11
November	29	17	16
Total	425	183	119

Total number of steamboats, 425.
Total number of small boats, 54.
Total number of scows, 186.
Total number of rafts, 119.
Total lockages, 1907, 761.
Total number of passengers, 1,142.
Total number of feet of lumber, [illegible].
Total number of cords of wood, 347.
Total number of pigs, 506.
Total number of tons of coal, 15.
Total number of tons of merchandise, 19.
Cement in bags, 6,150.

OPENING AND CLOSING OF NAVIGATION.

1907—Opened 1st May.
1907—Closed 15th November.

YOUNG'S POINT LOCK.

Lockmaster, P. P. Young.

Young's Point has always been considered the busiest lock on the Trent Canal system, and this year's record shows that it still leads in the matter of the number of lockages. This is, of course, due to the large tourist traffic to Stony Lake. A comparison of the number of lockages at Young's Point for the past 10 years shows that there were seasons when there were more steamboats locked through, however, that was when there was keen rivalry between the steamboat lines and when 2 boats met every train at Lakefield, instead of the present satisfactory arrangement between the two lines.

Lockmaster Young's official returns for the past season are as follows;

LOCKAGES.

	Strs.	S. Bts.	Scows.	Rfts
May	53	13	17	12
June	195	19	13	36
July	318	85	13	55
August	296	100	28	19
September	221	41	35	6
October	135	31	35	12
November	[illegible]	10	36	10
	1275	259	217	137

Total number of steamboats, 1275.
Total number of small boats, 259.
Total number of scows, 217.
Total number of rafts, 137.
Total lockages, 1907, 1888.
Total number of passengers, 30,-000.
Total number of feet of lumber, 911,500.
Total number of cords of wood, 3,272.
Total number of pigs, 515.
Total number of shingles, 475 m.
Total number of tons of coal, 59 tons.
Cement and sand, 300 tons.
Merchandise, 550 tons.
Stone, lime and brick, 1,361 tons.
Cheese, 51 tons.
Hay, 14 tons.
Oats, 23 tons.
Agricultural implements and sundries, 41 tons.

COMPARISONS FOR PAST TEN YEARS.

	Strs.	S. Bts.	Scows. Bar.	Rfts.
1897	657	139	93	57
1898	1089	301	122	164
1899	1121	223	110	113
1900	1087	166	179	119
1901	1262	14	190	179
1902	1107	90	266	149
1903	1491	95	179	228
1904	1572	136	151	247
1905	1304	162	279	[illegible]
1906	1223	317	228	185
1907	1275	259	267	137

OPENING AND CLOSING OF NAVIGATION.

1907—Opened May 3rd.
1907—Closed November 28th.
1906—Opened May 1st.
1906—Closed November 29th.

LAKEFIELD LOCK.

Lockmaster, John H. McWilliams.

This lock is known as lock No. 1, Peterborough-Lakefield Section. The traffic through this lock is almost exclusively of freight. Large quantities of wood and stone pass through this lock en route to Peterborough.

The returns from this lock are as follows:

	Strs.	Scows.	Rafts.
May	21	17	3
June	32	[illegible]	4
July	58	11	12
August	56	21	6
September	80	10	6
October	57	57	10
November	26	23	6
Total	325	182	47

Total number of steamboats, 325.
Total number of small boats, 182.
Total number of rafts, 47.
Total number of lockages, 539.
Total number of cords of wood, 1,-500.
Total number of pigs, 300.
Total number of tons of coal, 10.
Total number of scows of stone, 8.
Total number of bags of potatoes, 1,400.

COMPARISONS FOR PAST 4 YEARS.

	S. boats.	Bar.	Rfts.	To'l
1904	133	48	9	190
1905	285	148	61	494
1906	200	117	22	339
1907	325	182	47	554

OPENING AND CLOSING OF NAVIGATION.

1907—Opened May 11th.
1907—Closed November 15th.
1906—Opened June 6th.
1906—Closed November 13th.

HYDRAULIC LIFT LOCK, NO. ONE, PETERBOROUGH.

Lockmaster.—H. W. Gillespie.

The following is a list of the lockages at the hydraulic lift lock, Peterborough, for the past season:—

	Strs.	S. boats	Scows	Rafts
April
May	12	1	10	3
June	31	13	18	6
July	46	36	13	9
Aug.	63	38	20	7
Sept.	48	26	42	7
Oct.	63	11	47	1
Nov.	24		[illegible]	5
Total	288	125	169	38

Total number of steamboats, 288.
Total number of small boats, 125.
Total number of scows, 169.
Total number of rafts, 38.
Total number of lockages, 600.
Total number of passengers, 8,306.
Total number of feet of lumber, 279,-000.
Total number of cords of wood, 1982.
Total number of pigs, 429.
Total number of tons of coal, 8.
Timber, lineal feet, 12,740.
Merchandise, not enumerated, 79 tons.
Total number of cords of stone, 204.
Shingles, 20,000.
Cement, 18 tons.
Iron, 15 tons.
Brick, 15,000.
Harrows, 1.
Potatoes, 1888 bags.
Square timber, 24,000 feet.
Number of different craft, 52.

COMPARISON FOR PAST 4 YEARS.

	Stmbts.	S. bts.	Bar.	Rfts.	Tot.
1904					749
1905	301	[illegible]	150	52	552
1906	168	102	108	26	404
1907	288	125	169	38	609

OPENING AND CLOSING OF NAVIGATION.

1907, opened May 28th.
1907, Closed November 14th.
1906, opened June 8th.
1906, closed November 10th.

PETERBOROUGH LOCK.

Lockmaster, Wm. Collins.

The returns from the Peterborough Lock show that, notwithstanding the fact that the street railway company's lines now run below the locks, affording facilities for boats to commence their trip down to Rice Lake and return without passing through the locks, the number of lockages at this point was greater during the past season than during any other season for the past ten years.

LOCKAGES.

	Strs.	S. boats	Scows	Rafts
April	9	3	3
May	51	49	15	1
June	98	61	22	3
July	146	79	36	1
Aug.	186	70	36
Sep.	64	47	12
Oct.	88	27	29
Nov.	33	2	2
	670	338	188	5

Total number of steamboats, 670.
Total number small boats, 338.
Total number of scows, 188.
Total number of rafts, 5.
Total number lockages, 1907, 1,151.
Total number of passengers, 27,546.
Total number tons freight all kinds, 3,[illegible].

COMPARISONS FOR PAST 10 YEARS

	Strs	Bts	rafts	total
1898	738	200	11	950
1899	585	176		761
1900	[illegible]	164	13	754
1901	735	154	19	908
1902	901	175	24	1100
1903	[illegible]	198	28	1100
1904	768	117	20	905
1905	776	179	9	964
1906	870	112	12	997
1907	670	338	5	1151

In 1907 there were 388 small boats

OPENING AND CLOSING OF NAVIGATION.

1907—Opened April 29th.
1907—Closed November 23rd.
1906—Opened April 30th.
1906—Closed Nov. 24th.

It will be observed that during 1903 and 1904, the number of lockages was not large, which was due to the fact that the lock was closed for repairs on September 8th, 1904, and was not opened until May 23rd, 1905.

HASTINGS LOCK.

Lockmaster, John Tracy.

This is a lock that is not much used, owing to the fact that there is nothing to attract much traffic between Hastings and Healey's Falls. The total number of lockages at Hastings for the year amounted only to 17.

Enjoyable Time at Central Smith

Annual Tea and Entertainment Proved to be Decidedly Successful

The annual tea and entertainment of the Central Smith Dairy Company was held in the Temperance Hall, fourth line of Smith. The hall was filled to the door, about 400 being present. After tea was served Hon. Senator Derbyshire was appointed chairman, which position he ably filled, as all who know him will realize that as chairman Daniel takes the cake.

Mr. Derbyshire, in opening his address, assured the audience and the patrons of Central Smith that it warmed his heart to be at their meeting again and see the large crowd of dairymen. The last time he was with them the hall was crowded. Since then an addition had been attached, and still there was not room. This was encouraging to the company as it showed a live interest was being taken in the dairy work in this section. Your report showed only a small shortage in receipts for 1906, while our total receipts for Canada in 1907 will show about $6,000,000 short, and this to a great extent accounts for the tightness of money. What we want to do in 1908 is to prepare for the drought with summer silo, and keep up the quantity all through the milking period. Have ice for cooling the milk down to a temperature of 60 degrees in warm weather so that the most cheese and the best cheese can be made from this milk. This will also encourage your cheese maker as he can go right ahead and supply the British market with the best dairy products that can be produced on the face of the globe. We as Canadians should not be satisfied with anything below this standard. Then our home consumption will increase by having a better article.

The Dominion Government has been encouraging a higher production of milk per cow for a number of years, and there is no other way to do this other than by weighing, testing, and weeding out the poor cows. Do not discourage a cow giving 6,000 pounds of milk by keeping alongside of her one only giving 2,000 pounds.

Then when autumn comes on go right on in the business, have a bright, clean, well ventilated stable to keep the cows comfortable and healthy, feed good wholesome, and healthy food, and I cannot commend to you a better or cheaper food than corn silage, alfalfa hay and roots, fed in the following proportion: 40 pounds silage, 15 pounds alfalfa, and 5 pounds roots per cow.

In closing, I urge you in 1908 to go home, and any who have not the proper facilities for cooling and caring for milk, who have not grown soiling crop, to do this next year, and while we now sell 78 per cent. of the cheese used on the British market, we can sell more if we can give them the quality.

Send your winter milk to the creamery and supply our own home market so we will not need to import butter from other countries to supply our home demand. There never was a time in the history of Canada when we needed milk so much as now.

Mr. D. Hughes Charles, manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce; Rev. Mr. Peckover of Omemee, and Rev. R. J. Webb of Peterborough, demonstrated their ability in partaking of the hospitality of ladies, and also on the platform, showing that the callings of all were mutual and should be for the building up of our fair Dominion.

The committee has every reason to be proud of the success of the gathering, and the ladies deserve praise for the excellent supper provided.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered the speakers and the committee in charge of the meeting.

CREAMERY REPORT.

The report of the creamery operations was as follows:

Creamery opened Nov. 4 and closed April 30.

Total number patrons—55.

Total pounds of milk delivered—347,030.

Total pounds butter manufactured—15,159.

Average price per pound butter—24.77 cents.

Average lbs. milk to lb. butter—22.90.

Amount paid to the patrons—$3,250.51.

Amount paid for manufacturing—$492.37.

Amount paid for butter milk—$28.25.

Gross value of milk—$3,781.13.

Cheese factory operations were as follows:

Factory opened May 1, closed October 31.

Total number patrons—52.

Total pounds of milk delivered—1,550,597.

Total pounds cheese manufactured—139,880.

Average price per pound cheese—11.87 cents.

Average lbs. milk to lb. cheese—11.08.

Amount paid to the patrons—$14,769.48.

Amount paid for manufacturing—$1,574.40.

Amount paid for whey—$241.30.

Total aggregate of business for 1907—$20,357.31.

Total aggregate of business for 1906—$21,436.06.

A WINDSOR LADY'S APPEAL.

To All Women: I will send free with full instructions, my home treatment which positively cures Leucorrhoea, Ulceration, Displacements, Falling of the Womb, Painful or Irregular Periods, Uterine and Ovarian Tumors or Growths, also Hot Flushes, Nervousness, Melancholy, Pains in the Head, Back or Bowels, Kidney and Bladder troubles, where caused by weakness peculiar to our sex. You can continue treatment at home at a cost of only about 12 cents a week. My book, "Woman's Own Medical Adviser," also sent free on request. Write to-day. Address Mrs. M. Summers, Box H89, Windsor, Ont.

In a fight with knives, razors and revolvers at the east end of [illegible] street last night, one Italian was stabbed twice, and two men passing by were [illegible].

ABSOLUTE SECURITY.

Genuine

Carter's Little Liver Pills.

Must Bear Signature of

See Fac-Simile Wrapper Below.

Very small and as easy to take as sugar.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.
FOR HEADACHE.
FOR DIZZINESS.
FOR BILIOUSNESS.
FOR TORPID LIVER.
FOR CONSTIPATION
FOR SALLOW SKIN.
FOR THE COMPLEXION

CURE SICK HEADACHE.

The wonderful progress of Canada is illustrated by the fact that the finest Cocoa in the world is made there.

COWAN'S PERFECTION COCOA

is the purest and the best and is fast becoming the beverage for old and young.

THE COWAN CO., Ltd., TORONTO

FOR THE LADY WHO CALLS

Visiting List and Social Engagement Book—A Dainty and Useful Gift.

Those ladies who find it difficult to keep track of their social debts in the way of calls which have to be returned, invitations to various society functions which have been received will be pleased to learn that a dainty little book has been issued from the presses of the Review which will fill their need. The city has grown so rapidly of late years that it has become almost necessary for each lady to have a special reception day each month when her friends will be sure to find her at home. To keep a record of these will be an easy matter with one of these little books. They are prettily bound in blue linen, lettered in gold and printed on good paper. There are two pages for every day in the month, arranged, according as the day is, first Monday, second Tuesday, etc. At the back of the book are pages for invitations received, out-of-town addresses, special reception dates, and memoranda. One of the books would make a dainty and acceptable Xmas gift. The books are on sale at the bookstores at the price of 50c

CENTRAL LIVERY STABLES AND VETERINARY INFIRMARY

[illegible] Hunter Street, west of Colonial

If you wish a rig of any kind for any occasion ring us up and you will find everything up-to-date in the livery line. Both Phones [illegible]. Night Phone Bell 436 B

D. McKERCHER, V.S.

YOUR OWN HAIR MADE UP AS DESIRED . .

By home talent, where you are sure of satisfaction, or matched correctly in shade and quality.

Switches, Natural Wavy Pompadours, Latest Coiffures

Let us show you what we can do before you patronize some outside party. We guarantee to please you at lowest prices in the city.

Back Hair Dressing, Shampooing, etc.

MRS. BYRNE'S
George Street Second Door North of Dutton's

EGGS
FOR SALE by the case

Fresh and Pickled Choice Stock at our warehouse, Robinson Street, East City

Scott & Hogg
PHONE 264, BOTH PHONES

Private Greeting Cards

THE highly colored and lithographed Christmas Card in vogue a few years ago has passed away entirely.

IN place has come the much more appropriate Personal Greeting Card.

OF these the Review Office is showing a great many original designs.

YOUR order should be given immediately, while the selection is so complete.

SHOULD you desire Card specially designed to your order, promptness is absolutely necessary.

The Review
HUNTER STREET
PETERBOROUGH

HOCKEY SKATES
From 75c to $5.00

Skates repaired and sharpened
General machine work.

METHEREL'S CYCLE WORKS
225 Hunter Street

ESTIMATES AND RESULTS

The evidence before the Royal Commission showed that over 700 SUN LIFE policies had already matured and that in thirty-four per cent. of the cases the amounts originally estimated as likely to be received at the end of the terms, had been realized or exceeded. On all the cases combined the average amount paid had been about ninety-seven per cent. of the estimate. The management may be pardoned for being proud of this record. The estimates now in use since 1905 are lower than former ones, and premiums are higher, so that present estimates should certainly be realized. Statements were also filed showing that $108 is on hand for every $100 required to pay the amounts called for by the present estimates for every deferred profit policy on the books, and this without taking into account the Company's great and increasingly valuable contingent fund. Our policyholders are therefore justified in being particularly optimistic in regard to the Company's probable future profits.

Some one has said, "the true value of a life assurance policy must be gauged by the security of the protection given; if it proves to be a good investment, all the better; when both are shown, there is nothing on earth to equal it."

The security of the protection afforded by the Sun Life of Canada needs no comment, and the profits paid—let our results tell their own truthful story.

W. H. HILL,
Mgr. Central Ont.

AN INVITATION

We cordially invite every one interested in something select for Christmas, to visit our store and note the fine lines, perfect quality and moderate prices here shown. Affection can prompt nothing more appropriate than some of the following suggestions;

Gentlemen's Gold Watches, $10 to $40
Ladies' Gold Watches, $10 to $35
Diamond Rings, 3 Leading Specials, $15, $25, $50
Pearl Rings a Multitude of Designs, $3 to $20
Gold Cuff Links, 14 Karat, $5 to $7
Gold Lockets, $5 to $10
Signet Rings, (Gentlemen's) $5 to $10
Pearl Brooches, Delightful Patterns, $5 to $25
1847 Rogers Knives and Forks at Special Prices

No trouble to show Goods. Call and inspect them.

WARNE'S
345 GEORGE STREET

SNAPS FOR XMAS
Ebony Mirrors
Ebony Hair Brushes
Ebony Clothes Brushes
Ebony Manicure Sets
Ebony Military Brushes
Real Seal Skin Purses
Hand Satchels
Ladies' Companions
Gentlemen's Companions
Perfumes, etc.
at lowest prices
WARNE BROS.
345 GEORGE ST. PHONE 327

INTEREST PAID
QUARTERLY
—ON—
SAVINGS DEPOSITS of $1 and upwards
—THE—
BANK OF OTTAWA

Interest paid
February 28
May 31
August 31
November 30

PETERBOROUGH BRANCHES:
George Street, also Corner Rubidge and Townsend Streets

A. A. HOLLINGSHEAD, Mgr.

Xmas Photos

Send a family group or the children's photos to your friends at Christmas. Nothing is appreciated more than such remembrances, from

MENDEL'S STUDIO

374 1-2 George St Entrance next Okes

A negro was hanged, and his body riddled with bullets, by a white mob in Shreveport, La., yesterday. His crime was resenting a remark of a white man.

SEE OUR GRAND WINDOW DISPLAY OF XMAS SNAPS

Fountain Pens—fully guaranteed—Solid Gold Points—Just two grades—Regular pric $2.50 and $3.50. Our price this week only

$1.50 and $2.50

With each $1.50 sale we will give a 50c bottle of perfume FREE.

With each $2.50 sale we will give a $1.00 bottle of perfume FREE.

Just a limited number of pens.

Perfume either in bulk or in fancy bottles. Your own choice.

NUGENT DRUG CO.
386 GEORGE STREET

TURKEY, DOLL AND CARRIAGE

To be Given Away on Christmas Eve by Alex Gordon, the Market Butcher

Among the tastily decorated Christmas stores, one of the brightest in its line is that of Alex. Gordon, the market butcher in the Arcade. Fruit-laden evergreen trees are everywhere in evidence, artistically placed, and giving the interior a real holiday appearance. The specially fed Christmas meat in beef, mutton, lamb and pork, as well as an abundance of

A splendid big doll and carriage and choice poultry, and a good fat bear look tempting.
a mammoth turkey are to be given away on Christmas Eve on the following plan. Everyone making a purchase to the amount of 50c. will be entitled to a guess at the name of the doll or the weight of the turkey. The doll's name is in an envelope, sewed into its dress, and the turkey will be weighed on Christmas Eve. The one guessing correctly the name or weight will be given the doll or turkey. 3d

Chocolate and Creams 2 lb. for 25c, Navel Oranges 20, 30, 40c; Mixed Nuts per lb. 15c.
R. A. DUTTON.

Thibet is waking up, the Throne having sanctioned the construction of a telegraph line into the sacred city of Lhassa.

LADIES' FANCY BELTS

FOR CHRISTMAS GIFTS

We have been fortunate in securing a manufacturer's clearing lot of SILK BELTS, all this season's newest styles, black and colored, many different styles to choose from. Regular 75c, 1.00 and 1.25 Belts

Your Choice Saturday for 38c

Silk Belts are popular Xmas Gifts—This is a rare Belt Gift chance, two and three for the price of one.

SEE OUR WINDOW

STORE OPENS MONDAY AND TUESDAY EVENINGS

Harry Adams

Third Candidate May Enter The Race for the Mayoralty

Mr. William Yelland Likely to be a Candidate—Has Been Requested by Many Ratepayers to Re-enter Municipal Life—A Triangular Fight is Possible.

Will a third candidate enter contest for the mayoralty?

This is the question which is now agitating certain ratepayers, creating a good deal of discussion and lending uncertainty to the issue.

Messrs. McWilliams and Rush are already in the race, and it was rumored around the city yesterday that Ex-Mayor William Yelland was in the field and had begun canvassing.

Seen by a Review reporter today, Mr. Yelland was asked the question, "Are you a candidate for the Mayoralty?"

"Well, I will not say that I won't be," was the characteristic reply of the former chief magistrate.

"But are you definitely in the fray?" inquired the press representative.

"Well, not definitely, as yet. Many of my friends have come to me and asked me to allow my name to be placed in nomination for the position. I have consented to this. I will be present at the nomination proceedings, and give my views on certain civic matters. Whether I remain in the field or not, I cannot say. That will all depend. I have been pressed on all sides to run, and I will see what attitude the other candidates assume on different problems before saying further as to my intentions."

"How long since you were Mayor, Mr. Yelland?"

"Ten years ago. I occupied the chair in 1896 and 1897, and previous to that was an alderman for fourteen years."

"What do you think about the assessment?"

"I think it is outrageously high, and had I and others known that the Court of Revision would be inclined to reduce it, we would have appealed, but in previous years those who have appealed have been afforded very little relief and have had all the worry for nothing. Had I thought there would be such a general reduction by the court, I would have appealed on four houses owned by me in the South Ward, which are very much over-valued on the assessment roll."

HENRY LUDLOWE

(Successor to the Late Richard Mansfield) in "Richard III" Grand Opera House, Thursday, December 26th. Friday, "The Merchant of Venice." Plan opens Tuesday, at 10 a.m. Reserve your seats early.

Twenty-Two Christmases Spent on the Ocean Wave

Such Has Been the Unique Experience of Mr. Harry Dunford, Perry St.—Was Many Years in the Service of the Royal Navy—Each Christmas Found Him in a Different Part of the World.

Twenty-two Christmases away from home, the majority of them spent at sea, in the foreign service, is the unique experience of Mr. Harry Dunford, Perry street. Mr. Dunford is a sailor of much prominence, and it will be remembered that he was on the ill fated H.M.S. Victoria, which was wrecked in 1893.

Joining the Royal Navy, January 9th, 1873, he was allowed to leave the training ship H.M.S. St. Vincent and spend Christmas at [illegible]. From that time on for twenty-two years he was away at the glad Yuletide season from his home, and all that was dear to him. In all those years spent at sea, Mr. Dunford had many interesting experiences. Christmas on board ship was always a pleasant one no matter how distant they were from their native shores. They always enjoyed a sumptuous Christmas dinner, and other good cheer was also provided for the sailors. Thus, although they were far away, the birthday of the Saviour of the world was always commemorated by seamen just as much as though at home.

Mr. Dunford spent Christmas of 1874 at sea on a passage from St. Vincent, Cape de Verd Islands, to Monte Video, South America. The next year Christmas was spent in an entirely different direction, travelling from Calcutta, India, to Trincomalee, Ceylon. In 1876, at the time of the Eastern crisis, Mr. Dunford spent the Yuletide season in Besika Bay, blockading the Dardanelles. In 1877 this renowned sailor ate his Christmas dinner in Malta, harbor, and in 1878 he was in Wiltshire, England, with some friends. In 1879, at Christmas, he was in the Royal Naval Barracks, Sheerness, and in 1880 he was again at sea, sailing from Solomon Islands, South Pacific, to Sydney, New South Wales. The Christmas of 1881, was spent in Sydney, N.S.W., and that of the year 1882 he was in Antigua Harbor, West Indies. The Christmas of '83, '84 and '85 were all spent in Bermuda, West Indies, while the Christmas of 1886 was commemorated at sea, going from Port Royal, Jamaica, to the Island of Ascension. The next year, at the Yuletide season, Mr. Dunford was sailing from Mauritius to Aden and in 1898 he was again in Bermuda.

The [illegible] spent in Port Royal Harbor, Jamaica, and at Christmas, 1891, he was again in Bermuda. In 1892 he was again privileged to spend Christmas in England, with some friends in London.

The next year being the one in which H.M.S. Victoria was wrecked, Mr. Dunford was in the Royal Naval Hospital, Haslar, Gosport, Eng., suffering with injuries received in wreck. Christmas, 1894, was spent in London, England, and that of 1895 was celebrated in [illegible] at Upton Lovell, Wiltshire, Eng.

This year Mr. and Mrs. Dunford will spend Christmas with the latter's sister, Mrs. Joseph Ball, East City, and incidentally it might be remarked that this is the first time in thirty-three years that the two sisters have spent Christmas together.

selling dirty milk, got six months at selling dirty milk, got six months at hard labor.

The Grand Trunk has announced a pension fund for its employees for which they are not to be in any way assessed.

Lord Kelvin, one of the greatest scientists of his age, died in Glasgow yesterday afternoon at the age of 83 years.

CLEVER VIOLINIST

Miss Julia Choate has every reason to be proud of the distinction she won at the violin recital given by her at the Conservatory of Music Hall last night. There was a large and musical audience present, which showed a flattering interest and hearty appreciation of a young musician who seems to have all the qualities of temperament and skill which forecast a brilliant future. Miss Choate last night played a long and difficult programme of several different composers and the manner in which she adapted her playing to the varying demands upon a performer, which the selections called for, indicated the great extent of her versatility and musicianly accomplishments.

Miss Choate was very heartily applauded, and was presented with three beautiful bouquets. She is a pupil of Miss Lina D. Adamson, and her beautiful work last night reflects the highest credit upon Miss Adamson's skill as a teacher. The latter played the accompaniments for Miss Choate and also for Miss Pearl Lundy, who was the assisting vocalist for the evening. She sang two songs in a rich, well trained voice, and gave her numbers artistic treatment. She also had to respond to an encore, and was presented with a sheaf of Beauty roses.

STRANDED IN SCOTLAND.

Girl From Canada Shamefully Hoaxed By Plausible Scoundrel.

A pathetic story of a girl from Canada who was shamefully imposed upon was related to Edinburgh, Scotland, City Police the other day. A prepossessing young lady arrived in the course of the afternoon and informed the police of her pitiful story. She had been left at Liverpool the previous morning by her intended husband, a young, well-dressed man, who had taken her from Montreal across to Liverpool, as he said, to marry her at his father's house in Edinburgh.

The lady went from Scotland to Canada last year to take up a prominent position in one of the hotels in Vancouver. There she met an attractive young man, who gave the name of John Mackie, and said he came from Edinburgh, and gave his father's address as one in Ashley Terrace. He was a civil engineer, he said, employed by a Glasgow company to look after emigrants to Canada. He professed love for the lady, taking her to the theatre occasionally.

It so happened that the lady intended returning home to the Old Country, and her lover stated his intention of going by the same liner. Then comes a pretty piece of romance. Crossing the Atlantic "Mackie" proposed marriage, and his proposal was accepted. The couple arrived at Liverpool on November 5, and stayed together in one of the hotels there for a few days.

The time, however, to part arrived, and when the lady intimated that her friends would be expecting her, her "lover" burst into tears. He, on the other hand discovered that he had some important business to transact in Glasgow, but he was to visit his intended wife at her parents' house immediately afterwards. He bade the lady a hurried and affectionate good-bye, but after her departure it was found that his flight had been so hurried that he had forgotten to pay his hotel bill, together with $30 he had borrowed from the lady.

The latter became suspicious, and, after communicating with the Edinburgh police, discovered that the address which her "lover" had given was false.

In the course of an interview the girl stated to a press representative that her acquaintance with young man began in a Vancouver hotel a little more than three weeks ago. She was at that time in one of the principal hotels in Vancouver, and one evening, while in the drawing-room, she was approached by the fair-haired young man.

An acquaintance of a warm nature soon sprang up betwen the two, and when the young man offered to play "Annie Laurie" on the 'cello the lady was delighted. She hailed from Scotland, and was glad to hear Scottish music.

Later in the evening she was asked by her new acquaintance to go to the theatre. She consented, and at the theatre they were joined by another young man. The party left for Montreal a day or two afterwards, arrangements being made on the way for the trip to Scotland. The young girl, attracted by the handsome appearance of her friend, was quite agreeable, and between themselves everything was arranged.

On arriving at Montreal, berths were booked for Liverpool, and when the party of three arrived at that port the couple put up at an hotel.

Everything seemed to be going quite smoothly, until one evening the girl found her intended crying. Next morning, when she awoke, he was gone, and her sorrow was increased when she could find no trace of his whereabouts.

Subsequently she learned he had left Liverpool for Glasgow, and she followed him up. Her inquiries at the police there having elicited no information, she went to Edinburgh, having been given an address in Ashley Terrace as that of the residence of the young man's father. She inquired in that district, and being unable to unearth any of his relatives she put the matter in the hands of the Edinburgh police.

The young man, after booking the berths, confessed that he was in need of money, and the young lady unsuspectingly handed over all her savings. She was somewhat astonished to find next day that her intended had left her to pay the bill at the Liverpool hotel.

At present the young lady is being cared for by the officials at Livingstone Hall House for Girls, who have communicated with her relatives in Scotland and Canada.

Much distress and sickness in children is caused by worms. Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator gives relief by removing the cause. Give it a trial and be convinced.

ONLY THREE MORE DAYS, THEN XMAS

CHRISTMAS GIFTS
That Ladies Can Buy as Well as Men

The remaining days before Christmas will be Bona Fide Bargain Days for all who sensible Gifts at LeBrun's, as follows:

CLOTHING BARGAINS

Men's Fine Overcoats	5.00	to	$15.00
Men's Fine Suits	4.00	to	14.00
Boys' Winter Overcoats	2.50	to	5.00
Boys' Winter Suits, 2-piece	1.50	to	3.00
Boys' Winter Suits, 3-piece	2.50	to	5.00
Great Stock of Pants for men and boys

CHRISTMAS FURNISHINGS

Men's Superior Underwear, Natural Wool, Scotch and Fleece-lined, all large sizes for large men	.45	to	2.50
Christmas Neckwear	.25	to	1.25
Specially made for us by the Novel-Ti Co., of Peterborough
Christmas Scarfs	.50	to	1.75
Christmas Hosiery	.25	to	.50
Christmas Gloves	.50	to	2.50
Christmas Hdkfs, Fine Linen and Silk	.15	to	1.00
Men's and Boys' Sweaters	.50	to	3.00
Umbrellas of all kinds, including fine silk and with fancy handles	1.00	to	4.50

Neckwear, Scarfs, Gloves, etc., put up in fancy boxes free of charge.

H. LeBrun & Co.
Two Entrances George and Hunter Sts

IT'S CHEAP TO BUY THE BEST

A Merry Christmas to All
FROM
Coleman Bros.

Who have the best line of BULK CANDIES and FANCY BOXES. We have a large stock and mean to clear. Best Goods—Lowest Prices—See our Display—It's Great,

Great Variety of Fruit Cake

SIMMEL CAKE
—A Delicious Article

Plum Cake, Plum Pudding and Mince Meat, unequalled in Flavor.

PHONE 335 426 GEORGE ST.

THE CRYSTAL
OPEN EVERY AFTERNOON AND EVENING
ENTIRE CHANGE PROGRAMME TO-DAY
ADMISSION—5 CENTS

WE WISH YOU
A Merry Xmas

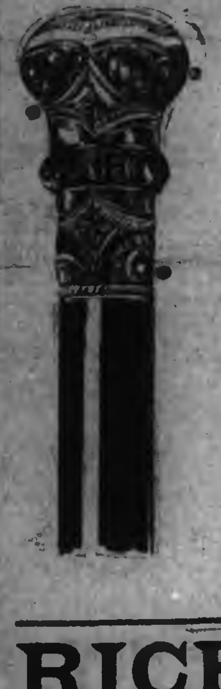
We point with pride to our selections of Men's Furnishings for the Holiday trade. We've

Exclusive and Elegant Neckwear
Best Makes of Gloves
Perfection in Shirts and Collars
Best Brands of Underwear
Choice Hosiery, Mufflers
Night Robes, Umbrellas
House Coats, Fancy Braces, Etc.

If you're still undecided just what to buy him for Christmas, we'll take pleasure in showing you a host of things he would be delighted to have.

LANG & MAHER
CLOTHIERS AND FURNISHERS TO MEN WHO KNOW
409 411 George Street Peterborough

SAVINGS IN UMBRELLA GIFTS



At this Great Sale of Umbrellas and Parasols

How much more vexed would be the gift problem if it were not for that good old stand-by—THE UMBRELLA! How much more would you have to pay for fine gift umbrellas if it were not for the fact that we made some of the most extraordinary purchases of ample lines that ever entered this store, and they're fine ones—the kind that any man, woman or child would be so proud that the time-worn expression of "I just can't keep an umbrella," wouldn't hold good in their cases. Full varieties of covers in lustrous rain-proof fabrics and handles of metal, horn, and natural wood are included in the collection. However small your umbrella price limit may be, you will get the biggest sort of values for it here.

Hear all the Latest Music Every Day this Week, by Charles E. Musgrave

RICHARD HALL & SON, LIMITED

353 AND 355 GEORGE STREET, PETERBOROUGH

STORE OPENS AT 8 A.M. CLOSES AT 6 P.M., EXCEPT SATURDAY

FOR FINE

Lemons, Oranges
Malaga Grapes
Bananas

and all kinds of fruit and vegetables try

MINOCOLO BROS.

Wholesale and Retail.
Both Phones 337.

FAMILY RE-UNIONS AT CHRISTMAS

The opportunity to have a complete group taken may not occur again. Appointments at

THE ROY STUDIO

BROCK ST. RINK

SEASON 1907-8

Tickets for the season entitling the holder to all skating privileges, now on sale at the Examiner Office, Peterborough Bookstore, Sanderson & Co., F. A. Clarke's, Best Hardware Co., the Secretary, C. G. Graham, at the Oriental Hotel.

Gentlemen . . .	3.00
Ladies	2.00
Youths, 16 to 18	2.00
Boys under 16 .	1.50
Girls	1 50

Nothing makes a better Christmas gift for your boy or girl than a Season Ticket for the Brock Street Rink.

CHOOSING FOR ONE'S BACHELOR FRIENDS

Not even the "Crusty Old Bach" of fiction could fail to feel a heart glow at being the recipient of one of these gifts:

Pearl Mounted Gold Stick Pins	1.50 to 15.00	Gold Cuff Links, plain or gem set	3.00 to 25.00
Gentleman's Seal Ring	4.25 up	Gun Metal Cigar Cutter	1.00
Match and Cigar Cases	1.00 to 7.50	Shaving Cup	3.00 to 5.00

SCHNEIDER'S

RELIABLE JEWELLERS, 391 GEORGE STREET

THE CITY AND VICINITY

READ THIS.

All late popular song hits at 12 1-2c. per copy, at the J. M. Greene Music Store. 3d

FUR LINED COATS

We clean and press them and guarantee no injury to the fur. My Valet, 384 Charlotte street. All goods called for and delivered. dtf

MAKE CALENDARS.

Why not make calendars? They are pretty cheap and always acceptable. We have pictures in sepia and colors, fancy embossed cards and dainty calendar pads in many designs. See them at the Review office. 3d

SHEET MUSIC AGAIN.

We are selling the very latest in instrumental and popular Song Hits until New Year's for 12 1-2c. per copy. Buy your music from an established music house. J. M. Greene Music Co., Grand Opera House Building. 3d

STORY OF A STAR CANTATA.

A good rehearsal was held in St. John School of the above Xmas Cantata this morning. The Sunday school children meet for the dress rehearsal at 5 p.m. in the Sunday school on Monday next.

XMAS GREETINGS.

While doing your Christmas shopping, call at the Aylmer Street Greenhouses. Many things for Christmas gifts and also cut bloom. Order early. Open till 10 o'clock. Lit with electric lights. Wishing you all many returns of the season. J. H. Cobb, 551 Aylmer street. Phone 132.

LEATHER MUSIC CASES.

We have a large, well assorted stock for Xmas at close prices. Peterborough Music Co. 404 George-st. 3d1w

NO PRACTICE

There will be no practice of the members of Rebekah Lodge, this evening on account of a number of the ladies being away.

PUDDING AND CAKE.

The crowning point of the Christmas dinner is the pudding, especially if it is prepared at Elliott's; 20c. a pound. To know the possibilities in cake making, be sure and try Elliott's Christmas cake; 20c. a pound. dtf

CHRISTMAS TREE.

Mark Street Ladies' Aid are giving a Christmas tree and entertainment to the Sunday school scholars on Christmas night, and anyone wishing to place gifts on the tree for any of the children may do so Christmas afternoon.

WEDDING BELLS

CARTER—DUNLOP

A quiet wedding was solemnized on Wednesday evening last at the residence of Mrs. Ross Payne, 101 Lake street, by Rev. H. M. Manning, when Miss Emma Kincaid Dunlop, of North Monaghan, was united in marriage to Mr. Robert Carter, of Peterborough. The young couple were unattended, and the ceremony was witnessed by only the immediate friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Carter will reside in Peterborough.

PERSONAL

Hon. George A. Cox, of Toronto, is in the city.

Officer Adam Hall, of the Toronto police force, is in the city for the holidays.

Mr. G. L. Hay, east city, is being urged by many friends to become an aldermanic candidate. He is considering the matter.

Mrs. Patterson-Mowry, of this city, took part in an Oddfellows' concert at Wilberforce, Ont., last evening. She gave several readings.

Mr. Aubrey P. Gruber, of Jamaica, West, Indies, who has been spending a few weeks with Mr. Hammer, left for his home yesterday.

Miss Mayneord, secretary of the Peterborough Y.W.C.A., left today for London, to spend the Christmas holidays.

Miss L. L. Coleman, of the Separate school staff of teachers, leaves on Monday to spend the holidays at her home in Trenton.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Franklin left the city today for Barrie, where they will spend Xmas with their sister, Mrs. W. Brown. They will also spend a few weeks with their aunt, Mrs. W. Carter, Applegate, Michigan.

Dr. John Johnston, V.S., of Lakefield, has decided to commence a practice in Port Hope, and will open up his office at Trenouth and Jarrel's livery. Dr. and Mrs. Johnston are expected to arrive tomorrow, and the will take up their residence on Ward street.—Port Hope Guide.

Bell, the Grocer, Hunter St., for Sweet Oranges, Cream Candies, New Mixed Nuts, Cranberries, Snow Apples, etc. Call and see him.

"EXTRA"

Just passed into stock by China Hall over five hundred pieces of "Royal Doulton." The finest direct importation ever made to Peterborough of this celebrated ware. It will be on sale Saturday morning at prices low enough to compete with common Japanese or German china. Each piece bears the "Royal Doulton" trade mark. A piece of "Royal Doulton" makes an ideal Christmas present out of the ordinary line. Prices from 25 cents to $5.00 each. See the show window. 2d

CREAMS AND CHOCOLATES
Star Creams, Star Chocolates, 2 lbs for 25c.
W. H. HAMILTON
138 Simcoe St.

THE BRIDGE COLLAPSED OM OPENING DAY

Special to The Review.

Allahabad, Indiana, Dec. 21.—A new pontoon bridge opened to-day at the junction here of the Ganges and Jumna Rivers, collapsed under the crowds. One hundred were plunged into the water, and many were drowned.

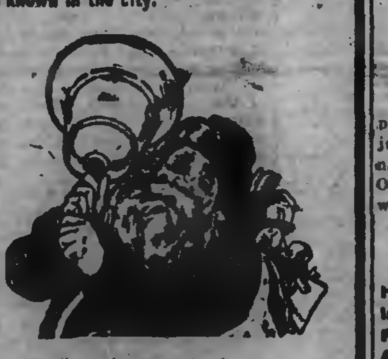
HOLIDAY CONFECTIONS

For a choice Box of fresh, home-made Creams, Chocolates or Bon Bons, go to L. Potvin, 425 George Street. All Candies made on the premises from finest materials. Christmas and Fancy Cakes that delight the most fastidious. Visit Potvin's before making your Christmas purchases.

A frightful murder of twelve men by a band of Yaqui Indians, is reported from Mexico.

SANTA CLAUS at ROUTLEY'S

Santa has paid many visits to his old established Headquarters. Our 2nd floor is heavier stocked with every imaginable Toy or Gift for the little tots than ever was known in the city.



Dolls, Cradles, Hose Carts, Toy Beds, Games all kinds, Toy Carriages, Sleighs, Toy Tea Sets, Whips, Toy Wash Sets. Toy Books; Sleeping, Walking, Kid and Jointed Dolls; Building Blocks, Noah's Arks, Bugles, Drums, Reins, Mechanical Toys, Magic Lanterns, Steam Engines, Banks, Trains.

CHINA SECTION

Bread and Butter Plates, China Cups and Saucers, Jardinieres, Vases, Salad Bowls, Brush Trays, Biscuit Jars' Jelly Pots, China Tea Sets, Fancy Jugs in Sets, Dinner Sets, Chamber Sets, all the newest in nifty pieces suitable for presents.

MAIN FLOOR

Manicure Sets, Brush and Comb Sets, Military Sets, Padded Poets, Catholic Prayer Books, English Church Prayer Books, Hymn Books, Bibles, Work Boxes, Collar Boxes, Glove and Handkerchief Sets, Leather Writing Cases and Desks, Music Rolls, Pocket Books, Hand Bags.

As usual we will not allow those not strictly in the fancy goods or stationery lines to compete in any way. Stick to the place that has served you well, there are none who can head us off at our own old game

TORONTO
262-4 QUEEN W

ROUTLEY'S

PETERBORO'
379 GEORGE ST

CLOTHES AND THE MAN.

Study the Lord of Creation and the Things He Wears.

See the man!

He wears a hat of straw, stiffened with glue until it is like a tin pail, or of felt or silk, stiffened with bum shellac until it is like a cast iron pot. Inside this unyielding brim is a thick band of hard, stiff leather, re-enforced with inner bands of flannel. Result, compression of the blood vessels of the scalp, causing undue perspiration, headache and baldness.

About his neck in summer is a turndown collar, which is a high, stiff fence of eight thicknesses of starched linen. This fits closely, leaving him unable to turn his head without great effort. Imbedded in this and tied in front in a thick, uncomfortable bunch is a tie of heavy cotton or silk, re-enforced with linings of quilted canton flannel.

His shirt has a stiff, unyielding front of the firmness of a priest's breastplate. This must be donned with dexterity and worn with care lest it break or bend. His waistcoat is made of heavy woolen cloth, and in summer he wears one of heavier, thicker and warmer duck or cheviot. This warmth and thickness, however, are only in front, where nature has already protected the lungs and heart. At his back, where protection is required against draft or chill, the waistcoat is of thin muslin.

His coat is built similarly, the fronts being re-enforced with lapels of many linings.

About his waist he buckles a belt so tightly as to interfere with breathing and circulation, yet can rarely get it tight enough to achieve its own purpose.

For this reason he must wear suspenders, which are probably the most uncomfortable garment known.

He carries a stick which has no pretense to use or beauty.

He has dozens of pockets into which he never puts anything.

He has buttons which button nothing and buttonholes which are not to be used.

He has strange jewelry of clumsy intent. Great buttons of uncouth shape must be thrust through stiffly starched layers of linen. Collar buttons must be lost and hunted for.

He has rings on his fingers, pins in his scarf, chains across his breast, fobs dangling from his pockets and studs in his shirts.

He is not what he was created, but is what he has created.

Is the man a savage?

No; he is the lord of creation!—Life.

MILLET'S POVERTY.

Incident in the Life of the Great French Painter.

It seems almost incredible that Millet, painter of "The Angelus" and other now world famous pictures, should have suffered from the poverty that forms the basis of the following story, but it is a fact that he did: One day, indeed, he found himself without food in the house for himself and his family. In his extremity Diaz offered to take two of Millet's drawings to Paris and make an effort to sell them. Evening came, the Millet family anxiously awaiting their friend's return. If he came back without the drawings it meant bread; with them, hungry to bed. Night fell, the family sitting in darkness because they felt they could not afford a light.

At last they heard the stamping of Diaz's wooden leg as he crossed the little paved court and his lusty voice calling out: "Light! Light! Where is the light?" The family hurried to light a candle. But even while the head of the old fashioned sulphur match still was spluttering Diaz, who was a Spaniard and nothing if not temperamental, slapped down two loaves of bread on the table, one after another, in quick succession. When at last the candle was burning he drew out 60 francs in gold, all save one piece, which he had been obliged to change in buying the bread. He arranged the gold pieces in a circle like a halo around the candle, ending with the change, of which he made a neat pile.

"Ah," sighed Millet as he regarded the unhoped for treasure, "if only I could count on a sum like this every week!"

"Would you turn capitalist?" reproachfully asked Diaz.

If to suffer is a spur to genius, is it a wonder that these Barbizon men were great painters?

Getting Even.

At the savings bank it is requisite to obtain the signature of new depositors to an identification form. Recently a lady with more independence of spirit than experience exhibited unwillingness to comply with the regulation.

"What is your husband's name?" asked the clerk.

"My husband's name is Peter Jones. What is your wife's name?" snapped the fair depositor.—London Scraps.

Unappreciated.

"I've worked for the party faithfully for the last twenty years," began the office seeker, "and I can say with truth that I never once asked for an office"—

"Great record," put in the party leader. "I wouldn't think of urging you to break it. Keep it up."

Memory.

Tommy—Pop, what is memory?

Tommy's Pop—Memory, my son, is something that enables us to forget the money we borrow and remember the money we lend.

Don't preach too much; do a kindness when you can.—Stead.

The Tartar, the British torpedo boat destroyer, made a record run yesterday travelling at the rate of 44 miles an hour.

By candle light, or morning bright,
Seal Brand Coffee brings delight.
Its fragrant steam, a golden dream,
With gastronomic pleasures teem.
Its flavor too, will just suit you,
So buy it, try it, drink it, do.

Chase & Sanborn's "Seal Brand" Coffee.

87

PORTER'S Delicatessen

TONS OF POULTRY

INCLUDING

1500 lbs. : : Geese
2000 lbs. : : Turkey
1000 lbs. : : : Chicken

All less than Market Price

WATCH OUR GROCERY BARGAINS

Select New Raisins, 3 lbs	20c
Our own Mince Meat, 3 lbs	20c
Choice Tea or Coffee, 3 lbs	50c
Hallowe'en Dates, 3 lbs	25c
Shelled Almonds and Walnuts, per lb	35c
Apples and Potatoes, per peck	15c

410 George Street

Bank Will be Open This Evening

For the convenience of its customers, the local branch of the Bank of Ottawa will be open this evening, from 9 to 10 o'clock.

By all means reserve New Years Night for the concert at the Y.M.C.A. Two hours of solid enjoyment. Tickets 15c or 2 for 25c. 2d

THE SENDING OF GIFTS

Little Touches That Will Add to the Pleasure of Recipient.

A good deal of the pleasures of Christmas lies in the opening of the mysterious packages that find their way to your door. If these are daintily wrapped up, the present is perhaps the more acceptable. The proper way to send a pretty gift is to secure some white wrapping paper, enclose your card, one of those Christmas greetings and a spray of holly embossed on it; seal the first wrapper with one of the holly seals — there are four patterns — and then wrap in a stronger paper. On this use one of the gummed Christmas labels or a shipping tag with an embossed holly design on it. If one is sending a number of parcels to one address for different members of a family, there are miniature shipping tags, prettily decorated with holly, only costing five cents a dozen, which will be nice to use. There are more elaborate tags, round in shape with a wreath of holly, and enough bright red ribbon attached to tie a bow on the parcel.

The use of all these gives a distinctive touch to the gift, and will be sure to repay the extra trouble taken. This holly seals, labels, cards, and tags, are all on sale at the Review office. Call and get a variety of them before you send out your gifts.—dtf.

THE HANSOMEST FLOWER IS NOT THE SWEETEST

Neither is the best looking tea always the sweetest drinking. Teas are not infrequently made up that are forced to look pretty, to please the eye; but an undue amount of labor expended upon tea leaves to make them look well injures the drinking qualities.

Our first consideration when purchasing teas is drinking quality, for we full realize that to win and hold trade our teas must please our customers' sense of taste, however well they may look to the eye.

Our stock comprises the teas of all tea growing countries, but we especially recommend our blend at three pounds for one dollar. J. JOHN, Tea Specialist, Grand opera house block, Peterborough.

Xmas Drawing Near

You have only a few days to consider where to place your order for Brandies, Scotch, Irish and all kinds of Wines, Ales, etc.

Don't hesitate a moment but come direct to Mitchell's, 141 Hunter St., where you will get nothing but pure whiskey, (not Otonabee water.) Don't forget to ask for Mitchell's Special Rye Whiskey, the only reliable draught goods sold.

Sweet Cider for sale.

Leave your order early.

F. J. R. MITCHELL

141 Hunter St. - Phone [illegible]

It's confidence that does it

YOU HAVE NO TIME TO WASTE

In selecting your Christmas groceries fruit and other garnishes for the Christmas table, we have the goods you want at the prices you wish to pay. Among the requisities for the table, are—

ROYAL FRUIT, the nicest, cleanest and plumpest Raisins and Currants for holiday baking.

PEELS, New Season's Orange, Lemon and Citron Peels.

MINCE MEAT, a trial order will bring you back for more.

JAMS, Jellies, Marmalades, now is the time to order.

FANCY GROCERIES, perfect in quality, perfectly kept and moderately priced.

CANDY, don't be without Candy. Xmas wouldn't be Xmas Day without Candy. We have bushels of it and Nuts.

WHITE & GILLESPIE

GET YOUR HOLIDAY PHOTOS

—AT—

LENDRUM'S

They are the best and most up-to-date
170 Charlotte Street

MADE LIKE NEW

Chenille and Tapestry Curtains and Table Covers Cleaned and Dyed Like New

For genuine satisfaction and saving the purchase of new curtains, bring your old ones to us or telephone us and we will call for them.

Sponging and pressing made a special part of our business.

PARKER'S DYE WORKS

R. M. BEACH,
Phone 250 Proprietor

LADIES, CUT THIS OUT

Dr. Cristion's

FRENCH TOILET ARTICLES

Have been placed on sale with

Miss E. Smith

567 GEORGE STREET

MANICURING, SHAMPOOING
SCALP TREATMENT and FACIAL
MASSAGE SKILFULLY DONE

Appointments made. Mach. Phone 13

Second Hand Stove Bargains

—AT—

BARRETT'S

Why pay $30 for a Heater or $40 for a Range when you can buy either for $5 to $15 at Barrett's Second Hand Store. 187 Simcoe St. next Cavanagh's

ESTABLISHED 1879

J. R. HEINTZ & CO.

STOCKS, GRAIN,
COTTON, COFFEE

J. N. BARBER, Manager
Phone 500

OLD FOLKS

[illegible]

Let "NATURE'S REMEDY" Be Your Doctor.

[illegible]

Better Than Pills For Liver Ills

GET A 25¢. BOX.

Nature's Remedy

McDERMID & JURY, Druggists, Peterborough, Ont.

OPEN EVENINGS
FROM NOW UNTIL AFTER CHRISTMAS

with a complete stock of new and up-to-date holiday suggestions. Remember we have the greatest variety of Gift Books to be found in Peterboro', as well as Fine China and Cut Glass, Pictures, High-Grade Leather Goods, Stationery, Bibles, Hymn Books, Cards Calendars, etc., to which we invite your inspection. Be sure and get our prices before purchasing. You will be convinced that they are Rock Bottom.

R. J. SODEN
369 George Street

THE BANK'S SKATE STORE

Stock The
LUNN'S
AUTOMOBILE
CYCLE
ENGEL'S
STARR
REGAL
MIC MAC
SKATES

Come to us for your Skates and Skate Supplies

Banks Bicycle and Sporting Goods Co.
Under the Market Clock

Some Vagaries in Mail Delivery

Local Clergyman Gets Letters After Long Long Wait—Peculiarities of Post Office

Of the vagaries of the post office system there is no keeping tab.

A couple of instances are as amusing in a way as they are annoying.

On Dec. 2nd last Mr. R. M. Waddell, secretary of the Peterborough Curling Club, dropped a letter in the Peterborough post office plainly addressed to Rev. J. R. Webb, city."

Now the letter found its way into Mr. Webb's box this morning—just nineteen days after being mailed. Mr [illegible] away from where the missive was deposited, yet it took nearly three weeks to cover this distance. On the envelope were such marks as "Party not known here," "Return to writer," "General Delivery," etc.

Another instance on Oct. 8th a letter was mailed from Toronto to Rev. Mr. Webb. It was postmarked "Peterborough, Oct. 8th, 1907" and on Nov. 15th was left at Mr. Webb's residence, 344 Rubidge street.

This is a swift age, so it is said, but some deliveries of letters are painfully slow.

FOR XMAS WORK OR BAZAARS

Pictures in Sepia or Colors, from 3c to 12c

Mounting Papers and Card, in White, Browns and Gray.

Leather in all shades—Brown, Tan, Green and Red.

Calendar Pads, all sizes, from 2c to 10c each.

Passepartout in all shades.

AT REVIEW STATIONERY DEPT.

Some Advice to Christmas Shoppers

Gen. Madison C. Peters of New York, gives the following good advice to Christmas shoppers:

Above all things be patient, be courteous, be considerate of the feelings of others.

Remember that the clerks and sales girls are not altogether human automatons, they have feelings to resent insult as well as yourself, therefore, respect those feelings.

You get tired waiting, but just think how tired the clerk must be behind the counter waiting all day. She was there before you came and must remain until after you leave.

You are impatient, but please remember there are others to be served who are entitled to as much or more consideration than you.

Don't stand in the same place handling goods for half an hour; others want to see them as well as you and they may buy while you won't.

Know what you really want before you go into the store.

If you expect courtesy, give it. The girl you address may have heard nothing but irritating voices all day and such do not sweeten the temper.

Of course, employees should endeavor to fulfil their duties.

They may not like their situations, but as long as they hold them they should be true to the interests of their employers.

Patience and cheerfulness sell twice as much and twice as easily as abruptness and ill temper.

Don't let the bargain hunter tax your temper; she may not be mean; she may only have a slender purse and must make her money go as far as she can. Perhaps she is trying to buy as much happiness for others as her limited means will allow.

Show the Christmas spirit in yourself, though you are behind the counter, and the shopper will catch the infection [illegible] with you. Give kind words and you will get kind words in return.

Christmas shopping is not calculated to promote sweetness of spirit. The stores are usually crowded; there is much of rude jostling, and there are always selfish and inconsiderate people who insist on being served out of their turn. The best way to keep in good humor is to do your shopping in the early morning, after having first made up your mind just what you want to buy. To enter a crowded store with no definite idea of what you are after is simply to increase confusion and to make yourself more or less a nuisance.

FOR XMAS GREETING

Order your cards now and secure the best as the prettiest are always sold out first. Many different styles printed with your own Greeting and name, at [illegible] make your selection at the Review Office.

The Hamilton Times says: The Peterborough Ministerial Association is again in revolt against Sunday funerals. Why not have a [illegible] or [illegible] clerk to do the business?

What the Board of Works Has Done During Past Year

City Engineer Hay Has Prepared Interesting Report

Miles of Sewers And Sidewalks

The Money That Has Been Spent and How it Has Been Expended

Total amount sewer now in use—22.66 miles.

Total amount concrete walks, including crossings—34-7-10 miles.

Total amount concrete walks laid during 1907—8.11 miles.

No barrels of cement used during 1907—4827 1-4.

Above are a few interesting items gleaned from the report of City Engineer Hay covering the work of the department for 1907. The report is now at the City Clerk's office, having been handed in a few days ago. In past years the report was not made out, or completed at least, until well on in the new year, this year Mayor McWilliams considered that it would be much better to have a report of the work done by the Board of Works prepared before the municipal elections in order that the ratepayers might know how their representatives were serving them. The change has many things to commend it and will no doubt meet with the approval of the ratepayers.

The original appropriation for the Board of Works was $17,600 and the amount expended is $18,264.85, making an overdraft of slightly over 694.85.

Below a summary of the report that will make interesting reading for the ratepayers.

Original appropriation $17,600.

EXPENDITURE.

General repairs to streets, $7,333.50.
Cleaning streets, $965.51.
Repairs extension wooden walks, $584.18.
Repairs to bridges, $357.90.
Repairs to culverts, $969.34.
Removal snow, $317.25.
Cutting weeds, $73.50.
Stone purchased, delivered, $2,988.-
Purchase of gravel, $1,070.05.
Road machinery, etc., $641.64.
Sewer maintenance, $10.
Special Works, $415.77.
Salaries, $7,950.95.
Office supplies, $46.05.
Fire dept., use of team, $100.

SEWERS.

Contract carried from 1906, 777 1-2 feet, and 19 connections, $1,192.07.

City, 9 inch pipe, 211 connections, $12,142.84.

City 12 inch pipe, 90 connections, $4,929.94.

Total $18,264.85.

THE ROMAINE-ST. SEWER.

The Romaine-Aylmer streets sewer constructed 1906, having become obstructed by sand, it was found necessary to construct two additional manholes to facilitate the removal of sand and the three upper sections where the greatest trouble occurred, were cleared. This was necessarily a very slow operation and entailed an expenditure of $240. On Nov. 1907, the Aylmer street section from Romaine street to the connection at the King Edward school was found to be obstructed and ordered to be opened up. Here several pipes were found to be pulled apart during construction. The work of relaying was carried out under the supervision of the Street Commissioner, at a cost of $269.89. Total expenditure of after construction amounting to $509.89.

Total length of sewer now in use:
Brick sewer, 8150 feet.
18 inch pipe sewer, 1370 feet.
15 inch pipe sewer, 12,484 feet.
12 inch pipe sewer, 42,498 feet.
10 inch pipe sewer, 589 feet.
9 inch pipe sewer, 50,080 feet.
8 inch pipe sewer, 3,549 feet.
Total 119,821 feet, or 22.66 miles.

79 private connections with the sewer system were made in addition to 329 included in contracts, making a total of 408 during 1907.

The engineer remarks, "This I believe is the first occasion on which all the work on sewer construction laid out for the season, has been entirely completed.

CONCRETE WALKS.

8.11 miles of concrete walks and crossings were constructed during 1907 by the Street Commissioner, of which the following is a summary:—

Walks inside tree line, 20,741.71 lin. feet.

Walks outside tree line, 12,177.08 lin. feet.

[illegible] 9,921.48 lineal feet.

Crossings laid by special gang, 5975.-33 lineal feet.

Total 42,815.80 lineal feet.

Cost of inside work 11c per square foot.

Cost of outside work, 12 7-10c per square foot.

Cost of crossing, 15 cents per square foot.

Cost of crossings, special 19 3-10c per square foot.

The report follows with a list of concrete sidewalks and crossings built during the year, showing that the number of the latter was 846, the average price being $38.81.

The gravel, sand and stone used in concrete walks cost for loading and hauling an average of 79c per cubic yard, of which the following was the quantity:

From the Hilliard pit, 4,567 cubic yards.

Obtained elsewhere, 1,280 cubic yds.

Total [illegible] cubic yards.

The cement used was Monarch brand made by the Lakefield Cement Works, and supplied by the Peterborough Hardware Co. The quantity used in concrete walks was 4,827 1-4 barrels of cement at a cost of $[illegible].

Total length of concrete walks now in use including crossings:—
4 ft., 23,076.67.
5 ft., 132,691.[illegible].
6 ft., 22,732.42.
8 ft., 8,201.23.
10 ft., 11,690.42.
Total 183,183.80 feet.

The above total is equal to 34 7-10 miles.

There yet remains to be renewed in permanent material 18 miles of wooden walks.

Wooden walks have been extended on the following streets:—

Hunter street east, 600 ft.; George street south, 370 ft.; Romaine street, 350 ft.; Gladstone ave., 375 ft.; Jackson ave., 190 ft.; Barnardo ave., 350 ft.; Ware street, 300 ft.; Hazlitt street, 50 ft.; Victoria ave., 50 ft.; Park st 200 ft.; William street, 750 ft.; Driscoll street, 500 ft.

Total—4,465 feet.

The following walks were authorized but not constructed during 1907, being in part carried over from 1906, together with those recently petitioned for:—

Bubb's Lane, west side, 450 feet.
Boswood street, north side, 1,000 feet.
Charlotte street, north side, 220 ft.
Donegal street, west side, 820 feet.
Harvey street, 2 sections, east side, 693 feet.
Inverlea street, north and south, 600 feet.
Lansdowne street, north side, 1800
London street, north side, 1050 feet.
Perry street, north side, 800 feet.
Rubidge street, west side, 900 feet.
St. Joseph street, west side, 420 ft.
Sherbrooke street, south side, 450 ft.
Water street, west side, 2,500 feet.
Water street, west side, 300 feet.
Total 12,063 feet, or 2.28 miles.

The arrears of authorized walks carried over from 1906, were reduced by 2 miles.

BRIDGES.

The bridges over the creek on Reid and Dalhousie streets were redecked with re-inforced cement at the following cost:—

Reid street bridge, $779.60.

Dalhousie street bridge, $598.30.

Charlotte street bridge over the creek, was entirely rebuilt in steel and concrete at a cost of $3,485.34, making a total cost for these three bridges of $4863.25.

The bridges over creek on King-st. and on Aylmer-st., were sufficiently repaired to maintain traffic until next season.

Smith-st. bridge over the Otonabee river, was repaired during the winter of 1906-07, at a cost of $280. The bridge will require heavy repairs again next year unless it is decided to entirely rebuild it.

The Locks bridge and other bridges maintained jointly by the city and county received attention by the county road commissioner, the city's share of cost being $158.14.

The bridge over the old raceway on Hunter street east, was done away with and filled in, and the steel work was received and stored in yard. The cost of the pipe for the passage of the water was $113.50, and for filling in $396.00.

The other small bridges in Ward 5 have been repaired as found necessary.

The cost of the diversion of the creek in Ward 5, was $4,318.70, which includes cost of assessment and purchase of land in 1906. The original estimate for the work without cost of land, was $4,000.

NEW STREETS.

The following new streets were opened for traffic, the estimated cost of which, to date, including purchase of land, removal of houses, etc., was as follows:—

Barnardo ave., George to Water, $1,041.87.

George-st. north, to Hilliard, $926,-28.

George-st., Lake to Lansdowne, $2,-828.57.

Aylmer-st., Lake to Lansdowne, $11,-123.53.

George-st., Lake to Lansdowne, $11,-122.53.

Hunter-st., east, Concession to Lift Lock, $2,920.40.

Total $18,559.09.

The dredging of the new channel in river, both below and above Hunter-st., was resumed in June, and a new contract was entered with D. Mahony, for hauling and depositing the material at 8 1-2c per cubic yard, subsequently increased to 11 1-2c, as compared with 13c, the price of work done in 1906.

It is estimated that 13,800 yards have been deposited during the season, on which the contractor has been paid $1,246.12 and a draw-back of 20 per cent. has been retained until completion. In addition to the work done by Mr. Mahony, 11,105 cubic yards of gravel were placed by Mr. Rehill at a cost of $142.65. It is expected that this work will be continued during the winter.

HOUSE NUMBERING.

The contract for renumbering houses was awarded to Mr. W. J. Koster, the lowest tenderer, at 3c each, the city supplying aluminum numbers at a cost of 4c, for each figure.

All streets in that part of the city lying west of Park street, were renumbered with a new series, commencing at 150 at Park street, and ending with 600 at Monaghan Road. The district south of Lake street, and east of Park, and the following short streets in the central part were also renumbered as well as new [illegible]: Louis-st., Queen-st., Chambers-st., Sheridan-st., College-st., Dickson-st., Harvey-st., Waterford-st., Division-st., Union-st. [illegible]

THE NOVEL-TIE CO., MAKE FINE GOODS

The time to hustle for business is all the time; and Messrs. H. LeBrun & Co. did a good stroke of business when they placed a special order recently with the Novel-Ti Company, of this city, for the manufacture, of a beautiful line of neck-wear. The silks which were personally selected by Messrs. H. LeBrun & Co., were chosen especially for their own holiday trade. They consist of a beautiful lot of fancy and figured silk designs in various color combinations in two and three toned effects, made into the various fashionable shapes of neck-wear—ties, four-in-hands, scarfs, etc. These have been on display in the City Clothing Store for weeks, have been favorite sellers, and are much admired by gentlemen of good taste. Mr LeBrun states that they fully equal imported neckwear, and reflect credit on the skill and taste of our own local neckwear manufacturers—the Novel-Ti Company, of Water street.

"Fashion-Craft"

Dress Suits

If you knew positively that you could get a better fitting—better made—better quality dress suit at a Fashion-Craft store than at your tailors, at an economy of from $10 to $20, would you not buy it?

Just because you may not have figured out why this is so, is no reason that you should not know for your own guidance that it is so!

It requires no logic to convince you—Fashion-Craft dress suits await your examination.

In all business matters you use business judgment—and why not in the choice of a Dress Suit.

Dress Suits $30, $35, $40

And you get what you want, when you want it.

Laidlaw & Oles

Props., Peterborough

Mirth of a Murderer.

With the help of a little tool, not unlike a tin opener, our burglar cut two long slits—one perpendicular, the other horizontal—in the iron shop shutter. Then he wrenched the flap toward him, bending it with his powerful hands as one twists open the lid of a sardine tin. Another minute and he was inside.

Quietly and methodically he thrust precious stones and rings into his little bag, choosing those which besides being small were of great value. The bag was all but full when the jeweler himself appeared at the back of the shop. He carried a candle in one hand and a revolver in the other.

The burglar bowed very politely and said:

"I did not care to pass by an old friend's house without stopping to bid him good day."

The unsuspecting jeweler allowed himself to be shaken by the hand, when, with a sudden thrust, the burglar stabbed him to the heart.

The bag was rapidly filled to almost bursting point, and before leaving the premises the burglar wrote a few words on a sheet of paper, which he pasted on the outside of the shop:

"Closed on account of death in the family."—London Scraps.

Old Age Is Selfish.

A lady residing in a quiet village in Suffolk used to take an interest in a very aged couple who were spinning out the last thread of life in "Darby and Joan" fashion, seated on either side of their fireplace. She often paid them a visit to cheer them up. The old man had been ailing, and at last a day came when the visitor found only one chair occupied. Darby was not in his usual place.

"Where is your husband?"

"Well, mum, he be gone at last."

"Oh, I'm so sorry! That is very sad for you," said the lady, seeking to find words of consolation.

"Yes, mum, it be sad," replied the old woman, "but, then, you see, he were fearfully in the way of the oven."—Pearson's Weekly.

Life of Leisure.

There are still a few who are leisurely in their hours of freedom, but what about the old life of leisure? It used to be thought that such a life was innocent and admirable and that good fruit might come of it. But nowadays the man who does nothing but meditate and observe and write a little is a man condemned by the ordinary opinion of society.—London Reader.

Rebuked.

Young College Woman (interested in politics)—The office should seek the man. Grandma (rather deaf)—I know that's what girls think nowadays, but in my time it was considered very unladylike.—Puck.

It is indeed a desirable thing to be well descended, but the glory belongs to our ancestors.—Plutarch.

Ladies' Hand Bags and Purses

Just the thing for Useful and Beautiful Gift now on display at the store that gives the largest choice, the best leathers and closest prices.

Ladies' and Gentlemen's TRAVELLING SATCHELS and TRUNKS of all kinds, in the largest selection in the city.

B. SHORTLY SIGN OF THE BIG HORSE AT THE DOOR
TELEPHONE No. 219

THE TURF

Gradicator, the black stallion owned by a syndicate of local gentlemen, has been sold by one of them, Mr. A. Rountree, to Mr. David Flynn, the former [illegible] of the American House. Gradicator was imported by the late Rev. Father O'Gorman, who drove him half a mile over the New York speedway in 1.07 1-2, and has driven him over the Gananoque track in 2.20 flat. He is a fine, sound horse, with splendid action, and is an horse, with splendid [illegible] and is an [illegible] him both as a [illegible] driver, and for stud purposes.

When washing greasy dishes a [illegible] pans, Lever's Dry Soap (a powder) will remove the grease with the greatest ease.

TORONTO SAVINGS AND LOAN COMPANY

NOTICE is hereby given that a Quarterly Dividend for the three months ending Dec. 31st, 1907, at the rate of SIX PER CENT. (6%) PER ANNUM, has been declared upon the Capital Stock of this Institution, and that the same will be payable at the offices of the Company, No. 437 George Street, Peterborough, city on and after

THURSDAY, 2nd Day of January, 1908.

The Transfer Books will be closed from the 17th to the 31st of December, 1907, both days inclusive.

By order of the Board,

W. G. MORROW,
Managing Director

Peterborough, December 13th, 1907.

MONEY IN YOUR POCKET

Give your family a Xmas Present—a snug little home for your own. We have some at valuation that would agreeably surprise you and be money in your pocket.

$900 and $1200—Brick house, six or eight roomed; two story.

$[illegible]—New brick, well finished inside, near Can. Gen. Electric Co.

$[illegible]—Fine new brick, two storys, large lot, south city.

$[illegible]—Brick, central location, modern, electric light, city water, bath, sewer connection, also large house.

$2850—Artistic brick house, large garden, well planted with fruit [illegible] all modern conveniences and a nice sunny location.

[illegible] with bath, [illegible] and warm, [illegible] and all conveniences.

Some good [illegible] to rent cheap.

Some good farms throughout the district [illegible] Farm lands in the Great West and on the Pacific Coast. City lots in Vancouver. Double your money in a year. See us for particulars.

BELL & TAYLOR
Real Estate. Fire Insurance
Office—376 Water Street.
Office Phone—498B House Phone [illegible]7 B

THE DOMINION BANK
PAYS SPECIAL ATTENTION TO
SAVINGS ACCOUNTS
INTEREST PAID QUARTERLY

JOHN CRANE Manager

Corner George and Simcoe Sts.

Local Option Has Hurt Owen Sound

the Matthew Kennedy, Mayor of Owen Sound and one of its chief business men, publicly asserted on Nov. 27 last that "Local Option has injured local trade, has not lessened drunkenness, and has lowered the moral well-being of very many."

Yet the believers in Local Option hold up Owen Sound as an example of their belief's operation. If Local Option has hurt Owen Sound, why is it likely to benefit YOUR town.

200

Messrs. Tucker & Patterson, Barristers, of Owen Sound—that "model temperance town"—certify to the fact that its citizens "have been less prosperous because of hampered trade under Local Option, and less able to pay their debts."

In 1905, before Local Option began there, 584 debt suits were entered for trial in the Division Court. In eleven months of this year, under Local Option, 778 suits have been entered there arising from debt.

No business man would vote for Local Option if he forsaw how it really works.

Local Option Causes Failures

200

A HUGE BARGAIN
—AT—
CUBITT'S BOOK AND FANCY GOODS STORE
—ON—
SATURDAY, DECEMBER 21st
—IN A—
HANDSOME PAPETERIE
—FOR—
19c

"CUBITT SELLS CHEAP"

End of York Loan Company Liquidation Now in Sight

Claims Amounting to $923,000 Will be Decided by January 3—Argument on Various Classes Begins Before End of Year.

It is expected that the distribution of the assets of the York County Loan and Savings Company ought to be begun early in the spring of 1908, says a Toronto despatch. Referee Mr. George Kappele intends to settle the various claims just as soon as possible, and hopes to have complete his work by the end of January, 1908. As it is, the claims of three amounting to $935,000, are expected to be settled by the third of January. Class B claimants, including the holders of "advance shares," whose claims total $102,000, will be argued on the 30th of this month. Mr. W. E. Smythe will appear for the claimants, Mr. C. D. Scott for the liquidator, and Mr. W. M. Douglas, K.C., for the general body of shareholders. On the day following argument on Class C, certificate holders, amounting to $323,000 will be taken up. Mr. A. W. Briggs appearing for the claimants. These certificates were those bearing endorsation to the effect that the holders would have priority of claim on the company's assets. January 3rd will be occupied in hearing argument on the Nova Scotia claims. These are made up by amounts paid in by 50,000 people, some in other provinces than Nova Scotia, and totalling $500,000. Mr. C. A. Masten appears for these claimants. Mr. Thomas Mulvey of the Attorney-General's Department will be present as Crown representative. It is expected none of the arguments will extend over the one day.

It is More Blessed to Give Than to Receive

How Christmas Will be Spent at the Various Public Institutions in the City—The Children of the Poor Will be Well Provided for—Christmas Trees and Dinners.

At this glad Christmas season it is pleasing to know that the many poor families in this city are not to be forgotten, and no one, knowingly, will have to go without some Christmas cheer. Being a season of great rejoicing, happiness seems to prevail everywhere, and the greatest joy to all seems to be the joy of giving. "It is more blessed to give than to receive" is the festive that prompts people to remember their friends with some tangible expression of their love and esteem. Particularly should the poor, the sad and unfortunate ones be remembered with some substantial gift at the Yuletide season. [illegible] birth we [illegible] on this happy occasion, found his greatest pleasure in helping and giving for others. The same spirit that Christ gave throughout His early life, governs every Christian at the present time, and it is the ambition of everyone to gladden the hearts of someone by the giving of some little gift.

That good cheer and genuine happiness will prevail in all the charitable institutions, and throughout the city generally is assured. The public institutions are making preparations to give their inmates a pleasant day, while the Children's Aid Society, hundreds of private citizens and benevolent societies are looking after their own particular branches of the great work.

On inquiry at the different places, the Review found them all busily engaged in preparations for the great event Wednesday.

The donations to charity have been much larger than ever before. In this is manifested the spirit of love and kindness that permeates the citizens.

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY.

Mr. George Cochrane will, as usual, deliver a large number of baskets to deserving families. Donations are already being sent for distribution and much good cheer will be brought to many who otherwise would be left without. There is only one child in the shelter at the present time, but Mr. Henry, the efficient caretaker, says they will have the usual Christmas tree on Christmas night, and a happy time is expected. The home will also be decorated, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry have left nothing undone to make the event a success.

BARNARDO HOME.

This Christmas will be a joyful one at Hazel Brae. It is expected that between 30 and 40 girls will be present to participate in the Christmas festivities. The building has been artistically decorated, and on Christmas day the usual sumptuous dinner will be served, and from a large and heavily laden Christmas tree, presents will be distributed to each one. The public have this year been very kind to Hazel Brae, for which kindness Miss Pearce, the superintendent, and the girls are exceedingly grateful.

SALVATION ARMY.

Probably no other religious body in the community is doing a grander work in reaching a certain class of people than the Salvation Army. League of mercy, of which Sgt.-Major Lloyd is in charge, is doing a noble work. They will distribute good cheer to the inmates of the county gaol. Many good things are being prepared for those incarcerated in the big stone building on the hill, and the prisoners will not be forgotten.

On Wednesday night, in addition to the Christmas tree there will be a "Christmas Ship." It is now being built, and will be the vehicle through which Santa Claus will dispense Christmas gifts to cheer the heart. The masts and rigging of the ship will be strung with with gifts and Santa Claus will distribute them. A good programme is being arranged and a most successful event is promised.

PROTESTANT HOME.

The old folk, who make the Protestant Home their abode will be made happy on Christmas. The Home is being prettily decorated, and many good, kind citizens have remembered the inmates and sent luxuries to them. There are sixteen in the home at the present time. On Tuesday evening at five o'clock, the presents from the Christmas tree will be given to each one. Mrs. Hughes-Charles is also arranging for the singing of Christmas carols at this institution. On Wednesday the usual Christmas dinner will be partaken of.

HOUSE OF PROVIDENCE.

At the House of Providence special preparations are being made to celebrate Christmas Day. Special services will be held morning and evening on Christmas Day.

The halls and rooms have been tastefully decorated, and in the evening there will be the usual Christmas tree for the children.

AT THE HOSPITALS.

Both at Nicholls and St. Joseph's hospitals, extensive decorations are being carried out, and all through the buildings, suggestions of the Yuletide season are in evidence. Everything possible will be done to cheer the sick and suffering, and by the kindness of the nurses in charge the bed of pain will be converted into one of joy and sunshine.

PETERBOROUGH RAG AND METAL COMPANY

Prepared to pay the highest market price [illegible] for Scrap Iron, Rags, Rubbers, Wool Pickings, etc. Done [illegible] Call up Phone 694

[illegible]

D. FLORENCE & SON

Special Services at the Barracks

Col. and Mrs. Sowton Will Arrive To-day—Gifts to the Poor

Col. Sowton and wife, of Toronto, will pay a visit to the local detachment of the Salvation Army this evening and on Sunday. The Colonel is the chief secretary of the Army for Canada, and this is his first visit to Peterborough. He will be accorded a warm welcome. On the arrival of the C.P.R. local tonight Col. and Mrs. Sowton will be met at the station by the band and the local members of the corps. At the barracks a rousing reception will be tendered them. The visitors will conduct special services tomorrow at 11 a.m., 3 p.m. and 7 p.m.

GIFTS TO POOR.

The Salvation Army is sending out gifts of clothing, provisions, etc., to the poor of the city. Any citizens who may wish to make contributions will kindly leave word at the barracks. The donations will be called for and forwarded to those in need.

AMUSEMENTS

HENRY LUDLOWE IN RICHARD III

After months of rehearsals, Mr. Henry Ludlowe will be seen in Shakespeare's "Richard III," and "The Merchant of Venice," at the Grand Opera House, Tuesday and Friday, Dec. 26 and 27. He is a capable actor, having been trained in the practical schools of Booth, Barrett, McCullough and Keene companies. He is of robust physique, possesses a remarkable, powerful, well modulated voice and excels in his reading, his annunciation and his use of gestures and physical expression. Mr. Ludlowe will be surrounded by a carefully selected cast of well known Shakespearian players, selected only for their former able support of Mr. Richard Mansfield and other famous tragedians. For his production of "Richard III" Mr. Ludlowe has acquired the splendid scenery, properties and accessories which made the fame of Mr. Mansfield's sumptuous production [illegible] the most historically correct Shakespearian play ever presented to the American public.

Mr. Ludlowe's motto is "The highest standard obtainable," and to that end all his energy, and that of his large company will aim.

Will Speak on Western Missions

Rev. Walter Daniels Will be at Baptists Churches To-morrow

Rev. Walter Daniels, who is travelling secretary for Baptist missions, in Manitoba and the Northwest, is in the city. He will speak at Murray Street Baptist church tomorrow morning, and at Park Street church in the evening.

The special Christmas service at Murray Street church will be held to-morrow evening. Rev. J. R. Webb the pastor, will preach an appropriate sermon, and the music will be of an attractive character.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY Take LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine Tablets. Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c.

Men's Meeting on Sunday Afternoon

Miss Davies and the "Y" Quartette Will Sing—Mr. Pogue to Speak

The Rev. Robert Pogue, pastor of St. Paul's Presbyterian church will speak at the Y.M.C.A. Sunday afternoon at 4 p.m. Miss Davies, soloist at St. Paul's church, will render a solo, and the "Y" quartette will sing a special number.

The Ladies' Auxiliary met last night in the parlor of the Y.M.C.A. and completed plans for their part in the New Year's Day reception. A large attendance is anticipated, and preparations are being made for such.

The Saturday evening Bible Club, with Mr. J. C. Shook, leader, meet tonight as usual at 8 p.m.

Y.M.C.A. Work in Fort William

The Fort William Times-Journal, of Dec. 18th, contains an excellent write-up of the Y.M.C.A. of that town, its aims and objects. A splendid cut of Mr. G. H. Williamson, general secretary of the Association, is shown. Mr. Williamson was for ten years secretary of the Peterborough Y.M.C.A.

You have heard the Sailor Boys' plea, buy to-day for your dinner to-morrow "Sailor Boy" Canned Goods, Tomatoes Corn, Peas and Salmon. Your money does not buy better Goods. Do you get "Sailor Boy" or substitute?

Marathon Lodge Elects Officers

Knights of Pythias Met Last Night—Is in Flourishing Condition

Marathon Lodge, No. 39, Knights of Pythias elected officers at a meeting held in the Sons of England hall last night. There was a large attendance of the members, and much interest was manifested in the business. The election resulted as follows:

C.C.—Dr. J. E. Middleton
V.C.—V. Hamilton.
Prelate—Dr. Neale.
M.W.—C. M. Blewett.
M.A.—F. B. Patterson.
K.R.S.—T. Savigny
M.E.—W. Comstock.
M.F.—W. McMillan.
I.G.—H. Foy.
O.G.—H. Latimer.

Representative to Grand Lodge — C. M. Blewett.

The Grand Lodge meets at Hamilton next July.

The above officers will be installed at the January meeting.

Some degree work was put on last night, and done very efficiently.

Marathon lodge is in flourishing condition, and will have a big batch of candidates for initiation at the next meeting.

Young Man is Accused of Theft

Charged With Stealing Money and Stock Certificates From Big Dipper Mining Co.

Stanley Gorman, whose home is on Burbidge street, appeared in police court this morning, and faced a serious charge. On July 21st last it is alleged that he stole a cash box containing forty-five dollars in money, and certificates of shares in the Big Dipper Mining Co. valued at $1,000, the property of David McAllister. Mr. G. N. Gordon defended the accused, who did not plead or elect. Chief Rassel was not ready to go on with the case, so Gorman was remanded until Friday next. Bail was granted at $400, of two sureties of $200 each. These were procured later in the day, and the young man was allowed his freedom.

It appears that the alleged theft took place on the steamer Monarch last summer. The defendant claims that two other boys are implicated in the affair, and to clear themselves have thrown the blame on him. The information has been standing against him for some time, but the prisoner having been away in Ottawa for the past few months is the reason that he had not been previously arrested. Gorman is a young man of about seventeen years of age.

Canon Davidson Taught the Lesson

At the regular weekly meeting of the Sunday School Association, held in the Y.M.C.A. last night, there was a good attendance.

Rev. Canon Davidson taught the Christmas lesson from St. Matthew, 2nd chapter, verses 1 to 12.

Invitation Cards for AT Homes, Receptions and Evening Parties, partly printed for 1c each. Envelopes to match 10c package. On sale at the Review Office

ARRESTED A 2 YEAR OLD BOY.

Pittsburg, Pa.—George Shaffer, 2 years old, was arrested on a warrant and charged with trespassing. A neighbor swore that George tore up his lawn and flower beds. But the Court declined to hear the case. The little son of Mrs. John Cline of Aylmer, Ont., was only a year older than baby Shaffer when his mother noticed that he suffered with severe attacks of Biliousness. She tried everything she could think of, but the boy grew steadily worse. "I cannot praise Fruit-a-tives too highly," writes Mrs. Cline, "I have tried so many different kinds of medicine for my son. He has had bilious attacks ever since he was three years old, and since he began to take "Fruit-a-tives" he has been so well." "Fruit-a-tives" are the ideal medicine for children, as well as grown folk. They are pleasant to take and mild in action—being made of fruit juices and tonics. 50c a box. At all dealers.

DELAYED BY BLOCKADE.

Three Crowded Trains Held Up on the Main Line.

North Bay, Ont., Dec. 21.—The C. P. R. main line has been blocked since 8 o'clock Thursday night by the derailment of No. 8 express eastbound from Soo at Yellek, eight miles west of North Bay. Nos. 96 and 2, passenger trains from Winnipeg and the coast, are behind the wreck, while Nos. 1 and 97, westbound trains, and No. 7 Soo express are stalled at North Bay.

Trouble began west of Beaucage when the engine on No. 8 "died" and the train was stalled. An engine was sent from North Bay to bring No. 8 express in, and, after proceeding some distance, an axle on the disabled engine broke and the entire train was derailed, fortunately on a level piece of roadbed, and, although the train plowed along on the ties for a considerable distance before it was stopped, no one was injured, and no serious damage was done to the rolling stock.

A temporary track is being constructed around the wreck, and the C. P. R. officials hope to have the traffic moving before noon.

All eastbound trains are crowded with passengers returning from the west to spend Christmas with friends in the east.

M. P. COMMITTED.

Laurence Ginnell of British Commons Sentenced to Six Months.

Dublin, Dec. 21.—Laurence Ginnell, member of Parliament for North Westmeath, who has been prominent in the cattle driving campaign in the west of Ireland, was sentenced yesterday to six months' imprisonment for contempt of court.

Mr. Ginnell committed his offence in a recent speech in which he commented upon the cattle-driving trials.

Attempted Suicide.

St. Thomas, Dec. 21.—John Holland, who boards with Charles Brown, 46 Owaissa street, attempted suicide by taking laudanum. He had taken two swallows before the bottle was taken from him. Drs. Van Buskirk and Campbell were called and the man is now out of danger.

Holland came here from the Southern States some months ago and was employed by the M. C. R. A case of scarlet fever developed in the house and Mr. Brown and Holland was quarantined with the family. When the quarantine was released, Holland found his position had been taken by someone else and he became despondent.

N. B. Government Accused.

St. John, N. B., Dec. 21.—The New Brunswick Government has been accused of allowing the north shore lumber operators to cut under-sized trees for pulpwood assigned for shipment to the United States.

The vandalism of United States operators in the pulp lands of Canada has been one of the main factors in this country for protection of the pulp and paper industry, and the conservation of the pulpwood forests.

Schooner Sinks; Crew Escapes.

Westbrook, Conn., Dec. 21.—While beating up the sound from the eastward in an effort to reach Duck Island for shelter, a heavily-laden two-masted schooner, either struck Crane Reef or sprang a leak and sank yesterday two miles off this point. The crew was saved.

A canal boat, which shifted her cargo, reached a sheltered spot just in time to save her from going under.

Will Open Druce Grave.

London, Dec. 21.—The Home Office has consented to the opening of the grave of T. C. Druce in Highgate Cemetery and shortly after Christmas the question whether the coffin contains a body or a roll of lead should be definitely answered.

Prof. Augustus J. Pepper of the University of London will attend the exhumation on behalf of Scotland Yard.

Taft Home.

New York, Dec. 21.—Secretary of War Taft arrived here yesterday on the steamer President Grant from his journey around the world.

Whitelaw Reid, the U. S. ambassador to Great Britain, arrived here yesterday on the Mauretania.

Philippine Schools.

Manilla, Dec. 21.—The first bill passed the Filipino Assembly yesterday. The bill appropriates one million dollars for the taxation of schools throughout the provinces.

Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID IS A TABLET TAKEN INTERNALLY FOR THE CURE OF PILES

Guaranteed, or money refunded. Correspondence confidential. Booklet on Piles, with copy of Guarantee and Testimonials mailed Free on application. $1 a bottle at all dealers, or prepaid from THE WILSON-FYLE CO., Ltd., Niagara Falls, Ont.

Sold by James Lynch, Druggist, Peterborough.

ONTARIO COAL CO. LIMITED PETERBORO

We have just received a few cars of specially prepared Coal for ranges and small stoves, a little smaller than Nut and larger than No 2 Nut

Price, Per ton $6.50

If your stove has a good draught, give it a trial.

City Office: 387 Water St. Bell Phone 326
Head Office and Yards: Cor. Aylmer and Wolfe Sts. Phones, Bell 116, Mac. 326

ONTARIO COAL CO., Limited
A. J. McCLELLAN C. CURRIER G. K. RACKHAM

Chandos Council Held Meeting

Chandos Council meet at Hale's school house on Saturday, Dec. 14, 1907, members all present. Minutes of last meeting read and signed.

Coun. Jones moved, seconded by Coun. Tanner,—That the statement from treasurer's books be accepted, and that the clerk get one hundred copies printed for nomination.—Carried.

Coun. Wilson moved, seconded by Coun. Jones,—That nomination be held at Hale's school house.—Carried.

Coun. Tanner moved, seconded by Coun. Wilson,—That a by-law be passed appointing D.R.O.'s in the several sub-div. for municipal elections.—Carried.

Coun. Gooley moved, seconded by Coun. Jones,—That the county clerk be instructed to strike from his books arrears of taxes for the year 1905, from lot 14, con. 7; also from lot 9, con. 6.—Carried.

Moved by Coun. Wilson, seconded by Coun. Tanner,—That the reeve take such steps as he deems advisable to get a diamond drill from the Government for use in this township.—Carried.

Coun. Tanner moved, seconded by Coun. Wilson,—That collector's time be extended till Council meeting in February.—Carried.

Coun. Gooley moved, seconded by Coun. Jones,—That Geo. Winters get an order for $21.50, that he has laid out on side line between lots 25 and and 26, through the 9th and 10th con., also that he be allowed to work out balance of his Board of Health account on the same road.—Carried.

Coun. Jones moved, seconded by Coun. Gooley,—That the following bills bills be paid:—

Ben Cadwell, $7, putting railing on hill; Thos. Kelly, $2, repairs on bridge; Dr. Dricoll, $26.50, balance salary M. H.O.; Alex. Wood, $2, Rathbun statute labor; Jno. A. Trotter, $13, salary and allowance as treasurer; Chas. Tanner, $2, repairs on road; Willie O'Brien, $2, plank; Geo. Winters $21.50, road job; Andrew Peat, $7.50, balance salary as sanitary inspector; Ward Mindell, $25, road job; Wm. Hales, reeve, $41, sessional allowance and land sale; Robt. Tanner, coun., $20, sessional allowance and committee work; Andrew Wilson, coun., $20, sessional allowance and committee work; Peter Gooley, coun., $20, ses. allowance and committee work; Cris. Jones, coun., $20, sessional allowance and committee work; A. Andrews, coun., $35, balance salary and extras as clerk. Total $294.50.

A GOOD SERVANT

The Review Want Ad. column solves the problem of how to recover lost articles, get a tenant for a house, secure a servant or help of any kind, obtain roomers or boarders, sell surplus articles around the home, or find something you want to buy. Try it, the cost is low.

GEORGE RUTH
Properties for Sale:

Come and inspect our list of HOUSES. We have a number of first-class residences; all modern; locality and prices are right; also a number of cheaper houses. Terms to suit the purchasers.

8 fine building lots, near the C. G. E. works, are offered for $1500.

A few first-class homes to rent with modern improvements.

395 Water Street, open evenings

R. A. ELLIOTT & CO.
Real Estate Agents
Head Office of the Sandstone Brick Co.

Christmas Slippers.

There's nothing that will make a more sensible Christmas Gift than Footwear. Our slipper show, at this season is a big thing—worth coming to see.

MEN'S SLIPPERS
Opera, Everett and Romeo styles, black kid, tan kid, patent leathers,
$1.00, 1.25, 1.50, 2.00

WOMEN'S SLIPPERS
House Slippers, Turkish Slippers and Juliets, Slippers for Dress Functions, all the new Ties and Pump effects, choice, handsome and exclusive creations,
50c to $3.00

J. T. STENSON
364 George St.

PRICE OF Coal FOR OCTOBER IS $7.50 Ton, cash with order

THE PETERBORO FUEL & CARTAGE CO LIMITED.
162 Charlotte-st. Telephones—(Bell) 201, 270. (Machine)—270.
134 Aylmer-st. Tel. (Bell) 362.

D.L. & W'S SCRANTON COAL

SOLD BY R. HICKS & CO. AT
$7.50 Per Ton
for Month of October, in lots of not less than half ton.
This is the Standard Anthracite. 60 % of Coal sold in Ontario is SCRANTON.
Terms Positively Cash.

R. HICKS & CO.
Coal Builders' Supplies, Etc.

COAL AND WOOD

Best of Coal—Best of Wood

COAL FOR OCTOBER
$7.50 PER TON

J. B. A. FITZGERALD
Cor. Brock and Bethune Sts
BOTH PHONES 111

Palace Livery Barn

For the smartest and most up-to-date LIVERY OUTFITS, at reasonable rates, go to

TOM FOSTER & CO.
Successors to Bruce Lee & Co
Rear of Snowden House.

AUCTION SALE OF HORSES BUGGIES, HARNESS, ETC., EVERY SATURDAY

Phones - Bell 266—Machine 269

Steer Straight

for the best Beer ever brewed, and you are sure to come to us! Our Bottled Beer is "bottled health." It means vigor and strength, [illegible] and high spirits. It is the best medicine for the weak and the best food for the strong. Keep our excellent [illegible] in your home as a beverage and you will have no need of a doctor. Nothing but the purest ingredients used in the brewing.

—THE—
CALCUTT BREWING AND MALTING CO
of Ashburnham Limited

THE BEEHIVE

The Ladies' Big Ready-to-Wear Store

We have just received in Stock a large consignment of

DRESSY MULL WAISTS

All in the new 1908 Styles.
Be sure to call and see them At $2.50

YOU CAN ALWAYS GET THE MOST SATISFYING CHRISTMAS BOX AT THE BEEHIVE

Keep in Mind the Free February Embroidery Classes.

The Beehive The Ladies' Big Ready-to-Wear Store

FACTS—JUST PLAIN, POINTED FACTS

BOYS' SUITS

Good words our Good Boy's Clothing are coming back to us in good business, what better proof could you ask of our value-giving than these.

BUSTER BROWN STYLE

Gray mixed Tweeds, plain, well made and trimmed, sizes 22 to 25	3 25
Gray stripe Tweed, well made and trimmed, 22 to 25	3.50
Blue and black Serge, well made and trimmed sizes 22 to 26	4.00

2-PIECE NORFOLK STYLE

Dark gray stripe Tweed, sizes from 25 to 30, special	2.00
Gray mixed Tweed, pepper and salt effects, all sizes, 24 to 30, Special	2.50
Brown Scotch Tweed effect, double breasted Norfolk, sizes 26 to 29, prices	4.00, 4.50, 5.00
3 piece Double Breasted Styles—dark gray check and stripe Tweed, Lion Brand, with double elbows and double seats and knees, well padded and well made, sizes 28 to 33	4.50 and 5.00
Dark gray over plaids and dark stripes, the newest designs for boys' suits, double breasted, sizes 28 to 33	6.00, 6.50, 7.00
Boys' and Youth's Reefers—Dark gray and black Frieze, Tweed lined, all sizes up to 28	2.00, 2.25
Dark gray and black Frieze, Tweed lined,	2 75

MERRELL & MEREDITH
CLOTHIERS, FURNISHERS and HATTERS
375-377 GEORGE ST. PHONE 35

The City's Opportunity to Save Important Industry

Plant of Wm. Hamilton Co, to be Sold en Bloc or Parcel if Something is Not Done—City Council and Board of Trade Might Act.

The plant of the Wm. Hamilton Co. is to be sold, unless something is done by this city to preserve the industry.

Owing to the financial stringency that has prevailed in the money market during the last six months, Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P., the purchaser of the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Company's plant, has found it impossible to reorganize a new company to take over and operate the works of the company. He has accordingly signed a contract placing the matter in the hands of the A. R. Williams Machinery Co., of Toronto, to sell in parcel or en bloc. Mr. Hollinrake and Mr. Stevenson were in town this week, making a full list and thorough catalogue of the different machines, with a view of distributing them among probable purchasers.

We would suggest for the consideration of the City Council and the Board of Trade that some representations be made to the A. R. Williams Machinery Company immediately before the plant is actually broken up with a view of advising them what assistance Peterborough and its citizens would be prepared to give a new company that would be prepared to operate this plant, because it is a well known fact that the A. R. Williams Machinery Company are large dealers in this very class of machinery that the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Company, Limited, have been manufacturing. This is certainly an opportune time for the City Council and the Board of Trade to make strenuous efforts to retain what we have, even though during this last year the city has not been successful in adding one new industry to the city's many important factories.

MORE BLESSED TO GIVE THAN TO RECEIVE

The Spirit That Was in Evidence at the Annual Christmas Entertainment at Murray Street Church more blessed

"It is more blessed to give than to receive," was the spirit in evidence at the annual Christmas entertainment of the Murray Street Church Sunday School, held last night. The Sunday School room, where the event took place, was crowded, and the function was a success in every respect. Tea was served between 6.30 and 7.30 o'clock, and sharp at eight o'clock the programme was commenced. It consisted of solos, carols, dialogues and recitations, supplied by representatives of the different classes, each class providing a part of the programme. One of the features of the evening was the gifts of money from the classes for Christmas cheer of others outside the Sunday School. The donations totalled $65, and the offerings on the plate at the door amounted to $10, making a total of $75 for the Christmas cheer of others.

The school room was tastily decorated, holly, evergreens and other Yuletide symbols, as well as artistic drapings, sketches on the blackboard being much in evidence. Great credit is due those who looked after the decorating.

The programme was of unusual merit, and showed that much time had been spent in preparation. The superintendent, Mr. J. A. Reddon, was chairman, and was among those who worked hard for the success of the entertainment.

The programme will be published Monday.

Remember Mark St. Sunday School Christmas Tree and Entertainment to be held in City Hall, East City, on Wednesday 25th, tickets 15c, 2 for 25c. M. McCARTHY
2d Sec'y

HOCKEY

QUEEN'S COMING.

Queen's will likely be here next Friday evening to play Peterborough Strathconas. President Graham was in conversation with the students to-day over the telephone and the above was practically decided upon.

James R. Bell, Grocer, 16 Hunter St., is booking orders for Turkeys, Geese and Chickens for Xmas. Call and see him.

KINDERGARTEN CLOSING EXERCISE

Held at East City School—Yesterday Afternoon—A Pleasing Function

The parents and friends of the children of the East City kindergarten gathered at the school yesterday afternoon and enjoyed the closing exercises as presented by about twenty-two scholars, under the direction of Miss L. Rush. The early part of the afternoon was given to the general work done each day by the pupils and the parents seemed to be greatly pleased with the clever workmanship of the little tots. The musical games and drills were presented in a faultless manner, and were the subject of much admiration and praise from the visitors. The fit the kindergarten songs, including "Jack Frost," "Snow Flakes," "The Squirrel," "the Farmer," and several other such characteristic ditties were pleasingly sung and enacted. The "Christmas Carols," were exceptionally well rendered by the the scholars. Among them were "The Snow Flakes are Falling," "Once a Little Baby Lay," and "While Stars at Christmas Shine."

Occupying a prominent position in the room was a large and heavily laden Christmas tree, on which were hung pretty and artistic gifts for the parents of the scholars. There were articles of various descriptions and these were the designing of the little tots. As Santa Claus made his appearance he was greeted with a "Presentation Song," after which old Santa delivered the presents.

During the afternoon Mr. Robt. Fair, chairman of the Board of Education, made a few complimentary remarks.

Mr. A. Mowat, school inspector, added a few words of congratulation, and Mr. Duncan Walker, late school inspector, also made some complimentary remarks.

Miss Rush and her assistant, Miss Edna Rogers, are to be highly commended on the excellent manner in which the exercises were carried out.

THE XMAS TABLE
Pure Cream Candy 2 lb 25c
Mixed Nuts, new, lb. 15c
Choicest Figs, lb, 15c
Malaga Grapes, lb, 15c
Oranges, Mexican, 15c to 30c
Table Raisins, 20c to 35c
E. F. MASON CO., Limited

STOCK MARKET QUOTATIONS

Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

	Opening	Closing
Amal. Copper	47	47½
Atchison	71¼	71⅜
B. R. T.	39¾	40
Can. Pacific x div.	151⅞	151⅛
Erie	16⅞	17
Louis. & Nash.	92¼	93
Mo. Pac.	49⅞	50
N. Y. Central	95	95¼
Penna	112¼	112¼
Rock Island	15⅞	15⅞
Reading	94½	94⅞
Smelters	73	73¼
Sugar	100¼	100¼
St. Paul	104⅞	104⅞
So. Pac.	74	74½
Union Pac. x-div. 2½	118¼	118⅛
U. S. Steel	27	26⅞
do. pfd.	89⅞	89⅞
Twin City	54	54
McKay	60	60
Nipissing	6	6¼
Wheat	[illegible]	106
Corn	58	57⅞
May Oats	51¼	53⅛
Pork	13.25	13.15

INITIALLED WRITING PAPER

One of the most acceptable of gifts that you can send is a dainty box of note paper and envelopes with one or more initials printed in gold on the top of the first sheet of paper or on the back of the envelopes. Good writing paper is always appreciated and you can make no mistake in including it in your list. Leave your order early at the REVIEW Office and you will be well satisfied. 3d

A SECOND THOUGHT

Should convince you that the place for genuine values of lasting quality in CHRISTMAS GIFTS is where the most select stock is carried. See our North Window for the finest display of Silverware to be found in Peterborough.

Such Remembrances as Choice Cutlery, Skates, Hockey Sticks, Pucks, Carpet Sweepers, etc., are always appreciated by the recipient. Give appreciated Gifts.

PETERBOROUGH HARDWARE CO.

COMMON SENSE GIFTS

If you want to make two families genuinely happy this holiday season, try giving the old cook stove that has given you years of service, to some needy household, and present the good wife with a

PANDORA RANGE

You will thus make two homes happy, especially your own where the great comfort of using the Pandora Range will be greatly appreciated.

ADAMSON & DOBBIN
NEW BRICK BLOCK—SIMCOE STREET

ROYAL DOULTON AT CHINA HALL

Over 500 Pieces of Royal Doulton at China Hall at prices low enough to compete with Japanese and German---China Water Jugs, Beer Jugs, Steins, Tea Pots, Rail Plates, Salad Bowls, Flower Pots, Fern Pots, Vases, Tobacco Jars, Candle Sticks, Cups and Saucers, etc., etc., all in Royal Doulton at popular prices.

CHINA HALL FOR CHRISTMAS PRESENTS

The .... Rogue's March.

By
E. W. HORNUNG,
Author of "Raffles, the Amateur Cracksman," "Stingaree," Etc.

Copyright, 1896, by CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS.

"Not the least."

"And you don't much care, eh?"

"Not a bit. May I ask a question in my turn?"

"Surely, sir."

"Do you want him for the Castle Sullivan business?"

"We do."

"I thought so. I've heard the idea. But who will you get to swear to him as having been there?"

"This man here," said Nat. And Tom, in the background, listened curiously. He was cool enough now and his air shameless. It was assumed for Claire's benefit.

"I am not so sure," said the voice of Ginger in a rather dejected tone.

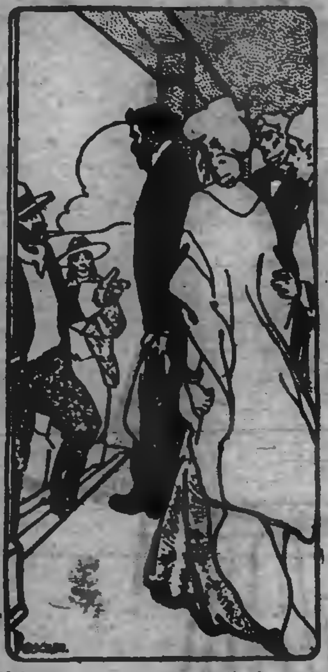
"You were sure enough in your cups!"

"That's another thing."

"Well," said the constable, "he's left this, anyhow. No use our wasting any more time here, Mr. Sullivan. Good morning, sir. I'm afraid he's given us the slip again."

"But not for long!" cried Nat. "I mean to catch him and to hang him yet!"

They had ridden away. Daintree had re-entered the room, puffed up and smiling. Tom also had a kind of smile, and Peggy was gazing at him with shining eyes when Claire rose from the table and swept out of the room without a word.



"I believe you have an assigned convict here of the name of Thomas Erichsen."

Daintree looked at Lady Starkie in dismay and hastily ordered the servants to withdraw. Her ladyship rose also.

"Can you wonder at it?" she cried.

"At what?"

"Your bride disliking to be waited on by convicts. And—and—did I understand that young man's name was Erichsen?"

"Yes."

"The murderer of Captain Blaydes?"

"No."

"Who then?"

"His reputed murderer. He is an innocent man. You know I thought so at the time. You know, I believe, how I backed my opinion to the tune of several hundreds? I'm backing it still, Lady Starkie; I'm backing it still—that's all." It was not all. He went on to tell all Erichsen had gone through, to his knowledge, in the settlement; how he was trying in his small way to make up to the poor fellow for the shocking injustice of his fate, and yet how even now the unlucky wretch went in danger of his neck, as Lady Starkie had seen for herself, and all for siding with some bushrangers under circumstances of extraordinary compulsion and provocation combined. Of all this James Daintree spoke so feelingly and with such an obviously earnest purpose that Lady Starkie was quite moved and undertook to use her influence with Claire in the matter of the convict servants.

But it was of no avail.

Daintree drove the ladies into Sydney and drove back alone late at night. Tom awaited him, and as they walked from the stables to the house the master's arm ran affectionately through that of the man.

"My dear fellow," he said, "it grieves me more than I can say, but I cannot go against my young wife where there is apparent right upon her side. She will have no convicts in her house. You and I will be compelled to part."

"It was bound to come," was Tom's reply. "I am only thankful it didn't come before you gave me back a little of what I have lost. I shall be grateful to you till my dying hour."

"Oh, but I've not done with you yet. I must have you out of this country by hook or crook—that I'm bent upon. That brute Sullivan is actually at the Pulteney. It seems his overseer never meant to split on you for some reason, but he did so when drunk, and now the other holds him to it. Until we spirit you out of the country you'll never be safe."

"That doesn't matter," said Tom. "I would rather stay where I am and take my chance."

He was thinking of Daintree and his wife. Even through his gratitude he was thinking of that darker side.

CHAPTER XXXI.

THAT was a long week at the bungalow. It was to culminate at St. Philip's church in Sydney on the Saturday morning. The license was bought. The bridegroom carried the ring in his pocket. Everything was ready but a best man. And here another peculiarity stood out. There was no best man to be had. As in London so in New South Wales. This baronet's son and heir, this man of blood and means and literary feats, was unbeloved in spite of all. Claire and her aunt had been absolutely the only guests at the bungalow in all Tom's time there. Nor was it because Daintree had never made a friend in the settlement. It was because he had never kept one in any quarter of the globe.

Meanwhile the ladies came to Rose bay no more. The happy man went to them instead and would stop till midnight, to gallop home by starlight and pour out his happiness to Tom until the harbor turned from jet to polished steel; and twice the steel was silver, and once the silver was flaming gold before the poet would hold his peace. It was a long week, but the nights went quicker than the days. Daintree had never been a better companion than in these long, confidential, starlit talks. They were not exclusively on the one subject. Tom learned at last how the murder had affected the party at Avenue Lodge, and one whole night and day he never closed an eye for thinking of two men in two new and startling lights. They were the living man Harding and the dead man Blaydes. The first haunted Tom the longer. Why had he insisted on dragging Daintree to the trial?

The days were lengthened by Peggy in the kitchen, with her kind, uninjured looks and the unfailing, friendly, amiable word that made him feel the meanest of men. The girl could be an angel when she had him, with all his coldness, to herself. He never suspected what she had been from the Sunday night to the Monday afternoon. And now they were both under notice to leave.

"If only you two would make up your minds to marry!" said Daintree to Tom. "I have you both on my mind, but I could provide for the two of you at one stroke as a married couple. It has long been my wish to start a model farm up country, and you and Peggy would certainly make model managers." But Tom shook his head more decidedly than he had shaken it while the little Rosamund was pricking her way across the chart.

On the Friday, the same breeze holding good all the week, Daintree decided to sail round to Sydney instead of driving. He had a solid check to cash for the wedding trip, and the Point Piper road was no route for a pocketful of money and a life at its very highest value. Tom asked if Nat Sullivan was still in Sydney and was told that he had drunk himself prostrate at the Pulteney, whereupon Tom volunteered for the voyage, and so escaped Peggy for one afternoon. To make safety doubly safe, however, they ran into Farm cove, and Tom and the dog were to wait in the Domain while Daintree went to the bank and called at the hotel.

It was then 3 o'clock, and Daintree was to be at least two hours gone, but he returned in less than one, bringing Claire with him for a sail. Tom's surprise at seeing her was less than that of the girl at sight of him. The indignation was altogether on her side and sufficiently perceptible in spite of Claire's efforts to conceal an inappropriate displeasure. Daintree did not see it, but what they all three missed was the furtive figure which emerged from the trees as the boat put off.

Claire was given the tiller and told simply to obey orders, Daintree took the sheet, and Tom was put into the bows to be out of the way. The sail made a convenient screen. It also prevented Tom from knowing in the least what happened. As a matter of fact, they were just taking the wind—which was by this time fresher than ever—when Daintree's attention was diverted by an apparition at the water's edge. It was the man who had followed him through the Domain, and so rapt was the gaze with which Daintree beheld him that he forgot to let the sheet go at the critical instant. Smack came the wind against a sail like the side of a house. "Let go! Let go!" screamed Tom. It was too late. She was gunwale under. The sail lay a moment on the water, drinking it like blotting paper. Then the saturated canvas sank, and the boat tossed keel upward within fifty yards of the shore.

Claire sank clear of the wreck and had the presence of mind to strike out before coming to the surface, and even as the sun lashed her wet eyes strong hands slid under her arms and she was being pushed face forward to the shore. The trees were waving in the sun. It was no distance, and Daintree's dog was swimming happily on ahead. Suddenly, with a piercing yelp, the dog disappeared. At the same moment Daintree began splashing vigorously, and when the smooth sand came under Claire's feet, but a few yards further on, her knees were too weak to support her weight.

"The happiest moment of my life," said a deep voice in her ear. "I have saved"—

She turned, and there was Daintree, up to his waist in water, with the drops raining from his face and whiskers and shaded eyes sweeping the blue. The boat was coming in keel upward with the tide. The dog and Tom had vanished off the face of the waters.

Daintree dashed in again and met the wreck as her mast struck bottom. Tom was still struggling underneath her, caught fast in the cordage. His struggles ceased as he was wrenched free. When Daintree got him to land his mouth and ears were in a froth, and Claire stood by like a woman turned to stone.

A small crowd collected slowly. It did not contain the man who had caused the mischief. The trees had swallowed him once more.

The crowd surrounded Tom and Daintree, who had stripped his servant to the waist and was sawing the air with the drenched white arms and the helpless sunburnt hands. Claire stood on the fringe of the crowd, without a clear thought in her head, but in her hand a packet that had fallen at her feet when Tom's shirt and vest were torn off and hurled aside. The packet was sewed up in dripping oiled silk as transparent as glass. Through it she could read a name she but dimly realized to be her own, and the voices of those jostling her seemed far away.

"He is alive," said Daintree, looking up. "Has nobody run for brandy?"

Nobody had.

And it was wanted now for two people.

Claire Harding had swooned away.

Daintree had his hands full with the pair of them, but in a little they were both conscious and able to drive away with him in a hired chaise. They drove to the hotel, forgetting the risk. On the way Tom stretched forth a feeble hand.

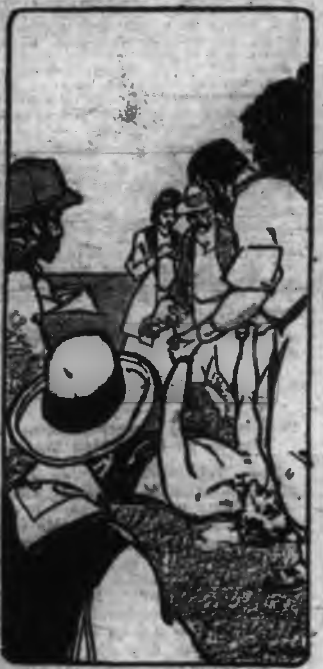
"How many more times are you going to save my life?" he asked.

"You saved mine, too," said Claire sadly.

"It was nervous work after the way my poor wee dog went," said Daintree. "Did you see that, Claire? Poor thing! It was a shark!"

"Yes." She shuddered.

"But if he will but splash a bit, your man of courage is all right. Do you mind if we drive round by the Herald office? They publish on Monday, but it's just as well to be in time."



Daintree was sawing the air with the drenched white arms.

So the conceit of him overlapped even his heroism. And Claire and Tom sat shivering in their wet clothes, while Daintree in his was several minutes inspiring and all but dictating the paragraph which duly appeared in the Sydney Herald. But during those minutes the pair in the chaise never exchanged a word, and afterward, in the hotel, not one word.

CHAPTER XXXII.

DAINTREE was driven home before dusk, for his pocketbook was bloated with moist bank notes, besides which Lady Starkie positively refused to have him about the hotel that evening. It was against the rules for bridegrooms as laid down by her ladyship, who dined very solemnly with her niece alone and got to bed at a reasonable hour for the first time that week. Claire then had their sitting room to herself, and she drew out the oiled silk packet which had fallen into her hands that afternoon. It was thin and oblong, like the letter it plainly contained. Under the lamp Claire's name and the address of her old home were still legible beneath the silk, though they no longer stood out as when the skin was wet. And on the reverse side was written very small, "For pity's sake, forward this."

When? After his death? Fate had forwarded it before. Should she read or destroy or return this letter to its writer—to the criminal who had confessed to her his crime? Some minutes after Claire Harding asked herself this question she turned up the lamp and cut the oiled silk open with a pair of scissors. She now saw that the letter had been written some time, yet it was with a strange thrill, a wonderment beginning at the heart, that she read the heading within. It was Newgate and the date May 29, 1837, the blackest day of all her life, the eve of that on which they would have hanged him.

Agitated as she was, however, by these dreadful memories and touched by the mere fact of his having written to her on that awful Monday, it was the first sentence of his letter that ran into her heart like molten lead. He called himself an innocent man! From the brink of the grave came that lie, that blasphemy, which he had lived to confess to her with his crime! She read on mechanically, and all at once her pain ceased. She was lost and absorbed in the plain, straightforward, circumstantial story into which he plunged without preliminary. He told her everything from the moment they parted at the garden gate. Nothing was left out, nothing extenuated, nothing enlarged or even commented upon by the writer. Her heart was beating wildly long before she reached the end of this plain statement. She had forgotten all about his confession. This rang true; this rang true.

"Sweetheart," he went on—"for I must call you so once more—I cannot tell you how I feel, for I vary from hour to hour. Now and then I feel the murderer they say I am, now and then an abject coward (without the pluck to show it), now and then a sort of Christian martyr. But with God's help I hope to finish up a man. Do not grieve for the ugly way of it. There's no disgrace in that, since it's a mistake, and if there is a God never fear but he will make it up to me one day. Oh, but it is sweet to talk to you again! I used to tell you everything, and so I must until the end.

"The turnkeys are looking through my grating now. They are telling each other what I am at and coming back and back again to have a peep. My Christianity isn't proof against that. I say nothing, but I could do the thing I am going to die for—God help me, I may do it yet! You see how I change. There is only one thing in which I can never change—my grateful love and reverence for the great girl soul that forgave me and would have given me another chance if this had not happened. Sweetheart, my love for you has grown in prison; it has been my only comfort in this vile place, and it will go with me where I go tomorrow—it will stay with my poor soul through all eternity. Only do not grieve for me, Claire, for I never was worthy of your sweet love. I would not leave this behind for you, I would not have you reminded of me for a single day, but for one selfish thing. Sweetheart, it is to make you believe in me. You have not done so yet. Why should you? Nobody knows what you know and have so nobly hidden, but, for all I said to you, I am innocent. He was alive when I left him, I did give him the receipt, and we shook hands at the end. That is God's truth. I tell it you with the last words my hand will ever write. I meant to write to the kind fanatic who paid for my defense and is working still (they tell me) for a reprieve, but now I cannot. If you could find him out and thank him for me, I should be grateful, but my last words in this life must be to you. God bless you, dear, and give you somebody much better than I ever could have been. Only do know that I never did this thing, and when you realize that think no more of me, my dear love, but pray tomorrow for the soul of your unworthy boy"—

His signature followed, better written than the rest, a touching effort to "finish up a man." All the last pages were blurred with the condemned man's tears, and now after seventeen months her tears were raining, raining, on the same paper, on the same words, that bore the blots of his.

This postscript remained:

"Reprieved at the last moment! I shall not send this now, but I hope that it may reach you when I am gone."

Claire went to the window, and the rings rattled along the rod as she flung the curtains back.

The hotel garden lay very still below. It was the back of the house, and now the hour was late. Suddenly there was a movement on the gravel underneath.

"Claire, is it your voice?"

He whispered—it was Tom.

"Yes," she said at last. "Come up. I want to speak to you."

"Now?"

"Yes! How is it you are still in the town?"

"I lost something. I have been hunting for it on the beach. I have come back to have another look here."

"I have it. Come straight up to the room you were in this afternoon."

He appeared to hesitate.

"You—you are not alone?"

But Claire had left the window and was waiting impatiently at the open door. How long he kept her! It seemed an age before his halting step was heard upon the stairs, while she, on fire to crave his forgiveness and mindful of nothing else, could not imagine what held him back. Even when he came his eye was timid and his feet slow to cross the threshold—in fact the inveterate conventionality of the male was not a little fluttered at her receiving him alone at this hour of the night and that night her marriage eve. Yet his qualms were entirely on her account. Nor could they quench the inextinguishable lovelight in his honest eyes.

As for Claire, however, she forgot everything but the cruel wrong she had done the man before her, the sufferings cut so deep upon his bronzed face and her own new and blinding realization of his innocence and heroism. For a space she could but stand and gaze upon him with burning eyeballs. Then, with the noble unconsciousness of a woman stirred to the soul, she took him by both hands and drew him into the room and besought his forgiveness upon her knees, but with his hands still clasped in hers.

Tom released his hands, shut the door nervously and then almost brusquely asked her what he had to forgive.

"I thought you guilty," she sobbed. "I said so—and you were innocent all the time! Oh, thank God"—

"Wait!" he interrupted. "How do you know that?"

"What you lost I found. I have it here. Oh, Tom, I have read every word! Oh, why did you not send it at the time? You were innocent—innocent! Can you ever forgive me?"

"Get up," he said. "You have forgotten something."

"Nothing," she answered. "Your marriage has no more to do with it than mine."

"My marriage! With whom, pray?"

"The wife you applied for—at some factory!"

She could not help her tone. It stung Tom into telling her the facts and so inadvertently exposing Daintree's chicanery. He instantly defended it as the accepted course.

"But that's not what I meant at all," he added hurriedly. "You must have forgotten what I told you the other day in the boat shed!"

"My hero!" she whispered. "You thought it best that I should never know, and so you said you were not an innocent man."

"Nor was I," he faltered. "You soon saw that for yourself. They may hang me yet!"

"And you wouldn't have me think of you any more," continued Claire, a spasm of pain crossing her face at his words. "But I will—I will! I'll think of you till I die—my own hero!"

He fidgeted horribly, looking toward the door. She would compromise herself, she would do herself harm. That was still his first thought. She saw it, and it floated her to the crest of that emotional wave in whose trough he trembled.

"I believed you guilty—may God forgive me!" she cried. "But—shall I tell you something?"

"Well?"

"I loved you all the same!"

"I won't believe it," he said, at last.

"I did; I know it now."

"Then forget it!" he cried hoarsely. "For God's sake, remember nobody but the man you are to marry tomorrow morning. What? Claire?" He started from her. She had shaken her head. She shook it more passionately for that, but she did not speak. So he began—hardly knowing what he said—but pleading for his best friend—pleading for her honor—pleading for sacred duty as his male eye saw it. She was going to marry a generous and brave man, to whom he owed, not only his life twice over, but any good that was left in him. Yet neither was the other a faultless man, though so generous and so brave, and his one great anchor to good sense and good living was his love for Claire. Tom spoke plainly, even eloquently, as he went on. He would have gone on longer, but there was no need. Claire sat meekly weeping. He bent over her—his face wrung with anguish now that hers was hidden—and so took her hand in his for the last time.

"God bless you always," he whispered in a broken voice, "and make you good to him—and make him good to you!"

She clung passionately to his hand. She held it to her bosom and looked piteously up into his face. The tears sparkled in her eyes and on her cheeks. Her sweet lips quivered. It was more than man could bear. He fell upon his knees, he threw his arms about her, and for a very little space these two torn hearts beat and sobbed as one.

CHAPTER XXXIII.

THE master was busy at his desk, but there was no rhyming dictionary at his elbow, and the book of synonyms was suffocating under a pile of papers that were stuffed into a drawer as Tom entered guiltily. The clock—an athletic trophy in the form of a kettledrum—was then striking midnight, and Daintree wheeled around in his chair with the eleventh stroke.

"Shut the window," said he. "I have two things to tell you which I don't want the girl to hear. If her windows are open she might."

Peggy happened to be listening at the door.

"In the first place," proceeded Daintree, "tell me frankly and finally whether you mean to marry the girl or not—yes or no?"

"No, sir; it is impossible."

"You shall do just exactly what you like. At the same time, she tells me you did ask her."

"I did. I wronged her in doing so, but she had the sense to refuse me, and I'm not going to wrong her worse by asking her again."

"That settles it. I've found a captain who's willing to smuggle you over to America for a consideration, all details to be arranged before I leave Sydney tomorrow. Will you go?"

"Will I not! Thank God for the chance!"

"Then that settles that—for the present. You shall be spirited aboard tomorrow night, and by Monday morning you shall have seen the last of New South Wales forever."

Peggy crept away from the door. Her mind was made up.

"The other thing's a trifle," said Daintree. "A pretty place this New South Wales! I go to the bank and cash a check, come in and shove the notes into one of these drawers, and a man breaks into the house and all but into my desk while I am sitting in the next room at my dinner! Look at this!" And he pointed out the marks of a jimmy on the polished mahogany. The circumstance did not appear to excite him in the least. He smiled loftily on Tom's concern and at once exaggerated an attitude which had been perfectly genuine before.

"Ah, Thomas," he remarked, "even you don't know your Sydney yet or you would be like me and think nothing of such trifles. I was eating my dinner, as I say, when I heard him at his work. Unfortunately I let him hear me. Still, I chased him out of that and some way down the road and could have caught him if I hadn't preferred to come back and finish my dinner."

"By Jove," exclaimed Tom, "I wonder whether it was the fellow who turned up on the beach almost at the instant we went down!"

"What!" cried Daintree. "Did you see him?"

To be continued.

London will have a building inspector

Bright eyes, flashing shy invitation,
Meeting others, frank, tender and true,
'Neath the mistletoe spray, send this greeting—
"A right Merry Christmas to you!"

ONLY ONE WEEK

IN fourteen days the REVIEW NEWS BOYS' COMPETITION will close, and the awards will be made. Following the plan on which the competition was instituted no information has been given of the standing of the several competitors. The decision will rest on the results, each boy getting credit to the last paper for his efforts. ¶ Fourteen days yet to work. A good deal can be accomplished in that time. The hustling boy can add to his list of customers and pull up to a first place easily. Christmas week will be a good time in which to hustle, and all through the holidays. The boy showing the largest number of papers sold to customers and those who did not buy before will get the biggest prize.

HUSTLE! HUSTLE! HUSTLE!

IF YOUR PIANO BEARS THE NAME
"GERHARD HEINTZMAN"
It has the excellence that comes of years of experience and study, carefully and intelligently applied.
A SINGING EVEN TONE PERFECT ACTION DELICACY OF TOUCH
combined with durability and beauty of design are the distinguishable characteristics of the "Gerhard Heintzman."
In buying a piano it is the truest form of economy to get the best, the few dollars additional in the price being returned tenfold in wear, pleasure and pride of ownership. Write for catalogue.
Gerhard Heintzman, Limited
97 Yonge Street, Toronto.
W. H. ISAAC, 226 Dublin Street, Peterborough. Local Selected Representative. Machine 'Phone 22

Made the Night Hideous; Joyful for Their Escape

Miners Celebrate Their Escape by Drunken Orgies.

No Sign of Life Found in Wrecked Coal Mine—Six Bodies Brought Up—No Fire Now and Fans Work Well—Most of Victims Were Americans—Holiday Saved Many Lives—Explosion Was Due to Gas.

Jacob's Creek, Pa., Dec. 21.—Of the 200 or more miners who were made prisoners in the Darr mine of the Pittsburg Coal Co. Thursday by a terrific explosion, the bodies of 30 yesterday morning lie in the main entrance, where they were laid during the night by the rescuers, until they can be brought to the surface. Some of the bodies are dismembered and mangled, and all are distorted by the agonies of violent death.

Faint hope was cherished by rescuers and friends and relatives that some of the men had survived the explosion and are awaiting release far back in the mine. For this reason the rescuers did not take time to bring out the bodies as they were found, but pressed forward, to open a passage to and explore every section of the mine.

The foreign miners who escaped the disaster made the night hideous in their little village. They had suspended work because of the Russian holiday in honor of the Czar's name day, and most of them followed their usual holiday custom of drinking to excess. Many were intoxicated before the catastrophe, and afterwards they put themselves in worse condition, some drinking in celebration of their escape and others drinking to drown grief over the death of relative or friend. All night there was carousing and disorder at times bordering on rioting.

The Pittsburg Coal Co. have arranged to provide burial for all of the victims.

It is believed that a majority of the victims are Americans. Such of the foreigners as belong to the Greek Catholic Church did not go to work Thursday morning, that they might celebrate St. Nicholas Day, an important holiday in their church calendar.

Immediately upon hearing of the explosion, the men in all the mines hereabouts suspended work and many of them hurried here, many offering their services as rescuers. Many more are coming in, for, as is usual following disasters, the miners within a wide radius will not resume work for several days.

The distance from the mouth of the mine to the most remote sections is said to be about three miles, and it is thought many of the bodies will be found near the end of the workings.

No other explanation than that the explosion was due to gas has been advanced.

A Father's Grief.

Jacob's Creek, Dec. 21.—Conrad Schuth, 48 years of age, crazed by the death in the mine of his son and other relatives, ended his own life yesterday by drowning in the river, near the mine. He was a widower and leaves four small children.

NO NEWS FOR KAISER

His Special Reporter Ejected From Harden Trial

Public Excluded From Hearing Famous Libel Suit — Divorced Wife Gives Evidence In Camera—Strictest Secrecy Being Observed—Prince Eulenburg on the Stand—Sympathy For Count Von Moltke.

Berlin, Dec. 21.—Emperor William, who is following the evidence taken in the Harden-Von Moltke libel suit with the utmost attention, yesterday sent to the court house Lieut. Preetner Vonderhoelle of the Fusiliers, as a special representative in order to secure a full and impartial report of the proceedings. The judges declined to permit the lieutenant to remain in court when the remainder of the public was excluded, and he thus was unable to obtain the details of the trying ordeal which Prince Philip Zu Eulenberg underwent during the secret session, when he remained for three hours on the witness stand. Owing to the utter exclusion of the press and the public from the session and the close secrecy observed by all persons connected with the case, no statements on which reliance can be placed are obtainable regarding the testimony adduced.

Frau Von Elbe also was on the witness stand for an hour and a half. When she entered the court she was pale and nervous, but when she left her face was flushed and she seemed to be excited. It is understood she was much more reserved in her statements yesterday than at the former trial.

Count Kuno Von Moltke, who was present throughout the session, also is said to have been examined. When he left the court he looked far more cheerful than hitherto had been the case.

The reports in circulation that all further proceedings in the suit will be held in camera have caused general disappointment, for the opinion prevails that Count Kuno Von Moltke should be given on opportunity to rehabilitate himself before the public, which heard the terrible charges brought against him at the present trial. It is possible that the judges in whom lies the discretion to have public or secret hearings, may decide at a later period to re-open the count to the public. The case is expected to continue until Dec. 24.

Petrolia, Dec. 21.—The inquest into the nitro-glycerine explosion was continued yesterday morning at 9.30 before Inspector Rogers. David Barr, president of Petrolia Torpedoes, Limited, was the first witness, but his testimony only corroborated that of previous witnesses regarding the condition of the magazine.

The company submitted a large piece of burnt fuse and also a piece of a can which was used for carrying the fluid in, which they claimed was found among the debris after the explosion, and with the ownership of which they tried to connect the witness, Ernest Stokes, a shooter.

The case was then practically closed, Inspector Rogers being satisfied that no person could be held responsible.

MONDINGO PRINCE IN COURT.

Sold Man Charm of Herbs In Order to Get Work.

Hamilton, Dec. 21.—Henry Williams, the alleged Mondingo Prince, was tried before Magistrate Jelfs yesterday afternoon on the charge of obtaining $5 under false pretences from Peter Bartosik, under promise of getting him work. The complainant alleged that Williams gave him a small charm, which was filled with herbs, and told him to wear it for nine days, and that he would get work. The prisoner told a very mysterious story in his defence. He said he had two minds—a divine and an evil—and that certain letters which were produced by the crowd had been written by the divine to the evil one. He said the tip of the kid glove, which was the charm the complainant bought, contained dragon's blood, which he used in concentrating his mind on astrology. The herbs that were in it, he said, were a balm, and came from a tree that grew in New Brunswick. Several interesting letters were read. Williams denied that he asked Bartosik for money. He said the complainant left the money on a table in his office and picked up the envelope containing the charm. M. J. O'Reilly contended that there was no evidence of false pretence, and the magistrate reserved judgment. Williams was remanded until Monday, when he will be charged with practicing witchcraft.

Victims Are Recovering.

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 21.—Mrs. Jas. B. Griffith, who shot Dr. Jas. A. Attridge of Highgate, Ont., and then turned the gun on herself, continues to improve. It is thought she will be able to leave Grace Hospital within a few weeks. Dr. Attridge, at Harper Hospital, is also much better, his condition being much more serious than Mrs. Griffith's, and he has as yet been unable to sit up. His improvement is none the less sure because gradual "White Caps" Sent For Trial.

Kingston, Dec. 21.—John Blakely, who was beaten and tarred and feathered by a group of men at Stoness Corners on Saturday last, charged Roland and Adam Thompson and Herbert Gutline of the Township of Loborough with being some of his assailants. The preliminary trial took place yesterday before Col. Hunter. Roland Thompson and Gutline were committed to stand trial at the next Assizes.

20,000 Will Stay Away.

London, Dec. 21.—(C. A. P.)—A booking agent in Amsterdam advertised Thursday for 20,000 laborers to go to Canada to work on railways.

Bruce Walker, Canadian superintendent of emigration, London, wired that unless the advertisement was withdrawn he would prosecute the agent.

Walker received a wire stating the advertisement was withdrawn.

Mob After Negro.

Columbus, O., Dec. 21.—A mob of armed men, including mounted policemen, is after a negro who assaulted Mrs. W. B. C. Hersey, wife of the president of the Excelsior Seed Co. He seized her while she was in the cellar and stuffed a rag in her mouth. She was found by neighbors unconscious.

selling dirty milk get six months at selling dirty milk, get six months at hard labor.

FLOODS IN ENGLAND.

Torrential Rains Do Great Damage In Many Parts.

London, Dec. 21.—Torrential rains have fallen in many parts of the country during the past few days, and serious floods are reported in counties so far apart as Lincolnshire and Monmouthshire, Lancashire and Warwickshire. Violent gales were also experienced.

In Monmouthshire, where many rivers overflowed, enormous tracts of low-lying land were deeply flooded. In some parts of the county a two-inch fall of rain in 24 hours was recorded. At Llanwern, near Newport, several residents had to retreat in attempting to reach the railway station by the ordinary roads. Mr. Edwards, who lives in the village, found nearly two feet of water not far from his house. Having no boat, he got into a domestic tub and tried to make his way to the station with the aid of a pole, but had to abandon the attempt. In some places the tops of the hedges were only just visible. A horse and van were washed away west of Newport.

Many miles of land in Somerset were under water. The Avon overflowed its banks between Bath and Bristol, and many meadows were submerged to a depth of several feet. Rain was still falling last night.

In Warwickshire many people have been temporarily thrown out of work through the flooding of factories and mills on the banks of rivers.

A whirlwind with rain and hail visited Lancashire. In the Chat Moss district a pony and trap were blown over into a ditch and many farm buildings were damaged.

SAW MOTHER SINGE FOWL.

Boy Imitates Her Action and Sets Fire to Baby Sister.

Owen Sound, Dec. 21.—The home of Mr. and Mrs. James Cathrea in Sydenham Township, near Walter's Falls, was the scene of a tragic incident, as a result of which they are now mourning the death of their youngest child, a little girl of eighteen months.

Mr. and Mrs. Cathrea had killed and prepared a quantity of fowl for market that morning, and had used a paper torch to singe the birds after they had been plucked. Their only surviving child, a boy two and a half years watched the operation.

That evening, when left alone with his sister, while Mrs. Cathrea went out to do the milking, he undertook to imitate his mother's actions of the morning. Securing a roll of paper he lit it at the fire in the stove and applied it to his sister's clothing, which was soon in flames. On the mother's return she was horrified to find the daughter suffering from terrible burns about the body, where the clothing was thickest.

The little one only lived half an hour. The boy, who was the innocent cause of the sister's death, is, of course, too young to understand the terrible nature of the action. Much sympathy is felt in the neighborhood for the bereaved parents, who are highly respected citizens of that township.

BABY WAS BORN ON TRAIN.

In the Pullman Car "Arran" on the Way to Toronto.

Toronto, Dec. 21.—When Grand Trunk train No. 46 pulled in from Cobalt at the Union station yesterday morning there was one more passenger aboard than there had been after the last stop the train made on its way from the mining country south. It was a baby boy, and he belonged to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fullerton of New Liskeard. Shortly after one o'clock in the morning, while the engine roared through the darkness and the swaying cars rushed over the rails behind it, a little son—lusty-lunged and healthy—came to the occupants of a certain stateroom aboard the Pullman car "Arran." In the morning while the other passengers in the car were congratulating father and mother word was sent on to Toronto, so that when the train from the north pulled in an ambulance awaited Mrs. Fullerton and her boy, and they were removed to the General Hospital. Dr. Charles Warren of Latchford, who was aboard the train, attended the patient, and at the last word received from the hospital mother and child were doing very well. Mr. and Mrs. Fullerton were on the way from New Liskeard to this city with their four-year-old daughter. Mr. John A. Fullerton of the firm of Fullerton & Shaw is an uncle of the new baby.

Insanity Cure by Knife.

Baltimore, Md., Dec. 21.—A cure for one of the most pitiable forms of insanity, hitherto considered as 80 per cent. incurable, has been found, it is hoped, in the surgeon's knife by Dr. N. M. Owensby, physician-in-chief at the Bay View Asylum. This form of insanity is known to the profession as dementia praecox. It destroys the human qualities of resistance, thought and speech, rendering the victim little more than a beast.

Witte Wants to Testify.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 21.—Irritated at the testimony given at the trial of Gen. Stoessel by Gen. Kuropatkin Thursday, Count Witte has addressed a letter to the court, begging an opportunity to appear on the witness stand.

Drowned Through the Ice.

Pembroke, Dec. 21.—Richard Richardson, aged 72 years, of Allumette Island, was drowned Thursday night while crossing the river. He leaves a brother, Samuel Richardson, of Mattawa, Ont.

Theatre Burned.

Dresden, Dec. 21.—The municipal theatre at Grossenhain, near this city, was burned yesterday, following a gas explosion, and several members of the company were injured.

Withdrawing the Troops.

Washington, Dec. 21.—President Roosevelt yesterday directed the withdrawal of United States troops stationed at Goldfield, Nevada, on Monday, Dec. 30, next.

The Grand Trunk has announced a pension fund for its employees for which they are not to be in any way assessed.

TO LIMIT EMIGRATION

Lemieux Accepts Assurances of Japanese Government.

Negotiations Will Be Concluded In a Day or Two — Wanted Definite Promise In Writing—Japan Refused — Would Entail Sacrifice of Treaty Rights—Leaves For Home Next Week.

Tokio, Dec. 21.—Negotiations between the Canadian Postmaster-General and Minister of Labor, Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, and the Japanese Government, which have been delayed by a hitch over details, will be concluded within the next few days. It is understood that Mr. Lemieux has finally agreed to accept Japan's assurance that she will undertake the self-imposed task of limiting the emigration of Japanese to Canada. The exact method of limitation will be left entirely in the hands of the Japanese Government.

It is stated that the hitch arose over the desire of the Canadian Government to secure a definite promise in writing outlining the undertakings. This was positively declined by Japan, because it would entail a sacrifice of treaty rights. Minister Lemieux also desired to secure from the Japanese Government a note giving the exact number of laborers that the Government proposed to allow to emigrate to Canada. This was also refused.

There is reason to believe that Canada will receive a verbal assurance identical with that given the United States, the Japanese Government declining to surrender any right contained in its treaty of alliance with Great Britain, whereto Canada became a party.

The Japanese Government is engaged in preparing a program of administration, under which the promise of limitation can be fulfilled.

Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux will probably leave for Canada next week, going by way of Siberia and through London.

MAYOR BURCHELL RESIGNS.

Investigation Into Glace Bay Finances to Be Ordered.

Glace Bay, N. S., Dec. 21.—Mayor Burchell has sent in his resignation as mayor of Glace Bay. He has held that position since the town was incorporated. The reason for this step is that he has been committed to stand trial for money alleged to be unaccounted for during the time when he was manager of the Dominion Coal Co.'s stores.

It is also announced that an enquiry is likely to be ordered into the town's finances since its incorporation. It is understood that the Coal Co., which are the largest taxpayers in the town, will be the parties to ask for the investigation, and a number of prominent citizens have promised to back them in their request.

Mr. Burchell promised an investigation some time ago, but none has taken place. The affair has created a sensation.

Looking For Cancer Cure.

Berlin, Dec. 21.—Prof. Ernest Von Leyden, who recently has devoted himself entirely to the study of cancer, from which some 3,000 persons die yearly in Germany, has made a pressing appeal to the Government and to private sources for the foundation of an institute of research. Prof. Von Leyden recommended the formation of an international association.

He gives some hopes of eventually finding a remedy for the cancer, by means of liver fermentations developed into a suitable injection through the inoculation of sheep.

Cashier Disappears.

Chicago, Dec. 21.—Richard Neelck, adopted son and cashier of the private bank of August Saehn & Co., Bryn-Mawr and Evanston avenue, this city, has disappeared. The business of the bank was halted yesterday, and Mr. Saehn was paying off depositors with checks drawn on his personal account.

The bank had a capital of $50,000 and a surplus of $40,000. The deposits are $80,000.

Mr. Saehn said he had ample funds to pay every depositor in full.

Heavy Sentences at Hamilton.

Hamilton, Dec. 21.—Three of the quartette captured on the C. P. R. train near Toronto some weeks ago, and who were found guilty on several charges of housebreaking and theft, were sentenced yesterday by Judge Snider. Walter Hildreth and George Young were sent down for five years, and Howard Campbell went to Central Prison for two years. It was Campbell's first offence, and he was regarded as a sort of scapegoat.

Emigration Drops.

Fiume, Hungary, Dec. 21.—Instead of the customary two or three thousand emigrants on each vessel, the Caronia yesterday carried only 300 steerage passengers, while the Carpathia had on board less than 50.

A Canadian Suicides.

London, Dec. 21.—Keith Reid, a Canadian, committed suicide Thursday night. An inquest will be held. Reid was assisted some time ago by Lord Strathcona to bring out an invention for signalling ships.

Curtailing Diamond Output.

London, Dec. 21.—A telegram received from Kimberley yesterday says the De Beers Consolidated Mines, Limited, has ordered work in the diamond mines to be restricted to five days a week.

Dies at Theatre.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 21.—M. Filosofoff, Minister of Commerce and excomptroller of the empire, died suddenly at the Marrie Theatre during gala performance last night.

The Tartar, the British torpedo boat destroyer, made a record run yesterday travelling at the rate of 44 miles an hour.

THE MARKETS.

Liverpool and Chicago Wheat Futures Close Higher—Live Stock—Latest Quotations.

Friday Evening, Dec. 20.

Liverpool wheat futures closed to-day 1d up; corn, ½d up.

At Chicago, Dec. wheat closed to-day 1¼c higher; Dec. corn ⅝c higher, and Dec. oats ⅝c higher

Winnipeg Options.

Following are the closing quotations on Winnipeg grain futures to-day:

Wheat—Dec. $1.05⅝ bid. May $1.14⅛ bid.

Oats—Dec. 43½c bid, May 50½c bid.

Toronto Grain Market.

Grain—

Wheat, spring, bush	$0 95	to $....
Wheat, fall, bush	0 97	....
Wheat, goose, bush	0 92	....
Wheat, red, bush	0 98	....
Rye, bush	0 83	....
Peas, bush	0 88	....
Buckwheat, bush	0 66	0 65
Barley, bush	0 73	0 74
Oats, bush	0 51	....

Toronto Dairy Market.

Butter, dairy, lb. rolls	0 27	0 28
Butter, tubs	0 25	0 26
Butter, creamery, lb. rolls	0 29	0 30
Butter, creamery, boxes	0 29	0 30
Eggs, new-laid, dozen	0 30	....
Eggs, cold-storage, dozen	0 23	....
Cheese, large, lb	0 12½	....
Cheese, twin, lb	0 13½	....
Honey, extracted, lb	0 11	0 12½

Liverpool Grain and Produce.

LIVERPOOL, Dec. 20.—Closing—Wheat, spot No. 2 red western winter, firm, 7s 5½d; futures, firm; Dec., nominal; March, 8s 1d; May, 8s ¾d. Corn, spot, prime mixed American, new, steady, 5s 4d; prime mixed, American, old, firm, 6s 6d; futures, steady; Jan., 5s 3½d.

Hams, short cut, quiet, 42s 6d. Bacon, Cumberland cut, quiet, 52s. Lard, American, refined, in pails, quiet, 43s 3d. Turpentine spirits, easy, 23s 6d. Hops in London (Pacific coast), quiet, £2 to £2 15s. Rosin, common, easy, 9s 1½d.

New York Dairy Market.

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—Butter, steady, unchanged; receipts, 1932.

Cheese, firm, unchanged; receipts, 3026.

Eggs, unsettled; receipts, 7080. State, Pennsylvania and nearby fancy selected white, 43c to 45c; good to choice, 36c to 39c; brown and mixed, fancy, 36c; average best, 34c to 35c; first to extra first, 31c to 33c; western first, 30c to 31c; second, 27c to 29c.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Cabled Steady—Cattle Steady—Hogs Easier in U. S. Markets.

LONDON, Dec. 20.—London cables are firmer, at 11c to 12¼c per lb., dressed weight; refrigerator beef is quoted at 9¼c per pound.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, Dec. 20.—Cattle—Receipts, 600 head; dull, prices unchanged.

Veals—Receipts, 500 head; active and 25c higher, $5 to $9.25.

Hogs—Receipts, 14,500 head; slow and 5c to 10c lower; heavy and mixed, $4.55 to $4.65, mostly $4.60, yorkers, $4.50 to $4.55; rough, $4 to $4.15; stags, $3 to $3.60; dairies, $4.40 to $4.60.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 22,000 head; slow; wethers and ewes, steady; others, 15c to 30c lower; lambs, $5 to $6.25; yearlings, $5 to $5.25; sheep, mixed, $2 to $4.25; Canada lambs, $5.75 to $6.10.

Chicago Live Stock.

CHICAGO, Dec. 20.—Cattle—Receipts, 1500; market firm and higher; steers, $3.80 to $6.25; cows, $2.75 to $4.50; heifers, $2.80 to $5.25; bulls, $2.60 to $4.30; calves, $3 to $7; stockers and feeders, $2.40 to $4.50.

Hogs—Receipts, 25,000; market, steady; choice heavy shipping, $4.45 to $4.50; butchers', $4.40 to $4.45; light mixed, $4.20 to $4.35; choice light, $4.35 to $4.40; packing, $4 to $4.35; pigs, $3.75 to $4.25; bulk of sales, $4.30 to $4.35.

Sheep—Receipts, 6000; market, firm; sheep, $4 to $4.50; lambs, $5 to $6; yearlings, $4 to $4.60.

BROKER SHOT DEAD.

Presumably by Former Customer Who Afterwards Committed Suicide.

New York, Dec. 21.—J. H. Oliphant, a prominent broker, was shot three times by a man said to be in front of 20 Broad street. He is in a serious condition. The man who fired the shots is said to be a former customer of the concern. He committed suicide after shooting Mr. Oliphant.

The shooting occurred in the offices of the firm of James H. Oliphant & Co. The man who did the shooting called at the office yesterday afternoon and had a dispute with Mr. Oliphant, supposedly over some business troubles. The man appeared to be making some demands which were refused. The man drew a revolver and fired three shots at Mr. Oliphant. He then turned the weapon on himself and committed suicide. Mr. Oliphant was taken to the Hudson street Hospital.

The name of the man who shot Mr. Oliphant is said to be O. A. Ceiger.

Abscender Is Arrested.

San Diego, Cal., Dec. 21.—A despatch from Ensenada, Lower California, concerning the arrest of W. F. Walker, defaulting cashier of the Savings Bank of New Britain, Conn., says Walker was under the alias of Morrison while in Lower California. He absconded with $337,000.

When Walker was arrested he had $1.01. When the police arrived at the camp Walker had his valises packed and was apparently preparing to go further into the mountains or to some other section of the wild country. After being handcuffed Walker seized a revolver belonging to one of the camp laborers and tried to kill himself, but was prevented by the police, under command of Ise Jimines.

A. Hayward Has Disappeared.

St. Thomas, Dec. 21.—A. Hayward of Windsor, who runs all the boarding cars on the M. C. R., is missing, and his wife is anxious to locate him. She fears he is a victim of foul play. He came here and drew his money from the pay car for the October bill for boarding the men in Windsor. He buys his groceries here, paid the bills, and must have had $400 left. He has not yet put in an appearance at home.

Asylum's Patient's Suicide.

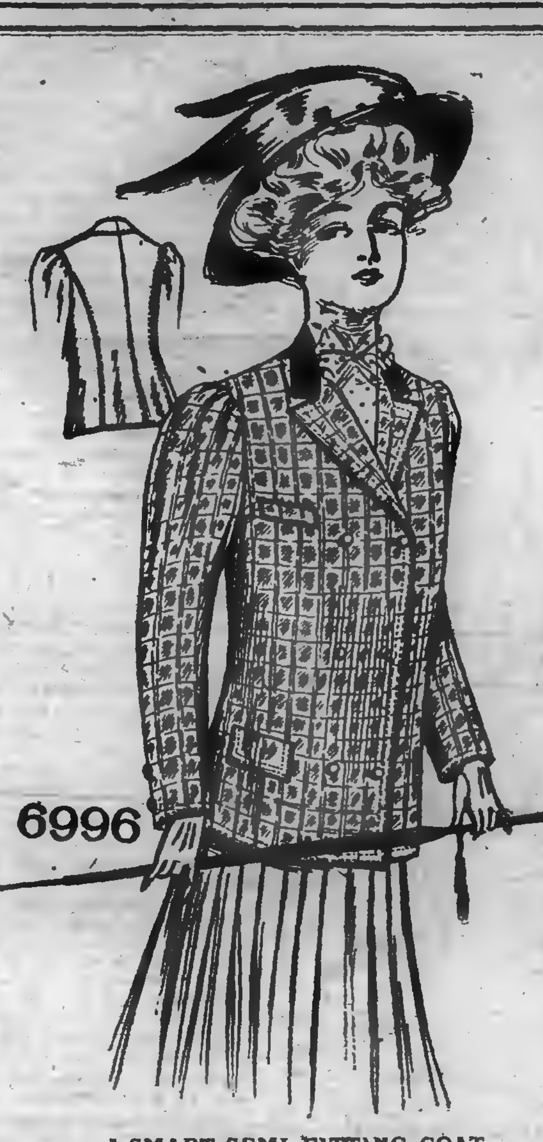
London, Dec. 21.—John Strong of Kippen, an inmate of the asylum, broke away from the guards and dived through a hole in the ice at the asylum reservoir. His body was recovered in fifteen minutes.

Six Hundred Will Benefit.

London, Dec. 21.—Six hundred Grand Trunk employes here will benefit by the company's new pension system.

The United States War Department has called for tenders for a dirigible balloon.

Local and District Agents For
DEERING Harvesting Machinery
MACLACHLIN Buggies and Carriages
Canadian Cordage Co. TWINE
STOREY & LEARY
SUPPLY HOUSE
381 Water Street 'Phone 456



A SMART SEMI-FITTING COAT

DREAM WORTH $20,000.

Brought a Fortune For Sceptical Paris Husband.

Paris, Dec. 21.—A remarkable case of a dream being worth $20,000 has just come to light at 6 Rue Truguet, Toulon, in which town lives a commercial traveler named Edouard Cholet.

Twelve months ago M. Cholet was advised by the office of the local Treasurer-General that the city of Paris debenture bond which he held had come out at the drawing at par ($500). Thereupon M. Cholet surrendered his bond for its face value. On Tuesday night his wife dreamt that the bond which her husband had held, No. 348,764, had really drawn $20,000.

She urged her husband to make immediate inquiries, and M. Cholet, though very skeptical, went Thursday to the Treasurer-General's office, where, on search being made, it was discovered that a mistake had been made, and that the bond supposed to have been drawn at par had in reality been drawn for $20,000.

Fell Into Sewer.

St. Thomas, Dec. 21.—Cornelius Taylor, better known as "Neil" to the many who knew him, was the victim of a very serious, if not fatal, accident yesterday morning. He was at work on the sewer on Ross street, when he fell into the hole backwards. His head and neck knocked against the side of the sewer and he was twisted around.

He was picked out of the sewer in an unconscious condition. It is feared that some of the bones of his neck are broken and that he cannot recover.

Woman Executed In Russia.

Moscow, Dec. 21.—The woman who, on Dec. 4, made an unsuccessful attempt to kill Lieut.-Gen. Guerschelmann, Governor-General of Moscow, by means of a bomb, was executed here yesterday morning. On the scaffold she said to her executioners: "We will soon stop your hangings."

Will Fight Duel.

Budapest, Dec. 21.—As a result of an allegation of political dishonesty, the Hungarian Premier, Dr. Wekerle, has challenged ex-Minister of Justice Polonyi to fight a duel with pistols, and the meeting will take place shortly.

Lord Kelvin, one of the greatest scientists of his age, died in Glasgow yesterday afternoon at the age of 83 years.

NITIALLED WRITING PAPER
One of the most acceptable of gifts that you can send is a dainty box of note paper and envelopes with one or more initials printed in gold on the top of the first sheet of paper or on the back of the envelopes. Good writing paper is always appreciated and you can make no mistake in including it in your list. Leave your order early at the REVIEW Office and you will be well satisfied. 3d

Children's Aid Society
FOR THE CARE OF NEGLECTED AND ILL-TREATED CHILDREN.
Incorporated by Act of Legislature, 1898. Information required. Informants name kept strictly private.
CHILDREN FOR ADOPTION
Office Hours—11.00 to 12.00 a.m.
FFICE—DIVISION COURT BLDG
GEO. COCHRANE.
Agent and Ass't Sec

Letterheads
¶What you think about your Business Stationery isn't quite so important as what your correspondent thinks.
¶Don't have inferior paper and work in your Business Stationery. Don't try good work and paper because you like it, altogether, but because it influences the man you write in your favor
¶The Review Job Department will give you the best work obtainable and superior paper and envelopes. Your order set, printed and cared for for you, particularly y u
¶A Call or Phone will bring to you samples.
THE REVIEW
PETERBOROUG

GET THE LATEST

The Review Supplies the Correct Things in Wedding Invitations, Programmes, Personal Stationery, Etc. . . . .

THE DAILY REVIEW

VOL LV., NO. 144 — PETERBOROUGH, ONT., CANADA, MONDAY, DECEMBER 23, 1907 — TEN CENTS PER WEEK

LUMBER

and BUILDING MATERIAL of all kinds. Shingles, Scantling, Joists and Bill Stuff. Mouldings, Casings and Base, and all kinds of finish. Boxes and Box Shooks.

ALF. McDONALD ESTATE

Point St. Charles Mill, Peterborough.

PROBABILITIES

Strong winds and gales, shifting to west, snow and rain. Tuesday mostly fair, not much change in temperature.

THE GOLDEN LION STORE

MONDAY USHERS IN LAST TWO DAYS OF XMAS RUSH

Unusually heavy buying had depleted our stock of CHRISTMAS NOVELTIES, but we have been fortunate in securing at LITTLE LESS THAN ONE HALF PRICE, another choice selection, which will be placed on sale Monday and Tuesday as we bought them—

Fully One-Third Less Than Regular

This showing embraces these gift suggestions: FANCY PIN CUSHIONS, HAIR RECEIVERS, WORK BASKETS, WORK BOXES, WHISK HOLDERS, HAND MIRRORS, JEWEL CASES, POCKET COMPANIONS, HANDKERCHIEF BASKETS, HANDKERCHIEF SACHETS, BONNET BRUSHES and a great many other lines of FANCY DRY GOODS.

A Christmas Special — Crystaline

New Evening Dress Fabric, Yd, 50c

A sheer, gauzy, silk material, specially adapted for Evening Dresses, in all the wanted shades; also dainty designs on cream grounds. An ordered costume of this would make an ideal Christmas Gift; 45 inches wide.
Worth 75c. Christmas Special

MONDAY and TUESDAY .50

50 DOZEN HANDKERCHIEFS

FOR MEN—Pure Irish Linen hemstitched, extra special value; full size. Christmas Special Monday and Tuesday

20c Each. Per Dozen, $2.25

FANCY HANDKERCHIEFS

Our Stock was never more complete. A late shipment just to hand enables us to offer some choice designs at much less than regular for Monday and Tuesday.

MEN'S INITIALLED HANDKERCHIEFS $1.00

Three in Box. Pure Irish Checked Linen, hemstitched, in pretty box, with Irish scenes on lid.

ARMENIAN HAND EMBROID'Y

Superb hand work on bolting cloth and satin, made in Armenia by native women in the British Missions. Doylies, 50c, 75c, $1; Centres and Cushion Tops, $4.50, $5.00 and $8.00

STORE OPEN MONDAY AND TUESDAY EVENINGS TILL 10 O'CLOCK, BUT SHOP IN THE MORNINGS IF POSSIBLE.

Robert Fair & Co.

383 GEORGE STREET — Limited

Phone—Dry Goods 145 — Phone—Dressmaking 145B

[redacted]

WANTED

A GOOD BOOKKEEPER—Apply, stating salary, experience, etc. to Box "A," Review Office. 2d

For Sale or To Rent

FOR SALE

TYPEWRITER, latest model American Oliver, brand new. Good discount off lowest selling price for a quick sale. Apply Review Office. —tf

FOR SALE

FIRST-CLASS PIANO for sale. Price reasonable. Apply at this office for particulars.

TO RENT

BRICK HOUSE AT 17 WATER ST., bath and electric light. Immediate possession. Apply to J. J. TURNER & SONS, Tent Manufacturers, George Street. 3d

FOR SALE

PIANO-CASE ORGAN, double the usual volume (8 sets reeds) good as new, less than half price on easy weekly or monthly payments. A nice Christmas present easy to buy. 27 Park St., corner Park and Parnell. tf

Lost and Found

LOST

ON FRIDAY LAST a Parcel of Silk wrapped in manilla, with "No. 9" on the cover. Reward for return to Review Office.

LOST

A GOLD LOCKET SET WITH A CROSS OF Diamonds. Finder will be rewarded by leaving at Review Office or 312 Boswell Ave.

"DON'T BURN THEM"

We will buy all kinds of Second-hand boots and shoes

JAY'S SECOND-HAND STORE

390 Aylmer Street

International Correspondence Schools

Of Scranton, Penn.

Industrial Science Taught by Mail.

LOCAL OFFICE - - 436 George Street

R. C. BALFOUR, Representative

PETERBOROUGH LAUNDRY

The quality of our work is our special pride, and makes lasting customers. If you are unacquainted with it, telephone 65 and our rig will call. After that you'll know what we can do . . . .

79 Charlotte St. — Phone 65

For Sale or To Rent

AT REASONABLE PRICES

Three small farms, good soil, suitable for gardening purposes, close to city. Also a few small, comfortable, dwelling houses, and choice building lots, well situated in good localities.

Properties sold, purchased or exchanged.

Private Funds to Loan on Real Estate.

INSURANCE

Agents for reliable Fire, Life, Accident, Plate Glass and Liability Insurance Companies. For particulars as to rates, etc., apply to

J. J. McBAIN & SON

Real Estate and Insurance Agents.

Office Cor. Simcoe and George-sts.

Office Phone 454 — Residence Phone 100A

FOR XMAS

Furniture fixed up like new. Upholstering and all kinds of similar work done. Mattresses made over.

A. R. JACKSON

320 Aylmer. Corner of Charlotte. Bell Phone 494B

CHRISTMAS IS COMING!

A nice pair of Snowshoes or a good Toboggan would make a most acceptable present to lady, gentleman, girl or boy. We carry a very large assortment. Call and see them.

J. J. TURNER & SONS

TENT MANUFACTURERS

George Street, Peterborough

ALL THINGS ARE NOW READY

GEORGE R. RECORD

PRACTICAL

FRENCH DRY CLEANER AND PRESSER

Ladies' and Gentlemen's Garments and Household Articles cleaned and guaranteed not to fade color or shrink any material. Charges moderate. Goods called for and delivered. Telephone 669.

NEW BRICK BLOCK, 173 SIMCOE ST.

Only Complete Dry Cleaning Plant in City

A. BROWN & CO.,

The Real Estate Agents, 396 Water Street

$100 will secure good Cottage with large lot 50x200
$500 will secure an up-to-date House with all modern improvements.
$1,000 will purchase good Cottage and large lot
$600 will secure Cottage, Stable and 4 acres good land near city.
We have some great snaps in Houses, Farms and City lots for sale and to rent.
Fire, Life and Accident Insurance.

Bell Phone 136 and 474 B. — Machine 117.

STOVES, RANGES

—AND—

HEATERS

Enamel and Tinware

Plumbing and Eavetroughing

HUTCHINSON-STURGEON CO

Bell and Machine 'Phones 236 — 342 George Street

MEALS—LUNCHES

AT ALL HOURS

For quick service, well-cooked meals and popular prices—go to

FOWLER'S RESTAURANT

McCallum's Old Stand - 330 George St

FANCY POTTERY

All kinds of Urns, Vases, Jugs, Plates, Jardinieres, etc., Moulded to Order for hand painting for Christmas gifts.

GEO. E. RAWLINGS, Crescent Street

R. A. ELLIOTT & CO.

Real Estate Agents

Head Office of the Sandstone Brick Co.

CHRISTMAS GIFTS

Two story brick dwelling, centrally located, containing 7 rooms and bath room, city water, electric light. This house is first-class, well built; mantle finish throughout.

A business for sale, consisting of blacksmith and carriage shop with tools, including gasoline engine, lathe, shafting, etc., with a good storehouse for implements and carriages. This is located in a good business centre near Peterborough—$1,000

A good butcher Business, including horses, harness, sleighs, waggons, shop fixtures, slaughter house fixtures, etc. Rent low, location very central. Price $1,300.

For further particulars apply to

J. T. O'CONNELL & CO.

Phone 376. — 136 Hunter St.

N. McDougall, B.A., and John Vosdep, M.A., have been appointed Public School Inspectors for East and West Lambton.

PORTER'S Delicatessen

Reduced Prices in All Cooked Meats

Fowler's Cooked Hams per lb.	25c
Fowler's Jellied Hocks, per lb.	18c
Fowler's Cooked Corn Beef, per lb.	13c
Fowler's Bologna, 3 lbs	25c
Fowler's Head Cheese, 3 lbs	25c

GROCERY BARGAINS

New Raisins, 3 lbs	20c
New Dates, 3 lbs	25c
3 Bottles Ketchup	25c
Peas, Beans and Corn, per tin	8c
Tomatoes, per tin	10c
H. S. Salmon, per tin	15c
Sunflower Salmon, 2 tins	25c
Shelled Almonds and Walnuts, per lb.	35c

All Fruits at reduced prices, including Oranges, Nuts, Apples, Figs, etc.

410 George Street

LADIES' HOCKEY BOOTS

See the MacPherson Lightning Hitch Hockey Boots for Ladies and Gents.

THE BANK'S SKATE STORE

Under the Market Clock

WAS SHORTEST DAY OF YEAR

Period of Daylight Will Now Commence to Lengthen

Saturday was the shortest day of the year, at least the period of daylight was shorter than on any other day. The sun rose at 7.47 o'clock and set at 4.43. Yesterday, according to the almanac, was the same length as Saturday, the sun rising at 7.48 and setting at 4.44. To-day is about a minute longer.

It will be some time before the difference in the period of daylight will be noticeable without consulting the almanac.

CREAMS AND CHOCOLATES

Star Creams, Star Chocolates, 2 lbs for 25c.

W. H. HAMILTON
138 Simcoe St.

TRAFFIC IS HEAVIER THAN LAST SEASON

Many Tickets Sold at Local Railway Offices—Trains Crowded

"The holiday traffic will be heavier this year than last, judging from results so far," said Mr. Wm. McIlroy this morning.

The fare and a third rate went into effect on Saturday and is good until January 3rd. The return trip for one fare starts to-morrow. Tickets are good until Thursday. Scores of tickets were sold at the local offices of the Grand Trunk and C.P.R. on Saturday and to-day the offices are filled with people enquiring about fares, trains, etc., and purchasing tickets. The trains passing through the city are crowded with people going home or going to visit for Christmas.

If there is a financial stringency it does not seem to be affecting railway traffic.

A good pure candy, 2 lbs. 25c; best Mixed Nuts, 15c lb. Special value in Oranges, Dates and Figs. Order your Poultry from James R. Bell, Phone 455, Machine 268.

REPORT IS UNTRUE

There is no credit in the rumor current to quite an extent, that the body of a man was found on the western bank of the Otonabee, in the rear of Beaudrey's pea factory. The police were questioned in the matter, and have no knowledge whatever of the finding of a body, and a thorough canvass of the local undertakers failed to elicit any information in the matter.

Buy your boy a ticket in the Y.M.C.A. It is a present to use every day in the year.

THE TONE THAT NEVER DISAPPOINTS

The Favorite Men's Toggery Shop

OUR STORE is just bubbling with clever Holiday Togs. All the young men acknowledge the superior quality of our Men's Wear, while the prices are consistent with good value.

In choosing Gifts for a young man, you must consider that he is a judge of styles, qualities, etc. By allowing us to aid you in this important purchase, you can depend on HIS approval of your choice.

Bargain Annex
Open To-night
and To-morrow

Xmas Gifts Boxed Free

389 George St. — Cressman's — Toggery Shop

MORE FRIENDSHIP NEEDED IN CHURCH

Rev. Robert Pogue Does Not Like so Much Coldness in House of God.

Previous to beginning his sermon in St. Paul's Church last evening Rev. Robert Pogue, the new pastor, said: "I have been told you are a rather cold people in St. Paul's Church. Personally I have not found you so. But since arriving here things have been reaching my ears, and I am bound to believe some reports as this one was told me by a good elder. Now on last Sunday night as soon as the benediction had been pronounced and after you all had spent a moment in silent prayer, you made for the doors with all the regularity and speed of children in a fire drill exercise. I do not like to see this. Not one of you came to shake hands with me after the service on Sunday last. In Bethany Church, Philadelphia, where I lived for some years, the minister does not have to go down to the doors to shake hands with his people. They crowd around him in front of the pulpit. I heard of a church in New York that was known as 'The Church of the Holy Icicles.' I would not like that title applied to St. Paul's. I trust that in future you will not be in such a hurry, that you will shake hands with those next to you, and seek to become better acquainted. Do not be afraid to be a little more friendly, especially toward strangers."

PROGRAMME AT MURRAY STREET

The following was the programme given at the S. S. entertainment at the Murray Street Baptist Church on Friday night. The name in each case refers to the teacher of the class, the representative or representatives of which supplied the item on the programme:

Mr. Shiner—Tableau, Mining Scene.
Miss Matthews—Christmas Carol.
Mrs. Martin — Tableau, Pilgrim Maids.
Miss Aldridge—Tableau, Work and Play.
Mrs. Montgomery—Dialogue.
Mrs. Dunlop—Recitation.
Primary—Duet and Carol.
Miss M. A. Nichols—Tableau, The Seasons.
Miss Webber—Recitation.
Mrs. Webb—Recitation and Carol.
Mrs. Wood and Miss Perrin—Tableau, Nearer My God to Thee.
Miss Loudon—Recitation.
Miss Hardwicke—Recitation.
Mr. Tewesley—Tableau, Newsboys' Scene.
Miss Cochrane—Recitation.
Bible Class—Solo and Carol.
Miss Martin — Tableau, Christmas Shopping.
Miss Browett—Solo.
Mr. Dunlop—Recitation.
Miss Garrett — Tableau, Private School.
Mrs. Gurney—Recitation.
Miss Martha Nichols—Solo.
Baraca Class — Tableau, Banking House.
God Save the King.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH

On Wednesday, Christmas Day, there will be celebrations of Holy Communion at 8.30 and 12 o'clock. At eleven o'clock there will be Morning Prayer and an address by the rector, Rev. Canon Davidson. Rev. Canon Davidson made an eloquent appeal yesterday for the poor at this Christmas season. He said there are many deserving poor in hard financial circumstances whom pride prevented from calling attention to their poverty and from asking for assistance. He asked that those who knew of such cases would furnish him with their address and needs.

ST. LUKE'S CHURCH

On Christmas Day there will be a celebration of Holy Communion at St. Luke's Church at 7 and 8 o'clock. There will also be a service at 10.30 o'clock.

At the services yesterday Rev. Dr. Langfeldt made an appeal for the poor of the parish. Any gifts sent to the rectory will be distributed by him. The rector also referred to the Christmas tree to be held by the Children's Aid Society on December 27.

St. Luke's Church will be attractively decorated for the Christmas services, and all those who desire to assist in the work will gather at the edifice this evening.

Tickets are selling fast for the entertainment on New Year's night at the Y.M.C.A. Better get yours now. You cannot think of missing it.

A SHARE OF OUR PROFITS will be our Christmas Gift to all customers between now and Christmas, and buyers will find our prices and selection specially attractive. . . . . .

Unique values in Bracelets, Lockets, Pins, Brooches, Watches, Chains, Rings, Silverware, Fancy Clocks, Fine Chinaware and everything in Jewellry for gifts.

CLARKE & SON

439 GEORGE STREET — JEWELLERS

GRAND OPERA HOUSE — THURSDAY and FRIDAY December 26 27

HARLETON & NORTH introduce MR. HENRY LUDLOWE—the Greatest Living Richard—in Mr. Richard Mansfield's magnificent $60,000 Productions

RICHARD III THURSDAY EVENING — THE MERCHANT OF VENICE FRIDAY EVENING

Prices, $1.00, 75c, 50c. Box Seats $1.50. Seat Sale Opens Tuesday at 10 a.m.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE—CHRISTMAS DAY

MATINEE AND NIGHT

THE MELO-DRAMATIC EVENT—BERTHA M. CLAY'S FAMOUS NOVEL

DORA THORNE

The most popular book ever written, dramatized by Lem. B. Parker. Magnificently mounted with specially scenery for every act. A powerful caste of prominent players. The sweetest, prettiest story ever told

Evening Prices 15, 25, 35, 50c. — Matinee 25 and 35c. — Children 15c

PLAN OPENS MONDAY AT 10 A. M.

WHEN MAKING YOUR SELECTIONS

For Christmas Presents, be sure and call at our store. We have an elegant assortment to choose from.

PERFUMES—A great line in fancy cases or in bulk from the best makers Any kind or price.

Very Handsome TOILET CASES and MANICURE SETS. Any style or price

HAIR BRUSHES and TOILET HAND MIRRORS—all prices and qualities to suit you.

FOUNTAIN PENS—A. A. Waterman & Co's Modern Pens from $1.00 up

LAUGHLIN FOUNTAIN PENS at $3.00. GOLD PENS $1.50

LOWNEY'S CHOCOLATES—A fine new lot in handsome boxes, especially for the Christmas trade.

Be sure and call and we will present you with a pretty Calendar for 1908.

J. D. TULLY, DRUGGIST

401 GEORGE ST.

THE CRYSTAL

OPEN EVERY AFTERNOON AND EVENING

ENTIRE CHANGE PROGRAMME TO-DAY

ADMISSION—5 CENTS

CHEAP HOUSES

If money is low and rent high, call at our office and see if you can't buy.

A good lot and comfortable house $50 down and easy payments.

A lot and 6 roomed house, $650 and Six Dollars a month.

A new 2 story, also modern red brick house, $950

A 1½ story red brick with half acre garden, on easy terms, $600 will buy and pay for.

Others at good value up to $4,000

Companies Good as the Best in all lines of Insurance but Life. Rates moderate.

R. G. Ives, Special Agent. 25 George St. Phone 2 Bell 3 — W. HIGHT

C.M.B.A. MEETING

The regular meeting of the C.M.B.A. will be held in the C.M.B.A. hall, George street, on Monday night instead of Tuesday. The election of officers will take place and other important matters attended to.

Medical

E. V. FREDERICK, M.D., Tor.
M.R.C.S., Eng.; L.R.C.P., Lond. Lic. Univ. of New York.
Removed to No. 403 George St., formerly office of Dr. McNeil
Private nursing home for surgical cases.

DR. G. STEWART CAMERON
Office and Residence
No. 273 Charlotte St. 'Phone 128

DR. G. C. LEACH
Late House Surgeon of Lakeside Hospital, Cleveland, Ohio; also of Cook County Hospital, Chicago. OFFICE—334 Hunter St., formerly occupied by Dr. Goughlin. Phone Bell 213.
Special Attention to Diseases of Women

DR. JAS. V. GALLIVAN
Office 315 Simcoe St. Late of St. John's Hospital New York. Lic. University of New York.
Telephone 460.

Osteopathy

DR. ASA G. WALMSLEY
Osteopathic Physician
Office over Canadian Bank of Commerce, Water Street entrance.
Office Hours—9 to 12 a.m. 2 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Consultation free.

Legal

R. E. WOOD
BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, Etc. Office removed from Bank of Commerce Building to 415 George street, recently occupied by E. B. Edwards. Money to Loan

W. H. MOORE
BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, in the Supreme Court etc. Office—Hunter street, first door west of Post Office.

HALL & HAYES
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS and NOTARIES PUBLIC, Hunter Street, Peterborough, next to English Church. Money to Loan at the lowest rates of interest.
E. H. D. HALL. LOUIS M. HAYES

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON
(Successors to Stratton & Hall)
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, Etc., Peterborough Ont. Office—Corner of Hunter and Water Sts. over Bank of Commerce.
E. H. D. HALL, M.P. S. T. MEDD. W. S. DAVIDSON

EDMISON & DIXON
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, Etc. Office in Cluxton's Block, corner of Hunter and George streets, over Dickson's store.

DENNISTOUN, PECK & KERR
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, NOTARIES, Etc
415 Water Street, Peterborough
PECK F. D. KERR R. M. DENNISTOUN

Money

MONEY TO LOAN
ON EASY TERMS
O'CONNELL & GORDON
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS NOTARIES, Etc
Canadian and United States Patent Attorneys
134 Hunter Street, two doors west of Post Office.
DANIEL O'CONNELL GEORGE N. GORDON

ROGER, BENNET & GOODWILL
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, Etc., 27 Water St. Peterborough. Telephone No. 191.
Money at Current Rates Upon Easy Terms.
G. M. ROGER. J. W. BENNETT. R. L. GOODWILL

TORONTO SAVINGS AND LOAN CO.

PAID UP CAPITAL $1,000,000.00
RESERVE FUND 580,000.00

AVINGS
An Account may be opened at any time with a Deposit of One Dollar.

3½% Interest allowed on daily balances.

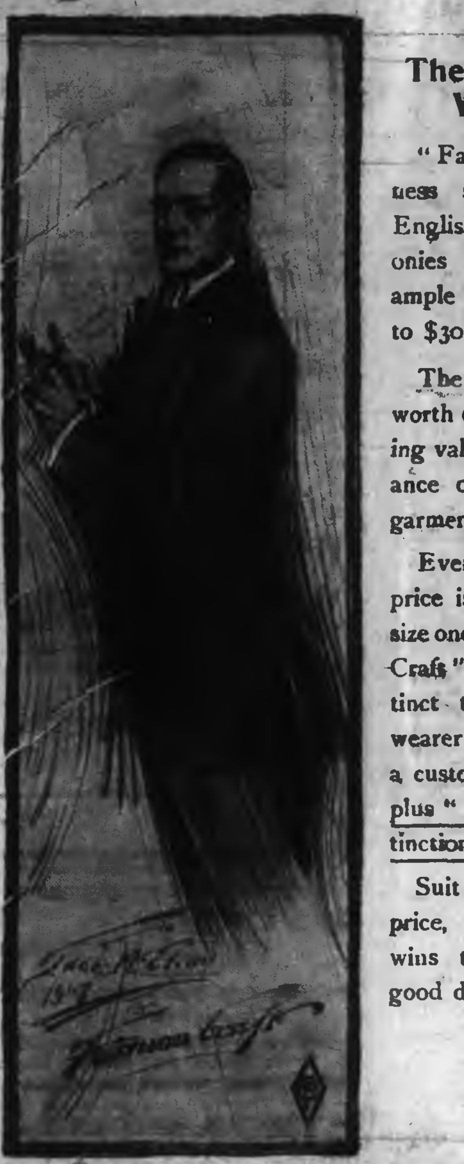
DEBENTURE DEPT.
Four Per Cent. paid half yearly on sums of $100.00 and upwards.

MONEY TO LOAN
at current rates of interest.

V. G. MORROW, Manage

Special Inducements TO BUY HEATERS
You gain nothing by delay. See our
Standard Oak
Quebec Ideal
Art Laurel
They are great fuel savers. Easily operated and splendid heat distributors.
F.R.J. MACPHERSON & CO.
341 George St. Phone 116
F. R. J. MACPHERSON ANGUS MACPHERSON

[redacted]



"Fashion-Craft"

The Artistic View Point

Rightly or wrongly, "Fashion-Craft" believes that its salesmen should be just as hard to please as its most fastidious customers.

Tnat is, none but men trained in clothes knowledge can sell "Fashion-Craft" clothes.

They must understand not only Fit, which is elementary knowledge, but color effect and pattern effect, so that their taste and judgment is used to the buyer's interest.

Think what this means—helping the customer to choose, and hot forcing him to buy.

The Commercial View Point

"Fashion-Craft" business suits include fine English Worsteds, Saxonies and Cheviots, in ample varieties from $15 to $30.

The $15 suit has $15 worth of substantial wearing value and the appearance of higher priced garments.

Every suit at whatever price is intended to emsize one fact, that "Fashion Craft" clothing is a distinct type and that the wearer is getting the best a custom tailor can do—plus "Fashion-Craft" distinction.

Suit for suit—price for price, "Fashion-Craft" wins the confidence of good dressers.

BUSINESS SUITS
Laidlaw & Oles Props., Peterborough

[redacted]

Watched Young Lad Freeze; Boy Meets Peculiar Death

Young Man Perishes in Sight of Two Hundred People.

Canoe Carried Down Stream and Swept Over Pawtucket Falls—Two Rescued in Exhausted Condition—Third Occupant Got Feet Jammed Under Rock and Was Held—Attempts at Rescue Fail.

Providence, R. I., Dec. 23.—In full view of 200 people who were powerless to extend aid, Alfred Jackson, aged 22, a Providence clerk, was frozen to death while standing on a rock under the falls of the Pawtucket River, in Pawtucket, late Saturday afternoon.

Jackson, with two companions, L. P. Mathewson, aged 19, of East Providence, and Jackson's brother, Arthur, aged 20, had been carried over the falls in a canoe. The other two young men were rescued with great difficulty and were removed to the Rhode Island Hospital in a critical condition from exposure.

The canoe drifted too near the falls and was carried over. All the occupants were thrown into the water. Alfred Jackson was able to reach a rock submerged at the foot of the falls, and managed to grasp his brother. Finally persons on shore threw life-lines and rescued Arthur Jackson and Mathewson, who had floated down stream. Alfred Jackson, in the meantime, remained standing up to his waist in water close under the falls, and when the would-be rescuers threw a line to him, expecting to pull him to a place of safety, they found they were unable to move him. In the roar of the cataract his shouts could not be heard, but it was evident that one of his legs had become caught under a rock or some other object under water.

Several ineffectual attempts were made to rescue him in the next half hour, Jackson assisting until cold rendered him unconscious, or at least helpless. Dr. Clinton Westcott and Adelard Potvin attempted to reach the perishing lad and almost lost their lives by a boat upsetting.

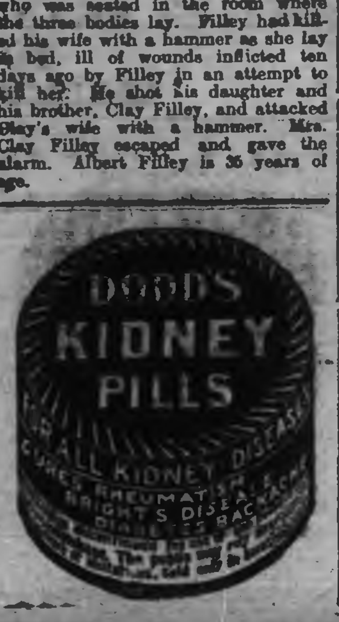
Nothing further could be done, and a large crowd on a bridge nearby was forced to stand idle and see Jackson freeze to death.

TRIPLE TRAGEDY.

Insane Man Kills His Wife, Daughter and Brother.

St. Joseph, Mo., Dec. 23.—A triple tragedy occurred near Cameron, Mo., Saturday. Albert Filley, a farmer, supposedly insane, having killed his wife and daughter and his brother.

Marshal Smith of Cameron found and arrested the alleged murderer, who was seated in the room where the three bodies lay. Filley had killed his wife with a hammer as she lay in bed, ill of wounds inflicted ten days ago by Filley in an attempt to kill her. He shot his daughter and his brother, Clay Filley, and attacked Clay's wife with a hammer. Mrs. Clay Filley escaped and gave the alarm. Albert Filley is 35 years of age.



MINE OWNERS WANT TROOPS.

Fear That Sheriff Cannot Maintain Order at Goldfield.

Goldfield, Neb., Dec. 23.—Mine operators at Goldfield are loth to leave the task of preserving law and order in the camp in the hands of Sheriff Ingalls. They are using every endeavor to prevail on President Roosevelt to order a portion of the troops to remain in Goldfield indefinitely. Telegrams have been sent, not only from the mine owners, but from officers of various civic bodies and by private individuals, all urging on the President the necessity of the presence of the troops.

C. E. Mahoney, acting president of the Western Federation of Miners, arrived last night and, is in consultation with the local Miners' Union.

In the event that the miners do renounce the Western Federation, or get their positions back through some other proceeding, the operators say they will pass the strikebreakers now here half a month's pay and send them back to where they came from.

There is a feeling of apprehension over the order for the recall of the troops, which it is impossible to conceal.

A GRUESOME MURDER.

Man Stabbed Through the Eye In a Railway Coach.

Rome, Dec. 23.—A gruesome murder was committed on a train which left here Saturday night for Ancona. A man, apparently of the higher classes, who had been sleeping alone in a first-class carriage, was found dead with a dagger wound through his heart. He had been stabbed through the eye, the dagger piercing the brain and being left in that position.

The fact that the man's purse and watch were missing at first led the police to believe that the object of the crime was theft, but the later discovery of a ring valued at $200 in the man's pocket led them to the conclusion that revenge played some part in the tragedy. Anything that would led to the identification of the victim apparently had been removed, with the exception of a ring, which, however, had no marks. The murdered man seems to have been a Venetian.

H. P. Hill Found Dead.

Winnipeg, Dec. 23.—The dead body of H. P. Hill, formerly of St. Alban's, Que., was brought into the city yesterday. There was no sign of violence on the body, and it did not appear that he had been struck by a train. Hill, as appeared from the baggage check, had been in Toronto on Dec. 11. So far as could be judged from appearances, he had left Winnipeg on foot and had walked the distance to Carey, twenty-eight miles. He had finally become exhausted and had died in the ditch where his body was found.

His clothing was in good condition, and apart from the fact that there was practically no money in his purse, there was nothing in his appearance to indicate poverty. He was a man over 50 years of age and slight in build.

Longer Bayonet Again.

London, Dec. 23.—The Army Council has adopted a modified form of the Japanese bayonet for the British army. It is seventeen inches long, as compared with the present bayonet of twelve inches, and affords a thrusting length of approximately 61-2 instead of 56 1-2 inches. Instead of being two-edged, with a double groove, it is single-edged, with a back and single groove, slightly tapered to a point. The crossguard, with one side having a deeply curved or hooked terminal, facilitates the stacking of arms.

St. Thomas Man Held.

St. Thomas, Dec. 23.—James A. Moore, a prominent citizen, who conducts a hide business, and has been identified with several industrial enterprises, was placed under arrest on complaint of the manager of the Dominion Bank, who charges Moore with forging the name of his brother, H. C. Moore of Toronto, to a guarantee bond in October last. Moore is said to have borrowed heavily from the bank, and the bond was given as a guarantee of these amounts. Other charges, it is said, will also be laid.

Shah Conciliatory.

Teheran, Dec. 23.—The Shah yesterday gave an audience to the British ambassador and the Russian Minister. He solemnly assured them that he did not intend to abolish the constitutional regime, but would strive to work in co-operation with the Parliament.

MINERS ALMOST DROWN

Hundred and Fifty Caught by Rush of Water.

Accident in Pit at Aunenaid—Blast Unexpectedly Tapped Large Body of Water in Abandoned Slope Adjoining—All Escaped Except Man Who Fired the Shot—Flood Rapidly Subsided.

Hazelton, Pa., Dec. 23.—More than 150 miners narrowly escaped drowning in the No. 4 slope at the Lehigh & Wilkesbarre Coal Co., at Aunenaid, through the unexpected tapping of a large body of water in the abandoned No. 1 slope adjoining.

The water reached to the waists of some of the men, who got to the surface through two separate openings. The only man who perished was Anthony Salvoski, who set off the blast that released the water.

The rush of air was so great when the water broke through that the lights in the lamps of most of the men in the slope were extinguished. The flood rapidly subsided.

Nine men lost their lives in this mine last July through white damp.

MILK DEALERS INDICTED.

Increase in Chicago Prices Injurious to Public Trade.

Chicago, Dec. 23.—The December grand jury yesterday returned indictments against fifteen members of the Illinois Milk Dealers' Association for conspiracy to do an illegal act injurious to public trade.

The indictments are the result of the investigation recently commenced by State Attorney Haley into the causes for the recent advance in the price of milk.

Among those indicted is William J. Rogers, president of the Borden Condensed Milk Co., a New York corporation, capitalized at $25,000,000.

All of the men indicted waived immunity when they testified before the grand jury and appeared as voluntary witnesses.

The offence charged against the milk dealers is punishable by a fine of $2,000, or imprisonment in the penitentiary from one to five years, or both.

SHOT LICENSE INSPECTORS.

Serious Affair at Belfast, N. Y.—Italian Arrested.

Wellsville, N. Y., Dec. 23.—Michael Dardano and Albert J. Matico, license inspectors, were shot at Belfast yesterday by an Italian. Inspector Dardano has a bullet in his spine and will probably die. Matico was shot in the neck. Although badly wounded he will recover. An Italian known as "Little Pete," employed as a baker in Decilio's boarding house and bakery, is under arrest on an open charge pending the result of the inspector's wounds.

The trouble began Friday night when District Attorney Rice caused the arrest of Decilio on a charge of selling liquor without a license. The evidence against him was secured by Inspectors Dardano and Matico. They were shot by "Little Pete" while waiting at the station for a train.

Gave Thieves the Slip.

Peterboro, Dec. 23.—Saturday night as Thomas Fitzgerald, a wealthy farmer of Duro, was returning home from the city, he went by way of the lift lock and when passing through the archway two men sprang out. One seized the horse by the reins, while the other attempted to seize Mr. Fitzgerald. The latter struck his assailant with the butt end of his whip. At this the horse sprang forward and the farmer made good his escape, but not before one of the robbers had fired four shots at him, fortunately without effect. Both men were masked. Fitzgerald had a large sum of money on his person and it is thought that the would-be robbers were aware of the fact.

Bulgarians at Boston.

Boston, Dec. 23.—Awaiting advices from the Canadian authorities there is being held up here by the immigration officials, a band of twenty Bulgarians, bound for Toronto and Hamilton. Inasmuch as the Canadian Government is discouraging immigration at present, it is thought these Bulgarians may not be wanted, and there is no assurance that if allowed to land they would not become public charges.

Blind Boy Lost In Crowd.

Port Huron, Mich., Dec. 23.—Willie Merriot, a 12-year-old blind boy from Blackwell, Ont., a few miles from Sarnia, who, with his mother, was in the stores here shopping on Friday, disappeared in the crowd. The mother searched for him all the afternoon, and notified the police.

Husband Is In Prison.

New York, Dec. 23.—A cablegram was received here from Mrs. Tchaikowsky confirms the news that her husband, Nicholas Tchaikovsky, known as "the father of the Russian revolution," was imprisoned in the fortress of St. Peter and St. Paul in St. Petersburg.

Thirty Thousand on Strike.

Crefeld Germany, Dec. 23.—The silk weavers who struck recently have refused to resume work, notwithstanding the threat of the employers to declare a general lock-out.

The factories will be closed down on Monday, more than 30,000 weavers being affected.

Millions For Charity.

Dresden, Dec. 23.—The late Queen Carola has bequeathed to charitable organizations the larger part of her fortune, which in all is estimated at about $5,000,000.

Walter Hildreth and George Young for housebreaking at Hamilton were sent to the Penitentiary for five years.

THE MARKETS.

Liverpool and Chicago Wheat Futures Close Higher—Live Stock—Latest Quotations.

Saturday Evening, Dec. 21.

Liverpool wheat futures closed today 3-4d to 1d up, corn 1-4d up.

Winnipeg Options.

Following are the closing quotations on Winnipeg grain futures to-day:

Wheat—Dec. $1.08 bid. May $1.13¼ bid.

Oats—Dec. 47½c bid, May 51c bid.

Toronto Grain Market.

Grain—
Wheat, spring, bush	$0 95	to $....
Wheat, fall, bush	0 97	....
Wheat, goose, bush	0 87	....
Wheat, red, bush	0 98	....
Rye, bush	0 83	....
Peas, bush	0 88	....
Buckwheat, bush	0 64	0 65
Barley, bush	0 74	0 75
Oats, bush	0 51	....
Seeds—
Alsike, fancy, bush	$8 00	to $8 25
Alsike, No. 1, bush	7 50	8 00
Alsike, No. 2, bush	6 75	7 25
Red clover, No. 1, bush	9 50	....
Hay and Straw—
Hay, new, per ton	$19 00	to $21 00
Cattle hay, ton	21 00	14 00
Straw, loose, ton	10 00	....
Straw, bundled, ton	16 00	....
Fruits and Vegetables—
Potatoes, per bag	$0 80	to $0 90
Apples, per barrel	1 75	3 50
Apples, snow, barrel	2 50	3 50
Onions, per bag	1 00	1 25
Poultry—
Turkeys, dressed, lb	$0 13	to $0 16
Geese, per lb	0 09	0 10
Spring chickens, lb	0 10	0 12
Spring ducks, lb	0 10	0 12
Fowl, per lb	0 07	0 08
Dairy Produce—
Butter, lb	$0 27	to $0 33
Eggs, strictly new-laid, per dozen	0 45	0 55

Toronto Dairy Market.

Butter, dairy, lb. rolls	0 27	0 28
Butter, tubs	0 25	0 26
Butter, creamery, lb. rolls	0 29	0 30
Butter, creamery, boxes	0 28	0 30
Eggs, new-laid, dozen	0 30	....
Eggs, cold-storage, dozen	0 22	....
Cheese, large, lb	0 13½	....
Cheese, twin, lb	0 13¾	....
Honey, extracted, lb	0 12	0 13½

Liverpool Grain and Produce.

LIVERPOOL, Dec. 21.—Closing—Wheat—Spot, No. 2 red western winter firm, 7s 8¾d. Futures firm; Dec. nominal, March 8s 2d, May 8s 1⅛d.

Corn—Spot prime, mixed, American, new, steady, 5s 4d; prime mixed, American, old, firm, 5s 6d. Futures steady; Dec. nominal, Jan. 5s 4d.

Peas—Canadian steady, 7s 9d.

Flour—Winter patents steady, 30s 9d.

Hops—In London (Pacific coast) quiet, £2 to £3 10s.

Beef—Extra India mess firm, 96s 3d.

Pork—Prime mess, western steady, 86s 3d.

Hams—Short cut, 14 to 16 lbs., quiet, 42s.

Bacon—Cumberland cut, 26 to 30 lbs., quiet, 51s 6d; short rib, 16 to 24 lbs., quiet, 55s; long clear middles, light and heavy, no stocks; short clear backs, 16 to 20 lbs., firm, 53s 6d; clear bellies, 14 to 16 lbs., steady, 54s; shoulders, square, 11 to 13 lbs., steady, 35s 6d.

Lard—Prime western, in tierces, quiet, 41s 9d; American refined, in pails, quiet, 45s.

Cheese—Canadian finest white, new, steady, 62s; Canadian finest colored, new, steady, 62s.

Tallow—Prime city dull, 29s; Australian in London dull, 32s 6d.

Turpentine—Spirits easy, 33s 6d. Rosin—Common easy, 9s. Petroleum—Refined firm, 7⅛d. Linseed oil—Weak, 23s 9d. Cottonseed oil—Hull, crude, Jan.-April, dull, 21s 3d.

New York Dairy Market.

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—Butter, firm; receipts, 4485; creamery, specials, 29½c to 30c; extras, 29c.

Cheese, firm, unchanged; receipts, 2894.

Eggs, steady, unchanged; receipts, 5808.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Cables Unchanged—Hogs Are Higher at Buffalo and Chicago.

LONDON, Dec. 21.—London cables are firmer, at 11c to 12½c per lb., dressed weight; refrigerator beef is quoted at 9½c per pound.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, Dec. 21.—Cattle—Receipts, 500 head; steady; prime steers, $5.25 to $5.75.

Veals—Receipts, 250 head; 25c to 50c lower, $5 to $8.75; few at $9.

Hogs—Receipts, 9000 head; fairly active; 15c to 20c higher; heavy and mixed, $4.75 to $4.80; mixed, $4.75 to $4.80; yorkers, $4.70 to $4.75; pigs, $4.65 to $4.75; roughs, $4.25 to $4.40; stags, $3.25 to $3.75; dairies, $4.60 to $4.75.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 15,000 head; sheep slow and steady; lambs fairly active, 5c to 10c higher; lambs, $5 to $6.40; few, $6.45; yearlings, $5 to $5.25; wethers, $4.25 to $5; ewes, $4 to $4.25; sheep, mixed, $3 to $4.25; Canada lambs, $6 to $6.25.

New York Live Stock.

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—Beeves—Receipts, 1452, for slaughterers. Nothing doing; feeling steady. Exports, 750 cattle and 5350 quarters of beef.

Calves—Receipts, none; nothing doing; feeling easy for everything except choice veals.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 3529. Sheep dull and not wanted; prices nominal; lambs, slow and 25c to 40c lower, at $5.65 to $6.50; general top price, $6; Canada lambs, $6; culls, $5.

Hogs—Receipts, 5762, all for slaughterers; nominally steady.

Chicago Live Stock.

CHICAGO, Dec. 21.—Cattle—Receipts, about 200; market steady; beeves, $3.40 to $6.25; cows and heifers, $1.15 to $4.60; Texans, $3.10 to $3.85; calves, $5 to $7.25; westerns, $3.25 to $4.75; stockers and feeders, $2.30 to $4.25.

Hogs—Receipts, about 21,000; market 10c to 15c higher; light, $4.20 to $4.60; mixed, $4.25 to $4.65; heavy, $4.25 to $4.65; rough, $4.25 to $4.35; pigs, $3.60 to $4.50; bulk of sales, $4.40 to $4.55.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, about 1700; market steady; native, $1.75 to $4.30; western, $1.75 to $4.25; yearlings, $4.25 to $5.15; lambs, $3.75 to $6; western, $3.75 to $6.

Stevedore Fatally Injured.

Owen Sound, Dec. 23.—Joseph A. Graham, a stevedore in the employ of the C. P. R. here, who was severely injured recently by being accidentally knocked into the hold of the steamer Manitoba by a careless trucker, died at the General and Marine Hospital on Saturday from his injuries. Almost every rib on his right side was broken from his spine, causing paralysis of the lower part of his body. He was 30 years of age and leaves a widow and two children.

President's Daughter to Wed.

New York, Dec. 23.—A Washington despatch says: Washington is interested in the persistent rumor that Miss Ethel Roosevelt, who will be given a ball on Jan. 3, which will be in reality her informal coming out party, is engaged to young Charles Glover, the son of President Glover of the Riggs Bank.

Crane Car Upset.

Thamesford, Dec. 23.—Saturday afternoon a 30-ton section of the new bridge being constructed here toppled over from the crane car of the Hamilton Bridge Co. and delayed traffic until 7 p. m. Employes had to jump to avoid injury.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS
PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days or money refunded. 50c.

Dye
With Maypole Soap
Maypole is a cake of soap that dyes and washes at the same time. A household world in England. No mess, no trouble, no uncertain results, no streaks. The tired women's best friend—an Economical Home Dye.
MAYPOLE SOAP
10c. for Colors—15c. for Black.
Frank L. Benedict & Co., Montreal.

SANTAL-MIDY
Standard remedy for Gleet, Gonorrhoea and Runnings IN 48 HOURS. Cures Kidney and Bladder Troubles.
MIDY

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM
RAILWAY TIME TABLE

	Arrive	Depart
Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, Gravenhurst, North Bay, Stouffville and Toronto	11.40 a.m. 9.00 p.m.	8.25 a.m. 5.35 p.m.
Port Hope and points east to Montreal and Boston		8.30 a.m.
Port Hope, Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago & West, Niagara Falls, Buffalo, Cobourg, Montreal and East	8.30 a.m. 5.33 p.m.	11.45 a.m. 2.05 p.m.
From Buffalo, Hamilton, Toronto, Bowmanville and Port Hope	11.45 a.m.
Toronto, Lindsay, Stouffville, Uxbridge and Markham	10.05 p.m.	7.20 a.m.
Lindsay Local	8.15 a.m.	8.10 p.m.
Hastings, Campbellford, Madoc, Belleville, Kingston, Montreal and East	8.10 a.m. 8.40 p.m.	8.30 a.m. 1.50 p.m.
Lakefield and Stony Lake	9.50 a.m. 5.15 p.m.	8.30 a.m. 12.30 p.m.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY

To Peterboro' Going East.
11.16 a.m., Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal
7.51 p.m., Indian River, Norwood, Havelock, Tweed.
12.31 a.m. midnight, Havelock, Tweed, Smith's Falls, Montreal, Quebec, Portland, Boston and New England points.
1.10 a.m., Ottawa express, Norwood, Havelock, Ivanhoe, Tweed, Smith's Falls, Carleton Jct., Ottawa.
To Peterboro' Going West.
4.48 a.m. for Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, New York, Woodstock, St. Thomas, Chicago, etc.
5.26 a.m. Do. † Do.
7.56 a.m. for Cavanville, Manvers, Pontypool, Burkton, etc., Fort William, Winnipeg and all western points in North West Canada.
4.46 p.m. Pontypool, Lindsay, Toronto, Hamilton, Galt, Woodstock, London, Detroit Chicago, etc.

The teachers of the Protestant Board of School Commissioners yesterday presented a unanimous petition to the Rev. Dr. Barclay asking him to accept his re-appointment and return to the Board.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

Xmas and New Year's Excursions

Between all stations in Canada, also to Detroit and Port Huron, Mich., Buffalo, Black Rock, Niagara Falls and Suspension Bridge, N.Y.

AT SINGLE FARE
Good going December 24th and 25th, 1907

RETURNING UNTIL DEC. 26, 1907
Also good going December 31st, 1907, and January 1st, 1908, returning until January 2nd, 1908.

AT FARE AND ONE-THIRD
Good going Dec. 21st to Dec. 25th, 1907.
Returning until January 3rd, 1908.
Also good going Dec. 28th, 1907, to Jan. 1st, 1908.
Returning Until January 3rd, 1908

For further information and tickets call on
W. BUNTON
City Passenger Agent
F. SANDY,
Depot Ticket Agent
Or write Mr J. D. McDonald, D.P.A., Union Depot, Toronto

SHORT LINE TO MUSKOKA AND PARRY SOUND

WINTER TIME TABLE
In effect December 9th, 1907

NORTHBOUND	No. 1	No. 3
TORONTO	† 9.00 am	† 5.30 pm
WASHAGO	12.45 pm	9.00 pm
PARRY SOUND	3.10 pm	....
SOUTHBOUND	No. 2	No. 4
PARRY SOUND	† 9.00 am	†........
WASHAGO	11.25 am	6.45 am
TORONTO	3.00 pm	10.10 am

Observation-Dining Parlor Cars between Toronto and Parry Sound serving meals a la carte.
† Daily except Sunday.
OFFICES: All Stations, also Cor. King and Toronto and Union Station. Phone, Main 5179.

SINGLE FARE
Tickets good going
Dec. 24 and 25
Return limit Dec. 26
Also good going December 31 and January 1. Return limit January 2.

FARE AND ONE THIRD
Tickets good going:
December 21 to 25 inclusive
December 28 to January 1 inclusive
Return limit January 3.
BETWEEN ALL STATIONS
Tickets and all information
W. McILROY,
Canadian Pacific Agent
349 George St. Peterboro
or write C. B. Foster, D.P.A., Toronto

CENTRAL LIVERY STABLES
AND
VETERINARY INFIRMARY
193 Hunter Street west of Oriental Hotel.
If you wish a rig of any kind for any occasion ring us up and you will find everything up-to-date in the livery line. Both Phones 278. Night Phone Bell 485 B.
D. McKERCHER, V.S.

IF YOUR PIANO BEARS THE NAME
"GERHARD HEINTZMAN"
It has the excellence that comes of years of experience and study, carefully and intelligently applied.
A SINGING EVEN TONE PERFECT ACTION
DELICACY OF TOUCH
combined with durability and beauty of design are the distinguishable characteristics of the "Gerhard Heintzman."
In buying a piano it is the truest form of economy to get the best, the few dollars additional in the price being returned tenfold in wear, pleasure and pride of ownership. Write for catalogue.
Gerhard Heintzman, Limited
97 Yonge Street, Toronto.
W. H. ISAAC, 228 Dublin Street, Peterborough.
Local Salaried Representative. Machine 'Phone 22

The .... Rogue's March.

By
E. W. HORNUNG,
Author of "Raffles, the Amateur Cracksman," "Stingaree," Etc.

Copyright, 1896, by CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS.

"Yes, I caught a glimpse of somebody as we heeled over. Depend upon it, that's our man!"

Daintree turned nasty in a moment.

"Why depend upon it?" he snapped. "Did you see the man's face? Would you know him again? Oh, you would not! Then let me recommend you not to make a fool of yourself, my good fellow. Nobody but a fool would connect the two men."

His ill temper was inexplicable, yet to treat an attempt upon his property as a joke and an inoffensive theory of the attempt as something of an insult was but in accord with the capricious character of the man. And, indeed, Tom would have gone to bed like a lamb and thought no more about the matter, but yet another caprice detained him. Daintree would not hear of his going. It was their last night together; they must sit up and talk, and he apologized for what he had said. So they sat up once more, but the conversation languished for the first time on these occasions. Something had unnerved and depressed Tom's master; he was never himself until the last night of his single life was at an end, and in the first light of dawn a full rigged ship sailed in just as the Rosamund had done on the previous Sunday afternoon.

"Letters!" he cried. "Letters for my wedding day! Who knows but what I may get the best of news to crown my joys? What if my wife were never to be Mrs. Daintree at all? Yonder ship may dub me baronet. Open a bottle, Thomas, and we will drink to all she brings us!"

Then at last they lay down, but sleep came neither to the happy man nor to his miserable valet, and by 10 o'clock the one was helping the other into his wedding garments. A few minutes before the hour the coach arrived which was to take the bridegroom in state to church. A few minutes after a man was observed rowing in the bay, and Daintree insisted on taking a look at him through his spyglass. Evidently the rower saw him, for he shot out of sight behind a headland, but not before Daintree had brought his telescope to bear upon the rower, and now the glass joggled between fingers which seemed smitten with the ague.

"That was the man," whispered Daintree, "and he's after me still. I—I didn't mind last night. I suppose it takes less to turn one queer on one's wedding morning." He was struggling in vain against some growing terror. "Brandy, man, brandy!" he gasped and subsided in a chair.

Tom rushed downstairs for the decanter and, returning, found the terrified man fumbling with his pocket pistol. He tossed off the spirit and handed the pistol to Tom.

"There," said he, "better withdraw and reload to make sure. Stop, give it back!" He snatched the pistol and fired excitedly through the open window. "That'll show him I'm armed," he cried. "Now load up again!"

He seemed beside himself with excitement. Tom went out without a word and on his return handed back the pocket pistol. Daintree cocked it and felt the trigger.

"I've a good mind to fire through the window again," he snarled, "to see if you have loaded it, but I'll trust you, Thomas. You're the one man in this world I do trust. And now put on your hat and come in with me to Sydney."

Tom drew back. This was not in the programme. On the contrary, he was to stay and mind the house.

"D—n the house!" cried Daintree. "The girl can look after the house. Your place is at your master's side or else you are the foulest ingrate in New South Wales! But you are. I have always known you were. You have only waited for this hour to turn and rend me!"

"You are wrong," said Tom grimly. "I do not leave your side again," for the man must be mad, and Tom no longer shirked the ceremony, but for one instant had a mad design himself; the next, his right hand was warmly held.

"Thank God!" cried Daintree in a breaking voice. "I knew you didn't mean it. No more did I mean anything I said. Forgive me, Thomas, and don't desert me at the last."

And Tom's heart sank as it once more softened to the man who was not mad, but only unstrung, and again he longed to eschew the church, but he kept his word, and fortune was yet to prove his friend. A mile they had driven when a loud cry broke from Daintree. In his agitation he had forgotten the ring. He burst into tears at the discovery.

"Never mind! Never mind!" cried Tom in his oldest role. "We can turn back. What, isn't there time? No, I know it would never do to keep her waiting. Then look here, I'll run back and gallop in again on your horse. I'll be there almost as soon as you, and the ring isn't wanted till quite the end."

Daintree thanked him through his tears—the first Tom had ever seen in those fiery eyes—and he sped back strangely touched, but strangely comforted too. At least he loved her! The man might be egotistical and vain and overbearing, all three to the verge of lunacy, but that he was marrying for sheer love was even more palpable than it had been before. Tears in those eyes! Tears at the thought of losing her for one more day! Then God grant that with Claire at least he might be unselfish, meek and gentle, though an egotist, a coxcomb and a tyrant to all the world beside!

So praying as he ran, forgetful of his own debt to Daintree—for the moment self forgetting altogether—Tom was at the bungalow gate in time that would not have shamed the bridegroom in his athletic youth. And in the very gateway he stopped dead. He had caught a glimpse of ragged coattails disappearing through the study windows. A crazy skiff lay hauled up on the strand.

Tom kicked off his shoes. He made no sound on the veranda, but he wasted some seconds, and heard two drawers burst open as he crept nearer and nearer. He was totally unarmed; his one chance lay in taking the thief by surprise.

The veranda on this side was in deep shadow all the morning. In the cool dusk of the study a masked man was rifling drawer after drawer and tossing the contents right and left. The floor was strewn with papers as Tom leaped across it and hurled himself upon the thief. They crashed to the ground together. The man's head caught the corner of the bookshelf, and he lay supine, with a mouthful of crumbling teeth grinning horribly below the mask.

His nerveless fingers still clutched a packet of bluish letters half torn from their wrapper. Tom took them from him and rose up panting. A moment later they might have heard his shout at Piper's point.

All but one letter had slipped from his trembling hand. On the back of that letter a few lines had been scrawled with a lead pencil.

It was the receipt.

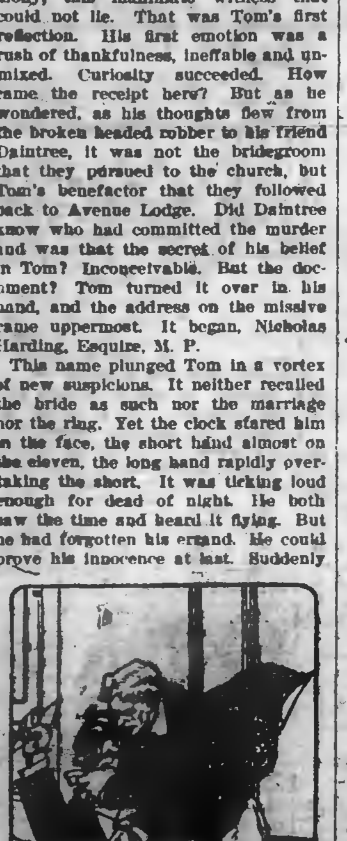
Penciled by Blaydes on the back of a letter, signed by Tom in the moonlit Hampstead fields and taken by the murderer from his victim's person, it was neither more nor less than the missing document whose production would have acquitted Erichsen at the Old Bailey. And now after eighteen months and here on these outlandish shores it had cast up at his very feet. He held it—held his freedom—in his own trembling hands.

The words spun like midges as the paper rustled and shook. He had to set it on the chimney piece to read it through:

> Received from J. Montgomery Blaydes, late captain, Coldstream guards, his watch and chain, etc., in settlement of all claims, and in consideration of which I undertake to return pawn ticket for same to said J. M. Blaydes, Ivy cottage, West End, within three days from this date. T. ERICHSEN.
> April 27, 1887.

He forgot the wedding ring, forgot the wedding. He was an innocent man. He could prove it now before all the world by this incomparable testimony, this inanimate witness that could not lie. That was Tom's first reflection. His first emotion was a rush of thankfulness, ineffable and unmixed. Curiosity succeeded. How came the receipt here? But as he wondered, as his thoughts flew from the broken headed robber to his friend Daintree, it was not the bridegroom that they pursued to the church, but Tom's benefactor that they followed back to Avenue Lodge. Did Daintree know who had committed the murder and was that the secret of his belief in Tom? Inconceivable. But the document? Tom turned it over in his hand, and the address on the missive came uppermost. It began, Nicholas Harding, Esquire, M. P.

This name plunged Tom in a vortex of new suspicions. It neither recalled the bride as such nor the marriage nor the ring. Yet the clock stared him in the face, the short hand almost on the eleven, the long hand rapidly overtaking the short. It was ticking loud enough for dead of night. He both saw the time and heard it flying. But he had forgotten his errand. He could prove his innocence at last. Suddenly there was a groan, then a movement behind him, and as he wheeled round the man in the mask sat up.



Tom hurled himself upon the thief.

"Ha!" said Tom. "So it was you who followed my master from the bank and tried to break into his desk last night! You're succeeded a bit too late. My master's got his money in his pocket—and he isn't here!"

To be continued.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.
CURE
Sick Headache and relieve all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing
SICK
Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured
HEAD
Ache they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head is the bane of so many lives that here is where we make our great boast. Our pills cure it while others do not.
ACHE
Carter's Little Liver Pills are very small and very easy to take. One or two pills make a dose. They are strictly vegetable and do not gripe or purge, but by their gentle action please all who use them.
CARTER MEDICINE CO., NEW YORK.
Small Pill. Small Dose. Small Price.

HOSPITALS CROWDED

MAJORITY OF PATIENTS WOMEN

Mrs. Pinkham's Advice Saves Many From this Sad and Costly Experience.

Mrs. Robt. Glenn

It is a sad but true fact that every year brings an increase in the number of operations performed upon women in our hospitals. More than three-fourths of the patients lying on those snow-white beds are women and girls who are awaiting or recovering from operations made necessary by neglect.

Every one of these patients had plenty of warning in that bearing down feeling, pain at the left or right of the abdomen, nervous exhaustion, pain in the small of the back, pelvic catarrh, dizziness, flatulency, displacements or irregularities. All of these symptoms are indications of an unhealthy condition of the female organs, and if not heeded the trouble may make headway until the penalty has to be paid by a dangerous operation, and a lifetime of impaired usefulness at best, while in many cases the results are fatal.

The following letter should bring hope to suffering women. Mrs. Robert Glenn, of 434 Marie St., Ottawa, Ont., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is so well and widely known that it does not need my recommendation, but I am pleased to add it to the many which you have in its favor. I suffered untold agonies from serious female troubles for nearly three years, and the doctors told me that I must undergo an operation, but as I was unwilling to do this, I tried your Vegetable Compound and I am only too pleased that I did so, for it restored me to perfect health, saving me the pain of an operation and the immense bills attending the same. Pray accept my hearty thanks and best wishes."

Just as surely as Mrs. Glenn was cured of the troubles enumerated in her letter, just so surely will Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cure other women who suffer from female troubles, inflammation, kidney troubles, nervous excitability and nervous prostration.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all women who are ill to write her for free advice. She is a daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for twenty-five years has been advising sick women free of charge. Address, Lynn, Mass.

SEVEN STRIKERS SHOT

Trouble in Chile's Nitrate Fields Results in Riot.

The Situation Becoming Daily More Serious — Not Less Than Thirty Thousand on Strike — Sixteen Wounded In Clash With Troops—Encounter Results In Bloodshed and Death at Iquique.

Valpairaso, Chile, Dec. 23.—The strike of the nitrate workers has resulted already in bloodshed and death, and is daily growing more serious.

In Lagunas there was an encounter between troops and strikers, in the course of which seven men were killed and sixteen wounded.

At Iquique one man was killed and several wounded in an encounter with the authorities. A censorship has been established at Iquique.

The strikers now number not less than 30,000 men, and no work is being done anywhere in the Antofogasta, Mejillones or Caletabuena districts.

KILLED BY BOILER EXPLOSION.

Eighty Men Had to Remain All Night Mine.

Glace Bay, Dec. 23.—As the result of a boiler explosion in No. 2 colliery Saturday morning, two men are dead, while three others are in a critical condition. The cause of the explosion remains a mystery. Besides demolishing No. 4 boiler, which now lies on the ground a complete wreck, two other boilers were put out of commission. The main steam pipe was also broken, and the east end of the boiler-room was completely blown out. Iron work about the boilers was also twisted and torn, and there is a large hole in the roof of the boiler-room.

By the breaking of a steampipe, the fans which supplies air to the harbor and phalen seams was stopped. There were eighty men working in the phalen seam and twenty-five in the harbor. On account of there being no steam to run the hoisting cages, these men had to remain in the mine until about 9.30 yesterday morning, when steam was procured and the men taken out uninjured.

WOMAN FELL DOWN STAIRS.

Lamp Ignited Clothes—Terrible Death of Grand Valley Lady.

Grand Valley, Dec. 23.—Mrs. McClelland, wife of Councillor James McClelland, died yesterday morning from burns received from falling down the cellar step with a lamp in her hands the previous evening. She apparently tripped on the top step, striking her head on the bottom step, which rendered her unconscious. The lamp crashed to pieces on the cement floor, the blazing oil enveloping the body completely burning the flannelette nightdress which she wore.

Her eldest daughter endeavored to quench the blaze with water, while the young daughter ran down the street in her nightdress to give the alarm. Mr. Tibbutt, who lives across the street, was first on the scene and smothered the flames with a mat.

Lunatics Ill-Treated.

New York, Dec. 23.—Stories of alleged cruelties practiced upon insane patients by attendants were told Saturday in the hearing of the commission appointed by Governor Hughes to investigate conditions in the Manhattan State Hospital at Ward's Island.

Dr. John C. McCarthy, a former attendant, said the attendants were always careful to practice their brutalities upon the small and weak patients and upon imbeciles.

Dr. McCarthy described "hanging" as a method of torture. He said the process was to tie a towel around a patient's neck and twist it until the victim was on the verge of suffocation.

Big Fire at Arnprior.

Ottawa, Dec. 23.—At 6 o'clock on Saturday night the premises of the Montreal Suspender & Umbrella Co., in Arnprior, a fine four-storey solid brick factory, were burned to the ground. Surrounding buildings caught, but were saved. The loss is estimated at $50,000. The town has a claim on the building for $5,000. It is totally covered by insurance. One hundred employes were on the list.

Powder Mills Wrecked.

Vancouver, B. C., Dec. 23.—The storehouse of the Hamilton Powder Works at Northfield, four miles from Nanaimo, was destroyed by an explosion at 5 o'clock yesterday morning. No one was injured, but the company's buildings were wrecked. The explosion was distinctly felt in Vancouver, 40 miles distant.

Three Skaters Drowned.

Pittsfield, Mass., Dec. 23.—Three persons were drowned by breaking through the ice while skating on Nnota Lake yesterday. The victims were: Henry Harris, 16 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Norris; Henry Ano, aged 20, a drug clerk; Miss Alice Mosiener, aged 16, employed in a silk mill.

Costly Fire.

St. Johns, Que., Dec. 23.—The main buildings of the Standard Drain Pipe Co. were totally destroyed by fire last night. One hundred or more men will be thrown out of employment in the meantime. The loss is probably $125,000.

Coal Mine on Fire.

Pittsburg, Dec. 23.—Fire started in the Schoenberger mine, near Monongah yesterday, and is still raging. The mine has been idle for a month on account of a strike.

Enough nitro-glycerine to blow up a big building was found in the Montreal room occupied by Baule and Hardouin, convicted burglars.

Why Peterborough Citizens Now Come to Dr. Browett for Glasses
ONE REASON: Most city people are now too intelligent and well informed to permanently injure their eyes and wreck their nerves for want of suitable glasses, especially when Dr. Browett's prices are so reasonable consistent with quality. Eye Glasses and Spectacles from $1.00 up; Colored Glasses 25 to 50c; Railroad and Mechanic's Glasses 25c to $1.00; Thermometers 25c to $5.00; Artificial Eyes $3.50 to $7.00; Non-Steam Lens Polish (keeps steam and frost from glasses) 25c.
ANOTHER REASON: Winter brings long nights with more use of artificial light. Ladies are now taxing their eyes doing fancy work for Xmas. Gentlemen are doing more reading and writing in the office and home. Scholars are doing long hours of home work. Thus all eyes work harder during the winter season, and if glasses are ever needed they are needed now. Some thoughtful sons and daughters are giving glasses to their parents for Xmas.
McDERMID & JURY'S, Drug Store,
390 George Street, Peterborough, Ont.

PERSIAN SITUATION PRECARIOUS

Parliamentary Party Has Greater Military Strength Than Shah.

Berlin, Dec. 23.—The German official view of the Persian embroglio, based upon despatches received from Teheran, is that the situation still is very precarious, but that a decision one way or the other may be expected in a few days.

The new Ministry, which represents partial concessions on the part of the Shah to the wishes of Parliament, will be introduced to Parliament in a day or two. Parliament will then formulate its demands upon the Shah, but the precise nature of the decision is not known here. If the Shah yields to Parliament the crisis can be regarded as settled; on the other hand, if he refuses the most serious consequences are likely to follow. Parliament, it is believed here, will probably then declare the dethronement of the sovereign. It is pointd out that the military strength of the Parliamentary party is much greater than recent press despatches have set forth. This party actually has more and better-drilled troops than the sovereign.

FUNERAL OF MR. TARTE.

Impressive Ceremony at the Church of St. Louis.

Montreal, Dec. 23.—Most impressive was the funeral service of the late Hon. J. Israel Tarte, which was held Saturday morning at the Church of St. Louis de France, where for many years the deceased worshipped. The solemn valedictory of the Church was pronounced by Rev. J. A. Belanger, parish priest of St. Louis de France. It was spoken before a congregation that filled every portion of the sacred edifice, and included Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Hon. Mr. Fielding, Hon. Mr. Fisher, Hon. Mr. Brodeur, representing the Federal Cabinet; Hon. Mr. Gouin and Hon. Mr. Weir, representing the Provincial Cabinet, who occupied special chairs in front of the communion rail.

The chief mourners were the three sons of the deceased: Messrs. L. J. Eugene and Antoine Tarte. Premier Laurier at the tomb of his old colleague was the most remarked man present, and the Premier gave evidence of deep emotion and a sense of personal loss.

STRONGEST NAVY SUPREME.

Wm. T. Stead In Advocacy of Great Britain's Policy.

London, Dec. 23.—Wm. T. Stead, the editor of The Review of Reviews, in an article in The Daily Mail, justifying his recent advocacy of Great Britain's replying to the German's naval program by laying down two Dreadnaughts for every one of Germany's brands argues that Germany had weakened instead of strengthened her position in the world by building a fleet, because the whole German navy virtually is a hostage in the hands of a stronger power.

"For any power to have a fleet on the high seas," says the writer, "which is not the strongest fleet afloat, is an increase not of strength, but of vulnerability."

New War Device.

Paris, Dec. 23.—The Echo De Paris announced yesterday that the Maxims are constructing for Japan a new type of ship for the transportation of small submarine vessels to the field of battle.

The submarines will be stored away in a species of tunnel traversing the hold of the vessel whence they can emerge unperceived by the enemy by means of locks.

Woman's Evidence Weakens.

Berlin, Dec. 23.—The trial of Maximilien Harder still continues.

It was stated that the searching examination somewhat affected the reliability of Frau Von Elbe's testimony, and that Herr Harden had offered to withdraw his charges against Count Von Moltke, which were founded to a great extent on the statements made by Von Moltke's former wife.

Smallpox at Brockville.

Brockville, Dec. 23.—There is a marked spreading of smallpox in Brockville, five cases having been reported since Friday last, which, with two previously under treatment at the pest-house, makes a total of seven. A strict quarantine is being observed on the two houses where the disease broke out. One family has four cases, a father and three children.

Indian Chief Dead.

Morton, Minn., Dec. 23.—Ironshield, the Sioux Indian chief, died on the reservation, 20 miles south of here Saturday. He was 75 years of age. Ironsides was a friend of the whites during the Sioux war of 1862, and was one of the most trusted scouts of Gen. Sibley in that campaign.

Returning Emigrants.

Naples, Dec. 23.—More than 5,500 emigrants landed here Saturday from the United States. They reported that the steamship companies already had booked several hundred thousand Italians for return home, which causes apprehension in the matter of their future employment.

Devolution Bill Carried.

Paris, Dec. 23.—After a debate covering several weeks, the Chamber of Deputies Saturday, by a vote of 364 to 177, passed the bill providing for the devolution of church property, escheating to state departments and communes under the separation law.

Fatal Toboggan Accident.

Winnipeg, Dec. 23.—Romeo Archambeault, aged 16, who was injured by falling from the toboggan slide on Kennedy street, died from the injuries—from internal hemorrhage, caused by a fractured skull — in a few minutes.

FOR THE LADY WHO CALLS

Visiting List and Social Engagement Book—A Dainty and Useful Gift.

Those ladies who find it difficult to keep track of their social debts in the way of calls which have to be returned, invitations to various society functions which have been received will be pleased to learn that a dainty little book has been issued from the presses of the Review which will fill their need. The city has grown so rapidly of late years that it has become almost necessary for each lady to have a special reception day each month when her friends will be sure to find her at home. To keep a record of these will be an easy matter with one of these little books. They are prettily bound in blue linen, lettered in gold and printed on good paper. There are two pages for every day in the month, arranged, according as the day is, first Monday, second Tuesday, etc. At the back of the book are pages for invitations received, out-of-town addresses, special reception dates, and memoranda. One of the books would make a dainty and acceptable Xmas gift. The books are on sale at the bookstores at the price of 50c

A GOOD SERVANT

The Review Want Ad. columns solves the problem of how to recover lost articles, get a tenant for a house, secure a servant or help of any kind, obtain roomers or boarders, sell surplus articles around the home, or find something you want to buy. Try it, the cost is low.

YOUR OWN HAIR MADE UP AS DESIRED . .
By home talent, where you are sure of satisfaction, or matched correctly in shade and quality.
Switches, Natural Wavy Pompadours, Latest Coiffures
Let us show you what we can do before you patronize some outside party. We guarantee to please you at lowest prices in the city.
Back Hair Dressing, Shampooing, etc.
MRS. BYRNE'S
George Street Second Door North of Dutton's

Children's Aid Society
FOR THE CARE OF NEGLECTED AND ILL-TREATED CHILDREN.
Incorporated by Act of Legislature, 1898
Information required. Informants name kept strictly private.
CHILDREN FOR ADOPTION
Office Hours—11.00 to 12.00 a.m.
FFICE—DIVISION COURT BLDG
GEO. COCHRANE,
Agent and Asst Sec

EGGS
FOR SALE by the case
Fresh and Pickled Choice Stock at our warehouse, Robinson Street, East City
Scott&Hogg
PHONE 264, BOTH PHONES

Private Greeting Cards
THE highly colored and lithographed Christmas Card in vogue a few years ago has passed away entirely.
IN place has come the much more appropriate Personal Greeting Card.
OF these the Review Office is showing a great many original designs.
YOUR order should be given immediately, while the selection is so complete.
SHOULD you desire Card specially designed to your order, promptness is absolutely necessary.
The Review
HUNTER STREET
PETERBOROUGH

HOCKEY SKATES
From 75c to $5.00
Skates repaired and sharpened
General machine work.
METHEREL'S CYCLE WORKS
225 Hunter Street

BETTER THAN THE BEST
Policy No. 203260, held by Mr. A. C. Frost, Chicago, in the Sun Life Assurance Co. of Canada, issued March 1902, for $50,000, calling for an annual premium of $1,907.50, has had the following results declared at the end of the first five-year division of profits:
CASH PROFITS, $1,650.25
or
A bonus addition to the sum assured, of 3,382.00
The Assured accepted the cash profits, being a return on all premiums paid of 17.3 per, cent.
Mr. Frost has written a letter of thanks to the Company, which contains the following sentence;
I carry over $800,000 of Life Assurance and this is by far the largest dividend I have ever received on any of my policies.
MORAL:
IT PAYS to be Assured in the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada.
W. H. HILL,
Mgr. Central Ont.
PETERBOROUGH

A Last Reminder

Late shoppers have to decide in a hurry, and there is no better place to make the decision than at

345 GEORGE STREET

Such Suggestions as :—

Gentlemen's Gold Watches, $10 to $40
Ladies' Gold Watches, $10 to $35
Diamond Rings, 3 Leading Specials, $15, $25, $50
Pearl Rings a Multitude of Designs, $3 to $20
Gold Cuff Links, 14 Karat, $3 to $7
Gold Lockets, $3 to $10
Signet Rings, (Gentlemen's) $3 to $10
Pearl Brooches, Delightful Patterns, $5 to $35
1847 Rogers Knives and Forks at Special Prices

No trouble to show Goods. Call and inspect them.

WARNE'S

345 GEORGE STREET

SNAPS FOR XMAS

Ebony Mirrors
Ebony Hair Brushes
Ebony Clothes Brushes
Ebony Manicure Sets
Ebony Military Brushes
Real Seal Skin Purses
Hand Satchels
Ladies' Companions
Gentlemen's Companions
Perfumes, etc.

at lowest prices

WARNE BROS.

345 GEORGE ST. PHONE 327

Xmas Photos

Send a family group or the children's photos to your friends at Christmas. Nothing is appreciated more than such remembrances, from

MENDEL'S STUDIO

374 1-2 George St Entrance next Ohes

A negro was hanged, and his body riddled with bullets, by a white mob in Shreveport, La., yesterday. His crime was resenting a remark of a white man.

XMAS GREETINGS

Nugent Drug Co.

Wish their customers one and all

A VERY HAPPY XMAS

To help you make other people happy, we have a fine selection of

Perfumes
Perfume Atomizers
Brushes and Combs

and other things you might like to get. We have also some Elegant OPERA GLASSES and a few of the best quality FOUNTAIN PENS at a bargain.

388 GEORGE STREET

INTEREST PAID
QUARTERLY
—ON—
SAVINGS DEPOSITS of $1 and upwards
—THE—
BANK OF OTTAWA

Interest paid
February 28
May 31
August 31
November 30

PETERBOROUGH BRANCHES:
George Street, also Corner Rubidge and Townsend Streets

A. A. HOLLINGSHEAD, Mgr.

TURKEY, DOLL AND CARRIAGE

To be Given Away on Christmas Eve by Alex Gordon, the Market Butcher

Among the tastily decorated Christmas stores, one of the brightest in its line is that of Alex. Gordon, the market butcher in the Arcade. Fruit-laden evergreen trees are everywhere in evidence, artistically placed, and giving the interior a real holiday appearance. The specially fed Christmas meat in beef, mutton, lamb and pork, as well as an abundance of choice poultry, and a good fat bear look tempting.

A splendid big doll and carriage and a mammoth turkey are to be given away on Christmas Eve on the following plan. Everyone making a purchase to the amount of 50c. will be entitled to a guess at the name of the doll or the weight of the turkey. The doll's name is in an envelope, sewed into its dress, and the turkey will be weighed on Christmas Eve. The one guessing correctly the name or weight will be given this doll or turkey. 3d

Chocolate and Creams 2 lb. for 25c, Navel Oranges 20, 30, 40c, Mixed Nuts per lb. 15c.
R. A. DUTTON.

Thibet is waking up, the Throne having sanctioned the construction of a telegraph line into the sacred city of Lhasa.

Ladies' Fancy Neckwear

. . FOR . .

CHRISTMAS GIFTS

If your Christmas Gift is going to be Ladies' Neckwear, we would draw your attention to our large range of beautiful Fancy Collars, bought especially for the Xmas trade. This store has the reputation of giving the best Fancy Neckwear values in the city.

Here is a Christmas Neckwear Bargain for Everybody

To-night from 7 to 10 o'clock and all day Tuesday, we will place on special sale all our Ladies' Fancy Collars, formerly sold at 75c, 85c, $1.00 and $1.25 (each boxed in a fancy box free)

Your Choice For 75c

Special Value in Christmas Kid Gloves at $1.00, $1.25 $1.50. Every pair guaranteed and boxed in a fancy glove box

Hundreds of useful articles for Christmas Gifts to be bought for reasonable prices at ADAM'S

STORE OPENS MONDAY AND TUESDAY EVENINGS

Harry Adams

Mayor McWilliams on The Mayoralty Situation

Is Prepared to Fight the Interests That Are Against Him and to Defend the Actions of the Council

Speaking of the Mayoralty situation today, Mayor McWilliams said; "I am not at all surprised that this opposition has developed. I take it for granted that I will have the strong opposition of certain interests in the city, and I am quite prepared to fight these interests. But I regret very much that Mr. Rush has permitted himself to be made their tool to serve their purposes."

"So far as my record for the past year is concerned," said Mr. McWilliams, "My course in almost all matters has been in accord with the views of the majority of the council, and while I do not pretend that we have done everything rightly, I am quite prepared to defend the course of the council during the past year, and the position taken on the matters which have arisen."

Prof. Shepherd Gets Three Months in the County Gaol

Prof. Shepherd, the palmist, who was a short time ago committed for trial by Police Magistrate Dumble, on the charge of fortune telling, pleaded guilty to the charge before Judge Weller on Saturday and was fined $75 or three months in gaol. As the professor didn't have the $75 he had no alternative but to spend the Christmas in anything but a prison attire.

No Christnas Gifts for Some Poor Families in City

Mr. Finch Miller, the local city relief officer, says that 60 families of varying sizes have been given assistance by the city this winter, besides others who have applied for aid.

On Saturday night he visited a house in Peterborough in which were three families, all of them destitute and with no prospect of having their positions bettered except by what is given them through charitable sources. The majority of these in distress are immigrants sent here by charitable organizations in London. As the outlook for a merry Christmas among many is not very bright among the happy festivities of the Yuletide there will be many families to whom Santa Claus will be a total stranger.

HENRY LUDLOWE IN RICHARD III
Grand Opera House Thursday Dec. 26th. Friday Dec. 27th. "The Merchant of Venice" Plan opens to-morrow morning at 10

Refused to Pay Toll and Police Court Case Results

Robert Bailley, of North Monaghan, Defendant in an Interesting Action Brought Against Him by the Market Clerk.

An interesting case was aired in police court this morning, when Robt. Bailey, of North Monaghan, was charged with unlawfully refusing to pay toll to the market clerk on December 6th. Mr. G. N. Gordon appeared for the defendant, and Mr. E. H. D. Hall conducted the prosecution. Bailey pleaded not guilty. Judgment was reserved for a week.

THE EVIDENCE

Mr. W. A. McElmoyle, the market clerk, was the first witness. On the 6th of December Mr. Bailey drove Denne's feed store, at the back door, facing the market. The defendant delivered a bag of oats to Mr. Denne. They opened it, looked at the contents and then tied it up again. Witness then went over to Bailey and asked for the toll. He refused to pay it. Witness said that Mr. Denne had not previously purchased the oats. The market clerk asked the defendant the second time for the toll and he refused to take it, because Bailey had used abusive language towards him.

Mr. Wm. Langford was next called. He stated that a road running from Simcoe street to Charlotte street had been laid out at the rear of the stores to give access to these places of business. Witness admitted it was also built to give access to the market as well.

Mr. Roland Denne, dealer in produce, was next called. He said that the back door of his shop faced the market, but he considered that he should have a right of way. About a month before the day Bailey brought the oats, witness said that he arranged with him to take all his year's crop. There was a hole in one of the bags and witness took some of the grain out and looked at it. The bag was never opened, as Mr. McElmoyle witnessed. When the market clerk demanded the toll, witness said that if there was anything to be paid he would pay it. Complainant refused the money, saying that he wanted it from the farmer.

Mr. Robert Bailey, defendant, was next called. Some time before the date of the delivery witness had made arrangements with Mr. Denne to bring him in all his crop, and he would receive the highest market price.

On driving up to Mr. Denne's door there was some delay in taking off the oats, as the scales were busy. There was no bag opened. The market clerk came along and asked for toll. He did not mention any specific amount. Witness replied that it was a pity a man cannot deliver grain without having to pay for it. A second demand was made for the money, and a rather lively argument ensued.

Mr. Harry Denne was the next witness. He stated that he always understood the lane at the rear of the stores was a street, and considered that the storekeepers there had the right of way.

Mr. Gordon, in his argument for the defence, drew attention to several sub-sections in clause 579 of the Ontario Statutes. Sub-section thirteen provides that the bylaw for the payment of market toll shall not prevent the sale of grain to storekeepers within one hundred yards of the market, and that they are privileged to buy without paying a fee. Then, Mr. Gordon drew attention to the fact that the market clerk had been offered the toll and refused it. Had Bailey delivered to the front door, it would have been all right. Then why should there be any difference made? Previous arrangements had been made for the purchase of the grain. Mr. Gordon thought that the merchants with back doors fronting the market should have the privilege of having their goods brought to them without toll being charged.

Mr. Dumble, in reserving judgment, stated that Bailey was not on the market looking for a customer, but went direct to Mr. Denne, delivering ordered goods. He thought that if these merchants were at a disadvantage compared with others not close to the market. His Worship said that he would take a week and give the matter earnest consideration.

HOLIDAY CONFECTIONS

For a choice Box of fresh, home-made Creams, Chocolates or Bon Bons, go to L. Potvin, 425 George Street. All Candies made on the premises from finest materials. Christmas and Fancy Cakes that delight the most fastidious. Visit Potvin's before making your Christmas purchases.

PERSONAL

Dr. Brown, of Toronto, is the guest of Mr. A. Sawers, Brock street.

Miss Mollie Meldrum is the guest of Mrs. Crawford Ross, of Ottawa.

Mr. Ray Nellis, of Toronto, is the guest of relatives in east city.

Mr. Rube Lynch, of Rochester, N. Y., is spending the Christmas vacation in the city.

Mr. Herb Martin, of Toronto, is spending the holidays here.

Mr. Herb. Sullivan, of Queen's College, Kingston, is home for Christmas.

Mr. Dick Dawson, of Youngstown, Ohio, is home for the Christmas holidays.

Mr. Allan Munro, of the School of Practical Science, Toronto, is home for the holidays.

Mr. Stanley Madill, of the Ontario College of Dentistry, Toronto, is home for the holidays.

Miss Edith Hunter, of Queen's University, is spending her holidays at her home in East City.

Mr. Garnet Greer, of Queen's University, Kingston, is spending his holidays at his home here.

Mr. Walter Miller, of Chicago, is visiting at the home of his father, Mr. Wm. Miller, Water street.

Miss Ella Ray, of Toronto, is home on a visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Ray, Water street.

Miss Mamie Kennedy, Chicago, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Kennedy, Brock street.

Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Martin, of Ottawa, are spending the Christmas holidays with friends in the city.

Mr. Harvey, of the Collegiate Institute staff, is spending the Christmas holidays at Toronto.

Mr. H. R. H. Kenner left on Saturday for Port Perry, where he will spend the holidays.

Miss Carrie Reesor, leaves this evening for Markham, where she will spend the holiday.

Miss Estelle Foy, of the Peterborough Conservatory of Music staff, is spending her holidays in Toronto.

Miss Winnie Courtney, South Bend, Indiana, is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Courtney, Concession street.

Mrs. Dowling, Brantford, is in the city the guest for Christmas of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwards, Dalhousie street.

The many friends of Mr. Ed Airriess, of Auburn street, will regret to hear he is confined to his bed by a slight attack of paralysis.

Mr. Gordon Campbell, of T. C. S., Port Hope, is spending the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Campbell.

Mrs. R. Glidden and sons, Masters Otto and Powl, are visiting her sister, Mrs. A. H. Winger, Rosedale, Toronto.

Rev. A. H. Drase, wife and son, Lincoln, leave tomorrow for Pembroke, where they will visit their daughter, Mrs. J. A. Black, for a few days.

Mr. W. H. Burritt, ledger keeper at Bank of Montreal, has been transferred to Peterborough. Mr. Harper, of Hamilton, comes to Trenton to fill his place. While congratulating Mr. Burritt on his promotion, his many Trenton friends will regret his departure.—Trenton Courier.

Miss Lina D. Adamson, of the Conservatory of Music staff, is holidaying in Hamilton. Miss Laura Newmann, of the Conservatory, will spend Christmas in Montreal.

Messrs. H. and D. Leitch, foreman and assistant foreman of the underground construction gang of the Bell Telephone Company, left on Saturday to spend the Christmas holidays at their home at Maxville.

Among the students who have returned to the city to spend the holidays at home are Donald Shook, of St. Andrew's College, Max Yelland of Varsity, and Alfred Taylor, of Wycliffe College.

Mr. Wm. J. O'Brien, now principal of the Mattawa Separate school, formerly of Brandon, is home on a visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. O'Brien, Gilmour street. His many friends are pleased to meet him after an absence of two years.

Mr. Norris, of Toronto, sang at the evening service at Charlotte Street church last night, and delighted the congregation. He has a splendid tenor voice, which was heard to excellent advantage in the selection which he gave. While in the city, Mr. Norris was the guest of Mr. Walter Stocker, Homewood avenue.

Remember Mark St. Sunday School Christmas Tree and Entertainment to be held in City Hall, East City, on Wednesday 25th, tickets 15c, 2 for 25c.
M. McCARTHY
2d Sec'y

HE HAS A DOG THAT IS A DOG

Mr. W. F. Turner has one of the finest St. Bernard dogs ever seen in this city. It is a particularly large and fine coated animal, and looks like one of the intelligent Landseers that were so prominent here at the recent production of "The Way of the Transgressor." However, Mr. Turner says, in spite of the poor theatrical season, the above company is still on the road, and says the mammoth canine was purchased in Toronto.

ONLY THREE MORE DAYS, THEN XMAS

CHRISTMAS GIFTS
That Ladies Can Buy as Well as Men

The remaining days before Christmas will be Bona Fide Bargain Days for all who sensible Gifts at LeBrun's, as follows;

CLOTHING BARGAINS

Men's Fine Overcoats	$5.00	to	$15.00
Men's Fine Suits	4.00	to	14.00
Boys' Winter Overcoats	2.50	to	5.00
Boys' Winter Suits, 2-piece	1.50	to	3.00
Boys' Winter Suits, 3-piece	2.50	to	5.00
Great Stock of Pants for men and boys

CHRISTMAS FURNISHINGS

Men's Superior Underwear. Natural Wool, Scotch and Fleece-lined, all large sizes for large men	.45	to	2.50
Christmas Neckwear	.25	to	1.25
Specially made for us by the Novel-Ti Co., of Peterborough
Christmas Scarfs	.50	to	1.75
Christmas Hosiery	.25	to	.50
Christmas Gloves	.50	to	2.50
Christmas Hdkfs, Fine Linen and Silk	.15	to	1.00
Men's and Boys' Sweaters	.50	to	3.00
Umbrellas of all kinds, including fine silk and with fancy handles	1.00	to	4.50

Neckwear, Scarfs, Gloves, etc., put up in fancy boxes free of charge.

H. LeBrun & Co.
Two Entrances George and Hunter Sts.

IT'S CHEAP TO BUY THE BEST

A Merry Christmas to All
FROM
Coleman Bros.

Who have the best line of BULK CANDIES and FANCY BOXES. We have a large stock and mean to clear. Best Goods—Lowest Prices—See our Display—It's Great,

Great Variety of Fruit Cake

SIMMEL CAKE
—A Delicious Article

Plum Cake, Plum Pudding and Mince Meat, unequalled in Flavor,

PHONE 335 426 GEORGE ST.

Monday Next is Nomination Day

And Election Day is One Week Later

A week from to-day, Monday, December 30th, is nomination day, and a week later, January 6th, is election day. It is learned authoritatively that all of this year's Council will again seek election. No new candidates have yet announced themselves for the Council, Board of Education or Water Commission.

MARKET CLERK TO PAY COSTS

On the charge of using profane language on the market Saturday preferred by Market Clerk McElmoyle against Mr. Robert Baillie, of North Monaghan, the charge was dismissed by the magistrate, and Mr. McElmoyle ordered to pay the costs.

On a charge of giving a drink of aconite to a boy, Duncan McIntosh is under arrest at Dundas.

WE WISH YOU
A Merry Xmas

We point with pride to our selections of Men's Furnishings for the Holiday trade. We've

Exclusive and Elegant Neckwear
Best Makes of Gloves
Perfection in Shirts and Collars
Best Brands of Underwear
Choice Hosiery, Mufflers
Night Robes, Umbrellas
House Coats, Fancy Braces, Etc.

If you're still undecided just what to buy him for Christmas, we'll take pleasure in showing you a host of things he would be delighted to have.

LANG & MAHER
CLOTHIERS AND FURNISHERS TO MEN WHO KNOW
409 411 George Street Peterborough

AS XMAS DRAWS NEARER YOUR TIME GROWS DEARER

The tireless rip, sip and jingle of the busy little cash carrier, the gradual, not noticeable, melting away of our immense holiday displays, the ceaseless swing of our doors admitting the expectant and exciting the pleased and happy—all is just a hint of the unprecedented Xmas business this store is enjoying.

Necessarily, there is a Reason for the Greatest Holiday Business Ever Done.

Many of our friends can guess the answer, which the bulk of the townspeople can answer unhesitatingly, It is so simple—excelling assortment at matchlessly low prices. Unquestionably this is Peterborough's greatest shopping centre. Bigger and busier crowds congregate here than at any other store—big jolly, good natured crowds that laugh and enjoy the music. The glorious Xmas spirit prevails here as nowhere else.

But we must speak of other things besides the pleasantness of this store as a Holiday Shopping Centre. We do it briefly and pointedly. Our Xmas display is the largest. Our prices are persistently the lowest Our selections are the most adaptable to gift making. This is the store for the whole family.

Only one shopping day! Isn't your time precious? Best spend it where it accomplishes the most—THAT'S HERE.

Hear all the Latest Music Every Day this Week, by Charles E. Musgrave

RICHARD HALL & SON, LIMITED

353 AND 355 GEORGE STREET, PETERBOROUGH
STORE OPENS AT 8 A.M. CLOSES AT 6 P.M., EXCEPT SATURDAY

FOR FINE
Lemons, Oranges
Malaga Grapes
Bananas
and all kinds of fruit and vegetables try
MINOCOLO BROS.
Wholesale and Retail.
Bell Phone 337.

FAMILY RE-UNIONS AT CHRISTMAS

The opportunity to have a complete group taken may not occur again.
Appointments at
THE ROY STUDIO

BROCK ST. RINK

SEASON 1907-8

Tickets for the season entitling the holder to all skating privileges, now on sale at the Examiner Office, Peterborough Bookstore, Sanderson & Co., F. A. Clarke's, Best Hardware Co., the Secretary, C. G. Graham, at the Oriental Hotel.

Gentlemen . . .	3.00
Ladies	2.00
Youths, 16 to 18	2.00
Boys under 16 .	1.50
Girls	1.50

Nothing makes a better Christmas gift for your boy or girl than a Season Ticket for the Brock Street Rink.

Annual Meeting of T.A.S.; Officers Were Elected

Past Year Has Been Most Successful One—Splendid Work of Society—An Irish Play to be Presented on January 8th.

The annual meeting of St. Peter's T. A.S. Society was held in the Society's rooms yesterday afternoon, when the election of officers took place and other business of importance in connection with the Society was transacted. There was a particularly large attendance and a deep interest was shown in the work, many new members joining. The past year has been the most prosperous the T. A.S. has ever had, both from a numerical and financial standpoint, and the Society is to be warmly congratulated on its splendid success and for the highly commendable work it is doing in the cause of total abstinence. Among those deserving of the warmest praise is the spiritual director, Dr. O'Brien, whose noble work in the interests of the Society has been productive of results of a most gratifying character.

At yesterday's meeting the committee appointed to look after the securing of talent for the entertainment to be held under the auspices of the T.A.S. on January 8th, the eighth anniversary of the society, made its report, and an evening of a most interesting and entertaining character is promised, when an Irish play will be interpreted by a clever amateur cast.

The election of officers at the meeting resulted as follows:—

Spiritual Director—Rev. Dr. O'Brien
Pres.—P. O'Donnell.
1st Vice—W. Morrell.
2nd Vice—W. Meagher.
Rec.-Sec.—Jos. Maher, acclamation.
Fin.-Sec.—A. Lehane, acclamation.
Treas.—Jos. Primeau, acclamation.
Marshall—W. Dennis.
Asst. Marshall—H. O'Rourke.
Guard—Ed. Flaherty.
Trustees—D. Cushing, J. S. Noyes, J. Drain, N. Bibby, Jas. Clancy.

THE CITY AND VICINITY

EVENTS TO-NIGHT

St. Paul's Church Christmas entertainment commences at 7 o'clock.
C.M.B.A. rooms—Election of officers.

WILL CLOSE CHRISTMAS.

The local barber shops will be closed on Christmas, but will be open late on Christmas Eve for the accommodation of their patrons.

MAKE CALENDARS.

Why not make calendars? They are pretty cheap and always acceptable. We have pictures in sepia and colors, fancy embossed cards and dainty calendar pads in many designs. See them at the Review office. 3d

SHEET MUSIC AGAIN.

We are selling the very latest in instrumental and popular Song Hits until New Year's for 12 1-2c. per copy. Buy your music from an established music house. J. M. Greene Music Co., Grand Opera House Building. 3d

STORES OPEN.

All the stores will be open this evening and tomorrow evening, for the benefit of Christmas shoppers.

ACCORDION BARGAINS.

Accordions in great variety, from $1.50 to $6.00. Two dozen special at $3.00. Peterborough Music Co., 364 George street. 3d

READ THIS.

All late popular song hits at 12 1-2c. per copy, at the J. M. Greene Music Store. 3d

CONSERVATORY CLOSING.

The Peterborough Conservatory of Music closed on Friday for the holidays and will reopen on Thursday, January, 2nd.

FUR LINED COATS

We clean and press them and guarantee no injury to the fur. My Valet, 394 Charlotte street. All goods called for and delivered. dtf

GIFT OF BOOKS.

CHILD'S PURSE FOUND.

A child's purse was picked up at the corner of George and Hunter streets at noon to-day. The owner can have same by calling at the Examiner office.

ENGINE BROKE DOWN.

The engine of the Grand Trunk pay car broke down at Hastings Saturday and another engine had to be sent from Peterborough to replace the disabled one.

PUDDING AND CAKE.

The crowning point of the Christmas dinner is the pudding, especially if it is prepared at Elliott's; 20c. a pound. To know the possibilities in cake making, be sure and try Elliott's Christmas cake; 20c. a pound. dtf

RETURNS HOME.

Robt. McKillay, Rubidge street, who had been missing since Tuesday last, returned [illegible] Saturday morning. The parents have been relieved of a great anxiety. The young lad had engaged with a farmer near Havelock.

GIFTS TO POOR.

The annual tea of the Charlotte St. Sunday school will be held on Friday, Jan. 3rd. At the Sunday School session yesterday a collection was taken up for the distribution of Christmas cheer among the poor. The collection amounted to $61.

XMAS GREETINGS.

While doing your Christmas shopping, call at the Aylmer Street Greenhouses. Many things for Christmas gifts and also cut bloom. Order early. Open till 10 o'clock. Lit with electric lights. Wishing you all many returns of the season. J. H. Cobb, 551 Aylmer street. Phone 132.

A PETERBOROUGH BOY

The Toronto Saturday Night, under the heading, "Young Canadians Serving the King," has a cut of Guy H. Rogers, Lieutenant and adjutant, 4th Rajputs, Indian army, ex-cadet of the Royal Military College, Kingston, 1898, who is a son of Col. H. C. Rogers, city, postmaster.

Good Meeting Held at Y.M.C.A.

There was a good meeting yesterday afternoon at the Y.M.C.A. to hear Rev. Robert Pogue. The lecture room was almost filled with men who were much impressed with the address of the Rev. gentleman on "How a Man won a Man." Mr. Pogue took for his subject the conversion of the Eunich by Philip the Evangelist, and showed that if we are to be successful workers for Christ, we must see the necessity of following Divine guidance, using the illustration of Philip leaving the multitude to whom he was preaching to go and preach to one man, and yet the result of sending the Gospel to Egypt through such a powerful ambassador was far greater than Philip could dared to have anticipated.

He also pointed out the necessity of abandoning ourselves to God's leading and be willing to speak or do anything at any time we heard the voice of God. The wise men of the east who followed the star to Bethlehem were referred to and this was shown to be the wisest thing they ever did.

Miss Davies, soprano soloist of St. Paul's Presbyterian church, rendered Gounod's "The Sands of Time are Sinking," and the "Y" quartette "Remember me, Oh, Mighty One," very effectively.

Next Sunday the Rev. H. G. Keith will speak on "Young men of India." to the men and older boys at 4 p.m. A most interesting and instructive meeting is assured. Special music will be rendered.

SITTINGS OF THE COURT

The jury sittings will open in Peterborough on Monday March 23, and the non-jury sittings on Monday, June 22nd, before Mr. Justice Teetzel.

SANTA CLAUS at ROUTLEY'S

Santa has paid many visits to his old established Headquarters. Our 2nd floor is heavier stocked with every imaginable Toy or Gift for the little tots than ever was known in the city.

Dolls, Cradles, Hose Carts, Toy Beds, Games all kinds, Toy Carriages, Sleighs, Toy Tea Sets, Whips, Toy Wash Sets, Toy Books; Sleeping, Walking, Kid and Jointed Dolls; Building Blocks, Noah's Arks, Bugles, Drums, Reins, Mechanical Toys, Magic Lanterns, Steam Engines, Banks, Trains.

CHINA SECTION
Bread and Butter Plates, China Cups and Saucers, Jardinieres, Vases, Salad Bowls, Brush Trays, Biscuit Jars' Jelly Pots, China Tea Sets, Fancy Jugs in Sets, Dinner Sets, Chamber Sets, all the newest in natty pieces suitable for presents.

MAIN FLOOR
Manicure Sets, Brush and Comb Sets, Military Sets, Padded Poets, Catholic Prayer Books, English Church Prayer Books, Hymn Books, Bibles, Work Boxes, Collar Boxes, Glove and Handkerchief Sets, Leather Writing Cases and Desks, Music Rolls, Pocket Books, Hand Bags.

As usual we will not allow those not strictly in the fancy goods or stationery lines to compete in any way. Stick to the place that has served you well, there are none who can head us off at our own old game

TORONTO 262-4 QUEEN W ROUTLEY'S PETERBORO' 379 GEORGE ST

OBITUARY

MR. J. K. HUYCKE.

Cobourg, Ont., Dec. 20.—One of the oldest and most highly esteemed residents of Northumberland County, James Kemp Huycke, J.P., father of Mr. C. S. Huycke, K.C., of this town, passed away at his late residence, Wadsworth, yesterday afternoon, in his 82nd year.

WILL READ MESSAGE FROM MRS. EDDY

Special Service to be Held at First Church of Christ, Scientist, on Wednesday.

At First Church of Christ Scientist yesterday the subject was "Christ Jesus." The references from the Bible and the Christian Science Book clearly elucidated that Christ was the true man, which ever existed with the Father, called the Son of God. Jesus was the Son of Mary, the true conception of God and man, manifest in the flesh. The two conjoined "Christ Jesus," whose work in the flesh is the saving of all mankind from sin, disease and death, the last enemy. Preceding the sermon Miss M. Young sang "Christmas Morn," by Rev. Mary B. G. Eddy During the taking of the offering Miss Grace Todd sang "The Birthday of a King." by Neidlinger.

The regular weekly service will be held at 7.30 Wednesday evening instead of the usual hour. On account of being Christmas it will be chiefly a song service, with the reading of an article from Mrs. Eddy, "What Christmas means to Me."

All are welcome at these services.

SMALLPOX IN ASHBURNHAM

Case Discovered There To-day—Everything Being Done to Prevent Spread of Contagious

There is a mild case of smallpox in Ashburnham.

The discovery was made to-day, when a doctor was called in to see the patient. Everything is being done to prevent the contagion spreading.

THE HANSOMEST FLOWER IS NOT THE SWEETEST

Neither is the best looking tea always the sweetest drinking. Teas are not infrequently made up that are forced to look pretty, to please the eye; but an undue amount of labor expended upon tea leaves to make them look well injures the drinking qualities.

Our first consideration when purchasing teas is drinking quality, for we full realize that to win and hold trade our teas must please our customers' sense of taste, however well they may look to the eye.

Our stock comprises the teas of all tea growing countries, but we especially recommend our blend at three pounds for one dollar. J. JOHN, Tea Specialist, Grand opera house block, Peterborough.

Fine Display Made by Warne

Some of the New Creations are Decidedly Artistic

Warne's jewelry store is one of the places it is a pleasure to visit this Christmas season. The bright array of tempting things that are just what one would wish to choose as bearers of our holiday greetings to dear friends, making the interior of the store especially attractive. The firm report a brisk trade with very slight indications of hard times, and rather an increase in volume of business over last year than any falling off. Their stock is richer in quality and design than ever before, some of the newer creations being especially beautiful and artistic.

MAY GET INTO THE "BIG FOUR"

Peterborough Represented at Annual Meeting of Interprovincial Rugby League.

Ross Cameron represented Peterborough Rugby team at the annual meeting of the inter-provincial rugby meeting in Toronto on Saturday.

Messrs. Clancy of Ottawa, and Molson of Montreal, were appointed delegates to the Canadian Rugby Football Union, and instructed to recommend the reduction of the points for goals from the field on drop kicks from four to three, and also to support an amendment to the rule which prohibits holding in the line so as to make the blocking of a runner coming through the line, legal. The action of the Peterborough officials in connection with the Canadian championship was strongly approved.

Mr. Clancy informed the Peterborough representative that if Peterborough desired to join the Interprovincial everything would be done for them.

PERSONAL

Mr. John King is home from New York.

Dr. Herbert Sullivan, house surgeon of the General Hospital, Kingston, is the guest of his father, Mr. J. C. Sullivan, east city.

Mr. Herbert Edmison, of the wholesale drug firm of Sutcliffe, Edmison & Co., Toronto, and Mr. Geo. Edmison and wife, and child, Winnipeg, will spend the Christmas and New Year's with the former's father, Magistrate Edmison. [illegible]

Retiring Teacher Highly Honored

Mr. Davidson Honored by Many Friends in Norwood

Norwood, Dec. 21.—On the eve of his removal to Sudbury, to establish a new high school, after 25 years of service as principal of the Norwood High School, Mr. John Davidson, M. A., LL.B., was last night presented with an illuminated address, a cabinet of silver, and a large number of letters of appreciation from his former students.

The address was read by Prof. H. B. Anderson, of the University of Toronto and the presentation made by Prof. G. W. Tupper, of Boston University, both graduates of distinction, who, despite the pressure of professional duties and distance, were present to express their own and fellow-graduates' estimation of their beloved teacher.

"CHURCHGOER" OBJECTS TO THE USHERS' CONDUCT

To the Editor of the Review.

Dear Sir,—I would like to make a suggestion in your valuable columns that the ushers in some of the local churches be muzzled or gagged, or in some way hindered from being able to talk while a service is going on. Yesterday evening I was unfortunate enough to sit in the rear of a certain church in the city, and the hubbub kept up by the ushers behind was almost intolerable. It is simply making a farce of divine worship when ushers, or for that matter anybody else, laugh and talk, and make themselves generally obnoxious.

Yours sincerely,
CHURCHGOER.

Christmas Day at Cathedral

At St. Peter's Cathedral on Christmas day the following masses will be sung:

Morning.

Solemn High Mass at 5.30, followed immediately by Low Mass. The third mass celebrated at 8. There will be solemn Pontifical High Mass, at 9.15 with His Lordship Bishop O'Connor officiating.

Evening.

At 7 o'clock solemn Pontifical High Mass will be sung by His Lordship Bishop O'Connor.

PARK ST. BAPTIST CHURCH

Yesterday's exercises at Park street church were in harmony with the season, Christmas sermons and music were very attractive. The boys and girls were not overlooked. The primary all had presents and a special address was given by the pastor. The song sermon in the evening was greatly appreciated. Each number was well rendered, but "Hear the Bells," was exceptionally fine. Rev. W. Daniels, of Winnipeg, gave three short addresses between the selections.

The B.Y.P.U. will meet tonight, Mr. Charles Barrie in the chair.

The Wednesday service will be given up this week.

LOCAL MERCHANT "STUNG"

A local liquor merchant has been ever so nicely stung. It's only for a paltry $2, but nevertheless the merchant does not like the character of the offence. A young man who was employed in a local office walked into the liquor dealer's store and asked for the legal paper for a cheque for $2. Being well known to the latter his wish was complied with. However, when the cheque was taken to the cashed, their was no funds at the bank upon which it was drawn, although the drawer formerly had an account there. The worst part of it is that the young man has severed his connection with the office with which he was connected and the liquor man can't find him.

Xmas Drawing Near

You have only a few days to consider where to place your order for Brandies, Scotch, Irish and all kinds of Wines, Ales, etc.

Don't hesitate a moment but come direct to Mitchell's, 141 Hunter St. where you will get nothing but pure whiskey, (not Otonabee water.) Don't forget to ask for Mitchell's Special Rye Whiskey, the only reliable draught goods sold.

Sweet Cider for sale.

Leave your order early.

F. J. R. MITCHELL
141 Hunter St. — Phone 300

It's confidence that does it

YOU HAVE NO TIME TO WASTE

In selecting your Christmas groceries fruit and other garnishes for the Christmas table, we have the goods you want at the prices you wish to pay. Among the requisities for the table, are—
ROYAL FRUIT, the nicest, cleanest and plumpest Raisins and Currants for holiday baking.
PEELS, New Season's Orange, Lemon and Citron Peels.
MINCE MEAT, a trial order will bring you back for more.
JAMS, Jellies, Marmalades, now is the time to order.
FANCY GROCERIES, perfect in quality, perfectly kept and moderately priced.
CANDY, don't be without Candy, Xmas wouldn't be Xmas Day without Candy. We have bushels of it and Nuts.

WHITE & GILLESPIE

GET YOUR HOLIDAY PHOTOS
—AT—
LENDRUM'S
They are the best and most up-to-date
170 Charlotte Street

MADE LIKE NEW

Chenille and Tapestry Curtains and Table Covers Cleaned and Dyed Like New

For genuine satisfaction and saving the purchase of new curtains, bring your old ones to us or telephone us and we will call for them.

Sponging and pressing made a special part of our business.

PARKER'S DYE WORKS
R. M. BEACH,
Phone 250 Proprietor

LADIES, CUT THIS OUT
Dr. Criation's
FRENCH TOILET ARTICLES
Have been placed on sale with
Miss E. Smith
387 GEORGE STREET
MANICURING, SHAMPOOING
SCALP TREATMENT and FACIAL
MASSAGE SKILFULLY DONE
Appointments made. Mach. Phone 13

Second Hand Stove Bargains
—AT—
BARRETT'S

Why pay $30 for a Heater or $40 for a Range when you can buy either for $5 to $15 at Barrett's Second Hand Store. 187 Simcoe St. next Cavanagh's

ESTABLISHED 1879

J. R. HEINTZ & CO.

STOCKS, GRAIN,
COTTON, COFFEE

J. N. BARBER, Manager
Phone 520

THE
DOMINION BANK
PAYS SPECIAL ATTENTION TO
SAVINGS ACCOUNTS
INTEREST PAID QUARTERLY
JOHN CRANE Manager
Corner George and Simcoe Sts.

LEARN DRESS-MAKING BY MAIL
In your spare time at home, or
Take a Personal Course at School.

To enable all to learn we teach on cash or instalment plan. We also teach a personal class at school once a month. Class commencing last Tuesday of each month. These lessons teaches how to cut, fit and put together any garment from the plainest shirt waist suit, to the most elaborate dress. The whole family can learn from one course. We have taught over seven thousand dress-making, and guarantee to give five hundred dollars to any one that cannot learn between the age of 14 and 40. You cannot learn dress-making as thorough as this course teaches if you work in shops for years. Beware of imitations as we employ no one outside the school. This is the only experienced Dress Cutting School in Canada and excelled by none in any other country. Write at once for particulars, as we have cut our rate one-third for a short time. Address:—

SANDERS' DRESS-CUTTING SCHOOL,
31 Erie St., Stratford, Ont., Canada.

THE LATEST NEWS FROM HAVELOCK

What is Happening in the Busy Railroad Town to the East

Havelock, Dec. 23.—When law is complied with S.S. No. 1, Belmont will receive $121.85 grant, being made up of grant on salary and certificate $100, grant upon accommodation and equipment $10.92 1-2, county equivalent $10.92 1-2.

At court here on Monday by Judge Weller on the appeal of the Belmont and Methuen voters' list, some 17 names were added and 8 others changed.

The annual Christmas tree and concert of the Presbyterian Sunday school will be held on Monday night, 23rd inst., in the opera house.

A drama entitled "Perils of a great City," will hold the boards in the opera house on Christmas evening.

Mr. Fred Scott, con. 8 Belmont, will sell his farm stock by public auction on Friday, Dec. 27th.

The five great railway brotherhoods commonly known as the "Big 5," will be the hosts at an "At Home" in the town hall on New Year's evening, Tuesday, Dec. 31st.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Neal, of Guelph, have returned to Havelock, and will reside here in the future as Mr. Neal has been transferred to this division of the C.P.R.

The Blairton Methodist church will hold their annual tea and concert in the church on Christmas night.

Inspector R. H. Cowley, B.A., of the Educational Department, made his inspection of the continuation classes in town on Friday last.

The vacancy in the school staff caused by the departure of Miss Trevelean, will be filled after Christmas by Miss Minnie Todd, of Fenelon Falls.

The business establishments in town are looking their best at present, not only in their beauty, but in the amount of trade done. The merchants report a very favorable Christmas trade, although not quite as good as other years.

The thanksgiving services of the Presbyterian church were held in the church on Sunday, 22nd inst. The church was nicely decorated and Christmas hymns and anthems were sung. Rev. Mr. Stirling, the pastor, preached the thanksgiving services.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Barlow, of Toronto, are the guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Barlow.

Mr. Wallie Rose, of Collingwood, is spending the Christmas holidays at his home.

Mrs. C. A. Grant has returned from visiting at her home in Madoc.

H. T. Andrews sold the farm stock of Ed. J. Foley by public auction at Dineen's hotel on Saturday. On Monday he will sell the household effects of Mr. M. Shultz, Ontario street.

A number from town attended the reunion of High school students at Norwood on Friday night last.

Miss Ada Halcombe entertained a number of her friends at a party on Wednesday evening last.

Mr. Stubbs, of Peterborough, will give a moving picture concert in the opera house on New Year's night.

The time of the tax collector has been extended until the first meeting of the new Council.

Mr. and Mrs. Barton, of Norwood, are the guests of Mr. Jno. A. Sexsmith of Preneveau.

Mrs. Wm. Webb is spending a few days with friends in Toronto.

Mr. Jno. Coughlin, of Norwood, was in town on Friday last en route to his home in Toledo, Mich.

Mr. R. Phillips will be returning officer for No. 1 sub-division, and Mr. H. T. Andrews for No. 2 on election day.

Mr. Jas. Frost, proprietor of the rink, has been forced to go back to last year's rink back of the park. He has been endeavoring for some time to fix up a rink on Ontario street, opposite the ice house, but the ground is not frozen hard enough and the water flows away before it freezes and thus it is impossible to get a bottom to start on. A great many think that the old rink will be the best as it is situated in a hollow and thus is warmer. The hockey club have notified Mr. Frost that they must have ice at once or they cannot form a league. Mr. Frost says that he will have the rink ready for skating by Tuesday evening.

Mr. Wm. Foster spent Sunday at his home in Norwood.

Mr. Wm. Dorricott, of Lindsay, spent Sunday at his home here.

The hockey club will welcome Mr. Neil back to town as he is a strong defence man.

Miss Ella Johnston, of Norwood, spent Sunday in town, the guest of her sister, Miss M. Johnston.

The young men of town are at present presenting the proposition of a club house to the people of Havelock, which they feel is indeed needed. The C.P.R. employ a large number of young men at this point and while not at work, most of these young men are loafing about the station, street corners or some public house. The time these young men thus put in loafing might be spent pleasantly and profitably if a club house was erected in town.

The cost of a building large enough to comfortably accommodate the young men of Havelock would be very little. The C.P.R. recognizing the good that would be done would freely contribute towards its erection and maintenance. The Council, churches and societies in town would only be too glad to help the project along.

Half the work is done by beginning. The young men ask for someone to lead. Let some of the men who are taking the field for councillors take this as one part of their platform and they will head the poll. Is there a mother or a father in Havelock who would not be in favor of this project. It may help to keep your son away from the hotels and evil, so put your best foot forward and help the cause. Mention it to everybody and point out it's good points. Don't be afraid to go down in your pocket if it will benefit the young men or create a better moral tone in the village.

A few years ago there was an effort made among the young men to establish a club, but by some mishap, the scheme failed to materialize. It is the duty of the citizens to see that the same thing does not happen to this effort of the young men.

The clergymen of the town should help along this matter as they are in a good position to do so. They should impress the need of a place for the young men in the evening on their congregations. They are working for temperance and this would be a good move in favor of it.

All that is wanted is someone to start the ball rolling and the rest will be easily managed by the energetic young men of town.

Found Flask in Son's Pocket

A son who stays out late at night and indulges in regular carousals, is a source of constant annoyance to his parents. Such a young man as described above lives on a well known street in the west end of the city and by reason of his late hours has been a continual grievance to his father and mother. Although working all the time he has paid no board for some time and his actions in general have not been those of one prompted by filial affection. Despite the fact that he has not been in the habit of coming home until the wee sma' hours his mother didn't suspect that he ever drank until last night she found a flask in his pocket. This morning a hot argument between mother and son took place in which the latter was indifferent to his mother's chastening remarks. She finally became so exasperated that she took a hammer and beat a smashing tattoo on window brackets, etc., with the result that what had once served for useful purposes will in the future be available only for kindling. The parents of the young man are respected in the city, but their somewhat shiftless son has given them no end of trouble.

BIG SALE OF THE WAR CRY

The "Christmas War Cry" is always a brisk seller, but this year a record is being established in the matter of local sales, probably on account of the fact that the attractiveness and worth of the present Christmas edition. Out of the fifteen hundred placed in the hands of the local staff captain for sale, 1300 have already been disposed of. Those desiring a copy would do well to secure one as soon as possible.

Serenade of the S. A. Band

To-morrow night the Salvation Army Band will start its regular Christmastide house to house serenading. The band which has greatly improved in the past year, will be made welcome by its admirers, and the usual liberal contributions on behalf of the citizens is looked for.

Exam. Results at Model School

Those Who Will be Awarded Certificates as Teachers

The following teachers in training at the Norwood Model School have passed their examination and have been awarded certificates according to their non-professional qualifications:

1. Third Class—

(a) Honors—Miriam G. Coon, John Coughlan, Margaret Girwen, Margaret L. Miller, [illegible] E. Thorup.

(b) Pass—[illegible], Jessie [illegible], Stella Burgess, Florence Cole, Minnie Dillon, Kathleen Heffernan, Georgie Howson, Bessie A. Knox, Irene A. Shea, Katie Sykes, William Bryant, Mortimer Clarke, William Falkner, Herman Staples.

2. District Certificates—

(a) Honors—Jennie Buck.

(b) Pass—Ella Anderson, Mary Anderson, Caroline Brown, Laura Foley, Bridget Herr, Nellie Metcalfe, Mary Nesbitt, Kathleen [illegible], Nellie Sykes, Mabel Whitfield, Beatrice Whyte, Harry Edgleton, Joseph Fitzpatrick, Violet White.

3. The following will be granted third-class or district certificates on presenting to the Board their non-professional standing: Clara West, Elsie C. Wright, Frederick O'Leary, Thomas W. Third, Frederick Wood.

4. Third class, (renewals)—Eva Kempt, Emily [illegible], [illegible] Young.

FOR XMAS WORK OR BAZAARS

Pictures in Sepia or Colors, from 3c to 12c

Mounting Papers and Card, in White, Browns and Gray.

Leather in all shades—Brown, Tan, Green and Red.

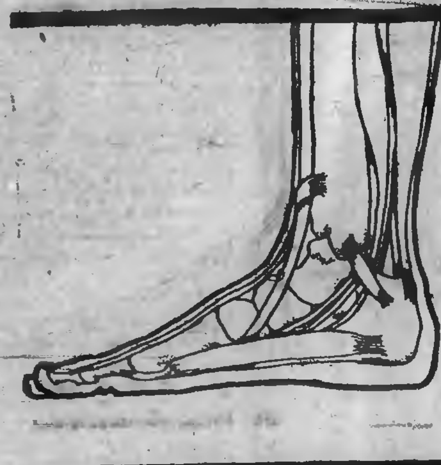
Calendar Pads, all sizes, from 2c to 10c each.

Passepartout in all shades.

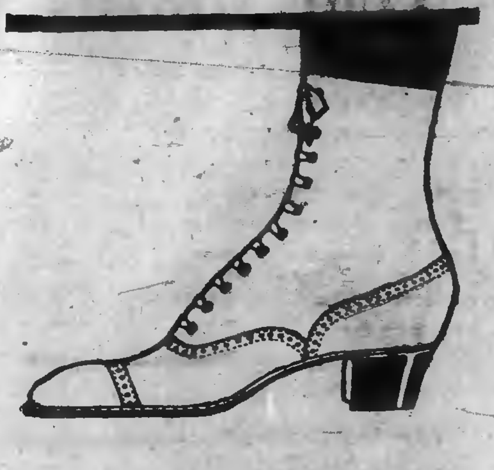
AT REVIEW STATIONERY DEPT.

HIGH ARCH AND HIGH INSTEP

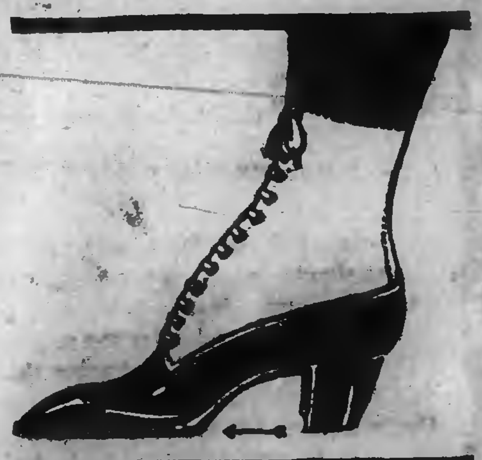
"One of the 14"



THE USUAL FLAT FOOT



THE USUAL FLAT FOOT IN THE USUAL SHOE



THE USUAL FLAT FOOT IN A DOLLY VARDEN SHOE

No woman can have a clever foot without a high arch and high instep and no woman can have these vital foot beauty requisites unless her arch is firmly supported from below.

Flat foot is common to everybody in a marked or moderate degree. If marked, pain and inability to walk are the penalties. If moderate, an even greater feminine penalty is inflicted—ugly feet.

The foot is a chain of small bones held together in an arched position by powerful ligaments and muscles. The pressure from above stretches these ligaments and muscles, letting down the arch and instep in a flat position. The extent of the flatness depends upon the strength of the muscles. The strong suffer less than the weak, but all suffer either the disease of flat foot, or the humiliation of low instep, low arch and foot homeliness.

Dolly Vardens are built with a newly devised steel arch, powerful but pliant, which absolutely prevents flat foot, relieves those afflicted with the disease, and gives the wearer who wants smart, dashy feet, the enviable high arch and high instep.

In the States or Canada at the same price—$4.00 to $5.00. Every pair Goodyear welted.

THE DOLLY VARDEN SHOE

BOSTON The Shoe of Fourteen New Features MONTREAL

Cressman's AGENT
PETERBOROUGH

Motion Picture Promoters Want to Start Shows Here

The motion picture business is appealing strongly to amusement promoters, and for obvious reasons. Owing to the existing conditions that are wound up in a sentence that has almost become a saying—the stringency of the money market—people are not in a position at the present time to patronize as freely as heretofore the higher priced places of entertainment. A moving picture performance is one that provides good entertainment at an exceedingly low price, hence the patronage extended to enterprises of this character. Despite the fact that there are two moving picture shows in Peterborough at present, some enterprising gentlemen from the other side have visited the city recently with a view of establishing here attractions of a different character. A short time ago an American promoter approached Mr. M. Pappas, and Mr. Fowler, proprietor of Fowler's Restaurant, with a view of securing a site for an animated picture show and illustrated song theatorium, and the other day a couple of visitors from across the line, were here for the same purpose, but as far as can be learned, no definite transactions took place.

Two Worthy Aldermen Who Will Seek Re-election

MR. HARRY PHELAN
Who Will Seek Re-election as Alderman

MR. HARRY MORGAN
Who Will Seek Re-election as Alderman

Of the twelve aldermen around the Council Board, the majority are slow in announcing themselves as candidates for re-election.

Among the present representatives who have definitely declared that they are in the field are Ald. H. Phelan and Ald. Harry Morgan.

Ald. Phelan has been a valued member of the City Council. He has been chairman of the Legal and Legislative Committee and also the Reception Committee. Without attempting to review his good work for the year, one instance may be mentioned. At a recent meeting he brought forward the question of the increase in rent of post office boxes and moved that the Government's attention be called to the matter in so far as it affected residents of the country who leased boxes and received no benefit from free mail delivery. The agitation was successful, and the rent to rural residents who lease boxes will remain the same.

Ald. Harry Morgan, who is often styled "the representative from East City," is also in the field once more. He has been a hard-working, conscientious councillor, and will doubtless be accorded a generous vote.

MUSIC AND THE DRAMA

"HENRY LUDMOWE" IN RICHARD III AND THE MERCHANT OF VENICE

Grand Opera House, Thursday, Dec. 26th, Friday, Dec. 27th, "The Merchant of Venice." Plan opens to-morrow morning at 10.

Beginning on next Thursday, at the Grand Opera House, Mr. Henry Ludlowe, a scholarly Shakespearean actor, will make his first appearance here, supported by a capable company of Shakespearian players. The stage settings, properties, draperies, costumes and accessories will be those used by the late Mr. Richard Mansfield, who expended nearly $60,000 for their designing and construction, all of which have been purchased by Messrs. George Hazleton and Wilfred North. Mr. Hazleton is the famous author of "Mistress Nell," in which Miss Henrietta Crossman made such a glowing success, and Mr. North, a well known actor-manager. Mr. Ernest C. Warde, who was Mr. Mansfield's stage manager for eight years and prior to that with his distinguished father, Mr. Frederick Warde, for five years, will be stage director.

Mr. Ludlowe, who is in the prime of robust manhood, has a magnificent physique, a powerful, well modulated voice and pleasing stage action. He is not alone a splendid actor, but an acknowledged authority on all matters pertaining to the plays of Shakespeare, having first received his training in the school of the Booth, Barrett, McCullough and Keene's companies, and having devoted many years to hard study.

While much of Mr. Ludlowe's business will be new, the result of deep study, he will not seek to attract attention by innovations of any kind, but follows the arrangement made by Colley Cibber, and urged by the greatest tragedians from Garrick to Booth, his aim being to be always earnest, conscientious and straightforward.

OBITUARY

GEORGE LEES.

The many friends of Mr. Geo. Lees, will regret to learn of his death, which occurred on Saturday afternoon at his residence on Townsend street. Mr. Lees had been ailing for some time with neuralgia of the stomach, but of late the disease had become more acute and caused death.

Mr. Lees was born in Toronto 47 years ago, and has been a resident of this city for the last seven or eight years. He was actively connected with the Murray Street Baptist Church.

A wife and two children are left to mourn the death of a loving father.

Saturday Sales Were Very Large

There Was a Record Breaking Crowd in the City

"Yes, it was a record breaker. It was the best day we ever had."

"Our sales were ahead of last year, and we are well satisfied."

"We had so many people in the store that we could not wait on them and quite a number left."

"We were kept continually on the jump all the day, and our trade was satisfactory."

Such were expressions of several leading merchants of George street while discussing the volume of business done on Saturday. The crowd on the streets and in the different places of business, was one of the largest, if not the largest, ever seen in Peterborough. The visitors all appeared to have plenty of money, and spent it freely. The city people also did considerable business, and the delivery conveyances were kept on the go until a late hour on Saturday night, or, rather, early Sunday morning.

THE SENDING OF GIFTS

Little Touches That Will Add to the Pleasure of Recipient.

A good deal of the pleasures of Christmas lies in the opening of the mysterious packages that find their way to your door. If these are daintily wrapped up, the present is perhaps the more acceptable. The proper way to send a pretty gift is to secure some white wrapping paper, enclose your card, one of those Christmas greetings and a spray of holly embossed on it; seal the first wrapper with one of the holly seals — there are four patterns — and then wrap in a stronger paper. On this use one of the gummed Christmas labels or a shipping tag with an embossed holly design on it. If one is sending a number of parcels to one address for different members of a family, there are miniature shipping tags, prettily decorated with holly, only costing five cents a dozen, which will be nice to use. These are more elaborate tags, ground in shape with a wreath of holly, and enough bright red ribbon attached to tie a bow on the parcel.

The use of all these gives a distinctive touch to the gift, and will be sure to repay the extra trouble taken. The holly seals, labels, cards, and tags, are all on sale at the Review office. Call and get a variety of them before you send out your gifts.—dtf.

OPEN EVENINGS
FROM NOW UNTIL AFTER CHRISTMAS

with a complete stock of new and up-to-date holiday suggestions. Remember we have the greatest variety of Gift Books to be found in Peterboro', as well as Fine China and Cut Glass, Pictures, High-Grade Leather Goods, Stationery, Bibles, Hymn Books, Cards Calendars, etc., to which we invite your inspection. Be sure and get our prices before purchasing. You will be convinced that they are Rock Bottom.

R. J. SODEN
369 George Street

Ladies' Hand Bags and Purses

Just the thing for Useful and Beautiful Gift now on display at the store that gives the largest choice, the best leathers and closest prices.

Ladies' and Gentlemen's TRAVELLING SATCHELS and TRUNKS of all kinds, in the largest selection in the city.

B. SHORTLY SIGN OF THE BIG HORSE AT THE DOOR
TELEPHONE No. 319

TORONTO SAVINGS AND LOAN COMPANY

NOTICE is hereby given that a Quarterly Dividend for the three months ending Dec. 31st, 1907, at the rate of SIX PER CENT. (6%) PER ANNUM, has been declared upon the Capital Stock of this Institution, and that the same will be payable at the offices of the Company, No. 437 George Street, Peterborough, city on and after

THURSDAY, 2nd Day of January, 1908

The Transfer Books will be closed from the 17th to the 31st of December, 1907, both days inclusive.

By order of the Board,

W. G. MORROW,
Managing Director

Peterborough, December 13th, 1907.

Bennett & McQueen, Fort William, have been awarded the contract to rebuild Elevator "D" for the C.P.R. at $600,000.

CENTRAL LIVERY STABLES AND VETERINARY INFIRMARY
183 Hunter Street, west of Oriental

If you wish a rig of any kind for any occasion ring us up and you will find everything up-to-date in the livery line. Both Phones 178. Night Phone Bell 426 B

D. McKERCHER, V.S.

MONEY IN YOUR POCKET

Give your family a Xmas Present—a snug little home for your own. We have some at valuation that would agreeably surprise you and be money in your pocket.

$900 and $1200—Brick house, six or eight roomed; two story

$1600—Nice brick, well finished inside, near Can. Gen. Electric Co.

$2800—Fine new brick, two storys, large lot, south city

$2800—Brick, central location, modern, electric light, city water, bath, sewer connection, also large house.

$2800—Artistic brick house, large garden, well planted with fruit; house has all modern conveniences and a nice sunny location.

$3500—Beautiful residential location; large lot with stable. House solid brick and warm; balance and all conveniences.

Some good houses to rent cheap.

Some good farms throughout the district for sale. Farm lands in the Great West and on the Pacific Coast. City lots in Vancouver. Double your money in a year. See us for particulars.

BELL & TAYLOR
Real Estate. Fire Insurance
Office—376 Water Street.
Office Phone—456B House Phone 547B

Hundreds of Pretty and Useful Presents

TO BE SEEN AT

CUBITT'S Book, Stationery and Fancy Goods Store
310 George Street

Notwithstanding the large trade already done.

Just received on Saturday a large line of the latest

COPYRIGHT NOVELS . . .

CALL AND INSPECT

"CUBITT SELLS CHEAP"

News of the City Churches

In some of the churches yesterday the services were in keeping with the glad Christmas season. The ministers preached sermons appropriate for the anniversary of the birth of the Saviour of the world, and the musical services were of a bright and joyful nature. The leaders of the choirs and the members thereof deserve credit for their part of the Christmas services.

GEORGE STREET CHURCH

Yesterday's services were largely attended, and were of a bright and attractive nature. The singing was especially good, a splendid programme having been prepared by Organist McCann.

The sermons were appropriate for the day.

The Epworth League will meet tonight, and proceed to distribute gifts for Christmas cheer. These will be brought to the church this afternoon. The senior and junior leagues are assisting in the distribution of Christmas cheer.

On account of Wednesday being Christmas day, there will be no prayer meeting at George Street church that evening.

Anniversary services will be held next Sunday.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH

The services yesterday in honor of the glad Christmastide, were well attended.

Rev. J. G. Potter, in the morning preached from Luke ii., v. 14. In the evening his discourse was from Matthew, ii., v. 2. The church was artistically decorated, and presented a decidedly attractive appearance. The choir rendered excellent music, fifty children materially assisting in the enjoyment of the gladsome occasion. The superb work done by the choir and children reflects the highest credit upon Mr. F. C. Freeland, the choir leader, and all those who took part.

The young people's meeting, with which the regular prayer service will be combined, will be held tonight.

The annual Sunday School entertainment will be held on Thursday evening, January 2nd.

The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be dispensed on Sunday morning, January 5.

CHARLOTTE ST. CHURCH

The special Christmas music at Charlotte street church attracted a large congregation and was of a particularly bright and joyous nature.

The Epworth League will meet tonight at 8 o'clock.

Prayer meeting will be held on Wednesday evening, and cottage prayer meeting on Friday evening.

MARK STREET CHURCH

The music yesterday at Mark street church was of an especially bright and attractive nature, and in keeping with the festive season.

The Epworth League will meet tonight at 8 o'clock.

On Wednesday evening the annual Christmas tree of the Sunday school will be held in the town hall. Doors will be opened at 7 o'clock.

Cottage prayer meeting will be held on Friday evening at 8 o'clock, at the residence of Mr. McGregor, Concession street.

MURRAY ST. BAPTIST CHURCH

The services at Murray street church yesterday were bright and interesting. In the morning Rev. Walter Daniels, of Winnipeg, travelling secretary for Baptist Missions in Manitoba and the Northwest, spoke of the work being carried on there. He referred particularly to the labors of the Baptist church among the non-English settlers. The annual collection on behalf of North-West Missions will be taken up on Sunday next.

In the evening the church was crowded to the doors. Rev. J. R. Webb delivered an impressive and appropriate sermon. The singing of the choir, under the direction of Mrs. Miller, was much appreciated. All the numbers were especially well rendered, the solo by Miss Kidd, with violin obligato by Miss Hope Miller, being decidedly attractive.

The regular meeting of the Young People's Society will be held this evening.

On Thursday evening the regular prayer meeting will be held.

KNOX CHURCH

The Christmas services at Knox church yesterday were very bright and attractive. The music was especially good and of a joyful character.

The Young People's meeting will be held tonight at 8 o'clock.

The annual Sunday school entertainment will be held on Friday evening. Tea will be served at five o'clock, after which an excellent programme will be given.

ALL SAINTS'

All the services at All Saints' church yesterday were largely attended, and the topics dealt with by the rector were appropriate for the Christmas season.

On Christmas Day Holy Communion will be celebrated at 8.30 o'clock, and morning prayer at eleven o'clock.

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH

Owing to the organ not being restored, there was no Christmas music yesterday. It will be given next Sunday.

The annual Sunday School entertainment will be given this evening, beginning at seven o'clock. A programme of a unique character will be rendered.

There will be no prayer service this week.

Rev. Robert Pogue delivered two excellent and convincing sermons yesterday. In the morning he spoke on missions, and in the evening on "What it Means to be a Christian."

On Sunday, January 5th, the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be observed. Rev. Mr. Pogue has formed a communion class, which met last evening at the close of the service.

FINE SERVICES AT BARRACKS

Col. Sowton Spok on Three Occasions—Splendid Music and Decorations

At yesterday's services at the Salvation Army barracks, Col. Sowton, chief secretary for the Dominion, gave three very interesting and scholarly addresses, speaking at the morning, afternoon and evening services. He and Mrs. Sowton arrived here Saturday night, and were met at the station by the band and escorted to the barracks, where they were given a hearty reception, Col. Sowton delivering an appropriate address. Several soldiers of the local corps also spoke, and Mr. Jos. Batten made a few appreciative remarks on half of the Army's friends. At the afternoon meeting the Colonel, who has just returned to Canada from mark, elaborated on the topic, "Under the Colors in Denmark, Sweden, Norway and Iceland," telling of his experiences in each of the above countries, and of the progress of the work. Colonel Sowton's address was of an unusually attractive and instructive character, and was listened to with intense interest by the large gathering of worshippers. He made the announcement that Commissioner Coombs would visit Peterborough in a few weeks.

At all the services the band played special Christmas music, and their work was excellent, speaking well for the ability of the band soloists and the able direction of Bandmaster Greene.

Special mention should be made of the decorations of the hall, which were made by the Peterborough Decorating Company. They were done in splendid taste, and in sympathy with the festive season, consisting of adornments of evergreen and holly and many artistic and well displayed mottoes. The decorations will be left in position until after next Sunday.

There will be special services at the barracks for Christmas, a feature of which will be the "Christmas Ship."

SUBSCRIBERS PLEASE NOTICE

Readers, whose street number has been lately changed, will confer a favor if they will notify this office so that the correction can also be made on our list. tf

Hon. Adam Beck spoke for the power by-law at Hamilton.

ROBBED OF HER PURSE AT MARKET

A lady shopper at the market on Saturday morning lost her purse containing a large sum of money. She was carrying a large hand satchel containing her pocket book. Some thug who evidently was running in hard luck opened the bag and walked off with the money. The crowd was such a large one that the scoundrel very easily carried out his work. She did not miss the cash until she came to pay for something, when she found her bag open with the purse gone. The matter has been related to the police.

EXCITING RUNAWAY

Horse Tore Down McDonnel St. and Broke From Cutter at Corner

A runaway occurred in the northwestern part of the city Saturday when a horse, the owner of which is unknown, was seen galloping madly down McDonnel street drawing a cutter with a broken shaft. There were no robes in the cutter, and the animal apparently ran a considerable distance. It broke away from the cutter at the corner of McDonnel and Aylmer, and continued along a steeplechase pace until finally captured.

You have heard the Sailor Boys' plea, buy to-day for your dinner to-morrow "Sailor Boy" Canned Goods, Tomatoes Corn, Peas and Salmon. Your money does not buy better Goods. Do you get "Sailor Boy" or substitute ?

Two Women Who Tell Fortunes

Should be Looked After by the Authorities—How They Follow Their Calling

It is reported that two women, who are going around the city selling lace, are in the habit, after once getting into homes, of arousing the curiosity of the ladies, by offering to tell their fortunes for fifty cents. They ply their charms for all they are worth, and generally manage to get off a great long lingo, and carry away half a dollar with them.

A citizen remarked to-day to the Review; "I am told that these women are Gypsies, and if palmists are prosecuted in this city for following their calling, why are these fortune tellers allowed to go around from door to door hoodwinking the female portion of the community. It is time that such a practice was put a stop to. I also understand that certain other people in town are being imposed upon by a young lad who is selling boxes of soap on the plea that his father is a cripple. I am informed that his parent is a healthy, active man, and the public should understand this."

Good Home Made Bladder Cure

Here is a prescription that anyone can mix at home. Any good prescription pharmacy can supply the ingredients named at little cost. being composed of vegetable extracts. it is harmless and inexpensive. Best of all, it does its work well, relieving even the worst forms of bladder trouble, frequent urination, backache, kidney complaint, and by its direct action upon the eliminative tissue of the kidneys, makes these most vital organs rid the blood and system of waster matter and uric acid which causes rheumatism.

Here it is: try it if you suffer. Fluid Extract Dandelion, one half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup, Sarsaparilla, three ounces.

Shake well in a bottle, and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bed time.

A well known local druggist is authority for the statement that one week's use shows good results in nearly every instance, and such symptoms as lame back, frequent desire to urinate, pain in bladder and even chronic rheumatism are generally relieved within a few days, the pain and swelling diminishing with each dose.

Invitation Cards for AT Homes, Receptions and Evening Parties, partly printed for 10 each. Envelopes to match 10c package. On sale at the Review Office

WAS POPULAR EMPLOYEE

Men of Kelly Lumber Camp Deeply Affected by Death of Wm. Belleghem.

Mr. A. J. Williams, foreman for the W. B. Kelly Lumber Co., at their camp, Ball Lake, Harvey township, was in the city Saturday. He says the camp, composed of 25 men, was deeply affected over the killing of Mr. Wm. Belleghem, a popular young man, by a falling tree. The employees grew nervous after the accident, and did not care to continue work, so operations were suspended until after Christmas. The Kelly Company pected to take out about 2,000,000 feet of lumber this year.

As the result of falling into a sewer where he was working, Neil Taylor is in St. Thomas Hospital with a broken neck.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY Take LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine Tablets Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c

WEDDING BELLS

HERLIHEY—ROBERTSON

A very happy event took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Robertson, of Anson, on Tuesday last, when their daughter, Jean was united in marriage to Mr. F. Herlihey, of Kinmount. The knot was gracefully and impressively tied by Rev. Mr. Ross, Presbyterian minister, of Kinmount. The bride was attired in a lovely travelling suit of blue panama cloth, and was supported by her sister, Mrs. Richard Wilson, of Minden, while Mr. Richard Wilson ably acted as best man.

SHEARER—LANCASTER

A very pretty wedding was celebrated at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Shearer, of Otonabee, on Wednesday evening, the 18th, when their second daughter, Janet Ellen, was united in marriage to Mr. Robert James Lancaster, of Otonabee. Rev. D. D. McDonald, pastor of the Keene Presbyterian church, officiated. The bride was dressed in a handsome suit of grey silk, and her bridal veil was adorned with orange blossoms. She was assisted by her sister, Miss Maggie Shearer, who was becomingly attired in a suit of white silk. Mr. John Lancaster, brother of the groom, acted as groomsman. The ceremony was performed in the presence of about 70 guests, and after the wedding they adjourned to the dining hall, where a delightful wedding supper was partaken of. The groom's gift to the bride was a beautiful gold bracelet, and to the bridesmaid a handsome gold pin set with pearls. The wedding march was played by Miss Lylia Shearer, cousin of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Lancaster will reside in Otonabee.

New Lamp at Foot of Slide

A new arc lamp is being placed at the foot of the toboggan slide at Jackson Park. The illumination at this point, while fairly good, has not been as bright as might be desired and the patrons of the slide will appreciate the action of the Peterborough Light and Power Company in providing additional light.

Able Essay Read on Scott's Poem

"The Lay of the Last Minstrel" by Miss Milaney at Ladies' Literary Society

The regular meeting of the Ladies' Literary Society of St. Peter's L.A.S. was held on Friday evening last when an enthusiastic audience assembled in the Association Hall to enjoy the excellent programme presented. This consisted of a very interesting essay on "The Lay of the Last Minstrel," by Miss Milaney and an exceptionally bright musical programme.

Miss Milaney introduced her subject by a brief account of the life of Walter Scott, the author of the poem, as well as a description of the Border Country, which in his early manhood he had occasion to visit, its picturesqueness, its historic importance as a battle ground for conflicting races and kingdoms, its clans among whom the strongest and most influential was the clan of the Scotts or Buccleuch. Scott was a descendant of one of these Buccleuch heroes, so it is little wonder that he evinced a great interest in collecting old ballads which narrated deeds of daring and bravery.

The origin of the poem was then very ably dealt with. The Countess of Dalkeith, afterwards Harriet, Duchess of Buccleuch, had occasion to visit the land of her husband, and while there, hearing a great deal about border love, became particularly struck by one Goblin story related to her by an old man. She asked Scott to compose a ballad on the subject. To hear was to obey, and Scott at once wrote the interesting ballad entitled the "Lay of the Last Minstrel"

Scott's great Lay, continued the writer, opens with a prologue, descriptive of a poor old minstrel — his appearance and his reduced circumstances, the latter caused by strict laws enacted against minstrels at this time. He wanders along, and at length after several dubious pauses, enters Newark's tower, where he is kindly entertained by the Duchess. As a reward for her hospitality he volunteers to sing for her an ancient song which he said he had sung for kings in times gone by. More to gratify him than any other motive, the Duchess bid him sing on. After some hesitation, due to timidity, he proceeds. So pleased was the Duchess with the old minstrel's lay that she bid him take up his abode in a little house near the castle.

The poem proper was then taken up. It was shown to consist of six divisions called cantos, separated from one another by short interludes, the last canto ending with an epilogue. Canto I. opens with a vivid description of an early day scene in a Scottish border castle. Each canto was then very carefully taken up and the subject matter ably dealt with.

Very vivid descriptions of the combat between William of Deloraine and Cranstoun, the mystic page, the gathering of the friendly clans at Branksome, the tragic death of Musgrave and the transportation of his remains to his native country and the marriage feast of Cranstoun and Margaret were also given.

The essay was interspersed throughout with beautiful quotations from the "Lay of the Last Minstrel," among them being a very picturesque description of Melrose Abbey.

The very interesting essay proved to be very instructive and was presented in a most pleasing manner.

The following musical programme, which was rendered in a most artistic manner, was introduced by Mrs. Furman, who occupied the chair for the evening:

Instrumental solo, Miss B. Flynn.
Vocal solo, Mr. J. Mercier.
Violin solo, Miss K. McCarthy.
Reading, Miss L. Diamond.

The accompanists of the evening were Misses L. Hurley and M. McCabe. The meeting was closed by the singing of the National Anthem.

The next meeting of the society will be held on Friday evening, Jan 3rd, when an essay will be read by Miss V. Donoghue.

Goldwin Smith Condemns Local Option

WRITING to the Toronto Globe, Professor Goldwin Smith thus expresses his views on Local Option

"I do not think it possible to enforce total abstinence. The taste for fermented liquors is common to all races of mankind, and it antedates the beginning of history. This taste the extreme prohibitionist hopes to eradicate by a single stroke of prohibitive legislation. Unless he can eradicate the taste, experience shows he cannot put down the habit. In the attempt radically and suddenly to change the habits of mankind by law, I have no faith whatever, and I appeal to multiplied and decisive experience as a warrant for my unbelief."

9

YOUTH A LONE DESPERADO.

Shoots Two Men In Hold-Up of a Newark Club.

Newark, N. J., Dec. 23.—Michael Michumas, manager of the Lithuanian Club, was shot and killed, and Charles Conkos of New York was slightly wounded by a lone robber who raided the club early Saturday. John Kosuviels, an 18-year-old boy, was arrested, charged with the crime. When the police searched the young prisoner they found $360 in his pockets.

As Michumas was leaving the clubrooms, the robber attempted to hold him up with a revolver. The two grappled, and in the struggle Michumus was shot and killed. The robber then rifled the club cash-drawer and his victim's pockets, and was fleeing from the building when Conkos, who had heard the shooting, rushed to the entrance of the club. He was met by a fusilade of shots. Two of the bullets struck him, but the wounds are not serious.

Big Suit For Criticism.

Paris, Dec. 23.—Victorien Sardou, the dramatist, and one of the theatres of this city have brought suit for $10,000 and $20,000 respectively against The Matin for publishing a criticism of a play before its first production. A dress rehearsal was given the night before the first production for criticism, journalists, dramatic critics, etc., but with the understanding that no criticism of the place should be published until after the first night. It was this understanding that The Matin violated.

About twenty years ago, Gilblas failed to comply with this tradition in regard to another one of M. Sardou's plays. The author took the matter to court and was granted $4,000 damages, which he donated to the Authors' Association.

Abittibi Investigation.

Quebec, Dec. 23.—The royal commission appointed to investigate the Abittibi land transactions, which was to have continued its sessions at the Quebec courthouse Saturday, will meet this morning, owing to Sir Francois Langlier, who is one of the commissioners, having been detained in Toronto where he was acting as an arbitrator in the adjustment of the school taxation question.

Mr. Despardins, the president of the Belgium syndicate, will, it is expected, be the principal witness to be heard when the commission meets today.

Duel With Swords.

Budapest, Dec. 23.—Dr. Wekerle, the Hungarian Premier, and former Minister of Justice Polonyi fought a dual yesterday with swords, as a result of an allegation of political dishonesty made against the Premier by the ex-Minister at a sitting of Parliament a few days ago. Neither man was in any way injured and the two become reconciled.

Arm Crushed In Press.

Wiarton, Dec. 23.—On Saturday, as Miss Jean Johnson was working at the printing press in The Canadian office, her arm got caught in the press. Miss Ethel Moon went to her help, but was too late to save the arm. The bone was badly fractured at the wrist. She is doing as well as possible.

Judge Champagne Dead.

Montreal, Dec. 23.—Judge Champagne, who for a number of years represented the County of Two Mountains in the Quebec Legislature, died here yesterday after a long illness.

Rescuers Overcome.

Jacob's Creek, Pa., Dec. 23.—But thirteen bodies have been recovered from the Darr Mine.

In their endeavor to reach the victims several members of the rescuing party were seriously overcome late Saturday by black damp.

Christmas Gift Worth While.

Chicago, Dec. 23.—The Crane Co., iron manufacturers, Saturday distributed $350,000 by way of a Christmas gift to its 5,000 employes in Chicago. The distribution was in accordance with a profit-sharing arrangement started eight years ago.

Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID IS A TABLET TAKEN INTERNALLY FOR THE CURE OF PILES

Guaranteed, or money refunded. Correspondence confidential. Booklet on Piles, with copy of Guarantee and Testimonials mailed Free on application. $1 a bottle at all dealers, or prepaid from THE WILSON-FYLE CO., Ltd., Niagara Falls, Ont.

Sold by James Lynch, Druggist, Peterborough.

XMAS GREETINGS . . .

We wish one and all a Very Merry Xmas and a Happy New Year

ONTARIO COAL CO. LIMITED PETERBORO

City Office: 367 Water St. Bell Phone 325
Head Office and Yards: Cor Aylmer and Wolfe Sts. Phones, Bell 116, Mac. 328

ONTARIO COAL CO., Limited

A. J. McCLELLAN C. CURRIER G. K. RACKHAM

Former Pastor Will be Preacher

Rev. M. Pearson to Occupy Pulpit George St. Church Next Sunday

Anniversary services will be held at George Street church next Sunday. The special preacher will be a former pastor, Rev. M. Pearson, of Strathroy, father of Rev. E. A. Pearson, the present incumbent.

Mr. Pearson, sr., was pastor of George street nineteen years ago, and the members of the congregation will be delighted to have an opportunity of hearing and meeting him again. The services promise to be of an unusually interesting nature.

SMITH COUNCIL HELD MEETING

By-law Passed Fixing Polling Places for Next Election

The Council of the Township of Smith met on Monday, 16th inst., at the County Council chamber, Peterborough, with all the members present.

A by-law was passed appointing the County Council chamber in the city of Peterborough, as the place of meeting of the electors of the township of Smith for the nomination of candidates for the offices of Reeve, deputy reeve and councillors for said township and fixing one o'clock as the hour for said meeting.

A by-law was also passed fixing the polling places in the township and appointing deputy returning officers and fixing the remuneration.

Mr. James Tindle appeared before the Council claiming damages for injuries sustained by being thrown from his buggy, his horse having been frightened by obstacles left by overseer on the highway, which application was laid over to enable the Council to take legal advice in regard to their liability and power in the matter.

The clerk was instructed to notify Joseph Young to remove the brush, etc., placed on the road allowance on the 13th con. line by him.

The treasurer was instructed to pay H. Nesbitt $10 for attending to fires and taking care of the Council Chamber during the year.

The Council interviewed Mr. Hall, M.P., requesting that the box rent in post office be not increased, as so many ratepayers surrounding the city are holding boxes who cannot be served by mail delivery. The following accounts were ordered to be paid, namely:

Nicholls hospital	$18.20.
P. A. Kearney,	$224.86
Joseph Richards	$8.50.
Archy Moore,	$4.55.
Wm. Brown,	$72.00.
Dr. Young,	$40.00.
G. W. Green,	$2.05
F. Young	$1.15.
E. Young,	$14.58.
Review,	$9.75.
Examiner,	$23.65.
Sawyer-Massey Co.,	$8.50.
J. D. Tully,	$5.20.
M. Bell,	$30.80.
W. B. Kelly,	$193.51.
Jacob Snelgrove,	$12.00
Frank Ayotte	$2.00.
R. S. Garbutt	$19.00
P. T. Udy.	35 cents

The treasurer was instructed to refund Henry Beavis the taxes paid by him as the property belongs to the municipality.

The Council then adjourned.

GEORGE RUTH
Properties for Sale:

Come and inspect our list of HOUSES We have a number of first-class residences; all modern; locality and prices are right; also a number of cheaper houses. Terms to suit the purchasers.

8 fine building lots, near the C. G. E. works, are offered for $1500.

A few first-class homes to rent with modern improvements.

395 Water Street, open evenings

Christmas Slippers.

There's nothing that will make a more sensible Christmas Gift than Footwear. Our slipper show, at this season is a big thing—worth coming to see.

MEN'S SLIPPERS

Operas, Everett and Romeo styles, black kid, tan kid, patent leathers,

$1.00, 1.25, 1.50, 2.00

WOMEN'S SLIPPERS

House Slippers, Turkish Slippers and Juliets, Slippers for Dress Functions, all the new Ties and Pump effects, choice, handsome and exclusive creations,

50c to $3.00

J. T. STENSON
364 George St.

PRICE OF

Coal

FOR OCTOBER IS

$7.50

Ton, cash with order

THE PETERBORO FUEL & CARTAGE CO
LIMITED.

102 Charlotte-st. Telephones—(Bell) 281, 270. (Machine)—270.
134 Aylmer-st. Tel. (Bell) 362.

D.L. & W's SCRANTON COAL

SOLD BY R. HICKS & CO. AT

$7.50 Per Ton

for Month of October, in lots of not less than half ton.

This is the Standard Anthracite. 60 % of Coal sold in Ontario is SCRANTON.
Terms Positively Cash.

R. HICKS & CO.
Coal Builders' Supplies, Etc.

COAL AND WOOD

Best of Coal—Best of Wood

COAL FOR OCTOBER

$7.50
PER TON

J. E. A. FITZGERALD
Cor. Brock and Bethune Sts
BOTH PHONES 111

Palace Livery Barn

For the smartest and most up-to-date LIVERY OUTFITS, at reasonable rates, go to

TOM FOSTER & CO.

Successors to Bruce Lee & Co
Rear of Snowden House.

AUCTION SALE OF HORSES BUGGIES, HARNESS, ETC., EVERY SATURDAY

Phones—Bell 286—Machine 289

Steer Straight

for the best beer ever brewed. [illegible] are sure to come to us! Our [illegible] Beer is "bottled health." [illegible] vigor and strength, [illegible] high spirits. It is the best [illegible] for the weak and the best [illegible] strong. Keep our [illegible] your home as a beverage [illegible] have no need of a doctor. [illegible] the purest ingredients used in the brewing.

—THE—
CALCUTT BREWING AND MALTING CO
of [illegible] Limited

THE BEEHIVE

The Ladies' Big Ready-to-Wear Store

Have just received in Stock a large consignment of

DRESSY MULL WAISTS

All in the new 1908 Styles.
Be sure to call and see them At $2.50

YOU CAN ALWAYS GET THE MOST SATISFYING CHRISTMAS BOX AT THE BEEHIVE

Keep in Mind the Free February Embroidery Classes.

The Beehive The Ladies' Big Ready-to-Wear Store

FACTS—JUST PLAIN, POINTED FACTS

BOYS' SUITS

Good words our Good Boy's Clothing are coming back to us in good business, what better proof could you ask of our value-giving than these.

BUSTER BROWN STYLE
Gray mixed Tweeds, plain, well made and trimmed, sizes 22 to 25	3 25
Gray stripe Tweed, well made and trimmed, 22 to 25	3.50
Blue and black Serge, well made and trimmed sizes 22 to 26	4.00
2-PIECE NORFOLK STYLE
Dark gray stripe Tweed, sizes from 25 to 30, special	2.00
Gray mixed Tweed, pepper and salt effects, all sizes, 24 to 30, Special	2.50
Brown Scotch Tweed effect, double breasted Norfolk, sizes 26 to 29, prices	4.00, 4.50, 5.00
3 piece Double Breasted Styles—dark gray check and stripe Tweed, Lion Brand, with double elbows and double seats and knees, well padded and well made, sizes 28 to 33	4.50 and 5.00
Dark gray over plaids and dark stripes, the newest designs for boys' suits, double breasted, sizes 28 to 33	6.00, 6.50, 7.00
Boys' and Youth's Reefers—Dark gray and black Frieze, Tweed lined, all sizes up to 28	2.00, 2.25
Dark gray and black Frieze, Tweed lined,	2 75

MERRELL & MEREDITH
CLOTHIERS, FURNISHERS and HATTERS
375-377 GEORGE ST. PHONE 35

Mr. Thos. Fitzgerald Held Up Saturday in Lift Lock Roadway

Was Returning to His Home in Otonabee When Man Stepped Out of Alcove and Demanded His Money —Pointed Revolver at Him—Mr. Fitzgerald Whipped Up Horse and and Got Away, Desperado Firing Four Shots After Him.

There is certainly some desperado or desperadoes getting in their work in these parts. Quite a sensation was caused some time ago when a tramp fired four shots at Mr. Geo. Porteous, a Cavan farmer, and on Saturday night a desperate hold up was attempted in the lift lock roadway, when a highwayman stopped Mr. Thomas Fitzgerald, of Otonabee, and demanded his money. Mr. Fitzgerald had been in the city on business during the day, and was returning home with a considerable sum of money on him. Just as he was driving through the road under the lift lock arch, at about 6.15, a stranger suddenly stepped out of one of the alcoves, caught hold of one of the reins, and asked for his money. He approached him and pointed a revolver at his head. Mr. Fitzgerald was naturally staggered by the suddenness of the move on the part of the fellow who accosted him, but in spite of his danger did not for a moment lose his resourcefulness. Quick as a flash he struck the man's wrist, and knocked his arm aside, and then whipped up his horse. The would be robber evidently meant business, for no sooner had Mr. Fitzgerald proceeded to drive away, than he fired four shots after him in rapid succession. On account of the darkness of the archway, his aim, however, was not true, and Mr. Fitzgerald escaped unhurt. On account of the fact of the highwayman being so close to him he caught a good glimpse of him, and has furnished a good description of him to the police. The latter are at present working on the case, but have no intelligence to give for publication concerning the success of any of their endeavors in the matter. The public are requested to report to the police immediately any suspicions they may have of any desperate looking persons who may be seen lurking around at any time.

A great deal of excitement in Otonabee has been caused by the incident, and Mr. Fitzgerald is being congratulated by his friends on his narrow escape and also for his display of nerve and presence of mind.

Great Success of Peterboro' Boy

Mr. J. Frank Brecken is Now Editing Gravenhurst Banner

Mr. J. Frank Brecken, formerly of Peterboro, who for the past few years has been pushing a pencil on the Orillia News-Letter, has severed his connection with that paper and has been appointed editor of the Gravenhurst Banner, with which has been combined the Herald of that town. The Banner is a bright, newsy and enterprising journal, and has a splendid plant. Under the editorial guidance of Mr. Brecken it will doubtless continue to flourish. Mr. Brecken is a clever writer and knows the newspaper game thoroughly.

CAN SECURE EFFICIENCY PAY TO-NIGHT

Christmas Boxes for Members of 57th Regiment

The members of the 57th Regiment will get their efficiency pay at Christmas boxes this year. The following orders were issued today:

Headquarters, Peterborough,
December 23, 1907.

Orders by Lieut.-Col. A. Stevenson, Commanding 57th Regiment.

No 1.—All N.C.O.'s and men who are entitled to efficiency pay can obtain the same on or after this date, at the Royal Bank. The manager of the bank has kindly arranged to have the bank open between the hours of 7 and 9 this evening, to accommodate those who cannot conveniently go for their pay during banking hours.

By order.

E. B. CLEGG, Major,
Acting Adjt.

By all means reserve New Years Night for the concert at the Y.M.C.A. Two hours of solid enjoyment. Tickets 15c or 2 for 25c. 2d

How the North is Progressing

Christmas Number of "Silver City News" is Highly Creditable

The Review has received a copy of the Christmas number of the Silver City News, published at Haileybury, Ont. It contains over twenty pages of superior paper, with a handsome cover design, and is profusely illustrated with cuts that show up to excellent advantage. Public buildings, churches, residences, and prominent citizens of Haileybury, Cobalt, Latchford and other towns in the silver country are shown, and clearly demonstrate the rapid progress that section of New Ontario is making. Some of the business blocks and residences are superior to the best found in old Ontario towns.

The Christmas number of the Silver City News is a credit to the publishers, and to the thriving towns where it circulates.

THE XMAS TABLE
Pure Cream Candy 2 lb 25c
Mixed Nuts, new, lb. 15c
Choicest Figs, lb, 15c
Malaga Grapes, lb, 15c
Oranges, Mexican, 15c to 30c
Table Raisins, 20c to 35c
E. F. MASON CO., Limited

Presentation to Lindsay Banker

Mr. H. J. Lytle, the retiring manager of the Montreal Bank, of Lindsay, was banqueted by his friends at the Benson House Thursday evening, and presented with a cabinet of silver. The reading of an address accompanied the presentation.

Condolences From Bridgenorth Court

Court Bridgenorth No. 315, C.O.F. have sent the following message of condolence to Mr. A. McWilliams and family;

Bridgenorth, Dec. 16th, 1907.

To Brother A. McWilliams and family;

Dear Brother,—We the members of Court Bridgenorth, No. 315, C. O. F., wish to express our sorrow and to offer you our sincere sympathy in this your hour of bereavement, by the death of your beloved father. We feel you have met with a great loss, but what is your loss is his eternal gain, and we hope and trust when the call comes to you that you may also be prepared to meet your Saviour and all loved ones who have gone before, and who are now enjoying the blessings of that heavenly home.

Signed on behalf of the Court,

R. T. SMITH,
Rec.Sec.

Keene L.O.L., 494 Elects Officers

The annual meeting of L.O.L. 494, Keene, was held on December 12th in the Keene town hall. The election officers resulted as follows:

W. M.—Thomas McIntyre.
D.M.—William Peel.
Treasurer—Thomas O. Stillman.
Chaplain—W. Garnett.
Rec. Sec.—J. M. Hawie.
Fin. Sec.—D. McGregor.
Lecturer—A. Rennie.

WESTWOOD NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Evans, of Canberry, are spending their honeymoon with the former's mother, Mrs. Harris, of Westwood.

Mr. John Sargeant, the popular Westwood merchant, has purchased the farm of the late Robt. Fife. The price paid was $6,000.

INITIALLED WRITING PAPER One of the most acceptable of gifts that you can send is a dainty box of note paper and envelopes with one or more initials printed in gold on the top of the first sheet of paper or on the back of the envelopes. Good writing paper is always appreciated and you can make no mistake in including it in your list. Leave your order early at the REVIEW Office and you will be well satisfied. 3d

A SECOND THOUGHT

Should convince you that the place for genuine values of lasting quality in CHRISTMAS GIFTS is where the most select stock is carried. See our North Window for the finest display of Silverware to be found in Peterborough.

Such Remembrances as Choice Cutlery, Skates, Hockey Sticks, Pucks, Carpet Sweepers, etc., are always appreciated by the recipient. Give appreciated Gifts.

PETERBOROUGH HARDWARE CO.

COMMON SENSE GIFTS

If you want to make two families genuinely happy this holiday season, try giving the old cook stove that has given you years of service, to some needy household, and present the good wife with a

PANDORA RANGE

You will thus make two homes happy, especially your own where the great comfort of using the Pandora Range willbe greatly appreciated.

ADAMSON & DOBBIN
NEW BRICK BLOCK—SIMCOE STREET

ROYAL DOULTON AT CHINA HALL

Over 500 Pieces of Royal Doulton at China Hall at prices low enough to compete with Japanese and German China—Water Jugs, Beer Jugs, Steins, Tea Pots, Rail Plates, Salad Bowls, Flower Pots, Fern Pots, Vases, Tobacco Jars, Candle Sticks, Cups and Saucers, etc., etc., all in Royal Doulton at popular prices.

CHINA HALL FOR CHRISTMAS PRESENTS

GET THE LATEST

The Review Supplies the Correct Things in Wedding Invitations, Programmes, Personal Stationery, Etc. . . . .

THE DAILY REVIEW

VOL LV., NO. 145 PETERBOROUGH, ONT., CANADA, TUESDAY, DECEMBER 24, 1907 TEN CENTS PER WEEK

LUMBER

and BUILDING MATERIAL of all kinds. Shingles, Scantling, Joists and Bill Stuff. Mouldings, Casings and Base, and all kinds of finish. Boxes and Box Shooks.

ALF. McDONALD ESTATE

Point St. Charles Mill, Peterborough.

PROBABILITIES

Fair to-day and to-night, with slightly lower temperature. Wednesday, local snow falls.

Compliments of the Season

While the world keeps festival, we unite with you in Good Wishes and Good Will, and extend to all the Compliments of the Season.

Never before have we had a more satisfactory holiday trade. We have met the expectations of shoppers with an abundant variety of bright and appropriate things for Christmas giving, and the result has given pleasure to buyer and seller.

In emphasizing the spirit of this home-like store, we add our appreciation of your encouragement, and wish one and all—

A MERRY, MERRY CHRISTMAS.

Robert Fair & Co.

383 GEORGE STREET Limited

Ladies' Hand Bags and Purses

Just the thing for Useful and Beautiful Gift now on display at the store that gives the largest choice, the best leathers and closest prices.

Ladies' and Gentlemen's TRAVELLING SATCHELS and TRUNKS of all kinds, in the largest selection in the city.

B. SHORTLY SIGN OF THE BIG HORSE AT THE DOOR

TELEPHONE No. 319

A SECOND THOUGHT

Should convince you that the place for genuine values of lasting quality in CHRISTMAS GIFTS is where the most select stock is carried. See our North Window for the finest display of Silverware to be found in Peterborough.

Such Remembrances as Choice Cutlery, Skates, Hockey Sticks, Pucks, Carpet Sweepers, etc., are always appreciated by the recipient. Give appreciated Gifts.

PETERBOROUGH HARDWARE CO.

IF YOUR PIANO BEARS THE NAME

"GERHARD HEINTZMAN"

It has the excellence that comes of years of experience and study, carefully and intelligently applied.

A SINGING EVEN TONE PERFECT ACTION DELICACY OF TOUCH

combined with durability and beauty of design are the distinguishable characteristics of the "Gerhard Heintzman."

In buying a piano it is the truest form of economy to get the best, the few dollars additional in the price being returned tenfold in wear, pleasure and pride of ownership. Write for catalogue.

Gerhard Heintzman, Limited

97 Yonge Street, Toronto.

W. H. ISAAC, 228 Dublin Street, Peterborough. Local Salaried Representative. Machine 'Phone 22

Wanted

WANTED

GIRLS for light work in warehouse. Apply for address at Review Office. 3d

WANTED

A GOOD BOOKKEEPER. Apply, stating salary, experience, etc. to Box "A," Review Office. 3d

For Sale or To Rent

FOR SALE

TYPEWRITER, latest model American Oliver, as good as new. Good discount off lowest selling price for quick sale. Apply Review Office. tf

FOR SALE

FIRST-CLASS PIANO for sale. Price reasonable. Apply at this office for particulars.

TO RENT

BRICK HOUSE AT 17 WATER ST., bath and electric light. Immediate possession. Apply to J. J. TURNER & SONS, Tent Manufacturers, George Street. 3d

FOR SALE

PIANO CASE ORGAN, double the usual volume, (8 sets reeds) good as new, less than half price on easy weekly or monthly payments. A nice Christmas present easy to buy. 27 Park St., corner Park and Parnell. tf

Lost and Found

RING LOST

LAST EVENING on Sherbrooke St. between Park and Stewart Sts Gold Ring. Has initials J. G. S. on outside and "Maggie" on the inside. Finder will kindly leave same at Review Office. 1d

General

"DON'T BURN THEM"

We will buy all kinds of Second-hand boots and shoes

JAY'S SECOND-HAND STORE

390 Aylmer Street

International Correspondence Schools

Of Scranton, Penn.

Industrial Science Taught by Mail.

LOCAL OFFICE - - 410 George Street

R. C. BALFOUR, Representative

CHEAP HOUSES

If money is low and rent high, call at our office and see if you can't buy.

A good lot and comfortable house $60 down and easy payments.

A lot and 6 roomed house, $600 and Six Dollars a month.

A new 2 story, nice modern red brick house, $850

A 1½ story red brick with half acre garden, on easy terms, $600 will buy and pay [illegible]

Others at good value up to $[illegible]

Companies Good as the Best in all lines of Insurance but Life. Rates moderate.

R. G. [illegible], Special Agent
[illegible] George St. Phone 2 Bell W. MIGHT

For Sale or To Rent

AT REASONABLE PRICES

Three small farms, good soil, suitable for gardening purposes, close to city. Also a few small, comfortable, dwelling houses, and choice building lots, well situated in good localities.

Properties sold, purchased or exchanged.

Private Funds to Loan on Real Estate.

INSURANCE

Agents for reliable Fire, Life, Accident, Plate Glass and Liability Insurance Companies. For particulars as to rates, etc., apply to

J. J. McBAIN & SON

Real Estate and Insurance Agents.

Office Cor. Simcoe and George-sts

Office 'Phone 454 Residence Phone 109A

FOR XMAS

Furniture fixed up like new. Upholstering and all kinds of similar work done. Mattresses made over.

A. R. JACKSON

330 Aylmer. Corner of Charlotte. Bell Phone 494B

We extend to one and all a Merry Christmas and Happy New Year

Yours sincerely,
J. J. TURNNER & SONS.

ALL THINGS ARE NOW READY

GEORGE R. RECORD

PRACTICAL FRENCH DRY CLEANER AND PRESSER

Ladies' and Gentlemen's Garments and Household Articles cleaned and guaranteed not to fade color or shrink any material. Charges moderate. Goods called for and delivered. Telephone 669.

NEW BRICK BLOCK, 173 SIMCOE ST.

Only Complete Dry Cleaning Plant in City

STOVES, RANGES

—AND—

HEATERS

Enamel and Tinware

Plumbing and Eavetroughing

HUTCHINSON-STURGEON CO

Bell and Machine 'Phones 228 342 George Street

MEALS—LUNCHES

AT ALL HOURS

For quick service, well-cooked meals and popular prices—go to

FOWLER'S RESTAURANT

McCallum's Old Stand - 330 George St

FANCY POTTERY

All kinds of Urns, Vases, Jugs, Plates, Jardinieres, etc., Moulded to Order fo hand painting for Christmas gifts.

GEO. E. RAWLINGS, Crescent Street

R. A. ELLIOTT & CO.

Real Estate Agents

Head Office of the Sandstone Brick Co.

CHRISTMAS GIFTS

Two story brick dwelling, centrally located, containing 7 rooms and bath room; city water, electric light. This house is first-class, well built; mantle finish throughout.

A business for sale, consisting of blacksmith and carriage shop with tools, including gasoline engine, lathe, shafting, etc., with a good storehouse for implements and carriages. This is located in a good business centre near Peterborough—$1,000

A good butcher Business, including horses, harness, sleighs, waggons, shop fixtures, slaughter house fixtures, etc. Rent low, location very central. Price $1,300.

For further particulars apply to

J. T. O'CONNELL & CO.

Phone 376. 136 Hunter St.

PETERBOROUGH

LAUNDRY

The quality of our work is our special pride, and makes lasting customers. If you are unacquainted with it, telephone 65 and our rig will call. After that you'll know what we can do . . . .

79 Charlotte St. Phone 65

THE

BEEHIVE

The Ladies' Big Ready-to-wear Store

THE BEEHIVE wishes to extend to everybody the kindest compliments of the season and to wish them many happy returns.

THE

BEEHIVE

The Ladies' Big Ready-to Wear Store

A. BROWN & CO.,

The Real Estate Agents, 396 Water Street

Bell Phone 136 and 474 B. Machine 117

$[illegible] will purchase house and lot on easy terms
$[illegible] will purchase house with stable, etc.
$[illegible] will purchase house. Every convenience.
$[illegible] will purchase brick house, lot and stable (One week only bargain) Several lots and farms for sale.

Fire, Life and Accident Insurance

THE TONE THAT NEVER DISAPPOINTS

Yuletide Greetings

THE LAST NIGHT to buy your Christmas Gifts. Time is limited now—only a few hours left, but a most excellent stock of Xmas suggestions FOR THE MEN to choose from.

Neckwear a Favorite

A distinctive feature of this snap, and the young men know it. The sweetheart and mother should know it, too, if they wish to please HIM. Everything in high-class Men's Togs will be found here in the most distinctive styles. Creations of the latest vintage, including

Mufflers, (padded and Knit Styles) at 50c up
Reefers, all Shades, at $1.25 up
Neckwear, 50c to $1.25
Gloves, Unlined Silk, Wool and Fur Lined. All Prices
Collar Bags, Silk Lined, $1.50

BARGAIN ANNEX OPEN TO-NIGHT

389 George St. Cressman's Toggery Shop

SMASHED WINDOW TO GO TO GOAL

Young Englishman in Despair, Resorts to Peculiar Scheme —Given Six Months

Unable to secure employment, Jas. Blake, a young Englishman, threw a large brick through the plate glass window of the Singer Sewing Machine Company's store on George street last evening. In despair he did it, thinking that he would be given a term in gaol, and thereby would have somewhere to stay and something to do. The offence was committed about 8 o'clock when George street was crowded, and several persons witnessed the affair. He was shortly after locked up by the police.

This morning he appeared before Magistrate Dumble and pleaded guilty to a charge of vagrancy. He was given six months in the Central Prison, but owing to the crowded condition of that institution, it is likely he will have to remain in the gaol.

He was not charged with breaking the window, as he was quite unable to pay for the damage. The break will mean a considerable loss, as an entirely new window will have to replace the old one.

MERRY CHRISTMAS

Sincerely thanking our Customers and friends for their splendid patronage during the past year and with Heartiest Wishes for a Merry Christmas and prosperous New Year.

Jas. R. Bell.

Presented With Cap and Gauntlets

At twelve o'clock noon to-day the employees of the Peterborough Lock Mfg. Co. gathered in the stock room and Mr. A. C. Corcoran, one of the foremen of the works, was made the recipient of a handsome presentation. Mr. Frank Murray read an appreciative address and Mr. E. Ward presented him with a beautiful black Persian lamb cap and a pair of gauntlets.

The address was as follows:—

Mr. A. C. Corcoran,—

Dear Friend,—At this season when the year's work is nearly completed and we feel a joy and thankfulness for the many blessings which we have been allowed to enjoy, we cannot forget those who by their kindness and cheerfulness have done much to lighten our labor and make duty a pleasure, and you, dear friend, have done your share.

We therefore feel we cannot allow this opportunity to pass without expressing to you in some manner the regard in which you are held, and would ask you to accept this pair of gauntlets and this cap as a slight token of esteem and trust you may live many years to wear them.

We, one and all, join in wishing you a merry Christmas and a happy New Year.

Signed

PETERBOROUGH LOCK MFG. Co.

Mr. Corcoran, although taken completely by surprise, made a brief reply thanking his fellow employees for their kindness and wishing them a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

A SHARE OF OUR PROFITS will be our Christmas Gift to all customers between now and Christmas, and buyers will find our prices and selection specially attractive.

Unique values in Bracelets, Lockets, Pins, Brooches, Watches, Chains, Rings, Silverware, Fancy Clocks Fine Chinaware and everything in Jewellry for gifts.

CLARKE & SON

439 GEORGE STREET JEWELLERS

GRAND OPERA HOUSE THURSDAY and FRIDAY December 26 & 27

HAZLETON & NORTH introduce MR. HENRY LUDLOWE—the Greatest Living Richard—in Mr. Richard Mansfield's magnificent $60,000 Productions

RICHARD III THURSDAY EVENING THE MERCHANT OF VENICE FRIDAY EVENING

Prices, $1.00, 75c, 50c. Box Seats $1.50. Seat Sale Opens Tuesday at 10 a.m.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE----CHRISTMAS DAY

MATINEE AND NIGHT

THE MELO-DRAMATIC EVENT—BERTHA M. CLAY'S FAMOUS NOVEL

DORA THORNE

The most popular book ever written, dramatized by Lem. B. Parker. Magnificently mounted with special scenery for every act. A powerful caste of prominent players. The sweetest, prettiest story ever told

Evening Prices 15, 25, 35, 50c. Matinee 25 and 35c. Children 15c

PLAN OPENS MONDAY AT 10 A. M.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE SATURDAY, DECEMBER 28 MATINEE and NIGHT

Jay L. Packard and James L. Long offer the Magnetic Star Comedienne MISS ALMA HEARN and her own New York Co. in the Thrilling 4-Act Melodramatic Success

No Mother to Guide Her

See the Great Tornado Scene—The Realistic Gypsy Camp—The Thrilling Knife Fight—The Best Vaudeville Specialties. Hear Miss Alma Hearn sing "Somewhere" and "No Wedding Bells for Me."

PRICES—Evening, 50c, 35c, 25c, 15c. Matinee, Adults 25c, Children 15c

---

WHEN MAKING YOUR SELECTIONS

For Christmas Presents, be sure and call at our store. We have an elegant assortment to choose from.

PERFUMES—A great line in fancy cases or in bulk from the best makers Any kind or price.

Very Handsome TOILET CASES and MANICURE SETS. Any style or price

HAIR BRUSHES and TOILET HAND MIRRORS—all prices and qualities to suit you.

FOUNTAIN PENS—A. A. Waterman & Co's Modern Pens from $1.00 up

LAUGHLIN FOUNTAIN PENS at $3.00. GOLD PENS $1.50

LOWNEY'S CHOCOLATES—A fine new lot in handsome boxes, especially for the Christmas trade.

Be sure and call and we will present you with a pretty Calendar for 1908.

J. D. TULLY, DRUGGIST

401 GEORGE ST.

THE CRYSTAL

OPEN EVERY AFTERNOON AND EVENING

ENTIRE CHANGE PROGRAMME TO-DAY

ADMISSION—5 CENTS

Medical

E. V. FREDERICK, M.B., Tor.
M.R.C.S., Eng.; L.R.C.P., Lond. Lic. Univ. of New York.
Removed to No. 462 George St., formerly office of Dr. McNeal
Private nursing home for surgical cases.

DR. G. STEWART CAMERON
Office and Residence
No. 273 Charlotte St. 'Phone 128

DR. G. C. LEACH
Late House Surgeon of Lakeside Hospital, Cleveland, Ohio; also of Cook County Hospital, Chicago
OFFICE—294 Hunter St., formerly occupied by Dr. Caughlin Phone Bell 219.
Special Attention to Diseases of Women

DR. JAS. V. GALLIVAN
Office 215 Hunter St. Late of St. John's Hospital New York. Lic. University of New York.
Telephone 663.

Osteopathy

DR. ASA G. WALMSLEY
Osteopathic Physician
Office over Canadian Bank of Commerce, Water Street-entrance.
Office Hours—9 to 12 a.m. 2 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Consultation free.

Legal

R. E. WOOD
BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, Etc. Office removed from Bank of Commerce Building to 436 George street, recently occupied by E. B. Edwards. Money to Loan

W. H. MOORE
BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, in the Supreme Court etc. Office—Hunter street, first stairs west of Post Office.

HALL & HAYES
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS and NOTARIES PUBLIC, Hunter Street, Peterborough, next to English Church. Money to Loan at the lowest rates of interest.
E. H. D. HALL. LOUIS M. HAYES

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON
(Successors to Stratton & Hall)
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, Etc., Peterborough Ont. Office—Corner of Hunter and Water Sts. over Bank of Commerce.
E. H. D. HALL, M.P. G. T. MEDD. W. S. DAVIDSON

EDMISON & DIXON
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, Etc. Office in Clarson's Block, corner of Hunter and George streets, over Dickson's store.

DENNISTOUN, PECK & KERR
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, NOTARIES, Etc 416 Water Street, Peterborough.
PECK F. D. KERR. R. M. DENNISTOUN

Money

MONEY TO LOAN
ON EASY TERMS
O'CONNELL & GORDON
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS NOTARIES, Etc
Canadian and United States Patent Attorneys
114 Hunter Street, two doors west of Post Office.
DANIEL O'CONNELL GEORGE N. GORDON

ROGER, BENNET & GOODWILL
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, Etc., 37 Water St. Peterborough. Telephone No. 191.
Money at Current Rates
Upon Easy Terms.
G. M. ROGER. J. W. BENNET. S. L. GOODWILL

TORONTO SAVINGS AND LOAN COMPANY

NOTICE is hereby given that a Quarterly Dividend for the three months ending Dec. 31st, 1907, at the rate of SIX PER CENT. (6%) PER ANNUM, has been declared upon the Capital Stock of this Institution, and that the same will be payable at the offices of the Company, No. 437 George Street, Peterborough, city on and after

THURSDAY, 2nd Day of January, 1908

The Transfer Books will be closed from the 17th to the 31st of December, 1907, both days inclusive.
By order of the Board,

W. G. MORROW,
Managing Director
Peterborough, December 13th, 1907.

CENTRAL LIVERY STABLES
AND
VETERINARY INFIRMARY
123 Hunter Street west of Oriental Hotel.
If you wish a rig of any kind for any occasion ring us up and you will find everything up-to-date in the livery line. Both Phones 178. Night Phone Bell 435 B.
D. McKERCHER, V.S.

Special Inducements TO BUY HEATERS
You gain nothing by delay. See on
Standard Oak
Quebec Ideal
Art Laurel
They are great fuel savers. Easily operated and splendid heat distributors.
F.R.J. MACPHERSON & CO.
341 George St. Phone 116
F.R.J. MACPHERSON ANGUS MACPHERSON

HOW YOU GET CONSUMPTION.

Most "lungers" allowed their power of resistance to fall very low. Favorable conditions were provided for the development of the baccilli. Consumption was the result.

But in a healthy body Consumption can't take root. The most potent health-maker is Ferrozone. Take it regularly and you needn't fear tuberculosis.

FERROZONE

Supplies exactly what the man verging on Consumption needs. It forms rich, nutritious blood, strengthens the nerves, puts vim and endurance into every organ of the body.

For the tired, weak—anyone in poor health—Ferrozone is worth its weight in gold. Avoid substitutes!

Price 50c per box or six for $2.50, at all dealers, or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., and Hartford, Conn., U.S.A.

TWO TENDERFEET STORIES.

Immigrants From Old Country Often Make Curious Mistakes.

Many tales are current in the West anent the curious mistake made by immigrants fresh from the Old Country and unused to the ways of the new land in which they are making their homes. Some of these are true, some are otherwise. One which is vouched for as absolutely scriptural in its veracity comes from the neighborhood of Calgary.

It appears that an Englishman, with all his worldly goods and chattels in an ox-cart, was moving into the country to the north of the Albertan capital. On his way he came to a steep hill, down which it was necessary for him to go. Now, the wagon was heavily laden, and it appeared to the Englishman that there was danger of its running away with the oxen down the steep incline, unless he could devise some means of hindering it. For some time he pondered the matter, resting on the brow of the hill, and then a bright idea struck him—if he hobbled the oxen it would be impossible for the cart to run away with them.

He had seen horses hobbled when turned loose to graze on the prairie during the night, and to loosely secure the fore feet of the oxen was but the work of a few moments. Then seating himself on the box he started off.

Just what occurred after that, he was never able to relate. Some hours later, passing travelers picked him tenderly from where he reposed at the bottom of the hill, among the ruins of his wagon. Slowly he recovered consciousness, but for days he wore a dazed expression. He seemed to be pondering deeply over something. Then one day light came.

"It was the wheels I should have tied, not the oxens' feet!" he gasped with a great burst of comprehension.

And if anyone doubts this story, the Calgaryans would have it known that they have uncontrovertible evidence of its veracity. For they can still show the hill where the accident occurred.

It is related of another Englishman that he was once out driving on a very hot day. After he had journeyed for some hours he came to a river, and being a merciful man, he decided to give the horse a drink. So driving out into the water he waited for the animal to imbibe. The horse, however, although showing itself extremely desirous of getting at the water, seemed for some reason to be unable to do so.

The Englishman got out to investigate, and after a close examination, discovered that it was the check rein that was the cause of all the trouble. Not being versed in the art of harnessing, the man was puzzled for a remedy. After cogitating deeply for some time, however, he had a most illuminating thought. Going to the back of the buggy he laboriously hoisted it up, assured that by thus raising the rear end of the outfit he would enable the horse to get its head down. From behind the buggy he was unable to see whether the horse did drink or not, but having no doubt in the success of his scheme, he held up the hind wheels long enough to enable the animal as he thought to get a good long drink, and afterwards drove off much pleased at his ingenuity.

He was much surprised, when on arrival at the destination, the horse filled itself up with water, like a camel in from a nine days' jaunt across the Sahara.

DUMPING IN THE THRIFTLESS.

Thousands of Unemployed From the States Flocking Across Niagara.

The statement made by prisoners in the police cells at London, Ont., that Canada is to be invaded by an army of unemployed from the United States is proven true by conditions on the Niagara peninsula frontier at the present time. The invasion is in full progress now. The discharge from employment of thousands of men by the railways and steel and iron working concerns in the eastern States has flooded the country with men seeking for work. Throughout the States tales of Canada's prosperity and the building of the National Transcontinental Railway and other great works of development are current, and the men out of work flock across the border to seek it in Canada.

Many come from Ohio and Pennsylvania, but most of them are from Buffalo and the cities of western New York. At Buffalo the steel plants have reduced the number of their employes and the discharged men have joined the army moving into Canada. The dismissal of several hundred men by the shutting of the shipbuilding works at Bridgeburg has also had an effect on the labor market along the frontier. Many of the unemployed men reach Canada without a dollar. The police and railway officials of the United States are eager to be rid of the penniless unemployed and assist them in every possible way to get across the border, but sternly resist their attempts to return. All who cannot show that they have means of self-support, are ordered back to the States, but the United States immigration inspectors are so vigilant that only those who are American citizens and cannot be denied admission to the country are permitted to enter it.

From each of the scores of English, Irish, Scotch and Europeans who are included in this homeless host $4 head tax is demanded. Of course, being penniless, the men cannot pay and consequently they are forced to remain in Canada. Canada has no immigration officers on this frontier, and so is made an easy dumping ground for all the thriftless Europeans the United States wishes to be rid of.

First Mississippi Steamboat.

The pioneer steamboat on the Ohio and Mississippi was the New Orleans, 138 feet long and 300 tons burden. She was built at Pittsburg, from which place she started for New Orleans on Oct. 9, 1811. The first steamboat to ascend the Mississippi and Ohio was the Washington, built at Wheeling. The Washington made the return trip in forty-one days in the fall of 1816.

No Chesterfield.

A Boston man was praising the late Earl of Dunmore.

"Lord Dunmore," he said, "was a good man. Tall and robust and supple, I can see him still with his short gray beard and his kind face. His only fault—a fault due to his aristocratic upbringing, no doubt—was the exaggerated value that he set upon correctness. He insisted in correctness in eating, in dress, in everything.

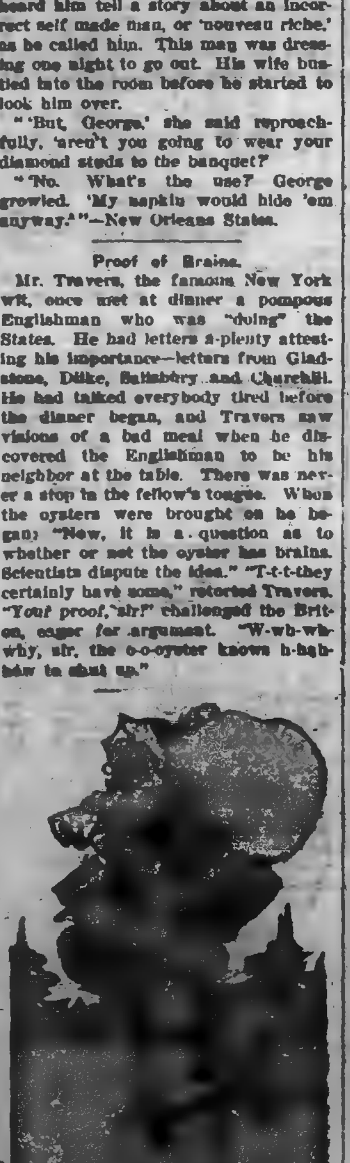
"At a dinner in Beacon street once I heard him tell a story about an incorrect self made man, or 'nouveau riche,' as he called him. This man was dressing one night to go out. His wife bustled into the room before he started to look him over.

"'But, George,' she said reproachfully, 'aren't you going to wear your diamond studs to the banquet?'

"'No. What's the use?' George growled. 'My napkin would hide 'em anyway.'"—New Orleans States.

Proof of Brains.

Mr. Travers, the famous New York wit, once met at dinner a pompous Englishman who was "doing" the States. He had letters a-plenty attesting his importance—letters from Gladstone, Dilke, Salisbury and Churchill. He had talked everybody tired before the dinner began, and Travers saw visions of a bad meal when he discovered the Englishman to be his neighbor at the table. There was never a stop in the fellow's tongue. When the oysters were brought on he began: "Now, it is a question as to whether or not the oyster has brains. Scientists dispute the idea." "T-t-t-they certainly have some," retorted Travers. "Your proof, sir!" challenged the Briton, eager for argument. "W-wh-why, sir, the o-o-oyster knows h-h-how to shut up."



Fire did damage to the general store of Glen, [illegible], Selkirk.

ACTION OF ALCOHOL.

The Seven Stages of Drunkenness and the Results.

According to the evidence given recently by Dr. R. T. Williams, an English physician, in a London police court, says the Literary Digest, he distinguishes seven stages of drunkenness—irritable, mellow, pugnacious, affectionate, lachrymose, followed, if the total doses were large enough, by collapse and death. It is noted by the British Medical Journal, from which this report is taken, that other authorities have formulated these stages in different ways. Says this paper:

"Magnan, who was one of the first to begin the scientific study of the physiological action of alcohol, distinguished five stages—first, slight excitement and a feeling of well being, in which speech and gestures became more animated; in the second stage ideas became crowded together and confused, the mood being, without any very obvious reason for the difference, gay or sad or full of tender emotion; in the third stage the confusion of ideas was greater and accompanied by incoherence, perversion of taste and smell, illusions, thick speech, vacant countenance and staggering gait; the fourth stage was coma and the fifth death. Magnan's second stage has been graphically described by Claye Shaw as 'a loss of the sense of awareness of surroundings.'"

MEN AND MACHINES.

The Limit of Human Speed Has About Been Reached.

One thing alone can intervene and put the curb on the desire for speed—man's powers of endurance. Already there are signs that it has almost reached its limit. The increase of nervous diseases, the spread of insanity, these and other warnings should serve as danger signals that the speed of modern life is excessive. The adjusting of a man's frame to rapidly changing conditions, great though it be, yet has its limits.

Machinery may be perfected to an incredible degree, but man—unless we are to conceive of him as becoming absolutely machine-like—will always have his limitations of flesh and blood. He will always be a fantastic creature subject to strange emotions, uncertain gusts of passion, sudden tricks of nerves or of physical exhaustion. Among the daily catastrophies from the lust of speed it is rare to find that it is the machinery which is at fault. It is the failure of the eye to transmit with sufficient rapidity the danger message to the brain or an error in judgment or a sudden nerve failure, one of these which brings about disaster. Man may perfect the machine, but he remains himself ever imperfect. —London Saturday Review.

Nurses Dread Lightning.

Of all people who are glad when the season of thunderstorms is past, none are more thankful than professional nurses.

"It isn't that we are so afraid of lightning ourselves," said a nurse in Roosevelt hospital, "but it has a harmful effect on our patients. Most sick people have an unreasonable fear of lightning. In cases of extreme weakness or nervousness a dozen flashes of blinding lightning reduce the patient to such a state of prostration that it takes extraordinary efforts on the part of the nurse to bring him around. If one sick person requires all that extra attention in a thunderstorm, just imagine the predicament of the nurse who has a whole ward full of them on her hands."

On the Job.

Amusing epitaphs are common enough, but it is not often that a tombstone inscription is meant to carry a business advertisement. A West Virginia man tells of a singular one which may be seen in a certain cemetery. It was the idea of a widow of a man named Perkins, a partner in a commercial house known as Perkins & Parker. Soon after the decease of her spouse Mrs. Perkins married Mr. Parker, her late husband's business associate. The inscription reads:

"Sacred to the memory of James Perkins, for thirty years senior partner of the firm of Perkins & Parker, now Parker & Co."

Her Helpful Hint.

The honeymoon had waned, and the cupboard was bare.

"Don't worry, Mabel," said the romantic husband as he opened the piano. "Remember music is the food of love."

But the practical little wife shook her head.

"If you really think music is the food of love," she responded, "perhaps you'll step round and get the butcher to give you a beefsteak for a mere song."—London Answers.

New York Life.

The life of New York seems a tragic matchiche, a religious can-can, the maddest blend in all Christendom of common sense and lunacy, dignity and folly, poetry and a furious pogrom against everything that makes for beauty.—Cor. Pall Mall Gazette.

Telling Tales.

Unsophisticated Visitor (trying to use the telephone)—Kitty, what do you say when you take this thing off the hook? Little Girl—Papa always says, "Darn you, central, you've given me the wrong number!"

A Domestic Debate.

"What kept Mrs. Clubleigh at home?"

"A discussion of the servant girl question."

"With her club?"

"No; with her girl."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

A former non-commissioned officer, dressed as a Lieutenant, stole over 130,000 kronen from the Vienna bank.

Effectually Squelched.

The clerk in a dry goods store was waxing sarcastic at the boarding house table because the schoolteacher said she was tired. "I don't see how you have the nerve to say that," he said. "You have a snap. Your hours are short, and, although you say you have to look over papers in the evening, I reckon you don't have to spend much time on them. Then look at the vacations you have—a week or two at Christmas, another in the spring, two or three days at Thanksgiving time and then the entire summer. Look at me. I have to work eight hours every day, with only a half hour at noon, and once in awhile I have to put in an evening at the store when they take inventory of stock. And my vacation! I get the legal holidays, two weeks in the summer and during the hot months a half day off, and heaven knows what a good half day does! Gee! Schoolteachers certainly have a cinch."

During this harangue the schoolteacher listened carefully to the noise he made while he talked. When he finished she said sweetly: "Well, why don't you become a schoolteacher? There's no law to prevent you that I know of."

And the rest of the table grinned audibly, while the clerk grabbed a toothpick and went out.—New York Press.

On the Dynamite Ships.

There is a service whose conditions are little known to the outside world, that of the men on the dynamite ships that lurk in the shadow of Canvey island. It once happened that a cargo boat took fire near Canvey island. The crew could not extinguish the flames, the vessel had to be abandoned, and the tide carried her straight for the dynamite ships. By a miracle the blazing hulk steered safely between them. But the tide turned, and with it back again she came. Another miracle and the floating inferno missed them all a second time. A spark from her blazing timbers, the least shock from a collision and she had exploded such a mine as would have blown the half of Essex into Ireland. She floated, hissing and spluttering, down the tideway and passed away, to burn herself to the water's edge beyond the reach of dynamite. And the silent, lonely men stayed unstirring at their posts and twice saw the grave open and close before them.—Army and Navy.

Missed the Towpath.

There was a little girl five years old or so living in an inland town up the state. Near her home there was no river nor, in fact, any water but the Erie canal.

The child's mother made a visit to New York and on her return was telling of her trip down the bay and of how wonderful the sea had looked to her. Her little girl was listening eagerly.

"Tell me just what the sea is like, mamma," she said.

Her mother made an effort.

"There's the beach," she said, "all smooth white sand. You stand on it and look out over the ocean, and all you can see is water, just moving water, waves coming in and breaking—nothing but water and sky."

The child sat trying to picture it, then in an awed little whisper asked:

"Oh, mamma, isn't there a towpath?"—New York Times.

Little Mamie Rose Rose.

"It doesn't take these little Russian children long to catch on to things in this country," remarked a teacher of the Educational alliance. "When one explains a word to them they never forget it, and they are always ready with an illustration of its meaning too. I remember that some time ago I had explained to the class the meaning of the word 'ambiguity,' and then, as the custom is, I turned about and made them explain the word to me.

"'Now, is there any one,' I asked, 'who can give me an illustration?'

"A grimy little urchin at the back of the room stuck up his hand.

"'Here's a ambiguity for ye,' he cried. 'Little Mamie Rose sat on a tack—little Mamie Rose. See?'

"Oh, no," concluded the teacher, "you don't have to explain a thing to the east side child twice."—New York Sun.

The Lady and Her Dog.

There are any number of men who would ask who you were talking to if you hinted that they were not absolutely masters in their own establishments, yet these very men are often the slaves of their dogs. By the way, unless you really want to make her your sworn foe, don't, whatever else you may say or do, speak disparagingly of a lady's dog, even if it is the most unholy mongrel that ever wagged a tail.—Fry's Magazine.

What We Want Daily.

Protein to make blood and muscle, bone and brain, and corresponding quantities of fat, starch and sugar and the like to be consumed in the body to serve as a fuel to provide warmth and give strength for the body. The protein is found in lean meats, fish, eggs, cheese, gluten of flour and in beans and peas and the like.—London Answers.

British English.

Englishman—I say, ye knaw, what's the bookage to Boston? Railroad Ticket Clerk—The whatage? Englishman—The bookage, ye knaw—the tariff. What's the tariff? Ticket Clerk—I haven't time to talk politics.—New York Weekly.

The success of a movement depends much less upon the force of its argument or upon the ability of its advocates than the predisposition of society to receive it.—Lecky.

In a sale of early editions of Shakespeare's works, $2,625 was paid for one of the folios in London.

RAISED HIS WAGES.

The Way an Employer Got Square With a Faithless Assistant.

A story is told in Milwaukee concerning an elderly German who conducted a good sized manufacturing plant on the south side. He had an engineer at his factory who had been with him for fifteen years and the old gentleman had implicit confidence in him. It was with a profound shock that he discovered finally that the trusted engineer was "grafting" most shamefully.

The proprietor thought it all over for a long while and then sent for the engineer. When that functionary arrived the following dialogue took place:

"Ah, John! Good morning, John. How long haf you been vorking by this place?"

"Fifteen years."

"Ach, so. And vot are your wages?"

"Twenty-five dollars a week."

"M-m-m. Vell, after today it vill be $5 a veek more."

The engineer thanked his employer profusely and withdrew. A week later the old gentleman sent for him again, and the same conversation ensued, ending with another $5 a week raise. The third Saturday he sent for the engineer again, and after the same questions and answers he raised his salary another $5 a week.

On the fourth Saturday the engineer was again summoned before the boss.

"How long have you been vorking here, John?" asked the proprietor.

"Fifteen years," replied the engineer, who by this time had grown to expect the weekly question and salary raise as a regular thing.

"And how much vages are you getting?"

"Forty dollars a week."

"Ach, so? Vell, you are fired."

"Fired!" exclaimed the engineer, almost fainting. "Why, you have been raising my salary $5 at a clip for the last three weeks."

"Sure I have," roared the Teutonic boss, all his indignation flaring out at once. "And the reason that I did it vas that it shall make it harder for you for vhen I fire you, you loafer!"

SILVER KING OF THE SEA.

The Feats That a Tarpon Will Perform When Hooked.

If you have never seen a tarpon imagine the Mediterranean sardine that you take from the box for lunch lengthened out to six or seven feet. Give it two enormous staring black eyes, a supercilious lip of the most grotesque shape coming down and twisting up again, a mouth that can be thrown so wide open that thirty feet distant when the fish is in the air you can see blue sky down its throat and out through the arched gills. Give the fish a greenish back and a long spine at the dorsal, a powerful sardine-like tail and equip its belly and sides with scales which look more like newly minted trade dollars than anything else, dollars often twice their natural size, into which the purest molten silver has been dropped, scales that flash thousands of rays in every direction, scales that gleam, corruscate and in the full glare of the sun form so many sunbursts to dazzle the eye and confuse the excited angler.

I have taken the "sabalo" under various circumstances and have seen it leap along the outer Florida reef and down by the Rio Grande, where it forms in gigantic schools and moves south in winter, and everywhere it is the same sensational equilibrist, the same air climber and sky scraper when hooked or snared. What the sensations of the tarpon are when hooked it would be difficult to say, but I fancy it is frightened and leaps in the direction away from the pain center, and no two leaps are alike.

It may go directly up into the air, carrying a big wave with it, and lash the air, or it may go out of the water head first, rising like a ray of light ten or fifteen or more feet, then fall gracefully. Every possible position I have seen the frightened tarpon take, from standing on its tail as upright as a soldier to exactly the opposite direction, and an old angler informed me that he had seen a tarpon make a lateral leap of thirty feet.—Charles F. Holden in Recreation.

A Little Too Original.

"You New Yorkers are wonders," said the man from the west here for a brief stay, and seeing everything from the Bronx to the Bowery. "Nothing is impossible here—at least I saw vines twined across the sky last night. It was in a restaurant in Forty-second street," he continued. "The ceiling is painted sky blue, and there are little electric lights set to look like stars. Also there are the clouds floating about, but then there are the vines that kill the otherwise very neat illusion. Originality is all right, but vines hitched to a sky is too much for a man from the west."

The Main Point.

Mrs. Scrapleigh—They say, my dear, that the new rubber plant, the Ficus pandurata, is extremely beautiful. It has a glossy veined leaf— Mr. Scrapleigh (who has strained his back lugging the house plants around)—I don't care anything about its glossy veined leaves. What does the dum thing weigh?

A Great Financier.

Cholly—Harry is a great financier. Chappie—Yas! Cholly—He borrowed sixpence from me yesterday to take him to the city to see a man that he knew he could borrow a pound from, and with that pound he flew off to stand a dinner to another man whom he borrowed a hundred from.—London Telegraph.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS
PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days or money refunded. 50c.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM
RAILWAY TIME TABLE

	Arriv	Depar
Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, Gravenhurst, North Bay Stouffville and Toronto	11.40 a.m. 3.00 p.m.	8.35 a.m. 5.38 p.m.
Port Hope and points east to Montreal and Boston		8.30 a.m.
Port Hope, Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago & West, Niagara Falls, Buffalo, Cobourg, Montreal and East	8.30 a.m. 5.33 p.m.	11.45 a.m. 9.05 p.m.
From Buffalo, Hamilton, Toronto, Bowmanville and Port Hope	11.45 a.m.
Toronto, Lindsay, Stouffville, Uxbridge and Markham	10.05 p.m.	7.30 a.m.
Lindsay Local	8.19 a.m.	8.10 p.m.
Hastings, Campbellford, Madoc, Belleville, Kingston, Montreal and East	8.10 a.m. 8.40 p.m.	8.30 a.m. 1.50 p.m.
Lakefield and Stony Lake	9.50 a.m. 5.15 p.m.	8.30 a.m. 12.30 p.m.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY

To Peterboro' Going East.
11.16 a.m., Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal
1.51 p.m., Indian River, Norwood, Havelock, Tweed.
12.31 a.m. midnight, Havelock, Tweed, Smith's Falls, Montreal, Quebec, Portland, Boston and New England points.
1.10 a.m., Ottawa express, Norwood, Havelock, Ivanhoe, Tweed, Smith's Falls, Carleton Jct., Ottawa.
To Peterboro' Going West.
4.48 a.m. for Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, New York, Woodstock, St. Thomas, Chicago, etc.
5.26 a.m. Do. Do.
7.56 a.m. for Cavanville, Manvers, Pontypool, Burketon, etc., Fort William, Winnipeg and all western points in North West Canada.
4.48 p.m. Pontypool, Lindsay, Toronto, Hamilton, Galt, Woodstock, London, Detroit Chicago, etc.

SANTAL-MIDY
Standard remedy for Gleet, Gonorrhoea and Runnings IN 48 HOURS. Cures Kidney and Bladder Troubles.
MIDY

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM
Xmas and New Year's Excursions
Between all stations in Canada, also to Detroit and Port Huron, Mich., Buffalo, Black Rock, Niagara Falls and Suspension Bridge, N.Y.
AT SINGLE FARE
Good going December 24th and 25th, 1907
RETURNING UNTIL DEC. 26, 1907
Also good going December 31st, 1907, and January 1st, 1908, returning until January 2nd, 1908.
AT FARE AND ONE-THIRD
Good going Dec. 21st to Dec. 25th, 1907.
Returning until January 3rd, 1908.
Also good going Dec. 28th, 1907, to Jan. 1st, 1908.
Returning Until January 3rd, 1908
For further information and tickets call on
W. BUNTON
City Passenger Agent
F. SANDY,
Depot Ticket Agent
Or write Mr J. D. McDonald, D.P.A., Union Depot, Toronto

CANADIAN NORTHERN ONTARIO
SHORT LINE TO MUSKOKA AND PARRY SOUND
WINTER TIME TABLE
In effect December 9th, 1907

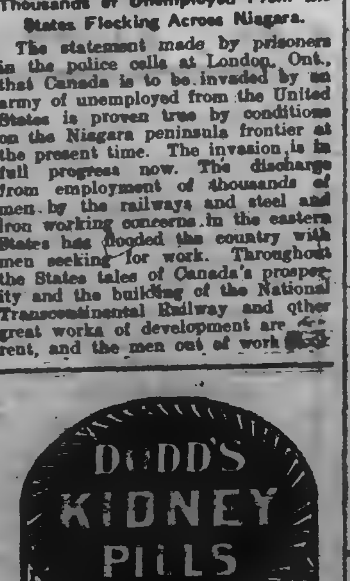
NORTHBOUND	No. 1	No. 3
TORONTO	† 9.00 am	† 5.20 pm
WASHAGO	12.45 pm	9.00 pm
PARRY SOUND	3.10 pm

SOUTHBOUND	No. 2	No. 4
PARRY SOUND	† 9.00 am	†
WASHAGO	11.25 am	6.45 am
TORONTO	3.00 pm	10.10 am

Observation-Dining Parlor Cars between Toronto and Parry Sound serving meals a la carte.
† Daily except Sunday.
OFFICES: All Stations, also Cor. King and Toronto and Union Station. Phone, Main 5179.

CANADIAN PACIFIC
SINGLE FARE
Tickets good going
Dec. 24 and 25
Return limit Dec. 26
Also good going December 31 and January 1. Return limit January 2.
FARE AND ONE THIRD
Tickets good going:
December 21 to 25 inclusive
December 28 to January 1 inclusive
Return limit January 3.
BETWEEN ALL STATIONS
Tickets and all information
W. McILROY,
Canadian Pacific Agent
349 George St. Peterboro
or write C. B. Foster, D.P.A., Toronto

Letterheads
¶What you think about you Business Stationery isn't quite so important as what your correspondent thinks.
¶Don't have inferior paper and work in your Business Stationery. Don't try good work and paper because you like it, altogether, but because it influences the man you write in your favor
¶The Review Job Department will give you the best work obtainable and superior paper and envelopes. Your order set, printed and cared for for you, particularly you
¶A Call or Phone will bring to you samples.
THE REVIEW
PETERBOROUGH



DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS
CURE KIDNEY DISEASE
RHEUMATISM
BRIGHT'S DISEASE
DIABETES BACKACHE

How nicely and easily a Cake can be iced with

Cowan's Cake Icing

Chocolate, Pink, White, Lemon, Orange, Almond, Maple and Coconut Cream.

ABSOLUTELY PURE ICINGS

THE COWAN CO., Ltd., TORONTO

The .... Rogue's March.

By

E. W. HORNUNG,

Author of "Raffles, the Amateur Cracksman," "Stingaree," Etc.

Copyright, 1906, by CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS.

"I ain't after 'is money," said a harsh high voice.

"What then?"

"What you've got in your hand."

"This!" cried Tom. "Who are you?"

"Name's Wyeth. I'm a lag, same as you."

"Let me see your face."

Again that grin below the mask ere it was whipped off, and Tom's eyes lit upon a horrible face horribly disfigured. It was perfectly flat. Disease had razed the nose to below the level of the sunken cheeks, and the beady eyes seemed more prominent by contrast as they glittered upon Tom's visible abhorrence. In an instant, however, the abhorrence changed to recognition, and a great light blinded Tom.

"My God!" he gasped. "The man that did it!"

"Did what?"

"What I'm here for—the murder of Captain Blaydes! It was you who killed him! It was you! I saw you close to the spot that night! Never shall I forget you—and this is the receipt I gave him! I took it just now from your hand!"

"An' where do yer think I took it from?"

"The dead man's pocket."

"That there desk!"

At last Tom said: "Tell me! Tell me!" And his voice was very weak. He was leaning heavily on the chimney piece, and now his elbow hid the time.

Wyeth removed a hand from the back of his head, looked at the blood upon it and grimly showed it to Tom.

"You've been rough with me, you 'ave, when you should ha' taken me to your 'art, but I will tell you, 'cos I ain't that much to lose, an' it may mean my ticket if you stand by me like a true man. Say you'll do that an' I'll tell you every blessed thing!"

"I will stand by you through thick and thin," said Tom.

The other eyed him for several seconds.

"I do believe you will," said he. "It's a bargain between true man and true man. Well, then, that night"—

"Stop!" said Tom. "We will have another pair of ears." He went to the door and called loudly for Peggy. No answer. His voice reverberated through an empty house. He had seen the Fawcetts start for Sydney an hour ago (even now he did not realise why), but Peggy had willfully deserted.

"Go on," said he. "What about that night? I met you not 300 yards from the stile where the body was found, and you were going that way!"

"I was," said Wyeth, "an' when I come near what d'ye think I heard? A couple of swells hav'ng a row. In 'alf a shake it come to blows, an' I counted five before there was a bit of a thud, and the one who'd been calling out 'My Gawd, my Gawd!' 'e shut up, but the other went on saying 'You devil!'—through 'is teeth—jes' like that—until I come up. I keeps quiet and sees one swell take a lot o' papers outer the other swell's pocket, when in I steps. You should ha' seen the one as was pocketin' the papers! Up he jumps, with a thick stick dripping at the end, and before you can say Jack Robinson 'e 'as me on the conk, an' that's the end o' me!"

"Did you ever see him again?" Tom's voice rang strange with horror and weariness. He did not want his freedom. He was sick of the life that Daintree had given him back, of the world to which Daintree had restored him. His benefactor! The man filled his mind in that first light only—and in this last!

"Yes, I see him at your trial," said Wyeth, "but I'm coming to that. Meanwhile I'm only silly, and what do I find when I come to? A dead man, a bloody stick an' me lyin' alongside! Nice, wasn't it? The moon was on 'im, an' he made me feel nice, I can tell yer. But I soon see it wasn't robbery. There was that there diamond pin. I boned it, an' there was some loose silver in his pockets, an' that come in 'andy too. I took to my 'eels an' did a slant the way I come, an' I never see that swell no more till your trial. I thought 'e might be there, an' 'e was. So the first day I lied in wait for 'im, but the Charlies knoo me, an' I got frightened an' went an' lost 'im. The next night I lost 'im again—an accident 'appened—an' I come out 'ere, I dessay in the ship arter you. An' yesterday I see 'is lordship comin' outer the Noo South Wales bank as bold as brarse. He never seed me till you got afloat, an' that's what upset you all. Arter that I dogged 'im, but dursn't say a word till I found a card or two to shove up my sleeve. So, thinks I, the man who steals papers may steal 'em to keep. We'll have a look. An' so it was. An' now them papers is yours, an' you're as good as a free man. You'll put in a word for that ticket when you git your own free parding? You won't go an' round on a pore chap Gawd Almighty 'as rounded on?"

"Heaven forbid!" said Tom from his knees. "You shall have your ticket if this can get it you and I can help." He was gathering all the smooth blue letters together again and thinking of an account which Daintree had given him in that very room that very week of his own proceedings on the night of the murder. Suddenly he sprang to his feet, jumped on a chair and examined the silver cups on the top of the bookshelf one by one. There were seven. All were for winning the mile. It was his old distance from Avenue Lodge to the hollow tree in the fields, between the Finchley road and Haverstock hill. Tom remembered his master's anger, inexplicable no longer, on the day he cleaned the cups. He jumped down and was looking at the inscription on the clock when it struck 11 in his face.

Tom clapped his hand to his head.

"We shall be too late!"

"Too late wot for?"

"She will be married to a murderer. And I forgot that. God forgive me! God forgive me!" He reeled into the veranda. "No, no; there is one chance! The ring! The ring! This way for your life!"

CHAPTER XXXIV.

THE pair dashed to the stables. By seven minutes past 11 the curricle cleared the gateposts, with Tom driving furiously and Wyeth seated grimly at his side. At twenty past they turned into Macquarie street, were rattling up Hunter street next minute, then into George street—the whip whistling, a wheel on the curb at every corner, pedestrians flying and constables challenging, and so up Charlotte place to the church. The clock on the round castellated tower made it 11:24—time yet if they had waited for the ring. But there were no carriages outside, and Tom's heart stopped as he saw a woman emerge and lock the church door.

"Is the marriage over?" he screamed.

"There's no marriage this morning. It's put off."

"For the ring?"

"No, for the bride; she never came!"

"Never came?"

But the woman had been robbed of her fees, and the loss involved that of her temper. "Better go to the Pulteney hotel if you want to know more," said she, and four wheels would have locked in the mad whirl with which Tom turned curricle and horses.

Over the bridge to O'Connell street. A vehicle was ahead of them at the Pulteney. A waiter spoke to the occupants, and it drove off without one of them getting out. Meanwhile Tom had seen the Fawcetts in the gaping crowd outside, had left them on guard over the curricle and Wyeth and himself rushed into the hotel.

"There's no wedding. The guests are being sent away," said a waiter, standing in his path.

"Where's Mr. Daintree?"

"In the ballroom, but there's a gentleman"—

Tom hurled him on one side and was in the ballroom himself next instant. It was a spacious saloon, the best in Sydney at that time, and the first thing Tom saw was the long table with the vista of silver and glass leading to a snowclad mountain of a wedding cake at the far end. The chairs were empty, the table uncovered, and only two men were in the room, the bridegroom in his marriage garments and a person of equal stature in top boots and a pea jacket, whose face Tom could not see. Next moment Nicholas Harding turned his head. It was to him Daintree had drunk in the gray dawn that seemed a year ago.

The ruddy hair was shot with silver, the massive face refined by suffering. He had aged ten years in eighteen months.

Tom went straight to his old enemy, turning his back on his old friend.

"You came out to stop this marriage, sir?"

"I did. It was the only way."

"I congratulate you on arriving in time. You would have had a murderer for your son-in-law!"

Daintree gave a cry. Tom had turned upon him with flashing eyes.

"How do you know?" cried Harding in amazement.

"I will tell you. This man has been my best friend. He paid for my defense, and he took me away from the iron gang. Do you know why?"

"I know one reason."

"So do I, but there was another. He's been hedging matters with his God. He murdered Blaydes himself."

"Blaydes!"

And Mr. Harding flung up his hands, while Daintree sank into a chair as yellow as a guinea, but with hot eyeballs fixed searchingly upon Tom.

"Your proofs!" said he hoarsely. "Your proofs in support of this—monstrous—charge!"

"I have clear proof in my pocket," said Tom to Mr. Harding as he buttoned up his coat. "I have the receipt I gave Blaydes for his watch and chain!"

Daintree sprang up. He was trembling from head to foot, but his fists and his teeth were clinched.

"Thief!" he hissed. "You have broken open my desk! I saved you from the gallows. You think you'll hound me there in return—you fool, when you know what I know! What you have stolen is no proof at all. Ingrate, serpent, it will only tighten the rope round your own ungrateful neck!"

He turned on his heel and wrote something on a card. He rang a bell, met the waiter at the door and handed him what he had written.

"That may be so," said Tom to Nicholas Harding. "I may swing yet, but, thank God, not for Blaydes!"

"It is really the receipt?"

"Undoubtedly, written by Blaydes and signed by me. It will clear me of that crime if it doesn't convict him. I don't want to convict him."

The other shrugged his shoulders.

"It would be useless. There's madness in his blood as well as crime! But is that your only evidence?"

"No. I have a witness outside who all but saw him do it. He did see him taking the papers from the dead man's pocket."

"Papers!" cried Mr. Harding. His high color fled and came again. "They belonged to me. Give them to me, Erichsen, for God's sake!"

"Then keep your eye on him, and you shall have all but the one I may want. I saw they were letters to you." And in an instant they were in Nicholas Harding's pocket, all but the one with the receipt upon the back, and he also buttoned up his coat.

Meanwhile Daintree was at the other end of the long room guarding the door, and now they saw him fling it open with an evil smile. Next moment a strange gang entered—two constables, Ginger, Nat Sullivan and Peggy O'Brien.

Peggy's presence is only too easily explained. When her own ears heard Tom consent to leave the country she shut her teeth and swore that he should not. In New South Wales he should remain, though back he went to the chain gang; but she trusted to her own testimony to save his neck. So she slipped out of the bungalow while the master was being dressed, followed the Fawcetts into Sydney and went straight to the Pulteney hotel to tell Nat Sullivan the truth about Tom. She found that worthy in his usual state when in town. Ginger complained that there was no doing anything with him. And so powerfully did the blear eyed, thick lipped sot repel Peggy, now she saw him again and in this condition, that she had told him nothing when Daintree's message was brought to Nat's rooms.

Nat read it in his shirt sleeves and staggered off to achieve a measure of outward decency, leaving Peggy in a strange turmoil. She could have betrayed Tom herself—so she still thought—but the idea of the master turning traitor in this way was to her intolerable. She had heard the marriage was put off, she divined some sufficient cause, and with the ebbing of her last hopes of Tom her first generous good will to him returned. She looked at Ginger and found Ginger looking at her. At Castle Sullivan he had been a furtive admirer. He was an open one now Nat was in the next room.

"Well, Ginger, an' what is it y' intind to say?"

"I shall have to swear to him, though I'd never have let this out in my sober senses. He saved my life. I meant to save his."

"An' you will do that same—say you made a mistake. It's his life ye'll be swearin' away!"

"But it's true, Peggy!"

"An' it's meself'll be truer still, Ginger darlin', if you will but say the word an' do by Tom as he did by you!"

She had not thought of it before. It was a sudden inspiration of the quick Irish brain, a sudden impulse of the warm Irish heart. When Nat came in with wet hair plastered over his thick skull, the coal black head and the fiery beard were far enough apart. But it had not been so during every minute of his absence. And a pretty fiasco awaited him in the ballroom.

Led up to Erichsen, the overseer shook his head.

"No," said he. "The bushranger was inches taller. I can't swear to him after all."

"Not swear to him?" roared Mr. Nat. "Why, you took your oath he was the man!"

"Not swear to him?" said Daintree, stepping forward. "Happily, my good fellow"—

But Tom's eye was on him, and the police were in the room.

"Try the girl," said one constable.

"Ginger is right," said Peggy promptly. "It's a taller man he was entirely."

"But you're looking at his feet!"

Peggy raised her eyes, and calmly and coldly they met Tom's for the last time.

"No," said she. "This is not the man at all."

"The —— liars!" Nat Sullivan screamed. "They've made up their minds to lie, and you two fools stand there and listen!" He stormed and wept, grew violently abusive and was put out by the constables before they left themselves. In the scuffle and confusion Ginger found an opportunity both to grip Tom's hand and to whisper that one good turn deserved another. But Peggy O'Brien turned her back without word or look. Warm heart and nimble brain had done Tom Erichsen their last service, had undone their first and only injury, and this was the end between these two.

* * * * * * *

When the three men had the great room once more to themselves Tom turned quietly to Daintree, who was now perfectly livid with rage and chagrin, and inquired whether he still denied his own crime.

"Deny it!" cried Daintree. "It is too preposterous to be worth denying. Show me what you have stolen. Let us see this precious proof!"

"I have a live witness, too, if you force me to call him in."

Tom went to a window and had thrown up a sash before the other two joined him. Outside was the curricle and Wyeth seated at Fawcett's side.

"Stop! Stop! Don't call to him!" whispered Daintree in a choking voice. "I—killed him."

"Good God!" cried Nicholas Harding.

Tom shut down the sash.

"Yes, I killed him," cried Daintree, recovering his spirits, "and I'd do it again this minute. Why? You shall hear—and then Claire shall hear—for I mean to see her. It will take all Sydney to keep us apart. That night she refused me. God alone knows why. She loves me now and will stick to me in spite of you all, but she refused me then. I stayed for an hour where she left me. Then I got out by the back way and wandered through the fields—just as I was—thinking of her. At last—I hardly knew where I was or what I was doing—I heard voices. His was one. Yours was the other, Erichsen—I didn't know it then—and you were just leaving. I heard him say he was thinking of being married. I joined him when you had gone and asked who the happy lady might be. What do you think he said? What do you think? What do you think?"

"Claire?" said Nicholas Harding.

"Yes, Claire!" screamed Daintree. "That incarnate devil—and my angel! He said he loved her—that smooth hound—and she had hinted she did care for somebody. God knows what more he said! You would consent. He had you in his power. Either he said that or I saw it. At any rate he taunted me—maddened me—and when I looked about for something to strike him with there was the very thing at my feet. I killed him. I meant to kill him. I have never for one moment regretted killing him. What do you suppose was the first thing I found in his pocket? No, Harding, I'm not thinking of you, my honest friend. It was a letter that showed the kind of cur he had been. I let Claire see it. I thought of a way. I showed her that dead devil in his true colors, I cured her of her folly, and I thanked God I'd put him out of her way and mine. Regret it? Repent it? Never for an instant! Never to this hour!"

"You let an innocent man suffer for your crime!" said Nicholas Harding, with a shiver.

"Did I? And do you suppose I would have let him hang? I was under the impression that I saved his neck. I would have saved it with my own had that been necessary. Only yesterday I risked my life to save his. Who took him away from the iron gang? I had to commit a forgery and risk my liberty to do it. Who would have treated him like a brother from that day? It was his own doing, mark you, that made him a menial! And he would hang me, would he, for ridding the earth of the crying rascal who picked his own pocket like a common thief? He shakes his head, but I know him better. And that's his gratitude—after all I've done! Something like yours, you, Harding! I save your daughter from a poisonous scoundrel, so I am not to marry her for my pains. A just pair—convict bushranger and fraudulent M. P.! A precious pair to join forces against an honest man! Do your worst. I shall marry her against you both. I shall, I shall, I shall!"

Tom knew this voice. He wondered he had not heard the madness in it from the first.

"Never!" cried Harding. "I would rather see her in her coffin."

"She loves me as I love her."

"She does not love you at all."

At these words a feeling of pity crept over Tom. They rang so true, and they told so palpably upon that distorted heart which could bear up better against a charge of murder.

"Does she not?" cried Daintree. "We shall see!" And he darted from them with an altered face, was first out of the room, first up the stairs and first into the ladies' sitting room, but Tom's foot was in the door before he could bang it behind him, and Tom and Mr. Harding burst their way in together.

On the threshold they stopped with one accord. Daintree had not turned to confront them. He had flung himself at the feet of Claire, who was seated on a sofa by her aunt's side.

"They say you do not love me," whispered Daintree in a voice that broke with very tenderness and yet retained a confident ring. "I love you better than my own life and all the world. Tell them nothing can part us—nothing they can say, nothing I have done. Tell them you love me as I love you. Tell them you would marry me if I had to go to prison tomorrow."

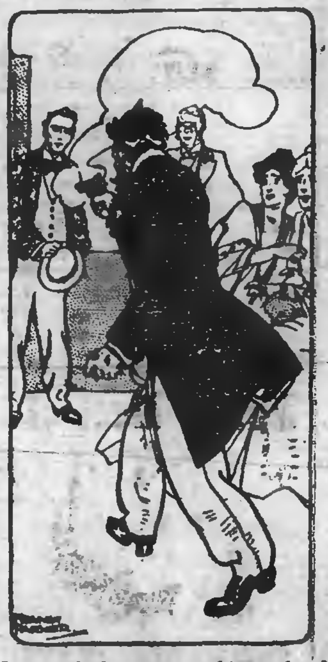
The brown curls moved slowly from side to side.

"What! There is truth, then, in what they say?"

"Forgive me! Forgive me!" were Claire's only words.

"So it is true!"

His tone would have been a marvel of restraint in any man. In this one it was a miracle. Still on his knees he besought her as a last favor to tell him whom she did love. Her eye flew to Tom's. The cunning of the criminal lunatic shone through the tears in his. "So it is Erichsen, not Blaydes," he said, getting up and standing harmlessly in their midst. Next instant he had whipped out his pistol and fired it point blank at Tom's heart. The report was appalling. A white cloud filled the room. As it thinned away there was Tom still standing, with the one calm face present. The charge had contained no ball. Next instant the pistol itself was hurled at his head, and Daintree was upon Tom with tooth and nail—cursing, raving, moaning—fighting Tom and Nicholas Harding both—fighting the constables and waiters, who poured in like water, and still wailing, raving, cursing, as he fought.



Daintree had whipped out his pistol and fired it point blank at Tom's heart.

It was a horrible sound, human no longer, though the fist of the sportsman still flew hard and true from the shoulder, though the tears of the lover were still wet upon the madman's face. It was nevertheless but the husk of a man that was at last overpowered and carried to a distant bedroom. That complex heart still squirted liquid fire through every vein, but the brain was not. Inherent mania had claimed its own.

To be continued.

ABSOLUTE SECURITY.

Genuine

Carter's Little Liver Pills.

Must Bear Signature of

Brent Good

See Fac-Simile Wrapper Below.

Very small and as easy to take as sugar.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS

FOR HEADACHE.
FOR DIZZINESS.
FOR BILIOUSNESS.
FOR TORPID LIVER.
FOR CONSTIPATION
FOR SALLOW SKIN.
FOR THE COMPLEXION

Purely Vegetable.

CURE SICK HEADACHE.

Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID IS A TABLET TAKEN INTERNALLY FOR THE CURE OF PILES

Guaranteed, or money refunded. Correspondence confidential. Booklet on Piles, with copy of Guarantee and Testimonials mailed Free on application. $1 a bottle at all dealers, or prepaid from THE WILSON-FYLE CO., Ltd., Niagara Falls, Ont.

Sold by James Lynch, Druggist, Peterborough.

Monkey Brand Soap makes copper like gold, tin like silver, crockery like marble, and windows like crystal.

Why Peterborough Citizens Now Come to Dr. Browett for Glasses

ONE REASON: Most city people are now too intelligent and well informed to permanently injure their eyes and wreck their nerves for want of suitable glasses, especially when Dr. Browett's prices are so reasonable consistent with quality. Eye Glasses and Spectacles from $1.00 up; Colored Glasses 25 to 40c; Railroad and Mechanic's Glasses 25c to $1.00; Thermometers 25c to $5.00; Artificial Eyes $3.50 to $1.00; Non-Steam Lens Polish (keeps steam and frost from glasses) 25c.

ANOTHER REASON: Winter brings long nights with more use of artificial light. Ladies are now taxing their eyes doing fancy work for Xmas. Gentlemen are doing more reading and writing in the office and home. Scholars are doing long hours of home work. Thus all eyes work harder during the winter season, and if glasses are ever needed they are needed now. Some thoughtful sons and daughters are giving glasses to their parents for Xmas.

McDERMID & JURY'S, Drug Store,
390 George Street, Peterborough, Ont.

PILES CURED at HOME by New Absorption Method.

If you suffer from bleeding, itching, blind or protruding Piles, send me your address, and I will tell you how to cure yourself at home by the absorption treatment; and will also send some of this home treatment free for trial, with references from your own locality if requested. Immediate relief and permanent cure assured. Send no money but tell others of this offer. Write to-day to Mrs. M. Summers, Box P62, Windsor Ont.

FOR THE LADY WHO CALLS

Visiting List and Social Engagement Book —A Dainty and Useful Gift.

Those ladies who find it difficult to keep track of their social debts in the way of calls which have to be returned, invitations to various society functions which have been received will be pleased to learn that a dainty little book has been issued from the presses of the Review which will fill their need. The city has grown so rapidly of late years that it has become almost necessary for each lady to have a special reception day each month when her friends will be sure to find her at home. To keep a record of these will be an easy matter with one of these little books. They are prettily bound in blue linen, lettered in gold and printed on good paper. There are two pages for every day in the month, arranged, according as the day is, first Monday, second Tuesday, etc. At the back of the book are pages for invitations received, out-of-town addresses, special reception dates, and memoranda. One of the books would make a dainty and acceptable Xmas gift. The books are on sale at the bookstores at the price of 50c.

A GOOD SERVANT

The Review Want Ad. column solves the problem of how to recover lost articles, get a tenant for a house, secure a servant or help of any kind, obtain roomers or boarders, sell surplus articles around the home, or find something you want to buy. Try it, the cost is low.

EGGS

FOR SALE by the case

Fresh and Pickled Choice Stock at our warehouse, Robinson Street, East City

Scott & Hogg
PHONE 264, BOTH PHONES

HOCKEY SKATES

From 75c to $5.00

Skates repaired and sharpened
General machine work.

METHEREL'S CYCLE WOKKS
225 Hunter Street

YOUR OWN HAIR MADE UP AS DESIRED

By home talent, where you are sure of satisfaction, or matched correctly in shade and quality.

Switches, Natural Wavy Pompe
Latest Coiffures

Let us show you what we can do before you patronize some outside party. We guarantee to please you at lowest prices in the city.

Back Hair Dressing, Shampooing, etc.

MRS. BYRNE'S
George Street Second Door North of Dutton's

Children's Aid Society

FOR THE CARE OF NEGLECTED AND ILL-TREATED CHILDREN.

Incorporated by Act of Legislature, 1898
Information required. Informants name kept strictly private.

CHILDREN FOR ADOPTION

Office Hours—11.00 to 12.00 a.m.
FFICE--DIVISION COURT BLDG

GEO. COCHRANE,
AGENT and ASST SEC

Private Greeting Cards

THE highly colored and lithographed Christmas Card in vogue a few years ago has passed away entirely.

IN place has come the much more appropriate Personal Greeting Card.

OF these the Review Office is showing a great many original designs.

YOUR order should be given immediately, while the selection is so complete.

SHOULD you desire Card specially designed to your order, promptness is absolutely necessary.

The Review
HUNTER STREET
PETERBOROUGH

BETTER THAN THE BEST

Policy No. 203260, held by Mr. A. C. Frost, Chicago, in the Sun Life Assurance Co. of Canada, issued March 1902, for $50,000, calling for an annual premium of $1,907.50, has had the following results declared at the end of the first five-year division of profits:

CASH PROFITS, $1,650.25

or

A bonus addition to the sum assured, of $3,382.00

The Assured accepted the cash profits, being a return on all premiums paid of 17.3 per. cent.

Mr. Frost has written a letter of thanks to the Company, which contains the following sentence:

I carry over $800,000 of Life Assurance and this is by far the largest dividend I have ever received on any of my policies.

MORAL:

IT PAYS to be Assured in the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada.

W. H. HILL,

Mgr. Central [illegible]

GREETING

With sincere thanks for a liberal 1907 patronage, and wishing all a JOYFUL CHRISTMAS —AND A—PROSPEROUS NEW YEAR

WARNE'S
JEWELLERS 345 GEORGE ST.

SNAPS FOR XMAS
Ebony Mirrors
Fbony Hair Brushes
Ebony Clothes Brushes
Ebony Manicure Sets
Ebony Military Brushes
Real Seal Skin Purses
Hand Satchels
Ladies' Companions
Gentlemen's Companions
Perfumes, etc.
at lowest prices
WARNE BROS.
345 GEORGE ST. PHONE 527

Xmas Photos

Send a family group or the children's photos to your friends at Christmas. Nothing is appreciated more than such remembrances, on

MENDEL'S STUDIO

374 1-2 George St Entrance next Oke

By the bursting of an emery wheel, James Peterson, Winnipeg, had his skull fractured.

The main building of the Standard Drain Pipe Co. was destroyed by fire at St. John's, Que.

XMAS GREETINGS

Nugent Drug Co.

Wish their customers one and all

A VERY HAPPY XMAS

To help you make other people happy, we have a fine selection of

Perfumes
Perfume Atomizers
Brushes and Combs

and other things you might like to get. We have also some Elegant OPERA GLASSES and a few of the best quality FOUNTAIN PENS at a bargain.

388 GEORGE STREET

INTEREST PAID
QUARTERLY
—ON—
SAVINGS DEPOSITS of $1 and upwards
—THE—
BANK OF OTTAWA

Interest paid
February 28
May 31
August 31
November 30

PETERBOROUGH BRANCHES:
George Street, also Corner Rubidge and Townsend Streets

A. A. HOLLINGSHEAD, Mgr.

TURKEY, DOLL AND CARRIAGE

To be Given Away on Christmas Eve by Alex Gordon, the Market Butcher

Among the tastily decorated Christmas stores, one of the brightest in its line is that of Alex. Gordon, the market butcher in the Arcade. Fruit-laden evergreen trees are everywhere in evidence, artistically placed, and giving the interior a real holiday appearance. The specially fed Christmas meat in beef, mutton, lamb and pork, as well as an abundance of choice poultry, and a good fat bear look tempting.

A splendid big doll and carriage and a mammoth turkey are to be given away on Christmas Eve on the following plan. Everyone making a purchase to the amount of 50c. will be entitled to a guess at the name of the doll or the weight of the turkey. The doll's name is in an envelope, sewed into its dress, and the turkey will be weighed on Christmas Eve. The one guessing correctly the name or weight will be given the doll or turkey. 3d

Chocolate and Creams 2 lb. for 25c, Navel Oranges 20, 30, 40c, Mixed Nuts per lb. 15c.
R. A. DUTTON.

The four-storey premises of the Montreal Suspender and Umbrella Co. in Arnprior, were destroyed by fire with a loss of $50,000.

Gratitude
and Greeting

A HAPPY XMAS
AND GLAD NEW YEAR

Harry Adams

Is Liquor Being Sold in Local Option Territory?

Report From Buckhorn Says That Spirits are Being Sold Freely—Inspector Has an Anonymous Correspondent.

Although Buckhorn is under local option jurisdiction, the charge is made that liquor is being sold there in large quantities, and that everything is going free and easy as far as the selling of spirits is concerned.

License Inspector Joseph Stewart has received an anonymous letter from some person who apparently resides in the vicinity of Buckhorn, in which it is stated that the local option by-law is not being observed at all. Drinking is going on freely, the writer states, and the name of one party who is selling liquor without a license is mentioned.

Mr. Stewart will take no action regarding the matter unless the writer of the letter furnishes his name. The inspector pays no attention to anonymous communications, but if he receives information from a person who signs his name, he at once makes a complete investigation. The identity of the informant is held strictly confidential. If the writer of the letter sends his name, Mr. Stewart will at once take action.

Havelock Employs Constable to Enforce the Liquor Law

Havelock, Dec. 21. — The village council held their last meeting on Monday, Dec. 16th, in the council chamber, with Reeve Thompson, and Councillors Knox, Young and Campney present. The minutes of last meeting were read and approved. On motion of Knox and Campney several accounts were ordered to be paid.

Tenders for snowplowing were received from F. Curtis for $2.50 and W. Holcombe for $2.00. After a discussion Mr. Holcombe's tender was accepted, and he was ordered to employ a man to shovel when necessary at the expense of the corporation. Tender states that the snow plough shall start out at day break or immediately after a storm, and all streets with two or more houses must be ploughed.

A bylaw to hold an election was read first, second and third time, signed and sealed. Another bylaw appointing deputy returning officers was dealt with similarly.

The clerk was instructed to notify Seabrook Bros., that gravel account must be paid before Dec. 20.

The tax collector was given a rebate of $2.70 on the Pacy lot, bought for park purposes, and the time for returning the collector's roll was extended to the first meeting of the new council.

A deputation from the hotel-keepers of the town waited on the council in reference to appointing a village constable for the protection of the hotel keepers, and to enforce the liquor license law in the village.

On motion of Campney and Knox, Mr. James Brill, of town, was appointed at a salary of $40 for one month, and, if employed longer, salary would be $35.00 per month.

The new constable will go on duty at 1.00 p.m., and employ his time until 6.00 p.m. at street work, unless he has a call for constable work, and to go on constable work at 7.00 p.m., and to remain on constable duty until 12.00 midnight. All the fees from the officer to go to the village council. Mr. Brill, the new constable, will be subject to call for constable duty at any time, and it shall also be his duty to look after the town hall and to collect hall rents.

Duties of new constable commenced on Dec. 17th at 1 p.m.

The Review Wishes its Many Readers Numerous Returns of Glad Christmastide

One Year Gives New Comers Good Start in Peterborough

Charity Relief Officer Miller has a list of families in the city who are in somewhat tight circumstances and in need of aid. Among them are several English families who have recently arrived here from the Old Land.

Mr. Miller makes the gratifying statement that practically none of the English families that were given help last year have applied for assistance this winter. They have apparently been able to get a start in life during the summer, and are now so situated that they do not require aid. Only one party on last year's list, a widow woman, has requested assistance this winter.

This is a very gratifying feature, and goes to show that the average new comer from Albion gets along alright once he gets a start.

Winter Meet of Peterboro' Turf Club to be a Good One

String of Aristrocratic Horses to Start in the Different Classes—Track Will Will be Open to Horse Owners Next Week—Cooling and Wallace, of Columbus, O., Have the Betting Privileges.

Great preparations are being made for the winter meet under the auspices of the Peterborough Turf Club, and some good ones for the various classes are sure to be here. On Tuesday, January 21st, there will be two events, a 2.35 pace or trot and a 2.18 pace or trot; on the second day and last day there will be a 2.22 class and a free-for-all.

There promises to be lively betting and the privileges have been accorded Cooling and Wallace of Columbus, Ohio, a firm of the biggest and most reliable bookies in the business. Dr. Johnston, the popular president of the Turf Club, informed The Review this morning that the work of getting the track into shape would commence next week, and all who desire to work out their horses will be allowed to do so when the gates are thrown open. Entry blanks have been published and may be had on application to Secretary Jas. O'Shea, of the Commercial Hotel. A big string of outside steppers of prominence, among them some of the fastest in the business, will start in the different events, and two days of fascinating sport is in store for the lovers of ice racing.

Particulars of the horses which are to be here for the meet will be given in the immediate future.

This year the Turf Club will endeavor to have the races the most successful and satisfactory that have ever been held in Peterborough. The officers are experienced and of good executive ability, and are working hard to have a meet that will be eminently satisfactory from both the horsemen's and spectators' standpoint.

Householders Having Hard Time to Secure Turkeys

Turkeys are as scarce as the proverbial hen's teeth in Peterborough to-day.

And to-morrow is Christmas too!

This afternoon it was practically impossible to secure a turkey in the city and geese were completely off the market. Only a few places in the city had any turkeys and at the rate they were going there will not be a bird on the market early this evening. They were selling at 15 cts per pound, while geese, while the supply lasted, went at 12c. Chickens are fairly plentiful and are selling at 75c to 85c per pair.

There was no market this morning worth speaking of, only a few sleighs being lined up on the square. Apparently the farmers did all their marketing on Saturday and had nothing to bring in to-day. Housewives who had left the purchase of the festive turkey until the last day were scurrying around the city this afternoon looking for birds and, with poor success mostly.

CHOOSING FOR ONE'S BACHELOR FRIENDS

Not even the "Crusty Old Bach" of fiction could fail to feel a heart glow at being the recipient of one of these gifts:

Pearl Mounted Gold Stick Pins	1.50 to 15.00
Gentleman's Seal Ring	4 25 up
Match and Cigar Cases	1 00 to 7.50
Gold Cuff Links, plain or gem set	3.00 to 25.00
Gun Metal Cigar Cutter	1.00
Shaving Cup	3.00 to 5.00

SCHNEIDER'S

MUNICIPAL TALK FROM HAVELOCK

Havelock, Dec. 23.—Monday, Dec. 30, will be nomination day, and it is about time that the ratepayers of the town were selecting reliable persons to fill the important offices of this municipality.

Those who have so kindly given their services to Havelock during 1907 have been a credit to the town, and it is hoped that men just as reliable will enter the field for 1908.

Councillors Jos. Knox and George Young will be in the field again for councillors, but Councillor J. Campney who has served the town in that capacity for several years, has decided to drop out of municipal life.

On the School Board Trustees Jas. Black, S. S. Joyce and T. H. Patterson retire this year, but have not as yet stated whether they intend to run again or not.

In Belmont, Reeve Johnston and Councillor J. W. Russell will entre the field for reeveship, while Councillors Thos. McConnel, John Anderson and A. A. Wilde will also stand for re-election.

Looking for the Highwayman

Police are Making Every Effort to Locate Thos. Fitzgerald's Assailant

The city is thoroughly aroused over the attempted robbery of Mr. Thos. Fitzgerald at the lift lock on Saturday night, and the police are exerting themselves to the utmost in endeavoring to locate the thug. They have been very vigilant of late in the matter, and are making inquiries and keeping on the lookout in hopes of getting the guilty one.

HOLIDAY CONFECTIONS

For a choice Box of fresh, home-made Creams, Chocolates or Bon Bons, go to L. Potvin, 425 George Street. All Candies made on the premises from finest materials. Christmas and Fancy Cakes that delight the most fastidious. Visit Potvin's before making your Christmas purchases.

Remembered by Her Pupils

Miss Sarah Hamilton Given Beautiful Present by North Monaghan School

On Friday afternoon, before the closing hour came, the pupils of Miss Sarah Hamilton's school, North Monaghan, presented her with an appreciative address and a beautiful burnished gold jewel case, and sterling silver brooch.

One of the scholars read the address, while another made the presentation.

The address was as follows:

Peterborough, December 16, 1907.

Miss Hamilton:

Dear Teacher,—I have been requested by the girls and boys of this school to offer you this slight token of affection and regard.

I cannot tell you how delighted I am to be the means of conveying to you the expression of our united love. What we offer you is a poor symbol of our feelings, but we know you will receive it kindly, as a simple indication of the attachment each one of us cherishes for you in her heart of hearts.

You have made our lessons pleasant to us, so pleasant that it would be ungrateful to call them tasks. We know that we have often tried your temper and forbearance, but you have dealt gently with us in our waywardness, teaching us by example as well as precept the advantages of kindness and self-control. We will never forget you. We shall look back to this school in after life not as a place of penance, but as a place of mental enjoyment, where the paths of learning were strewn with flowers, and whenever memory recalls our school days our hearts will warm towards you as they do to-day.

I have been requested by my school mates not to address you formally, but as a beloved and respected friend. In that light, dear teacher, we all regard you.

Please accept with our little present our earnest good wishes. May you always be as happy as you have endeavored to make your pupils, and nothing better could be wished for them than to be always as faithful to their duties to others as you have been in your duties to them.

Wishing you a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

THE PUPILS OF THE SCHOOL.

STEPS TAKEN TO PREVENT IT SPREADING

Board of Health's Measures to Stamp Out Smallpox in Ashburnham

A meeting of the Board of Health was held last night to deal with the case of small pox which has developed in Ashburnham. James Cornell, who lives on Concession street, near the C.P.R. bridge, over the canal, is the man who has the contagion, and the doctors who are in attendance state that the disease is of a mild form and that the sick man will recover. The house where Mr. Cornell lives is situated some distance from any other dwelling, and can be isolated quite easily. The board decided to have Cornell's family vaccinated and to have the house watched night and day to prevent any members of the family leaving the place or anyone calling there. Men have been engaged to keep watch at the house and it is expected that the effective steps taken will prevent the spread of the contagion.

Cornell had been working in a lumber camp in the north and came home about ten days ago to spend Christmas with his family.

The Shah accepts the conditions laid down by the Persian Parliament.

Installing New Switch Board

Mr. John Turner and staff, of Montreal, arrived in the city yesterday and are installing the large new board of the Bell Telephone Co., in the company's new building on Hunter street.

To install the board and make all the necessary connections will require some weeks.

Hon. Clifford Sifton is back, but will not discuss the all-red route.

A Merry Christmas
A Happy New Year

AS THE SEASON OF FAMILY AND SOCIAL RE-UNIONS DRAWS NEAR, WE TAKE PLEASURE IN WISHING ONE AND ALL A MERRY XMAS AND A HAPPY NEW YEAR

H. LeBrun & Co.
Two Entrances George and Hunter Sts

IT'S CHEAP TO BUY THE BEST
A Merry Christmas to All
FROM
Coleman Bros.

Who have the best line of BULK CANDIES and FANCY BOXES. We have a large stock and mean to clear. Best Goods—Lowest Prices—See our Display—It's Great,

Great Variety of Fruit Cake
SIMMEL CAKE
—A Delicious Article

Plum Cake, Plum Pudding and Mince Meat, unequalled in Flavor.

PHONE 335 426 GEORGE ST.

WE WISH YOU
A Merry Xmas

We point with pride to our selections of Men's Furnishings for the Holiday trade. We've

Exclusive and Elegant Neckwear
Best Makes of Gloves
Perfection in Shirts and Collars
Best Brands of Underwear
Choice Hosiery, Mufflers
Night Robes, Umbrellas
House Coats, Fancy Braces, Etc.

If you're still undecided just what to buy him for Christmas, we'll take pleasure in showing you a host of things he would be delighted to have.

LANG & MAHER
CLOTHIERS AND FURNISHERS TO MEN WHO KNOW
409 411 George Street Peterborough

Sincere Good Wishes for a Bright and Happy Christmas

Richard Hall & Son, Limited

353-355 GEORGE STREET PETERBOROUGH

FOR FINE
Lemons, Oranges
Malaga Grapes
Bananas
and all kinds of fruit and vegetables try
MINOCOLO BROS.
Wholesale and Retail.
Both Phones 337.

FAMILY RE-UNIONS AT CHRISTMAS

The opportunity to have a complete group taken may not occur again. Appointments at

THE ROY STUDIO

BROCK ST. RINK
SEASON 1907-8

Tickets for the season entitling the holder to all skating privileges, now on sale at the Examiner Office, Peterborough Bookstore, Sanderson & Co., F. A. Clarke's, Best Hardware Co., the Secretary, C. G. Graham, at the Oriental Hotel.

Gentlemen . .	3.00
Ladies	2.00
Youths, 16 to 18	2.00
Boys under 16 . .	1.50
Girls	1.50

Nothing makes a better Christmas gift for your boy or girl than a Season Ticket for the Brock Street Rink.

THE CITY AND VICINITY

EVENTS TO-NIGHT

OPEN TONIGHT

The Bank of Ottawa will be open tonight between 9.30 and 10.30 for the convenience of its customers.

WILL CLOSE CHRISTMAS.

The local barber shops will be closed on Christmas, but will be open late on Christmas Eve for the accommodation of their patrons.

WILL TEACH BIBLE CLASS.

Mr. Alex. Mowat, the new Public School Inspector, has consented to take charge of the men's Bible class in St. Paul's Church Sunday School. Mr. Mowat is an active Sunday School worker, and will be a source of much strength to the school.

NO REVIEW TO-MORROW.

Owing to to-morrow being Christmas Day, there will be no issue of the Daily Review. The next edition will be on Thursday, which will contain all the news of the glad holiday events and other matters of interest.

DINNER FOR THE BOYS.

The Charlotte street news dealer, Mr. S. J. Murphy, will give a Christmas day dinner to 17 boys whom he has employed. The dinner will be held at 1.30 on Wednesday at Foster's, and will consist chiefly of turkey.

SHEET MUSIC AGAIN.

We are selling the very latest in instrumental and popular Song Hits until New Year's for 12 1-2c. per copy. Buy your music from an established music house. J. M. Greene Music Co., Grand Opera House Building. 3d

S.S. ENTERTAINMENT

The annual S.S. entertainment at Salem comes off next Monday night, Dec. 30. A good programme is being prepared and a good time is expected. Come and bring your friends with you.

TEACHER HONORED.

Mr. A. P. MacLean's Bible class of boys in St. Paul's Sunday School last night presented him with a gentleman's companion as a mark of appreciation. Mr. MacLean is deeply grateful to the boys for their token of esteem.

STORES OPEN.

All the stores will be open this evening and tomorrow evening, for the benefit of Christmas shoppers.

WILL BE REPEATED.

The Christmas music which was so attractively rendered by St. Andrew's choir and the chorus of children will be repeated on Sunday next.

READ THIS.

All late popular song hits at 12 1-2c. per copy, at the J. M. Greene Music Store. 3d

KNOX CHURCH SCHOOL.

The annual Christmas entertainment of Knox Church Sunday School will be held on Friday night next, the 27th inst.

WILL CLOSE CHRISTMAS

The local barber shops will be closed on Christmas, but will be open late on Christmas eve for the accommodation of their patrons.

NEW GROCERY.

Mr. Donald Brown has opened a grocery store at the corner of Water and McDonnel streets in the stand lately occupied by George Frost, who has gone to Port Hope.

ACCORDION BARGAINS.

Accordions in great variety, from $1.50 to $6.00. Two dozen special at $5.00. Peterborough Music Co. 404 George street. 3d

PUDDING AND CAKE.

The crowning point of the Christmas dinner is the pudding, especially if it is prepared at Elliott's; 20c. a pound. To know the possibilities in cake making, be sure and try Elliott's Christmas cake; 20c. a pound. dtf

SPECIAL MEETING

A special meeting of Court Peterborough, No. 29, C.O.F., will be held this (Wednesday) evening at 8 o'clock, to make arrangements for attending the funeral of our late Bro., Dr. Bradd.

BY ORDER.

XMAS GREETINGS.

While doing your Christmas shopping, call at the Aylmer Street Greenhouses. Many things for Christmas gifts and also cut bloom. Order early. Open till 10 o'clock. Lit with electric lights. Wishing you all many returns of the season. J. H. Cobb, 551 Aylmer street. Phone 132.

FOUND

A sum of money was found on Charlotte street today and is awaiting an owner at the police station.

"BILLY" HITCHED UP.

A white goat hitched to a small cutter and driven by a small boy, attracted considerable attention on the streets this morning.

TURKEY SHOOT.

The Eagle Lake Hunt Club are having a turkey shoot at Jackson Park tomorrow, starting at nine o'clock. All the members are asked to be on hand at the time stated.

FUR LINED COATS

We clean and press them and guarantee no injury to the fur. My Valet, 204 Charlotte street. All goods called for and delivered. dtf

GIFT OF BOOKS.

ACKNOWLEDGED WITH THANKS

The Children's Aid Society acknowledge the following donations;—

D. Kemp—$2.00.
J. D., Collins—$5.00.
R. A. Munro—$5.00.

A good pure candy, 2 lbs. 25c; best Mixed Nuts, 15c lb. Special value in Oranges, Dates and Figs. Order your Poultry from James R. Bell, Phone 455, Machine 268.

PERSONAL

Miss Mabel McCaw is spending Christmas at Deseronto.

Mr. Jas. Crowe is spending Christmas at Fraserville.

Mr. Cyril Lech, of Montreal, is home for the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Noyes, of Toronto, are in the city for Christmas.

Miss Sawyers of the Bell Telephone Co. staff, is holidaying in Bracebridge.

Mr. Thomas Sproat has gone to his home in Dundalk to spend Christmas.

Mr. Ernest Bruce leaves to-day to spend a day or two in Sarnia.

Mr. C. D. Briggs, Halifax, is at the National.

Mr. A. M. Lowden, Miamisburg, O., is in the city to-day.

Mr. F. D. Kerr, barrister, is spending Christmas in Cobourg.

Mr. A. J. Raddon, of the Trent Canal staff, is holidaying here to-morrow.

Mr. Joseph Torpey, of Toronto and Redmond Torpey, of Lansing, Mich., are home for the Christmas holidays.

Messrs. Walter Tighe and Hugh McWha, of Hamilton, are home for the holidays.

Mrs. Farris, of Toronto, will spend Christmas the guest of her mother, Mrs. Cavanagh.

Mr. Harry Mailes, of the Bank of Commerce, is spending Christmas at his home in Belleville.

Mr. A. O. Meyers left this morning to spend Christmas at his home in Listowel.

Mr. "Daddy" Haskill has again taken his place on the Belleville train after a week's illness.

Miss L. S. Browning, of the Bell Telephone Co., is holidaying in Toronto.

Mr. F. J. Linton, of the Peterborough Lumber Co., is spending the holiday in Campbellford.

Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Walden, of Toronto, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Bellingham.

Mr. and Mrs. Hal Dumble, of Winnipeg, are spending Christmas with Magistrate and Mrs. Dumble.

Mr. Norman K. Reid, of McGregor & Reid, is spending the holiday at his home in Toronto.

Mr. Frank McDonald, of Ottawa College, is visiting his father, Mr. J. McDonald, Queen street.

Miss Frances Routley, who is attending Moulton College, Toronto, is spending the holiday season with her parents.

Mrs. Arthur Whattley and family, Port Hope, and Mrs. Fred Whattley of Oshawa, are visiting friends in east city.

PERSONAL

Mr. Basil Hall of Osgoode Hall, Toronto, is home for the holidays.

Mr. D. W. McLachlan, Campbellford, is at the Oriental.

Mrs. J. C. Kells, Millbrook, is in the city today.

Mrs. J. Manville, New York, is at the Oriental.

Miss Elva Sherwin, of Midland, is visiting friends in the city.

Miss Marion Elliott, of Owen Sound, is home for the Christmas holidays.

Mr. C. R. Banks will spend Christmas in Toronto.

Mr. M. W. Matchett, of Toronto, is home for the holiday.

Mr. E. S. Clancy will spend Xmas at his home in Millbrook.

Mr. J. Maley and family, Park street, are holidaying in Barrie.

Mr. David Moore is spending Christmas with Toronto friends.

Mr. Herb. Henry, Lansing, Mich., is visiting his parents for Christmas.

Mr. S. Ed. Porter, of Yale University, is spending a few days in the city.

Mr. Howard Goldie, of Gananoque, is spending the holidays at his home in the city.

Ald. W. J. Johnston, who has been spending some time in Port Hope, is in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Oke, Water street, will spend Christmas in Port Hope.

Mr. R. N. Merritt left last night for his home at Smithville, to spend Christmas.

Mrs. H. P. Lindsay and daughter, Maud, are spending Christmas with Kingston friends.

Miss Allison Hamilton, of King's County Hospital, New York, is home on a short visit.

Miss Lena Richardson, of Toronto, is spending the holidays at her home on Cedar street.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Coughlin and daughter are spending the holiday season in Buffalo.

Mr. Chas. Anderson, of the staff of A. W. Cressman, is spending Christmas at Oshawa.

Mr. James Downey, of Clinton, Mass., is the guest of his parents for Christmas.

Mr. Sydney A. Smitheon, principal of Keene Public school, is spending his holidays here.

Mr. J. W. Kelly is spending the Christmas holidays with friends at Port Hope and Toronto.

Mr. Horace C. Wright, general secretary of the Y.M.C.A., is holidaying at his home in Aylmer, Ont.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. B. Fowler, of Havelock, are the guests of Mrs. Barrie, Westcott street.

Mr. Jas. Torpy, of the American Watch Case Co., Toronto, is visiting his parents for Christmas.

Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Davison, of Lindsay, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Dutton for Christmas.

Mr. Warren Dean, of the Bank of Montreal, Perth, is spending Christmas at his home in this city.

Mr. Ben. Simpson, of the staff of the Normal School, Toronto, is in the city for the Christmas holidays.

Mr and Mrs. Milford J. Bray, of Midland, are spending the Xmas holiday in the city and its vicinity.

Miss Ethel Harstone, of the Ontario Ladies' College, Whitby, is the guest of Miss Jean Harstone, Water street.

Mr. A. Wood, of Queen's Mining School, Kingston, is the guest of his parents, County Crown Attorney R. E. Wood and Mrs. Wood.

Mr. Reid Munroe, of the School of Practical Science, Toronto, is the guest of his parents for the holidays.

Mrs. James Long and son, Gordon, left on Saturday for Moscow, to spend Christmas and New Year's with her sister, Miss Palmer.

Mrs. A. W. Gooden, George street, left to-day to spend Christmas at her home in Brantford and will be joined by Mr. Gooden tomorrow.

Miss Gracie Johnston, of the MacDonald Institute, Guelph, Ont., is home on a visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Johnston.

Mr. Norman Miller, of the Canadian Machine Telephone Co., Toronto, is in the city the guest of his parents, Col. J. W. and Mrs. Miller.

Miss Addie Watt, of Peterborough, is spending the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. Watt, Ontario street.—Port Hope Guide.

Mrs. T. E. Cunningham and her son, Master Manwood, of Orillia, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Fowler, Concession street.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Allison and son George, left this morning for Toronto, where they will spend the Christmas holidays visiting friends.

The final rehearsal of the Christmas cantata, "Story of a Star," will be held on Thursday afternoon at 2 p.m. All members should be on hand.

Masters J. W. and Osborne Edwards, of Bloomfield, are spending the Christmas holidays in the city with their brother, Mr. J. C. Edwards, Charlotte street.

Mrs. Leroy Richardson and her son, Master Herman, of Milwaukee, Wis., and Mrs. G. N. Hardill, of Hamilton, Ont., are the guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Rutherford, Union street, for Christmas.

Mr. and Mrs. Brody and their daughter, Miss Marjorie, will be the guests of Magistrate Edmison for the Christmas holidays and New Year's.

Mr. Geo. Doncon, of 1133 Sheridan road, leaves on Monday to spend the Christmas holidays with his mother in Owen Sound. He will also visit friends in Toronto, Lindsay, Cobourg and Peterborough.—Chicago American.

Mr. S. J. Sheridan, proprietor of the Roller Rink, also Mrs. Sheridan, and daughter, Pearl, left this morning for Midland, where they will spend a couple of weeks. Mr. Sheridan's new rink in that busy town will be opened to-night to ice skaters. —Lindsay Post.

Mr. Robert Hagerman, of Victoria avenue, who engaged some time ago with a lumber company to work in the north shore of Lake Superior, has returned home. Mr. Hagerman says that many men contracted for $35 per month and board, but after starting to work were told that they would only receive $18. A large number left the woods and others are still [illegible]

SELECT THE DELEGATES

The convention of the Liberal Conservative party of West Peterborough to nominate candidates for this riding for both the federal and provincial houses will be held in Bradburn's Opera House, Peterborough, Wednesday, January 29th, at 8 o'clock in the evening.

It is important that each polling subdivision in every part of the riding of West Peterborough should be fully represented. The convention will be a most important one as standard bearers for both the Dominion Parliament and the Ontario Legislature will be selected.

The gathering should therefor be thoroughly representative. The delegates should be chosen as soon as possible. The call is an urgent one as the elections are likely to take place during the coming summer.

Meetings will be called at the various sub-divisions in the constituencies within the next few days to select delegates for the convention on January 29th, and the big Conservative mass meeting which will also be held on that date.

The workers of the grand old Conservative party are requested to at once buckle on their armor and get down to business. The various gatherings in the sub-divisions should be held at once and delegates selected. The time between now and the date of the convention, Wednesday, January 29th, is short. Action is necessary and the work is the watchword. The coming convention should be the largest and most representative in character of any ever held in this riding.

FUNERAL NOTICE

A special meeting of Court Chemong, No. 530, I. O. F. will be held at the C. P. R. station this, Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock, to make arrangements for the funeral of late Bro. Dr. Bradd. by order.

W. Miles, C. R. J. W. Buyers, Rec. Sec.

Skating at Rink Christmas Day

There will be no skating at Brock street rink tonight, but it will be open tomorrow afternoon and evening, and no doubt will be largely patronized.

The rink at Jackson Park is not yet ready, but the toboggan slide will be open tomorrow.

On his claim, 45 miles from Letellier, Man., Joseph Bois shot himself by accident or intent.

PORTER'S Delicatessen

Reduced Prices in All Cooked Meats

Fowler's Cooked Hams per lb........	25c
Fowler's Jellied Hocks, per lb......	18c
Fowler's Cooked Corn Beef, per lb. ...	13c
Fowler's Bologna, 3 lbs	25c
Fowler's Head Cheese, 3 lbs........	25c

GROCERY BARGAINS

New Raisins, 3 lbs	20c
New Dates, 3 lbs..................	25c
3 Bottles Ketchup	25c
Peas, Beans and Corn, per tin	8c
Tomatoes, per tin	10c
H. S. Salmon, per tin..................	15c
Sunflower Salmon, 2 tins	25c
Shelled Almonds and Walnuts, per lb. .	35c

All Fruits at reduced prices, including Oranges, Nuts, Apples, Figs, etc.

410 George Street

Xmas Drawing Near

You have only a few days to consider where to place your order for Brandies, Scotch, Irish and all kinds of Wines, Ales, etc.

Don't hesitate a moment but come direct to Mitchell's, 141 Hunter St. where you will get nothing but pure whiskey, (not Otonabee water.) Don't forget to ask for Mitchell's Special Rye Whiskey, the only reliable draught goods sold.

Sweet Cider for sale.

Leave your order early.

F. J. R. MITCHELL
141 Hunter St. — Phone 300

It's confidence that does it

YOU HAVE NO TIME TO WASTE

In selecting your Christmas groceries fruit and other garnishes for the Christmas table, we have the goods you want at the prices you wish to pay. Among the requisities for the table, are—

ROYAL FRUIT, the nicest, cleanest and plumpest Raisins and Currants for holiday baking.

PEELS, New Season's Orange, Lemon and Citron Peels.

MINCE MEAT, a trial order will bring you back for more.

JAMS, Jellies, Marmalades, now is the time to order.

FANCY GROCERIES, perfect in quality, perfectly kept and moderately priced.

CANDY, don't be without Candy. Xmas wouldn't be Xmas Day without Candy. We have bushels of it and Nuts.

WHITE & GILLESPIE

GET YOUR HOLIDAY PHOTOS
—AT—
LENDRUM'S
They are the best and most up-to-date
170 Charlotte Street

MADE LIKE NEW

Chenille and Tapestry Curtains and Table Covers Cleaned and Dyed Like New

For genuine satisfaction and saving the purchase of new curtains, bring your old ones to us or telephone us and we will call for them.

Sponging and pressing made a special part of our business.

PARKER'S DYE WORKS
R. M. BEACH,
Phone 250 Proprietor

LADIES, CUT THIS OUT

Dr. Cristion's
FRENCH TOILET ARTICLES
Have been placed on sale with
Miss E. Smith
567 GEORGE STREET
MANICURING, SHAMPOOING
SCALP TREATMENT and FACIAL
MASSAGE SKILFULLY DONE
Appointments made. Mach. Phone 13

Second Hand Stove Bargains
—AT—
BARRETT'S

Why pay $30 for a Heater or $40 for a Range when you can buy either for $5 to $15 at Barrett's Second Hand Store.

187 Simcoe St. next Cavanagh's

ESTABLISHED 1878

J. R. HEINTZ & CO.
STOCKS, GRAIN,
COTTON, COFFEE

J. N. BARBER, Manager
Phone 529

SANTA CLAUS at ROUTLEY'S

Santa has paid many visits to his old established Headquarters. Our 2nd floor is heavier stocked with every imaginable Toy or Gift for the little tots than ever was known in the city.

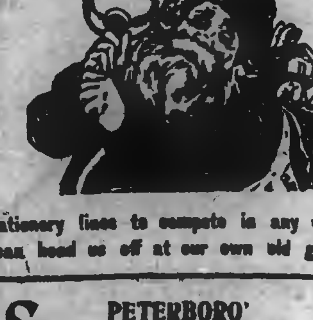
Dolls, Cradles, Hose Carts, Toy Beds, Games all kinds, Toy Carriages, Sleighs, Toy Tea Sets, Whips, Toy Wash Sets, Toy Books, Sleeping, Walking, Kid and Jointed Dolls, Building Blocks, Noah's Arks, Bugles, Drums, Reins, Mechanical Toys, Magic Lanterns, Steam Engines, Banks, Trains.

CHINA SECTION

Bread and Butter Plates, China Cups and Saucers, Jardinieres, Vases, Salad Bowls, Brush Trays, Biscuit Jars, Jelly Pots, China Tea Sets, Fancy Jugs in Sets, Dinner Sets, Chamber Sets, all the newest in dainty pieces suitable for presents.

MAIN FLOOR

Manicure Sets, Brush and Comb Sets, Military Sets, Padded Poets, Catholic Prayer Books, English Church Prayer Books, Hymn Books, Bibles, Work Boxes, Collar Boxes, Glove and Handkerchief Sets, Leather Writing Cases and Desks, Music Rolls, Pocket Books, Hand Bags.



As usual we will not allow those not strictly in the fancy goods or stationery lines to compete in any way. Stick to the place that has served you well, there are none who can head us off at our own old game

TORONTO 262-4 QUEEN W ROUTLEY'S PETERBORO' 379 GEORGE ST

THE DOMINION BANK
PAYS SPECIAL ATTENTION TO
SAVINGS ACCOUNTS
INTEREST PAID QUARTERLY
JOHN CRANE, [illegible]
Corner George and Simcoe Sts.

LEARN DRESS-MAKING BY MAIL
in your spare time at home, or
Take a Personal Course at School.

To enable all to learn we teach on cash or instalment plan. We also teach a personal class at school once a month. Class commencing last Tuesday of each month. These lessons teaches how to cut, fit and put together any garment from the plainest shirt waist suit, to the most elaborate dress. The whole family can learn from one course. We have taught over seven thousand dress-making, and guarantee to give five hundred dollars to any one that cannot learn between the age of 14 and 60. You cannot learn dress-making as thorough as this course teaches if you work in shops for years. Beware of imitations as we employ no one outside the school. This is the only experienced Dress Cutting School in Canada and excelled by none in any other country. Write at once for particulars, as we have cut our rate one-third for a short time. Address:—

[illegible] DRESS-CUTTING SCHOOL,
31 Erie St., Stratford, Ont., Canada.

CHICKENITIS

A local young man went to a restaurant on Saturday night and gorged himself with chicken and other delicacies. When he returned to his hotel and went to bed he suffered for his indiscretion. Wild dreams robbed his sleep of its rest, and when he awoke after several centuries of agony he was possessed of a dull throbbing headache, and three hundred and one different kinds of sensations. Inspired by the Muse—and chickens—he arose and indicted the following with trembling hand:

I'm lying awake in my attic,
I'm suffering terrible pain,
I'm afraid my stomach's rheumatic,
Or I've got 'pendicitis again.

Last night in a moment of madness
I went to a Chinese cafe,
And now in a spirit of sadness
I'll sing you this pitiful lay.

The chickens were sweet, brown and juicy,
As tender as Mary's own lamb;
In future my friends must excuse me,
For that innocent look is a sham.

Last night when I ate of those chickens,
They seemed most awfully nice;
But now I'm sick as the dickens
And I wish they had fed me on mice.

I'm just waking up from a nightmare
Of a fire that's burning the town;
I've been eaten alive by a Teddy bear,
I've been chewed by a chicken in brown.

I've fallen head-first from an airship,
I can feel myself hurrying down;
I'll be mashed to a jelly on this trip—
Ah, me!—I am I must drown.

I've broken my neck in alighting,
The fishes are pulling me in;
I can't even do any fighting,
I'm paralyzed now to the chin.

Some chickens are swimming around me,
Some turkeys are coming on too;
They were just beginning to hound me,
When I managed to holler out "Shoo!"

I'm awake with a murdering headache,
My feet are like icicles now;
I feel like I've eaten an earthquake,
And my stomach, oh dear, what a row!

I'm lying here filled with repentance,
My digestion is full of remorse;
The next Chink that secures my attendance
On a Saturday night will need force.

Walking Contest on New Year Day

Twelve Hour Struggle Will Take in Market Hall

Mr. George Stevens is getting up a big walking contest for New Year's day. It will be a twelve hour grind in the market hall, 22 laps to the mile. The contest will begin at 10 o'clock in the morning and close at ten in the evening. All entries should be made with Mr. Stevens before Saturday. The prizes will be decided by the winners. There will be a general admission fee of 25 cents and a few tickets at 50 cents, which will entitle the holder to come and go as often as he likes.

RUNNING

Mr. Fred. Simpson, of Hamilton, was in the city Saturday, and said he would probably run in the 10 mile Martin Electric annual road race on January 1st. He is by no means certain of starting, however, as his knee is still rather stiff as a result of the fall he had in his race with Haddleton at the Harriers' meet.

GIFT OF BOOKS

The board of management of the House of Refuge at Lakefield desire to thank Dr. Caldwell of Peterborough for the gift of several books and periodicals.

MONEY IN YOUR POCKET

Give your family a Xmas Present—a snug little home for yourselves. We have some at [illegible] that would agreeably surprise you and be money in your pocket.

[illegible] and [illegible]—Brick house, six or eight roomed; two story.

[illegible]—[illegible] brick, well finished inside, near [illegible] Co.

[illegible]—[illegible] new brick, two storey, large lot, [illegible].

[illegible]—Brick, central location, modern, electric light, city water, bath, sewer connection, nice large lawn.

[illegible]—Artistic brick house, large garden, well planted with fruit; house has all modern conveniences and a nice sunny location.

[illegible]—Beautiful residential location; large lot with [illegible]. [illegible] solid brick and warm; furnace and all conveniences.

Some good houses to rent cheap.

Some good farms throughout the district for sale. Farm lands in the Great West and on the Pacific Coast. City lots in Vancouver. Double your money in a year. See us for particulars.

BELL & TAYLOR
Real Estate Fire Insurance
Office—376 Water Street.
Office Phone—498B House Phone 547B

BUT ONE WOMAN TO WED.

[Original.]

Many years ago there existed in Europe a principality, Calgurnia, so small that its population numbered only a few thousand persons. They were very exclusive, never adopting foreign citizens and intermarrying among each other. The consequence was that hereditary diseases became so plentiful among them as to threaten their ruin. Theodore VII., then prince, at last issued a decree prohibiting marriage between persons related within the fifth generation. Under this law marriage was extremely difficult.

One of the first persons on whom the edict reacted was the hereditary prince Theodoric, who, like the people, must marry within the principality. At the time it was issued he was studying at a foreign university, but was about to finish his course and was expected to return and marry in order to secure the succession. Meanwhile his father directed the heralds to examine the family trees of the nobility with a view to discovering some family into which the young prince could legally marry. They reported that but one family, the Count of Vervia's, came within the limit. In this family was one unmarried woman, Vergilia, twenty years old, in every way attractive and a very suitable match for the young prince.

Theodore at once sent the prime minister to the count, Vergilia's father, with a proposition for his daughter. The minister returned, reporting that the count felt greatly honored by the proposition, but his daughter had declared that she was not inclined to marry. She was a wayward girl who had always been used to having her own way, and her father's command that she should return a suitable answer to her sovereign had had no effect upon her.

Theodore was much perplexed. He wrote of the refusal to his son. But Theodoric paid no attention to it and soon after his graduation wrote his father that he was minded to travel. To this his father replied, advising him—he was overfond of the boy and seldom commanded—to come home at once, that the only woman he could marry was accepting the attention of a young foreign artist who had recently appeared and solicited the privilege of painting her portrait. She sat for him every day, and her father feared the headstrong girl was in love with him and would disregard not only the wish of her sovereign, but the national custom of marrying only within the country. To this warning the prince did not reply, and his father concluded that he had gone beyond the reach of his letters.

Meanwhile the artist, Rodrigo Nunez, a young Spaniard, was busy with the portrait. He was very respectful, keeping his distance from the highborn dame, but she noticed whenever he strove to interest her in order to catch her best expression that he was a man of culture. Gradually as Virgilia gave him encouragement he showed by his manner that he loved her, and one day, forgetting herself, she called out a declaration. Then the girl, with her eyes bent upon the floor, told him of the proposition for her hand for the young prince.

"And will you accept?" asked Rodrigo mournfully.

"I have declined it thus far."

"And in the end?"

"What would you consider my duty?"

The artist did not reply. Turning to the portrait, he painted absently. The girl repeated her question.

"It is for you to make up your own mind what that duty directs," he said.

"If I do not marry the prince our people will be the sufferers."

"And if you do marry him—you will be the sufferer."

"Yes."

Her face was averted. He stole up beside her, placed his arm around her waist, and her head dropped on his breast.

Suddenly he released her.

"I love you too well," he said, "to ask you to do that which you do not conceive to be your duty."

When the artist left Vergelia it was the last seen of him in the principality. Where he went or what became of him no one knew. In time Vergelia informed her father that she would do what the interest of her sovereign and his people required of her. Her decision was communicated to the young prince, who wrote her a frank letter thanking her for at last giving her consent. "Perhaps you love another," he said, "but I trust to win your heart in time."

He did not seem inclined to hurry home, and rumor said that the women of foreign countries were loath to lose him. Finally, however, when his father pointed out to him that under the circumstances his continued absence was delaying and endangering the succession, he wrote requesting the court to make preparations for the ceremony, to announce the date, and he would return in time.

While the preparations were making Vergelia remained shut up at home. The story got about that she was sacrificing herself for the common good, and she was much beloved for it. The young prince, on the contrary, was becoming unpopular for remaining abroad at such a time.

It was the very day of the wedding before he arrived. However, he made amends for his inattention by going straight to the home of his affianced bride, having sent word ahead asking that no one might be present at their first meeting. When he entered the room Vergilia fell fainting through excess of joy into his arms. The prince and Rodrigo Nunez were one and the same person.

HOPE HOPKINS.

The first iceberg of this season was sighted by the Baltic fleet, last Tuesday, off the Banks.

Commemoration of Christ's Nativity in Houses of Worship

Tomorrow will be the nineteenth hundred and seventh anniversary of the birth of our Saviour, and at St. Peter's Cathedral, St. John's, St. Luke's, All Saints' Anglican churches and the Salvation Army Barracks religious observances of an appropriate character will be held. Special Christmas music will also be given in connection with the services. The following are the services for the churches mentioned above:

ST. PETER'S CATHEDRAL.

Morning.

Solemn High Mass at 5.30, followed immediately by Low Mass. The third mass celebrated at 8. There will be solemn Pontifical High Mass, at 9.15 with His Lordship Bishop O'Connor officiating.

Evening.

At 7 o'clock solemn Pontifical High Vespers will be sung by His Lordship Bishop O'Connor.

ST. JOHN'S (ANGLICAN) CHURCH.

There will be celebrations of Holy Communion at 8.30 and 12 o'clock. At eleven o'clock there will be Morning Prayer, and an address by the rector Rev. Canon Davidson.

ST. LUKE'S, THE EVANGELIST.

There will be a celebration of Holy Communion at St. Luke's Church at 7 and 8 o'clock. There will also be Morning Prayer at 10.30 o'clock.

ALL SAINTS'.

Holy Communion will be celebrated at 8.30 o'clock, and Morning Prayer and Holy Communion at 11 o'clock.

SALVATION ARMY BARRACKS.

Special services will be held at the Barracks, and the splendid band, of the Army will provide Christmas music.

IN THE EVENING.

In the evening the annual Sunday school entertainment of Mark street church, will be held in the town hall, East City.

At the S.A. barracks there will be a Christmas ship and the annual Sunday school entertainment.

Santa Claus Will Find Peterboro' a Quiet Place

Christmas, as a holiday, will be spent quietly in Peterborough. It will be somewhat of a day of rest and happy renewals of family ties by many who have journeyed from far and near to assemble at the family hearth and share in the many joys of the welcome season. The children will naturally be happy and noisy with their many gifts in the more favored homes, to others there may not be the same festivity and rejoicing by reason of the remembrances of Santa Claus and the kindness of fortune. In the way of public merry-making no very extensive arrangements have been made, although those inclined to amusements may find some very congenial means of gratifying their pleasure-loving tastes. Provided the weather man sympathizes with the people in trying to make the day a success from a standpoint of general enjoyment there will be skating at the Brock street rink, and the ice-covered chutes at the toboggan slide will be in merry operation. At the Opera House House "Dora Thorne" will be presented at a matinee and night performance, and this sweetly told story should appeal strongly to the popular taste. The Crystal will be open all day, presenting a particularly good moving picture and illustrated song programme that will suit the fancy of the admirers of this style of entertainment. Outside of the above-mentioned means of amusement no arrangements for attractions of a special character have been made.

No Decision Reached in Case Against the "Crystal"

Adjourned Until January 14th—His Honor Judge Weller Says That the Advertisement in Daily Papers Disclosed no Scheme—Speaks Highly of the Show at Place of Amusement.

A few weeks ago Mr. Wallace Edwards, proprietor of "The Crystal," and the Peterborough Review and Examiner were committed for trial by His Worship Magistrate Dumble, Mr. Edwards on a charge of disposing of tickets for a lottery on Tuesday, Nov. 5th, and the papers on a charge of advertising the lottery or scheme. The different parties appeared before His Honor Judge Weller yesterday and pleaded not guilty. Mr. R. E. Wood conducted the case for the Crown, and O'Connell & Gordon defended the different parties implicated in the affair. No settlement was reached, His Honor deferring judgment until January 14th, that he might further consider the matter.

There was no evidence taken yesterday, but the facts of the case were thoroughly threshed out by His Honor and Mr. Wood and Mr. O'Connell.

Four things were admitted by both the prosecution and the defence. First, that Mr. Edwards was the licensee of the "Crystal;" secondly, that he caused the advertisement to be inserted in the daily papers; thirdly, that the ticket produced in court was sold by him, and, lastly, that the subsequent mode of the disposal of the watch was arranged after the prosecution commenced.

After carefully reading the advertisement, which read, "The watch will be given to the holder of the coupon, that is, the successful one at the close of the contest each week, His Honor stated that, as far as he could understand it, no scheme or chance was unfolded in the ad. by which the watch was to be won. The Crown Attorney argued that, inasmuch as the person did not know what number was to be the lucky one, there was chance. Mr. O'Connell stated that up to this time no mode of disposal whatever had been mentioned, and the advertisement certainly contained nothing that would inform one how the successful one was to be determined. His Honor said that it was not like a man paying for something and getting nothing in return. "I went to the Crystal and got a good five cents' worth," said His Honor. "Have not these contests been given in the opera house several times by stock companies?" said the Judge. "This is the first one that has come before the notice of the police," replied the Crown Attorney. "Couldn't they have started on something worse than the Crystal?" was His Honor's next question.

"Does this advertisement disclose a scheme or chance?" asked Mr. O'Connell. "No matter how you look at it, there is no mode of disposal mentioned. The ad. does not say that the one who gets the lucky number wins the prize."

"We do not know from the ad. how the winner is to be determined. Then it does not come within the meaning of the statute," said His Honor. "I am not going to assume that it is by a mode of chance, for it might have been by a perfectly legal method," he added.

However, His Honor said that he would take lots of time to decide the matter, and adjourned the same until the above mentioned date.

His Engagement Reveals International Romance

Announcement is made of the Engagement of Colonel Henry S. Greenwood, Formerly of Peterborough, to Miss Dorothy May, of Boston.

Many friends in Peterborough will read with interest the following clipping from the Boston Transcript, in which is announced the marriage of Col. H. S. Greenwood, formerly of this city, to Miss Dorothy May, of Boston. The engagement reveals a pretty international romance, which apparently was culminated when Col. Greenwood visited America last summer. He was in Peterborough in June and was warmly greeted by his many friends. Col. Greenwood was formerly connected with the staff of the Trent Valley Canal, and is now engaged in engineering work in South Africa.

The item from the Boston Transcript is as follows:—

"A very pretty international romance, whose existence has just been made known to the public in the announcement of the engagement of Miss Dorothy May, niece of Wallace L. Pierce and George R. Little, of Stratton, Little & Co., and granddaughter of the late C. C. Walworth, of the Walworth Manufacturing Company, of this city, to Col. Henry S. Greenwood, of the English army, will not reach its final conclusion until some time not definitely decided, when the young woman sails for South Africa.

Miss May is a Boston girl, but she has been little in this country. Since the death of her mother some years ago she has travelled a great deal in England and on the continent, and has just returned from a trip abroad. The romance is said to have begun in England, though its culmination was in America, to which the colonel made a recent visit.

Miss May will start tomorrow in the company of her aunt, Mrs. Geo. B. Brown, to visit her sister in Chicago, where she will stay until the last of December, when she will sail for England.

FOR PASSEPARTOUT WORK

The fad for passepartout pictures is again growing a favorite for pretty pictures and are always appreciated. One can always find room for a couple more on the walls and every one has their favorite subject, some like scenery, others historical subjects, many like kittens and one boy in the city has the walls of his bedroom fairly covered with pictures of dogs—small and large. When mounted on a suitable background and passepartouted they are very pretty and inexpensive to make up. The Review has a large stock of pictures in sepia and colors, mounting papers and passepartout to match. Call and see them at the REVIEW Office, Hunter street. 3d

LILLIAN.

[Original.]

Lillian was the only name we knew her by except when some one called her "airy, fairy Lillian," which described her exactly. She earned far less money than other models, because she would never pose nude. Indeed, it was difficult to imagine the modest looking little girl thus exposing herself, though I do not mean to imply that a model may not in that case be modest. Lillian, however, made sufficient money to pay her room rent and keep quite enough flesh on her bones to insure employment at her calling. As to dress, she was never well dressed except in the fine clothes provided by the artists for whom she posed. Her people lived in the country. She had left them to come to the city and while looking for employment was taken up by an artist who made illustrations for magazines, and in that way she came to be a model.

Of course Lillian fell into bohemian life. Several of us, all bohemians, used to have suppers together and were usually accompanied by some of the models whom we used to employ. Lillian made no scruple to attend these suppers and never held her head above the other models who posed as required, but her demeanor was always ladylike, and at the slightest suggestion of impurity she would leave us. Therefore whenever she was present we were especially careful.

Any of us would have been glad of Lillian's preference, but it was reserved for my friend Kendall to absorb all she had to bestow. Kendall was a handsome fellow and as attractive otherwise as handsome. We all agreed that he and Lillian made a very pretty couple. Kendall had barely scraped enough together to secure his education at the art school, but soon after graduation made some success at illustrating. But he was ambitious to paint marine views and in his infatuation dropped his other work. Then he began to look shabby and hungry.

Now, the story of Kendall and Lillian I cannot tell. I am sure there is a great deal to tell if I only knew it. All I do know is certain incidents that were as well known to every one of us artists as to me. The first of these is that Kendall fell ill. I saw as much of him as possible and would have kept him in my quarters, but he preferred to remain in his own room, and I frequently met Lillian there nursing him. I was poor as a church mouse and could do but little for him in providing means, and the rest of our set were in the same fix. Not one of us but had a hard time to live. I noticed that the longer Kendall's illness lasted the more worried he seemed to be about his necessities and where they were to come from. I was with him one morning when the subject was mentioned—Lillian was there, too—and when he spoke with infinite depression as to his condition she said cheerfully:

"He's blue today. Come and see him tomorrow. He'll have a windfall."

I called the next day and found a lot of delicacies on the table, new and clean linen on his bed—indeed, a number of comforts he so much needed. Nevertheless he looked more dismal than ever. I asked him where his luck had come from, but he only shook his head.

The next incident I refer to is this: In N.'s picture of that year, which was sold for $8,500, was a nude figure of a nymph. We all agreed that it resembled Lillian. We asked N. if she had been his model, but he turned away and evaded a direct answer, saying:

"I supposed Lillian never posed in that fashion."

Meanwhile Kendall recovered his health and set about practical work. He was excellent at outline drawing and gradually worked into some of the best paying newspapers and magazines. B., a figure painter of repute, but a blunderer (as artistic people often are), needed a model for his "Venus of the Springtime." Knowing that Kendall was intimate with Lillian, B. was stupid enough to go to him and ask him to use his influence with her to induce her to pose for it. Kendall replied by knocking him down.

We heard the story of the affair from B., but Kendall never mentioned it. Indeed, after his illness he avoided us all, and seemed very moody. Nevertheless he was working hard, running an original feature in a newspaper that must have been paying him largely. As for Lillian, we missed her from our studios, and she dropped completely out of our lives.

The next pointer to the story is that Kendall came to me one day and astonished me by asking me to be with him at his wedding, which was to be private. Indeed, I was to be the only witness. I asked him to name the bride, but he said that I should see her on the day of the wedding. On that day I went to a suit of rooms of which he gave me the address and was received by Lillian.

I never saw a happier smile or a more beautiful expression of unconscious purity on any bride's face.

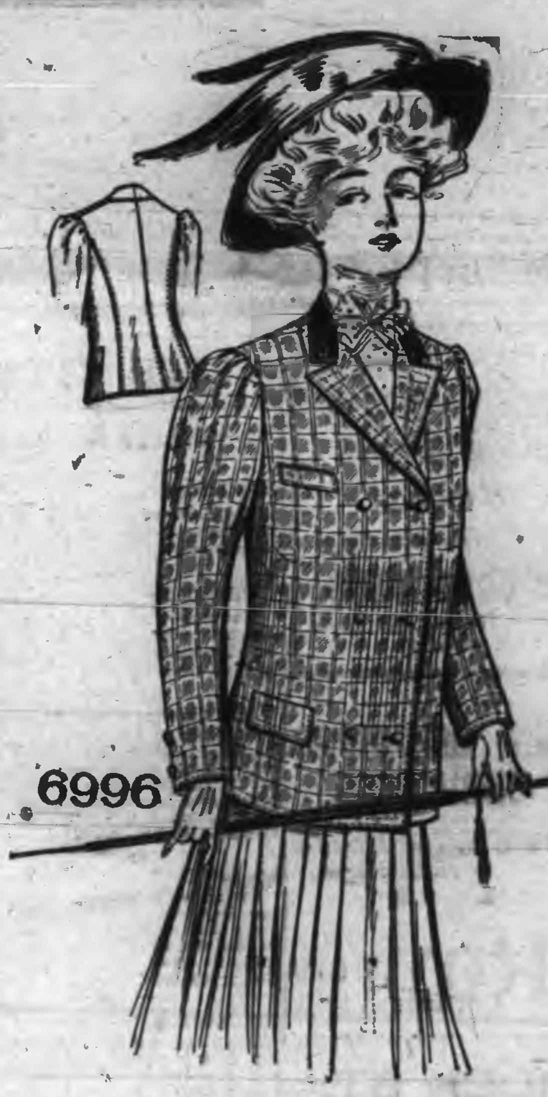
I wish I could tell the story that lies behind these incidents. I wondered if Kendall would ever tell it to me, but he never referred to it. Nevertheless the woman who had entered a field for love which she could not endure to enter for her own gain has always been to me an object of curious interest. As for the feelings of the man, I can only imagine them, though I don't know even if he was aware of how she got the money with which she supplied his comforts. After all, the best stories are never told. There are some in the telling of which only an angelic touch would avail.

WINSLOW MERIAM.

Rear Admiral Evans announces that the U. S. fleet will return via Suez route next summer or fall.

Hundreds of Pretty and Useful Presents
TO BE SEEN AT
CUBITT'S Book, Stationery and Fancy Goods Store
310 George Street
Notwithstanding the large trade already done.

Just received on Saturday a large line of the latest
COPYRIGHT NOVELS . . .
CALL AND INSPECT
"CUBITT SELLS CHEAP"



A SMART SEMI-FITTING COAT

ONLY ONE WEEK

IN seven days the REVIEW NEWS BOYS' COMPETITION will close, and the awards will be made. Following the plan on which the competition was instituted no information has been given of the standing of the several competitors. The decision will rest on the results, each boy getting credit to the last paper for his efforts. ¶ Fourteen days yet to work. A good deal can be accomplished in that time. The hustling boy can add to his list of customers and pull up to a first place easily. Christmas week will be a good time in which to hustle, and all through the holidays. The boy showing the largest number of papers sold to customers and those who did not buy before will get the biggest prize.

HUSTLE! HUSTLE! HUSTLE!

Local Option Fosters Crime

To-day, with Local Option, Owen Sound has SIXTY places where liquor is sold. Under license, there were only ELEVEN places. Yet, despite the best efforts of a capable license inspector, no one has been sent to jail in Owen Sound for selling since Local Option came into force. Last year, with five months of license and seven months of Local Option, OWEN SOUND had 362 police court cases. This year, in eleven months of Local Option, there have been 510 police court cases there.

Do you want this state of things?

311

Mr. Matthew Kennedy, Mayor of Owen Sound, who has lived there fifty years, said, Nov. 27 last:

